At Gibsons Council

Management review close

by Penny Fuller

Gibsons Council has agreed to meet with George B. Cluff and Associates Ltd. to further discuss the possibility of that firm conducting a review of the town's administration and staff. At last week's Committee of the Whole meeting, Clerk-Administrator Lorraine Goddard told council she had obtained rough cost estimates from two other firms.

From the figures, which Goddard explained were speculative as both firms wanted more information, it appeared that Cluff would have no trouble underbidding any other proposals.

His firm is currently doing a similar study for the District of Sechelt, and would be prepared to do Gibsons at the same time for $10,000. Other firms were quoting as high as $25,000.

The decision to conduct a management review was made public during the recent controversy over the firing of Public Works Superintendent Skip Reeves. However, Alderman John Reynolds stated at last week's meeting, that plans had been in the works for a long time to have such a study done.

Although he admitted he was "blown away" by the costs when they came in, Reynolds said, "I think it's necessary to evaluate how we relate to the staff, etc. After this is completed, I would like to set up an ongoing system of checks and balances."

Alderman Lilian Kunstler explained, "We started out as a small community and adopted ways of doing things as needs arose. Some are outdated. We need to be updated and see if there are better and cheaper ways to run the town."

Council members have taken the Cluff proposal and will review the terms of reference with an eye to amending or adding to the scope of the study.

Currently, the terms of reference in Cluff's proposal include: a review of the recent history leading up to the present situation; to determine those factors which suggested that some improvement was required; a review of council's understanding of its legislative obligations, council members' roles and the decision-making process; the organizational structure of staffing and an indication of what future changes may be required.

Forestry Committee recommends

Control on logging

by Jeremy Frith

The Forestry Advisory Committee (FAC) recommended at its meeting last week, that a proposal for increased government control over logging practices on private land be addressed by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at its conference in Penticton next month.

In considering the recommendation, the FAC discussed petitions from several BC municipalities concerning the need for regional districts and municipalities to have a greater say in the logging practices on private lands in their respective areas.

Some existing control mechanisms do exist, Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) Planning Assistant Sean Reid told the committee, but there was general agreement among FAC members that control of logging on private land should be strengthened.

Lower density buffer zones had been created around the edges of the provincial forest and the agricultural land reserve to minimize population impact on these areas, Reid said, and there are also some enforceable controls on logging in environmentally sensitive areas of private lands around watersheds.

Watersheds are a particular concern for all municipalities because of the need for safe fresh water, Economic Development Officer Bill Moore said.

All watershed areas are now classified from "one to four" in importance and special forestry and logging practices must be followed within them, Sunshine Coast Forestry Service Operations Manager Barrie Custance said. But he also pointed out many local forestry offices have been closed and consolidated into regional offices.

"Local expertise has been lost because local forest rangers are no longer there to monitor the situation closely," he said.

FAC member Dave Bakewell said he felt agricultural and subdivision development clearing operations are far more destructive than logging practices.

"We have to know what we are talking about in saying private lands," he said. "Some of our best managed forest lands are private."

The committee said the proposed increased control should be in the hands of local governments.

The FAC recommended it encourage long term forestry management plans for private lands to try and avoid the "cut and run" and subdivision practices often seen on small and medium sized parcels of private land.

There was also some concern the proposed provincial tax on standing timber could encourage even more widespread clear cutting on private land.

After the meeting, Reid told the Coast News there are more than ample existing subdivisions on the Coast currently undeveloped because of lack of public demand. To clear cut and subdivide more areas especially at this time would be unnecessary and irresponsible he maintained.

Privatization for Gibsons P.O.?

Canada Post has notified Gibsons Council of its plans to invite bids from retail outlets in the Gibsons area to provide postal service. The move is referred to as part of a national program to increase service, but council members are skeptical.

The information was received at last week's Committee of the Whole meeting. Mayor Diane Strom said she was concerned about the future of the Gibsons post office. "I have a few questions," she stated.

Alderman John Reynolds echoed her sentiments and suggested council send a strong letter requesting information on any planned changes for the existing post office. Gibsons Council has already written to Canada Post but has never received an answer.

Changes to Chapman Falls are deplored

by Jeremy Frith

"We have just lost the supreme beauty spot of the Sunshine Coast, and it's comparable to the slashing of the Mona Lisa", said Forestry Advisory Committee member Tony Greenfield at last week's meeting.

Greenfield was referring to the continuing degradation of Chapman Falls over the past two years, particularly around the water intakes for the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) water supply system.

Two years ago there was extensive logging south of the intakes, he said and more recently work has been done by the SCRD on its new water line. The work and the resulting access road parallel to the creek near the old lower water intake have irreparably degraded this prime beauty spot, he said.

In response, Area E Director Jim Gurney admitted, "the SCRD has done a lot of work at the new intake site which has made a major impact. We had to go higher to get sufficient height (for water volume and pressure) and security from debris."

In past years, the old intake has been threatened by debris washdowns and if the intake were closed the Sechelt area would be without water, Gurney said.

Gurney also said the work had been done at considerably more expense than originally anticipated due to factors such as soil instability. However he agreed with Greenfield that the site should be restored as much as possible with a clean-up and planting of seedlings.

FAC members agreed the area is primarily a source of public water supply and is too valuable and dangerous a site for access by the public to be encouraged.

Forestry funds for Sechelt

A community forestry project, sponsored by the District of Sechelt, has received $152,180 from the provincial government under the new $5 million community forestry program, Forest Minister Dave Parker and Mackenzie MLA Harold Long announced on August 21.

Under the cost-shared program, the province pays up to 75 per cent of each project's cost while the local government must raise at least 25 per cent of the funds, Parker said.

Sechelt Mayor Tom Meredith welcomed the announcement and said Sechelt is contributing $68,497 towards the program.

Long said the village will space trees on 160 hectares, and brush and prune on 90 hectares of Crown land.

Parker said the province-wide program, aimed at improving the value and growth of immature forests on Crown or municipal lands, should create 750 short-term jobs across the province.

Comment

Are voters so simple-minded?

It would seem the simplest thing about British Columbian voters is their minds, or so it would appear if the political ploys of Premier Bill Vander Zalm are to be believed.

First of all he tours an up-for-grabs Cariboo riding handing out fistfuls of money and yet he does not believe we think he is buying votes.

Then his generosity in this corner of the province is accompanied by sounds of harping directed towards Ottawa for its lack of spending cuts but we, of course, are not expected to see the discrepancies in these political stances.

Now Vander Zalm is charging that the media is largely to blame for all the dilemmas facing elected officials today.

The troubles heaped on Forestry Minister Dave Parker, for example, are apparently caused by the media taking his "AIDS is a self-inflicted wound" remark out of context.

If the voters of this province are as simple-minded as the premier apparently believes them to be no doubt he will be well pleased with the results of the voting in the upcoming by-election in the Cariboo and in the forth coming provincial election.

On the other hand, it may be that we have reached the bottom of the well of political cynicism and the voters in BC are ready to give the premier and others something of a surprise. It is to be hoped.

Murphy's wedding: A restructuring parable

We have a very interesting American friend living in Bermuda by the name of Michael Murphy who originates from the wrong side of the tracks in Paterson, New Jersey, of German and Irish ancestry and who stands at least six feet six inches tall.

He likes to tell of his days as a football hero for Notre Dame University although how he is a lawyer with a very reputable company and is slowly going to fat.

Murphy had been living a number of years in Bermuda where he specializes in international insurance taxation or something to that effect, when he decided to get married. He had met the girl he wanted while on one of his frequent business trips to Washington, DC., where he is in the habit of joining other lobbying groups inside the Capitol Building.

The future Mrs. Murphy was a Texan named Lucy who was a researcher for National Geographic Magazine and who was living a quiet, single life in Washington surrounded by good books and interesting friends. She came from a good family in Dallas and was once a runner up in a Miss Texas pageant.

Lucy liked Murphy well enough (nobody, not even his mother ever called Murphy anything but that and few realize he even has a first name), and she went to Bermuda on several occasions to check the place out.

But when Murphy decided to marry Lucy, she hadn't really said yes to his proposal, if, indeed, he had even proposed at that point, so she wasn't quite ready for what happened next. And she has never really quite forgiven him for carrying on the way he did either.

What Murphy did was arrange Lucy's and his wedding without her knowing anything about it. She was still working in Washington, thinking about him perhaps, she won't say, while Murphy was in Bermuda renting halls, arranging food, inviting guests, lining up a minister and even buying Lucy a dress and trousseau. It was going to be one, big fancy wedding, Murphy said, that nobody in Bermuda was ever going to forget. Nobody has.

When Lucy arrived from Washington on the afternoon of her planned wedding, not even the smile on Murphy's face when he met her at the airport was hint enough something was in the air. It was not until she was driven to the fancy reception room of the Hamilton Princess Hotel that she began to suspect what was really going on, and when she walked in and the hired musicians struck up, "Here Come's the Bride," she was horrified. She demanded to be taken back to the airport and Murphy was left with a huge bill for his troubles and egg on his face.

As the ongoing restructuring saga unfolds here on the Coast, it's difficult not to parallel Murphy's domineering attempts to woo Lucy to the altar with Gibsons' plans for Areas E and F. Because of the obvious delicateness of the restructuring issue, there should have been showers and engagement soirees or, at the very least, a few evenings of consultation between the parties involved before any 'marriage' was contemplated.

This is not to say Gibsons had any ulterior motives for the brashness of its moves or even if now recognizes the fact that it has acted in a presumptuous manner. Certainly the good members of the Restructuring Advisory Committee seemed rather taken aback at the passion of the opposition to their ideas.

But like Lucy, opponents to this marriage called restructuring are not at all impressed at the time and effort put into the arrangements thus far. Like Lucy, they want to call at least some of the shots.

A year after the Bermudian wedding that never was, Murphy and Lucy were quietly married in a small, family gathering in Dallas, Texas. The bride looked radiant and the couple went on to be very happy together.

Humming-Bird

I CAN imagine, in some other world
Primeval-dumb, far back
In that most awful stillness, that only gasped and hummed,
Humming-birds raced down the avenues.

Before anything had a soul,
While life was a heave of Matter, half inanimate,
This little bit chipped off in brilliance
And went whizzing through the slow, vast, succulent stems.

I believe there were no flowers then,
In the world where the humming-bird flashed ahead of creation.
I believe he pierced the slow vegetable veins with his long beak.

Probably he was big
As mosses, and little lizards, they say, were once big.
Probably he was a jabbing, terrifying monster.

We look at him through the wrong end of the long telescope of Time,
Luckily for us.

In a nutshell

Cucuracha reflections

by S. Nutter

A good test of the sense of humour is to find that you are sharing accommodations with a colony of cucuracha (cockroaches). I use the Spanish term because of the social stigma everywhere attached to this misfortune. In Germany they are called the Russian roach and in Russia the German...and so on.

This is possibly a bit snotty of us. Cockroaches have been around for 250 million years, we for perhaps one. In British Columbia, to close the focus down a bit, they have been around at least as long as we have.

In 1903 a travelling US scientist wrote: 'Cockroaches thrive in BC. On this trip I had them served to me in three ways - live in strawberries, a la carte with fried fish and baked in bisquet'.

In a common sequence of events, they will stay out of sight while a new renter inspects the place (their place) and gets in his furniture. It is not until he commits himself to a night's sleep that they will emerge.

Then, should he turn on his light at four or five in the morning, there may be six to 70 of them out promenading his walls. He, should he be a normal bloke, will likely spring out of bed, with perhaps a strangled cry, and apply a slipper or what's handy. Most of course will vanish.

Speed of reaction and escape has played a major part in their survival. They have a special nerve fibre, better than anything we have, and messages go from the antennae to the engine room in less than .005 of a second. How about that?

They have, in addition, something we know little about: an extraordinary communication system which some perhaps fanciful observers have said seems to plug in to our thought waves. On an occasion when I was involved in the above scenario, I had cleared the tribe from the place, but remained on the qui vive.

Every so often mature young adventurers would come out on a reconnaissance. Once I caught one of these stomping boldly across a bare wall. I fixed him with a book and he stopped. I approached to about a foot and stood very still; and we held this pose, not a twitch between us, for maybe 30 seconds.

Then I said in low tone: Fe Fi Fo Fum, and his legs trembled and he fell off the wall. This was of course hardly a 'controlled experiment' and there seems not much of that to have been going on, though it's said they are used increasingly in laboratories. They produce new generations fast (procreation is far the most of what they do), and they are not covered by the cruelty to animals act.

Who knows? The cockroach communication system (CCS) might prove as interesting to us as counting the rings around Neptune.

