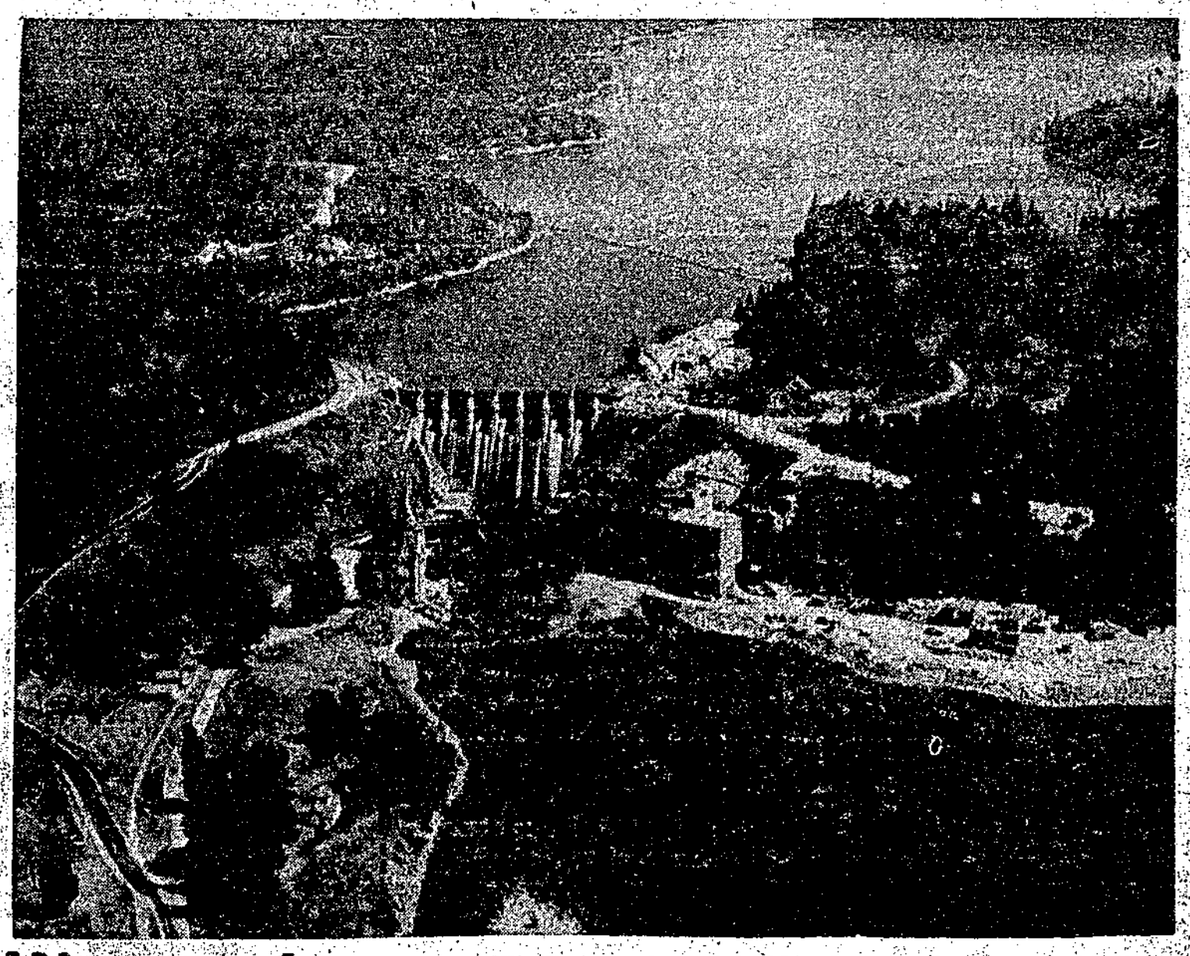
Fair Committee discusses expansion



Winding roads and hidden bays make scenery idyllic at Ruskin power station, 35 miles east of Vancouver. A prime source of electric energy in the Fraser Valley and Greater Vancouver, BCE's Ruskin produces 141,000 hp all year 'round.

Party line load to be lightened

BC Telephone Company plans outside plant projects in Gibsons and Sechelt as a part of a general program of expansion in former government telephone territory. The development will take care of most held applications and will provide facilities for future growth in the area. Upgrading will also be carried out to reduce the number of parties on some lines.

Eric Mallett, BC Telephone Company district commercial manager, announces that the job, which will cost nearly $36,000, will include the placing poles and cable containing 425 miles of wire.

Additional switchboard will be added in connection with the outside plant projects to improve and expand service in both communities.

Thomas wins scholarship

Four University of B.C. students will be having Christmas in September this year, thanks to the Christmas gift plan set up by a Vancouver towing company.

They will receive a total of $750 in scholarships donated by Dolmage Towing company. The firm makes an annual grant to the university for scholarship purposes instead of making annual Christmas gifts to associated businesses.

Winners are: Roy Stanley Merritt, Langley Prairie, $200; Ronald Cameron Riddell, 2725 Balaclava, $200; Michael Schultzer, 1823 West Third, $150; John Maldwyn Thomas, Gibsons, $200.

Merritt had high standing in the first year engineering course last year and was given the award to continue engineering studies.

Riddell was the highest ranking student in Kitsilano High School in the recent government examinations and will be entering first year arts and science course last session and will continue in the pre-medical course.

Thomas was an outstanding student in the final year of Commerce. He spent the last session on a Norwegian Government scholarship in Norway.

Dr. Wallace will preach

For the four Sunday mornings in September the services will be taken at the United Church in Gibsons by Rev. H. D. Wallace, D.D., who will be holidaying with his family at their cottage on the Reserve.

Dr. Wallace is the associate minister at Ryerson United Church, Vancouver. The congregation and friends will appreciate that this undertaking by Dr. Wallace is an offering of a part of his own holiday leisure.

All interested are cordially invited to attend the services. At Roberts Creek and Wilson Creek the Rev. R. R. Morrison will be responsible.

False alarm

The wailing siren Monday night had many people wondering what was on fire.

The Legion Hall emptied on extremely short notice — but there was no fire in sight.

The siren on the RCMP car had short-circuited.

That was the reason for the alarm.

The Howe Sound fair committee meeting in the Parish Hall Monday night decided to look into the matter of expanding the fair and will call on individuals who have had experience with fairs to give advice.

They will ask James W. Wardrup, president of the B.C. Fairs association and Mr. Peppar, manager of the Port Moody Fair, to speak at a meeting of the Howe Sound Fair committee on a date to be set by the visitors.

There was considerable discussion over the future and Roy Malyea, chairman in opening the discussion said the first thing he would like to see would be a larger committee working under the direction of an executive committee. There would be subcommittees in this set-up which could take considerable of the load off the shoulders of Mrs. LeFeuvre, the now busy secretary and treasurer.

