JOB WORK

DOMINION COPPER

Making Preparations Necessary

FOR INCREASED OUTPUT

The Company is Getting Ready to Do Things on a Larger Scale at Mines and Smelter

The Dominion Copper Company decided to take advantage of the stagnant copper market to make some long projected improvements The large 750 ton furnace recently installed is now working smoothly and satisfactorily.

The company has found that there is economy in this furnace and the methods employed, and has decided that plans long contemplated that could not well be entered upon when copper was ruling high, may now be carried out to advantage. To this end the two small furnaces were recently blown out, and the work tearing out the same has been begun. The plan is to substitute inctead a duplicate of its large furnace, the largest in fact in Canada. Meantime work at the mines will be somewhat curtailed, the company's small storage capacity making it desirable that only ore sufficient to supply the one furnace be received daily at the plant. The quarries of the Rawhide and Sunset may be safely relied on for this supply, and meantime work on the company's other mines will be practically suspended.

The work of regeneration will be rushed so that by time the metal market has somewhat steadied and improved the plant may be ready to reduce 1,500 to 1,600 tons daily and at a cost less than before.

Manager Thomas expects to have the improved and enlarged plant in operation by December 1st at latest.

PAY ORE

Last week the Boundary sent out 42,000 tons of ore.

The syndicate who have been working the Cariboo is reported as having secured the Sailor. It is thought that owing to the delapidated condition of the Cariboo mill work will be adandoned on that claim.

W. H. Aldridge is quoted in the Province as follows:—

"Over in the Boundary, near Phoeniz, the Consolidated Company is operating the well known Snowshoe mine. The output is about 20,000 tons per month, averaging one and one-half per cent. copper, and from $1.50 to $2.00 in gold and silver per ton.

The principal product of our compay is gold with values in lead, silver and copper in the order named. As copper takes fourth rank with us we are not so seriously affected by present prices for that metal to the same extent as mines that are principally copper producers."

DROWNED

S. L. Graham, former superintendent of the Sunset, who went to Cobalt with Mr. Drummond was drowned Tuesday last according to a telegram received here. It would appear that two men were stricken with gas in a mine and Mr. Graham and another man in a boat made haste to cross a lake in search of help. The boat was upset or swamped with the above sad ending.

THE NEW NORDEN

When the designs of Messrs. Sater and Johns are completed the new Norden will be one of the most convenient and commodious hotels in the city. A wide door-way has been cut between the former Norden and the Queen Hotel and the two buildings thrown into one.

A commodious tairway has been built giving access to the forty-four rooms above. A large office has been provided, and the premises generally converted into a modern hostelry.

THE DEBT PAID

Several months ago the Church Society in England made an appropriation supplementary to the offerings of the people, sufficient to pay off the balance of the debt on St. Jude's Church.

The tedious tape-cutting is now over, the appropriation has been applied to its purpose. So soon as it may be convenient for the Bishop to attend the church will be consecrated.

At St. Jude's Church next Sunday Sunday School will open at 12 o'clock. There will be no evening service.

AT NELSON FAIR

Some very fine fruit from Midway and Rock Creek was to be seen at the Nelson Fair. The orchards of J. McMynn, J. McKenzie, Bubar Bros., B. Ingram, W. H. Norris, Robert Kerr, and B. Tippy where represented not so much in the competitions as a display of the beginning of things in this district not hitherto exploited as a fruit producing one.

The display was hurriedly gotten together by W. O. Wright merely to show that the Kettle Valley Irrigation Company is making no mistake in launching its fruit lands enterprise in the valley.

MINING MATTERS

Output of Boundary Ores

The low grade mines of the Boundary, which first began shipment in 1900, sending out 100,000 tons that year, have been steadily increasing. The 1906 shipments were 1,161,537 tons, and that of 1907 will be a larger

COPPER SMELTING

A Visitor Tells of a Visit Made

TO THE BOUNDARY DISTRICT

In an Extended Arcticle in the Mining World, Ralph W. Stokes discusses the Situation.

We quote at length from a rather exhaustive arcticle which appears in the Mining World from the pen of Ralph W. Stokes.

