A MINING CENTRE

Greenwood is Headquarters For Many Companies

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS

Opportunities For Further Investing of Capital in Mines of Good Showings.

That Greenwood in addition to being the centre of actual mining operations in the Boundary is the recognized headquarters of the industry may be gathered from a perusal of the list of companies operating from this point. Here are located the following all at present in active operation: The B. C. Copper Co., Dominion Copper Co., Providence Mining Co., Prince Henry Mining Co., Elkhorn Mining Co., Vancouver-Boundary Development and Mining Co., Crescent Mines, Greenwood-Eureka Gold Mining Co., and Helen-Strathmore Mines.

Then there are the Ruby, Preston Greyhound, Moreen, Maori, Norena and others, non-incorporated but in operation, while the Duncan and Rambler on the West Fork are owned and operated from here.

Many other companies not now working maintain head-offices in Greenwood, viz the Buckhorn Gold and Copper Mining Co., the Golconda Mining Co., the McRae Copper Mines, the Enterprise and Anchor, the Boundary Creek Mining and Milling Co., the Spokane-Boundary Co., the Morrison, the Royal Victoria, etc., all possessing valuable mining property but idle, some from want of capital, some from timid or incapable ownership, some from legal or other complications.

A few companies which are not here enumerated and which have made Greenwood headquarters never had any merit and were presumably designed as stock-broking concerns. These for the most part were promoted by non-residents. Greenwood, in itself, has for the greater part always been a conservative mining camp. Greenwood people have maintained an aversion for the exploitation of meritless mines. Whether this has been because of honest motives or from business sagacity may not be said, but the fact remains, and because it is a fact the Greenwood mining field has a good reputation where known. That the field and its merits are not more widely known is doubtless largely due to the very conservatism of her people.

But notwithstanding this array of occupied and operating properties, the hills about Greenwood are yet rich with opportunity unavailed by capital.

Ore veins and ore bodies, and partly developed claims yet remains for sale or bond on favorable terms, which if in Colorado, or Utah or Nevada would be quickly possessed by capital with courage. The Boundary has not developed the habit of courageous mining. For while in the states named capital will follow a knife-blade seam a thousand feet into the hills looking for what is reluctant often to reveal itself, here pay ore is asked for from the grass roots.

Within four miles of a railroad and not over seven miles from Greenwood for example, the Big Copper with doubtless the best showing of any undeveloped Copper property in British Columbia is waiting to be sought by competent Capital. But for the great part the capital that strays this way is timid as a deer of the hills.

The fine climate, the good water, the facility of transportation, the magnitude of the deposits do not seem to appeal to it. Boundary Creek is too tame a name to conjure with. Had the district been called Oven Valley or Death's resort, had air been oppressive and water bad, had access there to been available only to those who court long laborious trails, the riches of the districts would be employing ten thousand men where today only two thousand find employment. The tourist may enjoy Pullman cars and first-class hotels but the mining man seems to pine for the pack horse and the log-cabin.

For pure stock-jobbing schemes this may be a wise thing, for then they who confide their money to friends for investment may for a long time be kept in ignorance of the facts. For the men however who invest their own money or who hold that of their friends as a sacred trust the Boundary ought to be a most inviting field.

With this apparent handicap however of great deposits of cheaply mined and cheaply smelted ore in a most healthful climate with ready means of access and cheap transportation the Boundary record is beginning to make an impressive showing. Thanks to a few interpid intelligent men a good beginning has been made. Six years measure the history of the Boundary's genuine development and yet in 1905 the output was 965,529 tons of ore being 56 per cent of the entire output of the Province. And the 1906 record will nearly 1,500,000 tons from present appearance.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

