B. C. MINING

INTERVIEW WITH JOHN MIEKLEJOHN ON MINES IN B. C.

SPEAKS OF MINING LAWS

Changes Suggested—Believes That Prospects are not Being Held Too High—Mining Notes.

John Mieklejohn who is interested in the Similkameen and who has had a long and varied mining experience in South Africa, Australia, Yukon and elsewhere, has given the following interview to a press representative. After stating that he visited the principal cities of England, Scotland and eastern Canada last winter he said: "I found an apathetic indifference among mining people in the cities I visited towards investing in British Columbia. A number of people complained they had lost money already in worthless British Columbia mining ventures and were too cynical and prejudiced to think favorably of anything that came from this province; a great many were ignorant of the mineral resources, and others, especially in eastern Canadian cities, stated that when the people of British Columbia showed their confidence in their own country by investing in their mineral claims, contenting themselves with profits from legitimate mining enterprises rather than from the staking and the sale of claims, then they might expect to get more eastern capital.

"The value contained in the ore and the size of the ore bodies in this province compare favorably with that found in the other colonies, and I consider there is indeed a great future for mining here. I am of the opinion however, that the industry would have a much better chance of progressing under encouragement from the government instead of being hampered from its birth, as it is at present, by excessive taxation. Some of the Australian laws could easily be adopted to advantage. I agree with Mr. Herschel-Cohen when he states that mineral claims are too lightly held and advocates a more stringent labor condition attached to all holdings. If a greater amount of labor had to be expended, men would be more careful of the real value of the ground they staked, and it would have the effect of forcing development and showing up a great amount of natural wealth that now lies—under existing conditions—hidden and unknown and, in numerous instances, shepherded by restaking from year to year. If continuous labor was enforced, as it is in Australia, exemption only being granted in cases that justly merited it, we would not find the 'wildcatter' among us who goes out and stakes for position and then calmly spends his time around hotel offices hawking his location for sale."

"Don't you think a regulation of this description would be a hardship on the prospector?"

"Not by any means," Mr. Meiklejohn firmly answered; "the genuine prospector has every wish to develop his ground; it is the 'wildcatter' who would consider it a hardship, as a regulation on this basis would be his funeral knell. The Australian prospectors are surely against the man who attempts to shepherd his ground without working it, and they would bitterly oppose a change in the regulations which would give one person a monopoly of nearly 52 acres of possibly valuable ground under the paltry labor condition of $100 per annum expended on work, or the other choice of abandonment and restaking the claim without any work being done. He would also figure that the demand for labor would be considerably decreased under this regulation. Every claim which is being developed and shows up well is a further running advertisement of the resources of the province and the community here cannot afford to allow the natural wealth to lie undeveloped and unknown."

"How do the prices for good claims here correspond with what is paid in the colonies you have been in?" was next asked.

"No comparison can be drawn at all, because the investor has it all his own way under the system of bonding that is extant here and the prices are away below anything I have ever seen. Possession is generally given in this province on long terms for a purchaser to find out the value of a property before completing his purchase. Only in a few instances have I known this kind of deal to be entered into by the claimholder in Australia or South Africa. In those countries possession or title is very seldom given until the purchase is complete, but even then the terms are not generally over such a long period as is the common case here. An investor can get no fairer or more reasonable deal as far as prices and terms are concerned in any part of the British colonies than what can be procured in the mining districts of this province, and I have no hesitation in saying in contradiction to what Mr. Sword is stated to have said in a late interview published in the Rossland Miner, that the system of bonding as practiced here together with the small prices generally involved would be sufficient inducement for me to invest locally in preference to any other part I have been in, if I were so financially situated," he concluded.

A meeting of the Western Copper company, limited, was held in Massam & Laidlaw's office on Thursday last. The following officers were elected: President, E. J. Wilson; Vice-President, F. H. Oliver; Sec.-Treas., H. A. Price; Managing-director, Frank Watson and Director, Andrew Laidlaw. The company owns the Grey Hound in Deadwood camp. Work will be resumed on the property at an early date.

