Villages nominate on Dec. 1

Two commissioners will have to be chosen for the 1959 Gibsons Village commission and two for the village of Sechelt. There will also be a school board trustee to be elected for the Village of Sechelt.

Under the new Schools Act the organized areas elect by open nomination and election a representative to the School Board. In Gibsons, Mrs. A.E. Ritchey, present member on the board for Gibsons was chosen by the department of education to continue next year as the Gibsons representative. After that there will be open nomination and election for the post. In Sechelt where the present representative lives outside Sechelt, there will have to be a nomination and an election if necessary.

Retiring commissioners in Sechelt are Commissioners Lamb and Parker. It is possible they might seek re-election. In Gibsons Commissioners Ballentine and Crowhurst are definitely retiring which will mean candidates will have to be found to fill their seats on the council.

Commissioners in Sechelt and Gibsons will be elected for a two-year term. The Sechelt school trustee will also be elected for a two-year term.

Nomination day at both centres will be Dec. 1 with an election on Dec. 11 if necessary.

Scout speaker

W.S. Potter, Elphinstone High School principal will be speaker at the annual dinner of the Sunbeam Coast Boy Scouts association at Danny's Potlatch dining room, Friday night of this week.

The dinner will start at 7:30 p.m. and afterwards there will be district reports made. Other events accompanying annual meetings will take place.

The Eastern Star Bazaar and sale of work held at Gibsons on Nov. 14 met with its usual success. Mrs. C. Wingrave had made the School Hall attractive by using multi-colored stars and glistening tinsel in the decorations.

Homes were Mrs. George MacDonald, W.M.; Mrs. R. Cumming, A.M., and Mrs. E.J. Shaw, P.M. Mrs. J.H. Drummond, Grand Chaplain, opened the affair at 2:30. Mrs. J. Swan was the convener.

All departments did an active business and the wide assortment of articles soon diminished.

Raffled grocery hampers went to Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. M. Gordon, Mrs. D. Matthews, and Mrs. R. Taylor.

The sweater was won by Mrs. LeWarne, the carving set by Mrs. P. Doyle and the quilt by Mrs. R. Cumming. The holder of the door-prize number, 43791, was not present when the number was called.

VOLLEYBALL TOURNEY

There will be a volleyball tournament at Elphinstone High school, Sat. Dec. 6 between Max Cameron and Brooks schools, Powell River, Pender Harbour and Elphinstone, senior girls and boys. More details will be given next week.

THE BASKET, PLEASE!

The Auxiliary to the Fire Services would like whoever has the basket to get it started again. It is out Gower Point way this time.

CNIB CAMPAIGN

To date only two out of 15 CNIB canvassers have completed their canvass and returns to date are $234 which is encouraging. The amount usually collected is from $600 to $800.

Large turnout for Remembrance service

The Armistice Day service of Canadian Legion Branch 109, in the Legion Hall, Gibsons, experienced favorable weather and a large turnout of veterans, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies and citizens of the district filled the hall to capacity.

The chaplain, Rev. Dennis Harris assisted by Rev. David Donaldson and Mr. T. Stangroom conducted the service. The choir of St. Bartholomew's led the singing of well-known hymns and also sang a choral selection.

Presented to the service in the hall, a small group of Veterans headed by the branch president, Ike Mason, together with members of the Ladies Auxiliary, placed a wreath on the cenotaph at Sechelt Cemetery. On their return the two minute silence was observed and the playing of the 'Lament' by Piper Thompson, the Last Post and Reveille by a bugler and the dipping and raising of the standards climaxed a reverent tribute to those who gave their all.

Saturday last the local branch held its annual dinner and dance. About 170 people attended and enjoyed the wonderful turkey dinner cooked and served by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Hazen Argue attacks natural resources give-away

Something is happening in British Columbia which is shameful and that is the alienation of natural resources to private interests, Hazen Argue, federal C.C.F. leader said when addressing the CCF-Trades Union conference dinner Saturday night at Gibsons.

"I think good, honest, substantial citizens are seeking an alternative to the present type of B.C. government and the only way to clean corruption out of this province is to elect a CCF government under Robert Strachan, provincial CCF leader," Mr. Argue added.

Mr. Argue in stressing the importance of the alignment of CCF with Trades Unionism said there was a grave responsibility involved and that "we are not playing for marbles."