"I have worked on numerous committees in the past," said Mr. Malyea, "but I have never had such co-operation from any as I have had from the fair committee this year."

The discussion then spread into the future of the fair generally and it was decided that the trustees of the Brothers' Community Park, Mr. L. S. Jackson, Robert Burns, village clerk and Robert MacNichol of the Canadian Legion should attend the next meeting and offer what advice they could towards obtaining better accommodation for the fair.

A motion was passed, discussed and left in abeyance for the time being, that a fair association be formed thus relieving the Farmers' Institute and the Women's Institute of the responsibility of sponsoring the fair.

It was argued thae the fair was reaching such proportions that it would become necessary, in order to get wider representation and a more compleee coverage of th coastal area, to enlarge the organization and it was felt this could be achieved more readily by forming a fair association.

There was also discussion on the entries from the schools and an invitation will be sent out to teachers who will be meeeing soon at Pender Harbour, to see that their schools enter competitions. It was also suggested that entries be limited to those printed in the prize list and distinctive subects be allotted to the various grades. This would allow teachers to select the best two or three efforts and enter them into competition with other schools. As competitions now operate here is no limit to entries and the number is increasing rapidly.

Mrs. LeFeuvre in submitting a financial statement of the fair said receipts passed the $600 mark and after bills are paid the fair committee will have the best bank balance it has ever had.

FOREST FIRE

A forest fire is reported buring in the area of the Misery Creek Logging Co., between Sechelt and Salmon Arm. According to RCMP at Sechelt, about 40 acres of timber were burning Tuesday.

Wyngaerts winners

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wyngaert of Gibsons were winners at the Pacific National Exhibition. Mrs. Wyngaert, who entered 30 clases won 20 prizes of which eight were firsts and 12 seconds.

Mr. Wyngaert who entered seven exhibits in the waterfowl fowl classes won one first and three seconds in the goose classes and first for a cockerel, first for a best pullet light breed and second for a cockerel, light breed.

Mrs. Wyngaert was first in un-iced angel cake, un-iced sponge cake, iced sponge cake, jellyroll, loganberry jelly, canned raspberries, canned combined peas and carrots, dill pickles and chutney.

She came second in shortbread cake, blackberry jelly, raspberry jam, boysenberry jam, any other variety of jam, canned peaches, canned raspberries, canned tomatos, canned chicken, canned salmon, pickled onions and mixed pickles in mustard.

Mr. Wyngaert won a second in Chinese white old gander, and second in old goose, same class; asecond in Pilgrim old gander (there was no first award) and a first in old goose same class.

In the Howe Sound Fair Mrs. Wyngaert had 91 entries and she obtained 84 prizes, most of them firsts.

NEW VON NURSE HAS TAKEN OVER

Miss Marjorie Joyce, the new VON nurse was introduced to the VON branch members at a meeting last Friday night in Roberts Creek Legion Hall. She was introduced by Miss Ross, temporary VON nurse who has been making a check on VON services here during the last month.

Miss Joyce said she had been here two days only but she could see the wide scope in the variety of VON services here, and added she would do all she could to uphold the VON tradition in her work.

Miss Ross in making her report to the general meeting said she appreciated the help she had been given by Miss Cooper who will be remaining as relief nurse. She thought that using the place of residence as the VON office was not satisfactory and recommended an office be established as soon as pohsible so records could be kept satisfactorily.

Finances of the branch were discussed by Miss Ross and she was of the opinion that owing to records of the past not being fully kept, they did not allow a proper review of actual costs but she thought when such records were available the picture could be summarized much better. She suggested that VON services were not being usd to the fullest extent but if they were not available it would be a serious matter for the district. She was of the opinion that the situation be reviewed again in a year's time when it would be possible to arrive at a more accurate conclusion.

The treasurer, W. B. Boucher reported proceeds from the Kiwanis game with Chop's mops totalled $116 and he added the VON was very grateful for this sum.

Provision of office space for the nurse was discussed but owing to the fact there did not appear to be anything available at present the subject was left in abeyance.

It was decided there would be a board meeting on Sept. 23 but the place and time of meeting will be announced later.

The decline of bedside nursing drew varied comment from members of the meeting but Dr. Hugh Inglis was of the opinion if there was a decline reported it must be the fault of the records because he noted that Miss Cooper was kept quite busy each day. Miss Ross, the nurse, explained she had made 140 calls during the month she was on the job and quite a number of the visits involved bedside nursing. She explained what bedside care meant and with it the general health instruction service.

Such care was the primary object of the VON she said, and it should be kept at the top of the VON service.

Mr. A. E. Ritchey, president of the branch and chairman of the meeting said that costs of visits showed a decline during the last year compared with those of the previous year.

Both Mr. Ritchey and L. S. Jackson when talking on costs said that if the VON could get one dollar from every person in the district, the VON branch would have no financial worries at all. Mr. Jackson thought higher costs were working against the VON.

CHORALIERS MEET

The Choraliers will get together for their first meeting on Sunday evening, Sept. 11, Mr. Harold Roberts reports. The meeting will be at Wilson Creek at 8 p.m.

Music will be distributed at the meeting, and the group wil decide upon its meeting place and times.

Two picnics on Labor Day

Sechelt Board of Trade is holding its Labor Day picnic, not on the Indian Reserve grounds as advertised, but on the old Union Picnic Grounds, near the Cenotaph and the PA Club, according to Fred Mills. He stated it woudl be more easily approached by those who might come from outside Sechelt.

There will be races, tug-of-war, pole climbing, a ball game and a corn roast.

The bonfire in the evening, Fred says, will be on the waterfront, opposite the Union Store, in the style which is traditional with Sechelt.

There will also be a Sports Day at Port Mellon when employees of the mill will stage their annual affair. A big day is expected at both places.

NO TELEGRAMS

After midnight, August 31, no further telegrams will be accepted for transmission by The Coast News. Those desiring telegraph service are advised to phone Vancouver.

Many new homes built

Close to $80,000 expansion in Sechelt home building, is the estimate of Mr. R. Minnion of the Bank of Montreal there. Six new homes in the immediate area this year would account for approximately $50,000 of this sum, and the remainder, an estimate only, is made up of smaller homes where construction has just begun, or foundations have been started.

There have been a number of inquiries on both housing and home improvement loans in addition to the above figures, Mr. Minnion stated.

SCHOOL BOARD MOVES

Wednesday was moving day for the School Board office in Gibsons. Secretary Mrs. Anne Burns and her assistant, Mrs. Alice Veitch will take temporary quarters across the street in the ground floor of Mrs. Drew's home, pending the completion of the new office building and store south of Gibsons Post Office.

W.S. Kennedy Selma Park, dies

The funeral service for Walter Stewart Kennedy of Selma Park was held in the Herron Brothers Chapel, Vancouver, and burial took place in the Field of Honor, Mount Pleasant Cemetery, on Monday afternoon, the Rev. J. Ramsay officiating.

