Girls team wins First Aid trophy

The Ken Marsden trophy, top award for inter-company First Aid competitions was won by Port Mellon for the fourth consecutive year but it was the Port Mellon girls team which won. The men's team came second. The competition was held May 14.

The women's team included Joan Quarry, captain; Bobby Puichalski, Nancy Douglas, Lou Nygren and Sharon Douglas. The men's team included Cliff Mahlman, captain; Dennis Gray, Murray Crosby, Art Hauka and Bill Laing.

These teams competed against five other divisions of Canadian Forest Products company and included Harrison Mills Logging, Stave Lake Cedar, Hunting Merritt and two teams from Consolidated Timber.

The girls team looked real smart and deserved their first place win. The men's team did a good job as well but were shaded by the girls. It is the first time a girl's team has won the trophy.

Both teams will compete again in separate events in the Lower Mainland competitions on Sat., May 28. The girls team will compete against other women's teams and the men against other men's teams in the Lower Mainland. The winners of each of these competitions will go to Cranbrook to compete in the Provincial competitions. It is permissible for anyone, friends and relatives to watch the teams in action on May 28 at the St. John's Centre, 710 Davie Street, Vancouver.

The teams had no idea what the problem was until they walked through the door and saw the following accident occur: A mechanic carrying a truck battery from a battery room stumbles. The battery falls, scraping his shin and crushes his foot. Acid spills from the battery over his trouser cuffs and foot. He falls and breaks his right collarbone. He clutches his ankle with his left hand thus getting battery acid on it. Another worker, seeing this happen, has a heart attack and falls to the ground clutching his left breast.

The injuries looked realistic. In order to treat, it was necessary to diagnose before treatment can be given. Following this, the decision as to their removal and the means used must be carried out.

This training breeds responsibility, clear thinking, leadership, team work and safety consciousness. Those who take part are valuable members of their companies and their communities.

Safety Awards and the Ken Marsden Trophy were presented at the President's Award Banquet that same evening. The banquet was attended by officials of the company and its divisions, safety committee members from each division, foremen of each division, and the First Aid teams. In all approximately 200 people attended. Such awards as a Wise Owl Club certificate and pin, the Ken Marsden trophy, and sented annually to that operation in the company with the the President's award — premost favorable ratio comparing the division frequency accident rate with the class rate under which the division is classified, were presented. The President's award went to Beaver Cove-Inglewood Logging Division.

STILL AT LARGE

See Gagliardi on roads

At the B. C. Chamber of Commerce annual meeting Monday and Tuesday of this week in Hotel Georgia, Bob Norminton, president of Sechelt's Board of Trade and James Parker also of the Sechelt board and director of the Chamber of Commerce for the coastal area will discuss completion of the Port Mellon Squamish highway.

They also planned to take the matter up with the highways committee and it was also planned that the issue would be placed before Highways Minister Gagliardi who will be one of the speakers at the meeting.

At a recent meeting of the Sechelt Board of Trade, Mr. G. Fahrni, a member who is also chairman of the School Board, gave an interesting talk on the past and future of School District 46.

He gave a history of the organization of school districts — then related his thoughts and ideas on the value of local autonomy and consolidation. He laid stress on the broad outlook that should be given to a system of budgeting and spoke of Government contribution by supplimentary grants. He touched on the recent reaction of the Vancouver Board of Trade, with respect to the U.B.C.M. report. He also advised all local Boards to request a copy of the Chant Royal Commission, and to study it with care.

In conclusion, Mr. Fahrni touching on reform, asking how do we go about obtaining more for less: results — what are we paying for and responsibility — which covers everyone — a new slant on the three R's.

This brought the speaker a word of thanks from the president, who then directed a question period.

Another important item — and one which commanded quite a lot of interest for several years in this district — was the question of a breakwater for the Sechelt area, it will be remembered that Mr. William Payne, M.P., recently stated that as there was no file, or even data on this subject, in Ottawa, it would be pretty hard to convince the department in the capital city of the need for this breakwater. However, it is believed that said file is really in existence, and that interest for a breakwater is being resurrected.

Pearl is one of four airwomen who competed for the honor of representing RCAF Station Greenwood as the unit's Princess in the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival. Prior to enlisting in the Airforce, Pearl was a student at Elphinstone High School, Gibsons, where she obtained her Grade XII diploma.