"I ask you to help the CCF movement by defeating the Social Credit party in the next election," he added.

Chairman of the Village Commission, A.E. Ritchey welcomed the delegates after the chairman, David Rees, introduced the head table. There were about 80 persons at the dinner in the Potlatch room of Danny's Dining Room. At the head table were Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Ritchey, Grace McInnes, Tony Gargrave, CCF member for Mackenzie riding, Mr. Ar-guie and Rev. and Mrs. E.F. Kemp. Mr. Kemp said Grace. Mr. Argue examined federal policies of the Diefenbaker government and said there was nothing but a train of broken promises since he was elected to commons with a huge majority. He also outlined the progress of the Saskatchewan CCF government and said the same could be achieved in British Columbia.

Dealing with federal policies Mr. Argue said the Liberal weaknesses resulted in the election of the Diefenbaker government and in the second election the other parties all lost heavily to the Conservatives but the CCF vote remained fairly constant in the total national vote. The Tories were elected because of promises they made but, he asked, what have they done about these promises?

A federal-provincial conference was promised but nothing has happened so far. Old Age Pensions were to be the subject of an inquiry and a report was to be made in four months time. That four months is long past and there still is no report. Before the election nothing was too good for pensioners but after the election it did not matter, he said.

Hospitalization was another promise not kept and farm deficiency payments were such that the farmers regard the amount of $1 per acre up to 200 acres as "treaty money" to keep them off the warpath. Unemployment had also shown an increase. As regards the Liberal leader, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Argue said he did not know where he was going.

The CCF was the only real opposition to the Diefenbaker government, he said. The recent bond conversion he said was a gift of $60,000,000 a year from the taxpayers to the great financial institutions. Few of these bonds were held by the ordinary taxpayer. They were held by the banks, mortgage houses and other financial institutions. Mr. Diefenbaker did this to keep faith with the great financial institutions who helped the Tories get into power, Mr. Argue said.

Mr. Argue explained how the CCF in Saskatchewan had increased the use of power on farms from 130 outlets when they took over to a province-wide distribution which will soon cover every area. The government will also distribute natural gas, he said. There was also the government ambulance service which his family had used three times, he said.

Resolution on cattle held up

As the result of advice given the Old Age Pensioners meeting concerning straying cattle, a resolution which had been prepared seeking government help was held in abeyance.

Tom Hughes, SPCA managing director for British Columbia said he had studied the proposed resolution and while he would not discourage it, from his long experience knew the only answer to the problem, that of many other such small communities, is a pound run by the SPCA.

In this district it would only need to be a modest one with a man on duty only when necessary. The community, he said, was entitled to protection from animals just as the opposite obtained. The society at present is approaching the government with the view to having all animal revenue in the province turned over to them by which the work would be greatly facilitated.

Reg Adams village commissioner, questioned the setting up of a pound in the village as being contrary to zoning laws. Mr. Hughes replied that a pound was a building just the same as a house or store and that he had never met a zoning law prohibiting it in any other place. It would be necessary for the Gibsons and Sechelt commissions to pass the necessary by-law and sign the usual agreement authorizing the Society to run a pound and turn animal revenue over. It would not be necessary to put a pound building in the village as it could be on the outskirts.

At the meeting which was held in the Kinsmen hall on Monday afternoon Mr. Hughes dealt with the powers with which the SPCA has been invested since 1935 and said its main purpose was to see that the laws regarding animals are being enforced and the necessary prosecutions made. The O.A.P. and the SPCA had much in common, mainly that both had always to fight for their rights. Many did not know that any O.A.P. could get free treatment for sick pets if brought to the SPCA.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Sechelt Cubs will again be selling Christmas trees and are now conducting a door-to-door canvass for sales to be delivered at a later date. The Cubs will also have their tree stand in the village from which buyers can obtain their tree.

87 SATURDAY

Mrs. Anna Wilander, Gibsons celebrates her 87th birthday on Saturday, Nov. 22. She will have a visit from her son from Vancouver.

to the Vancouver Shelter Hospital.

A surprise visit from the vice-president, Mrs. M. Field, and the provincial secretary, Mrs. Elsie M. Buckley brought greetings to the branch and information about the activities of the association.

The new sound system supplied by Peninsula Television Sales and Service proved to be a great help to those clustered round the loud speaker to enjoy the meeting by knowing just what was being said. It was just as tryout and improvements in the operating will come with practice.

