Food Bank's problem may be solved

by Dianne Evans

James McDowell, Director of the Sunshine Coast Community Services Society, said on Friday that, as a result of conversation between the Coast News, Area C Director Jon McRae, Food Bank Co-ordinator Maria Lwowski, concerned citizen Marilyn Fowler and himself, the Sechelt Food Bank has reached an agreement with the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) for the use of a parking space by Capilano College where a small trailer may be placed and power supplied from the college building. For the power the Food Bank will pay a nominal fee.

Now the only obstacle to be overcome is obtaining some kind of trailer for use by the Food Bank, said McDowell, in a conversation with the Coast News.

"We would like to either lease or rent, or be loaned a 12'x30' mobile home or trailer," said McDowell "a contractor's trailer such as is used on construction sites would be ideal. We can pay a nominal rent."

"Another possibility is that, if we have to lease or rent, someone will donate the fee and that way be able to get a tax deduction, since we are a non-profit society," he continued.

"One of our (he and the co-ordinators of the Food Bank) shared objectives is to work ourselves out of existence. It's neither a desirable nor a practical solution to large scale economic problems."

"It's unfortunate that the building Maria (Lwowski) was in, didn't work out (the building was rented out, an understanding that was reached before the Food Bank took temporary occupancy) but in a way it's a good thing. It's another opportunity to light a fire under this town. The problem's here and it has to be faced."

Maria Lwowski expressed her frustration with the difficulties the Food Bank has had in the three years it has been in operation. During that time the location has been changed three times; this new move will be a fourth. Each time has entailed many hours of volunteer labour to move the freezers and foodstuffs stored by the Food Bank.

"It's a community problem," said Lwowski in conversation with the Coast News "we're feeding over 200 people a month (203 in April). I think people are just kidding themselves if they think things are getting better. I think we're in for another disappointment."

"It's hard to be optimistic if you're a realist. We didn't get into this position overnight," she continued, "and we won't get out of it overnight."

At the Sunshine Coast Regional District meeting, May 9, Director John Burnside had made a motion to have the SCRD help the Food Bank find itself a new home; the motion was tabled in a move by Director McRae who was of the opinion, due to various calls he had received, that a solution had been achieved.

This unfortunately turned out to be inaccurate, but when approached on Friday, May 10, Director McRae did his utmost to obtain an agreement whereby the Food Bank could avail itself of power, for a reasonable fee.

Anyone who has a trailer or some other suitable type of mobile unit, is asked to call Jim McDowell at 885-5881; if you would like to donate the lease or rent money as a tax deduction, please call the same number.

"The Food Bank started out to feed unemployed workers," said McDowell. "We do our best to ensure that only those who are truly in need receive the food available but no system is perfect."

"What is clear is that the long-term solution is jobs, not Food Banks."

D & D Gulf in Sechelt was broken into last Tuesday night and robbed of credit card invoices for Tuesday, May 7, and credit invoices, cash and cheques for Wednesday, May 8 after 5 p.m.

All customers who purchased gas or services on those days are kindly asked to contact the service station so that credit card invoices may be re-printed.

New fish quotas

The department of fisheries and oceans advises all fishermen that, as of midnight Tuesday, May 14, the sport fish quota for chinook salmon in Howe Sound and the Strait of Georgia is reduced from four fish per day to two fish per day.

Any questions pertaining to fishing limits should be directed to the local fisheries office in Madeira Park, 883-2313.

For his work in marine rescue

Capt. Higgs honoured in New York City

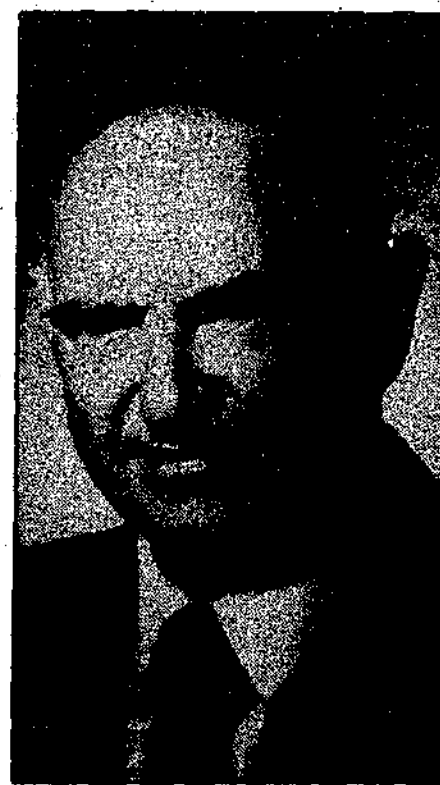

by Dianne Evans

Captain William York Higgs, of Gibsons, has been awarded the 1984 Halert C. Shephard Award for Achievement in Merchant Marine Safety. This award is given annually for a single outstanding contribution to merchant marine safety, or for dedication and constructive participation in activities associated with maritime safety over a period of time. It is awarded in memory of Rear Admiral Halert C. Shephard, or "Shep", as he was affectionately known, in U.S. maritime circles.

Captain Higgs has spent most of life in work connected with the sea, particularly in British Columbia. The past 15 years he has devoted special efforts to the design of launched or automatically deploying radio buoys and survival vehicles.

"I've been on or connected with the sea all my life," said Captain Higgs in a conversation with the Coast News, "and I've taken part in many search and rescues, with no fixed position data to work to. The experience gained always showed that there should be some form of lifesaving equipment for ships which would automatically launch and remain near by in readiness for those who escaped the rapid sinking of vessels, while broadcasting the wreck position."

"Losing so many of our friends, in sudden sinkings particular, made me realize how important this is," he continued.

The design of radio buoy systems that transmit radio signals, or lifesaving emergency position-indicating radio buoys (LEPIRBS) for every class of vessel, has been the object of Captain Higgs' concentrated efforts particularly in the past 15 years.

"Everyone is in such a panic when a vessel suddenly sinks that regulation lifesaving gear seldom becomes operative," said Captain Higgs, "so I have provided an automatic system to augment all lifesaving equipment now in service whilst removing the search from "Search and Rescue".

The award, which was established by the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, is presented by the American Bureau of Shipping, (ABS) an international ship classification society headquartered in New York.

Making the presentation, Mr. William N. Johnston, chairman and president of ABS, noted that Captain Higgs has long been concerned with the safety of life at sea, devoting his time and resources unstintingly over many years to the development of more effective lifesaving equipment aboard ships and off-shore drilling rigs.

Captain and Mrs. Higgs travelled to New York for the presentation; he received a Steuben Crystal "Shep Eagle", a citation and leather binder on Admiral Shephard and the "Shep Award".

Captain Higgs has also won special recognition in Germany from SeeBerufsgenossenschaft, the National Association of Seamen, and in England from the Nautical Institute, which elected him as a fellow. He was made honorary member No.2 by the Canadian Merchant Service Guild composed of Canadian ships' officers.

The Coast News extends its congratulations to a very distinguished citizen of our community.

Local man organizes

Tall Ships show

by Brad Benson

When the tall ships begin arriving from around the world next summer to take part in Expo 86, much of the credit for organizing the event will go to an 11 year resident of the Sunshine Coast, Commodore Ian Morrow, who has recently been appointed to the voluntary post of Expo's Tall Ships' Liaison Co-ordinator.

Commodore Morrow started his life-time involvement with the sea in 1939, when, as a young Royal Navy cadet, he apprenticed aboard the HMS Conway, a wooden-walled, 90-gun ship of the line. He then entered the merchant navy where he served until the day his ship was torpedoed early in World War II. At that point he joined the Royal Canadian Navy as a sub-lieutenant, beginning a 39 year career which culminated in 1974, when he retired with the rank of commodore.

After his navel retirement, he and his wife, Stell, moved to the Sunshine Coast, a choice Commodore Morrow said was a toss-up with another beautiful location, Mahone Bay, Nova Scotia. They chose Gibsons because of its, "closeness to a large vibrant city where we could enjoy the best of both worlds". Commodore and Mrs. Morrow are still very active in the business they founded when they came to the Coast, Ian Morrow & Company, a marine consulting and survey firm.

Though Commodore Morrow's position as Tall Ships' Liaison Co-ordinator is as a volunteer (expenses are paid), he is already putting in one to two days a week at the task of putting together an organization of volunteers.

Approximately 50 volunteers are needed to co-ordinate the myriad details involved in hosting the 25 to 40 tall ships that are expected. Forty-four volunteers, all having some association with the sea, have already come aboard with the help of the organizations such as The Company of Master Mariners, The Naval Officers Association of Canada, The Royal Naval Sailing Association, The Conway Club (ex-cadets from the HMS Conway), and numerous yacht clubs.

According to Commodore Morrow, his organization's function will be to act as a "great big ship's agent", providing such services as navigational charts, information about ship's chandlers, canvas makers, shipwrights, where to get fuel, etc. As each tall ship arrives in Vancouver, at least one volunteer will be on hand to board and welcome the crew.

As a pre-Expo event for the tall ships, the American Sail Training Association has organized a race from Maui, Hawaii to the Strait of Juan de Fuca. Due to the timing of the event and the varying speeds of the individual ships, most of them will be arriving in B.C. waters a week or two before July 25, the day when they are all scheduled to sail into English Bay and begin their week's festivities with Expo 86.

This time lag has led Commodore Morrow to begin organizing berths for them in many of B.C.'s coastal communities. Though not firm yet, these plans could involve the berthing of more than one tall ship on the Sunshine Coast.

Apart from naval and business matters, Commodore Morrow has also been active locally. He is a past chairman of the board of St. Mary's Hospital and is currently chairman of the hospital's nominating committee. He was also instrumental in the planning of the new breakwater and marina for the town of Gibsons. On a national level, he has been recently honoured with an appointment to the National Council of the Navy League of Canada.

Commodore Ian Morrow, the newly appointed Tall Ships' Liaison Co-ordinator for Expo 86, is pictured here at Gibsons Marina in front of his vessel, Shearwater. (See story)

Gibsons holds line on taxes

Property taxes in the town of Gibsons will be virtually unchanged in the coming year except for a substantial increase in water frontage rates previously reported.

The 1985 budget by-law was passed at the council meeting held on May 6. Details will be available in next week's paper.

Facing facts

There are at present 32 Food Banks in British Columbia; two of them are right here on the Sunshine Coast, where more than 20 per cent of our population is unemployed. The Sechelt Food Bank, however, is having a hard time to stay in operation; it is now in the midst of its fourth move in three years.

The fact that the Food Bank is not a long-term solution to our economic ills is irrelevant in this instance; the fact is, that the Food Bank in Sechelt gave out 203 bags of food to 203 different people in the month of April alone. There is no reason to suppose that these figures will suddenly decline.

We are not talking about people taking tax dollars from our pockets; we are talking about people who do not have enough to eat, and they live right here in our community. A lot of those people who come to the Food Bank have children and they are the little ones the teachers talk about, the ones who fall asleep in class or suffer chronic sniffles; these are kids who are always just a bit hungry.

The long-term solution to the problem is jobs, but it should be obvious to all but the most simple-minded that the wheels of change grind slowly, that "jobs" are not created overnight.

In the meantime we are still faced with those 203 people and their families in Sechelt who do not have enough to eat each month. If we can't face that reality, there's not much hope of us ever solving the problem. Keeping our heads in the sand has never been a solution, and it isn't one now.

Dianne Evans

A man of honour

The Sunshine Coast, the province of B.C., and Canada have reason to be proud of Captain W.Y. Higgs who makes Gower Point Road in regional Area E his home.

The international recognition accorded Captain Higgs recently in New York City for his work in automatic lifesaving devices for mariners, which we report elsewhere in these pages, is well merited indeed. This was by no means the first international recognition accorded Captain Higgs and his work has been widely credited with saving many lives at sea.

It is regrettable, indeed, that one of the countries which has been slow to recognize the sterling work of our Captain Higgs is Canada. That he is a man of honour is without question; that he has not yet been so recognized in his own land is a shame and a disgrace.