Pender Harbor holds bazaar

Pender Harbour Community Club bazaar, in the Community hall, May 7, was featured by an excellent attendance which resulted in a net profit being shown. Raffle prizes were a set of dishes to Jean McIvor, stainless steel flatware to Bill Henderson, pyrex casseroles to Mrs. Varila, tatted doily to Linda Lee, crocheted flower basket to Mrs. Ruth Walker and a cream and sugar set to Mrs. C. Wray. Mrs. Kent won the cup and saucer on the tea ticket.

The club thanks all who worked towards making this event a success. Four teas were arranged prior to the bazaar, proceeds of which were used to finance the bazaar and it was with the help from these teas that gave the bazaar a good start. Funds raised will be used to improve facilities at the Community hall including the grounds.

The teas netted $89.82 and the bazaar $262.31 making a gross of $352.13 from which is deducted $88.93 bazaar expenses to make the net profit $263.20.

Women on warpath!

* * * BALL TEAM ISSUES CHALLENGE * * *

Pender Harbour Women's Ball Team is out for blood. Strictly friendly, of course. The team has broadcast a challenge to all women's ball teams, active or potential, from Pender Harbour to Port Mellon, and all points in between.

First formed a couple of years ago, this enthusiastic group is comprised mainly of younger married women. Their keenness, however, has been somewhat dampened by lack of competition from other Lower Peninsula points and they are anxious to stir up a little sportsmanlike rivalry.

The ladies have tangled with the local high school team on several occasions, with varying success, but they are seeking battle farther afield.

The present line-up is: Bobby Mair, pitcher; Adrienne Smith, catcher; Muriel Cameron, 1st base; Margaret Donley, 2nd base; Jean Sladey, 2nd base; Margaret Wise, 3rd base; Shirley Pehota, short-stop; Isabelle Gooldrup, outfield and spare pitcher; other outfielders, Helen Edwardson, Barbara Higgins, Doris Edwardson and Zoe Lloyd.

It is expected that there will be a few changes during the coming season. Last year's coach was Dick Wise, but the ladies may be looking for a different coach this year, as Dick may not be able to carry on.

Interested ladies' ball teams on the Lower Peninsula should contact Mrs. Donald Smith, of Madeira Park (telephone TU 3-2605) before June 15. If no applications for matches are received by this date, the Pender Harbour ladies will discontinue their efforts to promote outside competition.

Fund now at $5,000

Sechelt's Disaster Relief Fund, now at the $5,000 mark will close May 31, Harry Roberts, secretary of the fund, announces.

This fund was opened April 21 following the tragic drowning of six men on their way to Sechelt from a logging camp on Sechelt Inlet on the night of the terrific storm, Wednesday evening, April 13. Their boat apparently overturned when they were about half-way home. The boat drifted shorewards with its bow only cut of the water. No trace of the bodies has been found.

The fund was started by Sechelt's Board of Trade, Bob Norminton, president. He reports a gratifying response to that worthwhile fund.

Those who still desire to make a contribution can do so by contacting any member of Sechelt's Board of Trade or phone Mr. Roberts, the secretary at 298Y, Sechelt. In every case a receipt is given for the amount donated. Those in Gibsons and vicinity can leave their donation at the Coast News office from where it will be forwarded to Mr. Roberts. Cheques may also be made out to Mr. Tom Duffy, treasurer, Sechelt Disaster Relief Fund, at Sechelt.

GARDEN CLUB

The monthly meeting of Gibsons Garden Club will be held May 24 at 8 p.m. in the United Church hall. All interested in gardening are invited to attend.

Hospital busy; 50 babies so far in '60

May 12, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, found St. Mary's Hospital practically popping at the seams. There were 20 adults and seven new babies under care.

The highlight of the day occurred in the early morning when Mrs. Elna Warnock of Madeira Park, was delivered of twin boys. These new brothers for Linda, Marvin, Thomas and Robert are the first twins delivered at St. Mary's Hospital since November, 1958. In the afternoon, Mrs. Isabel McPhedran of Gibsons, was delivered of a fine new daughter, her fourth girl.

In addition there were two operations performed and, what with the X-rays to be taken and the other patients to care for, the nursing staff had a full day.