"So enormous are the low-grade copper deposits of the boundary district, that the mines may be said to be dependent on the smelters just as, at Rossland, the smelters are dependent on the mines. But all have in the past been at the mercy of the Crow's Nest coal miners. Apart from furnaces is this outside influence, the capacity of the chief limiting factor in the industrial expansion of the Boundary and on this account the metallurgical aspect of the situation is of the more absorbing interest and economic importance. General managers of Boundary companies are metallurgical men. To the low costs and high efficiency attained in the reduction works, the prosperity of the district is secondarily one; the primary causes are the exceptionally favorable nature features described in preceding reports.

The three large smelters, each controlled by companies with their own sources of ore supply, are: Granby, situated at Grand Forks, near the confluence of two forks of the Kettle river; B. C. Copper Company's works at Anaconda, ajoining Greenwood, and the Dominion, three miles to the south at Boundary Falls. Journeying another three miles to the south, one reaches the international boundary line and Washington.

Smelting plants have all been greatly enlarged during the past year or so to meet the demand of increased production. Before tabulating the capacity of 14 furnaces operating today, it is of interest to note the record of smelter achievements which is now to be almost duplicated:

Plant	1904	1905.	1906.
Granby	596,252	662,697	830,000
B.C. Copper	210,484	194,056	130,000
Dominion	30,030	82,664	220,000
Total, tons	837,666	941,817	1,180,000

The 1906 figures for the B. C. Copper Company cover a period of complete reconstruction of plant; For the Dominion of a time of old-plant reorganization and new furnace construction. The position today may be displayed as below for furnaces erected and available for use:

Plant.	Furnaces.	Size at Tyeres. Inches.	Daily Capacity. Tons.
Granby	8	44 by 218	3,000
B.C.Copper	3	48 by 240	1,800
Dominion	1	46 by 255	800
Dominion	2	40 by 170	650

The capacities could be pressed beyond the tonnages given; prehaps not advantageously. But these figures show a yearly treatment of over 2,000,000,000 tons, allowing a full month for repairs or emergency interruptionf.

The composition of Boundary ores is generally uniform, containing the necessary percentages of silica, iron, sulphur and lime to obviate the necessity of seeking foreign admixtures, for fluxing, to any extent and to place the chief produces in a position of independance as regards all the factors for the economical production of 40 to 50 % converter matte in a single operation. The same problems have had to be faced by each smelter and, with minor exceptions the divergencies of practice seem to exist but reflect the ever-variant personal element.

* * * * *

The Boundary field is predominantly characterized by

(1) Eormous low-grade copper deposits, yielding 23 to 28 lbs. copper and about $1.50 in gold and silver.

(2) Neighboring water power providing electric power to mines and works for $33 per h. p. per annum.

(3) Admirale railway facilites and competing services.

(4) Coke, at about $6.50 per ton, in irregular supplies.

(5) Labor at $3.30 to $4 per shift.

(6) Three smelters operated by companies with their own sources of ore supply,

(7) Smelting commenced in 1900. Tonnage treated to June, 1907, 5,000,000 tons.

(8) Present mining capacity, 6,500 tons per day.

(9) Working costs, at mines and works, $3 to 3.40.

(10) Men employed, 2,000 earning $200,000 per month in wages

(11) Capitalization of three smelting companies, $22,500,000 in shares and $1,000,000 in bonds.

(12) Largest producer, Granby Consolidated; dividends, $1,620,000 in 1906. Capacity, 3,000 tons per day.

NEW PARTNERSHIP

John D. Spence, formerly in partnership at Grand Forks with present Justice Clement but recently of Toronto has entered into partnership with A. M. Whiteside of this city.

Mr. Whiteside will spend most of his time in Vancouver where he will engage in the practice of his profession, making visits to Greenwood whenever his presence may be necessary. Mrs. Spence will join her husband here in a few days.