The Capilano, built in Vancouver during the years of the First World War, was a wooden hulled boat from the shipyards of B.C. Marine. There were no staterooms aboard since it was used only as a day boat. There was a dining room on the upper deck, and the lower decks were used for storage space for freight. There was a special opening on the wharf to fit the opening on the side of the ship. A wide sloping ramp would go from the ship up onto the wharf and hand trucks were used to unload the cargo. If there was a very low tide a pulley was put at the land end of the Roberts Creek wharf and attached to the winch on board; the pulley was then used to unload. This event was very popular with the local children who would flock to the wharf to watch the proceedings. The Capilano was mainly for passengers however, and was really the spare boat for Roberts Creek. It ran from Vancouver to Squamish, via Britannia Beach, Prudeau, Wood Fiber, during the week and came up to Roberts Creek on Sunday nights. On weekends four boats on their way to Queen Charlotte Island and Prince Rupert would bring passengers to Roberts Creek. By Sunday night there would be some 300 people waiting to get back to Vancouver. This was when the Capilano would arrive empty, to take the bulk of the crowd back to town. Some waited over until Monday morning when the first boat back from the north would arrive at about six; passengers taking this boat would be in Vancouver in time for business at nine o'clock.

Musings

John Burnside

On April 11, 1983, the following editorial appeared in the Coast News under the title "Democracy in danger":

"Loud and real are the voices raised in protest at any real or imagined threat to democracy from some jurisdiction other than our own. Strangely silent are we when the institution is threatened from within.

"It cannot be said too often or too clearly that the principal threat to democracy is likely to come from those who profess to practise it. It is meet that we should consider this fundamental heritage as B.C. prepares for a provincial election.

"These are cynical and dangerous times when public opinion, the heartbeat of democracy, is seen by those in power not as something to be respected and trusted but as something to be manipulated and controlled. The obsession of both parties with their image is indication enough that we are believed to elect our leaders because of slick packaging rather than sound planning and wise decisions.

"If further cause for alarm were needed, we have the fact that the present government has not called the legislature into session for seven months, preferring to rule by decree rather than parliamentary procedure. They are at present spending the people's money without benefit of debate of the people's representatives in contravention of all parliamentary tradition.

"It seems that this election has been called because the present government daren't seek re-election after the next budget has been presented and the exercise is therefore redolent of a dishonest and dangerously cynical opportunism on the part of those who seek desperately to retain power at all costs.

"If this affront, nay assault, on the democratic tradition is not greeted with a sound defeat at the polls on May 5 we will know that our most treasured institution is in very real danger."

Twenty-five months have gone by since that editorial was written. Let's review circumstances in the province of British Columbia.

The election was held and the government forces won. They won, Patrick Kinsella told a marketing class at Simon Fraser University last fall, because they marketed Premier Bill Bennett as a tough hombre, that being the only believable role for our charm-free head honcho.

The delayed budget came in in July of 1983, two months after the election was safely out of the way. It was accompanied by such a spate of repressive legislation that the province was thrown into an uproar from which it has scarcely yet recovered.

As for democracy, well we have lived to see a day when school trustees were ordered how to vote on matters of educational finance or be held to be breaking the law. We have lived to see the day when a democratically elected local authority has been fired for refusal to obey the all-powerful central authority.

In the matter of doctors' billing we have seen one of the foremost legal figures of the province publicly wish that the government would obey the law. In their efforts to determine where people will live and work they would appear to be flying counter to all cherished traditions of liberty in this country.

Further, as one doctor pointed out recently, their efforts to ensure there will be medical service in the north will be as counter-productive as their efforts at economic management.

"If a doctor feels that he may not be able to re-locate from a northern post easily at some future date," said the doctor, "he is not likely to go there in the first place. The result will be less medical service in our isolated communities, not more."

The editorial prognostications of 1983 are being realized in this province. Properly elected public officials are being ordered how to vote; if they decline, they have been fired. The government is intent on prescribing where people can live and work. The cynicism which withheld a draconian budget until after the people's choice had been made is still in power and wielding an axe against our most cherished freedoms.

It is true that liberty has to be fought for in every generation and the time is at hand for the people of this province. It is not a matter of right-left polarization. The issue now clearly at hand here is democracy itself.

We have in this province a government with some very totalitarian instincts indeed. The assault on democracy continues.

Was there a time

*Was there a time when dancers with their fiddles
In children's circuses could stay their troubles?
There was a time they could cry over books,
But time has set its maggot on their track.
Under the arc of the sky they are unsafe,
What's never known is safest in this life.
Under the skysigns they who have no arms
Have cleanest hands, and, as the heartless ghost
Alone's unhurt, so the blind man sees best.*

Maryanne's viewpoint

Russians — the forgotten allies

by Maryanne West

In all the news about the celebrations marking the fortieth anniversary of the end of World War II there has been an almost total lack of recognition of the part played by the Russians. We've heard about the liberation of France, of Belgium and particularly of Holland, but the real end of the war came when the advance units of the Allies crossing Germany from the west met up with their counterparts of the Russian Army advancing from the east.

The Russians had liberated Berlin and then pushed on, mopping up pockets of German resistance as they went until they met the Allied troops. A reunion was held this year at the town of Torgau, now in East Germany, to celebrate that link-up of the two armies.

Perhaps because the ceremonies were boycotted by the U.S. government after an American liaison officer was shot by a Soviet sentry, the North American news agencies appear not to have taken much interest in this meeting of old wartime comrades in Torgau. This, it seems to me, is where the media let us down and left us with a one-sided view of what has taken place.

Because of the current chill in Soviet/American government relations this story of continued friendships between the former allies is important and one of encouragement to all of us whose future is hostage to U.S./Soviet understanding.

I found the story in the Christian Science Monitor from their staff reporter in Germany, Elizabeth Pond, and on May 5 they also ran a story of Leo Gruliov's remembrances of being in Moscow on VE Day and of the warmth of the feelings of the Russians for the Americans at that time.

The ceremony in Torgau was similar to many others which have taken place in recent weeks, wreaths laid at a war memorial, speeches, etc. It was different in that the German hosts had invited both the Soviets and Americans from the "Fighting 69th" infantry division who had linked up near the town, and messages were read from Soviet Secretary General Mikhail Gorbichov and former president Jimmy Carter. The photograph shows a large crowd of men thronging the town square, some carrying American flags, some wearing military medals, raising clasped hands and all smiling broadly.

At the reception old friendships were renewed and old battles fought as is the way with soldiers since time immemorial. There were many stories of that first meeting 40 years ago.

Lieutenant William Robertson was in Torgau on April 25, 1945, on the west bank of the River Elbe; Lieutenant Alexander Silvaschko was on the east bank; neither was sure of the identity of the other and both were afraid of being caught by German snipers. Eventually they made contact by crawling across the only remaining bridge. A picture taken at that time of the two men arm in arm was used on the official anniversary poster.

These two men, and undoubtedly others, have kept in touch with each other. Lieutenant Robertson, now a neurosurgeon in LA has visited Silvaschko twice, once in 1975 and again earlier this year. Silvaschko is a school principal in Minsk and commented with approval that they have both found peaceful professions.

Even if the American government used the occasion of the anniversary to criticize a former ally some Americans are more courteous - a joint telecast linking Soviet and American citizens, with host Frederick Starr president of Oberlin College in California, was aired in San Diego and shown in Moscow. It is hoped we shall see it on PBS in the fall.

As former lieutenant William Robertson said, "Governments can talk, but people talk better."

Nanoose peace group visits Madeira Park

Editor:

Those who live far from Pender Harbour or Egmont, poor souls, or who are going to the Youth Dance on May Day, skip down to the last paragraph. Still with me? Well, some people are coming from Nanoose on May 18 (that's the Harbour's May Day). They have slides of the U.S.-Canada weapons testing over there. They favour converting the project to something more useful and peaceful.

They will also bring slides of those U.S. operations in Jervis Inlet which we in Egmont are so used to seeing, but never questioning.

There's more! A lady from a group called Beyond War then will show a short video which I'm told is superb, about the earth seen from outer space.

This is all at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 18, at St. Andrew's Church Hall, Highway 101, Madeira Park. You can take it in and still go the May Day Dance.

Would you have accommodation for any of the three or four Nanoosers, or for the other lady, over Saturday night? Or could you bring a few cookies? Please let me know at 883-2434. The show is free but a small donation would help toward expenses.

Those who can't attend—you have another chance. I think they will put on the same viewing Sunday afternoon, probably at Chatelech. Call Anne Moul for information, 885-4613.

See you May Day.

Democratic process must occur

Editor:

On May 3, at 5 p.m., I made the following request.

"I hereby request a 'special meeting' of the Board of School District #46 for 6 p.m., Saturday, May 4. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss: 1. Legal position over Small Claims action (Bulmer recount). 2. Loss of two board members and subsequent election."

To call a special meeting of the board it is necessary to obtain signatures from a majority of board members. This I was unable to do.

Of major importance is item number two. The organizing and calling of an election for Rural Area 1 (West Sechelt to Egmont inclusive) is not yet underway. There is a critical time line for this procedure. The election procedure is apparently not scheduled for next Tuesday's school board meeting.

At least one trustee has indicated that it may be preferable, because of budget restraints, to request Victoria to permit political appointments to be made. This is possible under some circumstances for school by-elections.

I am sure most all trustees can be convinced to have an election. Therefore, I request all voters of Rural Area 1, and also all others who deem it in their best interests, to immediately insist that the democratic process take place.

Of course, those who deem it in their best interest to have political appointments should also act accordingly.

Thank you.

Jack & Jill Preschool is nearing the end of another school year. Once again, the children have enjoyed and benefitted from a preschool experience that is full of activities presented in a stimulating and positive environment. As in the past, the success of this program is dependant upon the volunteer involvement of a great number of community members.

The 1984-85 executive, teachers, parents and children of the preschool would like to take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt appreciation to the many people who have supported our fund raising efforts, donated time and supplies and contributed expertise in the ongoing education of both parents and children.

The preschool membership would also like to thank our teachers, Lori Winn and Lorna Duteau, for the enthusiasm and energy that they bring to the program.

Involvement in Jack & Jill

Parent Participation Preschool has been a rewarding learning experience for parents as well as our children. Community involvement is what makes it work!

Thank you Sunshine Coast residents, businesses and organizations for involving yourselves so willingly. For information about the 1985-86 program, call Fiorella Nygren at 886-2568.

Canine troubles

Editor:

Saturday, May 11, 1985, I spent a hectic hour trying to find safe shelter for an adorable purebred English Sheepdog, which I found in a bewildered state at the Sunnycrest Shopping Mall parking area in Gibsons.

Arriving there on the busy highway, I (plus another terrified motorist) came within a whisker of running into this pooch. After making several shop stops, approximately three quarters of an hour later I returned to my car to find this same dog meandering about narrowly missing cars coming in and out. For his safety, I rounded him into my car and made for the nearest phone booth to contact the SPCA, the pound, or whatever.

There being no telephone directory there, I phoned the information line to get the local RCMP, whom I was hoping would give me a number to call. The police department I talked to was a Vancouver based division, which I'm told is routine now, when no one is available at the detachment.

They did give me a number of a kennel who had some years ago been authorized SPCA, but on calling them they said they no longer took in animals. They did give me the number of the animal hospital a short distance from the mall, but on that line was a recorded message that they were unavailable for the day.

At this point, I took comfort of the Gibsons Realty office and phoned my nephew, who I knew had just obtained an English Sheepdog puppy. This call proved very fruitful, and after some calls by my relatives, they phoned me back to say that the Magus Kennels were the people to call, and that Ronnie or Gordie Pollock would certainly tell me what to do.

They were in fact kind enough to take my frisky passenger until an owner made enquiry, although were not expected or authorized to do so.

