TWO MEN INJURED

Explosion at Providence—Ambulance Takes Exercise—Other Notes.

An explosion occurred at the Providence mine early Wednesday morning that painfully injured Harry Violette and Andy Hanson. Violette was engaged in mucking and encountered some unexploded dynamite, which went off and threw bits of rock about his face and head, causing painful but not serious injuries. Hanson, who was drilling nearby, also received a good share of the flying rock and his face and eyes are also severely cut and bruised. Violette was taken to the hospital where he is being attended by Dr. Spunkie. Hanson was taken to his home and is under the care of Dr. Oppenheimer.

Mrs. Spencer, who has been under treatment in the hospital for some time, is progressing favorably.

The ambulance had its first call Wednesday morning when it was used to convey John Cavanaugh from the Norden hotel to the hospital. Mr. Cavanaugh came to Greenwood from Butte, Mont., and here he contracted pneumonia. His condition is not considered serious.

G. Rachier entered the hospital Wednesday suffering from inflammation of the eyes. He came from Boundary Falls.

Medical Society.

The Boundary Medical society held its annual meeting last Monday at Phoenix. The meeting was a successful one and the members are well pleased with the work of the society. The object of the organization is to regulate all matters pertaining to the practice of the medical profession in the Boundary district. The following officers were elected: Dr. R. B. Boucher, Phoenix, president; Dr. C. M. McKenzie, Grand Forks, vice-president; Dr. G. S. Gordon, Phoenix, secretary-treasurer.

CHANGE RESOLUTION

Mr. Naden's Amendment Passed Without Protest

GREENWOOD NEXT YEAR

Boundary District Finds Much Favor With Associated Boards of Trade.

At the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade held in Cranbrook, the power question, which is of so much interest to the people of Greenwood and vicinity, came up for discussion. The resolution which was passed by several Boundary boards and which the Times published last week, was moved and seconded by the Trail delegates. The resolution was remarkable for the specific mention it contained of the West Kootenay Power and Light Co. To this the convention made prompt objection on the ground that the Associated Boards should not be used to further the interests of private companies. This was a point that caused lengthy discussion when the Greenwood board passed the resolution and G. R. Naden, the Greenwood delegate, brought matters to a head by introducing an amendment which reviewed the need for more power in the Boundary district and urged the legislature to pass the necessary measures providing for more power at the same time avoiding all mention of any particular company. The original motion was then withdrawn and the new resolution passed without objection. It was promptly wired the premier at Victoria for consideration by the legislature. It was felt by the delegates that the measure for providing more power for the Boundary district now before the legislature would not meet with serious objection and that relief from present conditions would soon be realized. The resolution passed at Cranbrook will have to be ratified by the local boards of trade within ten days. This may be done in two ways. A special meeting may be called and formal action taken or no notice need be taken and that will be considered equivalent to ratification.

GREENWOOD, 1907.

The meeting in 1907 will be held in Greenwood. The invitation to meet here was extended by Mr. Naden and it was enthusiastically accepted. Mr. Naden informed the Times there was a strong feeling among the delegates that greater attention should be paid to important matters in the Boundary. They realize more and more that the growing importance of Greenwood and vicinity and outside points are beginning to understand that the development of this district is having a tremendous effect upon the prosperity of Southern British Columbia.

The whole convention was marked by interesting and successful meetings. The banquet was very fine though numerous speeches made it rather prolonged. Excellent speeches were made by J. L. Retallack, Smith Curtis, F. E. Simpson of the Cranbrook Herald and others. Good music and humorous recitations made the program thoroughly enjoyable.

CITY BAND GETS GRANT

Fire Chief Thinks Brigade Should Practice—City Engineer Submits Full Report.

Council met Monday night. Those present were Mayor Naden, Aldermen Mathison, Wood, Bunting, Nelson and Sullivan. Several reports were received, including those of the fire department and the city engineer. The fire chief, A. D. Hallett, recommended that money be set aside to pay the firemen for practice drills to be held at regular intervals. This was referred to the fire and light committee for consideration. The report from the school board was referred to the finance committee.

The question of giving public assistance to the city band came up for discussion. The mayor explained that the city of Rossland had invited the band to take part in the carnival, offering $200. This had been increased to $275 through the liberality of some of Rossland's citizens, but the Greenwood musicians could not go for that amount without going into debt and $100 was asked for from the council. To this there was no opposition. It was felt that the band was an important factor in keeping the members of the fire brigade together, and as Greenwood was one of the few Boundary towns that had an efficient band every encouragement should be given it. On motion of Aldermen Nelson and Mathison it was decided to grant the band the sum of $50.

RAISED CLERK'S SALARY.

The mayor brought up the question of increasing the salary of City Clerk Taylor. His worship reviewed in suitable terms the faithful service he had rendered even under increasing burdens. It was in keeping with the dignity of the City of Greenwood that its busiest official should be well paid and he would recommend that the clerk's present salary be increased to $115.00 per month, dating from January 1st. This was unanimously carried. His worship remarked that he thought it was the clerk's treat, but he hoped the increase in income would not unduly add to his physical proportions.

Alderman Bunting brought up the question of replacing the present cumbersome hose wagon. He had visited other towns, notably Grand Forks, where they have rigs that were much more suitable to mountain towns. He suggested that a trade be arranged with the manufacturers or some other town for a more suitable vehicle. The present hose wagon weighs fifty hundred and is too heavy. The mayor thought the suggestion was a good one. Alderman Nelson pointed out that Greenwood was favored in having their fire hall in the upper part of the town and the hurried calls were for the most part down hill and the brigade could return as leisurely as they pleased. No action was taken and the fire and light committee were recommended to be on the lookout for a favorable deal.

THE TARIFF.