A committee composed of the president, the second vice-president and the secretary-treasurer with Mr. A. Kurtzhals and Mrs. Dadswell will meet and make arrangements for the Christmas Party on December 15, the final meeting of the year.

Cow destroyed

Is Thursday becoming a fateful day for animals? On that day recently a steer fell into a deep well and was rescued unscathed. Last Thursday, Nov. 13, another unfortunate animal was not so lucky.

Just after dusk on the Sechelt highway about two-and-a-half miles west of Gibsons village a valuable cow was hit by a motorist who kept right on going, leaving in his wake a chunk of his headlight reflector and the cow lying at the side of the road, frightfully mangled but still alive. It was left to a passing motorist to notify S.P.C.A. Inspector Chamberlin who gave the poor creature a merciful end.

HEARING DATE CHANGED

Date for the hearing by the Board of Transport Commissioners of the B.C. Telephone application for a revision of rates has been postponed by the board from Nov. 17 to Monday, Dec. 8, starting at 10 a.m. in room 305, Vancouver Public Library, Burrard St., Vancouver.

OUTLINE SCHOOL NEEDS

Future needs of School district No. 46 as outlined in the school board's annual report to the public reveals some expansion will be necessary even if the population remains the same.

A detailed school district pre-school population survey was completed last February. The statistics were incorporated in a five-year school population estimate. Indications were that without a population influx or deflux, the elementary school number would level off in general but the secondary number in each of the two high schools would increase. Pender Harbour High School would apparently be adequate in size for at least three years but additional class rooms would be required for high school pupils elsewhere by September, 1959.

As an immediate school population relief and to satisfy a developing feeling by parents to investigate the advisability of retaining Grades VII and VIII pupils at Sechelt without home economics, industrial arts and the special facilities for other courses and activities, in September Grade VII pupils were housed in the basement general purpose room of Sechelt Elementary School as an addition and sixth division.

Through correspondence with the department of education at Victoria it seems that grant approval would be given the following building proposals if finalization is early. On a three-year plan, up to six new classrooms might be built in suitable location.

a) At the moment, the trustees plan to build three classrooms for Grades VII and VIII of the 1957-58 Sechelt attendance area. A site would be acquired at or near Sechelt village. The department of education had suggested that if the district decided to withdraw the Sechelt Grades VII and VIII pupils from Elphinstone High School, it might be advisable to build a two-room elementary school in West Sechelt and thus release classroom space in the present Sechelt school for Grades VII and VIII.

The department plan would add a third room as an additional room to the present Sechelt school. As the recent school population survey does not indicate a significant increase in the near future, the building of the first Sechelt high school section would be delayed temporarily.

b) In the event that three new classrooms are planned in the Sechelt area, either for elementary school pupils or those of Grades VII and VIII two additional classrooms would be permitted for grant purposes at Elphinstone High School.

c) The department will allow a grant for a new one-room primary at Halfmoon Bay if the present school is condemned by them. Ideally, two classrooms for six grades would be preferable as intermediate grade pupils are transported at present to Madeira Park four-room elementary school. As the Madeira Park School has spare rooms now, the addition of a second new room at Halfmoon Bay might not be warranted, the board's report says.

B of T meeting

The usual third Monday in the month meeting of the Board of Trade of Gibsons will not take place as scheduled but will be held a week later, on Nov. 24.

Reason for the delay in the meeting is to allow Charles Bantock, manager of Boards of Trade of B.C. to discuss with members the board's future operations. This meeting will be held in the office of the Coast News and will start at 8 p.m. sharp to allow Mr. Bantock to catch a ferry back to town the same evening. Members are urged to attend and decide for themselves how to operate the board starting with the new year.

The old cow trail

In a facetious manner a few days ago a Powell River resident explained he arrived in Gibsons via the old cow trail. He was asked what old cow trail. He replied the Sunshine Coast Highway.

It is odd that a fine strip of paved highway with a 40 mile an hour speed limit should be termed an old cow trail. But facts must be faced. Some government department has seen fit to have erected along the highway, signs that read 'Open Range Country'.

To many people living here and particularly strangers coming along the highway in their cars and noting those signs the situation is a rather pathetic joke. From ground level there is no open range country to be seen. Careful study of air photos of the area would make one ask how can that be termed open range country. What does open range country mean?