It is, in my opinion, important that for the benefit of travellers vacationing through the Sunshine Coast, there should be an SPCA and/or pound that can be reached seven days a week through the telephone directory (or information). Also, if a receptionist was at the RCMP Detachment to take calls within the region, some problems might be attended to post-haste.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

"We were married April 10, 1935 in the West Vancouver United Church," said Molly Connor, "and Ed and I were glad to recollect our wedding day at the golden anniversary celebration our daughters organized for us this spring."

Daughters Gwen Edmonds and Joyce McLean were hosts for their parent's fiftieth wedding anniversary recently at Harmony Hall.

"My sister Jean, who was my bridesmaid, was able to get here from Rossland for the occasion," said Molly, "and Ed's best man, 50 years ago, Doug Davies, was here too."

BURSARY WINNERS

Nancy Swanstrom, awarded the Gibsons Lions' bursary at graduation from Elphinstone last year, expects to finish her legal secretary course at Cap College this coming August.

Jim Reed, a recipient of a Sechelt Teachers' Association bursary in 1984, has just completed the first year in U Vic's new college of engineering degree course.

Winner of the Roberts Creek Legion bursary last year at Elphinstone, Sherry Thomas has just completed first year arts at Cap College in North Vancouver. She plans to take her second year at Cap and then transfer to UBC to get her degree in social work.

Both Jim Reed and Sherry said they are continuing to hope for summer employment of some kind.

FORESTRY TOUR

The forest service has laid out a demonstration forest tour within easy driving distance of Wilson Creek.

For an informative couple of hours first get the leaflet telling about it and how to get there from the Sechelt office, Teredo Square, then find Field Road and follow the directions printed in the leaflet.

The leaflet states that the tour is an introduction to the principles of forest management.

The six sites, all within a short distance of one another, illustrate what is being done or has been done to renew our forest in Sechelt Forest District #4.

Site #5, the leaflet tells us, is a project of the Junior Forest Wardens who will plant exotic species there. Good luck to them as they crawl and clamber over the blackened tree trunks remaining from last year's clearing burn.

And, when you turn to come down to the highway, take in the panorama of trees and salt water below and the Trail Islands, shrunk to the size of tea cakes in the curving sweep of the bay.

CANADA DAY

Canada Day will be commemorated in Gibsons this year with a ceremony at Pioneer Park in the morning and fireworks in the evening, probably at Brothers Park.

The ceremony will include the official opening of the chamber of commerce's new tourist booth in Pioneer Park.

The chamber of commerce will sponsor the day's programs in which they hope all the youth groups will participate. The chamber invites clubs and groups to join with them to make Canada Day a special youth occasion this year.

A Canada quiz contest will be sponsored by the Coast News for readers of the paper. Look for contest rules and the first set of questions in next week's edition.

Gwen in Gibsons

Fashion galore

by Gwen Robertson, 886-3780

Andy's Restaurant was the scene last Wednesday evening for 140 well-turned-out guests who attended a sellout dinner and fashion show.

The first event of Gibsons Sea Cavalcade 1985 season was a fashion show created by the Queen's Pageant Committee, Pauline Haar, co-ordinator, with Marion Alsager, Shirley Cook, Eileen Poppel, Jean Rowledge, Margaret Smith and Jacqueline Wells.

The six contestants for 1985, Clea Boe, Miss Cedar's Plaza; Karen Boothroyd, Miss Gibsons Volunteer Fire Department; Claudie Fortin, Miss Royal Canadian Legion #109; Tammy Henderson, Miss Andy's Restaurant; Brigitte Marteddu, Miss Gibsons Building Supplies; and Cindy Skytte, Miss Sunnycrest Plaza, as a group are to me the most lovable I have yet seen.

They were showing the latest fashions in swimwear with complementary wraps; some very "in things" as well as practical, springtime, mostly cotton casual ensembles, concluding with some very attractive "special occasion" dresses.

All outfits including complementary accessories were provided by Pippy's in the Sunnycrest Mall in Gibsons.

This was the first appearance by the contestants in front of a panel of judges and the public when they gracefully displayed the garments they had selected to wear. The girls performed like professionals and behaved like ladies. Their parents and friends must, justifiably, be proud.

During intermission, door prizes were drawn by Gwen Robertson and were hand-delivered by the contestants wearing hand-knit sweaters from Cosy Corner Crafts.

Then, a good laugh was enjoyed over Ronnie Dunn's now famous portrayal of an ageing ballerina, "Nobody loves a fairy when she is 40". There was nothing ageing about Ronnie's performance (which I have seen twice before, but still chuckle over), nor of the modelling by the committee which followed.

The committee members first showed some very smart sportswear which could have come right off the fairway or "The Loveboat". Then, the comfy but crisp-looking walking suits with matching accessories were followed by lovely go-anywhere ensembles, which could have stepped right out of "Bazaar" and they finished, most suitably, with romantic late-evening wear.

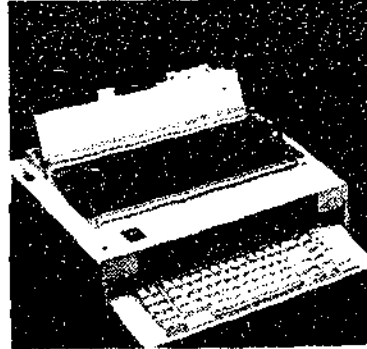

Except for one, a black and orchid print dress worn by Jackie, all of the clothes and ac-

Roberts Creek

St. Aidan's open

by Jeanie Parker, 886-3973

St. Aidan's Anglican Church is a pretty little church but unfortunately there isn't a big enough congregation in Roberts Creek to support it. It's only by the grace of the diocese that it remains open.

There are no longer regular services with a minister but the church will now be open from 2:30 to 3:30 Sunday afternoons for prayer and meditation. All members of the community are welcome to make use of this opportunity. The church will also be open the first Sunday of every month for Evensong and Holy Eucharist at 6:30 p.m.

FIFTIES FEVER

Get out those poodle skirts and saddle shoes! It's "Fifties Night" at the Roberts Creek Legion this Saturday, May 18, with "Slim Pickins". The last fifties dance was a great success so start practising your jiving and hula hooping. Members and guests only.

LAST CHANCE

This is the last week to order Diamond Jubilee tulips from the Roberts Creek Legion. The blood red bulbs being sold to commemorate the Royal Canadian Legion's sixtieth anniversary are only $2.50 for 10 (plus sales tax). Phone Pat or Jeanie Parker at 886-3973 by Saturday to order. Delivery will be made in the fall.

FAIRE HELP

The Roberts Creek Parents' Auxiliary's Fun Faire is Friday, May 31. If you didn't make it to the meeting last Wednesday, phone Barb Dickie at 885-3145 or sign up at the school to help. Mary Braun is accepting white elephants and donations for the service raffle at Seaview Market.

DVA VISIT

A representative of the Department of Veterans Affairs will be at the Sechelt Legion Wednesday, May 15, from 2 to 6 p.m., and at the Gibsons Legion Friday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon for veterans with problems and questions.

Phone Reverend Jim Whittles at 886-8038 if you can't go or need more information.

MEETINGS

Members of the Roberts Creek Legion Ladies' Auxiliary are reminded that their monthly meeting is tonight, May 13.

There's also a meeting of the Sunshine Coast Peace Committee May 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Roberts Creek elementary.

There's no Community Association meeting this week. The next one will be on June 19.

The next meeting to plan Roberts Creek Daze is May 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Hall.

WOBBLES FILM

The "Wobblies" rode the rods across Canada and the United States before, during, and after the First World War organizing lumber camps, farm workers, and textile workers when other unions wouldn't bother. Their story is told in a one and a half hour video of the "History of the International Workers of the World" being shown at the Unemployment Action Centre (top of the old firehall in lower Gibsons) this Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Power Squadron

The Sunshine Coast Power Squadron is again sponsoring a restricted radio operators' course. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Chatelech secondary school Wednesday, May 22.

The examination which will qualify the student for a licence will be held the following Thursday, May 30.

The Power Squadron would like to remind everyone that it is illegal to operate a VHF radio telephone unless the operator is the holder of such a licence.

There will be a nominal charge of $3, which covers both the course and the exam. Pre-registration is requested to Oskar Friesen at 885-3438.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Proposed Extension of Boundaries
Town of Gibsons

Take Notice that under section 22 of the Municipal Act the Council of the Town of Gibsons intends to request the Minister of Municipal Affairs for an extension of the area of the municipality to include the following described lands:

Block 6, D.L. 842, Plan 6755, and
Lots A, B and C, Block 3, D.L. 683, Plan 17550

And Further Take Notice That if a request of at least one-tenth in number of the electors of the municipality is received by the undersigned within 30 days of the last publication of this notice in a newspaper, the question of the extension of the area of the municipality to include the aforesaid lands will be submitted for the assent of the electors.

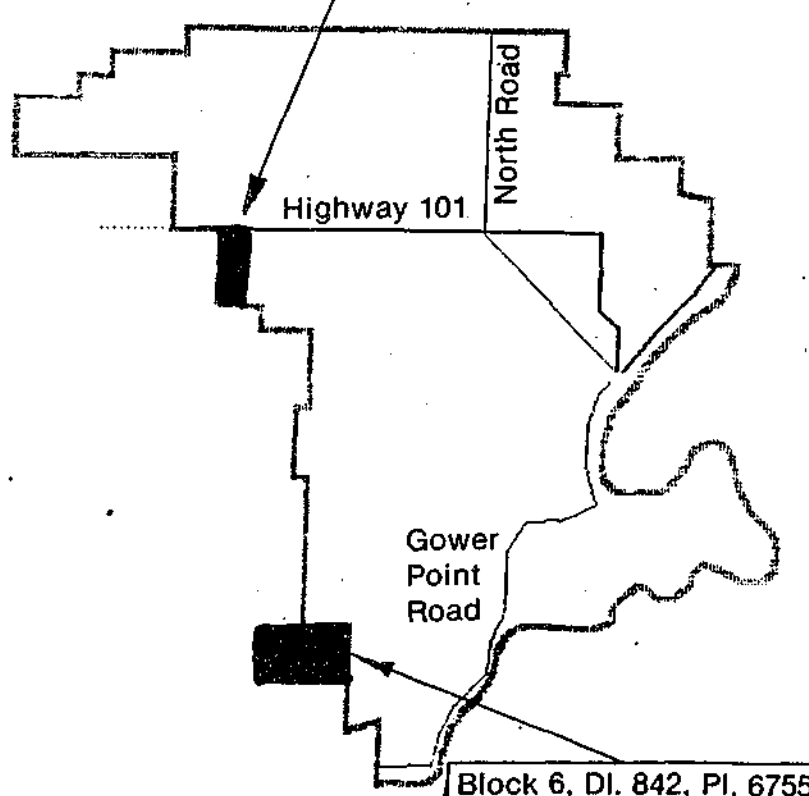

And Further Take Notice That any resident within the area herein described having objection to the proposed extension of the boundaries of the municipality should notify the Minister of Municipal Affairs, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. V8V 1X4, of his objections within 30 days of the last publication of this notice in a newspaper.

And that this is the second and last publication of this notice in a newspaper.

Sechelt celebrates

Timber Days festive weekend

The big event is almost here! The schedule of events is in the brochure available from merchants throughout the area. A few events to note are:

Totem Pole Raising: Sechelt elementary school grade six/seven class began carving this pole in October and are now ready to raise it in a special ceremony on Friday, May 17. You'll never have another opportunity to celebrate this achievement with the proud students and staff.

Diamond Jubilee Ball: If you enjoy dressing up "to do the town" and dancing to music from bygone days, you can relive those earlier times at the Legion's Ball on Friday, May 17. Long gowns, old uniforms and fashions of past years will all add to the fun - but are not required dress. Tickets in advance only from the Legion at $5 each. Music by Pegasus.

Merchant's Sidewalk Sale: Sales, savings and fun with Sechelt's merchants, all day Saturday.