You may find them anywhere, in the newest and poshest of condominiums (they come in shopping bags building managers will maintain); but an odd thing is that they hardly appear at all in literature.

There is, somewhere, a poem to a roach, I dimly remember; but generally speaking interiors which must have been fair teeming with them have been exhaustively described without a mention. It's as if somewhere along the way people just gave up and decided to ignore them.

A notable exception is Don Marquis' Archy and Mehitabel in which the hero, Archy, is himself a cockroach, and, in fact, is held to have written most of the book. (He typed by jumping on single keys from the top of the machine. Writing, he said, was painful.)

But Marquis was a columnist from a livelier time. His paper, the New York Sun, had eight daily columns on one page, most of them arguing with each other. In that milieu you can see him believing that even a cockroach could have his own point of view.

Letters to the Editor

Restructuring is a political issue

Editor:

Reaction to proposed restructuring in the district is high, feelings are running strong and the sooner an official plebiscite is held, the better it will be for all who live on the lower Sunshine Coast.

At a recent public information meeting, called by the Restructuring Advisory Committee (RAC), many residents of the area attended to listen to what they hoped would be a fair and impartial report from the committee. Much of the RAC presentation was a glossy picture of how it perceived the proposed new district municipality.

When objections or questions about misinformation or facts that had been left out of the RAC presentation were brought forward, there appeared to be an arrogant, defensive position taken by several members of the committee.

The audience was made up of over 100 residents of the area, some from within the town and some from Areas E and F. There was a good cross section of people, many of them long time residents who have genuine concerns about the areas they live in.

Certainly people are frightened by the thought of inheriting the current town administration who, without a mandate from their constituents of the town of Gibsons or areas E and F, have plunged forward on some whim that restructuring will cure all the problems because of some pot of gold that allegedly awaits them in the form of the Port Mellon Pulp Mill tax base.

It has been mentioned in the media that there was political involvement at the meeting. I suggest there is much political involvement among the RAC and its supporters. Yes, restructuring is a political issue. Politics are a way of life at civic, provincial and federal level and no one should have to apologize for that.

It's time to understand that the majority of residents on the Sunshine Coast do not want a developer oriented style of government. Electorate representation with the opportunity for community plans and input for controlled growth is what is wanted and has been attained over the years.

A restructuring committee whose chairperson has only lived in the area for four years will not tell the electorate what is good for them - they will decide at the polls.

I will not be surprised if no inside/outside vote is allowed or if the voting date is moved to some time other than early October because, yes, there is political involvement.

In my view deceptive and inaccurate reporting by one Jim McDowell has pitted politician against politician, resident against resident and has created an atmosphere of confrontation in many aspects of our community. It's a sad way to try to sell a newspaper in a small town.

McDowell's account of the confrontation between D'Arcy Burk and myself is in my recollection an example of such an inaccuracy. Many people witness the incident and can support the fact that Burk became hysterical when I asked him to remain at the meeting so people could ask him questions regarding restructuring. I suppose I can take atonement in that Burk has removed himself from all committees he stood on.

Never did the chairman of the RAC offer me the courtesy of a phone call to inquire about the incident. I'm grateful to Terry Rhodes and Don Bland for their contact over the incident.

Hopefully this unfortunate exercise of trying to restructure will be behind us soon so energy can be put back into building a democratic community where common sense and community spirit can once again prevail.

Gambier grateful

Editor:

A word of thanks to Jeremy Frith for his excellent coverage of the Fall Faire held at the General Store on Gambier Island last weekend. The article and pictures were very representative of the crafts people involved.

It was very gratifying to see the support from our neighbours on the Sunshine Coast and elsewhere who came over for the day to join in the fun. A big thanks is due to the fine crew of The Dogwood Princess for their patience and co-operation in getting people on and off the island.

In addition to the sale of crafts, a pie tasting contest added to the fun. Pies were judged on appearance, pastry and taste.

The winners, all from Gambier Harbour, were Pat Burton in first place for her pumpkin pie; second place went to Betty Reynolds for her apple pie and third place to Bernadette MacGregor for her blackberry pie.

The pies were used for the pot luck dinner held later in the day.

Proceeds from the dinner, beer garden and book sales amounted to $1,118.90. These monies are being put toward a much needed community centre and park facility for Gambier Island.

The Fall Faire was a huge success and the day would not have been made possible without the hard work of Joe and Carol Karmel, proprietors of the store, and their helpers!

Hughes praised

Editor:

Thank you Howe Sound Pulp & Paper employees for the retirement party held for me on Sunday, August 20 at the Pebbles Restaurant and for the gifts so kindly given.

I would perhaps have preferred as the poet said, to fold my tent like the Arabs and silently steal way; but the retirement party gave me a chance to express something I carried in my heart for a long time.

One man usually sets the stage for great things and the man who saved our pulp mill from oblivion was Bill Hughes. He cleaned up the nearby brown waters around Port Mellon, risked his career to recommend the rebuilding of the mill and while in Prince George as Vice President of Canfor Pulp, never forgot us but continued to work and plan for our jobs and the mill's environmental improvement.

I have spoken to many of my fellow employees both past and present and they all agree no matter what government officials choose to call the new industrial park at Port Mellon, it will always be known by us as the W.I. Hughes Industrial Park in honour of the man who created the area's diadem - the new Howe Sound Pulp & Paper Mill which I must now sadly leave.

Erosion feared

Editor's note: The following was received for publication.

Sunshine Coast
Regional District
Dear Sir,

As owner of Lot 10, Block 02, N.W. District Lot DL1325, Plan 07892, I am writing to inform you of my concern for erosion on the sea-front of my and my neighbour's property.

Early on the morning of Wednesday, August 16, I heard machinery working on the foreshore in front of my property. Large rocks were being removed and transported to Reception Point.

This work went on from early morning to late afternoon. On investigation I found out that the material was used to protect the property at Reception Point and has indeed been placed for this purpose.

As my and my neighbour's properties have been left more exposed to wave-action, rocks of equal size and volume must under Fisheries and Crown Land supervision be replaced forthwith without costs or legal liability to us.

I would appreciate immediate attention to this matter.

Franz Erber

Looking back at the festival

by George Cooper 886-8520

The art of lampooning is carried to boisterous extremes by Double Exposure, a radio team whose program opened the Seventh Annual Festival of the Written Arts August 10.

Some of their material was a light froth of wisecracks, yet in the main it was acidic enough to cut into the veneer of public figures. The duo has an instinctively deadly aim for the idosyncracies of the public figures they target.

Besides mocking take-offs of Premier Vander Zalm and our glorious Queen, Robertson had an apt one-liner for Harcourt, the NDP leader, "an ad on two legs for Nyquil." They've a flair for the topical indeed.

Protesting that they too are writers like the others at the conference, Robertson said, "We have found our niche in the literary world." "Yes," muttered a little old lady sitting nearby, "A niche to write."

Do public figures ever see this irreverence as a delightful kind of recognition, we wonder, and do they silently applaud.

Noted: Robertson, the male, declaimed in the question time that women seem to be shut out of the upper echelons of corporate and political life and they shouldn't be. He then shut out his partner, Cullen the woman, and did most of the talking in response to questions.

One good point, Robertson is an Englishman.

Can anyone tell me, by the way, where to find the program listings of CBC Radio?

To the speaker before his talk, I said, "You've been a couple of years with Greenpeace, Mr. Hunter?"

"That's Bob, I'm Don."

"Oh." He whispered to me he was always apprehensive before an audience. But his readings from his Spinner's Inlet were delightful. Now he's on a year's leave from the Province to write a novel.

After Hunter's presentation, Sidney Cole, author of Spud's Dream, exhorted Hunter privately to abandon typewriter and acquire a word processor.

"But he wouldn't listen," said Cole. "Claimed the typewriter was all he needed. He doesn't know what he is missing."

Does the machine make the writing better?

Joe Garner, outstanding story-teller, is his own publisher and travelling salesman. "Fill the motor home with my books and visit out of the way places to sell them."

What's your sales pitch? "Haven't one. Just tell the shop owner they're good books and if no one buys he can return them in good condition. Not many come back to me."

In his most recent, a record of real people, Garner has known he found out about many ways folk spell their names. "Did you know there are four ways to spell Tom?

Although she read in a monotone with no regard for punctuation, her compassion for the persons she had written about touched the hearts of the audience. In her book Jim: A Life With AIDS, June Callwood gives us an understanding of the abhorrence of it those around him showed.

And in another book she wrote the account of friends gathering round one who is soon to die, to bring her comfort and ease of mind. A story of caring.

In giving this care, Callwood said in answer to a question, that there can be no thought at all of euthanasia.

In telling us how to write narrative by showing us his own example, Pierre Berton, a very unassuming gentleman, held us enthralled. Let the schools put his narrative histories of Canada into their libraries and their textbook cupboards.

PIONEER PASSES

Lionel Singlehurst was 95 when he died on August 14. He had resided here on the Sunshine Coast since 1939 with his wife Tillie and in his later years, at age 75, he began painting the pictures of ships that he had sailed on in his youth. Paintings that his family will now cherish as a memorial to him.

WORKING IN JAPAN

Elizabeth Taylor has been visiting her mother and stepfather, Linda and Jakob Klausen, before she returns to her teaching position in Japan.

There Elizabeth works as an assistant to a japanese teacher in a private preschool. She has been there a year and is now returning for another year in the preschool.

"There are some private adult lessons in English that I do as well," Elizabeth said. "The school is in Osaka but I live in Kobe."

Elizabeth attended Elphinstone, completing her Grade 11 in 1977. Following Grade 12 graduation in Aurora, Ontario, she took part in a Canada World Youth exchange program in which she spent some months in Sri Lanka.

Since then she has lived and worked in Calgary and Vancouver and has taken a year of study in Langara College. Elizabeth plans to attend university in BC. Her goal, is to earn a degree in psychology and in the special needs of young children.

Major funding for Howe Sound Pulp

A tour of the Howe Sound Pulp and Paper (HSPP) mill last Wednesday and, lunch at Mariners' Restaurant in Gibsons were all part of the wooing of 13 bankers from some of Japan's major international banks who have agreed to lend the Port Mellon project $600 million in order to complete the construction of the new mill.

HSPP President Bill Hughes told the Coast News these banks had "by far the best offer for a long term interest rate."

The new HSPP mill, owned jointly by Canfor and Oji Paper of Japan, is expected to cost $1 billion by the time it is completed.

So far, $250 million of the $300 million invested by Oji has been spent.

Local wins Trivia

Thirteen-year old Kristen Horvath of Gibsons was the winner last week in The Province Trivial Pursuit Contest, winning for himself a portable colour t.v. and the latest edition of the Trivial Pursuit Game.

Horvath entered the contest after reading an advertisement for it in The Province three days before the contest's closing date. Realizing he was "reasonably good at Trivial Pursuit," he decided the contest was worth a try.

The Elphinstone Secondary School student was the only person to answer all the Trivial Pursuit contest questions correctly.

He had to "diligently research the answers to four of the questions," Horvath said, but the other 20 were "easy".

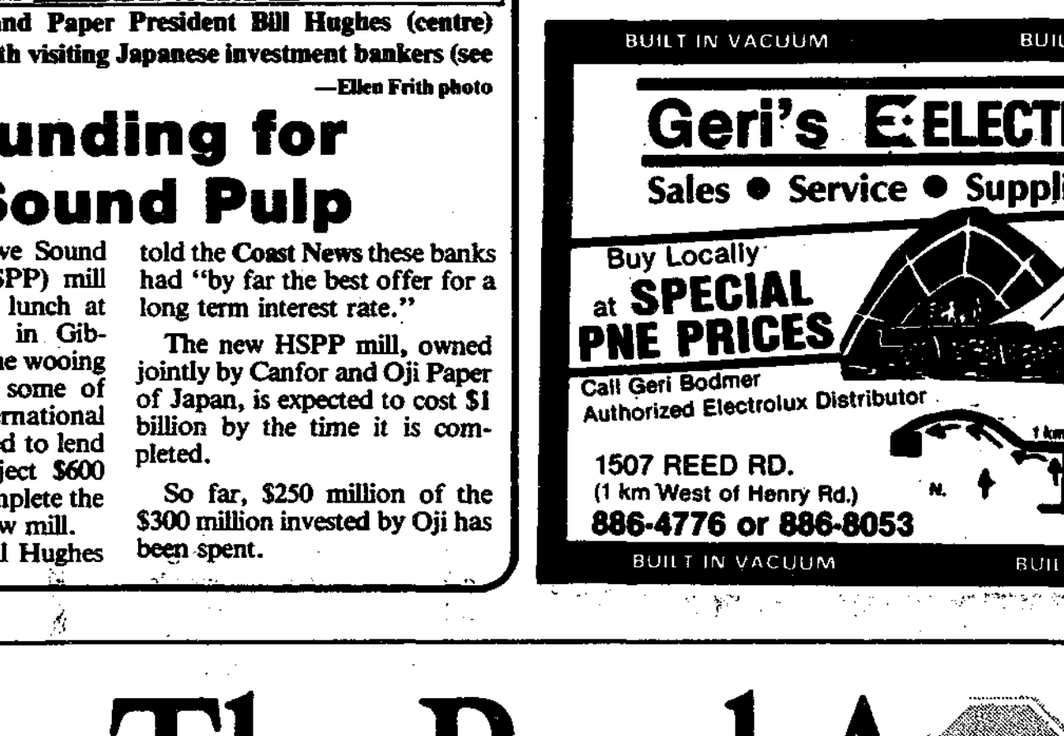
On The Road Again



RAY HANSEN and HAROLD LONG, MLA

British Columbians need to travel... on business and for recreation. That's why we're investing $565 million this year on highway improvements all across the province. More than 10,000 highway workers will be out this summer putting in new roads and bridges... upgrading and resurfacing others.