The Winnipeg Free Press, the recognized organ of the Liberal party in Western Canada, and one of the leading papers of Canada, deals with the tariff question in a careful and intelligent manner. It takes for its text an extract from a Moose Jaw speech of Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, delivered recently. Quoting Mr.
Oliver, the Free Press says:

"The basic principles of the Liberal policy of taxation," he is reported to have said, "was the equalization of the burden. The Conservative policy was to tax the producer and to protect the manufacturer, or tax the poor and protect the wealthy. The Liberal policy was to tax the wealthy and relieve the producer. In every case before the tariff commission farmers had declared for reductions while the manufacturers wanted increases. To vote for an opposition candidate is to vote to give the manufacturers what they want and if West Assiniboia sent an opposition member to Ottawa, the government could not be blamed should they not grant West Assiniboia's request, and it was now up to the electors to say what they want. It was a happy chance and he hoped that there would be no uncertainty of expression.
He showed that Moose Jaw city used 5,000,000 feet of rough lumber per year;
should the lumbermen's views be met
and a duty of $2 per thousand imposed, Moose Jaw would pay an additional tax of $10,000 a year, an increase of one-third, the present revenue being about $30,000."

With the following comment the Press proceeds:
"No other opinion was expected from Mr. Oliver, seeing that he is a Westerner and the representative of the West in the cabinet; but it is gratifying to note that he has taken a stand publicly that will make it impossible for him to countenance any attempt to grade up the tariff at the coming session of parliament.

"We do not believe for a moment
that the tariff commission will recommend a higher tariff. The commissioners have taken evidence in all parts of Canada and have heard expressions of opinions of all kinds from the out and out free trader to the ultra-protectionist; and the net result of their hearings must be to convince them
that any changes of note in the tariff, whether up or down, will be fraught with danger."

The present tariff is a humdrum compromise one; nobody is enthusiastic about; it is too high for the low tariff advocates and too low for the protectionists; it has many critics and few friends. Yet the test of time has shown that it is on the whole well-suited to the requirements of the Canadian people.

It has given this country a longer period of tariff stability than it has ever known. Under its operations the manufacturers have made money, for the first time; and the investments in factories have shown enormous growth.
At the same time the consumer has been given substantial relief from his burden of indirect taxation; while our sea-borne commerce has responded to the enlarged opportunities afforded by the lower tariff.

The tariff which is in force today is not a high tariff—the requests of the manufacturers made to the tariff commission make that clear. In almost every case they asked for increases at least half as much again. It would, perhaps, strain the truth to describe it as a low tariff. It is a moderate tariff,
a compromise tariff; and with the conflicting interests that have to be reckoned with this is the only kind of a tariff that can remain for any length of time upon the statute book. There must always be a Canadian party in favor of a moderate tariff, with still lower duties to be ultimately achieved;
and this party, it is needless to say,
should be the Liberal party. There was an alarming development of protectionist sentiment in the Liberal party a few years since, which for a time gave rise to fears that the party was in imminent danger of being captured by ideas which it had resisted for a generation. That danger is, we think, over. The Liberals who believe in the tariff being as low as conditions
will warrant are in an immense majority in the party; and it is high time that they made it quite plain that they intend to command the ship. This would not be followed by any cleavage
in the party for the great majority of the protectionist Liberals would fall in line although there would be individual desertions to the high tariff camp. But even if it means disruption the Liberals must find out where they stand on this question; we have been drifting too long.

The Western Liberals will, of course,
stand to a man in favor of the traditional policy of the party; and they will recognize no other. A Liberal party in favor of a Dingley tariff is something they cannot conceive of;
and should this monstrosity ever make its appearance their repudiation of it will be final.

MUNICIPAL ADVERTISING

Among ambitious towns in British Columbia as well as on the prairies
there is a growing determination to persistently advertise their own peculiar advantages. It is realized by the councils, the boards of trade and by business men generally that a tide of immigration is steadily moving westward and it is believed that the town that makes itself best known and that stands ready to offer the most inducements will attract the largest number of newcomers and enjoy the greatest prosperity.

Unlike the country districts it is not laborers that are most needed but it is the capitalists that are required to build up the permanent prosperity of a town or city. With this end in view organized efforts are being put forth to obtain extensive advertising through the medium of a publicity department.
To this end the Brandon, Man., council at a recent meeting decided to appropriate a sum of money and a committee was appointed to recommend to the council a practical scheme and an estimate of the amount of money required and it is expected that definite steps will be taken in the near future
to widely advertise the city.

Brandon's action is really an endorsement of the policy of municipal advertising, for during the past few years large sums have been spent in various advertising methods both by the city and the most enterprising merchants, and the decision to further prosecute the work is evidence that the experiences of the past have been encouraging. Brandon is already one of the best advertised cities in Manitoba and it will be interesting to know
the results of this latest move.

Other cities are doing likewise. Calgary is raising $15,000 to spend in municipal advertising and optimists
on the board of trade expect large increases in the population during the next few years. The city of Spokane is raising $40,000 and Vancouver and Victoria are also actively pushing forward the enterprise.

We believe that to advertise a city or town is just as important as for a business man to advertise his goods. If a municipality has resources, how are they to become quickly known unless they are advertised? If a town or city has in its vicinity the essential resources that make for prosperity, truthful, intelligent, judicious advertising will largely assist its growth and permanent upbuilding.

BRITISH COLUMBIA GAME.

The first annual report of the provincial game and forest warden for British Columbia has just been issued. This department was created by the "Game Amendment Act, 1905," and in a province abounding in such wealth of forest and game it is a highly important one and it seems strange that it had not been instituted years ago.

