Net 27 ft. shark off Popham Isle

A five ton, 27 ft. 10 inch basking shark caused considerable trouble to Alex Smith of Gibsons while fishing off Popham Island, between Keats and Bowen Islands early Tuesday.

It got tangled in his net and ruined the $200 equipment completely. To kill the monster he resorted to towing it head first forcing water through its gills, thus drowning it.

It had a three foot dorsal fin and a tail span of seven feet.

The shark was beached over by the Headlands to see if the net could be salvaged. It will be floated on high tide and taken out to deep water where it will be allowed to sink.

Mr. Smith is a son of Mrs. Dal Triggs.

August --- just August

Temperatures were a little warmer, rainfall and humidity a little lower, and skies were a little brighter than normal. Otherwise little else can be said for August except that it helped to round out the summer as the best ever recorded.

If September runs true to form there should be 10 days with rain for a total of 2½ inches, highest temperature should be 80 degrees, lowest should be 38 degrees and mean temperature 58 degrees. We shall see — but at any rate, no one will forget our centennial summer.

LEAVE ON TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. R.D. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. T. Dick, neighbors on Gower Point Rd. have motored to Kamloops via Seattle to visit friends and relatives. They expect to be back Monday, Sept. 15.

Farewell for Joe Bourque

The Gibsons Kinsmen Club held its first dinner meeting of the season in the Clubhouse on Thurs. Sept 4. The Kinettes provided a pot luck supper to bid farewell to Pat and Joe Bourque who have left for Merritt.

Joe joins the staff of the Bank of Montreal there and will be transferring to the Merritt Kinsmen, who will find him as active a member as he was with the Gibsons Club.

Guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Goertzen were welcomed by new Kin President Bill Laing.

The Indian sweater, raffled by the Kinettes was drawn for by Pat Bourque, and the winner was Norm McKay, of Gibsons, with ticket No. 143. Kin Bud Fisher delivered the sweater that evening in order that Norm would would have it in time for the big fishing derby.

Business was kept to a minimum but reports were heard on the Kinsmen Swim Classes and on the Kinettes Coffee counter at Langdale. Both projects were considered successful and worth the hard work and effort that made them possible.

Installation of the new executive will take place on Thurs. Sept. 18.

Parents and pupils at swim wind-up

The Kinsmen Swim Classes at Gibsons ended on Aug. 27 for this season. On that evening Miss Linda Shier examiner from the Red Cross Water Safety service put the junior and intermediate classes through their tests. Miss Donna Clements examined the beginners herself.

Because many of the children have had colds and that day being colder, some of them were not able to be there for the exams.

About 125 were enrolled at the beginning of the season and several more had to be turned away as that was the maximum that could be handled. The classes on hand for the tests were divided as follows, 30 beginners with 25 passing, 15 juniors with 9 passing, and one intermediate who passed.

Miss Clements, who instructed for the season, will be mailing out the buttons and badges to those who passed.

Films on learning to swim and water safety were enjoyed by many of the students and quite a few parents when they were shown in the Kinsmen Clubhouse. The Kinsmen intend to continue these classes next year and will endeavor to raise funds to maintain this service.

Using the Red Cross methods for teaching will give continuity to the classes each year and it is hoped that local students will develop their swimming enough to be sent down to Vancouver for the instructing courses. The Kinsmen thank all those who assisted in making this project a success in its first year.

Busy time

It was a busy weekend in Gibsons during the big Fish Derby and as a result two of the largest fish caught were channeled through the weigh-in point at Smitty's Boat Rentals.

Both Mrs. Nuotio's coffee shop and the Dutch Boy remained open long hours during the weekend to accommodate the fishermen and along with Smitty's Boat Rentals all reported brisk business as a result of the influx.

Sechelt has new problem

The regular meeting of Sechelt Village Commission was held Sept. 3, with all members present.

Accounts totalling $452.81 were passed for payment. This included a grant to the Kinsmen's Club of $200 and a payment to Sechelt Recreation Commission of $190.

A petition in favor of the RCMP building to be erected on the Toynbee property was presented to Council and after discussion, Mr. Gordon moved, seconded by Mr. Parker, that the petition be tabled. This motion was defeated.

The matter being discussed further, it was moved by Mr. Dawe, seconded by Mr. Lamb, that this petition be dealt with in the same manner as that petition opposing the RCMP building and that the two petitions be filed. This motion was carried.

Mr. Dawe made a brief report on progress at Hackett Park and other points in connection with parks and beaches etc., were discussed.

Oct. bazaar

A special meeting of the Sechelt Kinettes was held Sept. 3 at the home of Mrs. Faye Hansen. Mrs. Dianne Benner was appointed secretary to take the place of Mrs. Hope Humme who has left for Williams Lake. Mrs. Harriet Newton was appointed director.