Mother's Day on May 8 was busy too, with two new arrivals. Mrs. Beatrice Staley of Gibsons welcomed a boy, and so did Mrs. Glen Phillips of Wilson Creek. Mrs. Staley's son is a brother for Faye, Mrs. Phillips, who has two other children, celebrated her birthday while in the hospital.

Other arrivals during the week were a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lloyd of Garden Bay, their third child, and a son to Mrs. Arthur B. Marshall of Vanguard Bay, Nelson Island, her second child.

Miss Smith, the matron, advises, though there are only four beds in the maternity ward, the congestion is not severe as she is able to use the two single rooms. She recalls that early in January there were seven mothers and babies in at once, while now there are six mothers with seven babies, some of whom will be home soon.

Miss Smith is taking her holidays in June, and will be flying home to Scotland. She has been director of nursing since December, 1958.

Over 50 babies have been born at St. Mary's Hospital this year, and admissions have passed 400, a month earlier than 1959. Most of the time the hospital is operating at full capacity, and often emergency measures are required to handle the overflow, therefore the administrator would like to borrow six folding cots with mattresses, for use in emergencies. These could be set up on demand, and dismantled for storage when not needed. Anyone with a folding cot to spare can contact Mr. Milligan at Turner 3-2323.

A chance for youth!

To be young and with the desire to go to university and obtain an all-round education leading to some specialization — that is no doubt the desire of many older folk who read last week's Bank of Montreal scholarship advertisement.

The present school age generation has no complaint to make about lack of opportunity to tackle a university education. Endowments numbering in the thousands are available across this nation and are there to be grasped by those with the will to do.

The Bank of Montreal's Canada Centennial Scholarships which will also culminate in the celebration of the bank's 150th anniversary in 1967 is seeking out outstanding young scholars and if the present batch of scholars want any advice they can all be outstanding, if they try. It needs the will to do first. That is all.

These scholarships will help to start 50 students at university. From that point on it is up to themselves. The second year will see a selection of 16 of these students to graduation. Following that period eight of the graduates will be supported for a further three years towards a doctorate and as a final touch two of the most promising of the eight will receive a $5,000 fellowship for a further year's study.

To be young again and see an opportunity like that would have been a challenge. What will it mean to today's students? Five of British Columbia's young people will have a chance to accept that challenge. How many will apply from the Sunshine Coast?

Prosecutor and judge

It would appear from what one can surmise about the severing of relations between the CBC and Mr. Les Way who broadcasts Neighbourly News for the CBC and the B. C. Weekly Newspapers Association jointly, that the CBC fears Mr. Way will make some political gain out of his chore.

Mr. Way, whose departure from CBC broadcast ranks occurred because he became a Liberal candidate in the coming provincial election, will be running in an urban seat in a confined area. His broadcast covers all B. C. There are quite a few persons on the Sunshine Coast who hear it and have commented on it favorably.

In view of these facts it would seem the CBC has acted somewhat arbitrarily. It has been prosecutor and judge, without any right of appeal. The issue has reached the House of Commons in Ottawa. Whether Ottawa will let the matter stand remains to be seen.

Why it should be dangerous to have a candidate for provincial election on the air with a non-political broadcast is worth an explanation. The CBC allows elected politicians to make the most blatant remarks possible over the air without turning a hair. If politicians are allowed to say what they do say under CBC supervision, what is wrong with allowing an election candidate to handle a non-political program which is also supervised by the CBC? Swallowing camels and straining at gnats appears to be a general policy where governmental servants of the public are concerned.

Mr. Way in the past has worked with various political committees while continuing Neighbourly News broadcasts. In those periods he was also capable of aiding his party on radio broadcasts but apparently nothing of the sort occurred because CBC officials did not act. What is so different about a candidate seeking office and a volunteer worker on a political party committee. Perhaps the CBC has found a distinction. It should be made public.

Musicians must be tough

Musical history was made when two Steinway grand pianos were flown aboard the Eldorado Mining Company's huge D. C. 4 cargo plane to Uranium City, Saskatchewan, for a concert on Overture Concert series in the near-arctic town. The artists who traveled north by more conventional commercial airline, were the celebrated duo-piano team of Stecher and Horowitz, who appeared in Gibsons on Feb. 7, 1952.