If cows travelling along the highway ditches and getting in the way of traffic is the government department's new definition of open range country, that is what we have plenty of.

General meaning of the term "open range country" comes within the scope of the Gilbert and Sullivan song "Things are Seldom What they Seem" because the understanding is that if you have no herd law you are automatically open range country. Describing the coastal forest area as open range country is under regulations an easy way out but convincing anybody that such country is open range is another matter altogether.

We will once again point out to the department responsible that a man with an old nag towed behind a car moving at two miles an hour was fined for impeding traffic. The RCMP who laid the charge against the man with the nag should also have the right to lay a charge against the owners of cattle that impede traffic. The toll of dead cows is increasing so they must be impeding traffic.

There should be a policy of sweet reasonableness under which such things as the handling of cattle in a heavily wooded area can be settled. Is there any sweet reasonableness in what is now the rule along the Sunshine Coast? Why the cards should be stacked in favor of a few people who want "range fed" cattle is a mystery. If this were cattle country the open range signs would be an excellent idea but it requires a very vivid imagination to describe the ditches along the sides of highways as open range country.

School year lengths not all alike

British Columbia in 1958 had the shortest school year in Canada, excepting only Newfoundland. It works out at less than half a year of actual instruction.

The number of prescribed school days in the school year, as established by the department of education for this year was 194. Taking into account additional holidays over and above those set out in the school calendar, and deducting time required for writing Christmas and Easter examinations along with "free" time for students passing by recommendation, the "year" for many students is reduced in 1958 to about 171½ days.

These figures were supplied by the B.C. School Trustees Association following a lengthy survey. Initiated by demands of school boards at various provincial centres which said the B.C. school system was "too soft," the survey was carried out by R. T. Cubbon, BCSTA research assistant, under direction of a special committee headed by John Williams of Sooke, Vancouver Island representative to the BCST executive.

"Results of this survey have confirmed the charges of those who claimed that school facilities were not being utilized to the fullest extent and points up the fact that 1958 instruction time for B.C. students is one of the shortest in Canada," said Mr. Williams.

"This study will continue, because figures do not tell the whole story," Mr. Williams added. "But they are startling enough to back up those boards which have asked for a longer school year to provide maximum use of school buildings and equipment."

In his comparison of school years, Mr. Cubbon found that Newfoundland prescribed 187 days; B.C., 194; Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, 195; Alberta, 196; Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island 200.

He also found that most students in Canada spend five hours daily in school, though the three prairie provinces have 5½ and some Quebec students seven.

Another interesting development in the survey was the discovery that senior students in most American cities spend more time in school than their counterparts in B.C. This applied across Canada, with the exception only of Toronto.

Mr. Cubbon found also, in comparing available figures on the Russian and American systems, that the Russian student receives as much instruction in 10 years as the American does in 12.

Part of this is due to the fact that the Russian students attend school six days a week, whereas the American student has a five-day week. Practice throughout the western world is five days.

"It was difficult to obtain direct comparisons between Canadian and Russian systems," said Mr. Cubbon.

"On the basis of the 194-day school year in 1958, it appeared that B.C. and Russian students were comparable on a 10-year basis. Our sources show that the Russian students spend 9,780 hours in school in 10 years and the B.C. student 9,700 if he puts in the full 194 days.

The Soviet student is required to spend a lot more time on home work, and hence devotes more time to actual study.

One of the problems in making comparisons between different countries was the variation in holidays. Americans and Russians have three months off in the summer compared to two for Canadians. Other holidays, such as Christmas and Easter, vary in different countries.

Hours in the teaching day in New South Wales, Western Australia and New Zealand are very similar to the general pattern in Canadian provinces. In Great Britain, as a rule, the hours are slightly shorter.

Also included in the study are various systems of year-round

Welsh mountains provide change of scenery

Article 13

By Thomas Humphries

Before leaving Stratford on Avon we took a walk round the gardens of the Memorial Theatre, admiring the spring flowers and the swans in the River Avon and, with a clear day and brilliant sunshine, we were on our way again. We followed a picturesque route all day through Warwickshire, Gloucestershire, Hertfordshire, Worcestershire, Shropshire and Montgomeryshire with winding roads, green fields and wooded hills and reached Welshpool, just over the border of Wales, about 5.30.

Even with my wife acting as navigator, with maps and routing on knee, we were lost about half a dozen times, hence we thought we had done pretty well to make about 100 miles since leaving Stratford at 11. We stayed at an ancient hostelry, recommended in our book, where we had excellent accommodation and meals.