Plans were made for the bazaar to be held Octocer 23 at the Legion Hall in Sechelt, all proceeds going to St. Mary's hospital. Any donations will be greatly appreciated.

Reach objective

Members of the W.A. of the United Church, Roberts Creek, thank all friends and visitors who attended the annual sale of work and tea and helped make it such a happy occasion.

Members are few in number but under the able leadership of their president, Mrs. Edith Sturgeon, they have worked hard and have realised their objective of having the church building moved further back on the grounds and also having the fencing completed.

$307.50 from citizens presented to firemen

Cash and cheques totalling $307.50 were handed over to Fire Chief Fred Feeney Tuesday afternoon at the Coast News office as a result of the fund started in the columns of the Coast News to replace lost and damaged clothing belonging to firemen who fought the Bal Block fire.

Included in this amount was a cheque for $25 from the Headlands Service club which brought the total to beyond the $300 mark on the last day.

Mr. Feeney was pleased with the donations from about 60 persons who thought well enough of their fire department to lend a welcome hand to the firemen. One cheque for a fair sized amount came from a woman who is in hospital and not expected to live.

"I can only say thank you and thank you again for the confidence the people of this area have in their fire department," Mr. Feeney said.

"The amount is surprisingly large and it will be spent wisely. After the various firemen who lost clothing or had some damaged are taken care of, the remainder of the money will go towards requirements as they are needed and a complete accounting will be kept so that citizens will be informed as to what has happened to their donations.

"Again on behalf of the fire department I thank all who so generously donated this money. It will give the fire department a greater desire to work on behalf of their community," he added.

Boards of Trade to meet

The first fall meeing of this year for the Board of Trade of Gibsons will be held Monday night, Sept. 15, in the Coast News office.

Under a new arrangement passed by the board several meetings back, the board's year is now the calendar year and not from September to June. This means present officials remain in office until the end of the year. Time is approaching when a committee will be formed to name the officials who will lead the board for the next year.

Commencing the fall session of the Sechelt Board of Trade a dinner meeting will be held Sept. 20 in the Legion Hall, Sechelt.

Main speaker will be Dr. Gordon Shrum of U.B.C. whose subject will be "Meeting the Challenge."

A large turnout for this initial meeting is expected.

A party of about 12 people came down from Powell River for the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair and they brought with them a three piece dance aggregation which supplied music for a late dance on the first night of the fair. Those desircus of taking the trip should inform Mrs. M. LeFeuvre of the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair committee, at Gibsons 95F. She could arrange for a cavalcade to go up as a unit.

Brownies require leaders

There are 45 Brownies in Gibsons seeking leaders. Two are required for the two packs. The leaders they had last season are not available this year, one having moved out of the area and the other finding herself unable to carry on. The girls want to continue as Brownies but must have leaders.

If there are any of the fair sex who can carry on with the packs this season they are asked to contact Mrs. Labonte at Gibsons 90W or Mrs. J. Wilson at 299.

Next meeting of the Gibsons Girl Guide association will be held Oct. 6 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. Wilson. The association is in a flourishing state as regards the Guides and Brownies but the problem of leaders is a major difficulty.

Governor at Kiwanis

Lucky escape

Early Monday morning's fire occurred in the Cyril Johnson home back of the liquor store. It was noticed at about 2.50 a.m. Firemen responded and doused a smouldering chesterfield chair and floor mat. Fire had reached one wall of the upstairs room and had started on the mattress of the bed where the occupant was sleeping.

Firemen marvel at the escape of the sleeper from asphyxiation. The fire was quickly extinguished. Damage was estimated in the region of $300

No doubt about neatness

An argument is underway in Vancouver over suitable clothes to be worn at school by pupils. It raises the question, why only at school?

The generation which can recall the days when one's shoes just had to be shined and one's hair kept trim with suitable clothing between the hair and shoes, is dwindling rapidly but the younger generation can be assured those days were real, not fiction. Appearance was of prime importance then.

Members of the armed forces know from experience the man who looked after his clothing and equipment seldom ran into trouble. Self-discipline was the factor there and it is self-help that can do the trick today.

Young folk today dislike the thought of discipline. Young people at school dote on uniformity, even to behaviour. Why not start a movement to be known as "social presentation" which could be the sugar-coated word for discipline?

Self-help is an inexpensive idea and before today's young people reach the heights they hope to reach they will bump into a wall of discipline. It is better they start now and get used to it by helping themselves to large chunks of discipline. It will hurt less today that the bump into the wall of discipline will later on.

Archer Wallace at rest

A friend of many readers of the Coast News and one whose inspirational articles have drawn many favorable comments, died July 30 in Newmarket, Ont., hospital. He was buried from the little church at Maple, Ont., to which town he retired in 1954.

While death has removed his person his articles will continue to be published in the Coast News as there is a backlog of them on file with others still coming in. The editor never met Mr. Wallace but has had a cheerful correspondence with him and each Christmas received a card from him expressing his sentiments.