Timber Days Dance: Triad will be rocking the Legion Hall Saturday, May 18. Tickets ($6 each) in advance only from Morgan's Men's Wear, Family Bulk Foods, the Moppet Shop and committee members. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Open Air Church Service: Begin your Sunday with the interdenominational service at Hackett Park.

Bed Races: This fun event goes just before the parade on Sunday. Applications are available from the chamber of commerce office.

Parade: Lots of special entries are joining this year's parade. Come and see the varied interpretations of "Our Heritage" 11 a.m. on Sunday, May 17. Applications are available at Morgan's Men's Wear, the chamber of commerce and village offices. Although applicants may enter on parade day, we'd prefer to hear from you earlier.

Entertainment: After the parade, the stage show begins at the park. Don't miss Kenny Shaw's return engagement or the Sunshine Coast's own "Showroom Dummies". Other local entertainers will be putting in appearances too.

Timber Teens: Sunday, the teens will be competing in various special events that coordinator Carrie Clark has been very secretive about; and don't miss the wind-up talent contest at 3 p.m. on Monday.

The teens are competing for prizes generously donated by local merchants as well as the title. You can help the teens by attending their events and by buying 50/50 tickets from the teen of your choice.

They get points for sales, Timber Days get support for its only fund raiser, and you could win 25 per cent of sales for first prize, 15 per cent for second or 10 per cent for third.

Lions' Helicopter Rides: The Lions and Airspan are again offering their popular bird's-eye view of the area, departing this year from the elementary school grounds.

For the Kids: In keeping with the theme, the Lions have rolled back prices for kid's games Sunday and Monday. Kids, your money will go twice as far at 1950's prices. There are also pony rides, face painting and games just for you. And don't forget the bike decorating contest before the parade.

Lions' Reno Night: Greenecourt Hall is the location this year on Saturday and Sunday nights.

Beater Race Challenge: Half-moon Bay Fire Department challenges all other fire departments on the Coast. Jerry Grunner says, however, that Halfmoon Bay is going to take it again this year. Are there any takers?

Call Warren at 885-3354 to get in on the fun. The race goes at 10 a.m., Monday at the Indian Band grounds.

Flea Market: Buyers and sellers, don't miss this one. Reserve your space by calling Mike at 885-3644. Cost is $5 and bring your own table. Begins 12 noon, Monday, May 20.

Logger Sports: Where are all the loggers? Applications are slow coming in. There are trophies and an image to uphold here guys! Are there any challenges from any of the camps? The events all go Monday afternoon.

Sunshine Coast Lions Club PRESENTS

Timber Days Weekend, May 19-20

For the Children - Old Time Prices (25 cents) for all games at the tennis courts, Hackett Park.
For the Adults - Casino Nights on Saturday and Sunday, 7:00 p.m., Green Court Hall.
For Everyone - Helicopter Rides at Sechelt Elementary, Sunday and Monday. Donated in part again this year by Airspan Helicopters and Jim O'Toole.
Come, join the fun for everyone.
All funds raised go to local charities on the Sunshine Coast.

J. BRADLEY HUNT

Cowrie Street, Sechelt 885-7606

In a ceremony to commemorate National Forestry Week, the Junior Forest Wardens, shown here being aided by Sechelt Mayor Kolibas, planted a young Grand fir (balsam) in Hackett Park last week. Also present for the ceremony were Tony Pike, president of the Junior Forest Wardens, Barrie Custance of the Sechelt Forest Service and Dick Herring of Canadian Forest Products. This is the first of what will become an annual event for the Junior Forest Wardens.

Sandy Hook annual meeting

by Jean Robinson, 885-2954

Sandy Hook Property Owners' Association will be holding their annual general meeting at St. Hilda's Church, Saturday, May 18, 1:30 p.m.

LIBRARY NEWS
The Wilson Creek library would like the local residents to look around their homes for overdue books. This is a small library and all the books are needed. Also memberships are due to renewal, so drop in Friday or Saturday and renew them.

There is a new book in the library by Betty Jane Wylie, called "Beginnings, a book for widows". It covers coping with grief, coping with money, changing your lifestyle, companionship and planning ahead. Recommended reading for all women who are suddenly left alone.

COMMUNITY ASSOC. MEETING
The Davis Bay/Wilson Creek Community Association meeting is on Monday, May 13, 7:30 p.m., at the Hall. Come and find out what the government expert on shoreline architecture said about our foreshore.

W.C. FIELDS
The W.C. Fielders' next game is on May 16, 7 p.m. at north Hackett Park. So far they have lost all their games but it wasn't for lack of trying or enthusiasm. They claim they are having fun and that is the whole idea guys.

DRESSING SOCIETY
The Sunshine Coast Dressing Society meets on May 23, 10 a.m. at the Hall. The good ladies who turn out once a month to make dressings for five people on our Coast, would like a big turnout. Enough ladies helping means enough dressings ahead, so they could take two months' holiday. How about it ladies!

THANKS
Stewart Hercus, principal of Davis Bay elementary says "thank you" to the people who made the spring fair such a big success.

RALLY RESULTS
The Car Rally and Scavenger Hunt was won by Ron Koch and wife, Debbie. Second in was Ian McConnell and Jay Van Diessen, third was Bruce Richardson and Janice Duncan.

Most of the entrants had such a good time, it looks like there may be more of these events. Thanks to Charlotte Renny who did a great job. The dance after was not all that well attended but everyone there enjoyed themselves and danced up a storm.

STUDIES PROJECT
On May 23 there is a Studies Project at the school. This project is an outgrowth of the annual science fair most schools hold yearly. It was found there were other areas besides science, of interest to some students, so they were allowed to create in those areas. We should trot on down and see what the "space age" children have produced.

Business Women meet at Chatelech

by Peggy Connor, 885-9347

B&F WOMEN AT CHATELECH

The Sunshine Coast Business and Professional Women will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, May 21, with a guest speaker. This will be held at Chatelech secondary school with the students doing the catering. The group holds its dinner meetings at different eating establishments each month and will pay the same to the school.

Installation of officers will take place. Call 885-9320 if you wish to attend. Visitors and new members are welcome.

MATURE STUDENT BURSARY

The Sunshine Coast Business and Professional Women provide two bursaries; one to a grade 12 student and the other to a mature student.

The requirements for a mature student are: they must be female, and they must have been out of school for one year; it is for vocational or academic courses for which they must be already registered. A resume including a letter telling of their plans and needs is required and will be kept confidential.

The closing date for this bursary is May 15, and the address is: Bursary Committee, Box 887, Sechelt, B.C. V0N 3A0.

The recent fashion show is one of the ways the club has of raising money so they may help someone with further schooling.

SECHELT BRANCH ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL

The meeting of the St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliary, Sechelt Branch was once again chaired by vice-president Maureen Moorby as president Muriel Hutchison is still indisposed. Held at St. Hilda's Church Hall on Thursday, May 9, earlier than usual, due to a funeral at the church.

Mary Bannerman reported that April saw 150 less hours of volunteer work than May, but there were 1288 hours by the Sechelt branch.

The hospital has approved the purchase of three benches by the Sechelt branch for the hospital grounds; they will be designed and fabricated by the Achievement Centre of finished cedar set on a concrete block. Mrs. Mardi Boucher will donate a large bench also for use on the grounds.

The auxiliary has been asked to take on the operation of the RN Loan cupboard; this is still under discussion; male members would be needed or younger women, as the equipment is heavy at times and some repairs will be needed.

Volunteer director Vivien Tepoorten spoke on in-service volunteers and the need for help particularly in hairdressing and physiotherapy; the latter has had their criteria rewritten for less strenuous work.

A junior volunteer chairperson is needed.

The auxiliary has been asked to contribute money to provide a sidewalk for wheelchairs and other walks to the village border.

The luncheon, for the public, is on for Thursday, May 30 at the Sechelt Indian Band Community Hall starting at 11 a.m. Convenor is Alice Oulet, aided by Peggy Gallo and they have things lined up pretty well; still, helpers are needed so don't hesitate to offer your services.

CHATELECH PARENTS' AUCTION

The Chatelech Parents' Service Auction was once again scheduled to be held; this time on May 4 along with their Garage Sale at the school.

The silent auction had to be cancelled as there were not enough people to warrant holding it, and they have some great items offered, so, next time, third time lucky? Plan to be there; it will be to your advantage.

