School board budget

While Sechelt School District's budget for 1963 is $33,670 higher than last year's $825,131, it is actually $62 higher because of the inclusion of $33,608 surplus and revenues from last year.

This year's budget totals $858,801. The amount taxpayers must provide through direct taxation is $680,999 which with the government education grant of $144,194 plus the $33,608 surplus makes up $858,801.

How is the direct taxation raised? Well Gibsons provides $37,580 and Sechelt $23,704. The rural area which contains most of the tax-paying population provides $619,715. While this figure appears large one must not forget the home-owner grant of $70 which reduces a good part of taxes paid with cash to a low figure.

Following is a breakdown of the budget for this year and the last two years showing the differences in the individual items and sections and how the budget is departmentalized.

New truck wanted

It is seldom that a person reads the daily paper or listens to the radio without there being a report of people, many of them children, being burned to death in a fire. Most of these fires are due to carelessness with cigarettes or other inflammable materials.

In the area bounded by the most westerly point of West Sechelt and to the Girl Guides camp to the east there are 16 good reasons why this is not likely to occur here. Fourteen of these reasons are human beings, men trained in fighting fire, some of them having been at this volunteer calling for fourteen years. The other two reasons are fire trucks carrying gallons of wate.

One of these trucks has now reached a ripe old age and requires to be replaced. The members of the fire brigade have accordingly arranged to purchase a new fire truck at a cost of $13,000 and this can only be done with public assistance.

On July 3, 4 and 5 the men in the white helmets will be canvassing the areas of West Sechelt, Porpoise Bay and Wilson Creek and trust that the residents will be even more generous than in the past. Should you be absent from home, or should your house be missed contributions can be paid to the Bank of Montreal at Sechelt or mailed to P.O. Box 111, Sechelt.

P T A candle ceremony

The last meeting of the 1962-63 season of Gibsons Elementary PTA was held in the Elementary School on Monday, June 17 when Mrs. Grace Wiren, Elementary school supervisor, gave an enlightening talk on preparing a child for school.

She stressed the fact that children should be taught how to pronounce their words correctly from the time they are two years old, and should be given the proper names of things. Some things which parents can teach their pre school children at home are directions, co-ordination of their hands, tying shoe laces.

The special event of the evening was the reading of a poem, during which time past presidents covering a 16 year period, lit candles on a cake. Those past presidents present were Mrs. E. Nestman, Mrs. N. Hough, Mrs. L. Coates, Mrs. E. Inglis, Mrs. M. Clement and Mrs M. O. Volen The retiring president Mrs J. B. Stewart handed the gavel to her successor, Mrs. C. Fisher who spoke briefly and thanked Mrs. Stewart for her good work. She said it was regretted that Mrs. Stewart would be leaving the community and would therefore be unable to continue as a member of the group.

Mrs. Fisher also stated that in looking back over the minutes for the past 16 years, it could be readily seen what had been accomplished by the PTA, although nothing was done in a hurry. It took a great deal of work and untiring effort on the parts of the members to achieve these goals.

This group worked!

The final meeting, before summer holidays, of the Roberts Creek Red Cross Work Group was held at the home of Mrs. Mallory on the Lower Road on Thursday afternoon, June 13 at which 20 were present.

Mrs. L. Matthews, work convenor, gave the meeting a list of the different articles that had been made during the past year which is as follows: 12 quilts, 11 large, one crib size; 109 sweaters; 290 pairs childrens socks; 29 skirts; 81 diapers; 72 ten-year size panty dresses, 72 pants for same; 36 boys shirts; 12 girls blouses; 61 infant jackets and 67 infants gowns. This is a total of 841 articles.

A special feature of the meeting was the presentation to Mrs. Mallory of a set of lawn decorations as a token of the appreciation of the work group for her kindness in allowing the use of her home where the weekly meetings are held.

The work group will resume weekly meetings on Thursday, September 5 at the home of Mrs. Mallory. New members will be welcome.

The final event for the Roberts Creek Red Cross Work Group for the season was a lawn party at the home of Mrs. A. Rutledge on the Lower Road. It was attended by 18 members.

A social afternoon was spent during which the work convenor advised that Mr. W. B. Johnson, campaign co-ordinator for the province of British Columbia, had called on her recently and extended the thanks of the headquarters to the group adding that this little group of faithful workers is often used as an example to other groups in British Columbia of what can be done where there are willing hands and hearts more picturesque than ever.