Here is what the United Church monthly magazine Observer had to say about him editorially:

"This passing year has been taking a heavy harvest of leaders and ministers of The United Church of Canada. Now Archer Wallace has gone from us to join the great number of faithful whose work, but not influence, on earth is done.

"The ministry of The Rev. Archer Wallace, M.A., D.D., was great within the church where for many years he was associated with the late Dr. George Little in the Department of Sunday School publications. But there is none to dispute the suggestion that his ministry to those outside was greater. Years ago little boys were inspired by his 'Overcoming Handicaps' and 'Stories of Grit' and his boys' books have sold in many tongues.

"More recently his devotional books, newspaper columns and television broadcasts have continued a rich ministry even out of so-called retirement. In many ways he was one of the great men of Canada and of the Canadian Church."

How just can you get?

Both with the Geological Survey and as a consulting engineer he has had extensive experience in all manner of problems pertaining to the development of natural resources in British Columbia, the Yukon and Northwest Territories and in the western provinces.

His business experience includes the responsible position of executive vice-president of Overwaitea Ltd., operating a 44-unit chain food-store organization which is 100% British Columbia owned.

BETWEEN OURSELVES BY Archer Wallace

PERIL OF BOREDOM

A keen observer of human nature wrote: "There are multitudes who can bear a great calamity with courage and dignity but are completely upset by trivial happenings. They can rise to a crisis but fail in the commonplace."

Take the matter of self-control. I don't know how the phrase fly off the handle originated but it serves a purpose and it is astonishing how quickly intelligent and really fine people become irritable over little things and offset much good they do. A striking example of this was the case of the philosopher and historian Thomas Carlyle. Perhaps too much has been made of his irritability and lapses into bad temper but it is certain no one regretted his lack of self-control, at times more than he did himself.

* * *

Long before the days of typewriters he wrote an important book on the French Revolution. He had spent years writing it, for there was a tremendous amount of research needed, and the author was one of the most thorough and painstaking men who ever lived. He was proud of this monumental work, for, though he had written many other books, he knew that this one was unusual.

Carlyle was a strange genius, but he was not given to boasting. Yet, knowing how completely he had given himself to this great work, he said to his readers: "You have not had for a hundred years any book that comes more direct and flamingly from the heart of a living man."

He had a close and intimate friend named John Stuart Mill, whose judgment he valued. When the last page of his book was written, Carlyle called on his friend and left the bulky manuscript with him. Then a really terrible thing happened for Carlyle. Mill laid the manuscript down in his library and neglected to tell his housemaid anything about it; and when she was cleaning his room, she threw the precious pages in the fire. In a few short minutes the labors of many years were destroyed.

* * *

How Carlyle felt when the news of this great loss was broken to him we do not know. Most men would have been frantic and angry beyond words. All we know is that Carlyle did all in his power to conceal from his friend how great was his loss. He did not want either Mill or his servant to know the extent of his grief. Their feelings, not his, were his chief concern. And so, line by line, Carlyle began all over again to write his French Revolution, and when it was published, it was soon recognized as one of the classic books of all literature.

The struggle to gain self-control has been recognized by the people of every age and nation as of supreme importance. In the Bible we read: "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." Many a man who has conquered others and taken cities could not conquer his own temper.

* * *

Carlyle lived to become one of the really great men of his generation. His books were profound and very important. Yet many will remember this man, not alone for his system of philosophy, but also because of this episode in his life when he might well have lost control of his temper but instead remained calm and considerate. A serious mistake had been made, yet he wanted to spare the feelings of others. He was never greater than at that moment.

How much of Carlyle's occasional lapses of bad temper was due to a physical or nervous condition is difficult to estimate, but we should be tolerant with him and with all men and women who find the commonplace harder to meet than the emergency. That was a very true thing Percy Ainsworth said: "More people fall victims to life's tiresomeness than to its tears." This is all the more reason why we should be at our best when we walk along the grey roads of life.

CUTTING NECESSARY

Certain areas of British Columbia's timber are seriously in need of cutting. These are stands of deteriorating overmature forest which should be removed to make room for young growth.

When logging began in British Columbia, there seemed to be no limit to timber resources. Today the forest industries must practice forest management to ensure continuous production.

Hurry, hurry with those bonds

After next Monday, local residents are reminded, it will no longer be possible to exchange old Victory bonds for the new, higher rate Conversion Loan bonds.

Bonds may be exchanged up until the close of business on Sept. 15. After that, the government offer expires.

With well over 80 percent of the new conversion loan now taken up, it is indicated that people of this community followed the example they set during the war and invested heavily in these government securities. There may be a few, however, who for one reason or another have delayed converting and they should go to their bank or investment dealer at once and take advantage of the "rights" which go with their Victory bonds.