A. P. Low, Director, is Visiting the Boundary.

A NEW DEPARTMENT

W. R. Brock his Capable Assistant Shows Him the Big Mines of the Boundary.

Mr. A. P. Low, the recently appointed director of the geological survey arrived in Greenwood Wednesday from Phoenix. Mr. Low under the able guidance of Mr. R. W. Brock is making a hurried trip through Southern British Columbia with the principal object of becoming acquainted with the mining men in order to obtain from them suggestions as to improvement and extensions of the survey work in the several important mining centers of this portion of the province. He has visited the coal camps of the Crow's Nest where rapid extensions are being made at all the mines to supply the increasing demands for coal and coke. From there he came to Rossland visiting the principal mines and the smelting works at Trail and was deeply impressed with the extensive works and improved conditions of the mines there. A return was made to Nelson where the important changes on the Hall Mines smelter was inspected, after which the Slocan country was run through from Kaslo to Slocan City. A number of properties worked by leases are doing well. The discovery of the vein at depth on the Rambler-Cariboo, which was visited, will no doubt have a good effect upon other properties and will stimulate deep prospecting.

From the Slocan the trip was continued to the Boundary district, with a visit to the Grand Forks smelter, and to the extensive mines of Phoenix where Messrs. Low and Brock were the guests of Mr. Biesel of the Snowshoe.

Mr. Low is greatly impressed with the extent of the mineralized territory, its richness, the wonderful amount of mining development in such new districts and the bright outlook everywhere of stability and increased prosperity in mining.

The grand and beautiful scenery of the lake country he believes if properly advertised would attract thousands of tourists who now go to Colorado and other parts of the west possessing much inferior attractions. The number and size of the lumber mills were a surprise but astonishment was expressed at the lax manner in which fire protection is carried out, with the loss of a large proportion of one of the most valuable assets of the province, and as the fires are always close to civilization the cost of lumber is increased owing to the greater distance of transport to the mills, while the smoke nuisance will act as a great deterrent to visitors.

Until this visit Mr. Low with common eastern ignorance was under the impression that fruit ranching was confined to the few favoured spots on the coast and had no idea of its extent and value in the beautiful valleys of the interior.

From Greenwood Mr. Brock returns to Rossland to complete the important work there upon which he has been engaged during the past and present season. On the way he will revisit Franklin camp, which has had considerable development since he surveyed it six years ago.

Mr. Low left for the Similkameen on Thursday to become acquainted with that section and to inspect the work of Mr. Camsell who is making a geological survey of the district. Passing through the Nicola valley the railway will be reached and taken to the coast where if time will permit a hurried trip will be made northward with Mr. LeRoy who is geologically examining the coast section.

The reason of so much haste on the present trip, is that Mr. Low is due in the city of Mexico on the 10th of September, to attend the International Congress of Geology which includes in

TWO GOOD MEN

An aggressive department of mines at Ottawa will do much in developing the natural resources of this country. It is a very encouraging sign to see A. P. Low the director of the Geological survey and his assistant R. W. Brock visiting the important mining sections of the west. Mr. Low is a new man in the important position which he now holds but his work in the frozen north for the Dominion stamps him as a man who does things, and it is bright aggressive men that the department needs. Mr. Brock is no stranger to the Boundary or British Columbia. He was here in 1897 studying the Geological formation of this district and those who know something of his careful conscientious painstaking work are not slow in extending their congratulations upon the fact that his services have been permanently secured for the department.

In these growing times people will forgive mistakes in live men who are not afraid to direct their energies to making the resources of this country better known. Messrs. Low and Brock are the stamp of men the country needs and with a staff of such men there need not be much anxiety about the success of the new department of mines.

