

An incomparable woodland scent

Every young tree grows surrounded by enemies.

By going deeper still one comes to a layer of rich, dark, sweet-smelling loamy soil that is the finished product of natural composting and the food of forests yet to be — particularly in the seedling stage.

For the open-minded there are lessons on soil management to be learnt in the woods, and where they are learnt best — at mother's knee.

A Sacred Discovery!

Mrs. Isabel Dawson, Sacred candidate for Mackenzie riding when speaking Saturday night at Sechelt, discussed something which has been discussed many times by many people in many places without result. This something concerned roads and bridges. How many howls have gone to Mr. Gaglardi from Powell River over the problem of bridges? How many howls have gone to Mr. Gaglardi on the condition of roads in this end of the riding? Did these howls get any response? Roberts Creek got some pavement and if Blackball Ferries had not entered the picture we might have had a bit of pavement but not much. The bridge situation has shown little change in many, many years.

In all those years taxpayers of Mackenzie riding have paid their taxes hoping there would be some return to the area in the way of improvements, like (but not quite), Mr. Bennett's riding and that of Mr. Gaglardi and other ministers.

Per capita the residents of those areas paid the same amount of taxation as did those of Mackenzie riding, therefore this riding has subsidized the ministerial ridings. Now we have a Sacred prospect backed at the ministerial level, telling us she will be a positive candidate knocking at the doors of ministerial offices "because we have got to build up good roads." Ghostly voices of the past are now shrieking!

This area, Mrs. Dawson said, "needs attention to the roads which should have been attended to long ago." Let's face honest facts not political argument. The government roads department has reported on our roads without results.

An obvious threat has been thrown out by Mrs. Dawson and it is plainly this: You elect me if you want to get your roads and bridges. It is nice bait if you like your political bait served up in this manner. But supposing Mr. Bennett's government does not make the grade or is in the ticklish spot called stalemate. It could happen; However voters being what they are, will please themselves.

The picture changes

The weather respects no person, country or ideology. Following China's foray into purchases of Canadian wheat, Russia is also knocking on the door, hat in hand, for copious supplies of Canadian wheat.

It is comforting to know that Liberals, Conservatives, Socreds, NDP's, Communists, Republicans, Democrats or any other political force available, have no monopoly on weather conditions. Man proposes but there are greater forces which dispose without picking or choosing. A handful of wheat as seed can produce many times its own bulk or practically nothing at all. Rain is what makes the difference and rain at the right time.

Prairiefolk who lived through the dirty thirties know that less than a 13-inch minimum of rain for prairie soil is drouth. This occurs whether you live in Saskatchewan or any of the Russian or Chinese provinces.

Unco-operative weather along with an unco-operative farm population has brought Russia around to the point where it pays to be a bit more friendly to those countries who have more food supplies than they need. Five years of below-par harvest has not stiffened the Soviet backbone. It would not stiffen ours either, if we had suffered five years of crops below domestic requirements and had to tighten the economic belt.

Economic planning of the type Russia started many years ago requires much more than the desire to be better than you were before. There is an intangible like luck, among other things, which helps.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

The split in the Social Credit party now appears complete. National Leader Robert Thompson recently demanded that his Quebec chieftain, Real Caouette, leave the party. Mr. Caouette has done just that—but he took most of the 20 Quebec Social Credit M.P.'s with him. Seven others still profess loyalty to Mr. Thompson, but whether they represent the views of their constituents remains to be seen.

Disastrous as the break must be to the party's prospects, it was an inevitable result of the 1962 election. Social Credit emerged from that contest with a membership in parliament which astonished everyone. This attracted attention, attention both to the wild things which Les Creditistes were saying and to the immense gulf which separated the different wings of the party.

The western division, despite a radical past, has since become a conservative party, one commanding the support of many prosperous farmers and businessmen in Alberta and British Columbia. The eastern division, on the other hand, is new. Never having faced responsibility it is far more radical, drawing its strength from the poor and discontented people of rural Quebec. In this respect it resembles the early Social Credit movement in Alberta during the depression years with a strong dash of French Canadian nationalism added to make things even more exciting.

A break between these two sections was inevitable. Given a reckless Quebec Leader like Real Caouette it also was bound to come soon.

A. J. C.

A summer shower, barely sufficient to settle the dust on open ground was enough to release that incomparable woodland scent that has never yet been imprisoned in bottles; the air was laden with it as I returned to the woodlot and the work in hand.

It comes mostly from that layer or natural mulch of forest debris that is continually being added to from above and used from below as it is converted to new soil by bacterial action aided by earthworms. A species of small snail whose empty houses I find so often is also suspected of being a worker in this cause.

Without this balance between demand and supply the mulch would become many feet deep for native's most strict law in this matter is the law of return; whether we look to the long ridge of reddish punk that may have been a monarch of the forest when Columbus sailed or to a faded alder leaf or an aged fir needle that drifted silently to earth yesterday, we see that law obeyed by all, and that nothing is wasted.