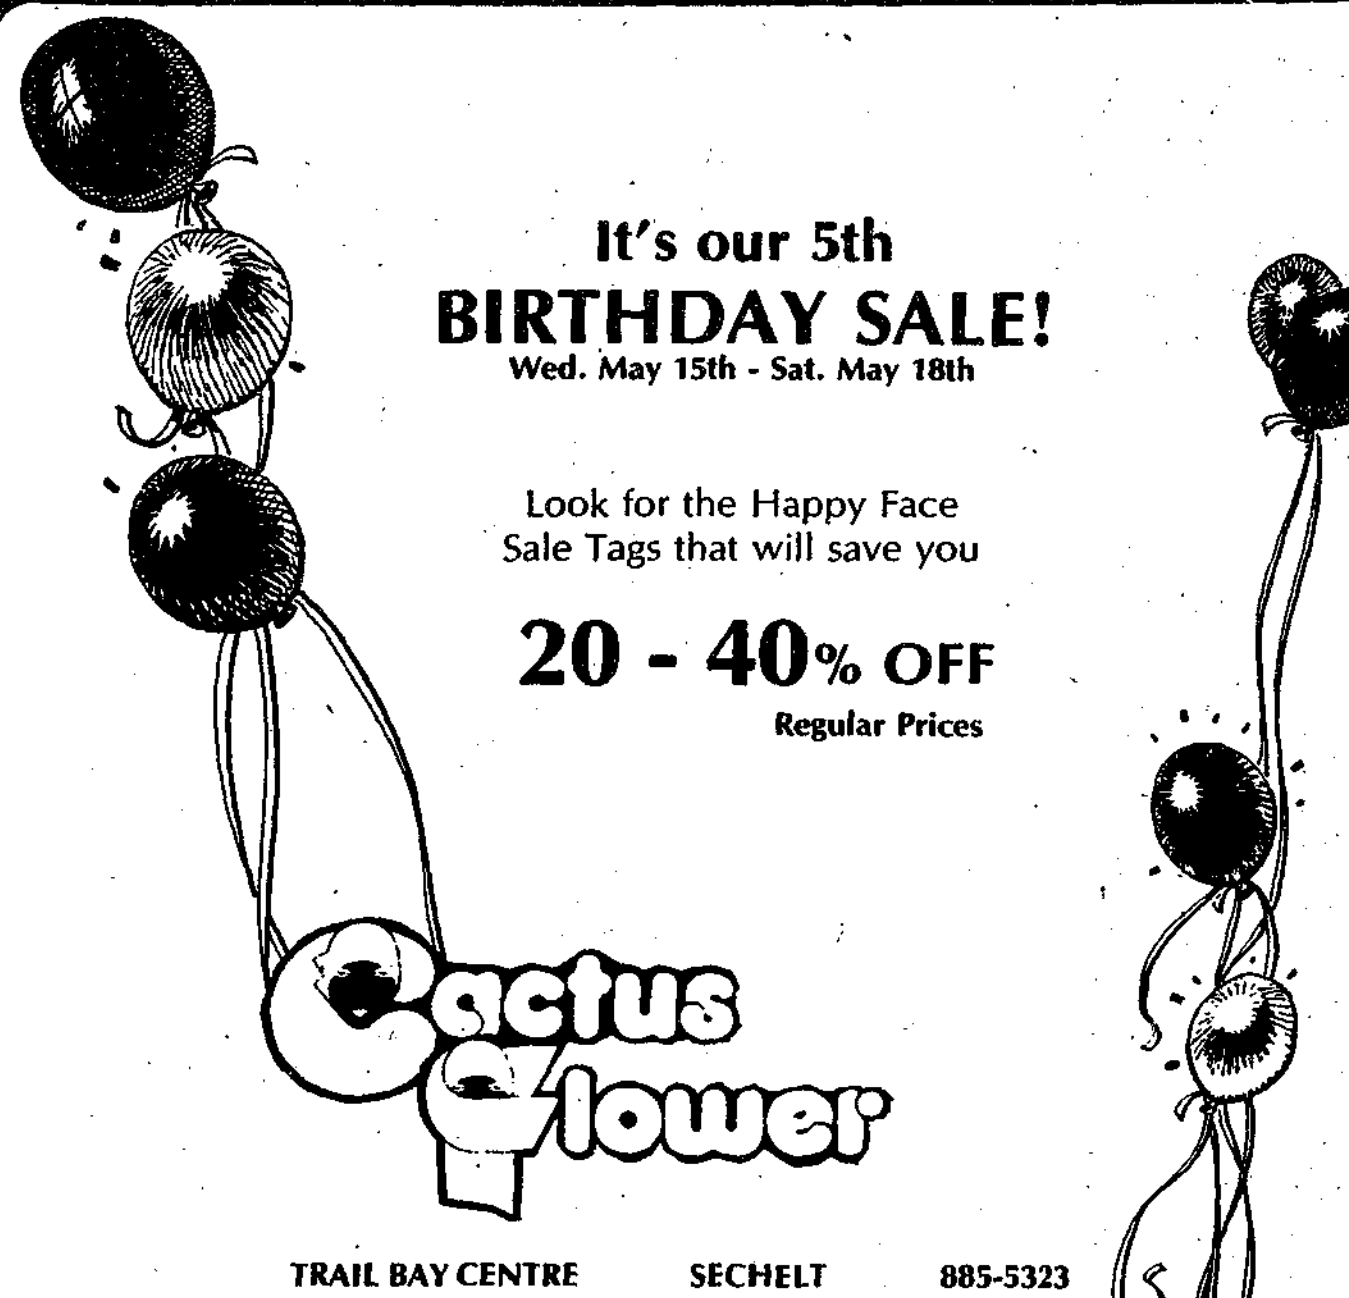

Some great things for sale at good prices at the garage sale but very disappointing turnout for the few parents who worked so hard to make it go.

They were unfortunate on it being one of the nicest Saturdays we have had so I guess a lot of people were in their gardens. Do watch for their rescheduled silent auction and garage sale, support the group who are striving to provide some extras for the students.

Sechelt Seniors

by Robert Foxall

May 7 was a big day in the life of the carpet bowling members and co-incidentally in the life of your reporter. It was the day of the year chosen to mark the end of the carpet bowling for the season and also your reporter's birthday and the members had acknowledged this fact by having a gorgeous birthday cake on hand for which I wish to give my heartfelt thanks. It was the nicest birthday I have ever had.

You have been previously advised of the trip to Expo slated for June 6; there's still time to phone Alice Oulette at 885-3978 to make a booking.

There will be a Strawberry Tea at our Hall on June 25. Be sure to mark this event on your calendars; it will be worthwhile.

Nothing new to report about the new hall but I have a feeling we are going to hear some good news very shortly. Everyone is alert, just waiting for the starter's gun.

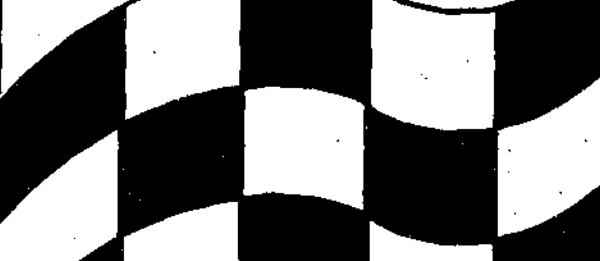

What I said above does not spell the end of carpet bowling. We will be carrying on under the guidance of experienced members. Watch for further announcements.

May Day festivities taking shape

by Joan Wilson, 883-9606

This year's May Day festivities are taking shape, and promise to be really great! Marg Gooldrup has worked very hard organizing the various events. Tickets for the adult dance are $10 at the Haystack and Col. Flounders. Knight Shift will be playing from 9 to 1, and you can enjoy a full smorgasbord.

Thursday, May 16, will be a special May Day bingo at the Community Hall, with special May Day prizes. Other treats in store are helium balloons, face painting, and a guess-the-weight-of-the-pig contest. Don't forget the Pancake Breakfast by the Lions. But where are our

Egmont News

by Ann Cook, 883-9167

Indian art done by the Egmont school children will be shown at the Sunshine Coast Arts Centre in Sechelt from May 16-26. Their art work looks good to me and I'm not saying that because they are our kids, but I have had moments when I thought all they could do is the graffiti the teacher makes them wipe off the walls.

Anyway if you are in Sechelt for shopping or to see a doctor, dentist, motor vehicle branch or to go to court, take a little side trip and visit the Arts Centre.

LOST

Here Jasper, here Jasper, Yes Jasper is in the "Lost" column this week. He can't be lost in Egmont as he knows downtown Egmont like the back of his paw.

JASPER

That leaves an accident, though we can't bear the thought; he's kidnapped, or he's stowed away on a boat or car. He's been know to hop into any car that has a door open.

If you know of anyone visiting in Egmont the first few days of May in a boat or vehicle, Wally Silvey would be happy to hear Jasper just went on a little trip with them.

Jasper is a small short haired dog, white with brown markings and a face similar to a wirehaired terrier.

He's husky built in the front end and small at the rear, with very short bowed legs. He struts and is too friendly of course.

Egmont has a lot of dogs but none like Jasper; he's a Jack Russell breed from Australia and used for routing out rodents. That explains why he's built so husky in the shoulders and you can tell by his strut he won't back down for any size of dog.

If you even think you have seen him please call 883-2264.

STORYTIME

The local economy is in such a space Bathgates have resorted to locking their customers in the store until...while browsing through the store a couple of tourists found themselves locked in! Using the telephone, which just happened to be working, they called their parents at the Backeddy to bring ransom money or whatever was needed to get them out.

Amid rescuers, embarrassed proprietors, and laughter they were let out to return to Calgary with a story on the B.C. economy.

REMINDERS

Saturday, May 18 is May Day in Madeira Park.

Timber Days in Sechelt is also this weekend, May 17, 18, 19, and 20.

Are you one of the few stragglers who hasn't paid Community Club dues?

runners? No one has registered with Andy at the Haystack for the Fun Run. Shirley, Fred, Debbie—you should be in this one!

April 27 turned out to be a very special evening for Brenda and Don Scoular. They set out for dinner with their children to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, but were treated instead to a party in their honour at the Community Hall. Brenda's co-workers at the IGA, together with Peter and Peggy, surprised Brenda with a dishwasher. Over 80 people came to wish the Scoulars a very happy anniversary.

GOLF CLUB

More help is needed to get those fairways ready for seeding. Club members are asked to turn out Saturday, Sunday or any long evening. It's great exercise and the results will be rewarding. Lil Abbott suggests taking a club and a couple of balls with you.

LEGION AUXILIARY

Betty Reyburn and Joyce Clay are back from a convention in Duncan, representing the Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch #112 Royal Canadian Legion. At their banquet, $3058.10 was raised for Steve Fonyo's fund, donated in the name of the Pacific Command. The Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary do much good work here in our community, and in the province.

BAZAAR

Once again, the Community Club Bazaar attracted an excellent turnout. Thanks to all who supported the event with sewing, baking, crafts or purchases. The tables were filled with beautiful knitted items, and delectable home baking. Tea was served by the Pender Harbour Guides, their first experience at waiting on tables. Many good prizes were won in the various draws. Next week I should have the names for you.

BARBEQUE TIME

These warm spring nights make us think of barbeques and lounging on the deck. Put your name in the draw at the IGA, and you might win a beautiful lounge or a Sunbeam gas barbeque.

DON'T FORGET

Computer night at Madeira Park elementary, May 14 at 7:30, everyone welcome. It's not a course, just an evening of educational fun for all, with students from both the elementary and PHSS showing us what they are learning.

Last chance for those yummy Girl Guide cookies! They only come out once a year, and time is running out. Give me a call if our girls haven't reached you yet.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Coast Guard appreciative

SMALL BOY GETS BIG HONOUR

Gordon Hall and Ken Moore of the Coast Guard made a special trip to Halfmoon Bay school last week to perform a very pleasant task. They presented a certificate and a letter of commendation to a smart little grade one pupil by the name of Shawn Wage for his quick thinking and action in an emergency.

Shawn, along with his friend heard cries for help from two men in a capsized boat in the cold waters of Halfmoon Bay, and without wasting any time the boys ran to the home of Jim Nygard who moors the rescue dinghy at his dock. Jim was therefore able to make a fast trip out in time to get the fellows quickly to shore and safety. Well done Shawn - the whole neighbourhood is rightly proud of you.

SPRING FUN FAIRE

While on the subject of the Halfmoon Bay school, there is great excitement and planning going on at present towards the annual Spring Faire to be held on Sunday, June 9. For the past few years this event has been held at the school grounds, but this year the location will be at Cooper's Green. There will be lots of fun for children and adults alike, and hopefully some funds will be raised for the school.

Something different this year will be what is called a "Services Auction". This is where you can help out by offering your skills or services for auction. You may be willing, for instance, to do some electrical or plumbing work, cut firewood, clean up a yard, wash windows, cut hair, or, if you have a store you could maybe donate some kind of product. Any ideas or items will be welcome and if you would care to offer your services the number to call is 885-5240 and ask for Janet. She will be delighted to hear from you.

Another item of good news from Halfmoon Bay is that Cynthia Wickwire will be representing the Halfmoon Bay Recreation Society as Queen candidate for Timber Days. Cynthia and her team will be busy canvassing for your support, so all you Halfmoon Bay folks should get behind her and help make it an exciting time for these young people.

AUXILIARY TEA

The tables were beautifully set and there were all sorts of lovely goodies all ready for an influx of local residents to share a pleasant afternoon tea with the ladies of the Halfmoon Bay branch of the hospital auxiliary last Saturday afternoon. It must have been a busy day for most people in the area and many of you had other things to do because there were not as many guests as had been hoped for. However, a very pleasant afternoon was had by all who attended and who helped, and a great big "thank you" to you all.

Alison Steele was the winner of an electric mixer in a raffle draw, and Evelyn Aldridge of Edmonton won the afghan which had been knitted by Marie Mahar. President Bertie Hull was particularly delighted at Evelyn's luck as she was a visiting cousin. The next auxiliary meeting scheduled for Monday, June 3, will be a luncheon as this will be the last meeting till fall. More information on this later.

Summer break does not mean that members sit down and relax for the rest of the summer - there is still much volunteer hospital work carried on throughout the summer too, but it is a break from meetings.

SHE WILL BE MISSED
Our heartfelt sympathy goes out at this time to Bill Dolmage and family on the loss of wife, mother and grandmother Mary Stewart Dolmage. Mary was, for many years, a willing and capable volunteer at the Sechelt library where she will be sadly missed. She also contributed much to the Halfmoon Bay Hospital Auxiliary during her years as a member of this community. It is hard to put into words how one feels about the loss of a friend, other than to say how very sorry and sad we feel.

WRITERS' FORGE

Members were treated to a most enjoyable and informative talk given by Donnie Patterson on the subject of what is, to most of us, a complete miracle of the times - the computer. In particular Donnie focussed on the word processing machine which was of particular interest to those present. She was bombarded with questions, all of which she was able to answer to our satisfaction. There is, of course, much to be learned and Donnie is more than willing to answer questions and to demonstrate the machines at her location in the Computer Centre next to Workwear World in Sechelt.

A NEW CUSTOMER CONVENIENCE

If you wish to place an ad in the Coast News there is now another convenient drop-off place right here in Sechelt at the Book Store on Cowrie. Number to call is 885-3930.