The unique operation began at 4 a.m. on the morning of April 7. In the dim pre-dawn light outside cavernous hangar of the Eldorado Aviation Company, Stecher and Horowitz's truck-trailer carrying the two pianos drew up close to the giant aircraft. Busy work crews more accustomed to loading barrels of uranium ore and massive drilling machinery aboard the plane — which is the only means of contact with Uranium City and the mine at nearby Beaver Edge, proceeded to hoist the two 1200 lb. pianos (minus their legs and pedals) onto fork-lifts. These delicate instruments were raised 17 feet in the air in about 10 seconds and gently edged towards the cargo door of the plane. First problem to overcome: height of pianos 5'6" — height of cargo door: 5'5½". Gently tipping the pianos towards the ground 7 husky uranium-cum piano movers edged the instruments into the aircraft.

By the dawn's early light the pianos were on their way north. At Uranium City the unloading began — this time with the benefit of daylight. The instruments were placed aboard an open truck and precariously transported down steep grades to the modern designed, high-ceilinged Eldorado Mine Recreation Hall where the concert was to take place. An improvised stage 400 folding chairs and an enthusiastic audience set the mood for what was undoubtedly one of the most unusual concerts ever heard.

Raccoons are intelligent

(By A. J. C.)

Wherever the surface of the ground is soft enough to record the passing of light feet, both on the ranch and in the surrounding woods, raccoons of the night patrol frequently "make their mark" and leave their signatures for my inspection — and I find them more easily read than some human signatures!

Those who care to look more closely will see that the tracks are of two kinds, one, made by a hind foot, is long and narrow and often said to resemble the imprint of a baby's foot, while the other is more round and broader in comparison to length. The tracks of a human walking on the sand on "all fours" show the same difference.

Biologists place the raccoons with the Arctoidea — the bear like animals. Looking them up in Cassell's Natural History — a life-long companion — I find the following paragraph: "The raccoons form a small family of curious bear-like animals, of small size and differing a good deal in external appearance, although agreeing closely in all essential particulars. The four genera are, found only in the New World; their northern limit is British Columbia, while southward they reach to Paraguay in central South America."

So my nightwalkers are very truly American; as a family they are also very clever, for in recent tests made at the Bronx Zoo, New York, they excelled dogs and cats by a wide margin and were rated second to the elephant in intelligence. That is the probable reason why they are not difficult to tame. Also again they are somewhat of a nuisance around the place they permit me to share with them.

They scatter my compost heaps far and wide in searching for earthworms that I would prefer to put into the soil, but that is not a capital crime and the difference between raccoon and man is still sufficient to enable me to protect my heaps. They like to dunk their food but as there is no accessible water nearby I believe they forego that rite in the case of my worms. So far there has been no evidence of choking — worms being of a slippery nature! With a little adjustment on my part we can co-exist.

In the solitude of these woods they are not always strictly nocturnal: on a summer day of last year I came suddenly upon a lady raccoon and her kit — or cub perhaps? — to our mutual surprise. They went into action as a team at once, the young one scrambled up the nearest tree, a young alder that did not fully conceal it — while the mother faced me, whom she wrongly regarded as an enemy, and put on a most convincing demonstration by rearing up on hind legs and growling fiercely — and all I wished was to look at that precious baby that was as pleasing as a kitten at the playful age. All I could do to assure her that I was harmless was to quote the words of the ploughman-poet: "I'm truly sorry man's dominion

Has broken nature's social union,
An' justifies that ill opinion
Which makes thee startle
At me, thy poor earth-born companion,
An' fellow mortal."

Deer scarer

Orchard owners whose young trees have been damaged by deer are advised to use materials such as blood and bone meal, which repel by odor.

G. M. Weiss, Summerland Research Station, Canada Department of Agriculture, notes that these materials appear to be more effective than creosote and benzene hexachloride in making trees unpalatable to deer.

A cotton bag containing about an ounce of blood and bone meal tied to a tree gives protection for up to three months, depending upon the amount of rainfall or sprinkler irrigation.

Serious damage can be caused by: (1) bucks rubbing the velvet off their horns and breaking and skinning trees, which requires cutting the trees off near ground level and starting them from a new shoot; and (2) deer browsing on leaves and tender growing tips during the growing season and on a slender wood in the dormant season.