The floor of the forest is uneven, every windfall for centuries past has torn up masses of earth in which it was growing; roots and trunk decay in the course of time but mound and hollow remains and by then it is possible to learn the direction in which the tree fell, and by studying many the prevailing direction from which came those rare storms of sufficient violence to humble the pride of the forest becomes apparent.

Naturally it is in the hollows that the debris accumulates most deeply; the upper and most recent layer is brittle and breaks underfoot noisily — as the deerstalker knows. It has not yet begun to decay and every item can be recognized for what it was when living; dig down deeper into it like the raccoon with his front paws but more carefully and you will find a level at which identity of items has been lost. It is deep and moist and threaded with vipers, the old-time name of the fine rootlets of trees, in this case seedling trees, and the value of that layer of so-called trash becomes apparent.

Before the young tree is able to drive its taproot down into the subsoil it depends for survival through the dry part of the year on the conservation of moisture by that cover of mixed material that protects it from searching dry winds and during that period before the rains when, with days still hot and nights becoming colder we approach desert conditions, including general dryness, for a few weeks — not every year since seasons vary, but fairly often, and older men remember some of the worst bushfires in September. Lord Boyd — Orr, a good forester in England says:

A Conservative

A GOOD

SAMARITAN???

By A. G.

A certain man, with a name like Kierhardy, journeyed from Sechelt to Halfmoon Bay and fell into a pit. It was just too bad that the pit was of his own making, as his calling was that of a road-builder. Great undertakings like the Rogers Pass Highway had made him unmindful of the by-ways of the province. He had said no again and again to the pleadings of the humble folk on this by-way, that the pit be filled, lest peradventure someone ran into it.

The pit finally gave birth to many young trees and looked like unto a garden. This particular road-builder was given to bursts of speed that every now and then got him into trouble. And when he espied a very small road sign that read Redroofs Road, he said "Needs be that I see whereunto this road leads."

With a graceful sweep he took the curve, but so graceful was the sweep that he ended up in the pit. The car turned upside down, but by dint of great agility he extricated himself and found rest on its bottom and his. "Methinks I must wait for help," he said to himself.

And it came to pass that a certain postmaster came by that way, and when he saw the poor chap, he passed by on the other side. And a certain Priest came that way and when he saw the unfortunate man, he stopped and offered help.

"Thank you, brother," said the man in the pit "I would be glad of assistance. My name's Kierhardy and I'm supposed to have built this road."

"Aha" said the Priest, very pleased to meet you! and particularly under the circumstances. I'm quite ready to help you, but I think I'll leave you there in the pit overnight. You will have time to meditate on your sins of omission. . . . In a slightly caustic voice he added Sept. 30th is a date, I believe, of some significance to you, Mr. Kierhardy, and it may be that a little reflection on your part might lead to deep repentance, and, when I see signs of such, I will impose certain penance. Probably the penance you might perform is obvious!

"Yes. Yes. Reverend Sir. I get you. This hole will be filled pronto. My henchmen will be here at once, and never again will any man fall into this ghastly pit."

The Priest was really a gentle kindly soul, and in view of such evidently sincere penitence, he leaned down into the pit and lifted the wretched traveller out and placed him in his own car, and took him to the nearest pub and gave him a beer.

I think it was the Rigger's Roost at Pender Harbour where he finally left Kierhardy, with instructions that, if the unfortunate fellow elected to stay for the night, let him do so and he would come back and settle the bill with Bill later.

And the Priest was not a Social Creditor. This good samaritan was a Conservative.

Bald eagle information wanted!

By DAVID HANCOCK

If you can identify the Bald Eagle and can spare a few moments to write down your observations, then I am asking your help. I am conducting a study of the Bald Eagle in north-western North America and would like to enlist the assistance of conservation-minded persons throughout this area in helping to trace the periods and routes of migration, and where and when the eagles concentrate.

The Bald Eagle is in grave danger of becoming extinct over much of North America. In response to the declining eagle population the National Audubon Society and the Canadian Audubon Society initiated a 5-year Continental Bald Eagle Survey in 1961. My study is in co-operation with this continental survey. We of the northwest have an enviable number of eagles and it is now, before their numbers are depleted, that we should learn something about them.

Two species of eagle are found in North America. The Bald Eagle is usually associated with water-nesting near and taking most of its food from the ocean, lakes, and rivers. The other eagle, the golden eagle, is a bird of the mountains and uninhabited plains. This species is often confused with the immature plumage of the Bald Eagle. Both are brown birds; however, the golden eagle generally has a white patch at the base of the tail and the legs are feathered down to the toes. Unfortunately this last character is not readily spotted in the field.

The immature Bald Eagle takes about four years to get the characteristic white head and tail of the adults. For these first four years they are brown in color with varying degrees of lighter blotching on the breast and back. Their food is mainly fish, caught either alive or scavenged off the beaches, although they seldom pass up a dead deer, seal, sheep, etc. Most of the fish taken are coarse fish or dying spawned-out salmon.

During the herring season several eagles will often be seen courting over one large ball, occasionally dipping their talons into the churning multitude and then flying off with one or two prizes impinged upon their talons. According to studies conducted on their feeding habits in Alaska, the eagle is not considered a serious predator of waterfowl or salmon though both may occasionally be taken.