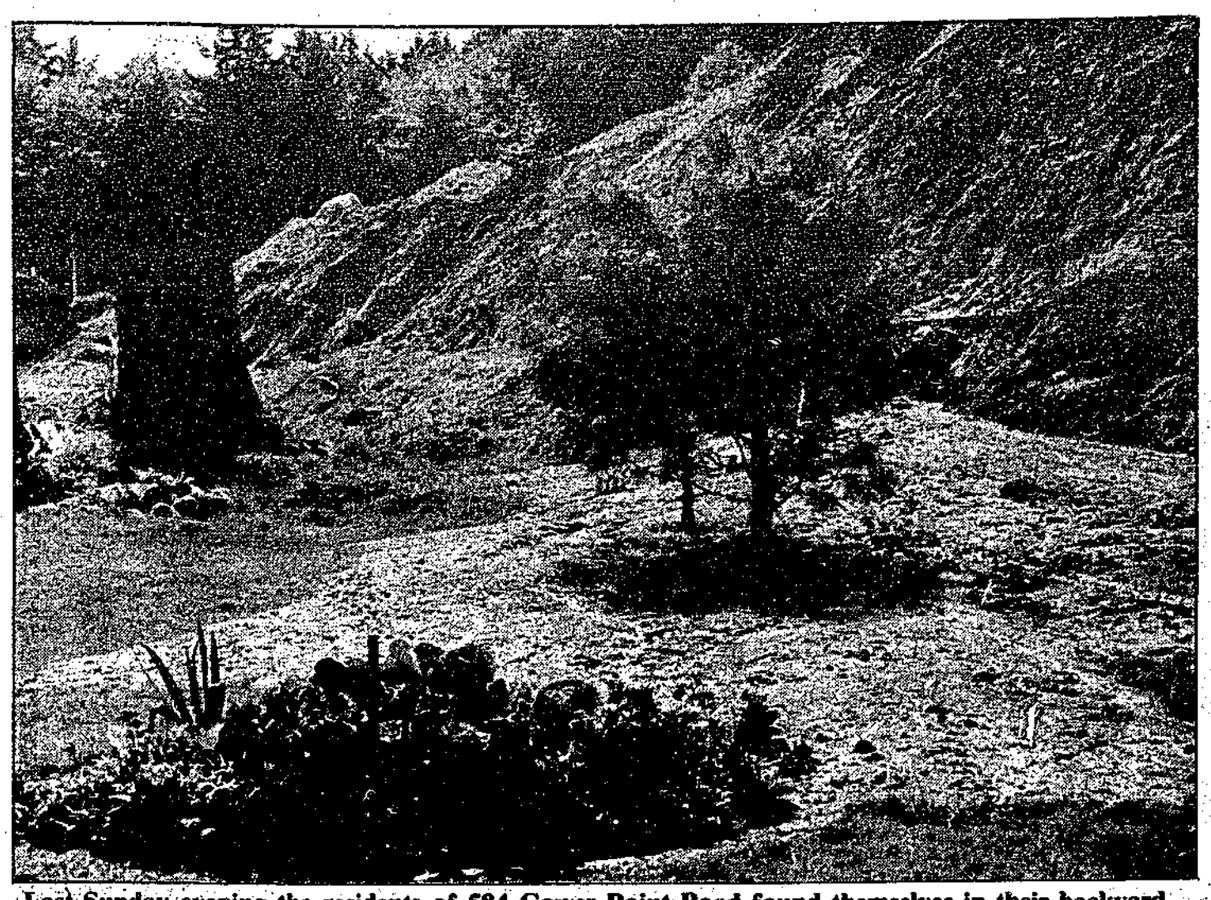
Here at Secret Cove on the Sunshine Coast we're rebuilding part of Highway 101... we're clearing, straightening and paving other sections of the highway from Secret Cove to Wood Bay... plus a host of smaller projects.

Wherever you are in B.C. this summer, drive with care and watch for road construction.

A highway update from Harold Long, MLA.

Together ... building better highways for B.C.

Hon. Neil Vant
Minister of Transportation and Highways



Last Sunday evening the residents of 584 Gower Point Road found themselves in their backyard, shovels in hand, vainly trying to halt the avalanche of wet clay and sand oozing down from the Bayview Heights development site (see story).

Mud slides a problem

Delays in work at the Bayview subdivision site in Gibsons may be partially responsible for recent mud slides, Gibsons Committee of the Whole was told last week. During heavy rains, two weeks ago, saturated earth flowed down surrounding banks and into the back yard of an adjacent property. Approximately one third of the yard was covered.

Planner Rob Buchan was called by the neighbouring property owners several times during the rains, as the problem became increasingly severe. He, in turn, contacted the contractor who began remedial action.

"This is an unfortunate legacy of this development being delayed," Buchan said.

Alderman John Reynolds asked for assurance that once the development is completed the stability of the area will be restored.

Buchan replied he had sent a letter to the developers asking for assurances on that issue three weeks ago but has had no reply. Further, in the same letter, he told the developers they were required to clean up problems caused by the development on Gower Point Road and to restore the driveways to their original conditions. The company was given 30 days to reply, but as yet nothing has been done.

Reynolds stated emphatically, "Make it very clear to them that we intend to do something about it."

Roberts Creek

At St. Aidan's

by Jeanie Parker, 885-2163

St. Aidan's Anglican Church in Roberts Creek wishes to announce the cancellation of the September 3 service and the commencement of a regular mid-week service on September 20.

The 10:30 am service will be held every Wednesday followed by coffee and Bible Study also in the church.

The mid-week service will be for the benefit of both the St. Aidan's and St. Bartholomew's parishes who welcome their new priest, Reverend Esther North. This personable lady may be contacted at her office most mornings at 886-7410.

CRUISE TREAT

Patrons of the Roberts Creek Legion are in for a real treat this Labour Day weekend with entertainment by Jo McDonald. Just back from the Florida cruise ships, Jo has a tremendous vocal range, versatility, showmanship and a variety of music that will appeal to all ages.

On September 8 and 9, "Good News" will bring some hot jazz along with old-time fiddle music guaranteed to set your toes a-tapping.

The dinner menus that weekend will be in keeping with the Prairie influence, featuring Joan Clarkson's smorgasbord on Friday and barbecued steak on Saturday.

Members and guests welcome.

Perhaps such an ending is in store for restructuring too, after all the hub-bub has died down and sufficient balm has been applied to the genuinely hurt feelings of many of the area's residents. Maybe, in fact, the new, enlarged municipality can live happily ever after but perhaps a little cooling off period is needed before we try.

ON JANUARY 1, 1991, CANADA'S FEDERAL SALES TAX SYSTEM WILL CHANGE.

PLEASE SAVE THIS NOTICE.

IT EXPLAINS THE CHANGES AND THE REASONS FOR THEM.

IT IS A MAJOR PART OF THE ONGOING PROGRAM TO REDUCE THE DEFICIT.

A new Goods and Services Tax (GST) will replace the existing Federal Sales Tax. It will be charged at a uniform rate of 9 per cent on the vast majority of goods and services consumed in Canada. The existing federal sales tax rate is generally 13½% at the manufacturer's level.

The present federal sales tax system has been pushed beyond its limits and can no longer sustain the demands placed upon it. The structural weaknesses of the system have given some corporations the opportunity to reduce the amount of tax they would otherwise pay. For a tax system with 75,000 taxpaying corporations, there are 22,000 special arrangements and administrative interpretations required to keep the system in operation.

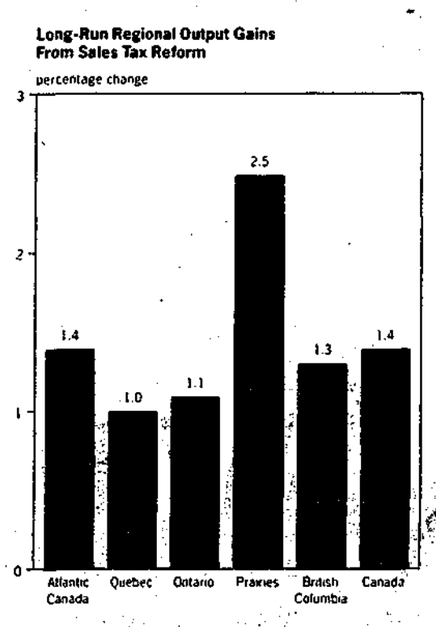
The present federal sales tax system is an increasingly unpredictable and unreliable source of revenue for the federal government. It must be replaced.

Our enormous debt has put pressure on the government's ability to meet other priorities. Canadians know the risks of not acting to bring the debt under control. The size of the debt has left us exposed to increases in interest rates, and vulnerable to international economic shocks. The reliability and stability of our sources of revenue are all the more important in such an environment. The new federal sales tax will secure year by year reductions in the deficit, while ensuring we can continue to provide Canadians with a standard of services that is among the best in the world.

IT WILL STRENGTHEN OUR INTERNATIONAL COMPETITIVENESS AND CREATE JOBS IN CANADA.

Our current federal sales tax favours imports over Canadian made goods. We are the only country in the industrialized world that is putting itself at such a disadvantage. The existing system also makes Canada's exporters less competitive in the world economy. Our present federal sales tax makes our annual economic output about $9 billion lower than it would be with the new GST in place.

Under the GST, we will be able to completely remove tax from our exports and make Canadian products more competitive abroad. And in Canada, Canadian-made products will be able to compete more effectively with imports.



The benefits to the Canadian economy from sales tax reform will extend across all regions and sectors of the economy. The Atlantic and Prairie regions for example, will benefit significantly because their economies are resource-based and export-oriented – two sectors that will benefit the most from sales tax reform.

The GST will lower the cost of the machines, supplies and equipment companies have to buy to produce their products. This will lead to higher levels of investment and expand our output. Higher output will lead to more jobs.

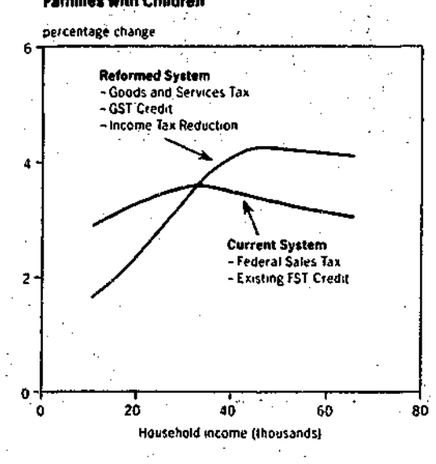
IT WILL HELP LOW INCOME CANADIANS.

Once the GST is in place, families earning less than $30,000 a year will be better off. This will be achieved through a combination of income tax changes. First, low income Canadians will receive the new GST Credit. Second, the middle personal income tax rate will be reduced from 26 per cent to 25 per cent.

The GST Credit will be paid every three months and in advance of expenses. Eligible Canadian households will receive their first credit cheque in December 1990, before the January 1, 1991 GST start-up date. About 9 million Canadians will receive Credit cheques. The GST Credit will be calculated on the basis of income tax returns. Every income tax return will contain a one-page form showing Canadians how to apply for the GST Credit.

The amount of the Credit will depend on family size and income. The basic adult credit will be $275. Most single adults will be able to get an additional credit of up to $140, for a total of $415. The child credit will be $100. Single parents will receive an adult Credit of $275 for one of their children. Canadian households with incomes up to about $25,000 annually will be entitled to the full Credit.