The chief of the department, A. Bryan Williams, has evidently made good use of his time, for his report includes much interesting material and shows careful research and an intelligent understanding of the conditions of the wild in all parts of the province. In the opening pages of the report it is pointed out that during 1903 only $1,750 was collected in licence fees from non-resident hunters. When it is remembered that British Columbia is one of, if not the greatest, game country in the world and when the $1,750 of licence fees is compared with the revenue of the state of Maine for the same year amounting to $24,455, the natural conclusion is that British Columbia profits too little from her wealth of game. The primary cause is of course the smaller number of tourists who come to hunt in B. C. To overcome this the game warden advocates more extensive advertising of the resources and attractions of the province. To do this there can be nothing much more useful than the text matter of this first report. If the government would revise and elaborate the report; embellish it with suitable illustrations and distribute it in thousands among the wealthy classes of Eastern Canada, the United States and Great Britain, it would probably be the means of attracting large numbers of tourists to British Columbia and it is reasonable to suppose that while they would enjoy the excellent sport our mountains provide and rejoice in the splendid climate of the valleys, they would at the same time learn something of the vast forest and mineral wealth abounding everywhere and carry back to their friends glowing stories of British Columbia's natural greatness. Some of the best parts of the report have been selected and reproduced as follows:

Game a Valuable Asset.—There is no doubt that big game all over the world is becoming scarcer every year, while the number of sportsmen is increasing, and in consequence, more and more difficulty is found in obtaining good shooting, so that it can only be a matter of a few years when those countries that do not have strict preservation of their game will not have any game at all, and those that do will reap a rich harvest from the number of people who have come to hunt it.

British Columbia still has a splendid stock of game, and in spite of the great amount of slaughter during the last few years, there is little doubt that it is the best all round country for sport on the continent. Where else can sportsmen go and find the same variety of big game, moose, wapiti, sheep, caribou, goat, deer, grizzly, black and brown bear, wolves, lynx, panthers, wild cats, and racoons, to say nothing of the small game, which embraces some of the best snipe shooting in the world, duck and geese, as well as pheasants, prairie chicken and other species of grouse, quail and, in a few years European partridges may be added to the list. In addition to the sport with rifle and shotgun, we have such salmon fishing as is unknown elsewhere, and trout and grayling fishing unsurpassed in any other country. When every branch of sport into consideration, I do not think I should have erred had I called it the best game country in the world, and not only on the continent.

And yet, in spite of the advantages the country can offer, what does it receive in the way of revenue from its game, and what benefit is it to people living in the province? With the exception of the men who shoot birds, and those who provide outfits and act as guides for the tourists who come, the only people who really benefit are the Indians and prospectors. The province, at present, gets practically nothing in the way of revenue. During the season of 1904 only 35 non-residents paid for a hunting licence, and though it is likely that a few more would not have made any material difference. The amount of revenue from these people amounted to $1,750, which is nothing compared with the amount collected in the state of Maine in 1903, where hunting licences were taken out by 1,697 non-residents, producing a total revenue of $24,455. It is even very small compared with the amount collected in New Brunswick, where 338 non-residents paid the sum of $10,140; and it is absolutely absurd compared with the total revenue collected in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin for the year 1903, which aggregated the enormous sums of $98,750 and $90,169, respectively. (These latter figures include a residents' licence of $1 a head.)

Yet British Columbia is a better game country than all the states mentioned put together, and could afford sport to at least as many visitors as the state of Maine, or a half a dozen similar states. Had we the number of visitors the sport of the country would entitle us to expect, the actual amount collected as revenue would be a small thing compared with the amount expended by tourists in guides, horses, hotels, etc., and which would benefit everybody directly or indirectly.

It is very seldom that a man comes into this country to shoot big game without leaving behind him $1,500, and more often it is double that amount; while, in addition to this, it is quite a frequent occurrence that a man who comes here simply and solely to shoot, while he is here sees the commercial advantages of the country, and not only invests money himself, but advises his friends to do likewise, and generally advertise the country. Such men as these, even if they came in numbers, would hardly make any difference in the amount of game; they only want a few specimen heads and shoot nothing that is not worth mounting. A good many of them are content with less than the amount they are allowed to kill, while others shoot nothing unless they think it has a record head.

Now, why does British Columbia attract so much less than its fair share of wealthy sportsmen, to whom distance and expense is no object when sport is in question? There are several reasons; first, of all, because so little is really known of the country. A few people have been here, but of these few the percentage who have got any sport is very small. The chances are they arrive here perfect strangers, with only a faint idea of where to go or how to get guides and outfits; there has been nobody in authority to whom to apply for information; they ask the hotel clerk or porter, who has very likely as much knowledge of the subject as themselves, and, finally, they get off and follow a more or less beaten track. Wherever they go they find Indians ahead of them, prospectors killing indiscriminately, or hunters who make a living by selling meat and heads. The people have gone away in disgust and have warned others not to come.

To improve the present conditions and to make the province more attractive to tourists as well as to protect the game and increase the revenue, the warden recommends that game wardens be employed during the greater part of the year in Bridge river, Chilcotin and East Kootenay. These would be especially useful in preventing the ruthless destruction committed every year by the Indians and in collecting the licence fees.

Attention is paid to all classes of large and small game. The report deals with mountain sheep, of which there are four varieties left:

In this province we still have a fair number of the common big horn left, and in the northern portion of the country large numbers of the other species. In East Kootenay, where the biggest and best heads of the common big horn are got, there is still a fair stock, but the Stony Indians have, during the last few years, killed off such numbers that only a quarter of what should be remains.

In the Ashnola (Similkameen), which was once the big horn country, there are only a few specimens left, and the increase in the number of panthers and the in-breeding, consequent on the small number of animals, makes it unlikely that the stock will ever increase unless active measures are taken at once to protect them. The same applies to the Okanagan.