I have been regularly counting and observing eagles and some 200 eagle nests over approximately 2,000 square miles of southern Vancouver Island and the adjacent islands by aircraft, rubber raft and on foot. In the last count, on August 15, of the Gulf Islands, between southern Vancouver Island and the mainland, the number of eagles had decreased from over 100 to 9 birds. Where have they moved to? I need your help. All counts will be useful.

Daily, twice weekly, or weekly counts made in the same area or over the same stretch of country will be of greatest assistance. One cannot expect to see all the eagles, even in a small area, however, if the period of observation is relatively constant then the counts will indicate migration or seasonal movement by change in numbers. I would like the following information: Date of observation, location and extent of area over which counts were made, number of adult Bald Eagles seen, number of immature Bald Eagles seen and number of golden eagles seen.

Additional notes on what the birds were feeding on or whether they were sitting or soaring or migrating, etc., would also be useful. I would suggest setting aside a scribbler or piece of paper which could be used exclusively for eagle notes. Then each observation would be chronologically listed.

I might point out that it is equally important to know the periods when few or no eagles are present as the periods when they are more abundant. Persons co-operating in this study will be furnished with a complete report at the termination of the study. Kindly mail your observations, whether they are few or many, to David Hancock, Zoology Department, U.B.C., Vancouver, B.C.

Squamish road necessary

One of the key local election issues in this election campaign, a Sechelt audience was told Thursday, is the Squamish road around the north side of the Howe Sound. The meeting heard Tony Gargrave, NDP candidate for the Mackenzie riding, promise to do all he could to get construction started on this road.

Gargrave said that the cost would be about six million dollars for the twenty-five mile road.

"In my opinion the best bet would be to immediately start construction on the link from Squamish to Woodfibre" he said. This part of the road is needed now, Gargrave said, and it would be an excellent beginning on the rest of the highway.

Though the ferry service has improved and will continue to improve a direct link with Vancouver would mean great prosperity for the Sechelt Peninsula. "I would think that with a road around the Howe Sound the population would double within five years," he said.

Tony Gargrave also stressed the benefits to all the local residents of the New Democratic universal medical plan. The plan would cover all medical care and all prescribed drugs without premiums the NDP candidate said.

Mr. Gargrave left for Ocean Falls and Bella Coola after the meeting. Both towns are in the northern part of the Mackenzie riding.

Mr. Gargrave will speak at Halfmoon Bay on September 21; Madeira Park on the 19th; and he will participate in the joint candidates meeting at Gibsons on Oct. 20th.

Of the six Great Lakes, Lake Huron has the largest area on the Canadian side of the international boundary—13,675 square miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lang of Sechelt, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Margaret Anne Lang to Mr. Irvine Alfred Garry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garry of Powell River, formerly of Sechelt. The marriage will take place in St. Helen's Anglican Church, Vancouver, Rev. Canon Alan Greene of Halfmoon Bay officiating. Wedding date Sat., Oct. 12, 7:30 p.m.

Bridal shower for Anne Lang

An enjoyable bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. W. Davis, Gibsons, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 14 in honor of Miss Anne Lang whose marriage to Mr. Irvine Garry will take place in Vancouver Saturday evening, Oct. 12.

The shower was given jointly by Miss Penny Lee Davis and Miss Roberta Johnson who will be two of the bridesmaids at the coming marriage. Those present included: Mrs. Alfred Garry, Powell River; Miss Roberta Johnson, Vancouver; Mrs. A. Greggain and Miss Gail Greggain, Port Mellon; Miss Sharon Keeley Wilson Creek; Miss Suzanne Wiggard, Selma Park.

Mrs. Jack Redman, Mrs. W. J. Henderson, Mrs. E. Laidlaw jr., and Mrs. Ben Lang, Sechelt.

Valedictory

There are few of us who will become mathematicians or who will even remember its formulas. However the precision that comes from working with numbers will never leave us.

History with all its names and dates has left its mark too. There is, we hope, a more national outlook upon the problems of today, for, we have seen the work of our ancestors and can profit from their successes and from their failures.

This knowledge and experience has prepared us for new lives.

Whatever paths we take it is our hope that each of us will realize that we can no longer take but must give—give of ourselves to build a better society for Canada and for all mankind.

We leave now friends among teachers and students; yet it is confidence in the future that we bid to Elphinstone: Farewell.

HALFMOON BAY NOTES

(By MARY TINKLEY)

At a meeting of the Halfmoon Bay Improvement Association on Monday, Sept. 9, strong protests were voiced about the removal of the 20 mile per hour speed zone in the vicinity of the school, the condition of the Redroofs Road and the hazardous conditions which exist at the junction of the Redroofs Road and the highway.

It is a tribute to the efficiency of the officers of this association and to the co-operation of the road authorities, that by Sept. 12, three days later, the 20-mile per hour speed zone had been reported and a road gang was working on the Redroofs Road. This is obviously an organization which gets things done and all residents of the area would do well to make a note of the next meeting which will be held on Nov. 11.