A family of two adults and two children, eligible for the full Credit, will for example receive cheques of $187.50, four times over the course of the year, for a total of $750.



IT WILL ELIMINATE HIDDEN TAXES.

Right now, everywhere in this country every time Canadians buy a good or service made in Canada, they are paying federal sales tax. For example, a substantial amount of sales tax is presently buried in house prices. Under the existing system, it is clearly impossible for Canadians to know how much federal sales tax they are paying. There are four different rates on a variety of different products and the tax is buried throughout the production process.

It will be clear to Canadians when they are paying the 9 per cent GST. The broad base of the GST means it will apply to almost everything. The few exceptions will be widely known.

Some retailers in Canada will have cash registers that are capable of showing the GST separately at the check-out counter, while other retailers will not. The federal government will provide an incentive to retailers to assist them in acquiring the cash registers to show the GST separately.

In all cases, the federal government will provide retailers with signs for their stores that clearly indicate that the 9 per cent GST is being applied.

PROPOSED CHANGES.

1. For consumers, the GST will be similar to a retail sales tax, at the rate of 9 per cent on the retail price of goods and services. The GST will replace the existing federal sales tax, which is hidden at the manufacturer's level.

2. The GST will apply to virtually all goods and services sold in Canada; however, Canadians will not be charged tax when they buy the following GOODS: basic groceries; prescription drugs; medical appliances such as eye-glasses and wheel chairs; residential rents and existing houses.

3. Canadians will not be charged tax when they buy the following SERVICES: loans, mortgages, securities and insurance policies; health and dental care; most education services; daycare services; legal aid; and municipal transit and passenger ferry services.

4. Newly constructed houses will be taxed, however, most new home buyers will not see a significant increase in the price of a new house resulting from the GST, because there will be a $900 million GST housing rebate. In many parts of the country price increases will be less than half a per cent. Indeed, many communities should see lower prices as a result of the GST rebate. The main exception will be Toronto, where extraordinarily high land prices may cause prices of new housing to increase by about 1½%.

5. Because the present federal sales tax will be removed, prices will not automatically rise by 9 per cent when the GST is introduced. The prices of some things will be lower, and others higher. The prices of many big-ticket items for example, that are taxed at 13.5 per cent under the present system, will be lower once the 9 per cent GST is in place. The price of other items that are not taxed under the present system will increase.

Finally, well before the GST is up and running, the government will be telling Canadians about the GST and informing them about the kinds of price changes they can expect for key goods and services when the GST replaces the existing federal sales tax.

For instance, here are a few examples of what consumers might expect:

ITEM	PRE-TAX REFORM($)	POST-TAX REFORM($)
Air Conditioner	780.00	770.00
Car	15,000.00	14,700.00
Snow Tires	200.00	203.00
Hotel Accommodation	90.00	95.00

Prizes galore at Brookman Derby

by Jean Robinson, 885-2954

There were prizes galore for happy anglers at the Annual Charlie Brookman Derby held August 19 for our younger citizens.

The Sunshine Coast Credit Union donated three prizes of $25 Fat Cat accounts for school children.

There were no salmon caught this year but John Carter caught a cod and a Fat Cat prize. Second prize from the Casa Martinez went to Jarrod Coleman.

Andrew Carlson caught a flounder and a Fat Cat prize while Seth Juliano came second and won a meal from The Wharf.

Number one crab catcher and a Fat Cat prize, went to George Grunenberg and Robert Warrington got a Wharf meal.

Largest shiner and a Homestead meal - Dario Pauan; most shiners and a Wharf hamburger - David Pauan; sunfish and a Wharf hamburger - Jim Kay; starfish and Wharf hamburger - Tanya Reeves; rock cod and Wharf hamburger - Seth Juliano.

Bradley Wigard won the pie eating contest along with a hamburger and a Buzz Bomb.

Special prize went to Michael Torksy from St. Paul, Alberta for coming the farthest and Carrie Walker for being the youngest sibling.

Oldest Grandma was Louise Colliss and the oldest Grandpa was Herb Berdahl.

Congratulations to all and many thanks to all those who donated their help.

MOVIE COMING

The Sunshine Coast Gospel Church is showing the movie "Cry From The Mountain" on September 10, 7 pm at the church located at the corner of Laurel and Davis Bay Roads, across from the Community Hall.

"Cry From The Mountain", a World Wide Pictures production, is an adventure film set in the majestic wilderness of Alaska. Coleen Grey, one time Hollywood starlet, is in the cast.

Belated congratulations to Bill LeNeve. Bill is president of the Davis Bay/Wilson Creek Community Association and is very active in the Sechelt area.

EARLY FALL

It would seem nature is warning us of winters' approach. Although the leaves have not all fallen and the blackberries are at their peak, the local geese are forming into larger flocks already.

These geese attain immediate VEE formation and excitedly skim the rooftops of the Bay/Creek area as they travel from one local haunt to another. They remain here all year round but the migration instinct must remain with them forever.

Then there are the four geese, two of which have been raised locally by these family I suspect, who never quite catch up to a larger flock but instead follow alongside or just behind, nagging and nattering.

The hummingbirds seem to have finally left and should be encouraged to do so by removing all feeders. They came later this year and certainly stayed in this area longer than usual.

The American Gold Finch is still with us. The male is such a bright yellow he can easily be seen flitting hither and yon. They love the seed pods formed on matured weeds and can often be seen nibbling on a slender stalk.

The Japanese starlings have been flocking up for the past month and can be seen in very large formations. These birds are a nuisance and are hated in the Fraser Valley. Nevertheless, a tree full give a great evening concert.

Branch history being assembled

by Larry Grafton

At a recent regular meeting the membership acted on a recommendation from the executive to attempt to assemble the photographs of all the past presidents dating back to the first meeting of the then new branch of our organization.

As you may imagine, it would appear to be no easy task but Elizabeth and Jim Derby did not hesitate when requested to look after the assignment.

Considerable research was necessary to secure photos of the initial presidents particularly.

First, thanks are due Elizabeth and Jim for looking after the research and detail which has enabled the branch to have a record for posterity of the people who have enabled the branch to become what it is today.

Secondly, Elizabeth and Jim wish to tender their thanks to the following people who were so helpful in assisting them with photos and snaps of the earlier presidents of the branch:

Dr. Allan Swan, Emory Scott, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Arthur Redman, Mrs. Hugh Dugg and Mrs. Joyce Scott.

A big thank you also to Gloria Reger, who made the name plates for the finished product.

CARPET BOWLING

Since most regular activities are discontinued during July and August, a bowling practice has been planned for Wednesday August 30 at 1:30 pm in the hall.

This practice should not be confused with the regular scheduled games which take place on Mondays at 1:30 pm.

ACTIVITY CHAIRMEN PLEASE NOTE

Whether we like it or not, September is just around the corner. Activity Chairmen should be planning start-up dates for their respective activities.

I would appreciate this information for publication and Mel Neelands, our rentalsman, must have this information for his records.

Chamber dines out

by Margaret Watt, 885-3364

The first general meeting of the Sechelt Chamber of Commerce will be a dinner meeting at Casa Martinez, Davis Bay, on Tuesday, September 19.

The guest speaker will be Mackenzie MLA Harold Long.

Please let the Chamber office (885-3100) know by noon Friday, September 15, if you plan to attend.

Cocktails 6:30 and dinner at 7:30 pm. Ticket price is $14.

BUSINESS WORKSHOP

Jointly sponsored by the Sechelt and Gibsons Chambers and the Sunshine Coast Community Futures Association, the Home-Based Business Workshop, held on Saturday, July 29 was a great success. Over 30 people attended to hear Lois Campbell of the Federal Business Development Bank describe the ins and outs of running a small business.

Unfortunately, an almost equal number of people could not be accommodated due to the high demand for this workshop, so another one is planned for the fall.

Anyone interested in attending should call either the Community Futures office (885-2639) or the Chamber office.

REMINDER

Have you all sent in your nominations for Good Citizen 1989? Deadline is September 9.

Egmont News

Use it or lose it

by Ann Cook, 883-9167

That's our little school building folks that will eventually be bulldozed if we are not going to make use of it.

Let's get together and talk it up, and if there is enough interest and energy maybe we can make something of it to benefit the community.

Already there are offers of a lawn mower and a couple of men volunteered to maintain the grounds (that means push the lawn mower). A plumber, a carpenter and a painter have also offered their help. Women are interested in starting a library, info centre, painting lessons, craft afternoons or evenings, day care for young ones or just a meeting place for folks of all ages. A couple of other things to think about. Each month the doctor or nurse needs a place for their clinic and the Canadian Wilderness Society could use a meeting place.

SMORGASBORD

Everyone welcome! We'll be happy to see you come to our Egmont Community Club smorgasbord at 6 pm on Saturday, September 2. The local cooks and bakers really outdid themselves for this fall dinner (well, it feels like fall, where did summer go?).

There will be salads of all sorts, scalloped potatoes, vegetable dishes, baked salmon, ham, baron of beef, clam chowder, plus scrumptious desserts.

Did you notice? No turkey. We'll save that for Thanksgiving dinner. All this plus a couple of extra surprise things to make the dinner hour more enjoyable, as though all that food isn't enough.

The price is right. Seven dollars for adults, kids over 6 years old $3.50 (no charge for under 6 years old) and members, $5.

Read on for one of the reasons these ladies work so hard for the community. Vi Berntzen tells me she would like some of the proceeds of this dinner to go toward making use of the school building. Thank you, Vi, we appreciate it.

BIRTHS

Congratulations to John and Dixie Percy on the arrival of your new baby.

WEDDINGS

Best wishes to Don and Stella Mutch who were married on Texada Island last week.

WELCOME

Jake Weirerman came in on a high tide from inside the Skookumchuk and will be doing time in the little house on the hill.

BRIDGE

Are there any bridge players who are interested in getting together? Call 883-9907 (for bridge of course).

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

To someone we all love, Dylan Jackson, 8 years old on September 1.

LOCAL CRAFTS

If Made in Taiwan isn't your bag, pop into The Paper Mill in the heart of Madeira Park for local artists work: jewelery by Linski, Egmont bears by Dorothy Farrell, T-shirts from North Lake Crafts (that's Heather & Fearn), more T-shirts from Beyond Graphix (that's Brian McAndrew), poetry broadsheets from High Ground Press (that's John Pass and Theresa Kishkan), plus Indian carvings (by real Indians).

SICK LIST

Don Devlin, who is in hospital in the city, has had an operation and wants everyone to know he is "just fine" and will be home soon.

EDC members

At its regular meeting last week, the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) approved several new appointments to its Economic Development Commission.

The new members are: Kay Bailey, president, Travel Sunshine Coast; Tim Clement, chairman, Forest Advisory Committee; Bill Hughes, president, Howe Sound Pulp and Paper; Kay Little, manager, Rockwood Centre; Barrie Wilbee, principal, Lowes Resort Motel and Marina, and Bruce Fraser, manager, Aquarius Seafarms Ltd.

In addition, the appointment of three incumbent appointees to a further term was accepted.

These members are: Bonnie Paetkau, businesswoman and immediate past chairman of Sechelt and District Chamber of Commerce; Art Giroux, partner, Manager of Suncoast Smokers Ltd. and Bob Merrick, manager of Suncoast Electric Ltd.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Planning for fall

by Ruth Forrester, 885-2418

Now is a good time to start thinking about putting aside items for the Flea Market at Welcome Beach Hall on October 22. A bake sale and plant sale will also be included, so when you are breaking up your roots in the garden, start collecting them.

This will be a fund raising event for the building plans and your support will be needed for the Welcome Beach Community Association.

We should soon be hearing from Brownie and Cub leaders regarding their registration dates and locations. Leaders of any group should let me know as soon as possible so that I can make the necessary announcements.

FESTIVAL PICS

Many of you from the Halfmoon Bay area attended some of the events at the Festival of the Written Arts, and some of you probably took pictures while there. If you did and have any good coloured photographs of either the grounds or the speakers, would you please give Betty Keller a call at 885-9631.

THE WEE CHURCH

Word has it the property on which the little Church of His Presence is situated is now up for sale. Apparently the property is not big enough for it to be divided. This is such a shame.

Whether or not we are actually church-goers, we have all grown to love that little peaceful spot and will be sad if we should see a bulldozer mow it down.

But who knows - maybe whoever buys it will decide that it's doing no harm and will leave it be. We can dream, can't we?

The Reverend Gale and his small congregation have worked very hard at keeping the church in good shape, and only last month it was the scene of a lovely wedding. Many couples have exchanged vows there and babies have been baptised.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The first meeting of fall will be held Monday September 11 at Welcome Beach Hall at 10:30 am. All members are asked to attend and this is a good time for new members to come along and join this active group.