Bridge River and Chilcotin are still good countries, but of late years the number has decreased rapidly; this is partly due to the influx of prospectors, but more to the Chilcotin Indians, who never kill any other kind of game if they can get ewes.

It is pleasing to be able to relate that in Cassiar there are still quantities of the Ovis stonoi and allied varieties. The Indians in that district are happily too lazy to climb to the mountain tops, where these animals spend most of their time.

Some attention is paid to fishing and recommendations are made for the preservation of the finny tribe and for the restocking of some streams that are rapidly becoming depleted. The report will stimulate public interest in the game and fish of the province and lead to more stringent measures being employed to protect the wild life of mountain, lake and stream.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Wood for a dance in the Eagles' hall next Friday night.

The Rev. R. C. Whittaker will preach in the Methodist church Sunday, morning and evening.

Mrs. Milton White of Grand Forks is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Sater.

EARN CASH

In Your Leisure Time

If you could start at once in a business which would add a good round sum to your present earnings—WITHOUT INVESTING A DOLLAR—wouldn't you do it?

Well, we are willing to start you in a profitable business and we don't ask you to put up any kind of a dollar.

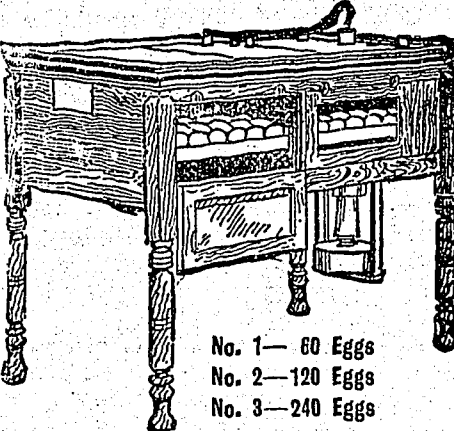

Our proposition is this: We will ship you the Chatham Incubator and Brooder, freight prepaid, and

Poultry raising pays.

People who tell you that there is no money in raising chicks may have tried to make money in the business by using setting hens as hatchers, and they might as well have tried to locate a gold mine in the cabbage patch. The business of a hen is—to lay eggs. As a hatcher and brooder she is out-clasped. That's the business of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder, and they do it perfectly and successfully.

The poultry business, properly conducted, pays far better than any other business for the amount of time and money invested. Thousands of poultry-raisers—men and women all over Canada and the United States—have proved to their satisfaction that it is profitable to raise chicks with the

CHATHAM INCUBATOR AND BROODER.

"Yours is the first incubator I have used, and I wish to state I had 62 chicks out of 62 eggs. This was my first lot, only a 100 cent hatch. I am well pleased with my incubator and brooder. THOS. McNAUGHTON, Canby, B.C."

"My first hatch came off. I got 170 fine chicks from 180 eggs. Who can beat that for the first trial, and so early in the spring. I am well pleased with incubator, and if I could not get another money could not buy it from me. Every farmer should have one. CHATHAM INCUBATOR—F. W. KANSAY, Dunnville, Ont."

"The incubator you furnished me works exceedingly well. It is easily operated, and only needs about 30 minutes attention every day. R. McGEHEE, MOOSE JAW, Assa."

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is honestly constructed. There is no humbug about it. Every inch of material is thoroughly tested, the machine is built on right principles, the insulation is perfect, thermometer reliable, and the workmanship the best.

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is simple as well as scientific in construction—a woman or girl can operate the machine in their leisure moments.

ROSSLAND CARNIVAL

A Feast of Winter Sports
in Progress.

THE GREENWOOD BAND

Plays Sweet Music and Wins Kind Words From People and Press.

ROSSLAND, Feb. 9.—The ninth annual carnival is now in full swing. It opened Wednesday night with one of the grandest masquerades ever held in this city. All ranks of society were represented in the large audience that packed the rink and the enthusiasm ran high at all times.

The winners of the prizes were:

Lady's Costume—First prize, Miss Grace Stewart, personifying "Night;" second prize, Miss Olive Stanaway, representing "Canada."

Gentleman's Costume—Wm. Lewis, in the character of "Mephistopheles;" second, H. G. Johnston, as an "Indian Chief."

Girl's Costume—Miss Mary Milne, as a "Cowboy Girl," second, Miss Christina Larsen, as "Good Luck."

Boys' Costume—First prize was unanimously awarded to Luther McCulloch as "Buster Brown;" second, Willie Ehlers, as "Napoleon Bonaparte."

Ladies' Comic Costume—The judges felt that none of the characters were specially worthy of a prize in this regard, but unanimously agreed that Miss Ella Cosgriff, as the Jewish emigrant, was entitled to a prize.

Gentlemen's Comic Costume—R. Webb, who portrayed an old woman.

Lady and gentleman in fancy costume skating together, grace and proficiency to be taken into consideration. The prize was awarded to Arthur Clark as a sailor, accompanied by Miss Flossie Donahue, as a typical western prairie girl. The second prize was awarded to Homer Falding as a soldier, and Miss Grace R. Hamilton, as a Japanese Geisha girl.

A special prize was awarded to Gordon and Stewart Kenning as a Dutch boy and girl.

BOUQUETS FOR THE BAND.

The Greenwood band have made a hit and they are the most popular fellows in the city. Their excellent music contributed largely to the success of the masquerade and all through they have played an important part. The Rossland Miner remarks that "As an amateur organization this band is well worth hearing; indeed it would shame many professional bands. The members are a fine lot of men and entered into the spirit of the carnival with much zeal."

Among those registered at the hotels from Greenwood are:

Hotel Allan—W. C. Wade, E. P. Dill, A. McQueen, J. S. Jost, Mr. Morrison, Mr. McKinnon and Mr. Baker, Boundary hockey team.