LOGO CONTEST

Just a reminder that May 25 is the deadline for the Country Fair of Halfmoon Bay logo contest. Hope that all you arty types are busy and will come up with something really neat. There will be a prize for the winner and your work of art will be reproduced on such articles as T-shirts, hats, etc. Entry forms are at Bulk Foods in Sechelt, Books & Stuff in the mall and Halfmoon Bay Store.

SCEDS chooses electronics project

The Sunshine Coast Employment Development Society (SCEDS) has unanimously approved an electronics manufacturing joint venture with local individuals as the project on which to produce a feasibility study and apply for up to 1.5 million dollars in federal funding under the LEAD Program.

Irene Lugsdin, chairperson of the Economic/Employment Strategy Committee emphasized that this choice does not rule out continued work on a local product marketing organization, a firewood operation, or a specialty sawmill.

Bonnie Pyplacz, project coordinator stated that "the electronics venture is an opportunity that will be lost if not initiated soon and has a good profit potential—profit that could ultimately be used to finance priorities two, three, and four."

Russell Crum, chairman of the Economic Development Commission and Jim Gurney, chairman of the Sunshine Coast Regional District also expressed approval of the choice.

Cannery opposed

Residential property owners in the Earls Cove/Egmont area are mounting a campaign to defeat a R3 by-law change that would allow a fish canning operation to be built adjacent to the ferry terminal on one side and their properties on the other.

Robert Dodson, who owns a lot and cabin three doors away from the proposed fish cannery site says he and his neighbours feel it should be built somewhere else.

The Area B by-law change, No. 96.95, which by redefining zoning definitions, would allow the fish cannery, will be addressed at the next SCRD meeting on May 23.

Gibsons liquor outlet sought

The Gibsons Committee of the Whole meeting, May 8, received Mr. Williams of Gibsons who addressed the committee on the question of a liquor outlet for lower Gibsons.

Williams had with him a petition signed by 450 people, including merchants, residents and visitors, asking for an LCB outlet in the harbour area.

"It would be for the convenience of boaters and local residents," said Williams. "What we would like is a letter from council in support of our petition that we could send off to the ministry of consumer and corporate affairs."

The location of the outlet is not a major concern; the LCB would have to approve any location. Merchants in lower Gibsons, according to Williams, have noticed a drop in traffic through their stores since the liquor outlet moved up the hill.

Alderman Norm Peterson voiced some misgivings about the proposal.

"In conversations I've had with residents in the bay area, many of them have shown themselves to be violently opposed to the idea," Alderman Peterson said. "And we must consider what the effect of having an outlet in the lower area will have on the mall. There is definitely a spin-off trade from liquor store customers. A move like this may eliminate some of their business."

"The outlet would benefit the lower village," continued Alderman Peterson, "but we are not council to only the lower village."

It was suggested by the committee that Williams forward his application to the ministry; in the process of review the application would be returned to the town for comment, which council would make at that time.

"It will become a political issue," Alderman Peterson pointed out, "everyone should be involved before a decision is made."

"We've spent $2.2 million to attract tourists," said Williams, "now we want to give them facilities."

Review of water agreement suggested

Gibsons will soon seek a reworking of its water agreement with the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD). This was decided at the Committee of the Whole meeting, May 8. Pumping and hydro costs have risen since the agreement was made some five years ago.

"We may find we've been short changing ourselves quite a bit, judging by my hydro bill," said Alderman John Burnside, who raised the question at the following May 9 SCRD meeting, where he acts as Gibsons representative on the board.

Other matters discussed at the Committee of the Whole meeting include a new Threatened Single Industry Town Association, Capilano College's new local economic renewal and development fund, and fencing at the dog pound.

An association for towns threatened with economic hardship should their single industry close down has been formed and Gibsons has been approached to join. The council was interested in the idea and decided to send a letter of support.

"The time to start planning alternate jobs is not the day the big one closes down," said Alderman Norm Peterson. "If the mill closes tomorrow a thousand people would probably leave town."

Capilano College has announced that an economic renewal and development fund has been formed; municipalities have been invited to collaborate with the college on projects which would put the resources of the college at the municipality's disposal.

The types of projects which might be considered include training, up-grading, curriculum development, work stimulation, entrepreneurial training. Council agreed 'that it was something to think about' and cited the success of Capilano College's aquaculture program.

Sherlock Holmes,

there are times when I need you. If there's one thing I love it's a mystery. I love to know what secrets people have in their lives. My ears verily, do buzz at even a hint of a rumour. When I receive my daily newspaper I turn immediately to the mystery columns. No! No! Not 'guess the government's latest gaff'! I turn to 'Companions', 'Personal', 'Information Wanted'. Ah sweet mystery of life!

Does, for instance, A Bloggs, relation of B. Bloggs, of Bloggsville ever write and find something to his benefit? And, if so, what?

Does "attr., w/1, 37, 5'7" and 125 lbs." ever meet "slim, spiritual, warm hearted, honest gent"?

Does this kind of reading ever speed up my heart rate! Imagine my delight when our dear Coast News began printing intriguing "Personals". Would, drooled I, Channa Dahling ever get her mangoes pickled by Little Chapatti? Why, I wondered, was Channa so chicken? And whatever were they all going to get up to at the Arts Centre!

Sometimes, Sherlock, I get along without you very well. This mystery I have solved. And so can you dear reader, if you take yourself to the Arts Centre on May 25, but don't forget to buy a ticket at the Hunter Gallery or Seaview Market or the Arts Centre or they won't let you in.

If you can't possibly wait that long read on. Mystery lovers shut your eyes. On that night the Arts Council is holding a benefit dinner. Can you imagine being waited on hand and foot, being served exotic East Indian food, not to mention having Punjabi dancers doing their thing just for you. Let me whet your appetite with

Carrot Pickle

½ lb. carrots, julienned
1 medium onion, diced
1 tablespoon chopped fresh ginger
2 tablespoons roasted ground corianders juice of ½ a lime
salt to taste

1 tablespoon fresh cilantro, chopped
1 tablespoon fresh parsley, chopped

Mix all ingredients, refrigerate for at least 2 hours to allow flavours to blend. Serve with curries.

To toast coriander place in a medium oven till colour changes.

If you haven't fresh cilantro try ½ teaspoon dried or just use 2 tablespoons parsley.

Imagine that served with Kishmish Murgh! And if that mystifies you go satisfy your appetite and help the arts in our community all in one go!

Church takes stand

The 544 delegates at the annual British Columbia Conference of the United Church voted to be a witnessing presence at Expo 86. Many members felt that non-participation would be a chance to show their churches' disapproval of such a mega-money project.

One of their main concerns was the certain future tax burden on B.C. residents. Dr. Ivan Cumming, executive secretary of B.C. Conference claimed the United Church should be there with a definite program pointing to the disastrous economic situation in our province.

The sixtieth annual B.C. Conference of the United Church was held May 2 to 6 at the Trinity Ecumenical Centre in Nanaimo. The Reverend Alex Reid, minister of West Howe Sound Pastoral Charge; Jessie Oliver retired diaconal minister and Dorothy Fraser presbytery representative for WHSPC were the delegates from the Sunshine Coast.

Conference themes "Evangelism: many voices - one word" was greatly emphasized by the visible concerns of the delegates. Subjects covered by discussion and motions were: the below poverty level of social assistance families; the large percentage of unemployment; the political, financial and human conditions of unemployment; the political, financial and human conditions of Third World areas; the treatment of our native populations; cut-backs of education funding in B.C. and the threat to world peace by the continuing insane arms build-up.

One hundred years of Marine Mission on the B.C. coast was highlighted by excellent programs of dance and related histories presented by Port Simpson natives depicting the coastal tribe's culture, the Bella Coola natives and the Kispixo tribes. Sunday evening 1000 delegates and friends were treated to a native feast barbecue meal which included salmon, oolichans, herring roe on kelp, smoked moosemeat and soap-berry ice cream.

The ordination service for five Vancouver School of Theology graduates was held at the Beban Park auditorium on Sunday afternoon with the theme sermon preached by the Reverend James A. McCullum of VST.

President of the 1986 B.C. Conference, the Reverend Hadden Gregory of Marpole, Vancouver was installed at Monday morning closing service.

Fashions galore

cessories worn by the committee came from Goddard's in Sunnycrest Mall, Gibsons.

There were numerous compliments on the evening and a general hum of good humour prevailed. The only criticism that I overheard was with respect to the sound system which could not be heard very well in the back of the restaurant.

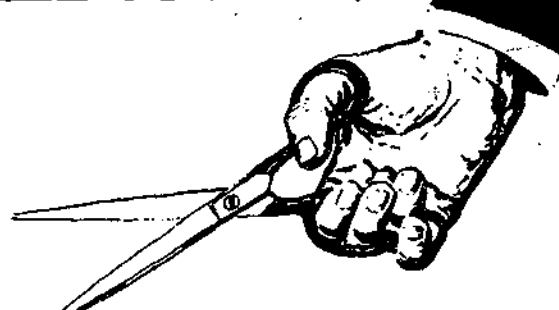

Rounding out an enjoyable evening of fine food and drink, tastefully presented by the staff at Andy's, was continuous and appropriate music by Steve White on his electric piano with Marion Alsager giving a very professional commentary throughout.

TALENT CONTEST

The Great Sunshine Coast Talent Contest, always a popular event during Sea Cavalcade, will be having its elimination shows at the Twilight Theatre beginning Victoria Day weekend. Will those wishing to participate, please call 886-9443 to register, giving your name, telephone number and talent category; song, solo or group; dance, solo or group; instrument, solo or group; or comedian or other. Each entrant will be expected to pay $2 or groups $6 registration fee. "OVER 60" RUN

Would anyone care to join me in an "Over 60" run or walk in a "Journey for Lives" on May 20, Victoria Day. The run would begin in lower Gibsons, out Gower Point Road, Pratt Road, highway down to home base. Sponsors for all or portion of the walk/run are most welcome.

Poster winner

The Timber Days Poster Contest attracted some well-done entries. The following are the winners in each category; there were no entries for grades 10-12.

Kindergarten to grade three: first prize-Jennifer Passmore (kindergarten); second prize-Rolf Harrison (grade one).

Grades four and five: first prize-Rebecca Matson (grade four); second prize-Gary Gray (grade five).

Grades six to eight: Cherie Cochet (grade eight); second prize-Jason Ball and Eric Trudel.

Overall prize winner who won a helicopter ride (with an adult) was Heather Passmore (grade two).

Youth exhibit

The annual "Young People's Exhibition" at the Arts Centre, Sechelt includes art work from schools from Langdale to Egmont, and will be displayed from May 16 to 26.

Thanks are due to all the teachers who collected, mounted and delivered the works to the Arts Centre, and congratulations to the students for their efforts.

In this time of cutbacks, the arts always seem to be the first to suffer, so it is good to be able to show the public that interest in the visual arts still tries to flourish in the schools.

Mixed bill at the Twilight Theatre

The much-awarded film study of the life of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart finishes its week-long run at the Twilight this Tuesday, May 14. Amadeus focuses on the rivalry between the upstart Mozart and the court composer Antonio Salieri.

Following the study of musical genius, the Twilight Theatre presents two very different films for the lovers of martial arts and modern music and for those who delight in mediaeval fantasy.

The martial arts film with an added bonus of the best of Motown music is The Last Dragon, which opens a three-day run on Wednesday, May 15, and runs through Friday, May 17. Taimak and Julius J. Carry III star in the Berry Gordy production of a young man who, though underestimated by friends, family and enemies alike, is revealed as a martial arts master in the Bruce Lee tradition.

Lovers of mediaeval fantasy will want to see the second offering of the week at the Twilight Theatre. Ladyhawke is a story of starcrossed lovers cursed by a jealous suitor in league with the powers of darkness to be eternally together and eternally apart.

By day the lady is a hawk, assuming human form only with the setting of the sun. Her Elphinstone Scottish Country Dancers gathered recently for a special evening. See adjacent story.