PUBLIC "SPIRITED" BOARD

During the recent sitting of the Board of Licence Commissioners for the Grand Forks electoral district a dozen or more licences were granted for road houses along the North Fork of Kettle river to Franklin camp, a distance of less than fifty miles. The board was evidently determined that no one connected with the construction of the North Fork road would be denied an opportunity of procuring bad liquor along the route. Notwithstanding the dictum of Hon. Chas. Wilson while that distinguished statesman was attorney-general, the board took a position in accordance with their expert knowledge and precedent in this district. The learned ex-attorney-general held that it would be sound policy to discourage opening up grog shops in the vicinity of railway construction. In this opinion he was upheld by railway contractors and others who have had experience in such matters. The Board of Licence Commissioners in Grand Forks district realizing the necessity of keeping railway navvies filled with whiskey and the necessity of encouraging crime and rowdism have been pleased to disregard the advice of attorney-general and others who are anxious for the maintenance of law and order. The public should have everything that money can buy anywhere between Grand Forks and Franklin. Anywhere beyond Franklin the utmost care must be exercised in doing everything possible to keep the travelling public strictly temperate. The ways of the Board of Licence Commissioners of Grand Forks are inscrutable to the average mortal, but no doubt all their acts are in accordance with the public interests and not in the interests of particular individuals.

DIVIDENDS

The payment of another regular quarterly dividend amounting to $405,000 dollars by the Granby company will do much towards convincing capital that the low grade mines of the Boundary are a safe and sure investment. Smaller and higher grade mines may temporarily give quicker returns but the mines which regularly pay dividends on a basis of 12 per cent per annum on a capitalization of $13,500,000 is good enough for the most finicky investor of money. What the Granby is doing to day other companies will be doing in the near future, The B. C. Copper company and the Dominion Copper company are making every effort to improve the smelting facilities and when this is done dividends are sure to follow. They have the ore and the values and at the present price of copper dividends are a certainty.

In this connection it is interesting to note that it is only a little over nine years since Jay P. Graves came to Greenwood for the purpose of commencing development work on the Knob Hill and Old Ironsides mines. There were no railways in the district and but very little encouragement of any kind for the investor of capital. Mr. Graves was seen by a Times representative upon his arrival in Greenwood in June, 1907, and his statements appear very modest indeed when the remarkable strides made since then are considered. Under the caption, "Old Ironsides and Knob Hill" the following appears in the Boundary Creek Times of June 19th, 1897:

Mr J. P. Graves, the well known Spokane mining man who successfully organized in the East two companies to take over and develop the Old Ironsides and the Knob Hill, in Greenwood camp, arrived from Spokane on Wednesday and spent several days on both claims. Mr. Graves was accompanied by Mr. White, the founder of White's camp. White at the Old Ironsides and Knob Hill, Messrs. Graves and White thoroughly inspected the properties with a view to ascertaining the most advantageous plan of opening them. Mr. Guess, who accompanied them secured many samples from which he will make assays.

Mr. Graves, when seen by a Times representative, stated that both companies for whom he is managing directors have determined to develop both properties and that this will be done as speedily as possible. A foreman will be secured who will have charge of the work on the ground, while Mr. Graves will manage the properties from Spokane, making a frequent visits here during the summer. He has not yet decided on the exact work that his to be done, but in all probability the work of sinking a shaft will at once be commenced on the Old Ironside, while considerable surface work carried out on the Knob Hill. In Mr. Graves' opinion the extent of the work to be done on these and on other properties in the district held by outside capitalist is dependent upon the probability of the early commencement of railway construction. The news that has already been received has been sufficiently encouraging to induce mine owners to begin the work of developing their properties, and the assurance that a railway will be commenced at an early date will be the means of securing the expenditure of a large amount of money in order that mines may be placed on a shipping basis.

CANADA'S FUTURE.

Hon. J. W. Longley judge of the supreme court of Nova Scotia delivered an eloquent address before the Canadian club at Winnipeg the other day. After visiting the coast he was enthusiastic about the future of Canada.

Referring to Canada's relations with the United States, he said he had no thought that Canada should ever be allied to the States. (Applause.) He said he preferred Canadian institutions. There was room on the continent for two nations. (Hear, hear.) Some people he said, seemed to think on the other hand that Canada should look on the States as a hostile nation.

It was impossible to eliminate the fact that as neighbors the interests of Canada and United States were closely allied. It was fortunate that on this continent there were two nations speaking the same language, rather than having beside the Dominion a nation of Hindoos or people alien in every way.

