NORTH FORK COUNTRY

Denver Expert Tells How to Work It.

B. C. COPPER TAKES BONDS

The notable progress made in the development of Franklin camp district last summer was a forerunner of the still larger doings which will be witnessed during the present year up the North Fork of the Kettle river, says the Grand Forks Gazette. An account of the camp is given by Lewis Noble of Denver, who recently returned from a trip there accompanied with George McLeod. Mr. Noble is one of the foremost mining and geological experts in the United States, and a man whose experiences have carried him through the big mining camps of South Africa, Alaska and the United States generally. He was specially struck with the outcropping of mineral all through the North Fork country and made careful examinations of the leading properties. The formation of the country Mr. Noble considered extremely favorable for the existence of extensive ore bodies, and sufficient mineral showings existed to warrant the exploitation of the district by big companies who could do development work on a large scale. Apparently Mr. Noble does not believe in cash payments on undeveloped properties. He believes that the proper course, and the best course, even for the owner of the property, is to give those who have the necessary capital a reasonable time in which to explore and develop the claims on a scale commensurate with the surface indications, and that working on this principle the new camps throughout the country would be more rapidly brought to the front and the really meritorious properties would receive justice in a far shorter time.

George McLeod states that he has turned over all the bonds on Gloucester camp properties in which he is interested to the B. C. Copper company, and though it is premature to make definite announcements at this date, it may be said that a period of considerable activity is likely to set in shortly for the various claims surrounding Gloucester creek.

On the McKinley, A. D. McPhee has nine men at work, and preparations are being made for the commencement of diamond drill work on the property on an extensive scale.

More than twenty men are at work on the Pathfinder, and John Rogers, who is superintending the work for the Granby company, is bending all his energies toward locating the size and direction of the ore bodies.

FRANKLIN TOWNSITE.

With all this activity the time would seem ripe for the inevitable townsite, and as a matter of fact a well situated one will be placed on the market within 30 days. Mr. McLeod, who is heavily interested in the project, has succeeded in incorporating a company known as the Franklin Townsite Co., Ltd., with a capitalization of $20,000. The land is situated in the heart of the mineralized district of the upper North Fork, lying on the west bank of the river, and within easy reach of the principal properties. The survey is practically completed, and by the middle of May the streets will be cleared and maps of the townsite published. The government road will be completed to this point by the first of August, and the railway survey goes right through the townsite. It is the intention of the company to erect a portable sawmill in the near future as much good timber is available just across the river. A. Erskine Smith & Co. will act as townsite agents for the company

Take it all around prospects never looked so bright for this important section, and its speedy expansion will mean much for Grand Forks.

CUT HIS HEAD

An accident of a rather mysterious character occurred last Saturday to William Diamond, a wood cutter for the Providence Mining Co., when he fell at his cabin door, severely cutting his head and necessitating his removal to the hospital. It seems that Diamond, who is a man of some 60 years of age, and who lives alone in a cabin on the Diamond Fractional mineral claim by Providence creek, had not been feeling well for some days, and on Saturday about 11 a. m. he took a dose of medicine which brought on a spell of dizziness, causing him to fall, striking his head on a rock at the entrance to his cabin. The shock was severe enough to render him unconscious and how long he lay there is unknown, but when found by J. MacMullen, another employe of the mining company, at 2 p. m., he had dragged himself into the cabin and was lying on the floor in a pool of blood. MacMullen bound up the wound and the ambulence and medical assistance was summoned. By this time the injured man had recovered consciousness and was able to give his attendants directions regarding the safe keeping of his property. He was removed to the hospital, where his injuries were carefully dressed.

A peculiar circumstance connected with the affair is that no blood was found on the stone on which Diamond claims he fell and struck his head, but he may have dragged himself into the cabin before the blood began to flow freely and then have fainted. His injuries, however, were not dangerous, and he has almost fully recovered from the effects of the shock.

ODD FELLOWS MARCH.

Big Turnout for the Eighty-Seventh Anniversery.

Boundary Valley Lodge No. 38, I. O. O. F., celebrated the 87th anniversary of Oddfellowship last Sunday by attending the evening service in the Presbyterian church. Upwards of a hundred members turned out, making a fine procession, headed by the city band in their scarlet uniforms. W. B. Fleming as master of ceremonies was in charge of the parade and handled his men with the ease and precision of a veteran. They occupied the center chairs and their regalia lent color to the large assemblage that filled the church.

Rev. M. D. McKee, as chaplain of the order, delivered the sermon, and in the course of his remarks dwelt much on the fact that the principles of Oddfellowship and of Christianity were identical. He also referred to the high position the order holds among the fraternal societies of the world and he congratulated the members on the splendid record that had been achieved and upon its present prosperity.

NEW MAIL SERVICE

Improved Conditions go into Effect.

TIME GREATLY REDUCED

American, Eastern Canadian and Coast Cities Brought Nearer. Local Schedule.

