[ORIGINAL.]

UNHAPPY REFLECTIONS.

The decadal year is complete to-day, since I last folded my little fondlings in my arms, and kissed the tear from the pale cheek of my loving wife, to depart for the gold regions in search of wealth. I see the little cluster now (a picture never to be expunged,) as I saw them for the last time, pale and trembling, with hearts too full for utterance; and watted upon every breeze, methinks I hear the tiny voices exclaiming—"Father, dear father, come home." Alas! my home never more! . . . . . The stranger has it; my little ones are paupers. Grief has broken the heart to me so dear, and she sleeps in the village churchyard near by. Ten years have I led the life of a hermit, enticed through the wilderness year after year, by the glittering, hell-born phantom, until health, hope, wife, home, all are gone.—"All's lost, now." Oh, gold! gold! thou dazzling demon, what anguish hast thou not cost me? Why was I not content? Did I not rise as refreshed from my pallet of straw, as the rich man from his bed of down? Was not my humble meal sweeter to me than dainties and wines to the satiated appetite of the rich? The prattle of my little ones was sweet music to my ear, and the smiles of her I loved were sunshine to my soul. But that picture has passed; the great panorama rolls on. A few more revolutions and the curtain falls. 'Tis the end; 'tis well.

W.

WILLIAMS CREEK, Oct. 10, 1867.

A STRANGE STORY.—The DeKalb (Ill.) Journal of July 20th, says:—On Saturday last, as Thomas Scott, one of the workmen at the Gardner coal mine, on the Chicago and Alton railroad, was driving an entry in the coal vein, at a depth of nearly two hundred feet from the surface, he found imbedded in the coal, next to the face of the limestone rock overhead, a square block of stone eighteen inches in length, one foot wide, and thirteen inches thick, partially hollow, and having the appearance of petrified wood. In the centre was found two plates that appear to be solid gold. They are three inches in length, about two inches in width, and three-eighths of an inch thick. On each are some curious incriptions and hieroglyphics. The owner has been prevailed upon to permit them to be sent to New York, where it is to be hoped the inscriptions may be deciphered. The Gardner Coal Company have become responsible to the miner for the safe return of the plates, or their full value.

A NEW EXPEDITION TO THE NORTH POLE.—A committee of fifty-six persons, including Guizot, Chasseloup-Labat, Drouyn de Lhuys, Henry Martin, and Michel Chevalier, has been formed in Paris for the purpose of organizing a new expedition to the North Pole. The route to be pursued, is one discovered by a French hydrographer, M. Gustave Lambert, and has not been tried by previous explorers. A subscription has been opened for the expenses of the proposed expedition, which will be at least $125,000, and it is announced that if the total of the sums collected by the committee does not reach that amount by the end of next July, all subscriptions will be returned in full. It is added that the Emperor has given his entire approval to the project.

THE Archbishop of Lyons had his hand completely distorted and disfigured by the gout. He was once engaged in playing at cards, and had gained a thousand pistoles. "I should not mind it," said the losing party, "If my money had not gone into the ugliest hand in the kingdom." "That is false," said the Archbishop; "I know one that is still uglier." "I'll wager thirty pistoles you don't," said the other. The Archbishop immediately drew off the glove which covered his left hand, and the gamester acknowledged he had lost his wager.

CONTRARIES.—People say they shell peas when they unshell them; that they skin a calf when they unskin it; that they weed their gardens when they are weedy enough already.

"Have you ever broken a horse?" inquired a horse jockey.

"No, not exactly," replied Simmons, "but I have broken three or four wagons."

HOW SAL DISGRACED THE FAMILY.

A traveller in the State of Illinois, some years ago, came to a log hut on the prairies, near Decatur, and there halted. He went into the house of logs. It was a wretched affair, with an empty packing box for a table, where two or three old chairs and disabled stools graced the reception room, the dark walls of which were ornamented by a display of tinware, and a broken delf article or two.

The woman was crying in the corner, and the man, with tears in his eyes and a pipe in his mouth, sat on a stool, with his dirty arms resting on his knees, and his sorrowful looking head supported by the palms of his hands.

Not a word greeted the interloper.

"Well," he said, "you seem to be in awful trouble here; what's up?"

"Oh! we are most crazed, neighbor," said the old woman; "and we ain't got no patience to see folks now."

"That is all right," said the visitor, not much taken aback by his polite rebuff, "but can't I be of some service to you in all this trouble?"