Mrs. Louise Bath is staying at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Bath in Victoria. She is enjoying a reunion with the family of her son Don who has recently been transferred back to Esquimalt after three years' naval service in Halifax.

Miss Pauline Andrews has arrived from Winchester, England for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Alan Greene. She crossed to New York in the Ile de France which she found spacious and luxurious and travelled to Vancouver on the Canadian. Miss Andrews has been in Toronto before, but this is her first visit to the west.

Ed. Edmunds has returned home after his fishing season in the Queen Charlotte Straits area. On the way south, he stopped for a few days' fishing in the Simoon and Thompson Sounds. Bob and Milie Stewart have closed up the Bowl and left to spend the winter in their Vancouver home.

The new owners of the Woof house are Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLean who have lived in Vancouver and Burnaby for 25 years. Mr. McLean was safety inspector to the Compensation board until his retirement four years ago, and Mrs. McLean has been an active worker in the Eastern Star, hospital auxiliaries and many other organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lewis have left for a tour of British Columbia. They plan some fishing and hunting and will also stop off in the Kootenays for a few days to visit their son Art Lewis.

Visiting in Vancouver this week are Mrs. Richard Shaich, Mrs. Claire Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chestnut. Dick Mosier who is working at Devine, near Pemberton, was back visiting in the Bay this week-end.

Members of the Lovers of Life League are reminded that the next expedition will be on Saturday, Sept. 21 at 2 p.m.

On Sunday, Sept. 22, there will be a special service for children at the Church of His Presence at 11 a.m. Evensong will be at 3 p.m. the same day and alternate Sundays thereafter.

Honor Fr. O'Grady

Parishioners of Most Pure Heart of Mary Church held a farewell dinner for Father O'Grady, who has been assigned to the Ocean Falls parish.

Father O'Grady was presented with a flight bag and purse on behalf of the parish. The CWL presented him with a spiritual gift to show their appreciation of his help with the CWL.

Ninety parishioners attended and invited guests included Father Paris, Father Roberge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank West. Rev. Father Francis Nash will replace Father O'Grady who has for the last six years looked after the spiritual needs of Catholics in this area.

positive candidate was needed at Victoria. She was amazed at the terrific potential for tourism in this area. There was practically everything a tourist could hope for.

Having visited the top end of Bute Inlet recently she discussed the possibilities of a road from that area inland to tap the Chilcotin area which, she said, would bring traffic down to all this area.

Commenting on the condition of our roads she said the area needs attention. They should have been attended to, long ago. She would present the needs of the riding so they could be put before the respective ministers. She would like to be our backbone at Victoria where she would be knocking on the doors of ministerial offices. We have got to build up your roads, she added.

There was also need for another campsite, beyond Sechelt. The Skookumchuck was a marvellous attraction which could be made available to tourists. The problem of log salvage she would also work on as she had received many complaints about the present system. An investigation was required, she added. She said she would also look into the possibilities of a roving poll station which would travel to out-of-the-way points to collect many votes now missed.

Concluding she asked her listeners to cast their ballot for her on Sept. 30. She would try to give her best.

Plan Fall smorgasbord

Mrs. C. Connor, president of Sechelt Hospital auxiliary opened the Sept. 12 meeting, welcoming one new member.

Mrs. I. Dawson, Social Credit candidate for Mackenzie riding, and Harvey Hubbs, of Selma Park, were speakers. Mr. Hubbs, hospital board member, brought the meeting up to date on progress of the new hospital.

Mrs. I. Dawson spoke on the need of a new hospital in this area.

Plans are being made for the Fall smorgasbord under two capable convenors, Mrs. H. Duffy and Mrs. C. McDermid. The date set is Nov. 23, and ticket sales will be announced later. Lucky ticket on the tapestry picture, displayed by Sechelt merchants all summer, will be drawn at the dance.

Mrs. C. McDermid announced that over 1000 Nabob Coupons are still needed, to purchase a second coffee urn, to be used at these smorgasbords.

It was decided by the members present, to start a memorial fund to be used on the pediatrics ward of the hospital. It was suggested, that instead of funeral flowers or Christmas cards, that the money be placed in the fund. It was decided to send a delegate to BCHA regional meeting at Grace Hospital, Vancouver, September 27.

A generous donation was received from Mr. G. Phillips of Sechelt and was greatly appreciated by all auxiliary members. Tea was served. Next meeting will be held Oct. 11, 2 p.m. in Hospital Cottage.

FUL-BRITE OFFERS 3 WAY ECONOMY

1. Ful-Brite is sold in a full IMPERIAL measure gallon container that is 20% larger than polishes sold in U.S. measure gallon containers. That's a 20% bonus for you.
2. It takes less Ful-Brite to give your floors the gloss you look for. Ful Brite is applied in THIN even coats. Your gallon goes further.
3. A Ful-Brite shine lasts twice as long. Yes, because a Ful-Brite finish is so tough and scuff resistant your floors stay beautiful twice as long! That means you do half the work and, in effect, Ful-Brite floor polish costs only half as much as other floor finishes.