Fresh strawberries received twice a week at Semerad's, Copper street.

DOMINION DAY

HOW CANADA'S NATIONAL HOLIDAY WAS SPENT.

"JAKE" AND HIS FAMILY

Of City Boys Had a Big Time—Picnics at Midway—The Grand Forks Celebration—The Fire Boys Win.

The twenty-fourth anniversary of the confederation of the provinces into a Dominion of Canada was quietly observed in Greenwood save by the small boys and "Jake" Barrett. Jake is always loyal to Greenwood and if he could not keep the big boys at home on Dominion Day, he at least succeeded in giving the little fellows a jolly time. Jake marshelled his army of youngsters about nine o'clock in the morning and until nearly midnight the beat of drums, the boom of bombs and the sputtering of rockets told that Jake's juvenile army was abroad. The boys all voted "Jakey" a prince of good fellows and mildly suggested that they were cosmopolites and were quite prepared to celebrate the Fourth of July or any national holiday of any country under the sun.

The early train to Grand Forks was well crowded with pleasure seekers. Phoenix was practically deserted on Monday, nearly all of its inhabitants having gone to the Kettle River city. Greenwood would have made but a poor showing had the census enumerator turned up as the majority of those who didn't take in the Grand Forks celebration picnicked at Midway. All of the latter reported an enjoyable outing.

The Grand Forks celebration was a great success from point of numbers. The Kootenay trains and the Boundary all contributing a large number of visitors. The visitors found themselves at the not too tender mercy of an army of grafters who fleeced them at every available opportunity and this to a large extent detracted from what would otherwise have been a very pleasant excursion.

The Grand Forks Dominion Day celebration drew the largest crowd ever seen in the Boundary. Midway, Phoenix, Eholt and Greenwood contributed liberally, and when the early Monday morning's special, in to sections, pulled into Grand Forks depot, fully 700 people entered the Gateway City from across the mountains. It is estimated that 1,500 visitors from all points took in the sports.

The hose team from the Greenwood Fire Department covered itself with glory in winning from Rossland the hub-and-hub race, notwithstanding that it was heavily handicapped by reason of being forced to carry hose. The firemen's races, held down town, was a feature of the two-days celebration. Rossland sent over a large crowd of backers, who offered liberal odds that their firemen would take everything in sight. Fate however decreed otherwise for the local boys won handily in the hub-and-hub. In the wet test the Rossland teams were winners, with Grand Forks a good second. In the foot races Smith of Rossland carried off the honors.

The horse races at the new Westmount park half mile track drew large and enthusiastic crowds both afternoons. The prizes were liberal and thanks to a good management there was no attempt at jockeying—it was dead straight racing in which the best horse won.

The lacrosse match Monday morning between Phoenix and Grand Forks, resulted in a poor exhibition, in which the Grand Forks boys made 12 straight goals to nothing. Phoenix however showded them how to play football winning by one to nothing in a well contested game. Monday's programme was concluded at the opera house by a middleweight boxing contest between Charlie Goff of Spokane and Bob Hodge of Idaho. Goff was too speedy for his opponent, putting him out in the second round. The preliminery bout of eight rounds between Kid Lee and Dick Lewis (colored) lasted the limit, and while popular opinion gave the fight to the colored gent the referee decided in favor of Kid Lee.

Most of the Greenwood delegation stayed the two days returning home on Tuesday evening's regular. As the C. P. R. failed to provide for the proper handling of such a big crowd, over half were forced to journey to the Forks in box-cars. Coming home the local fire boys and some of their "rooters" captured a box car and held a "sing-song," being met on the arrival of the train by Fire Chief McKenzie and escorted to the fire hall where they were felicitated over their victory.

HILL'S RAIL'Y

ROUTE OUTLINED TOUCHES THE BOUNDARY CAMPS

BEFORE REACHING REPUBLIC

Will Bring the Ores to the Natural Smelting Point Boundary Creek. Where Smelter will be Built.