Mr. Weiss reports that two new materials in liquid form showed good repellent properties in the 1959-60 winter, but their effects on the tree have not yet been evaluated.

Deer fences, though expensive, give the surest protection where browsing and tree damage are constant hazards.

Finally, says Mr. Weiss, if the damage results from small, local deer populations the best method of control may be by shooting — subject to approval by local game authorities.

404 burned-out people aided

At the quarterly meeting of the provincial executive of British Columbia Division of Red Cross held Monday, April 25, in Vancouver, it was reported that the disaster committee, chairman Dr. G. F. R. Elliott, had assisted 54 burned out families in the province since Jan. 1.

The families comprised 404 individuals and the cost of providing bedding and essential clothing for the families has amounted to $6,500.

Mrs. A. G. Mercer, co-chairman with Mrs. S. H. Hayden, of provincial women's work committees, reported on the provision of materials for refugee work.

Five cases of babies and toddlers wear had been packed; two cases of cotton clothing specially for Viet Nam had been dispatched. This was in addition to materials already sent to earthquake and paralysis victims in Morocco.

Mrs. Mercer reported that the League of Red Cross Societies had sent 20 cases of clothing from the Geneva warehouse to Brazil, where 30,000 children and young people were in desperate need due to floods and drought. Much of this material would be that supplied by Canadian Red Cross Women's Work committees.

Sechelt area has Gold Cord Guide

Guide Marda Walker upon receiving her official invitation from Lt. Gov. and Mrs. F. Ross, attended Queen Scout and Gold Cord investiture ceremonies at Government House, Victoria, on April 21.

The Scouts and Guides were treated royally by the Royal Canadian Navy officers and Upon arrival, Scouts and Guides were billeted and entertained at various functions. The following day they had lunch in Government House, hosted by Lt. Gov. and Mrs. F. Ross. The investiture ceremonies followed, as each Scout and Guide and place of residence were called out distinctly, they walked to the rostrum and Lt. Governor Ross presented them with their certificates and personally congratulated them. After the ceremonies hot dogs and soft drinks were served to the participants tea and cakes to the guests. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Jack Jonas, past guardian, Mrs. John Toynbee, guardian, Marda Walker, Gold Cord Guide and Mrs. David Walker.

Some of the featured tables were home cooking, sewing, plants, home made candy, white elephants and a special treat — A Golden Jubilee birthday cake.

This cake recipe was provided by Guide Headquarters and duplicated in hundreds of communities across Canada, but none was more beautifully decorated or tastefully concocted than that made by Mrs. N. Elizabeth Ann Giersh, Lancashire lass

By ERIC THOMSON

Some 35 years ago, a Lancashire lass set out from her home near Ulverston in England, and crossed the Atlantic on the old Canadian Pacific steamer Montrose, to visit her sister and husband, the Al Smiths, who lived in what is now the Preuss home back of Hopkins Landing.

Next door to the Smith farm a young Swiss logger, Otto Giersh, had his cabin and was clearing his land. Otto was the son of a farmer, and left home at the age of 14 years. He had been sent to town with a load of hay and, having delivered this, he turned his team towards home, and let them find their way, while he kept on going.

After many adventures on land and sea, including army service in the Philippines, he was on hand to greet the English girl, and three weeks later married her. In those days it was possible for a logger who knew his business to make a living on his own, and Otto was an artist with a double-bitted axe and cross-cut saw.

Soon after their marriage

this young couple went up coast to an island near Swanson Bay. Otto logged there successfully for seven years, and was then able to return to Hopkins Landing to make his clearing into a trim little farm. Mrs. Giersh soon learned the ways of the country, and was a real partner for her husband and used to relate, with gusto about the one and only time they had a difference of opinion. That was during their early days on that island. Mrs. Giersh just took their boat one evening, and left Otto marooned. She changed her mind during the night and when morning came she returned to scout the camp, and found a penitent Otto on the beach, ready to surrender.

Long before the days of supermarkets and deep-freezes, when fruit or vegetables were wanted in the summertime the boys and girls at Hopkins Landing were sent up to the farms to get them, and the Giersh place was a favorite port of call, for not only did Mrs. Giersh give measure full and overflowing, but there was always an informal tea-party in addition.