HILCHIE — CUTHILL

Bronze and yellow gladioli banked the chancel of Kitsilano United Church on Saturday, Aug. 31, when the Rev. Moreland Kennedy united in marriage, at a double ring ceremony, Heather Dawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cuthill, Vancouver, and Clarence George Hilchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hilchie of Roberts Creek, B.C.

The pretty, dark-haired bride, given in marriage by her father was gowned in satapeau fashioned with wing-shaped neckline, moulded bodice and bell-shaped skirt with chapel train, the front panel finished with a double garland of imported Swiss applique and hand-detailed bows. Her matching pill-box head dress held in place clouds of French illusion veiling. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and carried American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. S. Bownes, the bride's sister, and Miss Kathy McGregor, matron of honor and bridesmaid, wore matching dresses of rose satapeau with bell-shaped skirts. Their headdresses of matching tulle with rose insets complimented bouquets of pink carnations and stephanotis.

The little flower girls, Kathy Bownes and Heather Bownes, nieces of the bride, and her cousin, Debbie Bennett, junior bridesmaid, all in pale pink, with white bandeaus carrying streamers to the waist to match the ribbons entwined in bouquets of carnations, were a delightful trio.

Best man was Clifford Tate, ushers were Graham Bennett and Chuck Baird.

Mrs. Cuthill wore a dress and duster coat of pale pink with hat of a deep shade. The groom's mother chose dusty rose lace with hat en-tone for her ensemble.