SCHOOL BOOKS

Parents of children who will be attending the new school at Halfmoon Bay are reminded that school supplies will be available at the school starting on opening day, September 6.

DOG FOUND

The Macleods of Redrooffs are anxious to find the owners of a lovely friendly young Labrador cross dog which seems to be lost and desperately looking for its friends.

If you have lost such a dog please call and claim it.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

The family of Hugh McPhalen of Redrooffs gathered en masse on Saturday to celebrate Hugh's 92nd birth-

Hugh's birthday is an annual event which is always enjoyed by everyone, but this year's celebration had its atmosphere of nostalgia.

The McPhalen house has been sold and this will be the last birthday party to be celebrated there for this family.

Good luck Hugh and Happy Birthday.

Pender Patter

Bits and pieces of Pender past

by Myrtle Winchester, 883-9099

Last week I stumbled across a book of poetry called The Chipmunks Hoard of Poems, compiled in the spring of 1989 with the assistance of Solveigh Harrison and Theresa Kishkan.

It includes the work of Melissah Charbonneau, Alicia Cummings, Jordan Field, Rachel Forbes, Forrest Pass and Patrick White, and it appears to be a school project. It's an excellent and entertaining work that's probably not available anywhere.

If you're interested in Pender Harbour's upcoming literary notables, you might be able to find a parent with a copy of the book.

From the present to the past: Something else I stumbled upon last week was some old copies of the Peninsula Voice, the only newspaper that Pender Harbour's ever had (apologies to Al Lloyd, who, for some time, published a newsletter for the area that was as well-read and well-received as any newspaper -and I'd certainly like to have a look at any of these that anyone might have kept).

Remember When (from the Peninsula Voice, Vol. 2 No. 2):

"Jim Tyner of Pender Harbour was elected chairman of the Sunshine Coast Regional Board January 29... In response to a letter by Rolf Bremmer claiming motorists pile up all summer at Earl's Cove looking for Pender Harbour, the Regional Board planning committee advised a letter be sent to the Department of Highways requesting better road signs at the three main entrances to Pender Harbour... it is also recommended that the board think about installing street lights" ... and the advertisements are as interesting to read as the old news:

Fill $1/yard, Silver Sands Logging Ltd... Harbour Taxi Ltd. Hassan's Has It... Pender Harbour Chevron, Frank White... Controlled Blasting, Fred Donley.

Let me know if you'd like to see more excerpts like these.

FREE SWIM

The Pender Harbour Aquatic Centre will open for the season with a free swim on September 9 from 2 to 4 pm; a good chance to check out the centre's pool and fitness facility if you haven't seen it yet.

• Registration for fall programs is September 15 to 18 and classes and lessons start the week of the 18. A complete program will be mailed out next week.

Please note the new time for the evening public swim: 6 to 8 pm and adults only swimming from 8 to 9:30 pm.

SWAP MEET

The last Community Club Swap Meet of the summer will be on September 2, doors open at 10 am. Be there early for the best buys.

POWER COURSES

Registration for Power Squadron courses, "Boating" and "Seamanship" is on September 13 at 7 pm in the Madeira Park Elementary School.

For more information call Andy Hayes, 883-1112.

A course for youngsters between the ages of nine and 13, "Let's Be Boatwise," will be offered this fall. For more information call Rita Zotoff 883-2459.

ART SALE

The Harbour Artists' gallery will close for the winter after the long weekend and the ladies are offering their work at reduced prices from Tuesday until Saturday from noon to 4:40 pm.

Noreen Marshall, Wendy Simmonds and Ada Priest have each donated a painting for a raffle at the gallery, where the tickets are available and the draw will be held.

PLAY SCHOOL

Serendipity Playschool registration will be held on September 5 from 9 am until noon for classes beginning on September 12.

The playschool is open to children from three years of age to Kindergarten age, but if you are a parent of one turning three soon, please call Bobbi Bennett for further information at 883-2833.

The Serendipity Playschool's annual general meeting will be held on September 11 at 7:30 pm in the playschool and all parents and other interested adults are invited to attend.

WINNERS

The Pender Harbour branch of the St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliary drew the following names in their raffle on August 18: Chris Sample won an afghan; Millie Burchill, an Indian sweater; and Bob Vance, a hand-knit cardigan.

Last Tuesday Alice and Jeff Fletcher enjoyed a beautiful day and a spectacular cruise to Princess Louisa Inlet. Alice's prize was donated by Madeira Marina, in the May Day raffle.

Where is Pender Harbour?

by Ellen Frith

Apparently a lot of people don't realize that Pender Harbour is a "community of communities", Area A Director Gordon Wilson told the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) last week and suggested a large sign advertising the fact may provide help, especially to the tourists.

"I was approached while on the ferry to Powell River the other day," he said, "and a man asked me, 'When do I get to Pender Harbour?'"

Wilson also felt the Ministry of Highways' rules and regulations regarding which business signs appeared along the highway and which didn't, "don't reflect the nature of rural communities." They "impact on a whole series of small businesses," he said.

The board recommended it approach the Ministry of Highways with a proposal that the SCRD implement its own bylaw to regulate which business signs appear along the highway.

It was suggested a "directory-type sign" at the junction of rural roads and the highway to let people know what businesses are located down those roads be erected. This would eliminate some of the discrimination against small business which exists under the present system the board felt.

Logging set for Ruby Lake?

Enquiries concerning a foreshore lease, a water licence and the re-zoning of a 150-acre parcel of land on the western side of Ruby Lake were made last week at the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) office. David Vaughan of Salt Spring Island has recently purchased the land from MacMillan-Bloedel and plans to log it.

SCRD Planning Assistant Sean Reid told last Wednesday's meeting of the Forestry Advisory Committee that Vaughan proposes to truck two halves of a barge to Ruby Lake, weld them together and barge a logging truck across the lake.

The truck would then be loaded and barged back and forth about five times per working day from his property to the highway.

Vaughan plans to clear cut the back section of his parcel of land and to selectively log the foreshore area which he wishes to have re-zoned into five acre lakefront lots from the present 12 acre zoning.

There is ample precedent for such re-zoning on the adjacent lakeshore, Reid said.

Reid noted concerns have been voiced to the SCRD by the Ruby Lake Land Holders Association due to possible pollution and environmental damage if logs were dumped from the property's foreshore and towed across the lake.

Barging the logs would appear to be Vaughan's initial solution to this problem, Reid said and he apparently further plans to hold a series of information and public input meetings at Ruby Lake Lodge to clear up any further community concerns to do with the project.

Bus stop is a traffic hazard

by Penny Fuller

The current location of a bus stop in front of the Cedars Inn causes a traffic hazard, all parties agreed at last week's meeting of Gibsons Committee of the Whole. Fred Jaremchuk and Carole Renouf were there to discuss the position of the owners, General Equities of Canada, and that position was supported by Gibsons Town Planner Rob Buchan.

When the property was originally developed, the highways department took a portion of the parcel fronting Highway 101 for a bus stop. However, over the years the actual layout of that intersection of Highway 101 and Shaw Road has changed, as have the traffic patterns.

In speaking on the matter, Buchan told council that buses picking up or dropping off passengers at that location acted as a wall, preventing traffic coming off Shaw Road from seeing oncoming traffic.

"It's very bad for visibility," he said.

Jaremchuk agreed. He was also startled to find out that the same location was sometimes used for parking. That situation will be taken up immediately with the lessee, he told the committee.

The original development was also prohibited from providing parking on Shaw Road. However, over the years, that had been forgotten and parking spaces painted in adjacent to the pub. Jaremchuk had been unaware of that restriction but said he would inform the tenant of the restriction and could foresee no problems in adhering to the original agreement.

Council instructed the planner to investigate other possible locations for a bus stop in that area. They will discuss the alternative with the department of highways before making a decision.

A happy occasion last Thursday for the crew and manager, Sid Quinn, of Sechelt Indian Band's Hatchery when 675 adult 'Brood' Pink Salmon returned to Sechelt Inlet and were netted for spawn; which will take place in the first week of September, 1989. The salmon were released two years ago as fry and 32,000 were sent forth to complete their life cycle. The return ratio is more than double what was expected. This will give the hatchery a potential of 500,000 eggs to incubate and later release back to the sea. During the set and netting, 600 coho were gathered and then released to bolster the sport fishery in Sechelt Inlet.

SCRD seeks alpine park

by Ellen Frith

The Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) Parks Committee is "110 per cent" behind the proposal to designated the alpine areas of Mount Steele, Rainy Mountain and Tetrahedron and Panther Peaks as a wilderness park, the committee said at last week's meeting and it is also hoped the land around Lakes Batchelor, Edwards and McNair, some of which is presently being prepared for logging, can also be saved for recreational use.

The provincial program allowing certain areas to be designated as wilderness park has very recently been cancelled but prior to this, a representative from the Ministry of Forests had already suggested the Tetrahedron area was "an excellent candidate" for such a park, John Hind Smith told the committee. It was the last area approaching a wilderness left on the Sunshine Coast, he said.

Hind Smith is one of the original advocates for the park and was present at last week's meeting to ask what the regional district would do to have the area protected from logging. "Where do we go from here," he said.

Mackenzie MLA Harold Long, the committee said, had indicated he would "do what he could" and it was suggested letters to the various relevant ministries be written as soon as possible indicating the regional district's support for the park proposal and to suggest thereby that all logging activity in the area cease until further notice.

The committee also suggested the issue be raised at the Union of British Columbia Municipalities' (UBCM) convention to be held in Penticton next month.

Speed was of the essence though, Hind Smith said, because Jackson Brothers was preparing to log in the general area "fairly soon". Apparently, he said, logging by Bachelor Lake is slated for 1990.

Area E Director Jim Gurney said what the SCRD could do at UBCM was to present the provincial government with a proposal for the area and to "serve them notice" that the regional district is completely behind the park.

It had to be stressed, though, Gurney said, that: "We're not coming back from Penticton with a park's reserve." The government moves slowly on these issues, he said.

Gurney also said it was important to point out the SCRD's water came from the area and that, at some point, "there will be damming on those lakes," and the water levels would rise and fall.

"We're merely concerned about the trees," Hind Smith said.

Area A Director Gordon Wilson said he would also arrange to speak to Barry Mountain, Ministry of Forests and Lands in Powell River this week regarding the proposal.

The suggestion is that the alpine area become a park administered by the Parks Branch and that the rest of the area be designated a recreation area under the jurisdiction of the Forestry Branch.

"There is no merchantable timber in the alpine area which comprises about 60 per cent of the total," Hind-Smith said in a letter to the committee," and it is proposed this area be left in its present, pristine condition with no development of any sort."

According to Hind-Smith, the lower elevations are already recognized by the Forestry Department as a recreation area in that they established hiking

Park vandalism is decreasing

by Ellen Frith

The police presence in the Pender Harbour area as well as increased public awareness has definitely helped curb park vandalism, Parks Superintendent Steve Alexander told the Parks Committee last week.

All vandalism damage at Dan Bosch Park has been repaired and there have been no problems since, he said.

Apparently, Alexander said, the RCMP know who the vandals are who wrecked the park last month, but "whether or not they press charges, we don't know."

Since then four new steel posts and a vandal-proof security gate at the entrance to Dan Bosch has been installed as well as four new aluminum information signs and logos. The gate is opened and closed at designated times.

Unfortunately, although Don Bosch remained unscathed over the past few weeks, the park at Roberts Creek has not been as lucky. Last week a portable toilet at that site was destroyed.

"The bottom line is we need more policemen on the Coast," Area A Director Gordon Wilson said.

Gibsons hiring

Gibsons Mayor Diane Strom confirmed last week applicants for the position of public works supervisor have been short listed. She also confirmed that Bob Marchand is included on the short list.

Marchand held the position previously. When he resigned two years ago, the job was awarded to Skip Reeves who was recently fired amidst great controversy. He is currently pursuing a claim against the town for 'wrongful dismissal.'

King of Safecrackers

Steel gates

by Peter Trower

Herb grabs his neck and feels blood. The wooden shaft of an arrow is hanging from the flesh. It has not penetrated deeply. Wincing, he is able to pull it free. A nearby guard hurries over, blowing his whistle to summon assistance. The home-made projectile is seized and Herb, clutching a handkerchief to his bleeding neck, is hurried off to the infirmary. Before the wound has even been dressed Herb becomes violently ill. A hasty examination of the arrow's tip reveals that it has been coated with a sticky substance, probably a poison. Herb makes a fairly rapid recovery but for several days he is kept under examination in the sick bay. He is not surprised to learn that no sort of bow or blowgun was turned up when the crowd was searched. How the arrow was fired remains a mystery.