James J. Hill is essentially a railway man. He builds railways to secure business, consequently he sometimes does things that astonish men who think they know it all. Last week the Spokesman-Review published a map showing the route of the Marcus-Republic railway and Spokane men are wondering why Mr. Hill comes north into British territory and south again in order to reach Spokane. The reason is plain. Mr. Hill does this because he is a railway man and is after business. He builds his railway where he will get the greatest possible business.

In the district traversed by Mr. Hill's proposed railway there are mines that will just pay and other mines and propositions to lean to tempt operators or investors. In order to secure the greatest development of the natural resources of the district, a development necessary to a profitable business on the part of the railway, the railways itself must be so constructed so as admit of economic assembling of the various ores at some central point where they can be treated at the lowest possible cost. The natural centre for this is Boundary creek and Mr. Hill builds his railway accordingly.

The route as outlined by the Spokesman-Review map shows that the whole mineral district is to be tapped in the shortest possible distance to a natural centre. After leaving the Kettle River valley and following Fourth of July creek, northward towards Summit camp, Wellington, Phoenix and Summit camps are tapped. By continuing the road down Boundary creek through Greenwood and towards Midway, a down hill haul is secured for the ores of the camps mentioned and those of Long Lake, Providence, Skylark, Deadwood, Copper, Smith's and Central as well. All the camps of Boundary are tapped in the shortest possible distance. Then the road continues by a natural route from Midway to Republic. But this is not all. It is the intention to continue the road west to Myers creek, Camp McKinney, West Fork and Okanagan.

It will be asked why Mr. Hill does not build his road direct from Marcus to Republic and run spurs into the Boundary camps. The reason is plain. The whole road is built to secure the easiest and cheapest communication from all the camps to one natural point for the assembling of the ores.

That point is Boundary creek.

The railway man is after business and must go to the smelting point. The smelter man cannot come to him because he must chose the best point for assembling the various ores and fluxes required to make the mixtures he desires and there is no point more advantageous than Boundary creek. The dry ores necessary to make workable and profitable mixtures can be conveniently hauled from Republic and other points across the line to Boundary creek to meet there the ores of Boundary. The ores of West Fork and Camp McKinney can also be more conveniently hauled to Boundary than to any other smelting point. As has already been pointed out by the Times, there are points across the line equally as good as those on this side, but the smelters will not be built there. Build smelters immediately across the line to treat Canadian ore and immediately an export duty is imposed by the Dominion government. The American government might feel like retaliating against American ores coming to Canadian smelters, but they are without the power since the constitution forbids an export duty on the natural products of the country.

The principal shareholders in the Dominion Copper company are associated with Mr. Hill in the railway undertaking. Their smelter expert Mr. Breen will build his smelter at Greenwood and the railway will be built so that the ores from all points may be cheaply hauled to the smelter.

DROWNED.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. J. M. Hagerty was conveyed here today. Mrs. Hagerty, who resides at the Six Eagles mine on the Similkameen above Loomis, had started over the river in a small boat for the purpose of getting milk for her three little children and it is supposed that the boat was capsized, thereby throwing her into the river where she met her death by drowning. Mr. Hagerty is in the east on business affairs connected with the company. He has been summoned home by telegraph. The children are being taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of Oroville.—Chesaw Times.

COPPER MOUNTAIN.

Enquiry at the Sunset elicited the information that R. A. Brown is shortly expected at the camp.

The owners of the Rifle are doing assessment work, and the present showing is most encouraging. This is also true of the I. X. L., a nearby claim, where the work of opening the ore body is now progressing.

Charles Powell has cause to be contented these days. The recent work on the Princess May, as stated in last week's Star, was fruitful in exposing some exceptionally rich ore. An assay of samples that he brought to town gave 11 per cent in copper.