Mr. Kennedy passed away on August 25, in Shaughnessy Hospital, where he had been taken but a few days before. He was in his 69th year.

Mr. Kennedy had served in the CFA, the 39th battalion, during the First World War. He was employed until retirement as a blacksmith with the City of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy came to Selma Park to build their home and have it ready for his retirement. They have lived there as active, well-liked members of the community. Mr. Kennedy was a member of the Mount Lebanon Lodge, AF & AM.

He leaves his wife Agnes, a sister in Scotland, a niece in Nanaimo, Mrs. J. Gardner, and a nephew in Ontario, William Cambell Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy is coming back to live among her friends in Selma Park.

LIBRARY HOURS

Commencing Saturday, Sept. 10 the library will be open at these hours:

Calf Club awards made

Winners in the Dogwood Junior Calf club event at Howe Sound Fall Fair last week were Robert Coates, first steer and Arnold Wiren, second. Linda Christians was first in the heifer class and Aird Sutherland second.

L. S. Jackson was judge of the animals and commented on the excellent appearance of the animals. He was called on to judge at the last minute when it was found the judge who was supposed to do the work had not shown up.

The results of the Calf Club efforts during the few months the club has been in existence were shown up in he care of the animals, a point which Mr. Jackson stressed when he was judging.

The Coast News has received a letter from a friend of the Calf club and we quote the following from it: "Due to the efforts of several anonymous people this foundering club was put on its feet and made a fine showing considering the short time they had to prepare for the fair.

"With a little effort and encouragement this club can really go places. Plans are already being discussed for a fat stock show and the youngsters are preparing to take a shot at the PNE — providing they are recognized and given a helping hand by their own home town."

VON meeting at Granthams

There will be a meeting on Sept. 13 at Granthams for the purpose of forming a VON auxiliary for the area.

Any person interested is invited to attend.

The meeting is called by Mrs. E. Wallis who is at present a vice-president of the district VON executive. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallis at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Wider Fire Protection

The Coast News has been criticised, in a mild way, because it has not done all that it should have done about the greater fire protection area.

It has been criticised because it has not been on the job a little more on one specific point — and that point concerns a petition which was supposed to be circulated.

It is a point well taken but on the other hand what can The Coast News do when it cannot find any person who will take the responsibility of admitting there was to be a petition.

From the very start of the movement to obtain a wider fire protection area The Coast News has left its columns wide open for news and discussion. The Coast News is not taking the responsibility of pressing for the wider fire district. Everyone knows, but whether they will admit it is another matter, that such a movement is necessary in view of the attitude of the Gibsons Village Commission in not allowing the Fire Department to go beyond the confines of the village.

There is good reason for this. The commission is responsible to the ratepayers of Gibsons where tax money is spent. By provincial government law, the Municipal Act, ratepayers' money must not be spent outside the municipality. Because of this, the Village Commission has limited the use of the fire equipment to the municipal area.

The Coast News does not have to stress the need for general fire protection. If there are those so blind they cannot see such a need, they are living in a strange world of their own making and one that will be dispelled quickly when a serious fire occurs near enough to give them a real scare.

If there is anyone, either for or against the idea of wider fire protection, with an opinion to express, the columns of The Coast News are wide open for them to air their views. Beyond that we can go no further. The movement was not started by The Coast News nor will it be kept alive by this paper if the surrounding populace is not interested.

So, if there is a need, and The Coast News believes there is, for wider fire protection adjacent to Gibsons, there is one thing to do and that is to get out and work for it.

If The Coast News had the power to run things in this area there is much it could do. In the meantime The Coast News will continue as a medium of expression. So the "pros" and the "cons" can have a field day— if they will only do something about it.

Comment on VON meeting

Editor: The recent meeting at Roberts Creek Legion Hall of the Victorian Order of Nurses might as well have been held at Timbuctoo for all the general public cares, and it would appear that there is a feeling afoot that the days of this hoary relic of the Wild West has about lived out its usefulness in these parts.

There was not a new face there, except those hardy annuals who come every meeting hoping, like Micawber, something will turn up. They must have gone home with about the same thoughts I had: viz; that we had better turn the business over to the Public Health Service, a bureaucratic benevolent society of very high order judging by the to-do and bustle of the staff, and number of official cars.

It was this same festering fungus that ousted the VON from looking after the school children which was one of our main sources of revenue, also our pipeline to the parents who were thus aware that this local organization was looking after things, and whose meetings were open to all and sundry.

It is poor consolation to know that such a worthy institution must be submerged by such a sticky mesalliance as welfare and politics, and we shall surely rue the day when the VON finds its usefulness hereabouts at an end.

A VON Member.

World population has grown by 35 million in a single year according to estimates given in the latest quarterly issue of "Population and Vital Statistics Reports" published by the United Nations Statistical Office.

The latest figures are based on estimates showing a world population of 2,528 million as of mid-year 1954. The estimate for the mid-1953 was 2,493 million.

A breakdown of population by continents gives the following figures: Africa, 216,000,000; North America, 233,000,000; South America, 121,100,000; Asia (excluding USSR), 1,323,000,000; Europe (excluding USSR), 406,500,000; Oceania, 14,200,000 and the USSR 214,500,000.

A reply to Knothead letter

Editor: The question of an extended fire department area has reached a point, now that the Village Commission has restricted the area to village limits, where people are becoming bitter and calling neighbors names. I am interested in the situation— sufficiently interested to have made some inquiries through which I gained information I believe other interested people should know. The irate taxpayer from Gower and Pratt who rapped our little knuckles last week is apparently unaware of the true situation.

Even if an arrangement could be made with the Village Commission whereby we each pay a tax for the privilege of having a fire truck roar to our assistance when our homes catch on fire, what is the advantage? That fire-fighting troupe needs a water supply. Most of us out in the country have a 1/2 or 3/4 in. pipeline coming from a spring or well where pressure is low and supply limited. Even the people on Pratt road who are connected to the watermain have such a small line with so many people on it that the fire brigade could not get water to quench the recent blaze on Pratt Road.

The Soames Point people have organized an improvement district under the Water Act and have a 4-inch watermain supplying their district. If they can make arrangements for village fire-fighting equipment to serve their area, they have a water supply and will receive some protection. Very probably reduced insurance rates will be lowered by almost enough to pay for the protection.

But we at Gower have no such water main. If "Taxpayer" would like to give his name and act as the organizer of an improvement district with power to set up a commission to get us a water supply, fire protection, even lighting and zoning regulations, he would probably get support.

There has been a study made of the possibilities for a metropolitan water supply for a large area extending from beyond Hopkins Landing on the east to beyond Roberts Creek on the west, the village of Gibsons would very probably join the larger group to their advantage and ours, and we would be in a position to get a big fire truck (one big enough to warrant support to the extent of about 1/3 its cost from Federal Civil Defence) and have real protection for our homes, as well as the convenience of an adequate water supply.