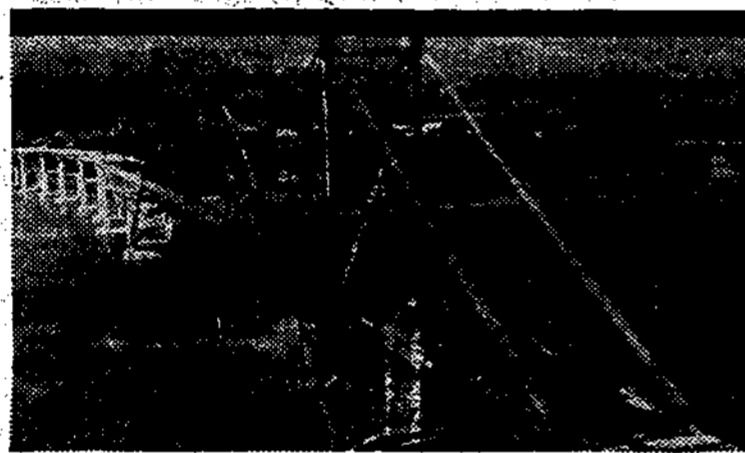

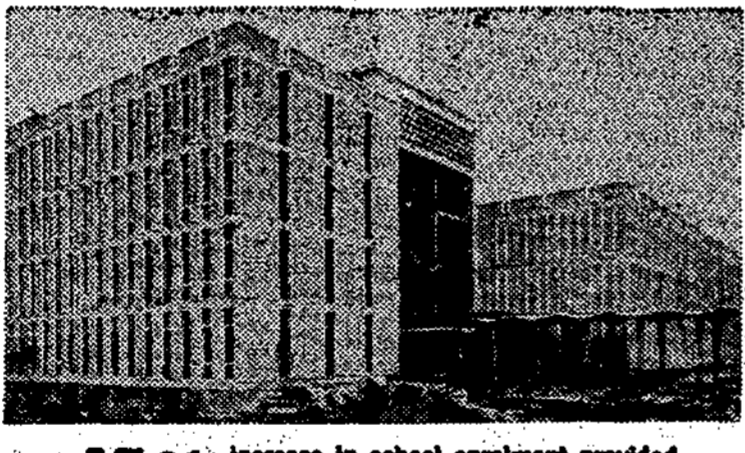

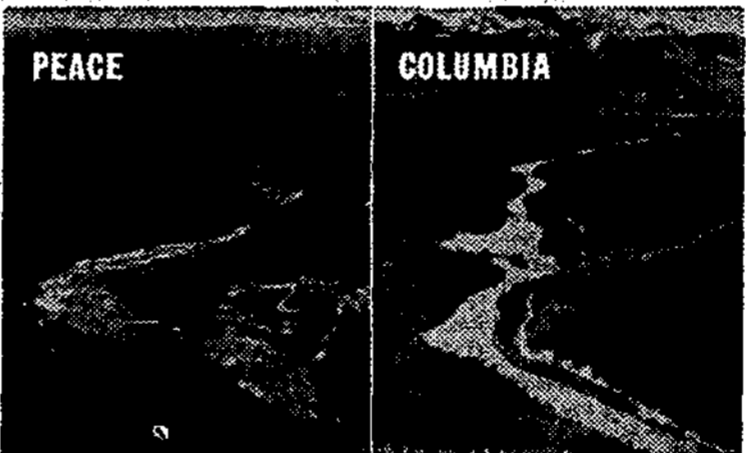

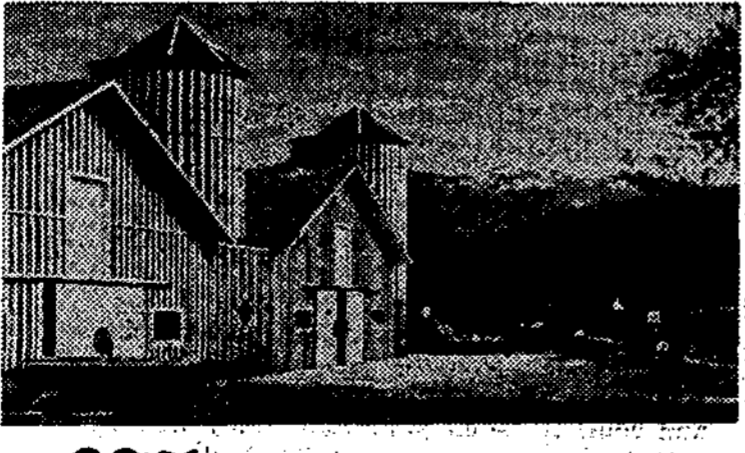

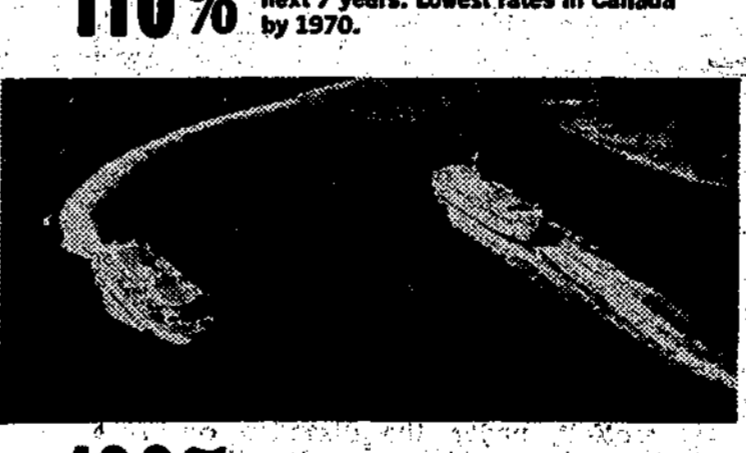

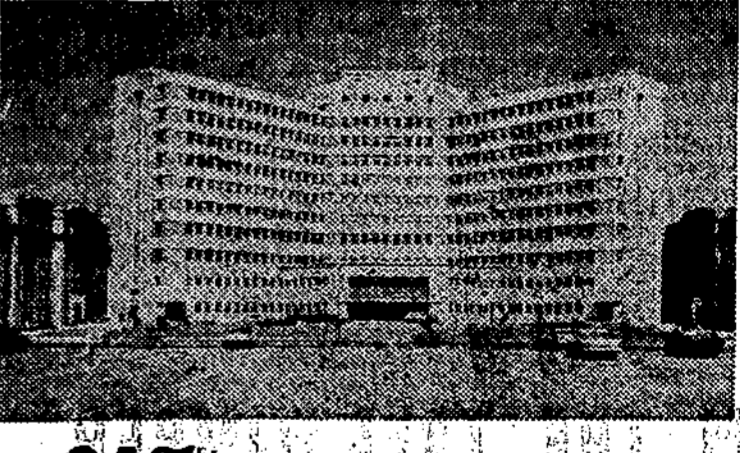

The wedding party left the church to the tune of "Marry Me" Love Song and entered the West Vancouver Capilano Gardens, where the reception was held, to Bonnie Lassie, played by Piper Neil McArthur. Mr. Garth Bennett proposed the toast to his niece.

For their honeymoon in the interior the bride wore a yellow dressmaker suit with white accessories. On their return the young couple will be at home at 2130 West 3rd Avenue in Vancouver.

It was a happy occasion for the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John McLean, Calgary, who was celebrating her 80th birthday.

Other out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Bennett, uncle and aunt of the bride, with Debbie and Graham, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cobbin, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Allan, Chilliwack; Mr. and Mrs. F. Feil, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. R. Luoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Luoma, Campbell River; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sandberg, Mr. and Mrs. R. Crawford and Mrs. E. Robinson, Roberts Creek.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

CINNAMON ORANGE BARS
Yield — 4 dozen bars

¾ cup once-sifted all-purpose flour or 1 cup once-sifted pastry flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup lightly-packed brown sugar
3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons cooking oil

2 teaspoons grated orange rind
3 tablespoons orange juice
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup finely-chopped Brazil nuts
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Grease two 8-inch square cake pans. Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. (moderate.)

Sift together into a bowl the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder and salt; mix in brown sugar. Make a well in dry ingredients and add egg yolks, oil, orange rind and juice, vanilla and chopped nuts. Mix liquids slightly, then combine with dry ingredients to make a smooth batter. Sprinkle egg whites with cream of tartar and beat until very stiff. Add batter to egg whites, a third at a time, folding gently to combine after each addition. Turn batter into prepared pans. Bake in preheated oven about 30 minutes.