J. Bernard Tierney, M. E., of Nelson has obtained an option from Fred Wampole, of Princeton, for the purchase of the Buller and a three-quarters interest in the Little Gem Fraction, both on Copper Mountain. The Buller has a fine surface showing of gold-copper ore. Mr. Tierney sampled both claims, the ore being sent to Nelson for testing purposes. If the option is taken up development work will be started this summer.

A resumption of work on the Humbolt claim, adjoining the Oriole to the west, is announced, when the 35-foot shaft will doubtless be deepened. Since the Snowden boys started work on the shaft it has been put down to a depth of 20 feet. At the bottom a noticeable change in the character of ore is to be seen that is highly encouraging, as galena—something entirely new on the mountain—is coming in in spots, and is associated with the sulphrets and bornite.

Many camps have been established in this vicinity, and work is in full swing on several of the claims. At the Oriole, D. M. French, the Day brothers and the Snowden brothers have that camp. The claim adjoins the Helen Gardner on the south and east. The shaft is down 22 feet, passing through a capping of diorite for 18 feet. The last four feet is in ore, containing copper sulphrite and bornite. Sampling of this ore after the last round of shots gave 8 and 9 per cent respectively in copper.—Similkameen Star.

THURSDAY JULY 4, 1901.

MUNICIPAL COUNCILS, PRESENT AND PAST.

THE Greenwood Miner has seen fit to bring one Thos Hardy from the city of Phoenix for the purpose of telling the present city councillin general and Ald. Ross in particular how the affairs of a city should be conducted. The Miner is unfortunate in its references to Mr. Hardy's actions in connection with the sale of goods to the city. A reference to the accounts for 1899 and 1900, particularly 1899, will show that Mr. Hardy sold several thousand dollar's worth of goods to the city through Chas. E. Edwards, Robt Hunter and other civic employees, that Mr. Hardy drew $500 from thecity treasury for a ten days' jaunt to Victoria and accomplished nothing, while the mayor and two others made a similar trip for a less amount of money and accomplished something in the interests of the city, that—but why continue with a long list of Mr. Hardy's actions. He retired to that obscurity to which he properly belonged and it is to be regretted that he did not take his newspaper plant (which became his by swearing away his responsibility), since its only mission apparently is to damn every action and discourage every project that is in the interest of the city of Greenwood.

The Miner makes the distribution of the city printing an excuse for bringing up the ugly spectre of the past municipal mal-administration.

Until the present council went into power the city work was done in the Greenwood Times, first because, the Times was the only newspaper in the city; then because it tendered for the work lower than a newspaper helped by Thos Hardy et al, for the purpose, of ruining an established business and [illegible] because Thos Hardy was a partner in the Miner while he was mayor and therefore could not legally take any work and he could not induce his manager, James Grier to put in bills under the circumstances.

Fortunately for Greenwood, Thos. Hardy retired from the civic chair and the city and the Miner was free to accept city work. Since the Miner acknowledges that the majority of the Ross ticket were elected and could therefore control the council, the Miner neither legally or by usual practice could expect city work but at the suggestion of Ald Ross, the work was divided equally between the two printing offices in the city. Until June 24th the amounts paid for work done in the Miner office during the term of the present council was as follows. $43.60, $39.60, $4, $3.20, $3, $13, total $106,40 also $15 for printing Board of Trade reports but that need not be considered here. There was paid for work done in the Times office during the present council $41.85, $29.20, $7.50, $3.50 total $92.05. Under the circumstances the city clerk naturally placed the next order with the Times. This amounted to $27 which was paid on Monday June 24th. Had that order gone to the Miner, that paper would have had $41.35 more than the Times and there would have been no kick coming from the Times.

The Miner insinuates that because the manager of the Times and Ald. Ross are one and the same the Times cannot legally do city work. The Times is an incorporated company and the clause of the municipal clauses act relating to matters of this kind follows:

"But no peson shall be held to be disqualified from being elected a member of the council of any municipal corporation by reason of his being a shareholder in any incorporated company having dealings or contracts with the council of such municipal corporation."