I know the big objection is going to be cost. People are going to fear a great increase in taxes, and very soon we will have the plea that because of the excessive number of poor pensioners in our community, we are inflicting a hardship upon those unable to meet it. I don't believe the facts bear out the lament.

First of all, reduced fire insurance costs and elimination of present water costs for our wells, pumps, springs, water rights, etc., will cover a large portion of the expenses for this bigger water supply. In the second place, I don't believe we have an excessive number of poor pensioners.

There have been two surveys made in the area, one by the BC Power Commission and one by the Village Clerk. Both arrived at very similar figures which indicate that only 15.3 percent of our taxpayers are pensioners and that their property comprises about 13 percent of assessed valuation.

Actual cost of the project is an unknown factor because we have never had a route or sources of supply laid out by engineers, and I do not know total assessment for the area to be included. But if "Taxpayer from Gower and Pratt," or anyone in the area concerned, who has time to put on the problem and some understanding of how a metropolitan water district should be laid out, would form a committee to study ways and means, petitions or plebiscites or whatever is needed, I would be quick to give whole-hearted support and offer assistance within my capabilities.

I am not a good politician, and after next Tuesday I will not have the time to act on a committee, conduct or attend meetings. But I will be glad to offer service as a typist for such a committee, cut stencils, write letters, make copies of statements or statistical data, do any of the joe-jobs for which I am fitted. How about it, "Taxpayer"?

A Logger's Tales

VIOLINS, VITTLES AND VIRTUOSOS

BY L.S.J.

In my early days an orange was an orange, and if one were lucky at Christmas one might get a blood orange from Spain or North Africa. It left no doubt that no matter where it came from, it was juicy, sweet, and the quarters melted in your mouth like ice cream.

In a recent sales talk having to do with the Californian product that has all the earmarks of an orange, these were some of the words that extolled the virtues of this green, painted yellow piece of indigestible effrontery: Pro vitamin A, Inositol, Bioflavenoids, and protopectins. Now I ask as a plain man, who wants an orange with all that junk in it. Not me! I well remember old Dunc Mac saving up the oranges that were doled out one at a time alongside one's plate in the cookhouse at suppertime. He would add them up and figure how many he would have when he went down, and when I pointed out to him most of them would be shrivelled up and would not be edible, he replied "never et one of those danged things in my life and ain't gunna start now."

That was back in the ten-hour day and gaffers like him would come out of the woods or off the boom with nary a whimper after strenuously battling with wood in some form or other all on their own. The likes of Dunc all had their own ideas of how to live best, and what to eat, and they grumbled very little if sometimes the grub got a bit patchy on account of the meat had got put off somewhere else, and we had cured or salt meat for a day or two.

When the fresh meat arrived after two or three days travel it was not in the best of shape but it was quite alright if a bit high and we would be regaled with frying meat even if it was off the shoulder, and good teeth were a stern necessity. In fact we got a lot of fried meat for breakfast as eggs were a bit of a problem and were generally reserved for Sunday with a bit of ham.

We learnt things, or at least I did, by trial and error. In the morning I could not eat enough to keep going to 12 unless I started on meat first, then prunes or some such, and topped it off with a bowl of mush with lots of sugar. This would generally keep one in trim till lunch.

The exotic feeding of later days coincided with the eight hour day, and the intricate machinery for handling logs which lessened individual effort, and the human powerhouse required less fuel. This theory is most utterly proven by the decrease in the consumption of snoose. Many a log moved into the water with snoose when all else failed. It was quite the thing along about 4 p.m. of a tough day to see the snoose box being handed around. A tap in the lid and a hooked forefinger well loaded worked wonders on the last lap.

It was many years before the woods were cut back enough for the problems of coming into dinner to arise, and when it did there were difficulties galore. The small camps had a lunch camp out in the woods; Just a rough table and benches under a shake roof, and a box out of the way of depredators with bread, etc., which was packed up by the crew.

It was the job of one of the flunkeys as a rule to pack up a container with meat, spuds, and pie, etc., in separate compartments the idea being a hot meal. His would be the job of lighting a fire and getting things hot to make tea and coffee, and after the crew had gone back to the woods, to wash the dishes, tidy up and off back to the beach.

The lunch box and the thermos bottle eventually overcame this tomfoolery and the present day lunch table in the cookhouse with its piles of sandwiches, cans of this and that, pickles and heaven knows what, all nicely piled up to be mauled into disorder by all and sundry making up their own lunch. There was generally four or five types of sandwiches, pie, cake and fruit of all sorts. The cost was appalling which perhaps cannot be helped, but the chronic waste out in the woods fed a small army of the wild folk.

One could always tell where a crew ate its lunch. There would be some ravens and jays hanging around waiting their turn to clean up. Tomates, half eaten eggs, sandwiches, half cans sardines, apples and oranges half bitten into and thrown away; a shocking waste. It is very fortunate that some of the big outfits are able to operate without a cookhouse. Come of the smaller camps reckon to lose up to $2,000 a month feeding a small crew; this seems incredible but it is a fact.

Apart from these uninteresting details Dunc was a hoedown fiddler of renoun especially in the country north of Seymour Narrows. I believe he had a homestead in the Salmon River valley. At one time or another in his career he had been round a gramaphone a great deal and spent his time learning by ear a rather famous piece of music on his violin. It was the Spanish air "La Paloma" and Dunc could really pour it on but it always met with some diffidence in the bunkhouse so Dunc would move out to the blacksmith shop or the woodshed and play himself into tears, believe it or not.

Salmon travels

A tiny chum salmon that swam 350 nautical miles this summer provided a new clue to the migration patterns of salmon spawned in the Puget Sound Basin, the Washington State Department of Fisheries reports.

A salmon tag found just east of Cape Caution in Northern British Columbian waters July 18 had been placed on the chum June 16 at Point Defiance near Tacoma.

The chum averaged 11 nautical miles a day on its 33-day cruise.

The 12-inch-long salmon's mighty swim is the first tangible proof that chums from Puget Sound streams swim far northward in search of food, fisheries officials said.

Visitor pleased

Among the visitors who called in at the Coast News during the last few days was a chap who as a young lad 39 years ago lived in the Gower Point area. He was C. Kilgour who is now with a large Portland, Ore., printing firm.

He remembers when there were only two stores in the area, one being Hoffman's and the other was one he thought started with a "W" but that was as far as his mind would take him. He did say there were some remarkable changes in the district and said he was enjoying his first trip back to the Sunshine Coast. He thought The Coast News was a well-printed paper.

MRS. M. NEWMAN

The beautiful grounds of the R. Cumming home, overlooking the sea, was the scene of a gay card and tea party last week in aid of the VON.

More than 40 visitors gathered from coastal points to enjoy the afternoon and the Cumming hospitality. Tables were set on the west lawn against a background of roses overlooking the gulf over beds of gorgeous begonias.