He emphasised the need of closer relations between the two countries. He found in Calgary that Americans were doing more than any other people to develop Alberta. Canada should congratulate herself that the tide has turned.

"I am not afraid of the Americanization of Canada," he said. "There will be no comfortable position here for Americans unless they link their future with Canada."

In closing he asked them to take a look with him to the future. In the first place the population forty or fifty years from now would be 40,000,000 or 50,000,000. The revenue $300,000,000 or $400,000,000. Alberta and Saskatchewan will be more populous and wealthier than Ontario, Winnipeg larger than Montreal or Toronto.

In 1854 Mr. Longley said Joseph Howe prophesied that there would be those who would live to hear the steam whistle in the passes of the Rockies and take a trip across the continent. That day had long passed. The predictions he made of the future were even more likely to come true.

Ferry, Wash., is a wide open American town shunned by law and order. Ferry is not an old town but it has its burying ground. Only five persons are interred there. Every one of the five met with a violent death. Comment is unnecessary.

The Vancouver World has come to the conclusion that it is Conservative party lines that is a failure at Victoria. With this view of the situation the great majority of the people of this province will agree.

On the first page of the Week is a heavily black bordered photo engeaving of Hun. Richard McBride, above which is the ominous title "a grave omission." Does all this anticipate an early appeal to the electors?

It isn't true that Richard McBride presided at the Socialist meeting held recently at Vancouver and at which J. H. Hawthornthwaite told how he lambasted the up-country Grits.

A careful reading of the late number of the Hedley Gazette shows conclusively that its military editor was either mendaciously mad or madly mendacious.

The Advertising Value of Good Stationery.

Every dealer ought to have good stationery.

By good is not meant extravagant, for good stationery costs little more than the kind that is a discredit to the dealer.

The expense of setting up the type and running the press to print a lot of stationery or an inferior grade of stock is as great as if better stock were used.

Poor stationery will create a bad impression in the minds of your customers—and that is sufficient reason why you shouldn't use it.

You will find, too, that the average manufacturer has not a very exalted opinion of the dealer who uses cheap letterheads, or writes on paper without any heading, or habitually uses postal cards.

In fact, when a manufacturer receives a communication asking for wholesale prices written on paper which has not printed headings, and does not disclose that the inquirer is a legitimate dealer, he is pretty apt to decline to quote wholesale prices without further investigation—and ninety-nine times out of a hundred his suspicions are justified.

In his own interest every dealer in groceries should have decent, business like stationery, which will convey the information that he is dealer in groceries, and any other lines he may be engaged in retailing. If he desires to use postal cards, then he should have his business card printed on them also—not necessarily so much matter as would be on a letterhead, but enough to show who he is and what his business is.

So much for the necessity of the case; now for the advertising feature of it:

Business stationery can be made to do quite as effective work as a trademark or a copy-righted brand. Many concerns, after having selected a design for their letterhead, use it on all their stationery, including billheads, statements, order blanks, etc. Assuming that an attractive design or style has been adopted, its value will be enhanced by persistent and continual use. Of course, as in all other advertising, those which are most striking without being glaring or offensive to the artistic sense are most effective.—Ex.

Sparks street to the Thistle building on Wellington street, where it will occupy three flats instead of one as at present.

This branch is rapidly growing in importance and usefulness and the need of more accommodation was urgent. One floor will be fitted up as a laboratory where assaying and analytical work will be carried on. Complete apparatus for giving instruction in magnetic surveys will be installed in another part of the building. This instruction will be given by Mr. Haanel, jr., an expert with the magnetometer.