"Well, we've lost our gal. Our Sal's gone off and left us," said the man, in a tone of despair.

"Ah! do you know what induced her to leave you?" remarked the new arrival.

"Well, we can't say, stranger, as she's so far lost to us as to be induced; but then she's gone and disgraced us," remarked the afflicted father.

"Yes, neighbor; and not that I should say it as is her mother, but there warn't a poorter gal in the west than my Sal, and she's gone and brought ruin on us and on her own head now," followed the stricken mother.

"Whom has she gone with?" asked the visitor.

"Well, there's the trouble," said the father. "The gal could have done well, and could have married Martin Kehoe, a capital shoemaker, who, although he's got but one eye, plays the flute in a lively manner, and earns a good living. Then look what a home and what a life she has deserted. She was surrounded by all the luxury in the country."

"Yes, who knows what poor Sal may have to eat, drink or wear now!" groaned the old woman.

"And who is the fellow that has taken her from you, to lead her into such misery?" quoth he.

"Why, she's gone off and got married to a critter called an editor, as lives in the village, and the devil knows how they are to earn a livin'!"

At Placerville, a Methodist preacher went to a tin shop to buy a tin blowing horn. Selecting one, he asked the clerk if it would make a loud noise.

"Oh yes, a devil of a noise," replied the clerk.

"Well," said the minister, "as I want it to blow at a camp meeting, I don't think that kind of noise will suit," and walked off.

THE UNIVERSAL PRACTICE of mixing Chicory and other adulteratives with Coffee, has very much damaged in public estimation, what ought to be the most delicious of Beverages. So effectually have the public been drugged with such mixtures that the true properties have been lost sight of, and many prefer a black and thick infusion to a drink rich in spirit and aroma. General as is the use of Coffee, it is little known that in condensing the vapors extracted from the berry in roasting, a liquor is obtained of the most nauseous taste, and of a scent the most unbearable. Under such circumstances it is evidently important that all the gases and fluids extracted by roasting should be carried off as quickly as possible, in order to prevent their returning again to the Coffee, which is the case in the confined cylinder. This object is admirably accomplished by the new and patent "Conical Coffee Roaster" as used by FELL & CO., Victoria, in which the berry is directly exposed to the radiated heat, and the vapor extracted carried off instantaneously. In addition to the advantage to be derived by the rapid removal of the steam containing the objectionable properties, the pure aroma of the Coffee is retained, the essential oil being preserved and not exhausted as in the Cylinder Roaster, where the Coffee is required to remain a much longer time in consequence of the steaming it undergoes by the confined steam. It is chemically impossible to retain the qualities or arrest the deterioration of Coffee when ground. The heat engendered by the process of roasting, and especially of grinding, creates an action in the elementary parts which gradually destroys its fitness for drink. But to retain the essential oil which it contains we have it encased in tins containing from 1 lb. to 28 lbs., and which can be had from any of the respectable dealers. We can confidently recommend those who have hitherto been obliged to refrain from taking Coffee on account of its ill effects that they may use our Coffee, roasted in the Conical Roaster, being recommended by all medical men under whose notice it has been brought, and by numerous other testimonials in its favor.