THE PICTURESQUE

One hardly knows which to admire most, the genius of John Houston in staking a mineral claim in the Prince Rupert townsite in order to effect a landing place for his printing plant, or the description of our own Jimmy McKague, called McCabe, in the Vancouver Province, in the following:—

"The actual staking by virtue of a pre-arranged plan was done by two of his old up country friends, Bill Hanna and "Jimmy" McCabe recognised in the old days in the Kootenays as first-class prospectors. It followed a receipt of a wire from the resourceful editor. Hanna and McCabe as agents, staked two claims for Mr. Houston and one jointly for themselves. McCabe then lost no time in taking steamer to Post Simpson where the locations were recorded. He is almost as picturesque a character as the doughty editor of the Empire. For years he enjoyed a great reputation as one of the most fearless drivers over the rough mountain roads of the Boundary, prior to the advent of railways. To ride down the big hill from Phoenix to Greenwood—a sheer drop of 3000 feet in four miles—in the stage coach with McCabe on the box handling the reins of three teams, now whirling around chasms, then dashing down veritable toboggan slides proved an experience that "tender feet" having once survived, never cared to repeat."

A BRIDGE OF SIGHS

Is That One Likely to Prove

AT PITTENDRIGH'S VILLAGE

The Visit of the Government Engineer Believed to Have Been Unsatisfactory In Results

While it would have been discourteous to the government engineer to have sought his opinion on the merits of the site locally chosen for the bridge at Rock Creek, and while that official would doubtless have declined an interview, the general trend of events at the time of the engineer's visit and subsequently leads to the belief that the bridge is designed for public utility and not as a reward for some and a punishment for others.

It is learned on what is believed to be reliable authority that the engineer is determined as he should be, that the bridge shall be placed where it will best serve the public and on the best available site, and has ordered work stopped at the Mayor's place, and that several other sites be surveyed.

The present indications are that the independent position taken by The Times on this matter will be confirmed, and that neither political influence, nor the published correspondence of ready writers will weigh with those who have the power to decide such matters.

It seems a pity that the start so zealously made should have been so suddenly checked by the Engineer, but better lose the dollars already spent, than squander thousands more in a foolish public enterprise.

The Times does not think it makes any difference whether the bridge is in Mr. Shatford's constituency or Mr. Naden's. It is be a public bridge, built by public funds, and not by Mr. Shatford's constituents. And being a public work, The Times claims the right to commend or condemn the same according as in its opinion it is right or wrong.

We expect to see the outcome of this affair a commendation of the stand we originally took when we expressed our confidence in the engineer in charge. Closed meetings and secret caucuses are all right in the conduct of political campaigns, but public enterprises that will not stand open discussion and public purview deserve careful investigation by those entrusted with the power to discharge public business.

We repeat that we still expect to see that bridge built, where it naturally belongs, on the government town site between the two present villages and convenient to the depot of the Midway and Vernon railway, which we are still expectant to see constructed, even if such a hope exposes us to the taunt of being a British Columbian.

PUBLIC MEETING.

Owing to impending trouble over the matter of ownership of timber on mineral claims within the railway grant, a meeting of claim owners is called for Saturday next in the City Hall at eight o'clock with a view to formulating a resolution on the matter for submission to the government for a ruling on the matter.

LIBERAL CONVENTION

The Provincial Liberal Convention will meet in Vancouver Tuesday next. A large number of deligates from all parts of the province is expcted to be present and an enthusiastic meeting is bound to ensue. The liberal party in the province, as in the Dominion, is in splendid shape, in good repute and with a record of which it may well be proud. No backward steps will be taken in the approaching convention. With a leader of unquestionable ability and integrity, the rank and file are ready to continue the battle for the peoples rights. Conservators of the welfare of the working man the liberal party has ever been and will continue to remain. On questions affecting the administration of public lands, the equal distribution and the just collection of taxation, popular education and an up-to-date school system, the liberal party has a record of which it may be proud and which it may be trusted to maintain. Holding itself aloof from the domination of great corporations it has striven to work out the people's welfare by the support of those vitally concerned—the people To them public office is a public trust and public rights a thing to conserve and not to exploit.