Noted among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. Harvey, Sechelt, and former residents, Mrs. C. Hilchie and Mrs. J. Anderson, now of Inglewood.

Prizes were won by Miss Carter, Mrs. M. MacNichol, Miss Harrold and Mr. F. Warburton.

On August 18, Mrs. Susan Scott, gowned in rich black lace and surrounded by flowers and gifts, received her many friends who came to congratulate her on her 94th birthday. The living room of her charming beach home was a veritable bower of flowers as the choicest blooms from many local gardens were brought for her pleasure.

Cards, gifts, letters and telegrams arrived from varied points in great quantities. Mrs. Scott is keenly interested in all local and world affairs and her wit and humor are a delight to all.

Also celebrating her natal day, on August 26, was Mrs. J. G. Bates who was 84. She also was the recipient of flowers, gifts and cards, spent the afternoon at the beach and the evening watching TV with her family.

The OES Cancer dressing group met at the E. J. Shaw home last Thursday to continue with their work. This goes on all year and cottons and flannelettes are always acceptable and very necessary.

Selma Park

BY MRS. O. M. BYERS

Mrs. Livesay has had her friend Mrs. Bowman of North Vancouver with her for the past week.

Mrs. Byers has rented her home to Mr. and Mrs. Art Guppy and their three small children of North Vancouver. Mr. Guppy is on the teaching staff of the Elphinstone High School.

Mrs. Byers is leaving to spend the winter at Vancouver and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Temple of Seattle were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eddy and daughter Rosemary have been holidaying at the Wigard cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Heskin have been visiting Mrs. Harris in Vancouver and Miss Annie Heskin, sister to Mr. Heskin, came back with them to holiday at Selma Park.

Miss E. Williams and Mr. J. Hudson of Vancouver have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lee.

Bernard Heskin has finished training at Chilliwack Camp and is now at home until university opens.

Mr. Jack Marsh and his bride are to visit Mr. Marsh's parents for a few days after which Mr. Marsh Jr. will return to his post on the HMS Ontario now stationed at Esquimalt.

The Misses Effie and Dorothy Monro are leaving shortly for a trip to Toronto and will take the boat trip on the Great Lakes visiing the Niagara Peninsula and Ottawa.

Redrooffs

BY PAT WELSH

The Redrooffs Beach and Country Club held a fishing derby on Saturday and Sunday, August 27 and 28.

A silver cup donated by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dix for the largest salmon caught, was awarded to Mrs. Chris Dalton and Mr. H. Merilees, each weighing in a 9 lb. salmon.

Mrs. Dalton will hold the cup for the first six months and will then pass it on to Mr. Merilees for the following half year. The first prize of $5 for the largest fish caught went to Patti Darling who caught a 13½ pound cod.

Second prize of $3 for the ugliest fish, was presented to J. Heindman who landed a flounder.

Third prize for the smallest fish was won by Steve Taylor for a minute bullhead.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Dix, Mr. Nelson Darling, and Mr. Bruce Robinson.

Mr. Tom Barrow weighed in.

It is hoped this will become an annual event.

The tennis courts have been resurfaced and are now closed for the season.

Merry Island was gay with laughter recently when a barbecue was held to celebrate the birthday of Frank Perry, nephew of Mrs. J. Perry. Guests were Mrs. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Potts, Jo Anne and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cooper, Mrs. J. Meikle, Mr. A. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Ladner and family, and Mrs. Lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlow and Virginia of Vanrouver are the guests of the W. O. Richmonds.

The Bill Grundys have their granddaughter Lorraine Smith as house guest, as their daughter, Mrs. Margaret Smith welcomed an 8½ pound boy on Friday last at St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cochrane were the guests of Mrs. S. Frost over the weekend.

Mrs. J. Simpson welcomed Mrs. Seton of Vancouver.

Mrs. A. Brox of Edmonton and family are at the Johnny Simpson's.

Nora and Don MacDonald have an old time resident of this area as guest, Mr. Tom Robilliard who is now residing in Surrey.

The Frank Lyons have Mrs. Lyons' sister, Mrs. F. Welch of New Westminster and Mrs. Carlson of Vancouver, while her son Gordon, wife, and sons Christopher and Robin came up from Vancouver for the week-end. Her daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Lyons is vacationing at Lak la Hache, in the Cariboo country.

Visiting Mrs. J. Meikle are her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Hall and daughter of West Vancouver.

Mrs. Buller and family flew to New York on Thursday last to join Mr. Buller.

Others who have closed their homes are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Piper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Cunliffe, who will be greatly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thoms and Gerry are back after visiting friends on Vancouver Island. They will remain at their sumer home until early September.

Dr. and Mrs. Ken Argue and Ricky are up to do a spot of fishing.

Registered at Redrooffs Resort this week are Mr. and Mrs. Roly Neil and Mr. Neilson; Mr. and Mrs. Mattenson; Mr. and Mrs. J. Burch and family, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardy of Sunnyside, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. C. Cannell of West Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Trimble, Joy and John of West Vancouver.

Many new staff teachers are already in the community, becoming acquainted with its people and facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns have returned from their holiday down the west coast to California. They visited old friends in many of the coastal towns, and thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

Mrs. Cloe Day and Mrs. Alice Veitch had a wonderful holiday trip up into the Peace River country, and home by way of Williams Lake. They visited friends and relatives of Mrs. Day. The Peace River gumbo made them appreciate B.C.'s black-topped roads on their return.

The A. E. Ritchey home in the Headlands was a real buzz of activity early Monday morning. Mr. Ritchey took Joanna to the early ferry. Jo, during a term at Crofton House, decided to take up nursing at Vancouver General, and made her start Monday.

Upon returning home Mr. Ritchey loaded his new D-6 caterpillar and headed for Powell Lake. The familiar sight of Alf with his white helmet may be missing for the rest of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fladager and family save returned after a camping holidy down the West Cost States, and back up via Grand Forks. They took full advantage of all the camping areas along the way, and had a relaxing holiday. Sam says it's the best way to have a family trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. "Sandy" Gordon af the Bank of Montreal, are leaving Gibsons on Friday this week for Merritt, B.C. where Sandy has been transferred. He has been in the Gibsons branch for the past 17 months, and regrets leaving the friends he has made here.

Sechelt News

Mrs. Lou Plumeridge, Porpoise Bay, is holidaying with her two girls for a week. She plans to visit her husband's brother Bill and family in Langley, B.C., and an aunt in Chilliwack before shopping in Vancouver on her way home.

A very charming blue crepe paper umbrella was the container for the dozens of beautiful presents given at a shower in honor of Derek, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Nelson, Sechelt, at the home of Mrs. T. Robilliard, Porpoise Bay, Friday evening, Aug. 26.