J. Findlay, J. W. McBain, H. Archibald, T. McArthur, A. D. Hallett, Joe Jones, C. Braithwaite, W. Swayne, W. Horton, A. Lignon, J. Saunders, B. E. Jenkins, F. Tattersall, O. G. Jellum, L. L. Peregrine, A. J. Logan, G. Biner, T. Tierney, W. H. Jorkman and wife, J. Lamping and wife, Greenwood brass band.

E. W. Bishop, J. D. McCreath, T. H. Patterson and S. M. Johnson.

C. M. McDowell is here from Boundary Falls, and James Pierce and Lawrence McKelvie of Phoenix are registered at the Hoffman house.

Curling is going on and the "roarin' game" is a favorite with many of the visitors. A ladies' hockey match will be played Friday afternoon, and the intermediate hockey teams of Rossland, Trail, Nelson and Phoenix will play in the tournament.

The Boundary hockey team played Nelson Thursday night and lost. Score, 6-1. During the first half the boys had the Nelsonites well on the go, and the score was 1 to 0 in favor of Greenwood. In the last half the Boundary goalkeeper forgot how to play and before time was up he had let six Nelson shots land in the net. Fernie and Rossland play Friday night and the winners play Nelson Saturday.

Curling Bishop's rink played and won their first, score 14 to 13. One of the boys informed the Times they are having a royal time. The Rossland hockey team comes to Greenwood and play the local team next Friday.

THE CITY COUNCIL

sion and the city solicitor drew up a resolution dealing with the question similar to the one passed in Cranbrook. The council felt that they were not called upon to enter into the matter except in general terms without reference to any particular company.

Alderman Nelson introduced a by-law to amend the present bylaw governing the granting of liquor licenses in the city. The new bylaw aimed to decrease the number of hotels and saloons that can be licensed from 17 to 13. It was the opinion of the council that provision should be made to prevent any increase over the number of thirteen and that the saloons should be entirely cancelled. The bylaw was discussed at some length and will come up for third reading at the next meeting.

The city engineer presented a full and comprehensive report which contains much information of deep interest to every property owner in Greenwood. It deals most extensively with the improved water system, explaining the Anaconda agreement and includes a comparative table which shows a steady increase in the revenue during the past three years. This is the report in full:

THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN CITY OF GREENWOOD.

SIRS: I beg to submit my report for the year just ended.

Owing to the installation of the Lind creek extension to the water system the expenditure on streets was kept at a minimum the total expenditure amounting to $1,061.98 which is the lowest since incorporation. Of this amount $74.50 was expended in protecting the banks of Boundary creek and the balance is made up of minor repairs to streets, sidewalks and a small amount of street work in connection with waterworks extensions.

WATERWORKS.

The extension to waterworks consists of a masonry reservoir constructed of flag stones and Portland cement mortar, capable of emponding over 200,000 gallons, or sufficient for one day's supply for the city. From the reservoir, which is situated on Lind creek, about one half a mile east of Anaconda, an 8-inch main conveys the water to Anaconda, from which point a 6-inch main leads to Greenwood and joins the old system at the Greenwood hotel, whilst a 4-inch main supplies the Anaconda system and rejoins the 6-inch main at Sixth street, thus ensuring circulation. The whole system consists of 11,500 feet as follows:

3,000 feet of 8 inch
4,000 feet of 6 inch
1,750 feet of 4 inch
2,300 feet of 2 inch

all of which consists of wire wound wooden pipe supplied by the Pacific Coast Pipe Co. of Vancouver, and is under varying heads up to 150 pounds per square inch and has to date proved highly satisfactory.

One of the conditions upon which the property owners of Anaconda agreed to have record transferred to Greenwood was that they should be supplied water for one year gratis from mains to be laid on certain streets and this condition has been fully met by the city, ten key hydrants having been installed, besides eleven services and three fire hydrants, from which there will be no revenue until October, 1906, when it will amount to $510 per year, or within a few dollars of the amount necessary to cover the sinking fund for the debentures issued to cover cost of system.