FOREST FIRES

The loss to this province every year from timber fires is quite considerable and is one which takes years to recover from. At this period of the year when everything is dry and the materials for a huge conflagration so ready to hand, the necessity for stringent precautions against the spread of fire among the timber in the district will be obvious to everyone. Carelessness on the part of travellers and others may lead to consequences that might become very serious. A lighted match, a half smoked cigar or the ashes from a pipe may become the origin of a fire which might easily prove disastrous to life, not to mention the damage to the standing timber and buildings. Al ready, this year, there has been one or two disastrous fires through part of the finest timber in this district, though happily no other damage was done. Settlers throughout the district will find it to their advantage to help in every way to check the outbreak of these fires and to notify the authorities at once when they have knowledge of one, and it will also be beneficial if they will see that the precautions which are necessary under the Bush Fires Act in clearing brush are observed, and that this clearing is done at the time of year when the spreading of such a fire can be easily checked. In another column we give a synopsis of the Act with regard to this. A bush fire or forest fire is in many ways a more serious matter than a prairie fire, the latter may be stamped out after it has once started, but if either of the former get a firm hold, very little can be done but allow them to burn out. As this matter of good timber is one of the district's most profitable and necessary resources, it is with pleasure we note that the provincial government have seen fit to appoint a fire warden to look after this matter, and it is hoped that settlers in the district will combine in their efforts with him to prevent the outbreak of fires which would soon lessen the amount of available timber in the district.—Nicola Herald.

Unnecessary Expense.

Acute attacks of colic and diarrhoea come on without warning and prompt relief must be obtained. There is no necessity of incurring the expense of a physician's service in such cases if Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is at hand. A dose of this remedy will relieve the patient before a doctor could arrive. It has never been known to fail, even in the most severe and dangerous cases and no family should be without it. Progress and Development Progress and development are terms closely identified with life in the West. In a new country people are working daily for the upbuilding of town, city and district, and for the improvement of the conditions under which men and women are called upon to live. Every act of daily life that tends to bettering one's surroundings makes directly or indirectly for the improvement of society generally. In all this the local newspaper plays an important part. Among its local readers it stimulates an increasing interest in their home city, keeping them posted on all local happenings, and becomes a welcome weekly messenger, bearing bright and welcome tidings. Among its outside readers it forms a valuable advertising medium making known the merits, advantages and prospects of the city and attracting thither citizens who want employment, business firms looking for locations, and capitalists seeking investments. In the upbuilding of a town, city or district the local paper is an important factor.

BOUNDARY CREEK TIMES

The Boundary Creek Times aims to do its full and complete share in the upbuilding and improvement of Greenwood and the Boundary district. It is not handicapped in its work by any restraining obligations to any party, clique or corporation, but it is free at all times to rise up and promote the best interests of the City of Greenwood and its people. To do this most thoroughly and satisfactorily the Times must have the support and cooperation of the citizens of Greenwood.

Every effort is being put forth to make the Times the class of newspaper the people want. Increasing attention is being continually paid to mining news, especially of that nature that will interest those employed in the work as well as those whose capital is invested in the properties. With this end in view we aim to have

A Subscriber in Every Home

As a result of the efforts that have already been put forth, we believe that an increased interest is already being taken in its news columns. We have evidences of this from the fact that the subscription list is already growing; the street sales are increasing weekly and the news dealers find more demand for each succeeding issue. This is a satisfactory condition of affairs that acts in two ways. It increases the revenue of the circulation department and it makes the paper a first-class advertising medium for local business men.

In handling local advertising every effort is put forth to protect the Greenwood merchant. The local page is reserved for them and foreign advertising has been repeatedly refused because the advertising manager refused to disturb the positions held by local advertisers.

Business men of Greenwood, we are here to protect and advertise you. We are protecting you! Do you advertise? Read The Times, subscription $2.00 per year.

this high grade ore sent to the smelter.
A carload of second class ore shipped

There was a beer famine in Phoenix last week. Pay day came and with it a spell of hot and dry weather.
Phoenix water is not any to moistening and beer makes a reasonably good substitute. So beer was in demand.
The local brewer spoiled his brew and a rush order was sent to Greenwood.
Jimmy McCague's stage hauled 25 kegs of Elkhorn beer up the hill Saturday evening and thus Phoenix was saved a dry Sunday.