The long looked for improvement in the mail service has at last been inaugurated and the change is much appreciated by business men especially. Sometime ago the Great Northern started carrying the American, eastern Canada and coast mail to Midway and for two nights the Midway stage brought it to Greenwood and citizens received their mail several hours earlier than had been possible before. This excellent service was not maintained however, because the stage line had no contract for the work and the mail had to lay over in Midway and be sent to Greenwood on the 2:30 train next day. A contract, however has been arranged and the mail is now brought from Midway on MacDonald's stage, arriving here about 8 p. m.

One of the great advantages of the new syetem is that letters can now be posted at 7 a. m. for American points and in a few hours are on their way to their destination by Great Northern. The new service went into full effect Tuesday night and Wednesday morning when the first late mail arrived and the first early mail left.

The change will be most appreciated by business men and others having extensive correspondence with the coast cities and points in the neighboring states. A letter posted before 7 a. m. will reach Spokane in the evening, while the coast cities are reached in about thirty-six hours. The time between Toronto and New York is shortened to four days though the time to interior B. C. points and to the prairie provinces including Winnipeg remains the same.

THE LOCAL SERVICE

Mail closes, United States, Eastern Canada and coast via Great Northern 7 a. m.

Nelson, Rossland and all B. C. interior points and points east to Winnipeg 1.45 p. m.

Midway and Boundary Falls, 2.45 p. m.

Mail arrives, via Great Northern 8 p. m.

Via C. P. R. East 3.45 p. m.

Registered mail closes half an hour earlier than ordinary mail and is sent by C. P. R Only. Times readers should cut this out and keep it for reference until they become thoroughly familiar with the new system.

SMELTER ACCIDENTS.

G. Clark, one of the charge wheelers working at Boundary Falls smelter, met with an accident Tuesday, spraining his ankle and otherwise injuring his foot. He was removed to the Sisters' hospital for treatment.

Philip Moore, an employee of the B. C. smelter, met with a slight accident Tuesday while unloading a car of lumber. In some way he missed his footing and fell, receiving a severe shaking up, necessitating his removal to the hospital. His condition is not at all serious.

BOUNDARY FALLS NOTES

Work at the Boundary Falls smelter is going ahead smoothly and the usual amount of ore is being reduced daily. The new spur track has been completed and is proving a great convenience for the handling of the matte. The British Columbia Construction and Distributing company, formerly known as the West Kootenay Power and Light company, is surveying for their power line from the Anaconda sub station to the smelter, and the line will be completed by the time the company is ready to distribute power.

A TALE OF HARDSHIP

George McKenzie Has Terrible Experience.

IN THE COLD, WILD NORTH

It is not often that fiction relates such a tale of hardship and suffering as that which has just come from the wilds of Northern British Columbia. From the borders of the great "Unknown Land" of the north, has come details of a perilous journey on snow shoes, of crippling frost bites, of weeks of lone suffering and loathsome sickness, and finally of a desperate journey, fraught with difficulties and dangers that almost cost the life of a brave prospector ere at last, after months of torture, he found succor and relief at an outpost of civilization.

A FAMOUS TRAVELLER.

It will be remembered by most of the Times readers that Mr. McKenzie first gained fame as a tireless traveller and intrepid explorer by his memorable trip of 440 miles, on snowshoes, from his camp on Omenica river, west of the Peace river country, and on the very frontier of the unexplored north country, to Port Essington, at the mouth of the Skeena river, on his way back to visit friends in Greenwood and vicinity. His accounts of that trip were published in the leading papers of Canada and in some of the American papers.

RETURNS TO THE NORTH.

Two years ago, in company with Dan Sullivan and a Mr. Thone, he returned to his camp on the Omenica river, which is 40 miles north of Manson creek, a noted placer mining district. While there he met Indians who informed him that in the great "Unknown Land" to the north there was lots of "yellow stuff," and he decided to penetrate the "unknown" and see for him self. Accordingly he started last autumn on a journey farther north. He found the country almost a continuous stretch of marsh, stream and lake, most difficult for travel and dangerous to life and limb. His trip, however, was not without results, for he discovered rich placer deposits that went 20 cents to the pan. He had penetrated a distance of about 100 miles and would have proceeded further, but the nature of the country made it impossible, and he returned to camp to await the coming of winter, when he would return on snowshoes and cross the lakes and rivers on the ice.

MAKES ANOTHER START.

On the 13th of January he again started with his pack for the scene of his earlier explorations. The weather was bitterly cold. The thermometer registered 65 degrees below zero and the snow was deep. He had covered about half the distance when the intense cold froze both his feet and being unable to get relief, he decided to return to camp, so leaving his pack, he started on his return journey, reaching his camp in an almost exhausted condition.