UNITED STATES AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Our American cousins never experienced so acute a pang as that inflicted on them by the creation of the Dominion of Canada; and the statesmanlike system shown by the Canadian Government, in consolidating and assimilating the institutions of the various sections into one of perfect autonomy, in meriting the highest praise, has excited the fury of Americans. The sound, healthy policy of Canada, conducted by honest principled, and loyal men, is a contrast so much at variance with the present institutions of the United States, as to create a danger for the continuance of these institutions, too great to be passed over. But when added to this, the Canadians, though so small and yet so poor a nation, have shown themselves capable of simulation in the desire to bind the various sections of the Dominion together by an overland route, the rage of our American friends knows no bounds. We could well excuse such ebullitions of feeling, and the desire felt on the part of our American neighbors to absorb us in the ample folds of their union did we not feel convinced that the change would be far from advantageous to us. That the United States will ever be able to form a strong government, is extremely doubtful, and the time is not far distant when another bloody revolution will be enacted, when civilized Europe will be again horrified with scenes of heartless carnage and destruction never before paralleled in history. And yet with the most barefaced effrontery we British Columbians are invited to annex ourselves to this model republic, and for what? That our vitals may be dragged from us by unprincipled political adventurers; that we may be taxed to four times the extent of our present taxation, and American domestic morality may be brought into our home circles to the exclusion of all that makes society worth the name. We have no disposition to be severe with the faults of our neighbors, we are only showing the bad quality of the wares that are sought to be thrust upon us, whether we like them or not. To show our readers the eagerness with which the Americans seek to drag us into the whirlpool termed the Republic, we shall give some extracts from an article in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 7th ulto. After an impudent pretence to believe the canard in which the cession of British Columbia, as a settlement of the Alabama claims, was said to be under the consideration of the British Government, although the writer must have been well aware of the positive denial given to that glaring instance of untruthfulness, he says,—"the people of the country, (B. C.), concerned persist in making no significant expression of their wishes." The reason is very simple, they are not to be caught by such false dispatches. He continues, "from every quarter we hear that seven-eighths of the people are really in favor of annexation." This is some of the cramming from the Victoria Morning News. The writer in the Bulletin continues, "it cannot be possible that the English, Scotch and Irish colonists prefer a Canadian Government to that of the United States." If it were otherwise, we should esteem the colonists abovementioned to be of that class that leave their country for their country's good, and will always seek the United States in preference to this country. The writer goes on to show the great demand that must ensue for the Washington Government style of politics, in preference to what he calls the "half and half sort of administration established at Ottawa." He says two-thirds of them (the people of B. C.) have no respect for the Canadian leaders or institutions. This is exactly what the Bulletin would wish to see, but the reverse is the fact. He proceeds with a deal of buncombe to assail our railroad project across the plains, and says, "if made at all, it will be by the most sanguine computation ten years before it is completed. If it should be begun, it is more than probable it would be abandoned before it is half completed." This is the sore place; the Americans are well aware that when once begun our railroad will be carried through to completion, even before theirs, our engineering difficulties are comparatively small, while theirs are almost insurmountable, from the great cost which will undoubtedly be involved. Is it any wonder, then, that they feel extremely chagrined in being anticipated in their grandest scheme for monopolizing the commerce of the east. The writer then resumes the style of depreciation that might be adopted by Barnum towards a rival show, concluding with the following magnificent peroration:—"For these Pacific colonies, there is but one chance of escape from absolute depopulation, but one way of avoiding overwhelming and utter ruin, and relapse to barbarism; and that is annexation to the United States. San Francisco holds the key which commands their trade, and they must give their allegiance where their material interests are controlled, or they must starve." How sincerely the writer in the Bulletin wishes he was telling the truth; and how well he knows the contrary, is easily understood, when we consider that unless some miracle intervenes, San Francisco must sink into nothingness, from the sheer exhaustion of the California mines. The agricultural productions of that State are utterly incapable of supporting the extravagance of the people, and this was at once apparent to the leading California politicians, when the railroad scheme was hustled through the legislature and congress, as a kind of life and death measure; their horror and dispair then, in seeing this last straw of their hopes snatched from their grasp by the friendly rivalry of a neighbor, is hardly possible to be borne. It is sad, very sad to contemplate, but it is too true; the Americans hate us because we object to be dragged into the slough they call the republic. We disclaim any wish to say anything hurtful to the feelings of Americans, but it is our duty to reply to such a slanderous article as that of the Bulletin before referred to. We would strongly recommend our American friends to let us alone; we want nothing from them and if we do buy their produce, we pay them well for it. We are immaculate, and can afford to throw stones, but our neighbors live in very slim glass houses, and cannot indulge in that luxury.

We understand that Mr. T. Spence has completed a survey of the proposed wagon road to Soda creek by way of Williams lake. It is estimated that the cost of making this road would fall far short of the sum necessary to put the present one, by Deep creek, in efficient repair. The advantages to be derived by adopting this route are three-fold; not only will a firm, gravelly bottom be obtained, and the distance materially shortened, but the road would pass through a rich pastoral and agricultural district, and be of the greatest benefit to our farmers. We sincerely hope, therefore, that the government will without delay, take the proper steps to carry out this much-needed improvement, and prevent for the future the repetition of such accidents as were of weekly occurrence on the present road during the past season.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

MOSQUITO GULCH.

We have been supplied with the result of the last week's washings of the various companies on this gulch.

Willow co. washed up for the week 25 oz.—Discovery co. 20 oz.—Point co. 15 oz.—Holman co. 40 oz.—Jeffree co. 57 oz.—Rising Sun co., wages.