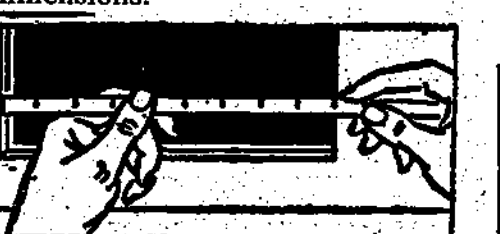

Meantime, combine granulated sugar and cinnamon. Cut baked cakes into six strips, cut each strip into four bars. Roll warm bars in sugar-cinnamon mixture. Cool on cake racks. Store in covered tin.

Those broken windows!

Replacing broken window panes is probably one of the oldest do-it-yourself projects in Canadian homes, according to Fred Bogardus, president of Bogardus, Wilson, one of Western Canada's largest flat glass distributors.

To help handymen do a better and more professional-looking job, here are some simple steps recommended by Bogardus, Wilson experts:

1. Remove bits of glass and clean old putty from the sash, using a chisel or a heavy screw driver, tapping the tool with a hammer to free difficult fragments. It's a good idea to wear gloves for this. Pull out the glazier's points with pliers. In the case of metal sash, remove the glazing clips or unscrew the metal leading or strips.
2. Use a steel tape or a wooden rule to measure for new glass. If the sash is out of alignment, take several measurements to be sure you have the exact inside dimensions.

3. For smaller panes, single strength window glass is adequate, but it is advisable to use double strength for metal sash or large windows with a single pane. It should be cut ¼ to 3/16 inches smaller than the actual opening to allow for sash irregularities, expansion and even stresses.

4. Apply a cushion of putty to the groove of the sash before inserting the glass. This will help insure a good, weather-tight seal when the glass is set and prevent water and air leaking around the pane.
5. Press the new glass gently but firmly into place in the putty cushion. Holding it in place, press or drive the glazier's points into the wood using the side of a screw-driver or chisel. Three or four points to a side are sufficient to hold larger panes, two on smaller ones.
6. Roll putty to pencil thickness and lay the rolls end to end around the sides of the sash. Press it firmly in place, smoothing it with a putty knife to form a triangular bevel between sash edge and glass.

Be sure putty doesn't extend above the frame on the opposite side of glass, and is parallel with it.

7. A light application of water with a soft paint brush will remove putty streaks from the glass, or if you prefer, allow putty to dry a day or two and clean smudges with turpentine.

Teenage problems

(By C. D. SMITH)

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "It has been a year and a half since I have gone with Bill. We didn't stop 'going together' because we didn't care for each other — we like each other a lot—but because I wasn't allowed to go out with him in his car. I am 17 now and he has been going with another girl. I have heard directly and indirectly, that he still likes me and wants to take me out. He means very much to me and is among my dearest and most frequent thoughts. I have been told by our school counselor that I am too sensitive and serious-minded. Perhaps this is true, but in this day and age a girl has to have seriousness in order to stand on her own two feet. Frequently a tear is shed and often serious words are spoken, but I do miss him so much and think about the fun we had together in the past. I have gone with other boys, but I still feel I like Bill very much — more than I expected. Will he ask me out again? Should I accept? Will things be different? Will he have changed, or anything?"

OUR REPLY: We change from day to day, all of us. We grow older — and should get smarter, although this doesn't always hold true. The teenager should change more in a year and one-half than an adult, naturally.

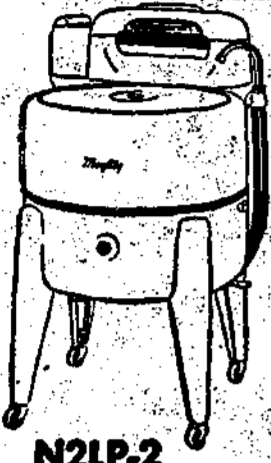

But, it is difficult to define exactly what "change" means. Bill should be older and wiser, still "fun" to be with, if the right "changes" have taken place.

If Bill still likes you, he will probably ask you to go out. If you still like him, you will probably accept. If he likes you enough, he may be old enough to realize that sitting on a porch swing with the "right" girl is far better than riding around in a car with just another girl.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS. — Coast News.

Bedroom expansion

Split entry's are news in the house building world, and here is a little gem of a split entry house, having two bedrooms up, but space for future bedrooms down. This would convert this two bedroom home into a four bedroom home. Open planning through the kitchen and dining areas, with glass doors leading out onto the sundeck over the carport means that the family can live outdoors during the warmer months — the living room features an outside wall fireplace for lots of room for furniture arranging. All these are desirable features about this house. As it is shown, it makes a good house, with lots of space for living, but completion of the extra rooms in the lower levels, changes it into a good family home. Designed for N.H.A. approval, blueprints are obtainable from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd. 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Vancouver 10, B.C. Write for our new plan book, containing building and home renovation information, and price list for plans, enclosing 50c to cover cost.

Elect a New Democratic Government by voting for Anthony J. Gargrave and this Legislative Programme.