Pollution meeting Thursday

A meeting of the Gibsons area pollution board will be held Thursday evening starting at 8 o'clock in the Public Health office above the Kruse Drug Store. The meeting will continue its discussion on a garbage collection and disposal plan which has been under consideration for some months.

Campbell River area is in the throes of a garbage collection campaign and the following taken from the North Island News details some information on which local people interested in such collection and disposal have pondered:

"Campbll River village may be included in the proposed local area garbage collection by the provincial department of municipal affairs.

"The village commission, in scanning the estimates of the provincial government collection plan, found that the cost involved in the service might be as little as half the amount now spent for the village to provide the service.

"Government estimates presently include only the area outside the village limits, but a sample comparison by the village indicates a tremendous saving possibility if the village were to be included in the "garbage collection local area."

"Cost estimates submitted by the department of municipal affairs advised that the total net taxable value under the Public Schools Act for the proposed local area is $25,127, and the mill rate, based on an annual cost of $31,000, would be 1.24 mills.

"A notice to be inserted in the newspapers indicates the cost of establishing the proposed area would be approximately $15,000 for the remainder of 1963, and $31,000 annually thereafter for three years, such charge to be recovered by way of mill rate on the property within the local area. The mill rate for 1964 will be approximately .62 mills and for the subsequent years will be approximately 1.24 mills."

Zoning bylaw change sought

The application for changing the zoning bylaw to allow the block of land on the water side of the main street from Clayton's Shop-Easy Store to the corner opposite the school to become commercial, came before Sechelt's village council on Wednesday night of last week.

Following discussion it was decided to allow the application to rest until a zoning bylaw hearing is held concerning this and other parcels of land seeking a change. Date for this hearing will be set later.

Disposal of the five cabins at Sechelt Inn was announced. Three have been taken off the property, one has been torn down and the fifth is being used as a storage shed. The fire department thanked council for expanding the annual grant to the department to $2,000 to help finance a new fire truck.

Many floats expected

Big parade with band for July 1

Given good weather Gibsons July 1 celebration Monday should be an event which should not be missed.

Here is a line-up of what one can expect.

The $100 Salmon derby will start at the crack of dawn and will come to an end with the final weigh-in at Smitty's Boat Rentals at 12 noon. There are plenty of prizes for this derby.

During the morning there will be the soap-box derby on the road in front of Kinsmen Park in the Headlands area. This should be under way to 10:30 a.m. and it is expeced there will be a sudden rush of entries at that time.

Towards 11:30 floats will start to congregate on the Super-Valu parking lot on Sechelt highway where judging will start about noon, with the parade moving off at 1 p.m.

The parade route will be down the highway to Seaview road then down Beach Avenue to Marine Drive and along Gower Point road to Kinsmen Park. There crowning ceremonies involving incoming Queen Nadine Gant of Port Mellon will be installed by retiring Queen Janice Douglas. There will be visiting Queens from Sechelt and other points.

Following the platform ceremonies there will be sports events for children, a road race of almost two miles, and a horseshoe tourney with a 24 shoe pitch. Entry fee will be 50 cents with the winner earning half of the take.

While all this is going on there will be a mystery woman on the grounds and the way to find her is to ask if she is the Mystery Woman of Gibsons July 1 celebration. Remember the right wording is necessary for proper identification.

The big parade this year will feature a 35 piece band from a junior high school in Powell River. While obtaining this band is digging into the committee's available funds it is expected it will be one of the big attractions.

Baseball with girl's teams and possibly a Babe Ruth league game will be run off during the afternoon and evening. During the evening the Squarenaders will perform on the Super-Valu parking area which will be followed by a dance in the School Hall.

There will be hot dogs, ice cream and drinks available at the park so the small fry will not have a chance to get hungry. For bingo enthusiasts, it will be going full swing on the sidelines.

Gibsons Volunteer Firemen Monday night took time out from practice to string flags on Marine Drive, Gower Point road and Sunshine Coast Highway to help give the Monday holiday celebration a gala touch.

Information sought

To explore possibilities of organizing a kindergarten class in Sechelt School district the board is considering organizing a class at Sechelt if a qualified teacher can be obtained.

Children for this class must be one year younger than the grade one admission age and must have transportaton. Applications will be accepted by G. A. Cooper, principal of Sechelt Elementary school or at the school board office in Gibsons.

School trustee Mrs. D. Smith reporting on a visit of Chamber of Commerce officials from Vancouver to the Pender Harbour area told how impressed the visitors were with the behaviour of the school children who were waiting patiently on the dock ramp while the visitors boarded their craft for a harbor tour.