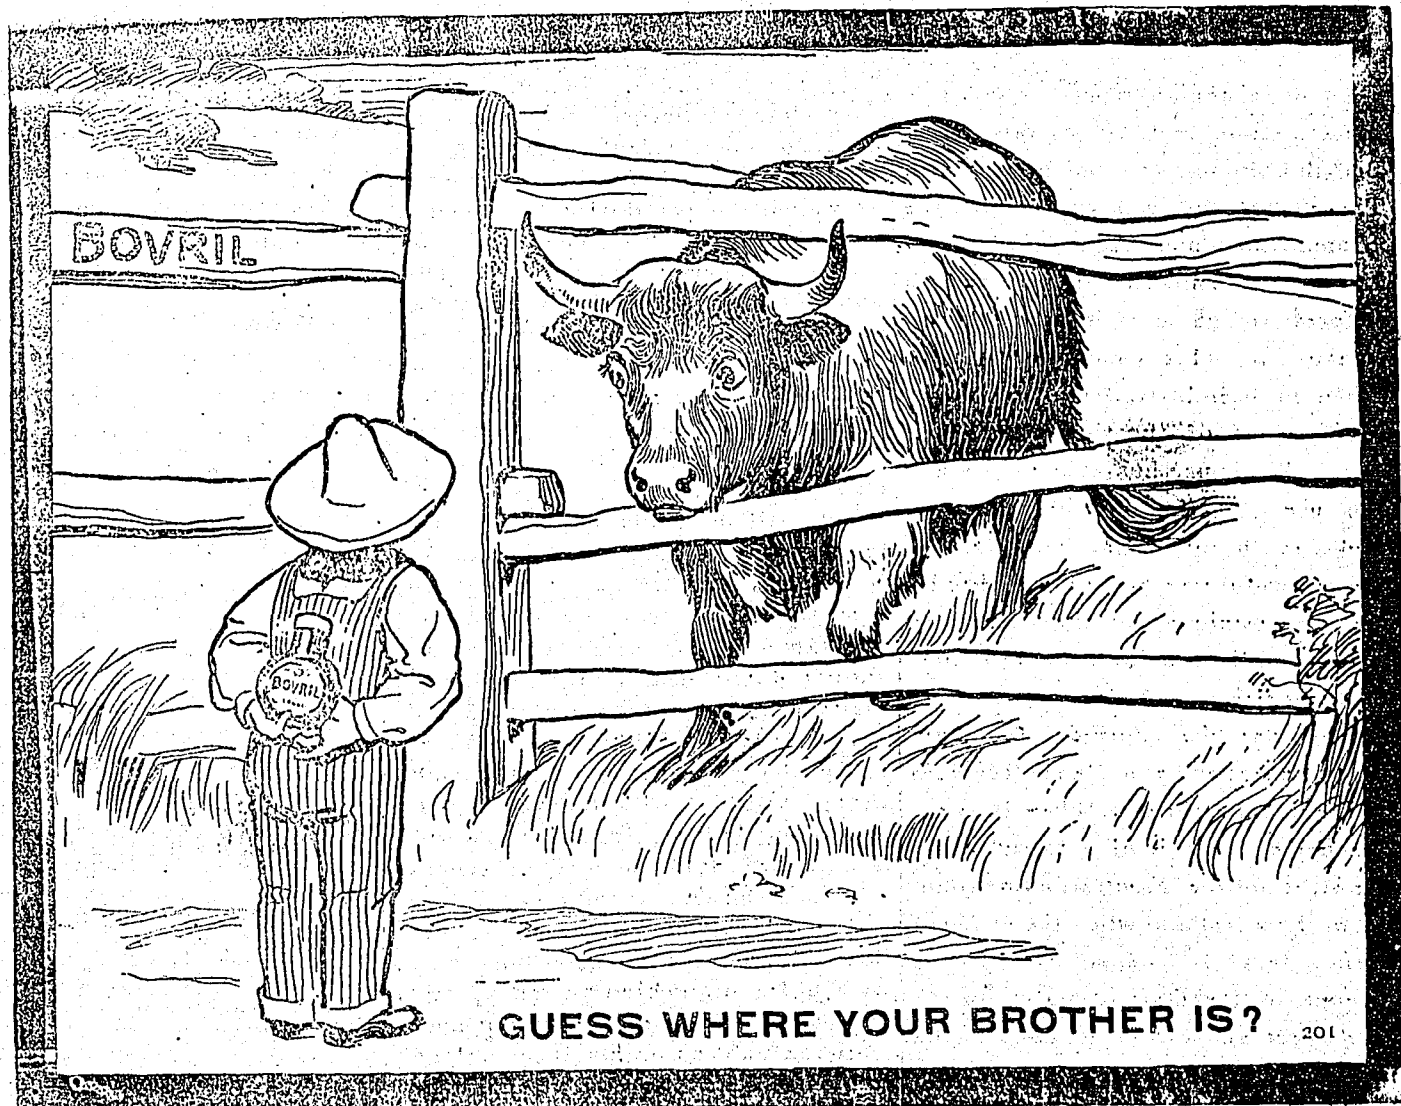

During the year 37 services were installed in the City of Greenwood, which greatly exceeds the number of former years.

The most important item after the Lind creek extension consisted of taking up 2,500 feet of the 4-inch mains on Copper, Dundee and Silver streets and sinking them to a depth of five and a half feet. In places these mains were not over three feet and had caused anxiety and expense every spring, the latter amounting to $477.70 last spring; 1,735 feet of this 4-inch pipe was replaced with 6-inch sheet pipe on Copper and Dundee streets and 1,100 feet of 4-inch pipe was relaid on Silver and Summit streets and the balance of the 4-inch pipe is on hand for future extensions.

In addition to the above between four and five hundred feet of service pipe in Copper street laid in 1899 and 1900 were taken up and deepened to avoid the constant trouble with frost.

The cost of this work was more expensive than if the main had never been laid, but there having been mains on these streets the cost was all charged to maintenance, when at least the cost of new pipe and the depth below former depth could justly be charged to capital account, but the whole work has been charged to maintenance and this naturally shows a deficit for the year.

The following table shows the abnormal expense incurred during the year and also the growing revenue from this system:

|      | CASH RECEIPTS. | COST OF MAINTENANCE. |
|------|----------------|----------------------|
| 1902 | $2,367.45     | $ 700.45            |
| 1903 | 2,514.34       | 367.00               |
| 1904 | 3,177.00       | 493.98               |
| 1905 | 3,908.25       | 4,147.42             |

Apart from the Anaconda revenue, which will not be payable until October, I estimate that the revenue from waterworks for the coming year will amount to $4,500.00. Respectfully submitted, SYDNEY M. JOHNSON.

IN SOCIETY'S CIRCLE.

Mrs. Whiteside gave a delightful "at home" Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 6:30. About seventy guests called and enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess. Mrs. Whiteside was handsomely attired in black, and Miss Whiteside looked charming in a suit of blue. The rooms were decorated with foliage plants and carnations. Mrs. Allison poured tea for the first hour, while Mrs. Warren presided over the tea cups during the remainder of the afternoon. The guests were served by six young ladies—Misses Reid, Mulligan, Martin, Minkler, Monahan and Moffat, and they all performed their duties in a charming manner. Solos were rendered by Mrs. W. Allison and Mrs. George Williams to the evident enjoyment of all who were fortunate enough to be present. In the evening an informal dance was given to a number of young people and a most pleasant time was spent.