Leaving Welshpool we were soon in the Welsh mountains and had one of those complete changes of scenery which are typical of touring in Britain. Instead of the hawthorne hedges, frequent villages and wooded hills of the previous day we had quite a wild outlook with a few settlements, stone walls replacing hedges, bleak mountains rising on every side and mountain lakes.

Climbing steadily we came at quite a high elevation to Lake Vyrnwy, a large lake in the mountains forming a reservoir for the city of Liverpool. At this point we were getting a little anxious about following our picturesque route much longer as the road had been deteriorating into a mountain trail so I made enquiries at a garage as to the best route to Llandudno and was strongly advised to back track a few miles and take another route.

This we did, and though the roads on this route were extremely winding and narrow, even to the extent that they were sometimes one way roads with passing places, we reached the small town of Bala safely and stopped there for lunch. From Bala we continued on through beautiful Welsh scenery, stopping at Conway Falls, to Llandudno where we found a good hotel on the promenade and stayed for the night.

The next day we left Llandudno in rather cold and dull weather, drove through Colwyn Bay, and after again struggling with our route, reached Chester for lunch. After parking the car we found a very nice restaurant on the main street and, refreshed again, we did a bit of sightseeing in this ancient city and walked for about a half a mile round the old city wall, built by the Romans nearly two thousand years ago.

From Chester to Buxton in Derbyshire our route took us through some wild hilly moorland country and we reached Buxton, a well known spa with mineral springs and baths, about five o'clock, staying there for the night, a cold and drizzly one, so we did not see Buxton at its best. From Buxton we had planned to make a 50 mile loop through Matlock and the Dukeries but as the weather was really bad the next morning we took a short cut across the loop to Chapel en le Frith and, after driving through some charming moorland country, spoiled alas by a very violent rain and hail storm, we reached Harrogate in Yorkshire early in the afternoon.

This was one of the few occasions when we had difficulty in finding a place for lunch as, around midday, we were driving through or skirting the industrial West Riding towns of Huddersfield, Brighouse and Bradford with heavy traffic and parking difficulties. Eventually we found a nice clean restaurant between Bradford and Harrogate whose menu was restricted to fish and chips and we settled for this and found it quite good.

At last we were in Yorkshire where we were born and brought up and it was good to

IN MOMENTS OF CRISIS—CONFIDENCE COUNTS

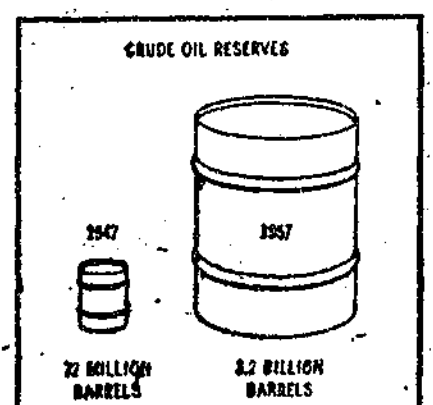

Imperial's 78 years of leadership has helped Canadians take for granted the reliability of oil and oil products

Reliability implies an adequate supply of the products you depend upon... when and where you need them, at reasonable prices.

Imperial has always been the leader in ensuring Canadians of an adequate supply of oil. Imperial's discovery of oil at Leduc, in 1947, opened the vast western oil fields.

The first oil company to supply consumer needs in all Canada's provinces, Imperial has nine refineries from Halifax to Vancouver (and in the Northwest Territories) to meet the local needs of Canadians.

Imperial has always been the leader, too, in a highly competitive industry which must seek... by broadening markets and increasing efficiency... to keep prices down. Over the past ten years, while prices of things in general have risen 134%, regular gasoline has gone up only 11%.

Since Leduc, Canadian crude oil reserves have increased 45 times.

Sechelt news items

BY MRS. A.A. FRENCH

Remembrance day was very impressive. The elementary school band under direction of Gerry Fahrni led the parade and Dean Robilliard, one of the boys, played the Last Post and Reveille. Parade Marshall was Comrade Bob Quigley and Branch Chaplain W. Smith conducted the service at the cenotaph.

Wreaths were laid by the Legion, Silver Cross Mothers, Scouts, Brownies, Cubs and many others. After the services refreshments were served in the Legion Hall. In the evening dinner was served to over 75 guests followed by a social evening.