The camp had been left in care of a fellow prospector, Charles Newman. When Mr. McKenzie left Greenwood with his two companions, Sullivan and Thone, they had taken with them a well stocked madicine chest. This was taken care of by Sullivan, who was camped four miles distant. McKenzie and Newman had no medicines in their cabin, and there was nothing at hand to relieve the unfortunate man's intense sufferings. Newman did what he could to care for Mr. McKenzie, cooking food and dressing his frozen feet, but for some unexplained reason he refused all the latter's requests to go to Sullivan's camp for medical supplies.

TAKES SCURVY.

For eight weeks the suffering man lay helpless without relief, subsisting on salt meats until a severe attack of scurvy added to his misery; At last an Indian happened to visit the camp, and the untutored savage, responding to the dictates of humanity, volunteered to go to Sullivan's camp and bring assistance. Mr. Sullivan immediately came to the relief and found the well nigh exhausted man in a terrible condition. He was so weakened that he was unable to turn in his bed. The scurvy had wrought its effects and six of his teeth had loosened and dropped from their sockets, while the others were all rattling in his shrunken gums. His feet were literally decaying and the flesh was dropping from the toes.

Mr. Sullivan did all in his power to relieve the poor man's sufferings, but it was too late, and his simple skill was unequal to the task. It was case demanding extreme measures, and though they were upwards of 200 miles from the nearest hospital at Hazelton, it was decided that the only hope lay in a speedy removal.

STARTS FOR HAZELTON.

Sullivan took charge of the trip, and with Mr. Thone and two Indians they started with a dog team about March 25th for Hazelton, on the Skeena river. McKenzie was too weak to sit up or to hold himself onto the sled, so he was placed on a stretcher and lashed to the sled. He began to think that relief would soon be reached and that his sufferings would soon be ended, but the misfortunes that had brought him to a condition of helplessness were destined to follow him to the last. The ride from his camp to Hazelton was one of trying adventure. The dog train was wild and almost unmanagable. In writing to his friends he states that if the dogs broke from their Indian guides and ran away once they must have done so a dozen times. There, lashed to the sled, he was dragged at a flying pace over the rough trail, the sled bumping against fallen logs, bounding over dangerous places and at times half capsized, with the half senseless man dragging in the snow. Several times, when night came, de despaired of surviving until morning, and for the last twenty miles of that terrible journey he was too weak to ride on the sled, but had to be carried on a stretcher between the two pack horses.

REACHES CIVILIZATION.

After eleven days of exhausting adventure the party reached Hazelton about April 5th, where Mr. McKenzie was placed in the hospital and everything done to help him, and where he is now slowly recovering from his wonderful experience.

It was from there that he wrote his brothers, Kenneth McKenzie of Greenwood, and John of Rock Creek, giving details. He states in his letters that the doctors had found it necessary to amputate one of his toes, but there were hopes of saving the others. From several of them the flesh had entirely disappeared, but every effort was being made to induce it to grow on again.

Mr. McKenzie is a man of most rugged constitution and his years of experience in the wilds of the north has inured him to the most trying hardships. Few men could have passed through half what he has done and survived to tell the tale, and his abilities to withstand such a prolonged period of exposure and sickness is a testimony to the powers of human endurance.

ROSS ON LAND DEALS

Makes Winning Speech in the House.

HOT SHOTS FOR FOSTER

Riddles Opposition Members on a Subject on Which They Had Attacked the Government.

In the Dominion parliament much time has been given up of late to a discussion of the North Atlantic Trading company contract. Several members on both sides of the house waxed eloquent while debating the matter, but none made such an impression as the member from Greenwood. Last session Duncan Ross made a name for himself and his constituency, and again last week he carried off honors that has made him a favorite among the friends of the government everywhere. The Toronto Star tells of the speech in a humorous vein and says:

"When Parliament will hear the last of this North Atlantic Trading company matter is a mystery of the dim and misty hereafter.

"The Opposition have fastened upon it, their busy artificers are striving to transform it into a campaign cry. From this distance it looks as though the defunct 'Old Flag' cry that ran through the country in so many campaigns would be succeeded by a slogan manufactured out of the North Atlantic Trading company contract. The Opposition steadfastly refuses to see in it anything but a monster frand and graft. To them it smells a high heaven of corruption. All day Friday they clawed and chawed at it, in a vain endeavor to lay bare any evidence of corrupt practice, and when they desisted they were as wise as when they started. Even when the fever of their elation at the Government's announcement that the contract had been cancelled, was at its height, a false note rang in their shouts of glee. The Government had bended to popular opinion, but the Opposition had not secured even a hand hold.

WERE SOUNDLY CUFFED.

"Today they came back to the attack and fared a great deal worse than they did on Friday. They were rebuffed at every turn, and Lieut. Foster and his understudy in the graft-smelling cult, W. H. Bennett, were both soundly cuffed by Duncan Ross of Yale-Caribou. The Boundary Creek Times man is a Scotchman with all his ancestors' fondness for good, plain facts. He bombarded Foster Bennett and Co. with what Frederick D. Monk calls 'true facts,' and they sung small. Ross just simply held them up and let the Parliament look at them from all sides. He followed their own 'gum-shoe' tactics. He back-trailed them for a few years and then told the House what he discovered—and what he brought forth wasn't fair to look upon with Opposition eyes.