The Room

by Peter Trower

It occurred to Jeff Cowden, as he entered the rundown lobby of the Marble Towers Hotel, that the place was rather misleadingly named. It boasted no towers and there was no trace of marble in its fraying, woebegone decor. The rug was faded and worn. The ancient leather chairs creaked with age and the weight of several equally old men who sat staring glumly through the lobby window. On one wall was a large, incongruous and poorly-rendered painting of an English country garden.

The Marble Towers was simply a third-rate hotel on a third-rate street - six stories of small, shabby rooms, catering to a motley clientele of aging whores, unemployed loggers, smalltime grifters, burnt-out pensioners, boozers, losers and broken dreamers - the flotsam and jetsam parade.

Jeff Cowden was an encyclopedia salesman, severely down on his luck. In his younger days, he had enjoyed considerable success as a huckster and had won several sales awards. But time and a burgeoning alcohol problem had blunted his persuasive pitch and dampened his enthusiasm. Few people seemed interested in encyclopedias any more. They seemed content to read specialized magazines or simply watch television. Cowden hated television with an irrational passion. "It's ruined the goddamn business!" he was fond of saying.

Cowden was a small man in his early fifties with greying red hair and a boyish, tentative smile that had once been his greatest selling asset. He'd broken down many a housewife's defenses with that smile but there was a nervous edge to it now. The last couple of years had been particularly bad for Jeff Cowden. His sales had reached an all-time low and his drinking had escalated accordingly. A few months back, Mabel, his long-suffering wife, had packed her things and moved out for good. Cowden had given up the small apartment they had shared. What the hell was the point of keeping it. He had sold most of the furniture to finance a monumental booze-up.

Now, fresh from the detox centre where his bender had eventually landed him, Cowden stood at the desk of the Marble Towers Hotel, shaky but sober. He was suffering the pangs of profound remorse that always followed his binges. Cowden was also filled with a new and desperate resolve. He would hole up here for a couple of days and regain his bearings. Then, by God, he'd get back on the road and make some money. These positive thoughts served to bolster Cowden's whisky-shattered morale. Perhaps Mabel would even come back if he straightened his life out.

Buoyed by good intentions, Cowden tapped the bell to alert the desk clerk. "I'd like a room," he announced briskly.

The clerk, a balding young man with glasses, looked up disinterestedly from a skin mag and pulled a key from a pigeonhole. "324," he said in a flat voice. "That'll be $10 in advance."

Cowden took the rickety elevator to the third floor and inspected his new quarters. The room was virtually indistinguishable from dozens of others he had stayed in over the year. It boasted an old-fashioned brass bedstead with a sagging mattress, a straight-backed chair and a cigarette-scarred chest of drawers with a cracked mirror. A single window looked out on a narrow alley where a bag lady was rooting through a garbage bin. Cowden nodded to himself. It was about par for the course. He hadn't been expecting a suite at the Ritz and at least the room seemed reasonably clean.

For some reason, the window was wide open and a chilly fall breeze rustled the cheap curtains. Cowden closed the window and lay down on the bed to contemplate his uncertain future. His nerves were still raw and jangled from weeks of drinking but Cowden was determined to stay away from the sauce. Before long, he drifted off to sleep. And the nightmare engulfed him.

Cowden had had bad dreams before but this one was in a class by itself. It began simply enough. Cowden dreamed that he woke up. At first he appeared to be in the same room but there were differences - subtle, insidious differences. For one thing, he was lying on a couch instead of a bed. There was a low table in one corner and in place of the dresser was a door, slightly ajar. From beyond the door came whispering sounds as though two people were conversing in low voices. Cowden could not make out the words but the sounds were indescribably sinister.

Cowden was conscious of only one thing - he must close that door at all costs and bar the entry of who or whatever lurked on the other side. He attempted to rise from the couch but something seemed to be preventing him. Cowden turned his head and saw to his absolute horror, a dead white hand gripping his arm. The disembodied member projected impossibly from the back of the couch like a loathsome grub. Try as he would, Cowden could not break its clammy grip. He tried to scream but no sound came. The malevolent whispering sounds grew louder. The door began to inch open.

There was only one possible escape from the horror. By a sheer effort of will, Cowden wrenched himself awake. He lay there sweat-soaked and panting. The room was dark but at least it was the right room. There was only one thing wrong. The window he had carefully closed was wide open again.

Scottish dancing vital

by Ron Biggs

The sound of the pipes, the swaying of kilts, the truly Scottish flavour to the dancing—all the colour and ceremony that goes to make up Scottish Country dancing were evident on April 27 when the Elphinstone Scottish Country Dancers held their first dancing workshop in the United Church Hall.

The instructor for this occasion was George Will, a former member of the demonstration team from the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society, Vancouver Branch. Expert instruction with regard to the intricate patterns of dances such as "The Weaver's Daughter-in-Law", "The Danelaw Reel" and "The Flitting" were provided by George to the delight of all concerned.

The "Weaver's Daughter-in-Law" is a country dance that represents the bobbins or spindles on a loom weaving a Highland tartan, and while dancing the patterns, one can visualize this happening.

Following the workshop sessions, there was a potluck supper held in the evening after which, a dance program of 15 Scottish country dances were danced by all 32 participants.

Prior to the evening dance programs starting, a presentation was made to George Will on behalf of the Elphinstone Scottish Country Dancers in appreciation of his assistance and good humour in teaching us the dances.

At this time he was most enthusiastic in his comments regarding the group, and said that in our one short year of existence, we have become an enthusiastic, well-disciplined group and will go far in maintaining the traditions and concepts of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society.

The dancers will be starting in September with a beginners class on Friday night at the United Church Hall in Gibsons at 8 p.m. and an advanced class in Sechelt on Monday night. (Time and place to be announced later.)

All those interested in learning or improving their Scottish country dancing skills are urged to attend either of the classes. Singles are most welcome and young people are indeed welcome to join us. For further information phone Don or Nancy Cadenhead 885-7028; Ron or Steph 886-2366.

The Prairies Boys' Sailing Club, or Neil's Navy, sailed into Gibsons aboard six boats Saturday on their eleventh such annual trip. This is their first time in Gibsons, but their second in the Desolation Sound area. Here "Commodore" Peter Neil presents the "Outstanding Sailors Racing in Dangerous Waters" trophy to Harry Luster of Calgary who won a 26 mile race from Reid Island to Herriett Bay on Quadra Island. Neil said the sailors, all from Calgary, were most impressed with the new marina; "Pacific Quest Charters on Granville Island told us about it," said Neil. "It's going to make a big difference to Gibsons."

Major alterations and improvements to the course are still in full swing. Tom Milsted, Roy Taylor and their volunteer crews are rapidly nearing completion on the extended No. 1 tee and Tommy is planning a one day "barn raising" picnic to erect the new power cart storage shed. Time and details will be announced within the week.

On Sunday, April 28, 78 golfers teed off playing in the annual President vs Vice-President Tournament. The President's team (of which I was a member) won handily and thoroughly enjoyed a delicious luncheon paid for by the losing team. The low net individual winner of the tournament was Doug Elson with a spectacular net 59.

The ladies' "Eighteeners" played a Stableford Tournament on Tuesday, May 7 with the following results. First flight winner was Phyl Hendy with Connie Grant as runner-up. Second flight winner - Vera Munroe and in second place -Isobel Rendleman. Third flight leader was Sheila Smith with Judy Malnarick runner-up.

The ladies' "Niners" play ended with the following results. First low net score was turned in by Gladys Warner with Elinor Knight second. Lee Redman took the low putts honours, and Ellen Brock won the pin round.

Thirty-two played an alternate shot, teams of two, game on Monday evening Mixed Twilight golf. It was a perfect Sunshine Coast spring evening enjoyed by all participants. "Come on down!"

Men's Twilight on Wednesday, May 8 had 26 golfers turn out with the following results. Low gross (35) - Wolf Reiche, low net (27½) - Dave Nestman, second low net (31½) - Paul Smith, second low gross (36) -Russ MacLeod.

Golf was followed by a "bring your own steak" barbecue cookout. It was an enjoyable evening but no thanks are due to the Men's Twilight Committee which, in my opinion, failed miserably in its organizational mandate, and I urge them to pull up their socks as quickly as possible!

Power Squadron changes watch

by Harry Lomax, PRO

The Sunshine Coast Power Squadron held its annual Change of Watch Banquet on Saturday, May 11 at the Sunshine Coast Golf and Country Club. The retiring commander, Oskar Friesen, presented various awards to some 15 of the members. In his retirement speech he expressed his appreciation for the co-operation and assistance of the squadron's members and the support of his retiring Bridge.

The officiating officer, Past District Commander Wally Kiss, together with his wife Eleanor, attended as guests of the Squadron and conducted the impressive installation ceremonies for the incoming Bridge.

In his acceptance speech the new commander, Burt Hobbs, thanked the members for their confidence and gave a brief outline of plans for the coming year. Officers for the coming years consist of commander, Burt Hobbs; executive officer, Owen Hooper; secretary, Pamela Earle and treasurer, Roger Scheel. The appointed officers include David Fyles, Annelies Richter, Kjell Gartie, Don Hadden, Detlev Stiegler, Tom Meredith, John Csiky and Harry Lomax.

The Sunshine Coast Power Squadron is responsible for conducting the very popular basic boating courses every fall. Announcements for these will be made later in the summer.

How to get a "secret" monthly income while minimizing your taxes:

Many professional advisors have not latched on to the "secret" income that is available through investment funds. Why it is a "secret" we don't know—it has been proclaimed and used for over 50 years in Canada. It's called a Monthly Withdrawal Plan. Here is what the past has shown: A person who had $100,000 in Templeton Growth Fund on January 1, 1964 and started a 1% per month withdrawal of $1,000, (12% per year) would have received $252,000.00 in monthly payments by December 31, 1984. (Mortgages were paying only 7% in 1961).

However, instead of having just the original $100,000 left, the value remaining in the fund is now $865,896.35. Furthermore, that $252,000.00 "income" would bear about one quarter or less tax liability than an equivalent income earned from interest or annuities.

With that $865,896.35 which is left you could withdraw 1% per month ($8,568.00 monthly or $102,816.00 annually) to keep pace with inflation. How's that for "having your cake and eating it too"?

Elphi Rec.	1	0	2
G.B.S.	1	1	2
Bluenosers	1	1	2
Gilligans	1	1	2
Weldwood	0	1	0

On Monday, May 6 the Bluenosers gave up an early 6-1 lead and eventually lost 12-6. B. Grandage got the win in relief of Ken Hincks. G. Bernach suffered the loss. Homeruns by Lovell and Hincks.

On Tuesday, May 7 the Elphi Recs won over G.B.S. by a score of 3-1. Dave Lamb had 2 hits including a homer to lead G.B.S. The homer was the only run given up by winning pitcher Alex Skytte. Ken Bland had two hits for the old boys, including a home run. The ball game was error free. The losing pitcher was R. Boychuk.

On Wednesday, May 8 the Bluenosers won over Weldwood by a score of 8-4. The Bluenosers took an early lead. Kelly Bodnarak 3-4 at the plate lead the offence. Weldwood's errors added to the score.

On Thursday, May 9 G.B.S. won over the Gilligans 2-1. Gilligans took a 1-0 lead and made it stand up until there was one out in the bottom of the seventh. Milt Wilhelms hit a single, Dave Neuman flew out to right advancing Wilhelms to second. Kerry Bjornson lined a two strike double to right centre to tie the game.

Bjornson went to third on an infield hit by Peter Hautala and scored the winning run on a wild pitch.

Sunday, May 19 and Monday May 20 the League Tournament first game starts at 9 a.m. (both days).

Sunday at 9 a.m. G.B.S vs Bluenosers to start the Round Robin format. Come out and enjoy some good fastball action.

It was the ladies' turn at salmon fishing, May 10, 11 and 12, and the "Sea Hags" made a day of it on the Moon Fleet, skippered by Herb Craig. Here they display one of their fish as they relax after a hard day's fishing. Said one of the "Sea Hags", "The organizers did a wonderful job - it's been thoroughly enjoyable." Proceeds from the derby go to St. Mary's Hospital.