Education

Your New Democratic government will immediately increase grants to universities and colleges in the province and, in addition, provide provincial scholarships for all students who have the ability but lack the funds for a university education. Believing in the importance of democratic control, your New Democratic government will move to stop the present drive towards the centralization of elementary and secondary education. It will provide local school boards, and the staff and principals of our schools, with more authority and greater latitude for the creative development of education.

Power

Your New Democratic government will act immediately to end the chaos of the present power policy. The power policy of your government will be based upon the orderly, step by step development of this province's great power potential beginning with the Columbia River and, specifically, the Mica Creek and Duncan dams. Unlike the present government, your New Democratic government will provide full and accurate information on every aspect of its power policy. The aim will be low cost public power for British Columbia as the first and essential step to any power programme, and the orderly, integrated development of both Columbia and Peace River systems.

Automobile Insurance

Your New Democratic government will introduce legislation providing for an automobile insurance scheme similar to that in operation in Saskatchewan. Consumer Report magazine described this scheme as the cheapest and most effective automobile insurance in North America. For one low premium, roughly half what motorists now pay, all automobiles in the province will be fully covered and all motorists and pedestrians fully protected.

GM cars in 17 colors

Tones of red and brown, apropos of this Fall's fashion trends, as well as blue predominate in the exterior color choices for the new Oshawa-built General Motors cars for 1964 unveiled in Montreal at their initial press preview. GM will offer 17 standard colors, 11 metallic and six solid colors, this year.

Yellow returns to the GM color line-up after an absence of a year. Named Goldwood Yellow it is among eight new color offerings. Two new metallic greens, Bahama and Meadow, dark and medium respectively, are among the most exciting additions for 1964. Others include Skyline Blue, Sunfire Red, Azure Aqua, Lagoon Aqua, Desert Beige and Almond Fawn. The continuing colors are Tuxedo Black, Ermine White, Satin Silver, Silver Blue, Palomar Red, Azure Aqua, Saddle Tan, Ember Red and Diplomat Blue.

Interior upholstery of alternating bright and dull nylon and viscose yarns keyed to exterior colors place considerable new emphasis on stripes. Even some patterned fabrics have a striped effect. Plain fabrics are also being shown along with the more traditional patterns.

Especially noteworthy among the new GM fabrics are soft-toned pastels in fawns and aqua. One new design shown has a three dimensional effect

Log-rolling big hit

Peninsula Hotel Labor Day sports was one of the best held there so far. A doubles horseshoe contest was won by George Weal and Russell Cramer. A tug-of-war was won by Sechelt's Nature Boys.

A log-rolling competition stole the show and Buddy Jones of Gibsons put on a really fine show along with Harry Thompson Jr. of Sechelt. Jones won the event.

SOCCER

(By GOALIE)

Juvenile league results Sunday, Sept. 15:

Gibsons Merchants 3, Sechelt Warriors 0.

Sechelt Indians 15, Sechelt Legion 0.

Port Mellon 0, Gibsons Utd. 0.

Sunday, Sept. 22 schedule:

Sechelt Legion vs. Gibsons Merchants.

Roberts Creek vs. Port Mellon.

Gibsons Utd. vs Sechelt Indians.

All games kick off at 2 p.m.

A good sized crowd watched Port Mellon Thunderbirds open their league season when Gibsons United provided the opposition on Sunday at Port Mellon. A good hard game which ended in a 0-0 tie, and to this writer that seemed a fair result.

The home team defended stubbornly and in three break-aways almost scored the winner — one shot beat Hansen but rebounded from the upright. To even that up the nippy United forwards were swarming around the Port Mellon goal for about 75 percent of the game and if Watson had been shorter in height, he may not have got to a couple of good efforts in the second half.

The Port Mellon coaches are faced with the task of building a new team this year after having lost eight or nine players from last season's team.

The United seem to have laid the groundwork for a fair team this year and should improve on last season's league standing. Let's see a good turn out of parents to all these juvenile games this season and help the boys and their coaches. It helps when they see a good turn out of spectators.

NIGHT SCHOOL

The response to the School Board advertisement regarding the Night School programme has been disappointing. The Night School Programme will be just as good as you want to make it. ARE YOU INTERESTED?

A minimum of 15 students is required for each subject except in the case of approved academic courses where a smaller number may be acceptable. Each course costs from $10.00 to $15.00. The subjects requested and the number of persons who have signified their intention of enrolling for the 1963-64 session is as follows:

History 102	— 8 persons
Spanish	— 2
Typing	— 7
Shorthand	— 6
French	— 2
Bookkeeping	— 1
Oil Painting or Art	— 6
Sewing	— 1
Woodworking	— 1
Math 91	— 2
Modern Mathematics	— 1
Speedwriting	— 2
German	— 2
Elocution	— 1
Industrial First Aid	— 1
English 40	— 1
Upholstery	— 1

As you can readily see, NONE of these courses has a large enough enrolment to warrant night school in this area this year. However, applications will be accepted until the end of September either at the School Board Office in Gibsons or by the Principals of your local schools. Fill out the attached form — ENROLL NOW