There was no foundation for the report last Sunday of rich diggings being struck in a ravine at the head of this gulch.

BLACK BEAR CREEK.

There are four companies at work above the falls, who are reported to be making $10 a day to the hand. The diggings, on an average, do not exceed eight feet in depth. Work will again be renewed on the various claims below the falls at an early day.

KEITHLEYS CREEK.

The Baxter co., near Davis' crossing, are making $15 a day to the hand. Martin & co., two miles above the mouth of this creek, are making $10 a day with the rocker.—Grotto co. are averaging $10 a day.—A company at Davis' crossing, are taking out good pay.

GROUSE CREEK.

We are glad to state that the report of good prospects having been struck in the Rolly claim, at the head of the creek, has been confirmed. As much as $5 was obtained from two buckets of dirt.—The Point co., immediately above, are also getting prospects of from 50 cts. to $1 to the pan.—It is thought that the Hard-up co., who are now in nearly 300 feet with their tunnel, are about to strike the long-lost Heron lead. They begin to find small prospects.

ANTLER CREEK.

Corrie & Co. are prospecting in the creek, below the old Flume co.'s ground, and are getting good prospects.—Jennings & co., in the creek, above the store, are making $15 a day to the hand.—Driscoll co., 2 men, are taking out from $18 to $20 a day.—Springer co. (tunnel) have reached the bed rock which appears to be hard and smooth; the company are still pushing in towards the hill where they expect to find pay.

NEW CREEK.

We were shown by Ned Campbell, who returned yesterday from a prospecting trip, about an ounce of coarse gold, which he states was obtained by him out of five pans of dirt that he washed in a new creek, some two days travel to the south-east of this place The creek is about 2½ miles in length, and the diggings appear to be very shallow, not exceeding 4 feet in depth; so far as had been prospected. Our informant deeming it now too late in the season to commence operations has decided to return about Christmas, when he intends to whip saw lumber for sluices and prepare for work on the first approach of spring.

CEDAR CREEK.

The Aurora co. are making about $15 a day to the hand. It is the opinion of the foreman, Mr. Hazeltine, that the claims on this creek will be able to work till December the weather being so mild in that quarter.

Discovery co. are averaging about $14 a day to the hand.

Duncan McMartin and —Love have just returned from a prospecting tour, which extended in a south-easterly direction from Cedar creek, towards the head waters of the Thompson river. The party found some very good prospects in several places which they tried, and intend returning in the spring.

RISE IN FLOUR.—We understand great apprehensions are being felt by our miners that provisions and especially flour are about to be raised to an unusually high price; and the consequence is that many are betaking themselves to the lower country. We are assured by those who are well posted in these matters, that there is no danger of flour rising any higher than 30cts. ℔ lb., as the article can be imported from Yale at that price.

POLICE COURT.—Two luckless miners, who had been paying their devoirs rather too freely at the shrine of Bacchus, were arrested yesterday morning at an early hour, in the street of Barkerville, and on being brought before Mr. Brew, were discharged with a caution.

CHANGE OF TIME.—As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, Barnard's Expr[illegible] will, on and after this date, depart from here every Thursday, and arrive here every Monday, until further notice.

☞ Allow no one to put you off with any other Coffee than Fell's BEST. To be had from all respectable dealers.