The youngsters remained at the top of the ramp quietly which drew from the Vancouver visitors a remark that that would not have occurred in Vancouver. The visitors also commented on the neatness of the children's clothing.

The board's July meetings, one for July 9 and the other for July 29 will both be evening meetings. Usually the first meeting of the month starts at 10 a.m.

Meeting in riot of color

Blue skies and sparkling water, a summer garden a riot of color — this was the setting for the June meeting of Gibsons Garden Club in the attractive garden of the Mainwaring home. Mr. Craven, the president, welcomed the 21 members and guests.

In response to an appeal from the July 1 Celebration committee, Mrs. Tyson volunteered to supervise the decorations in the Kinsmen Park, with assistance from the committee.

Business was kept to a minimum in order to hear Mr. P. Tarrant from Vancouver who spoke on Faith, Hope and Work! The Joy of Anticipation!

He dealt with the correct method of planting a rose bed, suggesting a dozen bushes to a 5 x 15 ft. bed. Much was learned from his talk on the art of propagating roses, which should be cut ir the centre of the junction on year old wood. During the question period he gave many helpful hints on rose, dogwood and camelia problems.

Mr. Tarrant comended the garden club members on their efforts to beautify the community with their gardens, the results of their eforts being quite noticeable over recent years. But, he reminded them, while faith is very necessary in cultivating a beautiful garden, faith alone is not enough. It must be accompanied by a good deal of hard work.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. Tarrant for his inspiring talk and to Mrs. Mainwaring for her generous hospitality. The usual social half hour with tea and refreshments concluded another delightful garden club meeting. The July meeting will be in Mrs. George Webb's garden, Thursday, July 25 at 2 o'clock.

Auxiliaries at joint tea

Four St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliaries, Pender Harbour, Halfmoon Bay, Gibsons and Sechelt at a tea in Sechelt heard Mrs. Stella Howat, regional councillor of the B.C. Lower Mainland Hospital auxiliaries explain that when the new hospital is opened at Sechelt the auxiliaries will have plenty of work to do. The efforts of volunteers is now recognized as a necessary service to hospitals and this is all to the good. Such service also has its good public relations for the auxiliary and hospital.

Mrs. C. Connor, president of Sechelt's auxiliary introduced W. R. Milligan, hospital administrator who brought those present up to date on the new hospital situation.

Mrs. Howat's talk also included an outline of the auxiliary division of the B.C. Hospital association which contains eight regions with 110 affiliated auxiliaries. There are 8,000 members contributing 52,000 hours of volunteer service who have raised about $250,000 for hospital use. In the lower mainland region there are 15 hospitals with 23 auxiliaries from Powell River to White Rock

Tea was poured by Mrs. A. Johnston, Mrs. A. D. Greene, Mrs. J. Parker, Mrs. R. A. Swan, Mrs W Burtnick, Mrs D. Fyles of Gibsons, Mrs. J. Burrows of Halfmoon Bay and Mrs. G. H. Phillips of Pender Harbour. Music was supplied on the piano by Mrs. A. Redman. Mrs. R. Norminton and Mrs. H. Batchelor received special thanks for their work along with other members of the committee in charge.

SALE REALIZES $100

Last Friday night in Sechelt's Legion Hall Sechelt Kinsmen held their annual White Elephant sale. After Joe Benner was finished auctioning the articles, over $100 was realized. This money will be put to use in the new hospital.

The success of this sale was made possible by the support of the people in the area, and with this thought in mind the Sechelt Kinsmen extend their thanks to all who helped.

Having corresponded with the school in connection with the granting of the Elphinstone family crest, Lord Elphinstone flew to Gibsons to see the school and the mountain which bears his name.

His visit was quite short and he expressed regret that he would not be able to meet the students and staff. He hoped that on another occasion he would be able to make a more lengthy visit.

Make way for the new!

An historic building died before the onslaught of the all-powerful bull-dozer. The screech of splitting timbers; a shivering convulsion, a great cloud of dust, and the once proud landmark—The Howe Sound Trading Company—lay a heap of rubble to be fed to the huge fire burning near-by.

Soon a smart new up-to-date shopping area and a new bank will stand in its place. A small crowd of sidewalk superintendents, a lone camera enthusiast, and a few old timers were on hand to watch its passing.

Among the old timers what nostalgic memories were churning over in their mind? Their thoughts must be far removed from the rush of high powered cars on the blacktop highway where they stood.

Were their thoughts back to those early days when the Howe Sound Trading Company was bright and new and smart — a white landmark glistening in the sun?