B. C. FRUIT

Maxwell Smith, Dominion Fruit Inspector recently returned from a trip through the interior. To a News-Advertiser reporter he said:

"The crop this season will be good in patches," "this being the result of the late spring frost, which did more or less damage, though not serious.
In some districts the crop will be full and the quality all though will be of the usual standard. The slight damage by the frost will just about offset the increase in fruitbearing acreage, which will make output about the same as last year. The best crop of pears I saw on my trip was in the orchard of Mr. T. W. Stirling, of Kelowna.
His entire orchard will yield a probable average of eleven tons the acre, a ton more to the acre than last year.

"In the Similkameen, at Keremeos, Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon there are big increase in the fruit acreage, and a large number of trees have been planted this year. These will not be included in the fruit bearing acreage for couple of years yet. The Boundary and Kootenay districts are also forging ahead and a great deal of interest is being taken in fruit growing there.

"This trip has confirmed me in the belief that it is unsafe for any man to express the opinion as to which is the best fruit growing districts in British Columbia. There are so many good sections, all possessing peculiar advantages, with, of course, some disadvantages, that it is extremely difficult to select one as far surpassing others.

"I am more than ever impressed with the feasibility of the project of utilizing the waters in large streams and lakes for irrigation purposes.
This could be carried out by means of pumping stations at a comparative moderate outlay. A good scheme would be the establishment by the Government of powerful pumping plants on a barge on a body of water like Okanagan lake, and other lakes, which plant could be moved from place to place and large reservoirs on the hillsides, above tablelands could be filled.
There is no estimating the amount of land which this would render available for cultivation, for there are many thousands of acres which cannot be reached in the ordinary way from streams yet which are well adapted for fruit growing purposes. The cost to the Government would not be an insuperable difficulty, and re-payment could be spread over a term of years."

SOME POSERS

Hawthornthwaite Was Asked Some Hard Questions in Vancouver.

J. H. Hawthornthwaite was asked some decidedly pertinent questions at his meeting in Vancouver by Geo. T. Kane a laboring man. By a clever arrangement of 18 questions Kane practically showed up the peculiar course of the socialist leader.

Hawthornthwaite's replies were any thing but Frank. He made apologies for himself, sneered at South African veterans and finally became abusive as he did at the np-country meetings. Below are the questions asked:

1. Is it not true that you were prepared to support the government in giving $1,600,000 to the C. P. R. for building the Nicola branch, that contemplated steal being frustrated by the patriotic spirit of Mr. Shatford and Mr. Macgowan; said road being now built without a bonus?

2. Why did you put up such a desperate argument in favor of and vote for the 800,000 acre land grant with perpetual exemption from taxation alienated from the C. P. R.

3. Is it not true that your vote and influence would have saved this 800,000 acres of land to the people?

4. Did you use your influence to have the government tax the B. C. Southern lands, which ought to pay taxes and are not now doing so?

5. Did you not state from the platform that labor unions are and always will be a failure, one, either, or both?

6. When you voted to whitewash the government on the Kaien Island scandalous transaction whereby the Andersons, so largely profited, were you not aware that three South African veterans and ten of their substitutes had scrip filed thereon in advance of Anderson's information of the existence of said Kaien Island?

7. Do you think it right that these veterans should be dispossessed in such a manner?

8. Do you think that any member of the cabinet profited by this nefarious deal?

9. Did you state from the platform during your recent tour that the South African veterans were not worthy of being shown consideration and that it was not patriotism that inspired them to enlist? And if not, What did you say in reference to said veterans?

10. Was there not a compact between yourself and McBride "or his cabinet" or "some member" or members thereof, to the extent that you were to have a free hand in the house, but under no considerations were you to allow the government to meet defeat if you could in any way help it? If not: What understanding was there between you and the government relative to keeping them in power.

11. Did you not refuse to answer questions or at least some questions "when at Fernie recently," from some workingmen, at either your meeting or at annual convention of miners, then being held there?