The present is a time when strenuous work calls to the liberal party, and to that call it is ready to respond.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

For some time past the papers have been filled with stories of railway disasters. The sacrifice of human life on the railways of this continent is becoming appalling.

The Canadian railways are killing more than enough, but they are eclipsed in the record by those in the United States. For the year ended July 30th last, 460 people were killed and 603 injured by railway lines in Canada. In the year the railways in the United States killed 10,618 and injured 97,706.

This seems a terrible slaughter much of which might be avoided under right conditions. The plea that over two million passengers were carried for each one killed is not sufficient excuse. Loss of life must ever be unavoidably attendan on the movement of railway trains but much of the sacrifice is needless.

Level crossings, over-worked and consequently careless trainmen, mistaken or misgiven orders, are chargeable with part of the loss. Accidents pure and simple, those unavoidable events which constantly recurring are chargeable with more. But greed, the greed of railway management for excessive dividends are responsible for a large, altogether too large per centage of the loss.

Roadbeds are allowed to get out of order, curves that ought to be eliminated are allowed to exist, bridges fall into decay, and deranged equipment is not repaired, and human life pays the bill. These and kindred causes might be removed by putting more money into maintances and less into dividends.

The growth of dividends and the growth of disaster appear to run in parallel lines, in railway operation. Conscience does not appear to be a handicap to railway management. What though a rotten tie may mean a wreck or a decayed trestle a score of lives, it would cost money to avert a contingency, and that cost of repairs would diminish dividends, and so it is considered wiser to juggle with the public rather than to face stock holders with decreasing profits.

And so the slaughter of the innocents goes on, and human suffering and human life contribute to the upbuilding of the palaces of the magnates and the luxury of the lives of those who hold the bonds.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The redemption of China is hinted in the suggested plan for its constitutional government. The east is awakening.

If Lord Ashdown be guilty as charged, of planning outrages against himself in order to discredit the Nationalist cause he ought to be severely dealt with.

In the last 25 years the Standard Oil Company is shown by Attorney Kellogg to have made 900 millions of money, by processes known to a righteous Rockfeller.

A judge in Paris has decided that a railway company is bound by its time-tables, and that travellers by its limited trains are entitled to damages when such trains are delayed.

John Houston is reported as having filed a mineral claim on the heart of the Prince Rupert townsite. The post offices, G.T.P. offices, and the village store are now on his ground. John is fertile in expedient, whether or not his filing will hold remains to be seen.

The speech of the Bishop of London at the Canadian Club in Toronto the other day contains one sentence that was the grandest kind of a compliment to the public men of England. Said the learned divine:—"I know of no public man in London who is even suspected of using his public position for his private ends."

The wail of Secretary Das, of Vancouver of the Hindu fraternity is particularly touching. He says he was told, "we will rent houses to Japanese, Chinese and Negroes but not to Hindus." This seems out of tune with the song of the flag and the boast of an empire on which the sun never sets.

Although the decision of Judge Longley in the Coal-Steel Co.'s case, the most important law-suit ever tried in Canada, is a most sweeping one, those who knew Judge Longley best aver that his judgment could be nothing but the result of most profound conviction. Although the findings seem severe few people will regret that Mr. James Ross has lost and Sir Wm. Vanhorne won.

AN ALKALI DRAUGHT.
THIS ONE GETS FUNNY.

An editorial writer in the Winnipeg Telegram attempts to get faceteous in the following article entitled "Wonderful British Columbia".

He writes:—

"The British Columbian, the man of the country referred to euphoniously by Edward Blake as a "sea of mountains" when he has a half-hour to spare, goes out and discovers something. British Columbia is eminently constructed geographically, topographically, socially and politically for discovery, and discovery has become a habit among the people of the Pacific Province of the Dominion of Canada.

Any athletic young man with the exploring spirit in active working order can wander out almost any month in the year, for there is no close season for discoveries in British Columbia, and find a hitherto unknown moumtain or two between sunrise and sunset. There are any number of mountains scattered carelessly around the British Columbian landscape simply waiting to be discovered.