The Fire Belles, Ladies' auxilary to the Sechelt Volunteer Fire Dept., managed to completely surprise Mrs. Nelson. She was brought to ehe house on a preeext by Mrs. J. Rogers, and was thoroughly taken aback on being surrounded by twenty congratulating ladies.

A most original cake in the form of a baby carriage was made,and decorated with an inscription "What do you know, It's a boy!" by Mrs. Alice Billingsley, Porpoise Bay.

Mrs. Nelson was presented with a fresh flower corsage fashioned prettily by Mrs Thelma Salter.

The guests played party games, admired the lovely array of gifts and then enjoyed a delicious repast. Mrs. Yvette Kent also helped with the arrangements

Here from Seattle to visit numerous relatives on the Peninsula, all the way from Gibsons to Sechelt, is Mrs. Isabel Campbell, wife of T/Sgt. Alexander Campbell. She and small Janice are staying with her brother John Morrison, Selma Park, and his wife for a week. Six-year-old Steven is visiting with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Roy Gaines at Porpoise Bay.

When she returns home, Mrs. Campbell will be accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morrison and Anne who will holiday in Seattle until the opening of school.

Mrs. Gladys Batchelor, Selma Park, has her niece, Miss Wynne Shepherd of North Vancouver visiting for a few days.

Weddings

PERRY—FAGAN

Miss Gail June Perry and Carl Fagan were married in a quiet ceremony at the United Church, Davis Bay by the Rev. Bevan of Gibsons on Saturday, August 27 at 5 o'clock.

The bride's stepfather, Joseph Trefrey of Porpoise Bay gave her in marriage.

The bride was exceptionally beautiful in her strapless chinese satin dress of ballerina length, with an overskirt of nylon net embossed with lover's knots and orange blossoms. A brief matching jacket was fashioned with a high collar, closed at the throat, and long lily point sleeves. A coronet of sheer tulle sprinkled with mother-of-pearl sequins and minute orange blossoms fell into a chapel length veil over her shoulders, framing the bride's face and dark hair to perfection.

She carried red and white carnations in an exquisite bouquet. A tiny silver locket, given by her mother when she was one year old, graced the bride's throat as the "something old" to bring good luck.

Maid of honor was the sister of the bride, Miss Ann Teresa Perry wearing a blue ballerina dress of shantung silk and carrying pink and white carnations. A wreath of matching flowers in her hair held a small veil.

The little flower girl, Marion Bloomfield, looked very sweet in a yellow net dress over taffeta with a band of flowers in her hair to match her dress. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and mauve asters.

Miss Margaret Williams, Porpoise Bay, played the wedding march for the entry of the bride, and during the signing of the register the lovely strains of "Whispering Hope" swelled through the church, which was decorated with yellow and mauve dahlias.

Mr. T. Caldwell of Selma Park supported the groom.

An open house garden party reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Tables were arranged on the lawn and school chums of the bride served the guests.

The bride presented her ooquet to Mrs. C. Lawrence in token of her kindness during the preparations for the wedding.

Pink rosebuds and silver leaves decorated the three-tiered wedding cake, which had each tier set on white pillars, with a miniature bride and groom standing on top in front of three wedding bells.

The mother of the bride was most attractive in a navy sheer nylon dress with embossed white floral pattern and a very full skirt, complemented by summer-white accessories.

The young couple left by car to tour the States for a few days before returning to live on the Peninsula. The bride travelled in a charming swiss organdy torso dress with a multi-colored fleck, and coat to match with white accessories, and a corsage of white camillias from her husband.

Police Court

On the nights of Sept. 22, 23 and 24, or the early mornings of the days following, the business premises of the Bowling Alley, the Village Coffee Shop and the Peninsula Athletic Club were broken into. Quantities of cigarettes, candies, bowling shoes and similar items were stolen from each place.

The RCMP at Sechelt apprehended two young men and recovered the stolen goods.

Arraigned before magiserate Johnston, Thomas Lloyd Stodhart and Robert Waller Young were found guilty and each sentenced to three months hard labor on each of two counts of breaking and entering.

William Cooper, who pleaded not guilty on a charge of illegal parking in Gibsons, was found guilty, and fined $2 and costs.

Stanley Hermiston of Gibsons, charged on a second intoxication offence, was senteneced to 20 days.

A juvenile who failed to observe the restrictions on his driver's licence was fined $10 and costs.

Lawrence McGratten, of Hudson Bay, Sask., was fined $20 and costs, having been found guilty of being intoxicated in a public place, near Sechelt Union Store.

John Laidlaw of Roberts Creek was fined $25 and costs for speeding in Roberts Creek.

Wilson Creek Surprise shower

Wilson Creek Community Hall was the scene Monday evening of a surprise shower for Miss Mabel Aune.

Miss Avril Lucken presented a lovely corsage and gaily decorated basket of gifts with the best wishes from Mabel's friends and residents of the district who have known her for many years.

After a short speech of thanks from the bride-to-be, refreshments were served.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. Little, Shirley Clarke and Avril Lucken. Friends are invited to the Holy Family Church in Sechelt for the wedding at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 3.

The Indian and the white man came together near historic Fort Mac Leod, Alberta, to smoke the pipe of peace when Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe became an honorary Chief of the Blood Indian tribe of the Blackfoot Confederacy. Similarly honored was George Gooderam, former supervisor of Indian affairs for the province of Alberta and the Northwest Territories. Shown seated in centre, Head Chief Shot-From-Both-Sides; on the chief's immediate right, C. D. Howe, smoking the pipe of peace with obvious determination; on the head chief's left, Chief George Gooderham, and Chief Many Fingers.

BETWEEN OURSELVES
BY Gracker Wallace

People interested in sports know a team made up of star players is seldom as good as a team of ordinary players, because the stars haven't learned to play together. Each player wants to be a stand-out, and no one is willing to play second fiddle. Sometimes it happens in the home, at business, in a church, and most of all in international affairs. Sheer egotism is to blame for much of the world's troubles; there are a lot of fine people in the world, but when they pull in opposite directions, there cannot be much progress.

A man was hurrying along a street when he saw a friend across the road struggling with a heavy trunk in a doorway. Always willing and eager to do anyone a good turn he crossed the street and said, "Wait a moment and I'll help you with that trunk." So the two of them went at it with every ounce of strength they possessed. They tugged and pulled for ten minutes until they were both exhausted and the trunk had scarcely moved an inch.

"Let's keep it up," said the helper, "We'll have another try and I believe we can get it out yet."

The other said, "Get it out! Why man I'm trying to get it in!"

That is what happens when people are pulling in different directions. They accomplish nothing.

Some years ago we were crossing the Atlantic and, as so often happens, time was hanging heavy and some enterprising young man organized deck sports. That was a bright idea and it helped some people to forget that they were feeling seasick. They got something else to think about.