The school held an assembly when past president Charles Brookman gave a little talk on the meaning of Remembrance Day. Mrs. Ivy Biggs, president of the L.A. represented that body. The girls' choir sang under direction of Mrs. Wallace. Miss Nona Thomson recited In Flanders' Fields. Class rooms were decorated by the children with poppies.

Lorne Bowering, while visiting here, called on old friends. Mrs. Betty Roy is visiting her father, Joe Dolphin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Weston and sons Robbie and Eddie are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. MacKenzie. The Westons operated the Village Bakery some years ago. They note lots of changes. Mr. Weston is now with the Burdett Construction North Vancouver.

West-End Social Club held its social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duffy. There were 18 persons present. Selma Park Community centre will hold its annual tea and bazaar on Nov. 25 at 2:30. There will be lots of good presents for Christmas shoppers. The event is convened by Mrs. Dorothy Fraser. The club anticipates the support of the public in this once a year venture.

Next member tea of the L.A. to the Canadian Legion will be held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Fraser at Selma Park, Nov. 18.

Halfmoon Bay

By PAT WELSH

With Roberts Creek String Orchestra starting up again, some people can recall listening to them some years ago when the group first organized. There is a lot of talent spread around and it's nice to know that it's being made use of.

The Halfmoon Bay Auxiliary to St. Mary's Hospital held a meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Rutherford, Nov. 10, with Mrs. G. Nygard in the chair. Plans were completed for a social evening Nov. 29 at the Halfmoon Bay Hall commencing at 8 p.m. There will be a variety table, where toys and stuffed animals and useful articles will be on sale, a Dutch auction, home cooking, white elephant stall, raffles and bingo are a few of the things listed for the evening. Admission will be 25 cents including refreshments, children free.

The Redroofs and Welcome Beach Garden Club met in the Community Hall, Nov. 13. There was a good turn-out of members who listened with interest to the talks given by members on various phases of gardening. New members will be welcomed. Date of next meeting will be duly announced.

Mrs. E. Pearce, of Redroofs has left to spend a few days in Vancouver before proceeding to Seattle to visit her daughter and family.

In Vancouver for brief visits were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hoffar of Secret Cove, and Mrs. G. Nygard and Judy.

Frank Lyons has returned from a check up at Shaughnessy Hospital.

Up for the weekend came Miss Claire Ladner and guests. Ron Bendy and Jerry Meuse weekendend with his parents at Hydraway.

Seattle Scouts at Camp Byng

First St. Faith's Scouts of Vancouver and a troop from Seattle, about 50 boys in all, were transported on Nov. 8 from Langdale to Camp Byng. Those who took part in the event were Rev. Denis Harris of St. Bartholomew's Anglican church; John Wood, former Scout commissioner for this area; Eric Inglis, Harry Myroie, Jack Scott and Charles and John Robinson.

The Scouts were appreciative of the efforts of these men in looking after them and under Carmen Robinson, Scoutmaster of Vancouver they went through their various tests with flying colors.

FROM CALGARY
Constable A.J. Sweet, RCMP, from Calgary, Alta., visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sowden, Gibsons, for a few days.

Clever fingers give driftwood character

BY MRS. M. WEST

Driving along the Sechelt Highway one will notice the totems and figures around Ernie Burnett's Woodcarving Studio. Probably, as I was, you have been intrigued by them but too busy to stop, then why not make a special trip. Ernie and his wife, Irene, will make you very welcome, even if you've only come to satisfy your curiosity.

You remember in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" how Scrooge imagined the door-knocker resembled the face of his dead partner Marley? A piece of driftwood can so stimulate Ernie's imagination and his clever fingers portray faces humorous, friendly or kindly faces, or grotesque and incredible faces like Marley's, but each one is different. I liked especially a short piece with no less than five different faces carved around it.

Although Ernie likes to experiment with the fascinating possibilities of transforming rough, sea-grained driftwood into satin-smooth polished carvings, he will accept commissions for any sort of work if he has a suitable piece of wood. He has spent much time studying Indian carvings and has made many totems and beautiful replicas of ceremonial masks. When I visited the studio the finishing touches were being made to the handsome totem which stands in Vince Prewer's new store.