The whole matter is small and scarcely worth serious discussion but it is rather hard on members of the present council who are conscientiously endeavouring to rescue the city from the legal entanglements and financial difficulties into which it was plunged through Thos Hardy's stupid blundering, that his Greenwood organ should resurrect him and parade him as a model of wisdom and integrity.

MINING REPORT.

The annual report of the minister of mines has just been issued. It contains a vast amount of information concerning the mining industry. Typographically it reflects the highest credit on the government printing office. The illustrations are excellent and appropriate. Among the latter is a fine view of Greenwood. The volume contains a lengthy report of the Kettle River Mining Division furnished by Gold Commissioner McMynn in which he reviews the work done in the district during the year.

Mr. Robertson the provincial mineralogists has something to say regarding prospects and prospectors which now that the subject is being discussed will prove interesting. He says: "While production must be the ultimate measure of our success as a mining community, yet but a small portion of the energy of the country is employed in a class of mining which is at the present time productive. Every accessible section of the province is being 'prospected' more or less thoroughly, and many sections are being developed with good promises of success, while still others which are known to contain valuable mineral must necessarily lie dormant until the growth of the country proves sufficiently good transportation facilities to enable them to be opened up.

Prospects are "promises," and the degree of faith placed in their fulfilment will be measured by the manner in which our mines—the prospects of a few years ago—are now fulfilling the promises then given.

The statistics show what these mines have, during the past year (1900), paid back in principal and interest to the lenders of the money for their development.

This total amount so returned was in 1898, $6,529,420; in 1899, $6.751,604; and in 1900 reached the sum of $10,069,757; an increase of 49 per cent. over 1899, and 54 per cent. over 1898.

Prospects may be said to borrow money on promissory notes and, unfortunately, many, "promising prospects" have failed to meet their obligations, with the result that the capitalist can only be induced to advance money by the expectation of a high premium and a large rate of interest on the loan.

In consideration of such high premium and rate of interest, the lender must necessarily expect to make losses in individual cases, but if, in a series of transactions, the principal and a fair rate of interest is returned, then this form of investment must be considered a profitable one, and that it is so profitable is found by those who investigate the matter.

These "notes" of the prospects have, however, to pass through the hands of promoters who, too often, not content with a regular commission, raise the "notes," or add on such a premium that but a small percentage of the original loan is available for the development of the prospect.

A prospect which gets, say $10,000, might pay back such loan doubled or trebled; but why should it be saddled with a debt of $1,000.000 and expected to pay this back with interest? Is it any wonder that a prospect like this becomes a failure?

Why should mining investments not be entered into as would any commercial business—only after serious investigation?

If the investing public—the real lenders of money to the prospects—would exercise ordinary business caution and see to it that the money for the stock they buy is used as it should be—on work and not to fatten the promoters—there would be more successful working mines in the province today.

GRAND FORKS-REPUBLIC RAILWAY.

Notwithstanding the encouraging dispatches that have been sent from Grand Forks telling of the immediate construction of the Grand Forks-Republic railway, it now looks as if the road would not be built. These dispatches intimated that Geo. S. Deeks had been awarded the contract and that active construction would be commenced immediately. Then it was announced that Mr. Deeks had gone east to arrange the financial part of the contract and that work would be started upon his return. Mr. Deeks has returned and he says:

"There is positively nothing to say concerning the proposed road. The reports that work was to be begun at once are without foundation. I not only do not know when the road will be built, but I am not in position to say whether it will ever be built. In short, the building of the road is not yet in my hands." When asked as to the Great Northern's plan he said: "Yes, I had a conversation with Chief Engineer Stevens while in St. Paul, but it was on matters of a personal nature. You can say, however, that its road will be built. Contractor Seims will, I understand, sublet the construction work, and our firm may be among the bidders."

It now looks as if the Great Northern would be the only railway in the field and that it will make connections with Republic from Midway and not from Grand Forks.

THE Times is in receipt of an invitation to the Spokane Industral Fair which opens on September 1st. Hebert Bolster is again manager and this is a guarantee that the fair will be up-to-date in every particular.