She was proud of her strawberries, and when her affairs took her to Gibsons Landing, when her strawberries were ripe, she was in the habit of weighting her instructions to her man of business with one of those large baskets of strawberries that we don't see any more.

In their later years, Otto built a fine modern home in Gibsons Bay, and they moved down from the farm, but only for a while, for Mrs. Giersh preferred the old-style cottage at the foot of the mountain, where she could look after her fruit and her flowers, and it was there, as was her wish, that she ended her days.

Good weather for planting

The ideal day to transplant seedling plants outdoors to their permanent location is one that is cool, cloudy and calm. Seldom, though, are we fortunate enough to have such a day when transplanting time arrives; therefore precautions must be taken to protect the young plants against the hot sun and wind.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, the newly-set-out plants can be shaded from the hot sun by means of a row of shingles up-ended together to form a "tent." The ordinary wooden berry box can also be used to place over individual plants for protection against sun and wind. On very windy days it may be necessary to place a stone on top of each berry box to hold it down. Flower pots or newspapers held in place by stones can also be used for plant protection.

However, it is always advisable to remove the covering after the sun goes down so that the plants will get the full benefit of the evening dew or any rain which may fall.

It is also advisable to continue to protect the plants for several days after transplanting. If the young plants can be kept from wilting after transplanting, they will become established more quickly and grow just that much faster.

Some gardeners find it is a good plan to do transplanting in the evening so that the plants have the cool night to get their roots in working order after the shock of being moved.

The largest North American rodent is the Beaver.

Pitch and putt?

The Mainport pitch and putt golf course greens foreman reports everything in tip-top shape for the opening of the golfing season at this popular open-air course. The golf course is situated on Sechelt Highway at Pratt Road where a sign directs traffic to the entrance.

Arrangements are being made to welcome weekend visitors who do not like to forsake their favorite pastime completely. Family parties can also be accommodated. Greens have been manicured to perfection and the staff is looking toward a busy season.

Talk on hospital

The present position of negotiations concerning the formation of a hospital improvement district for this area was discussed Wed., May 11 before members of Roberts Creek Community Club.

Speaker for this event was Harvey Hubbs who has done considerable work in helping get things lined up in committee operations. He explained the matter now rests with officials in Victoria and it is up to them to give the present committee the go-ahead sign to proceed with the next step, formation of a hospital improvement district.

One thing can be said for today's dollar. It has plenty of buying power.

At the movies

Friday and Saturday at Sechelt Theatre, Yellowstone Kelly with Clint Walker, Edward Byrnes, John Russell and others in a powerful outdoor drama will be shown. Vivid Technicolor scenes of beautiful Arizona locations adds to the drama unfolded in this story dealing with trappers, Indians and soldiers who are hunting them.

Sunday night's midnight show will unfold the tale of a Monster from Outer Space with Tom Tryon and Gloria Talbot in this Technicolor special.

Four bedroom home

PLAN NO. = R7B-1295
AREA = 1293.75 SQ. FT.
FRONTAGE = 52'-6"

PLAN No. 1295 (copyright No. 117093)

Maximum Use of Available Space in this Four Bedroom Home

Exceptional livability with maximum use of every square foot of space is provided in this four bedroom home of modest square footage, which is one of the most inexpensive houses for its size in the standard construction class.

The cathedral type entry makes a luxury size foyer, with plenty of daylight through the large window over the door. A feeling of spaciousness is given to the 12'6" x 19' living room by the use of a stub wall at the entry — the living room opens onto a king size sun deck over the carport which continues around to the back and provides access to the combination kitchen/dining/family room.

Design of this house allows a three dimensional function—the fourth bedroom adjacent to the kitchen could be used as a dining room by opening it up to the kitchen, or it could be a den or sewing room.

Vertical and horizontal siding combine with stucco to add to the exterior appearance of this very practical house, which could be enhanced by the addition of planters etc. when feasible.

A proposed "in-law" suite could be added to the basement area — blueprints are also available for this as well as for the plan itself.

Plan No. 1295 is designed for N.H.A. approval, and blueprints are available from the Building Centre, 116 E. Broadway, Vancouver B.C. Write for free plan book, "Select Home Designs" enclosing 25c to cover cost of mailing and handling.