"The Government benches crowed and chuckled in high joy. They wiggled around in ecstatic glee and playfully poked each other in the short ribs, and upset each other's desk tops, while the man from the British Columbia mining constituency went gaily on his course.

"They chortled when he unearthed the Foster-Bennett North-West land deal.

"The land for the speculator, indeed!

"Did't Ross hold them up by the scruff of the neck and shake for the details of a big land speculating deal in which they themselves—the very men who had shouted 'unclean, unclean' the loudest—were the chief figures!

"If a couple of young members had suddenly commenced turning handsprings down there behind the back benches it's dollars to doughnuts the grey-bearded and grey-haired veterans would have shouted their approval.

"But wait a minute, until I tell how it all came about—until I get things in their chronological order.

MONK LEADS OFF.

"Monk the professor of constitutional law, led off with a very smooth effort. He did very well, but early he fell into the Fosterian rut, and he made no points the man from North Toronto had not anticipated Friday night.

"He started out with a sarcastic reference to Sir Wilfrid's closing remark Friday. The leader had then langhingly remarked that the Opposition might need forty-eight hours to prepare its defence to the Government announcement of cancellation.

"'I thought we were the attacking party,' he said, 'and that the impregnable fortress had surrendered—that the white flag had been hoisted, and that Stoessel was coming out.'

"For a surrender, it was about the liveliest skirmish Monk was ever mixed up in.

A CLANDESTINE VIOLATION.

"Monk called that North Atlantic Trading company contract lots of things He said it was 'without a defensible feature,' and bore 'a strong suspicion of fraud.' He said that Preston and Smart had engineered the deal, and that Lord Strathcona had warned the Government that the agreement provided for a clandestine violation of the treaty of nations.

"'There is a widespread conviction that there had been an elaborate system of reticence, suppression, and concealment, which hid a swindle perpetrated by clever schemers at the expense of the public,' was a Monkism, and then he spent half an hour shouting 'Graft,' and 'Phantom Company.'

"He pretty near broke a Parliamentary rule by talking about 'damnable features.' That was because, as he said, the Government would not give up the names of those who composed the company.

"'The time has come for a complete change in our immigration sceme; we have outlived the bonusing system,' he cried.

ROSS LETS FIRE.

"Then the House and the galleries went to sleep, and only woke up when Ross of Yale-Cariboo, rose.

"Ross was a regular forensic Gatling Gun Howard. He just stood up and pumped hot stuff into the cohorts of the Opposition.

"So the Opposition thought itself the attacking party. Rash Opposition Before he got through they would think themselves the defensive and defenceless party.

"They did!

"Ross pointed out that the Opposition had stood around like an armless man at a festival of the silent ones, when the contract had been in force, but just as soon as the Government started in to look the contract over the Opposition set up a yowl.

"Under the contract, farming emigrants had been brought to Canada from Continental Europe at an average cost of $4.21, while from Brussels and France, where the Government could work itself, the cost had been $28.57. In the British Isles the cost for farmers and farm hands brought over had been $13.43. Even from the United States the cost was $4.73 a head.

"Ross didn't say that in as many words, but he rattled the blue book figures right up against the armor of the men across the carpet, and they didn't like it a bit.

"Both the Saskatchewan Valley Lan company and the North Atlantic Trading company schemes had redounded to the material advantage of the North-West.

"'But both were borrowed'—

"Ross said so—borrowed from his friends, the Conservatives. They practised both before the Liberals ascended to power.

FOSTER IN TROUBLE.

"'And Mr. Foster, the apostle of purity,' said Ross, training his guns upon the North Toronto man, 'he complains because the men whose names are in the North Atlantic charter are solicitors' clerks. Well, on the records in Victoria, he will find solicitors' clerks named as incorporators of mining companies he promoted.'

"Then he told a tale of hot water and temperance. How Mr. Foster's blue ribbon devotion had been rewarded with the Temperance Colonization society grant. On 217,000 acres of land, in five years the company had placed 101 settlers, and for that had received $100,000.

"'Some of that land in Saskatoon is now selling at $75 and $100 a foot frontage, and other portions at $1,500 to $2,000 an acre.'

"The land for the settler, forsooth!

"Then Ross talked about Foster's connection with a 40,000-acre deal near Tisdale, Saskatchewan. 'He got possession of both the odd and even numbered sections, and despite the protests of the people he held on, much to the detriment of the district,' said Ross. 'He refused to exchange, and the result is that there is not a single settler in two townships, and Mr. Foster today enjoys the distinction of being the manager of the only two townships of

Present indications point most favorably to the continued prosperity of Greenwood and other towns depending largely on the profitable production of copper for their commercial well being, for the price of copper which is now over 18 cents per pound promises to touch the 20 cent mark before many months. For some time the demand has been greater than the supply and it is reasonable to suppose that the vast reconstructive work about to start in San Francisco and along the Pacific coast will have a tendance to stiffen prices.