VICTORIA ITEMS FROM COLONIST.—George Hawkins and Arthur Peatt, two settlers near Belmont, were convicted of using threats to assault ex-Chief Justice Cameron, and bound over in the sum of $500 each to keep the peace for one year.—A little girl aged 21 months, the daughter of James Ure, was drowned in a well on Quadra street, on 27th ulto.—One of the mountains of the Olympian range still continues to emit a dense cloud of smoke and flame, which can be plainly seen at Victoria. The mountain appears to be situated near the head of Hood's canal.—The workshop of a cutler named Fox was entered and a quantity of cutlery and tools stolen therefrom; on the following night the house of a married woman who resides on Johnson street, and whose husband is in Cariboo, was also entered and a quantity of clothing, etc., carried off; the depredators are supposed to be Siwashes.—The crops in the Salt Spring and Chemainus districts are said to be bountiful; cattle and hogs are considerably on the increase and in fine condition.—A sailor was killed by falling from the topsail yard of H. M. S. Zealous, in Esquimalt harbor.—At an auction sale of real estate, suburban lot No. 4. brought $62; and No. 23 realized $65. NEW WESTMINSTER ITEMS FROM COLUMBIAN AND EXAMINER.—Great preparations are being made for the agricultural exhibition, which will come off at an early day.—Capt. Irving has offered a premium of $10 for the best bushel of wheat exhibited at the coming fair and grown in British Columbia.—Hon. H. M. Ball arrived on the 4th.—The Columbian indulges in the hope that in the event of this colony being admitted into the confederation, the Hon. A. N. Birch will be appointed Lt.-Governor. Such an appointment, we doubt not, would be hailed by New Westminsterites with satisfaction, but we are certain not by any colonist outside of that favored locality. —The Indians are gathering large quantities of cranberries this season. This fruit, it appears, is now selling in the San Francisco market at from $1 50 to $2 per gallon.—An Indian found a specimen of silver ore on Squamish river, where, he states, there is hiyou of it.—It is rumored that the Hon. The losses suffered in the neighborhood of Bathurst by the flood consists chiefly of fencing, of which, in the aggregate, many miles have been washed away, together with green crops and whole acres of land.

The Home Government has declined to furnish this colony with a special copper coinage, but has intimated its willingness to send out a supply of the ordinary English coinage, a thing very much wanted.

The late flood on the Hawkesbury reached the extraordinary height of 62 feet, being 11 feet 6 inches higher than any known flood. This was the highest known since the year 1806.

A prize fight between McLaren and Carstairs was to have come off on the 10th July on Mud island, Port Phillip. Two steamers were chartered to convey the men and spectators. A strong wind was blowing, and nobody could land. The steamers then made for Dromana anchoring under Arthur's Seat. Three boats put off for the shore, about three miles distant, two were capsized in the surf and eight persons at least were drowned. Many other persons were rescued with difficulty.

The marriage of two educated aboriginals was celebrated at the mission station, Ramaliquick, Gipps Land, Victoria, on the 10th of July, with considerable ceremony. About 150 visitors, the greater number of whom were of the fair sex, were present.

Proceedings for the removal of Mr. Justice Boothby have now been taken under the Act 22 George III, which authorises governors of colonies in executive council to effect such removal in cases of misbehaviour or neglect of duty. The charges brought against him are as follows:—1. Conduct and language contumacious and disrespectful to the Court of Appeals, and obstructive to the said Court in the performance of its duties. 2. Perverse refusal to recognize the authority of Parliament, and to administer the laws of the province. Expressions on the bench disparaging and insulting to the legislature, the Government, and the institutions of the province, and language and behaviour on the Bench calculated to bring the administration of justice into contempt. 4. Language on the Bench offensive and irritating to the other judges and public denial of their authority. 5. Allowing private and personal feeling to interfere with the fair and impartial administration of justice. In addition to these there is a further charge against his honor, "of having assumed a position inconsistent with the equal administration of justice, and which in certain events would put a stop to the exercise of the functions of the Supreme Court—such charge being contained in a letter from their honors the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Gwynne to his Excellency the Governor." The Chief Justice has since been removed.

Three children strayed into the bush at Daylesford, Victoria, on the 3rd July. An unsuccessful search by their parents and several other persons was made the same day. On the following day a public meeting was convened by the mayor, and the result was that the shops were all closed, and 700 of the inhabitants turned out under experienced bushmen, and scoured the country for miles, but their search was fruitless. Several parties have been prosecuting the search daily ever since, but as yet no clue to the missing children has been obtained.

The sixteenth anniversary of the independence of Victoria, and its separation from New South Wales, was celebrated in that colony on the 16th July, by a general holiday. All the public offices and institutions, as well as the principal wholesale and retail places of business, were closed.

According to the agricultural statistics of the colony of South Australia, the wheat crop during the past year amounted to 6,561,351 bushels—a larger gross yield by nearly 2,000,000 bushels than was ever before gathered in the colony. A large quantity of this has been exported to England, where it met with ready sale at remunerative prices. The Paris correspondent of the South Australian Register, mentions in his letter that the gold medal for wheat has been awarded to South Australia by the judges of the Paris Exhibition.

The parliament of South Australia was formally opened by his Excellency Sir Dominick Daly, on the 5th July.