On the second day more games were played and to everybody's delight a tug-of-war was announced. There was a lot of fun about that tug-of-war, and the two captains went about their business of selecting men carefully. Who could pull best? The big fat fellows who weighed anywhere from 200 pounds to 250 or the lighter and more agile ones? One good natured man weighed over 300 pounds, so his captain put him at the end of the rope.

The rest of the passengers lined up like fans at a baseball game. Then the pulling began, and to everybody's amazement the side which looked less likely to win pulled their rivals across the line. Nobody could understand it, but a second test was made and the same thing happened again.

The next day the truth leaked out. The lighter side had been meeting secretly and practiced pulling together.

This old world with its jealousies and bitter strife will be a very much better place in which to live when men and women of every race anl creed cease their squabbling and learn to pull together.

We heard a lady say recently that she belonged to a large family where there wasn't much give and take; the atmosphere was lacking in toleration. The result was that every conversation became an argument; all very capable people but wanting their own way. That was a fair and honest confession. Theodore Roosevelt's son said, "My dad is a grand man but he must either be the bride at the wedding or the corpse at the funeral."

No one can do his or her best if home atmosphere is not kind and gracious. That was a fine thing Dr. John Watson (Ian Maclaren) said: "Let us be kind to each other; we are all having a hard time."

For goodness sake let us pull the same way.

Our quotation is by the prophet Amos: "How can two walk together except they be agreed."

AIR FREIGHT

Trans-Canada Air Lines has announced the first six months of 1955 showed a 15 percent increase in air freight carried over the same period last year. The commodity moved in greatest volume was textiles — 1,313,578 pounds — made up mostly of bolts of cloth from New York and England and in the form of garments.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Canada's ten provincial governments spent $566,000 on civil defence in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1954, Alberta leading with an expenditure of $254,000, followed by British Columbia with $208,000. Ontario spent $37,000, Manitoba $25,000, New Brunswick $6,000, Nova Scotia $5,000, Quebec $4,000, and Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island $1,000 each.

LESS STRAWBERRIES

The 1955 strawberry crop is estimated at 22,700,000 quarts 5,300,000 or 19 percent less than last year.

22 PERCENT MORE APPLES

This year's apple crop is estimated at 17,600,000 bushels 1,300,000 or 22 percent larger than the 1954 crop.

Taxation is tough on millionaires

A majority of Canada's 330 millionaires got their start in small towns, according to August Liberty magazine.

Investigating taxation figures, Liberty found that 330 Canadians who now earn over $100,000 a year are deemed millionaires. Actually, these 330 titans average $140,000 annually.

Altogether, 1,510 Canadians today boast incomes between $50,000 and $100,000 — or a fraction less than 1 percent of the total income in Canada. In taxes, the poor stiffs pay $44,100,000 — 4.12 percent of the nation's total income tax bill.

They've discovered income tax makes it tough to pile up $1,000,000 in Canada today. If you were to earn $1,000,000 this year, income tax would snatch $749,220.

Apart from the fact that more millionaires were born in rural communities rather than in larger cities, there is nothing to distinguish a millionaire from his fellow citizens.

In fact, Liberty magazine says, millionaires are pretty ordinary people. "They come pot-bellied and skinny, evil and good, vain and modest, sane and balmy. About the only thing they have in common is a million dollars."

How do you get to be a millionaire?

Liberty asked the millionaires themselves, and received a variety of answers. "Hard-driving ambition, luck, being kind to the poor, taking risks, a wish to compensate for grinding poverty, hoarding cash thriftily— or simply by inheriting the lucre are some of the ways listed by Canada's Croesuses."

A few millionaires, like newspaper baron Lord Beaverbrook, were more specific. Beaverbrook, who once peddled papers in Newcastle, N.B. says, "It' the first $50,000 that counts. You have to feel those early deals right down to the pit of the stomach, if you are going to be a great man of business." And the one-time Canadian bond salesman ticks off on his fingers these attributes for his own success: "Drive. Industry. Judgment. Health."

Garfield Weston, Toronto-born baker's son who parlayed a natual penchant for making dough into a financial empire that once required him to pay $6,000,000 in taxes alone, credits his success to enthusiasm rather than to any form of business cunning.

"It was the daring and adventurous spirit, that's all," he says. His advice to would-be emulators: "Get hold of one thing you believe in, and sell it for all you are worth. In making it, you will make yourself."

Edward Plunkett Taylor, Canada's affable horse-racing millionaire and probably one of the shrewdest industrialists in the nation, once said "Work is my hobby." At 54, Ottawa-born Taylor still "works like a fiend." An aide says, "It isn't the money so much. He just likes to make a good deal."

Col. R. S. McLaughlin, chairman of General Motors of Canada, admits he got a good start by entering his father's carriage factory at Oshawa, but the man who was born in the tiny Ontario town of Inniskellen, adds: "I had to work, and work hard and conscienciously. You'll succeed if you do just that," he says.

The ability to make money in large amounts is not restricted to the man. One of Canada's self-made women millionaires is Muskoka, Ontario's stocky, dynamic Viola MacMillan, president of Viola-Mac Mines Ltd., in British Columbia. Viola and her husband George have prospected across Canada. They bought their $10 million ViolaMac mine for $65,000. She sold stock to raise the $40,000 down payment.

"To be a success," says Toronto millionaire real-estate agent George Ridout, "you have to be aggressive — and have the ability to make people like you." Before stumbling on this simple rule nine years ago, George was a Toronto milkman.

Summing up Liberty says a study of Canada's millionaires revealed these three patterns:

"The wealthiest men seldom showed outstanding ability until they entered the world of money. They were average, or slightly above average scholars; often their first business venture failed.

"Most men who made most money had little in their early lives, and many were brought up in a severe, Puritannical tradition.

"Practically all showed a single-minded purpose which enabled them to make it their hobby, too. They didn't mind working 16 hours a day, because they enjoyed it."

It seems that hard work, after all, is still the key to success.

2,160 TUGS

Last year 2,160 tugs departed from Canadian ports in international seaborne shipping, 1,674 of them from British Columbia ports, 415 from Ontario ports, 44 from Nova Scotia ports, 19 from New Brunswick ports, 7 from Quebec ports and one from Cornerbrook, Newfoundland.

AL LLOYD BACK

Al Lloyd of Garden Bay found Babine Lake a fine spot for a holiday. He enjoyed fishing for rainbows, but reports the regular late summer run of trout had not started.

This particular run, he says, follows the spawning salmon up into that country, evidently feeding on their eggs. The salmon were just arriving.

Al looks as if the holiday had been worthwhile.

Opportunity for sketchers

B.C. youngsters with a flair for sketching or painting can win a share of $610 in prizes in the fifth annual B.C. division, Canadian Cancer Society poster contest which opens when school starts.

The contest, which closes on Nov. 15 is designed to give students the facts about cancer, including its danger signals and the progress that has been made against it in recent years.