Shortly after his release from the hospital, a frightened and desperate Herb Wilson is summoned to the office of Warden James B. Holohan. A tall, broad-shouldered man with stern features, bids him enter. "I believe you are familiar with these gentlemen, Wilson," he says. Herb turns to face two of the Post Office Agents with whom he has been co-operating. They greet him cordially as befits a star witness.

"We have been discussing your situation, Wilson," declares Holohan. "It appears that your testimony against your former associates has placed you in a position of some danger."

One of the postal agents interjects. "The rest of your gang aren't looking forward to your testimony when their trials come up. Ellerick and Bertsch have some pretty unpleasant friends and we think it's to your advantage as well as ours to have you isolated from the rest of the prison population."

Warden Holohan nods in agreement. "We feel that this can best be accomplished by assigning you a cell on Condemned Row. You will be the only prisoner in that section who is not facing the ultimate penalty. I regret having to place you in this position but I may observe that Cox's murder might easily have earned you a legitimate berth there."

Herb nods in glum agreement. Anything is better than the terrifying uncertainty he has been subjected to for the past few months.

"We'll be getting in touch again, Mr. Wilson," says one of the postal agents cheerfully. "Keep well."

As Herb heads back to his cell to collect his few effects he ponders on the irony of it. Garibaldi's friends want him dead. The postal authorities want him alive. Now, to assure his continuing good health, the warden is sending him to Murderer's Row, the one place in San Quentin Prison where longevity is in most short supply.

Rhythms of Life

Watch out for trouble

by Penny Fuller

This is your M.R. alert! Mark it on your calendar. Be prepared. Don't let it sneak up on you unaware, wreaking havoc in your carefully planned life. Mercury goes retrograde in Libra on September 11 and continues moving backward until October 3.

This cosmic optical illusion occurs about three times a year. Of course Mercury doesn't really switch courses. It maintains its orbit as usual around the Sun.

But because of its location relative to the Earth, it appears to move backwards for three weeks. Astrologically, this indicates a time of schedule foul-ups and mis-communication.

Confusion is the name of the game for a while. You set up appointments and the person doesn't show, but you find out later they were waiting for you somewhere else. Papers get lost, especially mail.

Documents that are signed during this time often have to be re-done for some silly reason. It isn't the best time to sign anything like a mortgage or business contract, simply because you're most likely going to have to do it over and over again.

There is some significance in the sign Mercury is in when it does this backtracking. Libra is the sign of social meetings, romatic relationships, the arts and military strategy.

Chances are that between September 11 and October 3, these areas will be particularly vulnerable to Murphy's Law. (Whatever can go wrong, will.) Obviously, it's not the best time to plan a party.

If you absolutely have to entertain (try telling your child that his/her birthday party will have to wait until Mercury goes direct) make arrangements simple and make them well ahead of time. Then double check everything the week before the party.

In the case of romance, you need to really work at clarity in communications during this time. Made sure your partner understands what you've said, have them repeat back to you what they heard and vice-versa.

Personally, I would recommend against proposing marriage at this time or getting married. Whether or not you believe in astrology, it seems to me that it's hard enough to make a marriage work. Why take any chances, even if it is all superstitious nonsense.

If you're into strategy, this could also be a difficult time. You may find yourself constantly thwarted by ridiculous details. It may seem that you're being sabotaged by the universe.

The most important strategy you can develop for this three week period is to relax and be well-armed with a sense of humour.

When everyone else is tearing his hair and getting frustrated, you can play Joe Cool and smugly say, "Well of course, Mercury is retrograde right now. Things will straighten themselves out. Let's reassess the situation after October 3."

In the meantime, cover your backside by double checking appointments, allowing lots of time for foul-ups and getting as much as possible signed before September 11.

"If you can keep your head when all about you, are losing theirs and blaming it on you...", you probably know that Mercury's retrograde.

Arts beat

Metamorphosis in Quilts by Dorothy Drope, now on at the Arts Centre, demonstrates the highly developed skills of a person who for decades has quilted for the love of it and only recently decided to actively pursue an exhibition schedule.

Her non-traditional approach, bold and unerring use of colour and texture and cheerful images make this show easy to enjoy. These are mostly display quilts, very elaborate and never to be slept under, but Celebration of Life II is clearly intended for use bearing a simple 'Tapunto' design that would encourage the owner to get it on on those cold winter nights.

The Looking-glass Effect by Brian McAndrew, also at the Arts Centre, contains paintings and drawings which proceed from his conviction that what we call reality is an illusion.

His paintings are like mirrors which make the familiar strange and the intangible visible. Stripped of this protective façade, reality, like a hairless cat, is not entirely comfortable.

These shows remain until Sunday September 10, from 10 to 4, Tuesday to Saturday, 1 to 4 Sundays.

1990 EXHIBITIONS SELECTION

The deadline is August 31 for anyone wishing to apply for an Arts Centre exhibition of their own work or work they have collected. All the arts and crafts will be considered.

ARTS AWARD NOMINATIONS

October 1 is the deadline for nominations for the Gillian Lowndes Memorial Award to be presented in November. This annual award is given by the Sunshine Coast Arts Council to a Sunshine Coast artist (active in any field of the visual or performing arts) in recognition of innovation and/or recent growth or achievement.

Others who have been sc recognized have been Robert Jack, Ken Dalgleish, Jim Kreiger, Betty Keller, Maurice Spira, Pat Chamberlin and Selia Carston.

Mail nominations to: Sunshine Coast Arts Council Award Committee, Box 1565, Sechelt, B.C. VON 3A0.

Visit to China

by Rose Nicholson

"An hour before we were suppose to arrive in Shanghai, the China Airlines plane 'lost its wheels'. I was terrified," said Janice Pentland-Smith of Sechelt. "Here's my big trip to China and I'm not even going to get there. I'm going to die first!

"The crew didn't speak any English," she went on, "and my Chinese was minimal. The man beside me was a Chinese professor and he spoke a little English but I wasn't always sure we understood each other.

"Later he told me we had 'some wheels'. What did that mean? Was I only going to half die? Then they said we would have to go on to Beijing, where the facilities were better. The professor told me that if a fire broke out on our side of the plane, I was to go over to the other side. They moved all the elderly people away from the emergency exits. A three year old kept asking, "Mummy, are we going to die?"

Pentland-Smith described the next three hours as unrelieved terror. There were no overt signs of panic but the fear was tangible. The escape film was shown 10 times.

The only relief was an American business man, an 'old China hand', who kept saying, "This doesn't mean anything. I know the Chinese. Everything is okay."

The plane did land safely, of course, without incident, and Pentland-Smith is back in Sechelt to tell about it.

"We all applauded and cheered and hugged each other," she said. "The relief was enormous. But I got mad. That wouldn't have happened on a Canadian plane. On an international flight there should have been a crew member who could speak English. They couldn't have evacuated us if they had to."

The rest of Pentland-Smith's eight month stay in China was considerably less dramatic, though fascinating in an endless variety of other ways.

She went there to teach English at a technical university in Nanjing. She was one of five foreigners in a school of 4000 students.

When asked how one would teach English when you couldn't speak much Chinese she replied, "Oh, they all learn English in school, but they want to be able to speak better. They love idioms. I had one student who, when I praised him, always said, "Oh, you're just buttering me up!"

By Western standards, living conditions in China are poor. Most families live in one room and cook in the hall. Beds have to be rolled up in the daytime, and in the winter it is so cold everyone wears long underwear, jackets, hats and mitts indoors.

"But," she said, "they always make an effort to make their rooms beautiful."

Summer termperatures in the 'furnace city' of Nanjing can reach 40 degrees Centigrade with no relief of air conditioning.

DINING GUIDE
A listing of restaurants and pubs

Toast of the Coast

It was a special occasion - a birthday, and there was no question that the dinner out had to be at a special place. Given the beautiful sunny day it would seem a waste not to dine looking out over water and sunset, so we considered the many marvellous Sunshine Coast restaurants which could fill the bill. We chose The Parthenon - and we were glad we did.

There are no "bad seats at The Parthenon, but we were delighted when our very friendly hostess, Katherina, showed us to a window table. Green lawns led down to the beach and sparkling ocean, Selma Park beach homes glowed along the shore, and in the distance the cruise ships steamed by, four of them in all while we lingered over dinner.

The Parthenon's menu takes a fair bit of consideration - its scope is really quite marvellous! In both appetizers and entrees it has a goodly selection of seafoods, and entrees also include Veal-Cutlets, Oscar and Parmesan; BBQ chicken and ribs; choice steaks; pizza and Italian ribs; and joy of joys! - a selection of Greek dishes that makes it seem one has been magically transported to Corfu!

My companion lost little time making his decision - Roast Lamb is perhaps his all-time favourite, and he was not disappointed. Tender and juicy, and enhanced with classic mint sauce, it was accompanied by an attractive array of summer vegetables and delightfully seasoned rice. He had passed on an appetizer in order to save room for dessert, and from a selection of apple pie, baclava, and cheesecakes chose a parfait of his favourite liqueur, Frangelico.

I was in a quandry. There is a particular Greek Platter for Two that is my idea of a dream-come-true; the "Parthenon Platter" offers beef souvlaki, jumbo prawns, kalamari, dolmades, satziki, spanakopita, Greek salad, roast potato, rice and pita bread. But my companion had his heart set on Roast Lamb. Biting the bullet, I decided to indulge in the Parthenon's buffet instead, and to save my Greek splurge for a night when we could have it all.

My buffet selections included an attractive array of salads, roast potatoes and seasoned rice, lasagna, and BBQ ribs, chicken and pork chops. I must compliment the chef on his potato salad, and on a wonderful cucumber in sour cream and yogurt dish. Although I could barely do all the selections justice, I did manage to make room for a token touch of Greece - a generous piece of Baclava for dessert!

We enjoyed both the view and the lovely Greek music during dinner, and left The Parthenon well fed, relaxed and satisfied. Well, almost satisfied. I can't get the "Greek Platter for Two" out of my mind, and I intend to go back and indulge in it - soon!

On the rocks

by Ed Hill

Sweeping is an important part of the curling game. It is estimated that sweeping a rock hard can cause it to carry another 12 feet and it is because of the sweeping that curling is such a good exercise sport.

Heavy sweeping really does things for the old heart. People with back problems often find the problems either improve or go away because of the exercise for the lower back.

On a stone set in motion, sweeping may be done between the tee lines. Sweeping must be done across the course of the moving stone so debris is pushed aside, not under the rock.

A moving stone may be swept by one or more players of the team to which it belongs. If a running stone is touched by any of the team to which it belongs, or by his/her equipment, the stone is considered to be burned and is to be removed from play or placed where the opposing skip considers it would have come to rest. Between the tee lines, an opposition player may not sweep an opposing teams stones.

As you can see, curling is both an enjoyable and a healthy sport. It is a sport where you can enjoy the comradeship of friends and exercise according to the amount of effort you want to put into the game.

It is a game which can be enjoyed by young and old equally.

If you are interested in joining the Gibsons Winter Club, simply call Ed Hill at 886-3925, Larry Penonzek at 886-9134 or Doreen Stewart at 886-7891.

Curling starts in early October and the club is a good place to meet new friends in our lovely little community. There are daytime leagues for juniors, ladies and seniors and leagues for ladies, men, and couples during the evenings.

Think about it, it could be a pleasant way to pass those long winter evenings.

Mannion is club champion

by Frank Nanson

Mike Mannion captured the men's club championship with the low gross score for the three day competition, making a 67 on the last day. Bill Snedden (Jr) took second low gross spot.

Jack C. Ross was low net winner with a three day net score of 189.

In the various handicap groups the first flight low gross winners were Brian Leckie (low gross) and Dan Belle (low net).

In the second flight group we had Gary Robinson (low gross) and Ray Phillips (low net).

Third flight was taken by Jack Knaus (low gross) and Bill Bader (low net).

Two holes-in-one were recorded during the tournament with Wolfgang Reiche sinking one on the 12th and Bill McKinnon on the 17th.

The 9-hole ladies held the second day of their Senior's Tournament with the following results for the two day event.

Tied for first were Margot Matthews and Margaret Bevan with nets of 70. Second place went to Edna Fisher with a net 76.

Those now in the tournament were led by Mary Ewen and seconded by Gladys Warner.

The 18-hole ladies played off for the summer pin. Eileen Evans was first with a net 79, and Audrey McKenzie second with 81 followed by Mary McKinnon in third with 83 net.

Connie Grant set a ladies club record on the first day of the ladies club championship with a 73 gross!