SOLD OUT TO P. BURNS & CO.

Cattle King's Firm Takes Over the Only Opposition in this Section.

Vaughan & McInnis have sold out to P. Burns & Co. While the deal was known to be pending, no announcement has been made of the actual sale until this week. The sale includes the store and lot in which Vaughan & McInnis conducted business in Phoenix, the Slaughter house at Hartford Junction, the stock of cattle, hogs and sheep on hand and the good will of the business. P. Burns & Co. will take possession Monday, July 1st.

Vaughan & McInnis have conducted a retail meat business in Phoenix for the last three years or thereabouts, and have been very popular with the retail trade. They bought and fattened their own cattle, and were independent of the usual source of supply. Some weeks since negotiations were begun, looking to the taking over of their business by P. Burns & Co., the latter firm wishing to supply Vaughan & McInnis with the meat needed. But this did not meet the views of the selling firm; they preferred to sell outright and would do so if they could get their price. This they have evidently done, although it is not made public as to the exact figure.

P. Burns & Co., although having a large number of shops all through this section, and practically controlling the meat business, are well thought of generally. It is the intention to conduct two shops in Phoenix, one in each end of the city, and Mr. Brown is to continue with the old Vaughn & McInnis shop, while, as of old, Joe Stirrett presides over the chopping block at the store opposite the postoffice.

Mr. McInnis informs the Pioneer that his firm will now confine themselves to their ranch intesests, which are extensive, and he may open a feed grain and produce establishment in Phoenix. It is to be hoped that he will remain here, as he is a man that the city will regret to lose, either on the council board or in general business.—Pioneer.

A GREAT CONTRAST.

There is no beating of drums nor blowing of horns to accompany the Hon. J. H. Turner on his mission to Ottawa. He has not even gone to Ottawa but to Toronto. Even Mr. Lugrin cannot be induced to follow him up. The question suggests itself: If Dunsmuir plus Eberts plus Lugrin could accomplish nothing in Ottawa, what can Turner minus Lugrin accomplish? This is one of those irritating conundrums which has no answer. But after all the business which Mr. Turner has gone east to accomplish is not one usually accompanied by the blowing of trumpets and the beating of drums. Unconditional surrender is usually a matter of reversed arms, lugubrious appearance and sulky looks. It is easy to imagine Mr. Turner's interview with the Sunny One at Ottawa. It is almost possible to hear them talk.

"My dear Mr. Turner, you must admit that in this matter the Government of British Columbia has placed itself in a position which is constitutionally untenable."

"I assure you we have been actuated by no desire to antagonize the Dominion government."

"No, quite so, I fully undestand that. But it is difficult to understand how the legal adviser of your Government, a Mr. Eberts, I believe, did not more fully protect you from the very obvious difficulties in which you have been involved."

"Well, you know, of course, what I say is confidential, but Mr. Joseph Martin has a good deal of influence with the Premier and. * * * *"

"Ah! I am quite sure that that gentleman's love for the present government of British Columbia is almost as strong as his affection for me, Mr. Turner. I have no doubt he has endeavored to place your government in a ridiculous position and me in an awkward position, but he has not succeeded in both his endeavors (and here is where the sunny smile comes in) not in both of his endeavors, Mr Turner," and so forth and so on.

The fact is that Mr. Turner has gon to Ottawa without a shot in his locker and the Dominion government knows it, and Mr. Turner knows that it knows it. In its relations with the province of British Columbia the Dominion government knows that to adopt a position of antagonism to the Dunsmuir government will rather increase its popularity than otherwise. The interests of the province are likely to suffer, just as if they had not suffered enough locally.—Victoria Post.

CITY SCHOOLS

THE DELEGATIONS' SUCCESSFUL MISSION TO VICTORIA.

THEY REPORT TO COUNCIL

That Permission Has Been Granted to Sell Present Building—Sisters' Hospital—Labor Day Celebration.