Some local people who held only one or two Victory bonds and who would like a larger investment in conversion issues are being advised that they may increase their holdings by purchasing additional Victory bonds and then converting them. This also applies to those who have no Victory bonds and who would now like to become investors in Canada.

Jets in collision over Roberts Ck.

Two airmen of the reserve force, had a narrow escape when their jet trainer plane was in collision with another while flying at more than 10,000 feet over the Roberts Creek area on Georgia Strait, Saturday afternoon.

Both bailed out and were rescued by a fishing vessel which saw the airmen parachuting down. The skipper picked them out of the water and awaited the arrival of a Canso which took the flyers back to the Vancouver base. The second plane which circled the area for a few minutes after the mishap managed to make the Vancouver base and land. All men involved were from Vancouver area.

British Columbia's first pulp and paper mill was built about 1894 in Port Alberni. Due to lack of technical knowledge and inexperience of the operators, the enterprise went bankrupt.

Table companions are big help aboard ship

(By Thomas Humphries)

ARTICLE 3

On Tuesday, April 29, we had an early breakfast at the Hotel and at 9 a.m. took a taxi to the C.P.R. wharf, presented our credentials and boarded the 'Empress of England!

Formalities of reserving seats in the dining saloon, procuring deck chairs, findng our state room, filling up questionnaires, etc. kept us busy until sailing time at 11 a.m. when we went up to the promenade deck together with most of the other passengers to watch the usual send off proceedings when a liner sails.

Rolls of colored paper tape were distributed to the passengers by the deck stewards and there were soon streamers of tape connecting the ship to friends on the dock as she was slowly eased out into the St. Lawrence by three tugs.

The 'Empress of England' is the newest of the Empress ships, 24,000 tons, and the tourist class accommodation was all that could be desired. Our cabin was comfortable and commodious, fully equipped with heat control, air conditioning, wardrobes, shower, etc., a far cry from the old days when the air below decks was not all that could be desired and certainly did not improve matters for any land lubber with a weak stomach.

We lost no time in making a tour of the rest of the ship and satisfied ourselves that we could quite comfortably spend six days in such luxurious and comfortable surroundings. These comprised a games deck, two covered promenade decks with rows of deck chairs, a picture theatre, swimming pool, public lounge, ballroom, stores, barber shop, beauty shop, etc.

A thousand miles of the course is down the St. Lawrence and the St. Lawrence estuary which gives the passengers a chance to get their sea legs before reaching the open Atlantic. We were rather looking forward to this sail down the St. Lawrence with the beautiful Quebec countryside on each bank but, unfortunately, the weather was not all that could be desired, a cold drizzly afternoon, so we did not see the St. Lawrence under the best conditions.

Our table companions proved to be most agreeable, a couple from Australia who had arrived in Vancouver two weeks earlier on the 'Himalaya', making a tour round the world, and a couple from Boston who were going to England to visit a relative whom they had not seen for 50 years. Before the voyage was over we became very friendly indeed with these table companions.

We also saw a good deal of John Fyles of Hopkins Landing who was making one of his frequent visits to England to renew acquaintance with his beloved Lake district. We also met and enjoyed the company of friends from the Fraser Valley and Saskatoon whom we had been previously advised were sailing on the same ship. Incidentally we found the meals and service on the ship excellent.

Early in the afternoon we were advised over the loud speaker system that boat drill would be held at 5 p.m. and all passengers were urged to go to their cabins, don their life jackets and proceed to their muster stations as designated in their cabins. When the passengers were all mustered at their proper stations advice was given over the loud speaker system as to the alarm signals which would be sounded in case of emergency, passengers were inspected by the officers and any insecurely fastened life jackets were adjusted, boats were lowered from the boat deck to the level of the promenade deck and the passengers were then dismissed.

We stopped in mid stream at Quebec at 8 o'clock and passengers were brought out by tender, then we were on our way again. After dinner and a walk on the promenade deck we watched the dancing in the Empress Ball Room for a while and, having been notified that the ship's clocks would be put forward an hour at 12 p.m. and, with this advanced time it was already close to midnight, we called it a day and retired to our cabin.

POWER CONFERENCE

B.C. Power Commission general manager H. L. Briggs will represent the publicly-owned utility at the 15th World Power conference sectional meeting Sept. 7-11 at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal. More than 1,000 delegates, representative of leading utility and electrical manufacturing companies, from about 50 countries, are expected to attend the session.

Always give A LONG VIGOROUS RING

- when calling the telephone operator
- when ringing off

In a magneto telephone system, it is important that you turn the crank vigorously and continuously for about 3 seconds at the beginning and end of each call. The first long ring tells the operator that you want to make a call and the last tells her the line is free.

REMEMBER: the RING-OFF is especially important, otherwise the operator may report your line as "busy" to anyone trying to call you.