The senior men had a quiet day with only five persons on most tees for a change. Only three clubs plus a putter were allowed.

The winning group were the team of Bill Snedden (Sr), Guy Lewell, Al Heaven, and Dave Hunter.

Ed Matthews was winner of closest to the hole and Fred Moore's stalwarts managed to squeeze out the tees.

It is of interest to all members and in fact everyone on the coast that Jessie Miller, one of our junior golfers, has enrolled in the San Diego Academy of Golf.

It is interesting to note that in most cases the students return to their home area to practice in the pro field. Some of us may be taking lessons from Jessie. Jessie has been one of the juniors in our club's junior program for the last few years.

The Men's Twilight saw Boris Meda winning with a low gross of 36 for the 9 holes.

Second place was taken by Russ McLeod and the low net winner was Neil Mulligan with his net 32.5.

A relative of mine, Lyall Nanson, was riding in a cart with one of our members during the recent men's championship. This member told me the following tale.

Lyall apparently drove his ball off the 7th tee, pitched it to the green with a wedge and sank his putt. This is normally called a birdie isn't it?

Well, following the above event he informed our friend in somewhat profane language that he was going to quit the game for good and sell his clubs! Can anyone find out for me why he would quit after reaching such perfection? I will report next week on his reasoning, if I get the answer.

Do not forget the information meeting on expansion on September 8 at 7:30 pm.

Langham and Belland champs

by Terry Dougan

Congratulations to the 1989 Club Champions, George Langham and Verna Belland.

On August 10 the Ladies played the final round of their championship tournament. The low gross winner with a 36 hole total of 203 was Verna Belland, followed by Moni Langham with 205.

The low net winner with 141 was Marcia Keim, followed by Janice Watson.

The low net winner in the 39 and under handicap group was Evelyn Tapio.

In the 40 and over handicap group the low net was a tie between Laverne Richardson and Carol Reid.

The ladies would like to thank Astro Contracting for donating the low net trophy and Pender Harbour Realty for the low gross trophy.

George Langham's 54 hole total of 242 won him the Men's Club Championship on August 20. Bill Dean was next at 243, followed by Randy Legge with 251.

The low net winner was Dave Scoular with 201. Second low net went to John Willcock with 205, third was Murrell Smith with 210.

KP #3 John Cameron, #12 George Grout, #15 Murrell Smith.

Special thanks to South Coast Ford for the donation of a $100 gift certificate for closest to the pin on #15 and for sponsoring a car for a hole in one prize.

In Mixed Twilight August 21, 12 golfers turned out on a rainy evening for a fun game. The winning team with a 44 was Debbie Muse and Bob Robinson.

In second place with 47 were Sylvia Thirlwell and Tom Held.

KP #3 Bob Robinson, #6 Tom Held.

"Smokin" Dave Dakin shot a 42 to win low gross on Senior Men's Day August 22. Next was John Willcock with 43, followed by Dutch Haddon with 44.

Low net with a 34 was Al Wendland. Nice game Al.

There was a four way tie for second with 35, Cece Clements, Roy LaFave, Buck May and Jim Buntain. Tied for third at 36 were Pete Waycott, Dave Strachan, Bill Jack and Bob Robinson.

Closest to the pin on #3 was Cece Clements.

trails and permitted the Tetrahedron Ski Club to put four cabins at various sites.

These trails are used by hundreds of visitors each year, said George Smith who along with Hind Smith strongly advocates the establishment of a park.

Without any advertising, he said, there were visitors from as far away as Japan and Spain.

The committee also said various alpine clubs be asked to help lobby the government on the SCRD's behalf.

Sea Cavalcade tennis

A Cardinall takes it again

by Kirtlye Woodruff

In his fifth appearance as a finalist, Dan Cardinall won the men's singles division of the 1989 Sea Cavalcade Tennis Tournament. The championship was decided in three sets, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4 with Jason Weir being a serious contender to the Recently, Weir was a junior finalist in Vancouver's largest public tennis tournament, the Stanley Park Open, which was only one of his many summer tournament experiences.

Reflecting on the final match, Cardinall said, "Jason played extremely well," adding he felt his opponent followed a definite plan to play steadily.

After Weir won the first set fairly easily, Cardinall said he decided to "bear down and serve and volley."

Experience and determination, as well as enjoyment of the small social competition, were cited by Cardinall as contributing to his winning edge.

Dan's win carries on a Cardinall family tennis tradition, as his father, Eric, won the same trophy in 1977.

The Ladies' Singles Round Robin was won by Pat McLeod of West Vancouver, with Linda Mulligan the runner up.

Peggy Stacey and Richard Clarke won the mixed doubles over Janis and Lee Brown.

In the ladies doubles round robin, Janet Powell and Peggy Stacey defeated finalists Janis Brown and Judy Eastman.

The tournament started August 19 but rain forced several contests to be postponed. Thanks are extended to the Wakefield Tennis Club for use of the club's indoor courts during the wet weather.

In the men's doubles the finalists are: Eric and Dan Cardinall to play against Jason Weir and Peter Beyser when games can be arranged.

Tournament director Eric Cardinall held to the Wimbledon tradition in organizing flights for players defeated in early rounds.

Keith Wales won the men's "saucer" over Chris Wales, continuing after two early round losses.

Competitors who sustained one defeat went on to the "plate" with those games also to be scheduled.

In the men's "plate", Peter Beyser will play Peter Mason

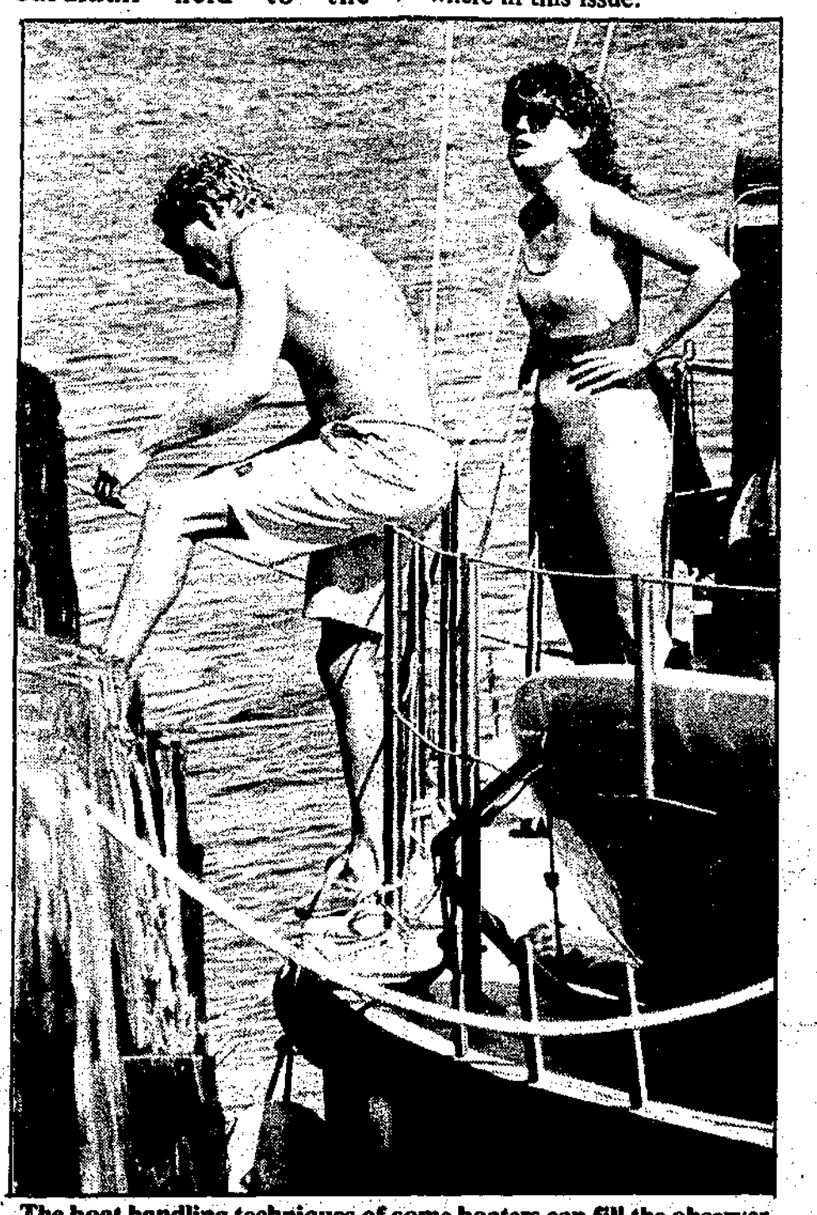
Local merchants who supported the tournament are gratefully acknowledged elsewhere in this issue.

Whispering Firs

The new combined nature trail and physical fitness course at Whispering Firs is in its final stages and an official opening ceremony is scheduled for Saturday, September 9 at 10 am.

The fitness circuit will include the apparatus and areas needed for among other things: leap frog, hurdles, stride jumps, chin-ups, stairs, horizontal ladder, sit-ups parallel bars and push-ups.

Extensive ground improvements around the perimeter of the park have also been completed and two new picnic tables installed.



The boat handling techniques of some boaters can fill the observer with amazement, if one takes a leisurely stroll around Gibsons Harbour on a warm, sunny day like last Saturday.

SUSAN FITCHELL

Shaske names Fitchell to represent Area E

Long time Area F resident Susan Fitchell will act as Area F Director John Shaske's alternate on the Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) Board for the next few months, Shaske said at last week's regular board meeting.

Fitchell, a part time teacher at Gibsons Elementary School, is the "type of person who will listen," Shaske told the Coast News and is also "somebody willing to spend the time to do the job."

Shaske will not be available on a regular basis to attend SCRD meetings until December, he said, as he is planning a tour to eastern Canada where he will also be taking a course.

P.O. Box 800, Sechelt, B.C. V0N 3A0 886-2261

SUNSHINE COAST REGIONAL DISTICT
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Pursuant to Sections 956 and 957 of the Municipal Act a public hearing will be held to consider the following bylaws of the Sunshine Coast Regional District:

1. "Sunshine Coast Regional District Zoning Amendment Bylaw No. 310.1, 1987";
2. "Sunshine Coast Regional District Zoning Amendment Bylaw No. 310.2, 1987";
3. "Sunshine Coast Regional District Land Use Regulation Amendment Bylaw No. 96.110, 1989";

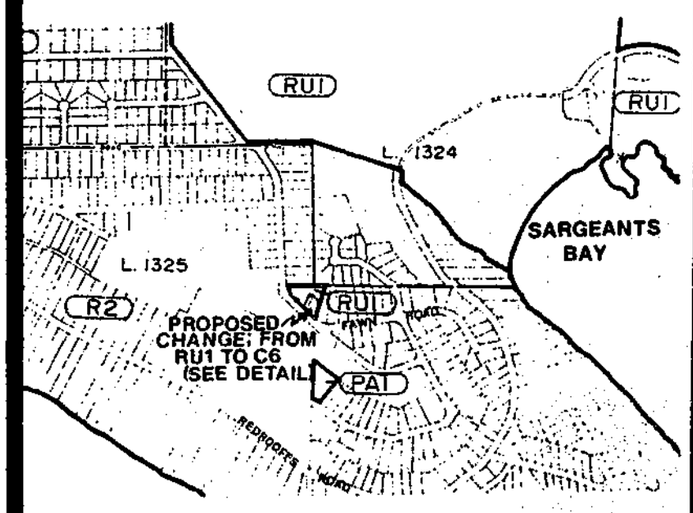
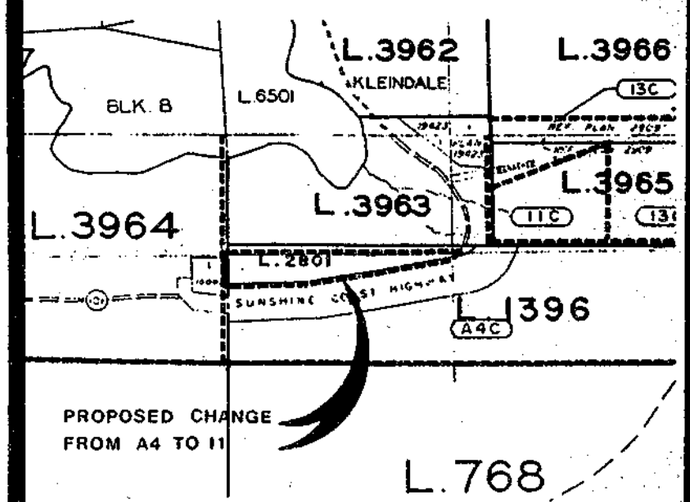
1. It is the intent of Bylaw 310.1 to:
   a) Amend Section 404 whereby permitting by conditions hooked parcels to be created or further subdivided;
   b) Amend Table 1 (b) and (c) whereby permitting a single family dwelling and guest cottage on parcels 3500 - 8000 square meters and a second dwelling or duplex on parcels greater than 8000 square meters. The proposed text amendment would apply to Electoral Area B through F.
2. It is the intent of Bylaw 310.2 to:
   a) Introduce a Commercial Six (C6) Zone which would provide a degree more of versatility within the Bylaw's Commercial Zones. The proposed Text Amendment would apply to Electoral Area B through F.
   b) And to amend the map designation of a portion of Lot 98 and 99, Block 10, District Lot 1325, Group 1, N.W.D., Plan 15171, which is more particularily shown on the following map portion, by changing the current Rural One (RU-1) Zone to the proposed Commercial Six (C6) Zone. The purpose of the proposed rezoning is to provide zoning permitting retail sale (250 square meters area) and a restaurant establishment (100 square meters area).