Did memories come flooding back of late Saturday night shopping, when the country store took on the friendly atmosphere of a social gathering. Did they, by the magic of memory, recapture the wonderful smells of the country store. Smells entirely unknown in todays modern packaging. Did they recall the fragrance of freshly ground coffee, spices and freshly baked bread. Bins of sugar and tea and dried fruits. Cheeses and pyramids of plain ordinary soaps.

Soaps lacking any high pressure sponsor, but with that clean healthy smell that is undeniably soap. The vegetable bins with their assortment of local grown produce in its natural state. No wax nor plastic coverings glamorised the vegetables of pre-war days.

Many a grown man recalls the candy counter with its gayly striped peppermint sticks. Surely, among the happy memories would sift in the more sombre ones. Memories of the depression days of the 30's. Memories of the generous line of credit always cheerfully extended to the needy, and the difficult war years, endeavoring to make everybody happy on short supplies and strict food rationing.

Did they recall that red letter day, when electricity replaced the hanging gas lamps? Or the big stride in merchandising, when the large store truck was converted into a store on wheels, and started a successful venture of taking the store to the outlying district.

The old store has gone with its bitter-sweet memories of another era. In its place will rise a gleaming ultra-modern store standing beside a gleaming ultra-modern bank. An impressive improvement to any community, but to the oldtimers in the district and to some of the later comers, the Howe Sound Trading Store will never be forgotten.—Phyllis M. Hodgson.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

Finance Minister Walter Gordon has given Canadian municipalities a glance into his hope chest. He has unveiled the Liberal Government's plan to lend money to municipalities on generous terms — including a free gift of 25 percent of a loan on projects completed before March 31, 1966.

Following hard on the heels of Labor Minister Allan MacEachen's announcement of a winter works program, the finance minister's outline of the Municipal Development and Loan Act represented the second stage of the Liberal attack on Canada's number one problem —unemplyoment.

Mr. Gordon said the new municipal fund would consist of $400,000,000 from which loans would be available for a period of nearly three years. The loans will cover two-thirds of the approved cost of eligible projects.

The rate of interest will be based on the government's own long-term borrowing rate, currently standing at around 5 percent, and will be considerably lower than the market rate for municipal debentures, which ranges from a half to 1½ points higher. With the forgiveness feature involved, the actual rate will be far lower.

The forgiveness feature is not only an incentive to proceed quickly with eligible projects but will be equally important in helping to hold down the size and burden of long term debt and to lower the carrying charges on the net balance of the loan.

Mr. Gordon assured the house that there was no invasion of provincial rights. All projects would have to be approved by the respective provinces before money would be lent, he said. To avoid duplication, loans will not be given for hospitals, schools and universities or sewers.

The primary intention is to provide the maximum number of new jobs in a relatively short time. The fund will be administered by a board, working with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker said that the legislation setting up the $400,000,000 municipal loan fund should be postponed until the whole matter had been reviewed by the provinces. To do otherwise would undermine the Canadian Constitution under which the provinces are alone reponsible for municipal financial and other affairs.

PRICKLY FOOD

A porcupine should not be destroyed because it is the only animal that you could kill with a stick for food if you were lost in the woods. Wise advice is that if a porcupine is killing your trees, as many people, unfortunately have found, it should be disposed of. It is not protected by law. The animal also is very palatable.

The Blue Grouse By A.J.C.

To those who remember how abundant the blue grouse were in this district in the past the call of a solitary male bird today carries a mournful note. It would be an over-statement to say that there was once a "hooter" in every fir tree but it would serve as an indication of how it seemed in the full tide of spring long ago when great numbers were calling from near and far and all directions in the woods, while, offshore a little way the sound would reach one amplified by the acoustic quality of calm water so that the air seemed to throb with it.

The blues moved with the seasons, differing in that respect from the ruffed or willow grouse that are with us throughout the year. They wintered in the dense virgin forest on the highlands, living on fir needles and immature buds and toward the end of March began to move down to the more varied woodland near the shore where they nested and raised their broods. In the first phase of courtship the hooter chose a perch high up on a fir tree and began to call the attention of his future mate — or mates! Unfortunately for him his repeated call was also a guide to a man with a gun, and his habit of sitting tight even with shot clipping the twigs around him led to the inevitable end. There was a black market for them in the city at the time and there were grim tales of grain sacks taken out empty and brought home full — of hooters that would hoot no more. No species could survive that treatment in addition to the hazards that are nature's weight for keeping the balance even.