A large number of young people were entertained by Randolph Stuart at a coasting party on Wednesday night. The Government street hill and the sleds were in first class shape, and after enjoying the exhilarating sport for some time the jolly party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Prith, where they partook of a dainty lunch and enjoyed a few hours musical entertainment.

LIQUID VENEER

MAKES OLD THINGS NEW

Liquid Veneer instantly restores the brilliant newness and finish of Pianos, Furniture, Picture Frames Interior Woodwork, Hardwood Floors, and all polished, varnished or enameled surfaces.

It renews and redresses everything it touches. Revamping is unnecessary, because scratches, stains and dirt instantly disappear, leaving a smooth, brilliant surface.

Liquid Veneer is not a varnish, but a surface food that is absorbed by the old finish, instantly restoring the latter to its original brightness. Easy to use—only a piece of cheese cloth is necessary. Dries instantly. One delighted customer writes that it is worth $100 per bottle. The price is only 50 cents.

PROSPEROUS MINING

After Years of Uncertainty B. C. Takes Proper Place

THE BOUNDARY GROWS

A Large Increase in the Output of the Mines Both High and Low Grade.

On January 27th the Mining World published a large and elaborately illustrated edition reviewing the year's mining in all parts of the world. Each state and country was treated in a special article written by authorities familiar with the prevailing conditions in their particular country. British Columbia was given a prominent place among the foremost mining countries of the world, and it is candidly admitted that this province has recently taken a place that commands the attention of the world. G. Sheldon-Williams reviewed B. C. mining and some of the most interesting features are here reproduced:

MARKED DEVELOPMENT

"In reviewing the progress of the mining industry in British Columbia during the past year, the first thing that strikes the observer is the very general and universal nature of the marked development and improved conditions which have obtained all over the province. The area of British Columbia is immense, larger than many an old world empire, and the known mineralized sections of a province which has been but little prospected even at this date produce the utmost diversity of minerals under the most widely differing conditions. It could, therefore, hardly have been expected that the closing of the current year would show a general and high advance all along the line in every mineral district of the province.

"And yet, with a few exceptions, such is the case this year. It is a very far cry from the Boundary to Atlin, a very far cry from East Kootenay to the west coast of Vancouver Island, yet those widely separated mining sections of the great Province of British Columbia have all some story to place before the world—a story of profitable activity, of good returns, and of an enormous increase in development.

"Many things have contributed to this satisfactory state of affairs. Among the primary causes, of course, certainly as far as regards the pecuniary value of the year's output, must be reckoned the increasingly high prices of three of British Columbia's staple mineral products—namely, copper, silver and lead. The latter metal, indeed, has risen to a figure which has wiped out the lead bounty provided some two years ago by the Dominion government with a view to assisting the development of the vast bodies of ore existing in the province. The price of silver has also advanced very considerably, while that of copper has reached an abnormally high figure.

"If the advance in lead and silver has principally benefitted the Kootenays and the Slocan, the increased price of copper has had a far more widespread effect. This is due to the fact that copper—sometimes of a low grade, sometimes high, and in combination with one or both of the precious metals—has been found in immense quantities in most of the mineralized districts of the province. The mines of the Boundary, of Rossland, and now of the Similkameen, are cases in point where both high and low grade copper properties have been developed with the most satisfactory results in the interior; while, on the coast, the Britannia mine—thought at first to be a purely low grade concentrating proposition, but now proving with development to carry larger values—the Tyee mine, the Marble Bay mine on Texada Island, and numerous other valuable properties just coming to the front, prove that the interior of British Columbia has no monopoly of this valuable commercial metal.

HAS "MADE GOOD"

"By far the most potent agent in the past year's mining prosperity of the province, however, has lain in the fact that British Columbia has, in the slang of the street, 'made good.' In other words, she has learned her lesson and begun to help herself. Eight years ago, every possible method of exploiting the then only partially realized mineral wealth of the province was in full and active operation—except the simple yet necessary process of digging out the ore.

"Shares were sold in the eastern states and provinces and in Great Britain to the extent of many millions of dollars worth, in companies whose properties had the solitary merit of geographical position—and some not even that. 'Mines' that had no location or real existence whatever were unloaded on the unwary investor. Every fraudulent device that could be conceived to introduce the wedge of separation between the fool and his money was employed.

"It was the Saturnalia of the wild cat, and for several years British Columbia did her little best to convince the investing public of the truth of that time honored adage which says that 'A mine is a hole in the ground, and its owner is a liar.'

"The reaction came at last, and for an appreciable number of years British Columbia mining, with one or two exceptions, was in a very languishing condition. Capital was shy—the burnt child dreads the fire—and the wretched camp follower of the vast army of sharks and shysters who had fattened so long on the public gullibility still hung about the province, unfitted for honest work, and paralyzing every effort made in that direction by better men.

"It was not possible, however, that a province so rich in minerals both base and precious should remain forever under a cloud; and it speaks volumes for the genuine wealth of the vast area which is now being slowly but surely developed by British Columbia mining industry, that that industry should have so speedily recovered from the disastrous results of ignorance, mismanagement, incapacity and downright felony.

RICH AND VARIED.

"The recovery was very slow at first, but gradually mining men of scientific experience began to investigate those rich and varied mineral resources which the mining promoters and speculators of former years had painted in such glowing colors without ever driving a pick into. These men had ample capital at their backs, and business capacity as well as scientific skill; and the results of their investigations were so satisfactory in a number of cases that valuable properties were opened up. The high returns from these attracted further investments, and, in the course of the last two years, but more especially within the twelve-month just passed, capital has begun to move towards British Columbia in no uncertain way. Large plants have been installed, the capacity of previously existing ones increased, new properties have been developed and work commenced on others which had long been idle; with the immediate result of a large increase in the annual mineral output, and the absolute certainty that that large increase will be dwarfed into insignificance by the output of a year or two hence."