LETTERS to editor

Editor: A recent Province reported on the nation's economy. And political objectives aside our monetary system is not performing adequately. Mr. Coyne says there is no magic formula for our money troubles. And I agree that magic is not required in the faulty rudiments of our economy.

People will always be at a loss to balance consumption with production while using an ever-changing measuring and trading device controlled by private concerns.

Henry Ford established some basic economic principles which have been forgotten. His production was sold on the basis of costs plus mark-up; while prices today are set at what the market will pay, after subsidies, and price supports have had their effect.

Mr. Ford also contributed to the buying power by paying higher wages to the lower brackets who would be certain to spend the money.

A stabilized monetary system as visualized by President Lincoln, together with Mr. Ford's economic principles would mend our affairs.

Harold Hunter.

Protest made over school bus cut

Editor: An article appeared in the April 21 issue of the Coast News reporting the School Board meeting of April 11. It was headed "School bus costs highest." Thus a wrong impression was conveyed.

School bus costs in Sechelt School District No. 46 are actually among the lowest in the province. The marine transportation at both ends of the district, Howe Sound and Jervis Inlet result in our combined land and marine transportation being the highest in the province.

School bus transportation costs 39 cents a mile while marine transportation is $1 per mile. Under the circumstances parents feel that discontinuance of one or two school bus runs is hardly a fair way to economize, particularly in view of the many high-price non-essential items in the budget such as an $800 lawn mower, an $800 additional piano, an $800 incinerator, a $250 jungle climber, a $200 teachers' settee, also other gym equipment, tape-recorders, motion picture equipment and other items.

Parents feel that bus transportation is more essential guaranteeing bringing children to school fit and safely, than budgeting for the above mentioned items. Most of the children affected must walk two to three miles and more, twice daily, rain or shine. Some of us adults should try this some time on a "sozzling" day, there and back and think of doing it every day.

Bruce Crowston, secretary of the Parents Protest group of Porpoise Bay and Selma Park.

Mr. Cranston also turned in a report of a meeting of the group held Sat., April 2 in Sechelt at which Tony Gargrave, M.L.A., spoke along with Frank Yates, school representative, when it was decided to present to the School Board meeting of April 11 copies of the group brief and minutes of the protest meeting for study by the board. As the issue is covered by Mr. Crowston's letter there does not seem to be any reason why those facts should be repeated. The meeting did not agree with the School Board's policy of economy as it affected school buses.

Bridesmaid Miss Bunny Herrin's gown was in the same style in blue and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and blue iris.

Flowergirl Robin Nygren dressed in white embossed nylon over pink taffeta and white lace bonnet carried a white basket of red carnations and blue iris.

Mr. John Matthews was the best man and ushers were Leonard Pilling and C. E. Strom. Mrs. R. Vernon sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

A reception was held in the School Hall where a three tiered wedding cake topped with two doves holding twin wedding rings was cut. For going away the bride wore a light blue box suit with white accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

After a honeymoon trip to Banff and United States points the young couple will reside in Granthams Landing.

TOOTHPASTE

It is not the toothpaste which prevents decay but the benefit obtained through the mechanical cleaning of the teeth.

There has not been in the past nor up to the present a toothpaste which prevents decay through the medicinal action of the product itself.

Essentially toothpaste is a cleaning agent such as a soap or detergent which is used to wash and clean the hands or other parts of the body.

In tooth cleansing, it is the brush which performs the mechanical cleaning of the teeth. (The toothpaste provides the lubrication to float food particles and debris from the teeth.)

Toothpaste is basically soap to which has been added a mild abrasive such as "precipitated chalk," flavoring and coloring.

These cleansers are sold in one of three forms: paste, powder and liquid, but there is little difference in their make-up and none at all in their action.

Home-made tooth cleaners are inexpensive and effective. Salt and baking soda are two of these materials. Baking soda is the least harsh of these and the most preferable. It can be made quite palatable with a small amount of spice added to a pound box. Cinnamon or nutmeg are quite effective.

IOOF plans youth camp

As the summer camping season approaches plans are again well under way for the opening of the Odd Fellows Camp for Children near the city of White Rock.

Under sponsorship of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, maintained and financed through the members of the Odd Fellow Lodges, Rebekah Lodges and by other branches of the order, the camp this summer will open for its fifth consecutive year.