BENEFIT FOR THE HOSPITAL.—Professor Hermann's performance for the benefit of the Hospital, was given last night at the Crystal Palace Saloon, and attracted a large and respectable audience. The Professor was very ably assisted by Mons. Endt, whose card and bottle tricks were performed with a degree of skill and adroitness only attainable by one well up in the art of sleight-of-hand. Mr. Wilson gave one of his favorite solos on the cornet-a-piston, which was loudly encored. The entertainment was concluded with a series of mysterious and wonderful delusions in the art of ventriloquism. We were unable to learn what the proceeds amounted to, but from the crowded state of the house, we should imagine that a handsome sum was realized.

THE EXPECTED ARRIVAL OF PRINCE ALFRED IN AUSTRALIA.—Great preparations are being made throughout the Australian colonies to give a suitable reception to Prince Alfred, who was to arrive in Australia about the end of October, and after visiting the capital of each colony, proceed to Tahiti, and probably Vancouver Island, and from thence return to England.

BED ROCK DRAIN.—Upwards of seventy feet of a new drift has yet to be run before the Cariboo claim will be drained. This, it is believed, will be accomplished in the course of ten days.

A HUMAN TIMEPIECE.

A wonderful story is told of a man named J. D. Chevally, a native of Switzerland, who had in 1845, at the age of 66, arrived at an astonishing degree of perfection in reckoning time by an internal movement. He was, in fact, a human timepiece or living clock. In his youth he was accustomed to pay great attention to the ringing of bells and vibrations of pendulums, and by degrees he acquired the art of counting a succession of intervals exactly equal to those which the vibrations of the sound produced. Being on board a steamboat on Lake Geneva on the 14th July, 1832, he engaged to indicate to the crowd around the lapse of a quarter of an hour, or as many minutes and seconds as any one chose to name, and this during a most diversified conversation with those standing by; and further to indicate by his voice, the moment when the hand passed over the quarter, minutes, or any other subdivision previously stipulated during the whole course of the experiment. This he did without mistake, notwithstanding the exertions of those about him to distract his attention, and clapped his hands at the conclusion of the fixed time. His own account of his gift was as follows: "I have acquired by imitation, labor and patience a movement which neither thought nor labor nor anything can stop. It is similar to that of a pendulum, which at each moment of going and returning gives me the space of three seconds, so that twenty of them make a minute, and these I add to others continually."

A GENTLEMAN one day arrived at a forlorn country inn, and addressing a lugubrious waiter, inquired if he could have a chicken and asparagus.

The serving man shook his head.

"Can I have a duck, then?"

"No, Sir."

"Have you any mutton chops?"

"Not one, Sir."

"Then, as you have no eatables, bring me something to drink. Have you any spirits in the house?"

"Sir," replied the man, with a profound sigh, "we are out of spirits."

"Then, in wonder's name, what have you on the premises?"

"An execution, Sir."

CRIMSON SHOWERS.—At Albany, last Thursday, they had a red rain, just as they sometimes have a red snow in Switzerland and elsewhere. Cause—the infusorial shells, or parts of plants and insects which, in the tropics, are carried up two or three miles high in the atmosphere by the winds and wafted hither where they descend with "falling weather." There was a time when general superstition would have invested such a phenomenon with all the attributes of a preternatural monition and made the forerunner of "war pestilence and famine," or some other calamity. In this age of popular enlightenment we simply note the phenomenon, compare it with previous visitations of a similar character, expatiate on the cause and pen such a paragraph as this.—N. Y. Paper.

A READY-WITTED Irishman lives in Rockville, Ill. The other day one of the boys thinking to have a little fun out of him, said: "Roley, have you heard the news?" "No; what news?" "Why, the devil is dead." Not a word said Roley, but putting his hand into his pocket and pulling out a ten cent shinplaster, handed it to his questioner, who asked what it was for. "Why," answered Roley, "in the old country where I come from, it was the custom to give the children something when the parents died." Whereat there was some laughter, but no more enquiries.

AN American in Paris was in want of a hat and, not being able to speak French, considered himself lucky in stumbling upon a store where such articles were sold, to find in gold letters upon the window "English spoken here." He entered, selected his hat, and asked how much, and was replied to as follows by the French shopkeeper: "I would charge a gentleman twenty francs; I will charge you sixteen." A Frenchman wouldn't often give such a doubtful compliment.

A MISSOURI farmer being asked if raising hemp was a good business, answered,—

"I can't sartin say, but it is surely better than being raised by it."