In the last issue of the Boston Commercial Walker's copper letter says:

"Copper continues extremely strong but domestic prices are only slightly changed. Lake is held at 18¾ to 18⅞ cents and electrolytic 18½ to 18⅝ cents per pound. Sales are being made at all these prices. The buying at the present time is nearly all for July and August delivery. Some copper has been purchased for September delivery. Consumers have recently been able to secure small lots of spot copper and some for May and June account, but so far as can be ascertained cash supplies are now practically exhausted. Producers have generally sold their entire production up to August 1st.

"'The all engrossing problem in the trade at the present time is stated by the representative of a leading producing interest as follows: "I do not know where European consumers are going to get their June and July supply of copper. If they do not consume any more than they did last year, they will be unable to supply their requirements in this country I know how closely all the largest producers are sold up, and I know approximately how much of their product has been taken already for export. I am satisfied that Europe will need a great deal more copper than it has so far purchased, and I do not know the source from which it is to be supplied.'

"'The consumption of copper is clearly running ahead of production. It may be as impossible to prevent an advance in prices above 18½ to 18¾ cents as it was last year to hold the prices down to 15½ cents, You will recall that the largest producers sold the last pound of copper they were able to supply at 15½ cents, believing that would be the top of the market and feeling that it was inexpedient to encourage a further advance. We are now supplying the demand for copper as far as we can, but we are ready to say no to those buyers who desire deliveries between now and midsummer.'

"'There is a good foreign demand for copper, Germany, as usual, being the largest buyer. Russia has been out of the market for several months past as a result of its internal disturbances. Had it not been for this reduction in the demand, prices would now be higher than they are. I think the San Francisco disaster will cause an increased demand for copper. In my opinion, the next change in the price of copper will be an advance and not a decline."

"The foregoing are the views of one who can always be relied upon to state the case conservatively. Other large producing interests have been consulted this week and they confirm the statements quoted. The recent strength of the London market reflects the fact that foreign consumers are in urgent need of supplies, and a 20-cent copper market before the middle of the year therefore is not improbable.

"The copper mining companies have only begun to receive the full benefits of present high metal prices. Copper did not sell at 18 cents per pound until last December and a great deal of copper was sold during the month for delivery as far ahead as March and April. Few companies recieved more than 18 cents for their March output, but all of them will recieve as much if not more than that price for their April production. From now the copper mines of the United States Canada and Mexico will receive an average profit of 100% on every pound of copper produced. There will be a profit of more than $90,000,000 on the copper produced in these three countries this year and such prosperity can hardly fail to be reflected in the copper market.

"I believe that all the best copper stocks should be bought on this reaction and held for the much higher prices which are pretty sure to be realized before the end of the year."

LABORERS STRIKE.

Italian Excavators Demand Higher Wages.

Upwards of a hundred men employed on construction work at the B. C. smelter went on strike Thursday morning for shorter hours and more wages. The scale demanded is $3 for nine hours. Since the contractors, Tierney and Creelman, started work on the excavating and carpenter work, there has been dissatisfaction among the union forces because some of the men, mostly Italians, were not getting what is considered union wages. Of the striking men about seventy were working for Tierney, and the remainder for Creelman. H. H. Verge, foreman for Creelman, stated to the Times Thursday night that during March and April his men had gradually been given an increased wage until with May 1st a general scale of $3 for nine hours was adopted for carpenters. masons, timbermen and laborers. His men, he claims, have absolutely no grievance, and those who went on strike either misunderstood the situation or went out in sympathy for the Italians working on the excavations under Tierney. A number of his men, who inquired more closely into the matter, continued their work without interruption.

Tierney's men are mostly Italians, and were employed on excavation work for which they were receiving $2.50 for ten hours. Mr. Tierney claims the men were perfectly satisfied, as they were getting as much as they could get for similar work on the railways until induced to strike by the union. He states that he will not submit to the demands of the union.

MIDWAY NEWS.

Hold-Ups and Shooting.—Postoffice Robbed—Personals.

MIDWAY, May 3.—This town was the scene of another shooting affray last week. It seems that a couple of men who had two dogs and a desire to loaf, got into a wrangle over their respective canine companions. One word brought forth another until a six shooter wss brought into view and the operator, in his lusty desire for gore, damaged neither the other man nor his dog, but sent the bullet plowing through one of his own legs.

For this trouble he received a blow over the head with a billiard cue. A doctor and officer were summonsed and the billiard table at Crowel's hotel was converted into a stretcher and a surgical operation was performed.

Two hold-ups occurred here last week, the first victim being the bartender of the Swanson hotel, the second, Customs Collector Gardom. In neither case did the robbers secure a large amount.

The postoffice has also been trifled with. One night recently a pane of glass was broken in the rear of the building and the door unlocked from the inside The registered letters were rifled, but the amount secured by the burglars is unknown.