Salmon sharks ride ferry

"The salmon sharks were getting a little bored—just hanging around Richmond Mall and B.C. Place—with hundreds of people staring at them. So we decided to give them a change of pace, and a little ocean voyage. That's why we put the 400 gallon aquarium on the ferry this morning," said Art McGinnis, treasurer of the Sunshine Coast Tourism Association.

McGinnis and his crew arranged with B.C. Ferry Corporation earlier this spring to put the tank and a promotion for the Coast on the Langdale run. The tank was hoisted on with a large crane, and McGinnis said there was a lot of good natured kidding along with a lot of co-operation from the B.C. Ferry crew.

The display will be on the ferry until Sunday, May 19. Manager of the tourism association Anne Langdon said volunteers are needed to man the display. "We are asking anyone with some community interest to spend a morning, afternoon or evening riding the ferry with our display. Our Salmon Shark Derby tickets will be for sale, and it is important that everyone riding the ferry buys a ticket."

The association's main promotion—the Salmon Shark Derby—will be held May 18 and 19, and entrants can win up to $20,000 in prizes. Five salmon sharks will be tagged and released somewhere in Howe Sound this week, then it's up to the fishermen. If you catch a tagged shark you get $1,000. If you haul in the largest one on the weekend you also stand to win $1,000. Tickets are available at many locations on the Coast or from the tourism office, 885-7575.

Crime of the week

On Friday evening, December 9, 1983, a middle-aged woman was tending shop at Todd's Dry Goods in the Sunnycrest Mall, Gibsons.

At about 10 after five, a male entered the store and went immediately to the teller's counter. He reached over the counter and opened a drawer. He grabbed a bundle containing six to seven hundred dollars in cash and approximately $1,000 in redeemed lottery tickets.

He then turned and ran directly at the shop keeper and forcibly knocked her to the ground with a single blow.

The thief then ran out of the shop, through the main mall area and out the south exit doors towards Highway 101. He turned right past the store fronts and was last seen running around the Bank of Commerce into the parking lot near Super Valu.

The suspect was described as a 30-year old white male, slim, five feet, nine inches tall, weighing 160 pounds with dark to black hair, moustache and two inch beard. At the time of the robbery he was reportedly wearing a dark blue toque, a blue plaid, cloth bush shirt and jeans.

Someone knows something about this crime and we want to hear from you! If you have information about this crime or any other crime call Crime Stoppers (at 886-TIPS). You do not have to give your name and the calls are not traced.

The Crime of the Week is aired on Channel 10, Monday to Friday at 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. and Wednesday and Thursday at 7 and 8 p.m.

Police of the week

GIBSONS RCMP

Police are requesting the assistance of the general public in relation to the following items:

Witnesses are sought to a hit and run incident which occurred in the underground parking lot of Gramma's Pub during the night of May 3; any information regarding several thefts of logs in the Woolridge Island and Howe Sound area would be welcomed; information leading to the arrest of the suspects responsible for the theft of $800 worth of logging tools from a camp located in the Crest Logging Road area in Port Mellon, the theft was reported to police on May 5; any witnesses to the vandalism done to a 1969 red Camaro parked on Ocean Beach Esplanade on the second and the third of May; it is believed that vandals lifted the hood of the car, stole the air filter and left the nuts loose. When the owner drove the car later, major damage was done to the vehicle as a result.

On May 6, an 18 foot jet boat valued at $35,000 was reported stolen from Hyak Marina in Gibsons.

Two men are in police custody following an attempt to steal a boat leased by the CBC from Johnny Smith for use in the filming of the Beachcombers series. Police received report of the attempt and attended the scene at 11:30 p.m. the two men, who are from Vancouver, are facing charges of theft over $200.

A Sechelt man has been charged with sexual assault following police investigation into incidents of assault involving the same victim from 1974 to 1983.

Constable Worrall attended the Rainbow Preschool in Roberts Creek on May 9 and gave a lecture on bicycle safety to a rapt audience of three and four year old students. Constable Worrall will be replacing Constable Leatherdale as the co-ordinator of crime prevention programs.

A reminder to boaters that the RCMP will be making routine boat inspections on the water and that the Canadian Shipping Act and the Fisheries Act regulations will be enforced.

The Gibsons RCMP, with the assistance of an investigator from the Force's headquarters in Vancouver, are presently conducting an investigation into allegations of student sexual abuse by a school teacher who formerly taught at the Gibsons Alternate School and Langdale elementary school.

The allegations being investigated surfaced after Ashcroft school principal, Robert Noyes, was charged with two counts of sexual assault at Ashcroft on April 28, 1985. The investigation is ongoing, and no further information will be released until the investigation is completed.

SECHULT RCMP

The Open Market was reported broken into on May 4 and several cases of fruits and vegetables were stolen.

On May 6, European Motors was broken into. Entry into the garage was gained through a small window. Thieves pried open the cash register but it was empty.

The D & D Gulf station reported a break-in on May 9. A safe containing a large quantity of cash was stolen from the premises.

Cheese and chocolate bars were stolen from a cooler located at the back of the Good Food Store in Sechelt. The theft was reported on May 9.

Vandalism was reported on May 5 from Skookum Auto. Three Skodas were scratched with a sharp object by vandals.

Letters to the Editor

Sparacino states his case

Editor:

It is unfortunate that Ms Linda Fox has misconstrued my "conclusions" in my letter to the PM. Had she been more observant of the consistency of my views on the issue of war and peace, she may have dismissed her negative interpretation as inappropriate.

With the background established, the "one may conclude, philosophically", that the inherent barbarism of the human animal is, apparently, irradicable and, as such, better destroy itself - as the essence of my statement - could have been just as easily construed as a protest note born of desperation; as a way of emphasizing the destructive course being pursued; an effort to kindle a sense of awareness in the seriousness of the direction being undertaken as state policy.

Surely, no one in his right mind would actually propose such a drastic solution, especially those dedicated to the cause of peace. I, for one, being surrounded by loving children and grandchildren, can only wish to see them thrive in a happy, harmonious society of rational human beings.

Frankly, Ms Fox, as a sincere supporter of peace on this "tortured planet" (not plant-misprint), you could have interpreted my concluding statement in a way consonant with the spirit of solidarity...needed as never before.

Joseph Sparacino
Gibsons, B.C.

Dire warning

Editor's Note: A copy of this letter, sent to 20 different world leaders, was received for publication.

If peace on earth is to be established it requires a universal commitment.

Knights of old lifted their visor to look their adversary in the eye and to show that their right arm held no weapon.

Today's governments must do likewise. If all nations of the world would show good faith by committing at least three quarters of their present armaments budgets to a common monetary fund they could assure each other of a true desire for peace and their inability to wage war.

Such a fund could be used to reforest, dig wells, develop desalination plants and a thousand other projects for man's survival and enhancement.

Together with a program for population control we could see a complete about face in man's affairs.

In the United Nations we have the established body to implement such a program. In Canada we have the prime advocate. Surely this time is now!

Sentimental search

Editor:

I am trying to locate a golden oak dining room suite for sentimental reasons. It belonged to my parents and was in Mrs. McAlpine's house at Granthams. She sold the house and contents to Mr. Herbert Win; he moved to Kamloops and sold the house and contents to whom I don't know.

It was a golden oak suite round pedestal table with leaves, five chairs, one arm chair, and side board with mirror at back.

I would be most grateful if you would help me locate the suite.

Annual inspection of Cadets on May 25

by Cadet Marcroft

On May 3 to 5 the Sunshine Coast Army Cadets had a weekend exercise at Porpoise Bay campsite. The Cadets had a fun filled weekend of rappelling, canoeing, patrolling, map and compass work and leadership.

Seven Cadets took an emergency first aid test. All seven passed and will receive badges. A special thanks to former Sunshine Coast Army Cadet, Officer Cadet A. Brooks from Royal Rhodes and Mr. J. Madoc-Jones for their help and instructions in rappelling.

In April six senior Cadets, went to Nanaimo for testing on Gold Star course. All six of our Cadets passed with distinction. Two of our Cadets, Warrant Officer Tomasi and Sergeant McDermott ranked in the top 12 for the Pacific Region thereby earning a trip to Hawaii.

May 25, 1985 at 1400 hours (2 p.m.) the seventh annual inspection of the Sunshine Coast Army Cadets will be held at the Secheft Legion Hall. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Lugsdin gets education post

Ricki Moss of Continuing Education, School District #46, has announced the appointment of Irene Lugsdin as a program development co-ordinator for a 10 week period commencing May 6 continuing until July 13.

The position has been developed as a result of a conference titled "Rethinking Politics/Recreating Community", held February 14 to 16 in Vancouver. The conference was well attended by local resource people from Continuing Education, Sunshine Coast Community Services Society, Economic Development Commission, Employment Development Society and the Economic/Employment Strategy Committee.

Ms Lugsdin, in her new position will develop, organize and co-ordinate a community conference on June 14 and 15 in Sechelt. This conference will outline results produced by the Strategy Committee as well as fostering and facilitating broad-based community involvement in the implementation process of the Strategy Committee's work. Other local economic/employment initiatives of business, labour and community sectors on the Coast will also be included.

As well as working on the development of the conference, Ms Lugsdin will outline, develop and implement, where possible, future vocationally oriented training and broad-based adult education needs that may arise from the conference proceedings and the strategy.

The main purpose of the conference is to encourage all members of the community to become actively involved in implementing the economic/employment strategy committee's work, states Ms Lugsdin. It will also assist in developing vocational training required for the future jobs which will be created in this community.

With guidance from an advisory committee, Ms Lugsdin will provide information to the public concerning the community development process and enlist broad-based community involvement in that process. A process to develop and organize a group action plan for the continuation of the process of community development will also be initiated.

Ms Lugsdin states that community groups often have great ideas or energy but do not have the structure or direction required to follow through and successfully complete project ideas.

The advisory committee working with Ms Lugsdin is composed of Ricki Moss (chair and supervisor), Joan Cowderoy, Maureen Corbin, Val Silver, and Bonnie Pyplacz; the committee will meet with Ms Lugsdin every two weeks. This committee represents and has interests in a wide array of vocational, social, economic and employment groups.

Any enquiries should be directed to Ms Irene Lugsdin, Continuing Education, School District #46, Box 1897, Gibsons, or call 886-8841 or 885-2261.

Aquaculturalists unite

Locals on Stock Exchange

On opening day of trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, May 10, Pacific Aquafood shares closed at $2.50 after fluctuating between $2.10 and $2.25, according to Bob Miller, of Yorkton Securities Inc., brokers for the company.

Pacific Aquafoods is a conglomeration of four different companies, Tidal Rush Marine Farms of Nelson Island and Hothan, Sound, Aquafoods Limited, Sunshine Coast Diving, and Deluxe Seafood. The four companies encompass many different aspects of the aquaculture business, including raising of salmon, trout and oysters, processing operations and marketing.

The company is Canadian and president Brad Hope, in a conversation with the Coast

News recently, said: "I believe we have to make a strong effort to keep it Canadian. If it's not done here in Canada it doesn't mean there's not going to be massive amounts of fish coming into North America from Scotland and Norway. We can capture part of that market."

Miller believes that Pacific Aquafood can, with its leading edge of experience in both practical and research aspects of the industry, "be a lot of use to a lot of people". He went on to say that, in his opinion, the merger of the companies was a "very upright deal, with a lot of integrity involved."

Director of Research, June Hope, in a conversation with the Coast News, said that "a Chinese trade delegation had visited Tidal Rush early in May; their primary interest is in aquaculture technology, and they are very interested in the industry on the B.C. coast which shares many characteristics with the Chinese coast."

Both Brad and June Hope are very happy with the direction their business has taken although it means that most of their time is now spent away from Tidal Rush.

"It's very exciting, and still a bit unreal," said Mrs. Hope.