Owing to Monday being a holiday the regular meeting of the city council was held on Wednesday evening with Mayor Jakes presiding and Ald. Sullivan, Caulfield, Naden and Ross present. Sister Teresa was present to discuss the proposed hospital with the council. After going into details and a petition having been read asking for the introduction of a $2,500 bonus by-law in aid of the institution. Ald. Naden gave notice of the by-law.

Ralph Smailes, secretary of the school board, was present and he and Mayor Jakes told what the delegation had done in connection with school matters in Victoria. They found the minister of education very anxious to assist in securing good school accommodation in Greenwood and with this object in view, premission to sell the present building to the Sisters is contained in the following letter received since the delegation returned:

VICTORIA, June 25th, 1901.

R. SMAILES, Esq.,
Secretary. School Board,
Greenwood, B. C.

SIR: I am instructed to advise you that the application made by yourself and the other members of the Greenwood delegation who recently interviewed the Honourable the Minister of Education for permission to sell the school property at Greenwood has been allowed. In view of the fact, however, that this building is under the control of the Land and Works department the school property in Greenwood generally is under that department until the 1st January next. I beg to suggest that after disposing of the property in Greenwood for the sum named at the time of your interview you communicate with the Land and Works department in Victoria giving them an outline of the course you have pursued. It may be that the money will have to be paid by you to that department and the transfer made by them to your board. I shall endeavor, however, to arrange the matter with as little inconvenience to yourself as possible, but the selling of government property by the school board is somewhat irregular and may as I have stated above have to be ratified by the Land and Works department. The main point, however, in my communication is that permission to sell is hereby granted you.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
ALEXANDER ROBINSON,
Superintendent of Education.

On motion of Ald. Naden, seconded by Ald. Caulfield, a vote of thanks was tendered the delegation for their successful efforts.

C. J. McArthur directed the attention of the council to the almost impassible condition of the Phoenix road from the city hall to the Last Chance mine. The street committee were directed to attend to the part within the city limits and the government will be asked to repair their portion.

Medical Officer of Health J. Edward Schon drew the attention of the council to stagnant water on the lots near Mr. Moffatt's residence and stated that owners refused to fill the same. The communication was referred to the city solicitor.

Robt. Donagin asked $15,000 for his spring on Skylark hill. He will be informed that price is too high.

The secretary of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' Association asked the council to send the Greenwood chief to to the annual convention at Tacoma. Referred to the fire department.

W. J. Kirkwood asked permission to build a cesspit for waste water on street. Referred to street committee and officer of health.

The city engineer's report was adopted and he was asked to give an estimate of work needed on Long Lake street, Church street, Louisa street and Wellington street bridge, also to report on water supply.

M. Kane and W. Frawley representing the Trades and Labor council, asked for the co-operation of the council in having a Labor Day celebration on September 2nd. The council heartily endorsed the movement and called a public meeting of citizens, notice of which is given elsewhere.

MADAM URSO.

Madam Ursa is no ordinary violinise. A brief sketch of her early life; in view of her coming to Greenwood, may be of interest. Born of poor parents, her early childhood was passed in the old town of Nantes, on the Loire, France. The child's father was a flute player, and her mother a singer of some note: thus she inherited a love for music. In those days it was considered a shocking thing for a girl to play a violin, but at the age of five the child had evinced such a passion for the instrument that her father consented to allow her to be taught. At that age Felix Simon took her in charge. Her advance was most remarkable. She soon proved her genius. At ten an effort was made to get her into the conservatory of music at Paris. Auber, the composer, was at the time director of the institution and he refused to consider the application. No girl had been admitted nor ever would be besides she was too young. But her genius could not be long ignored. She was finally admitted and the masters were ready to lend every assistance to the child. In a few years the first concert tour was made through France and Switzerland.

Year after year the talented artist has extended her scope until, it may be said, she has lifted the soul of every music loving nation on earth high up into the realms of purity and love by her genius and bow. She speaks through her instrument from a heart overflowing with kindness, and in a language that all may understand.