R. Eldridge and wife visited Nelson this week.

E. G. Sanders, F. M. Stevenson, R. McCormick and G. Springa visited Nelson this week.

The body of William Holt, one of the river drivers belonging to the Steeves crew, which is bringing down the big Guelle drive down the Kettle river, and who was drowned on Tuesday evening last, has not been recovered.

The Greenwood City band has been engaged for Victoria Day celebration. The citizens generally are anticipating a treat from this organization, which is here reputed as being without a peer in any western town of the size of Greenwood.

FLATHEAD OIL FIELDS

A RAILWAY PROJECTED

Charter Obtained for a Line Up the District.—Canada Western Oil Co. Formed.

William Forrest, who has prospected for many years over the Province of British Columbia for minerals of all kinds, including coal and oil, while on a survey sent out by the Dominion government, saw with his own eyes seepages of oil in the Flathead valley in the southeastern corner of British Columbia in the early nineties.

In the year 1901 he induced Angus Cameron of Cascade, B. C., and one James Cameron, who had trapped in the Flathead valley 15 years before, and who then saw oil seepages and made locations, to go into that district with him and locate some claims under the "Coal Mines' Act of B. C.

After looking the land over they became convinced that the lands in and around Kishenehna creek were the most promising for oil, and made four locations there. When Angus Cameron came back he interested several Greenwood men in a prospect of getting licenses to prospect for oil and developing an oil field there. Prominent among these were J. E. Spankie, M. D., S. Barry Yuill Hugh McCutcheon and E. R. Redpath. The necessary steps as to advertising, etc., were taken, and an application was made to the Provincial government for licenses. These were refused on the ground that the land was in reserve, and that it was against public policy to grant licenses.

LICENSES REFUSED.

The above mentioned parties, with one or two others, sent Forrest and Came on back again, and five more claims were located on or contiguous to Kishenehna creek, immediately [illegible] International boundary [illegible] Application was made for [illegible] these claims and was met [illegible] refusal. In the meantime [illegible] and speculators came in [illegible] Spokane and elsewhere and the [illegible] and Kishenehna creeks [illegible] several times over. In 1904, the McBride government [illegible] kind of license to [illegible] for coal and oil to all who [illegible] application for them and who put up $100 therefor. Nine licenses were issued to the parties interested herein. In 1905 they attempted to clear their titles by requesting all conflicting claimants ts appear in conrt, but Judge Forin decided he had no jurisdiction, and the attempt fell through.

Early in 1905 E. W. Lysons, P. L. S., and a gang of men were sent in to survey the claims so held under license. It was then ascertained that the claims conflicted with those held by McVittie, Baker and others of Cranbook. As the latter appeared to have complied with the "Coal Mines' Act," and to have located at an early date, the Greenwood men at considerable expense effected an arrangement with them and took an assignment of all their claims excepting one which was retained by McVittie.

LEASE OBTAINED.

Among the claims so obtained was one located by James Baker, and also by Hugh McCutcheon, which an eminent Dominion geologist stated on the ground was, in his opinion, the most promising location for oil in British Columbia. The Greenwood men then devoted all their energies to getting a lease on this claim, as a lease meant a title, and the license issued by the B.C. government was no title. A lease was finally obtained on the 9th of March last, which the owners state is the first and only lease that has been granted in the Flathead valley.

A company to develop and exploit this field for oil has been formed. This is called the "Canada Western Oil Company, Limited, Non-Personal Liability." The capital is 500,000 shares of the par value of $1.00 each. Two hundred and twenty thousand of these shares has been placed in the treasury for development purposes.

THE DIRECTORS.

The first or provisional directors of the company are: J. E. Spankie, M. D., E. R. Redpath, Hugh McCutcheon, S. Barry Yuill and James McCreath. The officers of this company believe it occupies a very favorable position. A projected railway to connect with the C. P. R. system, for which a charter was obtained at the recent session of the legislature, and which, there is good reason to believe, will be built at an early date, will run through its properties. Oil has been found at Oil City, Alta., which is twenty seven miles away by trail but only twelve miles as the crow flies, and and it has been reported that oil has been struck by a company operating about five miles away.

The oil found in the seepages above referred to has been analyzed and found to be of very superior quality, the only oil approaching it in the world as to quality being the oil obtained in California.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