But if the bird escaped there would come a time when he descended from his tree and chose a fallen log as a promenade in the second phase of courtship. To come onto one of them at that moment was an unforgetable first experience. With tail spread to its widest extent and carried well forward, head held back almost touching it and the great orange-colored air sac at the throat fully distended he would parade proudly forward with a slow, pompous gait, wings trailing and feathers fluffed out — a one-bird procession looking twice natural size. A hooter at that moment was so intent on his showing off that one could approach almost within reach, and the results later on was a brood of hardy little chicks able to forage for themselves as soon as they were dry from the shell, with guidance from mother. Their diet was insects and all the small ground-life of woods and farms, cultivated land being especially rich, and with perfect timing that is not the least wonder of nature they were hatched just when natural selection having taken their food was most plentiful — care of that matter. Until about ten years ago I would have been surprised if there had not been a number of families boarding on our place. A large strawberry-patch was a favorite foraging-ground, one would be picking fruit with chicks all around him and somewhere on the patch the mother hen would be baby-sitting her own family. By merely minding my own business and picking quietly along, plant by plant and row by row, I have passed within six feet of a hen blue grouse without disturbing her. Had she been frightened she would have sounded a note of alarm and the chicks would have "dropped dead" instantly, becoming motionless and invisible while mother went into her special act of running away feebly, trailing a "broken" wing and uttering piteous cries, and whether one ran after her with compassionate purpose or to wring her neck — there being those of both kinds — the result was always the same. At the last moment of safety she would find strength to run on again, always directly away from those precious chicks until, having drawn the danger to herself she would suddenly fly away, quite unhurt.

It will fool anyone the first time! The hen willow grouse is also a perfect mistress of the same trick but she is more aggressive and when suddenly alarmed will fly at the face of the enemy, a little fury of beak and toenails and lashing wings — and the eyes are her target.

In early autumn the blue grouse began to move back toward the hills, the young being then full grown but still travelling together. Since they seldom flew far after being flushed it was possible—if the gunner was of that kind — to bag the whole covey. There are a few left but, with the double peril of spring and autumn in mind one who writes of the Blue, or Dusky Grouse as the books give it, is likely to do so in the past tense.

NEVER TAKE ANY MEDICINE IN THE DARK

Modern drugs are much more potent than past medicines. Taken when indicated, preferably with the advice of a physician, they accomplish almost miraculous benefits.

But any medicine wrongly used can be harmful. Always carefully read the label before taking one. Lock them safely away from children. Don't forget three or four 5 grain aspirin tablets are a fatal dose for an infant. Pharmacists read every label three times before dispensing. Do likewise and be safe.

Your doctor can phone us when you need a medicine. We will constantly endeavor to keep abreast of the expanding activities in the field of pharmacy — in this era of great change. We pledge at all times to be in the position to offer the finest of pharmaceutical services.

ELPHINSTONE ECHOES

For 1963-64 a new student council body has been chosen. Ken Baba was elected president and Ray Coates, minister of senior affairs.

The following students were elected by acclamation: Vice-president, Nadine Gant; minister of activities, Susan Taylor; government critic, Linda Peterson; and minister of junior affairs, Wendy Inglis.

We extend our congratulations to all of you and I'm sure each one of you will do a good job.

Once again the girls taking Home Ec modelled their outfits in Elphinstone Secondary School gym. The gala affair started with grade 8's displaying their smart cotton dress with a plain white apron, colorfully decorated with their name.

Grade 9 modelled smart cotton dresses for casual wear. The outfits ranged from full cotton dresses to sheaths, finished off with a self-covered belt and smart looking sleeves.

Woollen suits were the Grade 10 girls' project this year. Each girl made a winter or spring suit displayed in many colors. The styles ranged from straight skirts with a kick pleat to pleat ones.

As each girl advances and learns more about sewing, she can make something special, like an evening dress. This wish came true for the Grade 11 girls who made evening dresses from brocades, chiffons and nylon. They each chose their own style. Some made sheaths with a matching jacket while others made full party dresses.

Last but not least the Home Ec 91 girls modelled their outfits which ranged from suits and sheaths to evening dresses.

These projects, well fashioned, were pleasing to the eye and a hearty vote of thanks goes to the Home Ed teacher, Mrs. Evans, for making this fashion show possible — Nancy Leslie.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

The federal government should be able to secure the best possible advice on highly technical matters from Canadians whatever their occupation or place of residence.

I am referring to the attempt on the part of the opposition parties to infer that there was something evil in the appointment of three special assistants to advise Finance Minister Walter Gordon during the preparation of the budget.