12. Did you not refuse Mr. J. A. MacDonald the privilege of discussing your record in the parliament when you were at Rossland recently? If not. Did not your chairman so refuse?

13. Were not those bills which interest labor, actually passed before you had occasion to vote on the 800,000-acre land steal?

14. Was not the bill to reduce the deposits required of candidates from $200 to $100 actually passed some 10 or 11 days before you voted for the 800,000-acre land grant?

15. Did you introduce or attempt to introduce any measure during the last session having for its object the keeping of Asiatics out of B. C.?

16. Why did you vote against the bill you fought so hard for, said bill having for its object the allowing of certain classes of logs to be exported without the imposition of prohibitive royalties thereon?

17. Would it not put the government out of business if you had voted for that bill?

18. Can you blame the workingman from classing you as a conservative when you had the chance to force any measure you saw fit through the house? And should the conservatives have refused to support you on such measures, you could have voted them out and thereby have caused another election, the results of which could be no worse, with every chance of a better government being returned?

KILLED AT TORODA

Walter Waterland Shot by Mrs. Getty at Her Ranch.

Walter Waterland was shot and killed by Mrs. Getty at her ranch on Toroda Creek in the State of Washington on Friday last. Particulars leading up to the tragedy were brought out at the inquest held by Corner Manly of Republic. It appears that Waterland had been drinking heavily and leaving Ferry where he conducted the Palace hotel, he started to walk to Frank Gilg's ranch on Toroda creek where he intended to remain a few days to sober up.

Mrs. Getty testified at the inquest at the inquest that Waterland came to the ranch in the morning and borrowed fishing tackle; some time later he came running up the path, pointing a shotgun. Mrs. Getty, a friend, her mother and two children were alone in the house. She asked Waterland what he wanted. He said: "Open the door and I will show you."

Mrs. Getty fired through the door to scare him. Waterland went around the house. Mrs. Getty ordered him away and fired through the house again, when Waterland came back to the window. Mrs. Getty warned him, and then shot him through the left breast. Mrs. Getty then disarmed him and ordered him away. He walked 200 feet and died under a tree.

The corner's jury brought in a verdict of death from a gun fired by Mrs. Getty but attaching no blame. It is not likely that any further action will be taken.

Waterland came to Greenwood in the boom days and built the Miner's hotel but meeting with business reverses he went to the other side and ran saloons in various railway towns. He had no relatives in the west but two nieces reside in New York. He was buried at Ferry.

FATAL ACCIDENT

A serious accident occurred on Rock Creek hill Sunday morning when an Austrian named Moyk Cogie was killed and an Italian fatally injured. These unfortunates and a number of fellow laborers were coming to Midway from Pat Hughes railway camp. The work having been completed three four-horse teams were hauling the men's effects to Midway. There were 25 or 30 men with each rig. Going up hill they would jump out and walk and going down hill they would pile into the wagons. When Rock Creek hill was reached, the men all clambered into the wagon on one side thus upsetting it. The Austrian's neck was broken and the Italian was so badly injured that he cannot recover. He was taken to the railway hospital at Midway. None of the other men were seriously injured.

Corner Black went out and investigated the accident but after getting particulars he did not consider an inquest was necessary.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day, and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY its membership all the prominent geologists of the world. The congress meets every three years and it is hoped that the meeting for 1912 will be secured for Canada, as a meeting of such a body of eminent scientists would undoubtedly be followed by heavy investments of foreign capital in mining properties throughout the Dominion. Mr. Low states that the change which has lately taken place and which gives the control of the geological survey to the Hon. Mr. Templeman will undoubtedly be of great benefit to the mining community. Mr. Templeman takes a personal interest in the work of the survey and wishes to make its operations of greater practical value. Up to the present the survey has been associated with the Department of the Interior and could not receive the consideration it deserved and which it will receive now. With the creation next session of a portfolio of mines under the control of a minister from the mining province of British Columbia it is expected that a much larger sum will be granted for work in this province with a consequent increase in its extent and effectiveness.