Christopher Curry, an ore sorter at the Centre Star, Rossland, met with a fearful death Saturday last, by falling a distance of about 1,650 feet in the shaft and from the top of the headworks. The dreadful accident was the result of losing his balance. The skip on the track on the west side of the shaft, after it had automatically dumped its load, was so fouled by a piece of ore that it refused to go back into the shaft. Curry got into the skipway below the skip with a crowbar for the purpose of removing the rock and freeing the skip. Suddenly he lost his balance and went hurtling downward. Striking the inclined side of the skipway, he was hurled outward with such great speed and force that he struck the outer protection rail at the collar of the shaft and dropped from there directly into the shaft. The top of the headworks is about 45 feet above the collar of the shaft. The body of the unfortunate man bounded from projection to projection, and was literaliy torn to pieces in its descent to the bottom of the shaft, 1,650 feet from where it started. The employes of the Centre Star, who were around the mouth of the shaft, saw Curry come plunging down and strike the rail at the collar of the shaft, and then bound back and disappear into the shaft. As soon as possible the skip was lowered for the purpose of securing the remains. On one projection a considerable distance from the bottom of the shaft one of his legs was found. It had struck this with such terrific force that it was torn from the body. Near the bottom of the shaft was found the rest of the body in dismembered parts. In one place a shoe was found with a dismembered foot in it. The remains were picked up and taken to the undertaking establishment of J. M. Jordan. Curry had been employed as an ore sorter for about three weeks. He was aged 25 years, and was a native of Milton, Halton county, Ontario. He was a brother of Samuel Curry, who formally was a conductor on the Red Mountain railway, but who is now a resident of Spokane.—Rossland Miner.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton St, Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the Pain. For sale by All Druggist.

Poultry raising pays.

People who tell you that there is no money in raising chicks may have tried to make money in the business by using setting hens as hatchers, and they might as well have tried to locate a gold mine in the cabbage patch. The business of a hen is—to lay eggs. As a hatcher and brooder she is outclassed. That's the business of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder, and they do it perfectly and successfully.

The poultry business, properly conducted, pays far better than any other business for the amount of time and money invested.

Thousands of poultry-raisers—men and women all over Canada and the United States—have proved to their satisfaction that it is profitable to raise chicks with the

CHATHAM INCUBATOR AND BROODER.

"Yours is the first incubator I have used, and I wish to state I had 52 chicks out of 52 eggs. This was my first lot; truly a 100 per cent. hatch. I am well pleased with my incubator and brooder. THOS. MCNAUGHTON, Chilliwack, B.C."

"My first hatch came off. I got 170 fine chicks from 180 eggs. Who can beat that for the first trial, and so early in the spring. I am well pleased with incubator, and if I could not get another money could not buy it from me. Every farmer should have a No. 3 Chatham Incubator.—F. W. RAMSAY, Dunnville, Ont."

"The incubator you furnished me works exceedingly well. It is easily operated, and only needs about 10 minutes attention every day. R. MCGUFFIE, Moose Jaw, Assa."

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is honestly constructed. There is no humbug about it. Every inch of material is thoroughly tested, the machine is built on right principles, the insulation is perfect, thermometer reliable, and the workmanship the best.

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is simple as well as scientific in construction—a woman or girl can operate the machine in their leisure moments.

THE READING ROOMS

At the polling on Wednesday on the Water Works and Electric Light by-laws only 62 votes were cast, 41 for the water works and 21 against; 60 for the electric light and 2 against. Both by-laws passed. The passing of the by-laws means that a reservoir will be constructed on Providence creek and that the north end of the town will be supplied with a first-class water system. The project of the Greenwood Electric Light Co. having been endorsed by the citizens, that company will immediately proceed with the construction of their power plant at Boundary Falls. Mr. Warren, the manager, stated to the Times Thursday morning that the plans for the works would be sent at once to the chief commissioner of land and works for his official approval. This will probably take two or three weeks, but in the mean time as much preparatory work will be done as possible in order to hasten the completion of the plant at the earliest possible date.

COUNCIL MEETS.

The city council met Wednesday evening and received the report of the returning officer and there was an evident air of satisfaction pervading the precincts of the council chamber. The question of greatest public interest coming up for discussion was the reading room. Some time ago a committee representing the free reading room on Greenwood street and the Miners' Union reading room was appointed to consider the question of amalgamation. That committee was represented by a delegation before the council, which recommended that the reading room on Greenwood street be closed up; that the present donation of $15 per month to the free reading room be transferred to the Miners' Union reading room and that a committee be appointed in charge, representing the city council, the free reading room and the Miners' Union. This was discussed for some time, the mayor pointing out that a union of all the forces in the city was necessary to carry on a successful free reading room, and that it was better to have one good reading room than two poor ones.

PURELY PUBLIC.

Alderman Bunting expressed a strong desire to have the reading room free from any obligations to any organization and run purely in the interests of the public, if the council was going to donate anything to its support. This point was discussed both by the council and the delegation, and ended in a motion by Alderman Bunting that the $15 per month now going to the Greenwood street reading room be transferred to the joint committee in charge of the Miners' reading room, temporarily, until September, when the Miners' union lease on their premises expires. This was passed. It is the intention of the joint committee to formulate new plans and to be on the lookout for larger premises. The Greenwood street reading room will be closed.

RESIGNATIONS.

The resignation of J. P. Myers Gray as city solicitor, was read and accepted. A successor will be elected by the council at a future meeting. The resignation of A. D Hallett as chief of the police and fire departments, was also received and accepted. A successor to this position will be advertised for.