It is short-sighted, if not contemptible, to point at government advisers and infer that they are guilty of wrong-doing. What some politicians fail to recognize is that the ethical standards of business are every bit as high as they are in many areas of politics. Members of the financial fraternity are professionals in more than one respect. They have to be able to keep secrets in order to get any business whatsoever.

Unfortunately the most outspoken critics in the House are wedded to the assumption that every man who is not already in the government service is not only dedicated to making a profit but also morally bankrupt. This is just not so. Members of parliament who give voice to these assumptions are perhaps exposing their own inclinations to the public in a most unfortunate way.

Perhaps Canada's most competent, efficient and honest government existed during the war when Ottawa was literally run by dollar-a-year men. Their wages were paid by their companies. Some of the problems which we now face are even more complicated. Is there any reason why, when the need arises, similar advice cannot be sought from outside the Civil Service itself?

So deep is the penetration of modern government into all aspects of our lives, and so monstrous is the effect of government policy on economic progress, that the advice of those who are professionals in various industries and areas outside of government should be welcomed. To charge that there is something improper in seeking advice from the 85% of Canadians who are not in the government service is not only to display a discouraging view of human nature but also to ignore one of the fundamental rights of Canadians — that is to be considered as equals not only in the levying of taxes but also in the way that they are introduced as well.