The man with topographical tastes is equally well provided for by prodigal nature which was in its most lavish mood as to British Columbia. Valleys, rivers, hills and dales, caverns, river beds with springs and without them snow sheds, glaciers, marble deporits are scattered all over the province with a profusion that gives ample opportunity to the British Columbian to pick and choose what particular kind of discovery he would like to make any particular morning.

Socially the inquisitive man from British Columbia is generously provided with opportunities of discovering new races and newer problems every time a ship draws up at a Vancouver or Victoria dock, or a band of old timers, prospectors, or timber rangers register at the hotels or camps in the suburbs.

Politically, a British Columbian is liable to wake up any old morning and discover by the morning papers that a new party has arisen over night.

British Columbia is the land of discovery. It discovered Joe Martin and sometimes regrets it. It partially discovered Archie Martin, a nice young Winnipeg lawyer, and in the pride of the discovery created him a judge, but it has the habit of discovery to blame for the consequences.

British Columbia has discovered more labor problems during its young life than have all the old effete provinces of the east since federation. It has discovered a first class racial and industrial problem of Imperial interest and has it already clasified under three heads, Japanese, Hindu and Chinese, and is not yet satisfied.

A British Columbian was strolling carelessly about the other morning. There were no mountains, glaciers, social, political or industrial questions not pre-empted or homesteaded in the neighborhood, so he discovered probably a first-class genuine mastodon, warrented to have been in the mastodon line of business for at least one thousand years before the Deluge.

This discovery is a little out of the usual line, as was the discovery of gold under the lawns of Vancouver suburban residences a few months ago, but it comes as a relief from the usual racial and industrial discoveries in British Columbia, and it deserves the record.

When we read this to a former resident of Winnipeg he laughed and said, "Oh that, s only alkali in the booze."

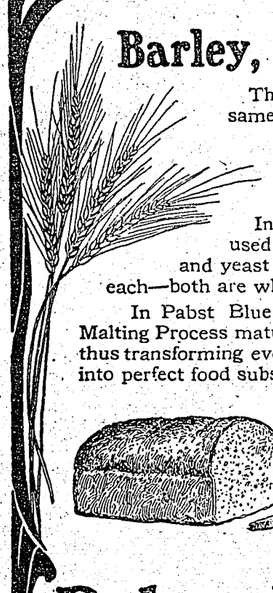
Barley, Bread and Beer

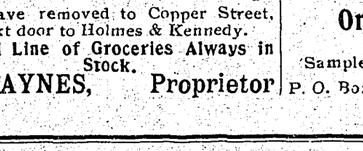


These three words are derived from the same Anglo Saxon root—breowan.

All three are foods. Barley, a grain that makes both bread and beer. Bread, a solid food. Beer, a liquid food.

In making bread, flour and yeast are used; in making beer, barley-malt, hops and yeast are used. The same principle is in each—both are wholesome foods.

In Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process matures the malt slowly and uniformly, thus transforming every particle of nutriment in the barley into perfect food substances.

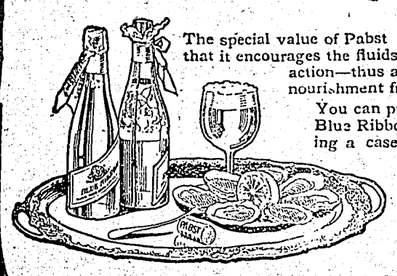


To these are added the invigorating properties of the choicest hops, by the Pabst brewing process, which insures absolute purity.

Your system requires a liquid. Why not use one that is both food and drink—

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality



The special value of Pabst Blue Ribbon at meals is that it encourages the fluids of the stomach to readier action—thus aiding you to get the fullest nourishment from your food.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

This little story comes from the south. The first slice of the goose had been cut, and the negro m inister, who had been invited to dine, looked at it with as keen anticipation as was displayed in the faces around him.

"Dat's as fine a goose as I eve· saw, Brudder Williams," he said to his host. "Where did you get such a fine one?"

"Well, now, Mr. Rawley," said the carver of the goose, with a sudden ac cess of dignity, "when you preach a special good sermon I never axes you where you got it. Seems to me dat's a triv'al matter anyway.