The city engineer recommended that a four-inch water main be extended on Long Lake street to supply water to several applicants. This was passed on motion of McRae and Sullivan. The report of the engineer stated that applications for fifteen water services had been applied for since April 1st. This is an indication that the city is growing in people and prosperity. It was decided to proceed at once with the improvements to the street in front of C. Scott Galloway's residence.

areable land between Winnipeg and Prince Albert which remains without a settler upon it.

"That had been affected by price boosting.

"'This is the man who howled in the House the land for the settler!' exclaimed Ross, suddenly, becoming more animated. Then the Liberals broke loose in loud cheers.

A NEW NEST OF TRAITORS.

"It was but the commencement, for the British Columbian was warming up, and he had about a yard of notes yet to 'expand.'

"He said that by some mysterious method certain Conservative members had obtained possession of 200,000 acres of C. P. R. land.

"'Foster was engaged to manage the company, and he immediately formed a new nest of traitors among land speculators,' said Ross, and the Liberals stretched their lungs in cheers. Ross had in his possession a statement of claim in a suit instituted by A. A. Lefurgey, M. P., W. H. Bennett, M. P., and A. Pencher, against the Great West Land Co., the company formed to handle the 200,000 acres, and Rufus Pope, ex-M. P., and George W. Fowler, M. P., and suggested that Mr. Bennett must have been searching for balm for his disappointment in not securing a slice of public domain on 'easy terms.'

"'When I read this statement of claim I am impressed with the fact that the Conservatives in their land speculations could not hurt each other,' remarked Mr. Ross. 'They were apparently all right until the got under the blighting influence of Mr. Foster.'

"More Liberal joy!

"'They were a happy family until they got into his hands,' and the Government benches grew noisy again.

"The statement of claim detailed the formation of a company to deal in North-West lands, and a scrap over the division in which it seemed Lefurgey, Bennett and Pencher had got the short end of the deal.

"The defence of Messrs. Pope and Fowler was that they had obtained the land by 'their own exertions,' and were therefore entitlen to the lion's share.

"Mr. Ross wanted to know something about the 'exertions' which gained them the land at a reduction of $3 an acre. He pointed out that they had put up only $200 each, and had secured an option on and sold to the Great West Land Co. 200,000 acres at an advance of $1 an acre.

"'There should have been enough to go around,' remarked Ross, dryly, 'but Mr. Foster is never mixed up in anything where a nest of traitors does not develop. He wouldn't divide even, but wanted to squeeze out the neophytes.'

NO SYMPATHY COMING.

"Mr. Ross scored Foster for his mud-slinging electioneering tactics of 1896, and said that the ugly chickens he had hatched out then were coming home to roost, and he got no sympathy from the other side of the House."

The speech closed amid ringing cheers from the Government benches, and sad looks from the opposition, while a shower of congratulations were bestowed upon the member from Greenwood.

Progress and Development

Progress and development are terms closely identified with life in the West. In a new country people are working daily for the upbuilding of town, city and district, and for the improvementof the conditions under which men and women are called upon to live. Every act of daily life that tends to bettering one's surroundings makes directly or indirectly for the improvement of society generally. In all this the local newspaper plays an important part. Among its local readers it stimulates an increasing interest in their home city, keeping them posted on all local happenings, and becomes a welcome weekly messenger, bearing bright and welcome tidings. Among its outside readers it forms a valuable advertising medium making known the merits, advantages and prospects of the city and attracting thither citizens who want employment, business firms looking for locations, and capitalists seeking investments. In the upbuilding of a town, city or district the local paper is an important factor.

BOUNDARY CREEK TIMES

The Boundary Creek Times aims to do its full and complete share in the upbuilding and improvement of Greenwood and the Boundary district. It is not handicapped in its work by any restraining obligations to any party, clique or corporation, but it is free at all times to rise up and promote the best interests of the City of Greenwood and its people. To do this most thoroughly and satisfactorily the Times must have the support and cooperation of the citizens of Greenwood.

Every effort is being put forth to make the Times the class of newspaper the people want. Increasing attention is being continually paid to mining news, especially of that nature that will interest those employed in the work as well as those whose capital is invested in the properties. With this end in view we aim to have

A Subscriber in Every Home

As a result of the efforts that have already been put forth, we believe that an increas- interest is already being taken in its news columns. We have evidences of this from the fact that the subscripiion list is already growing; the street sales are increasing weekly and the news dealers find more demand for each succeeding issue. This is a satisfactory condition of affairs that acts in two ways. It increases the revenue of the circulation department and it makes the paper a first-class advertising medium for local business men.

In handling local advertising every effort if put forth to protect the Greenwood merchant. The local page is reserved for them and foreign advertising has been repeatedly refused because the advertising manager refused to disturb the positions held by local advertisers.

Business men of Greenwood, we are here to protect and advertise you. We are protecting you! Do you advertise? Read The Times, subscription $2.00 per year.