BOUNDARY INCREASE.

Continuing his article Mr. Williams gives a massive array of statistics covering the whole of the province. These show that in the Boundary and Similkameen there was an increase of $1,461,219; in East Kootenay an increase of $1,716,828, and in Atlin an increase of $5,026. In Cariboo, West Kootenay and Lillooet there were small decreases in the year's output. It is pointed out that the falling off in the latter districts was the result of an unusually dry, short season and the resultant lack of water.

GRANBY DIVIDENDS.

In conclusion the article says: "Finally, in the Boundary country, where the Granby company signalized the last month of the year just passed by declaring a dividend of $405,000—the largest single dividend ever declared hitherto by a British Columbia mine—railroad construction has also been active. This, indeed, is scarcely surprising, in view of the progress of that camp, whose ore shipments for 1905 are in the neighborhood of 930,000 tons.

"It has not been possible within the limits of an article of this description to do more than give the barest outline of the gratifying progress made by the mining industry of British Columbia during the past year; or the encouraging prospects for an immense advance during the coming twelve-month. But the figures speak for themselves. In the immense area of this province, an area whose outer fringe only has been prospected—and that not thoroughly, as fresh discoveries in every camp are constantly bearing evidence—an area whose total white population is under 175,000 souls, it would seem that a mineral production of close on $21,000,000 for twelve months is a tolerably fair showing. The mineral industry in British Columbia is only in its infancy; its growth will be a surprise in a continent of big things."

sion and the city solicitor drew up a resolution dealing with the question similar to the one passed in Cranbrook. The council felt that they were not called upon to enter into the matter except in general terms without reference to any particular company.

H. H. Shallenberger and his gang are opening a large ledge of copper ore at the Moreen mine. For a distance 150 feet the trench shows up good copper gold ore. The cut is being made through decomposed rock and no blasting has been necessary.

At the general meeting of the Phoenix hospital held recently it was found that over $8,000 had passed through the treasurer's hands during 1905. The year's work had been unusually heavy owing to the fever epidemic, but that is now well over and only about eight cases are now under treatment and no new cases have been reported during the past few weeks.

The manager of the "Juvenile Bostonians," whose company were to appear in the Auditorium here January 31st and February 1st, wishes, through the Times to apologize to the people of Greenwood for their non-appearance. Word had been sent to the manager of the Auditorium cancelling the engagement but the letter was never received. At the last moment it was found impossible to play in Greenwood.

FRANKLIN CITY.

A New Town Springing up on the Kettle River.

GRAND FORKS, Feb. 2.—(Received too late for last week)—Franklin City is the name of the newly located town in Franklin camp, although the blue print plans of the townsite have only been out a few days some fifty lots have been sold. It is situated on the East Fork of the North Fork of the Kettle river and lies in a level basin on land owned by James McArdle of this city. It is within a distance of some two miles of the famous McKinley mine, and has within a radius of three miles over twenty well-known properties in Franklin camp. This new townsite also lies north of the McKinley smelter site joining it. A syndicate of Grand Forks business men are handling the townsite and it is understood liberal inducements to bona fide settlers will be granted. The proposed North Fork railway will run through Franklin City and will make a railway center for the combined camps of Franklin and Gloucester. From present appearances, judging by the way lots are being purchased, Franklin City will within the next twelve months be recognized as the center of Franklin camp.

GURE FOR FOREIGN COMPETITION.

Mr. Fielding, the finance minister, replying to a shoe manufacturer of the eastern provinces, who appeared before the tariff commission to ask for a duty that would force out the Boston shoe manufacturers, and complained of the advertising done by them, said:

"You'll have to advertise. You can get relief from printer's ink." Mr. Charles Slater, of the Slater Shoe company, applauds this statement, and says that in seven years he has quadrupled his business, and simply as a result of advertising. "There are," he added, "other good shoes made in Canada, but there is no other advertised shoe. I am content with the present tariff on the finished shoe, and our advertising is an evidence of our belief."

That's the talk, Mr. Slater. The success of any business depends upon the push and energy of its management. The best article ever manufactured could not find a national sale in these days without advertising. The Douglas shoe of Boston has a continental reputation which, besides making its manufacturer a fortune made him governor of Massachusetts. If the Canadian manufacturers spent half the time they now waste in grumbling over tariff matters in pushing their businesses by advertising they would not long have to complain about Yankee competition. A good article well advertised is sure to sell. The finance minister's advice was timely.—Ex.

PROSPEROUS MINING

town of Greenwood, the B. C. Copper company's smelter, and the Dominion Copper Co's smelter at Boundary Falls. It is a splendid advertisement for the province and for Greenwood and vicinity in particular.

In the general review of the world's mining operations, attention is paid Canada in general and the Boundary in particular as follows:

"For the decade ending 1905 the Canadian mines have increased production by 425 per cent. The bulk of Ontario copper comes from the nickel-copper ores worked by the Canadian Copper company in the Sudbury district. In British Columbia the Boundary district mines have made some progress in the way of improving the finances of some of the weaker companies of promise. The Granby remains easily foremost, has had a very good year and its smelting plant is being increased."

In the world's production of copper Canada is given eighth place, being equal with Germany and being exceeded by the United States, Mexico, Spain, Japan, Chili and Australia. It is reasonable to expect, however, that with the rapidly increasing output of British Columbia mines Canada will soon take a much higher place among the great copper-producing countries of the world.