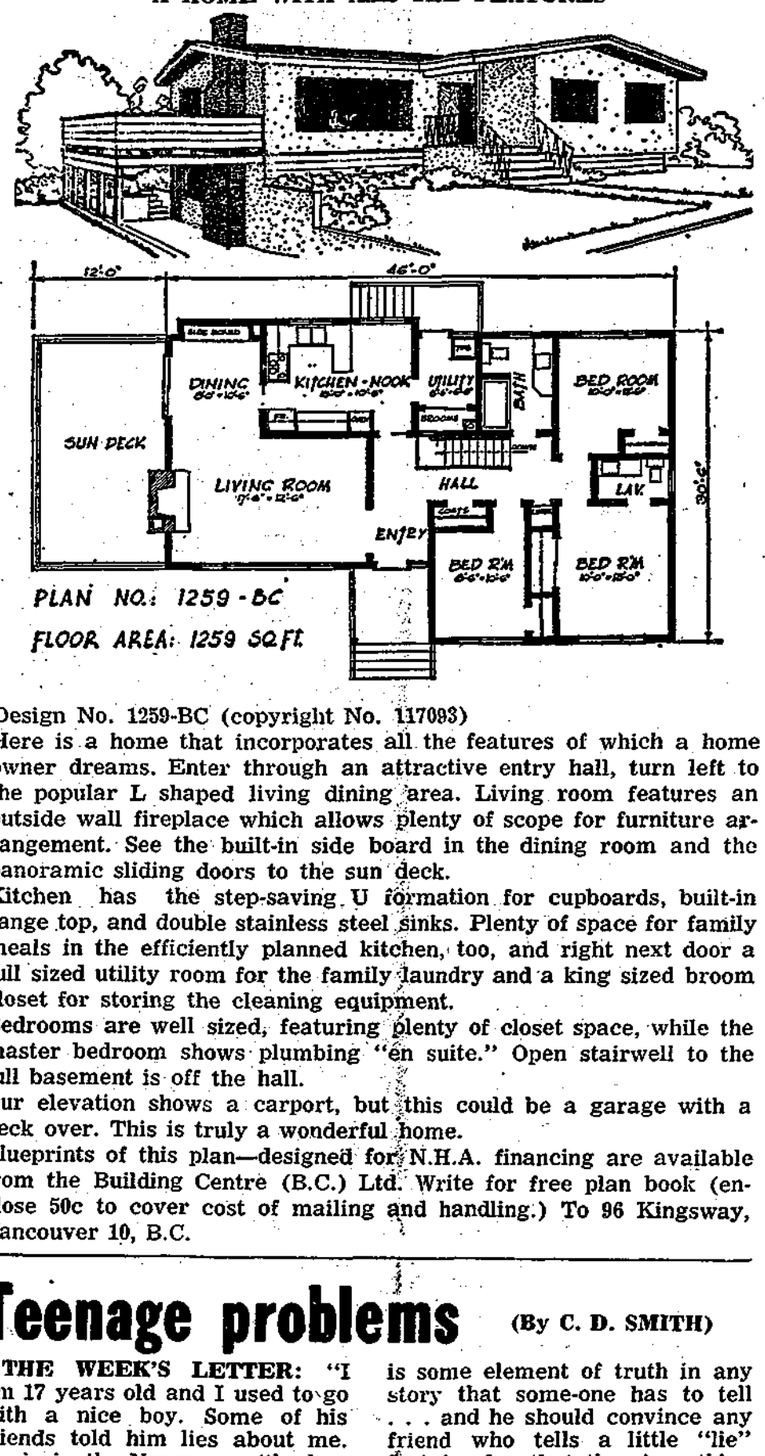
A HOME WITH ALL THE FEATURES



Design No. 1259-BC (copyright No. 117093)
Here is a home that incorporates all the features of which a home owner dreams. Enter through an attractive entry hall, turn left to the popular L shaped living dining area. Living room features an outside wall fireplace which allows plenty of scope for furniture arrangement. See the built-in side board in the dining room and the panoramic sliding doors to the sun deck.
Kitchen has the step-saving U formation for cupboards, built-in range top, and double stainless steel sinks. Plenty of space for family meals in the efficiently planned kitchen, too, and right next door a full sized utility room for the family laundry and a king sized broom closet for storing the cleaning equipment.
Bedrooms are well sized, featuring plenty of closet space, while the master bedroom shows plumbing "en suite." Open stairwell to the full basement is off the hall.
Our elevation shows a carport, but this could be a garage with a deck over. This is truly a wonderful home.

CHILDREN AND PARENTS

Who of us is mature enough for offspring before the offspring themselves arrive? The value of marriage is not that adults produce children but that children produce adults.—Peter de Vries

Children have more need of models than of critics.—Joseph Joubert

Children are more tractable than adults, and learn more readily to love the simple verities that will make them happy and good.—Mary Baker Eddy

All persons who bear the blessed title of "parent" have the personal responsibility to see that their children are growing up fully appreciative of the rights of God and their fellowmen.—J. Edgar Hoover

The training of children is a profession, where we must know how to lose time in order to gain it. — Jean Jacques Rousseau

Teenage problems

(By C. D. SMITH)

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 17 years old and I used to go with a nice boy. Some of his friends told him lies about me. He is in the Navy now (the boy I used to go with) and has written to my cousin asking him to see if I would write him. I still like this boy and how can I find out if he still likes me? And, how can I find out if he believed those terrible lies?"

OUR REPLY: There is no doubt of the fact that the boy still likes you — why would he want you to write to him? All men in service like to get mail, it's true, but they want letters from people they like, not just anyone.

There is no other way to really find out what—or how much—the boy believed of the "lies" than to ask him. It isn't necessary to go into details of any kind. You can simply state that you are aware of the things that were said and if you are to continue as friends it is important that you know just exactly what he believes.

Sometimes boys will tell "lies" merely to "tease" one of their buddies, without realizing just how much damage and trouble can be caused by one single, seemingly unimportant untruth. These "liars," when the chips are down, admit with embarrassment that they were just "joking."

In this writer's opinion, when a boy goes "steady" with a girl for some time he is rather foolish to believe everything that others will tell him about this girl. If he is any judge of character at all, he should be able to determine for himself if there is some element of truth in any story that some-one has to tell . . . and he should convince any friend who tells a little "lie" just for fun that there's nothing funny about the whole thing.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS. — Coast News.

Hospital auxiliaries in summer recess

Sechelt

Thirty members were present at Sechelt Hospital Auxiliary's last meeting of the season, on June 13, Mrs. C. Connor presiding.

A report on the May Day concession was given by Mrs. W. Burtnick, a hard-working convenor. Thanks were extended to the ladies who helped that day to make it a success. Proceeds were favorable.

Thanks were also extended to those husbands who gave up their fishing to construct and dismantle the booths, and to Mr. Alex Simpkins, Wilson Creek, for the use of his truck for a float.

A letter from the hospital administrator, Mr. W. R. Milligan, thanked the auxiliary for its recent donation of baby blankets.

The framed tapestry picture to be raffled at the first meeting in September will be on display in Sechelt shops over the summer. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. S. Dawe, also other members.

Mrs. Dawe gave a report on the gift box, and showed all the handknit baby things she recently received from Susan Forbes, formerly of Wilson Creek, now attending school in Vancouver.

Mrs. B. Bing, Wilson Creek, donated a sewing machine to the auxiliary. This will be placed in Hospital Cottage for future use. A generous donation was received from the Canadian Legion, ladies auxiliary branch 140.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 12 at Hospital Cottage. New members are welcomed to help start a new season.

Gibsons

Gibsons Hospital auxiliary held its general and annual meeting on June 13. Two new members, Mrs. H. Steinbrunner and Mrs. L. MacKay were welcomed by President Mrs. D. Fyles.