The Rev Dr. Fourthly was reading the evening lesson, from the book of Job.

"Yea, the light of the wicked shall be put out——"

At this instant, by one of these in explcable accidents that sometimes happen, all the electric lights went out, leaveng the church in total darkneas.

"Brethern," said Dr. Fourthly, without a moment's pause, "in view of the sudden and startling fulfilment of this prophecy, we will spend a few minutes in silent prayer for the electric lighting company.

HERE'S A MAN

J. T. Shadforth, iron master of England, who is planning the erection of huge irou and steel works here, has been offered 400 Chinaman, to come here under contract from China and to work for him for nothing for a year and a half, provided he will pay there fares and the head tax of $500 per man.

This offer was made by the tyee Chinaman of this City. After the term of free work ended Mr. Shadforth, by the terms of the precious agreement offered, was to pay $1.50 a day to each man for an indefinite period, which it may be taken for granted would be as long as the tyees would continue to keep the coolies in bondage to them.

Such is the actual slavery system which has been worked since Chinamen were first allowed in this country, and which the head tax had practically stopped.

Mr. Shadlorth's plans which are well under way, call for an expnditure of fifteen million dollars, and seven years after a start is made the plant alone would cover a hundred acres of ground. Such a concern will provide the population of a town itself with white men and their families supported by it.

And Mr. Shadforth declares that all his labor will be white. Asiatic labor he is opposed to on principle and from self-interest. From self interest he will not employ them because he says they will be useless in his business.

Mr. Shadforth will bring his men with their families from the north of England, and they will not only be good smelter men but union men, for there are no stronger union men in the world

But the point is the contrast that Mr. Shadworth's actual plan will make in its results with that proposed by the Chinese and there is an object lesson in this true story for bofh the employers who secretly desire and encourage Asiatis immigration and for any who have not given the subject serious consideration.

He says that all the white labor wanted can easily be brought out from England, skilled or unskilled. Any employer here who can guarantee to give employment to the men of the old counfry can go there and pick his men out and there are institutions who will se that they are assisted to come out without any cost to the Canadian employer. This removes the last excuse for admission of Asiatics.—The World.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer Given Highest Award Over Other American and European Brews at Antwerp Exposition

At the International Exposition of Food, Brewing, Arts and trade, Hygiene and Manufactures held at Antwerp this summer, under the auspices of the Royal Belgian Government, the best known brewers in Europe and America competed for th: distinction of the Grande Prise.

The Jury of Awards was composed of leading scientists of Germany, France Australia and England, and their action conferring the Grand Prise on Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer establishes Pabst as the leading brewer of the world. The jury also awarded the Pabst Brewing Company a Gold Medal in addition to the Grand Prise.

In writing the Pabst Brewing Comdany of Milwaukee in regard to these awards, Mr. Jules Sonnenchein, the Commissioner at Prague, says: "The International Jury gave the Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the most severe tests possible, such as exposing it to the heat of the sun, making trials at varying temperatures and analyzing it most particularly, and in all points the tests proved purity, uniformity and nourishing qualities as an outspoken healtful beverage. By these means you were the recipient of the highest awards."

Over-production of copper caused the Amalgamated to curtail its output 60 per cent. or from 20 million to 7 million pounds monthly with no work on Sundays. Five thousand miners are idle and there will be no more construction work. The smelters at Great Falls and Anaconda will have to partially close, thus throwing two thousand more out of work.

HOW TO TELL THE PRICE

Values By the Only Man Who Really Knows the Price.

One can always tell the price of a Semi-ready suit of clothes without asking salesman or clerk.

The price is fixed by the makers, for they alone know the worth of the cloth and the worthiness of the work which goes into the garment.

Printed plainly on the silk trade mark label one finds both the price and the guarantee of the Semi-ready Company on every genuine Semi-ready tailored garment.

Should a customer ever get a suit of clothes without this lable the garment is not and cannot possibly be a real "Semi-ready."

P W. George & Co, will be pleased to show you how what "Semi-ready" tailoring profits the wearer.