Dormitory type of sleeping accommodation is provided for up to 34 children each week. Separate and pleasant dining area combined with an adequately equipped kitchen meet all provincial health and fire regulations.

Boys in the seven to 12 age group are now being registered to attend the camp on a weekly basis from July 3 to July 31. Girls of the same age group will attend from July 31 to August 23. The children are under the constant care of a fully qualified supervisor and counsellors and a competent cook and cook's assistant are also employed for the season.

Hiking, swimming, baseball and other sports and games as well as werner roasts and beach parties are only a few of the efforts to make the stay at camp an enjoyable and memorable holiday for young people. A playroom equipped for many games and contests is available during inclement weather.

The improved grounds situated on the Semiahmoo Bay has extensive playground equipment and offers safe and healthy swimming facilities for young children.

Good food and all blankets and bedding are provided for those attending the camp at nominal weekly rates. Information regarding registration to attend the camp may be obtained by telephoning the booking clerk: Mrs. E. Bremner—Lakeview 2-5589 or by writing to 505 Fader Street, New Westminster, B.C., or from any member of the order.

LETTERS to editor

Editor: The Bank of Montreal, in announcing its Canada Centennial scholarship program, as outlined in the May 12 issue of the Coast News, should win commendation throughout the ten provinces of our land.

At a time when much is being talked but little done about ways and means of making the most of our intellectual potential, here is a plan that strikes at the very heart of the matter.

Advance is made on every front through energy expended to reach comprehensible goals. Incentive in an individual exists only to the extent that he can envisage himself moving from his current location toward a visualized objective. The goal itself is meaningless without some discernible means of its attainment.

Our society, while paying mock tribute to the intellect, has in point of fact worshipped other gods than Wisdom. "The thought," so says Heraclitus, "by which all things are steered through all things." Much as we may deceive ourselves to the contrary, it is an attribute other than intelligence which generally bears away the palm.

Now has come a competition based squarely on scholarship. The possibilities of its impact on Canadian education, and of other like schemes that may follow in its wake, cannot be minimized.

In a multitude of ways, some no less insidious than others because they are less direct and obvious, our culture has belittled mankind's supreme gift, his mind. Perhaps, thanks in large part to the Bank of Montreal's greatest possible investment in our future, we may witness a great educational turning point accompany Canada's hundredth birthday. Les Peterson.

Editor: Having been associated with the Little League for a number of years it is with regret that I learn that the league is now down to two teams, Gibsons and Wilson Creek, from the original five. Pender Harbour, Port Mellon and Sechelt having let the boys down for one reason or another.

Gibsons has enough boys to form two teams for next year if we can find another sponsor, coaches and managers are available and plenty of boys.

It would cost around $300 to equip and enter another team from here, after that most teams are almost self-supporting so if any organization is interested I am sure they would find it a worth while and rewarding project.

With proper organization and some work it would be possible to have a team from Port Mellon, two from Gibsons one from Roberts Creek, Wilson Creek, Sechelt and Pender Harbour for next season and keep our boys out of mischief and happy. John V. Lowden.

Editor: May I through your column thank the Brownies of the 1st and 2nd packs for the lovely flowers and card they left at the store for Mother's Day.

It was a wonderful gesture and it means so much to be remembered at a special time like this.

I think a lot of credit is due to the leaders and mothers for inspiring such kind thoughts. Thanks again. Gwen Fretter.

NO FAIRY GODMOTHERS NEED APPLY FOR JOB

Everyone has his own special dream — a place in the country, a trip back home, college for the boy. But, for many people it's just plain hopeless.

But there's no magic involved to make your particular dream come true. You don't need a fairy godmother to do it — just a little determination.

Simply plan to set aside part of your income in a Bank of Montreal savings account. Do it regularly, and watch the balance grow. Watch the B of M's two and three-quarters per cent interest help swell the amount too.

Regularity is the secret, as hundreds of thousands of the B of M's more than two million customers know. They save as much as they can spare each pay-day, and their dreams are turning into reality.

Ask Gordon Goertzen, accountant at the Gibsons Branch of the Bank of Montreal about it. He'll show you how easy it is — and how profitable — to open a savings account. See him Soon!