Annual reports were read by Mrs. D. Johnston, Mrs. F. Wyngaert and Mrs. Fyles who thanked everyone for their co-operation during the past 18 months. Mrs. Fyles presented Hospital Auxiliary pins to her immediate executive, Mrs. E. Inglis, Mrs. D. Sleep and Mrs. D. Herrin, as a token of appreciation.

The following are the officers elected for the term starting in September: President, Mrs. E. Inglis; vice-president, Mrs. D. Sleep; secretary, Mrs. R. Emerson; treasurer, Mrs. J. Hope; publicity, Mrs. D. Fyles; social, Mrs. K. Page, ways and means, Mrs. D. Johnston; historian, Mrs. R. Grey.

A cake raffle and tea followed adjournment of the meeting. Winners on four draws were Mrs. Inglis, Mrs. Sleep, Mrs. Hope and Mrs. Johnston. The auxiliary will not meet again until September 12.

SALAD RECIPES

Salads really hit the spot when the blazing sun makes appetites fade. Salad making ingredients present no problem to B.C homemakers who have the garden lands of B.C.'s vegetable and fruit farmlands surround them. The B.C. fresh fruits and vegetables are fresh, fully-flavored and packed with food essentials that really taste good.

Don't be afraid to make-up your own fruit or vegetable salad combinations and top them with your favorite oil-vinegar or boiled type salad dressings. Do keep salad ingredients cold, so the salad will be cold and crisp.

Whooping Big Salad: B.C. Style

1 crushed clove garlic
1 head firm B.C. fresh lettuce
2 to 3 cups chopped B.C. celery
3 to 4 green onions, sliced
2 bunches radishes, sliced
2 cucumbers, sliced
½ cup chopped parsley, optional
3 to 4 medium tomatoes, quartered
French dressing

Peel garlic clove. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Crush with fork. (Sprinkling with salt aids juices to flow). Rub salad bowl with garlic: discard garlic. Wash vegetables thoroughly. Break lettuce into bite-size pieces. Combine ingredients. Coat with French Dressing. (All vegetables should be crisp and well-chilled before combining. Do not toss with dressing until ready to serve. Use only enough dressing to coat the greens or they'll be drowned in the oil-vinegar combination.)

Dottie's Chicken Salad

3 cups cooked B.C. chicken, cut in large pieces (use white meat)
¾ cup chopped celery
3 green onions, sliced
½ cup toasted, slivered almonds
Mayonnaise
Parsley or watercress for decoration

Combine chicken, celery, green onions and almonds. Add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Heap up on shredded lettuce. Decorate with parsley or watercress. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

LAWS AFFECT TREES

A tree is a living plant, like a stalk of corn, subject to natural laws of life. Some kinds of trees, such as aspen, seldom live more than 80 years. Others may live several hundred to a thousand years. So long as a tree lives it grows. As trees grow older they become increasingly susceptible to disease, insects, and wind throw. Therefore, it is good economy and good forestry to harvest mature trees and start a new crop before deterioration begins.

Beaver helps

The beaver plays an important part in nature's scheme of things in the woods. Beaver dams and controlled spillways contribute to natural water control. Breaks in beaver dams have caused floods that washed out railroad tracks and bridges. Beaver ponds drive back the forest creating meadows when they have been abandoned and the water recedes. The decaying vegetable matter on the bottom of these ponds makes wonderfully rich soil. Many a farmer owes his livelihood to former beaver dams.

Weddings

SIM — ERICKSON

A pretty wedding was solemnized June 8 in St. John's United church, Wilson Creek, when the Rev. R. R. Morrison united in marriage Verna Lynn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adair Erickson, Wilson Creek and Albert George, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sim, Selma Park.

The radiant bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played on the organ by Mrs. T. Lamb. Her floor length gown was of white nylon with fitted bodice encrusted with rhinestones along the scalloped neckline, the misty shoulder length veil falling from a dainty coronet tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Matron of honor, Barbara Cattanach, and bridesmaid Judy Grey wore dresses of yellow and blue nylon and carried bouquets of tinted carnations. Keith Head was best man and ushers were Ron Olson and Ron Sim. During the signing of the register selections were rendered on the organ by Mrs. Lamb.

At the reception in Wilson Creek Community Centre 85 guests sat down to supper. The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake and centrepiece of lilies and roses. Toast to the bride was proposed by Chuck Mitten and responded to by the groom. The happy couple left on their honeymoon motoring to the interior and on their return will reside at Wilson Creek