Do you like modern impressionist sculpture? It looks much better in wood than concrete and makes an unusual base for a lamp. Perhaps you prefer a carved plaque or picture of a local scene, the wood shaved so finely that the light-house can be illuminated. You will be amazed by the wealth of ideas, there seems to be no end to the different carvings.

Until recently woodcarving was just a hobby, albeit a successful one, to which the many PNE ribbons testify. Now Ernie hopes to build up a successful business to support his wife and two young sons, Ernie, Jr., and Danny. In welcoming the Burnett family to the Sunshine Coast one can only wish them luck in their venture.

LETTERS to editor

Editor: Your reference to an old time vaudeville performer Marie Lloyd, in last week's issue of the Coast News, brought back nostalgic memories of the days when vaudeville was in its heyday.

Marie Lloyd and Florrie Ford were the Queens of Burlesque and Marie's rendering of "A Little Bit of What You Fancy Does You Good," always brought the house down.

Florrie Ford's "When I Put on my Directoire Dress," was something to behold. Clad in a sequinned form fitting gown split on one side to display a shapely limb adorned with a jewelled garter, carrying a tall ebony stick, silver mounted, and wearing a cart wheel hat trimmed with sweeping ostrich plumes, she presented a striking picture.

Vaudeville and Revues were popular in bygone days and the writer is old enough to remember most of them.

P.W.

Editor: Re Motel winter trade. Trends, first tents, then guest houses, hotels, now motels and campsites. Next it will be tree houses for helicopters.

Facing facts: Motorists follow the birds south in the winter they shop too, then wonder about unemployment here. The opinion here is road to Squamish. One thing against us, we have mutilated the park. Entering Sechelt it does not look inviting. The tourist drives past like Tam O'Shanter's witches were after him. The idea was prevalent before, I think it is still good, a nine or 18 hole golf course in the original park. Money, of course, but let's keep it in the family and not sell any more of our birth-right for a mess of pottage.

I am sure if a British capitalist ever saw this place, with Porpoise Bay a potential Clyde they would tackle it, that would mean work for everyone and full motels all the year round. It is finding the right one. He might be an in or out of the Social Register, likely in Glasgow. If he grumbles about hard times follow him home. Look what the Duke of Westminster's money did for an out-of-the-way place. Camps have their troubles, mosquitoes, etc.

God gives us men that can tackle problems and resist obstructions. We are overly organized, and can't get a kick at the ball.

Margaret Allan

Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts, said: 'It is something to be good, but it is far better to do good.'

PSL fares raised

Motor Carrier Branch of the Public Utilities Commission has granted Pacific Stage Lines permission to increase fares effective Nov. 15.

Fare increase for Fraser Valley and North Shore will be applied as follows:

Each fare zone will be increased in length from 1.25 miles to 2.22 miles and the fare for each zone increased from .5 to 10 cents.

There will be no change in fares between Vancouver and New Westminster.

J.E. Allan, PSL manager, said the new fares follow wage increases which will cost the company an additional $138,600 in 1959 and $159,500 in 1960.

He added that, even with the increase, the company expects to lose over $9,000 in 1958 and $80,000 in 1959.

Retarded child needs help

"Every child has the right to expect the greatest possible protection against the occurrence of preventable physical or mental handicap before, during and after birth.

"Every child also has the right to develop his potentialities to the maximum. This implies that all children, irrespective of whether or not they suffer from mental or physical handicap, should have ready access to the best medical diagnosis and treatment, allied therapeutic services, nursing and social services, education, vocational preparation and employment. They should be able to satisfy fully the needs of their own personalities and become, as far as possible, independent and useful members of the community." — Excerpt from the report of a joint expert committee convened by the World Health Organization on the mentally sub-normal child.

There are thousands of children in B.C. to whom these inspiring words are only an empty platitude.

As things are now most of them will be denied the social and educational services specified by the World Health Organization.

And because of this neglect by Society they will have no chance to become happy and useful members of the community.

Instead, many of them will lead lonely, frustrated lives. They will remain a burden on themselves, their parents and their communities.

This is the situation faced today by B.C.'s retarded children. But it doesn't have to be that way.

Medical, social and educational research in this modern age has shown that it is possible for Society to help these children make full use of their abilities.

You can help alleviate the plight of B.C.'s retarded children: 1. By participating actively in community programs to help the retarded. 2. By assisting the Association for Retarded Children of B.C. with funds which are needed to expand the program. It is currently maintaining in B.C.