3. It is the intent of Bylaw 96.110 to amend the map designation of District Lot 2801, Group 1, N.W.D., which is more particularily shown on the following map portion, by changing the current Country Four (A4) Zone to the Industrial one (I1) Zone. The purpose of the proposed rezoning is to provide zoning permitting welding and machinery repair shop.



The public hearing will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 14, 1989 at the Sunshine Coast Regional District Board Room, in the Royal Terraces Building, located at the foot of Wharf Street in Sechelt, B.C. All persons who deem their interest in property to be affected by the proposed bylaws shall be herein afforded an opportunity to be heard on matters contained therein.

The above is a synopsis of the Bylaws and is not deemed to be an interpretation of the Bylaws. The Bylaws may be inspected at the Regional District Office in the Royal Terraces building at the foot of Wharf Street, Sechelt, B.C. during office hours namely Monday to Wednesday 8:00 am to 5:00 pm, and Thursday and Friday 8:00 am to 6:00 pm.

On restructuring

Cabinet decision due?

by Ellen Frith

The issue of the restructuring of the lower Sunshine Coast to incorporate Areas E and F with the Town of Gibsons is on the provincial cabinet agenda for August 30, the Restructuring Advisory Committee (RAC) was told at last Saturday's regular scheduled meeting, and it is hoped a decision from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs will be forthcoming this week.

Gibsons Clerk-Administrator Lorraine Goddard said timing to put the necessary voting procedures into motion was "going to be tight", but that it could be done. The voter's list for the town is organized, she said, and can be posted on September 1 as planned for an October 7 referendum if the ministry agrees to hold the vote.

The RAC assumes the question of a split area vote (one for the Town of Gibsons and a separate one for Areas E and F) will be brought up in cabinet on August 30 as well.

A suggestion from Coast Cable television to hold a television debate on the restructuring issue was discussed at length by the RAC with conflicting views about this particular type of format being used coming from several of the members.

RAC Chairman Malcolm Fraser feels a debate is an "opinion-forming technique" and not conducive as such for the dissemination of information. The committee's mandate, he said, does not allow it to act as a selling agent for restructuring but rather simply states the RAC is to gather and provide neutral information to the residents involved.

Committee member Blane Hagedorn said such a mandate was "impossible". "You're either one way or the other," he said.

Hagedorn felt the RAC, in its facts-finding mission concerning restructuring, had come up with enough information to provide a "sound argument" for restructuring.

"Some other group can debate," Fraser said, "but we will remain a neutral committee."

Some of the negative aspects of restructuring had been discovered by the committee, Fraser said, and he mentioned that many people in Areas E and F just don't want another level of government imposed on them.

It was also pointed out that in the updated information for the Moore Report provided last week by Tom Moore, it would seem the community of Williamson's Landing would not benefit at all from restructuring and yet its taxes would go up.

Goddard disagreed with the RAC's assumption that a new municipality could, perhaps, offer greater control over environmental pollution in the area and said that, in the regulation of pollution, "We are children of the province."

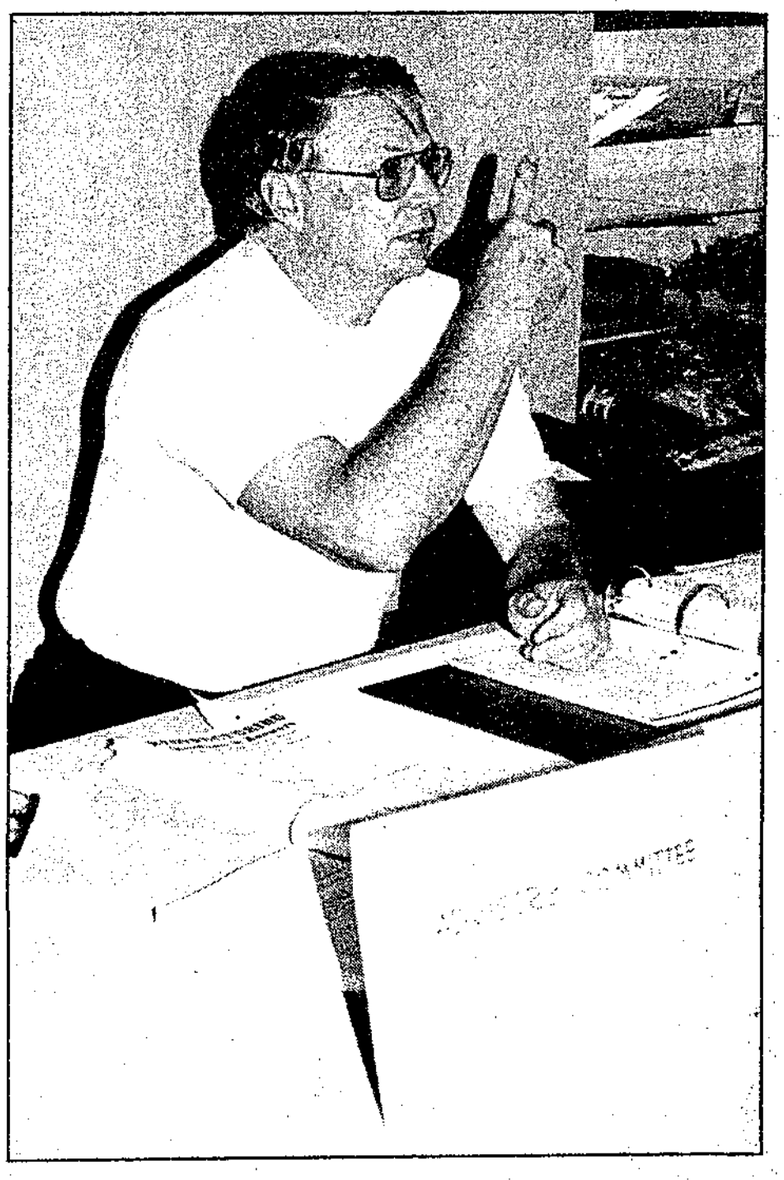
It was argued, though, that a municipality might be able to control the excessive burning of wood debris in the Port Mellon area.

An invitation to meet and to discuss restructuring has been sent to the Kinsmen Club and a similar letter will be sent to other service groups or interested parties but the Canadian Paperworkers Union has apparently already refused the RAC's request to meet with it for similar discussions.

The updated figures for the Moore Report indicate, the committee said, that after restructuring, taxes in most areas would decrease but the figures are presented in such a way as to be difficult for anyone not conversant in municipal taxation to understand. It was therefore suggested, committee member David Vaughan be asked to do a summary of the figures and information.

Fraser said it cannot be stressed enough that a new municipality could set an industrial tax base at whatever level it wanted or deemed necessary.

The committee unanimously agreed to invite Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) Directors John Shaske (Area F), Jim Gurney (Area E), SCRD Chairman Peggy Connor and Area A Director Gordon Wilson who is chairman of the finance committee to discuss restructuring with them. This meeting will be arranged at a mutually convenient time within the next couple of weeks.



RAC Chairman Malcolm Fraser makes a point on restructuring on Saturday while manning a table at Sunnycrest Mall (see story above).

Garden Club show delights at Mall

Sunshine Coast gardeners showed their best at the country fair sponsored by the Sechelt Garden Club at Trail Bay Mall's Pioneer Day celebrations last week.

Prizes for the best zucchinis went to Thomas Patterson, D. Edwards, Mabel Short and Christina Firiose.

First prize for tomatoes was won by Art Devlin, second by Mabel Short and third by Ruth Ronning.

Mabel Short won a prize for beets and prizes for bread went to Marion Friesen, Mabel Short and Roberta Foxall.

Bernice Devlin won a first prize for jam and runners up were John Friesen and Frances McKenzie.

First prize for pies went to Phoebe Hanson, with Chris Cooksley coming second and Geraldine Brown third.

Mabel Short won the first prize for a specimen flower, Mr. Cormack was second and Frances Griffiths was third.

Wild flower arrangement prizes were won by Ada Berry, Mabel Short and Jean Whittaker while Chris Cooksley, Gwen Southin, Mabel Short and Bernice Devlin won for their wild flower arrangements.

Judges were Carmen Grassie, Brian and Sylvia Blackwell, Tom Meredith, Vivian and Chris Cooksley.

GO BC - Building Community Pride

GO BC is making some big differences in the lives of British Columbians.

Across our province, GO BC is using proceeds from the B.C. Lottery Fund to support a broad range of beneficial community projects.

It has meant more space for seniors of Oak Bay; for children in Vernon and Mission with special needs to learn and to play; help in Nanaimo and Surrey for the recycling of waste. It has helped to fund a children's festival in Prince George and to restore a heritage ranch in Kelowna.

When all of these projects and many more needed financial help to make things happen, the people involved sought funds, and got them from GO BC. Over the next three years, $162 million will be available from this source.

If you would like more information about GO BC, and how funds might be awarded to projects in YOUR community, complete and mail the form in this ad, or write to your MLA, the Minister of State or any Government Agent's Office.

There has rarely been an opportunity with more promise.

Hagedorn felt the RAC, in its facts-finding mission concerning restructuring, had come up with enough information to provide a "sound argument" for restructuring.

"Some other group can debate," Fraser said, "but we will remain a neutral committee."

Some of the negative aspects of restructuring had been discovered by the committee, Fraser said, and he mentioned that many people in Areas E and F just don't want another level of government imposed on them.

It was also pointed out that in the updated information for the Moore Report provided last week by Tom Moore, it would seem the community of Williamson's Landing would not benefit at all from restructuring and yet its taxes would go up.

Goddard disagreed with the RAC's assumption that a new municipality could, perhaps, offer greater control over environmental pollution in the area and said that, in the regulation of pollution, "We are children of the province."

It was argued, though, that a municipality might be able to control the excessive burning of wood debris in the Port Mellon area.

An invitation to meet and to discuss restructuring has been sent to the Kinsmen Club and a similar letter will be sent to other service groups or interested parties but the Canadian Paperworkers Union has apparently already refused the RAC's request to meet with it for similar discussions.

The updated figures for the Moore Report indicate, the committee said, that after restructuring, taxes in most areas would decrease but the figures are presented in such a way as to be difficult for anyone not conversant in municipal taxation to understand. It was therefore suggested, committee member David Vaughan be asked to do a summary of the figures and information.

Fraser said it cannot be stressed enough that a new municipality could set an industrial tax base at whatever level it wanted or deemed necessary.

The committee unanimously agreed to invite Sunshine Coast Regional District (SCRD) Directors John Shaske (Area F), Jim Gurney (Area E), SCRD Chairman Peggy Connor and Area A Director Gordon Wilson who is chairman of the finance committee to discuss restructuring with them. This meeting will be arranged at a mutually convenient time within the next couple of weeks.

GO BC - Building Community Pride

GO BC is making some big differences in the lives of British Columbians.

Across our province, GO BC is using proceeds from the B.C. Lottery Fund to support a broad range of beneficial community projects.

It has meant more space for seniors of Oak Bay; for children in Vernon and Mission with special needs to learn and to play; help in Nanaimo and Surrey for the recycling of waste. It has helped to fund a children's festival in Prince George and to restore a heritage ranch in Kelowna.

When all of these projects and many more needed financial help to make things happen, the people involved sought funds, and got them from GO BC. Over the next three years, $162 million will be available from this source.

If you would like more information about GO BC, and how funds might be awarded to projects in YOUR community, complete and mail the form in this ad, or write to your MLA, the Minister of State or any Government Agent's Office.

There has rarely been an opportunity with more promise.

Honourable Bill Reid, Minister of Tourism and Provincial Secretary