A grand prize of $50 will be awarded to the student who submits the poster judged best and first prizes of $25 and second prizes of $10 will be awarded in each of the 16 school districts.

The contest is open to all students in grades nine to 12, including those taking courses by correspondence.

This year the winning poster will be used by the B.C. division in the society's annual "Conquer Cancer" campaign.

The poster contest will be the only one sponsored for students by the society this year in B.C. In past years, the B.C. division has sponsored both a poster and an essay contest. In future, they will be held on alternate years.

Three accidents on same road

Garden Bay had three mishaps last week, with Garden Bay Lake figuring in all of them.

L. N. Brownlee of Egmont, driving along the lake, met a truck. He pulled too far out on the narrow road, and nosed down almost into the lake. A jagged rock sticking up caught on the undercarriage, and saved him by inches from a chilly dip. The rock damaged the car. That was Monday.

On Tuesday G. K. Smith, a timber scaler of Vancouver, met a car and pulled out too far, and his car toppled into Garden Bay Lake.

Joseph Feliksiak of Halfmoon Bay struck a soft shoulder in the road, and he and his pasenger took an unexpected plunge in the lake.

SPORTS WEEK

BY CHUCK TOMPKINS

North Vancouver knocked Port Mellon out of the district finals over the week-end but they got a lot more competition than they bargained for.

Saturday night at Port Mellon the local boys went down 4-2 but they held the visitors scoreless after the second inning and if it hadn't been for one bad iming it could have been a different story.

On Sunday in North Vancouver, Port Mellon led 1-0 going into the 4th inning but again they had the one bad break and wound up on the short end of a 4-1 score.

I think that Port Mellon made a better than expected showing and proved tnat the calibre of ball on the Peninsula is just as good as you will find anywhere on the coast. So thanks a lot fellas for giving us a good name.

The big upset of the year happened on Sunday as the underdog Pender Harbour Athletics walloped the highly disorganized Firemen 9-5 to take their series two games to one and to assure themselves a berth in the Osborne cup finals.

The big boy for Pender was pitcher Ralph Noble who chucked a fine game as well as adding a couple of hits in his own behalf.

One of the longest hit balls of the season was hit by Pender's "Babe" Kamerle, about 260 feet to his off-field which is quite a wallop in any league.

The Firemen couldn't seem to do anything right but in my opinion Noble would have had them on one of their good days as it just seemed to be his day to win.

The fans from Pender can be proud of their team as they came from way back to get into the finals and they can be sure that the boys will be doing their best in the final games.

The final game beween Wilson Creek and Port Mellon will be over by the time you read this and no matter who the winner is the first game of the finals will be played at Pender on Sunday afternoon.

The BC Lions had to try hard but they managed to blow two games over the week end and "I Predicts" face is red as well as his pocket being somewhat lighter.

But don't get down on the Lions too much as the season is still young and lots can happen before November. They should pick up a win against the crippled Winnipeg club.

There is a lot of talk about a soccer league for the Peninsula and I have it unofficially that the Indian School from Sechelt will enter a team. We could possibly get the high school to enter one and with a couple or more commercial teams could make a good league.

Anyone interested can contact me and a meeting could be called in the near future. "I Predict" still thinks Wilson Creek will take the Osborn cup.

Lucky rod hooks salmon

It must have been the lucky seventh for Ben Morrison of Vancouver, a guest of Mrs. Lau's camp. He was fishing Monday about 11 a.m. off Camp Byng with desultory luck when he decided to use his "lucky" rod which had a Tom Mack spoon.

Before long he had a strike, or what he took to be a strike. He battled his catch for three-quarters of an hour and at last managed to gaff it. He had a 30-pound salmon, hooked squarely in the centre of the dorsal fin. Mr. Morrison has been a guest at the Lau camp for seven holiday periods.

GARDEN BAY ACCIDENT

A car, owned by Dick Wise, and driven by Bert Kammerle failed to make a turn on the road between Garden Bay Lake and Garden Bay last weekend and turned over off the road. No one was injured.

Mayor Lloyd Jackson, of Hamilton, presenting the Seagram Shield to Al Balding, Credit Valley pro whose record 204 score won the Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship at the Hamilton Golf and Country Club.

Watch your driving when school opens

The BC Automobile Association reminds motorists that their summer driving holidays are over. School opens on Sept. 6. The time has come for extra driving care in the vicinity of schools.

The BCAA warns motorists to be especially careful when driving near elementary schools. Grade one students will be at school for the first time and are not fully aware of traffic dangers. Others have forgotten the safety rules they learned last term.

Every year at this time motorists are faced with a sudden change in the appearance of familiar streets. One day the streets around local schools are quiet and traffic moves along at a normal clip. The next day is different. School's open!

The safety patrols, police, crossing guards and parents will be watching, but it is the duty of every motorist to do his part to protect these children.

It is especially important, also that motorists adjust their driving practices to conform to local ordinances regarding School Crossing and School Slow signs. In many cities the signs are left standing all year around, and people get in the habit of disregarding them. In most localities these restrictions are rigidly enforced — and for good reason— and it behooves every driver to check on the times of school opening, lunch recess, and closing, so the letter and spirit of the reduced speed laws around schools can be complied with.

Kiwanis notes

Last meeting was an unusually interesting one. The club was host to the North Vancouver Kiwanis Club. Twenty-three members came which was a fine turn-out.

They provided the entertainment and their speaker, Derek Inman, manager of the Denman Auritorium, gave a resume of the North Vancouver club's success with their air cadets.

Mr. Inman was an officer in the air force and has headed up the organization of this group of boys who have won top honors in Canada.

They have a girls' drill team in connection with the air cadets and they won top place this year for their perfection in drilling.

Kiwanis International extends itself to assist any type of work for the betterment of our growing youh and North Vancouver is leading all B.C. clubs in their youth work.

Bud Pangman, president of the North Vancouver club, headed the group. He spoke graciously concerning our progress.

Ozzie Hincks, chairman of our inter-club committee, arranged the meeting and did a great job.

Pulp visitors

Arriving in Vancouver recently was a party of 32 members of the Association of Pulp \ Consumers Inc., New York, accompanied by their executive secretary, Reed R. Porter. Also in the party were the wives of 22 members of the party.

This important group of pulp buyers is attracted by British Columbia's rapidly growing pulp and paper industry with its modern, technically advanced mills producing high quality pulp and paper products.

Pulp and paper manufacturers in British Columbia were hosts to the party during its three-day visit.

Mail delivery costs sought

Tenders to ascertain the cost of a daily except Sunday mail service from the Gibsons Post Office over Rural Route One have been called by the postmaster general in Ottawa.

The route covers a 31.9 mileage and calls for delivery as well as pickups from mail boxes. Tenders will be received in Ottawa at 12 noon, Friday, Sept. 16.

Forms of tender and guarantee of performance can be obtained at Gibsons Post Office.
