Scout leader will speak

Mr. J.L. MacGregor, executive commissioner for training at Canadian Boy Scout H.Q. in Ottawa will attend the Peninsula's annual district council meeting in the Roberts Creek hall, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m.

Mr. MacGregor is surveying the Boy Scout movement in Canada, and the Sechelt Peninsula is in his itinerary.

All scouts and cubs on the Peninsula will also attend, as well as parents and friends of Scouts and scouting.

There will be elections and installations of officers and light refreshments will be served.

Mr. MacGregor was born in Toronto, and lived in Hamilton until he joined the Royal Canadian Navy as a rating in 1940. He saw extensive action during the war, was mentioned in despatches in the Sicilian campaign, and was commissioned in 1944. In 1947, he was commanding the H.M.C.S. Lloyd George, but resigned his commission in order to devote his full time to Scouting.

Lingo expert solves mystery

Allan the not yet three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lamont of Headlands district decided to go for a walk recently.

He walked too far. His mother became worried and called on the neighbors. She located Sam, her husband and he along with friends, sought the missing Allan.

In the meantime, Fred Barnes driving towards Gospel Rock saw a small boy who looked lost. He picked him up and tried to find where he lived. It was not until he met Don Hauka, who understanding the youngster's lingo soon gleaned the required information and had him home in short order.

WRITE NOW!

Sunshine Coast People are urged to write to R.D. Murdoch, Pender Harbour B.C. president of the Pender Harbour Board of Trade if they want to attend the annual dinner and dance to be held at Madeira Park hall, Friday, Oct. 28, at 7.30 p.m.

The officials of the board do not expect any difficulty in disposing of available tickets so ask those who desire to attend to write immediately to have them reserved or forwarded.

COMMUNITY CENTRE COMING EVENTS

Mon. Oct. 24, the Community Centre will present a technical film covering the 1954 British Empire Games, along with a second film entitled "Wahleach", a construction power project. A silver collection will be taken at the door, proceeds to go to the new Community Association.

On Fri. Oct. 28 the Port Mellon Teen Age Club will hold a Hallowe'en dance.

Sat. Oct. 29, the Community Association will hold its annual Hallowe'en dance.

Sat. Nov. 12, the Kiwanis will hold their dance in recognition of the Community Centre, which will be open to the entire Sechelt Peninsula.

Community activities are well under way and events are scheduled for six days a week, with a full program in view. The Port Mellon Community Centre is primarily for the Port Mellon Community Association and area, but other organizations on the Sechelt Peninsula requiring the use of a hall will be welcome.

SECOND FERRY FOR GIBSON RUN

Delivery of the steam vehicle and passenger ferry "Scotian" was made to Black Ball Ferries, Ltd., Oct. 17 in Halifax, N.S., it was announced by I.D. Birse, vice president of the ferry transportation firm.

According to word received from Capt. Alex M. Peabody, chairman of the board of Black Ball Ferries, Ltd., who has been in Halifax negotiating for the purchase of the ferry, the "Scotian" will be brought through the Panama Canal and arrive on the British Columbia Coast before the end of the year.

The fast ferry will be placed in Black Ball's service on Howe Sound between Horseshoe Bay at West Vancouver and the Sechelt Peninsula. The "Scotian" will operate in addition to and opposite the MV Bainbridge now serving this route.

Built in 1946 in Pictou, Nova Scotia, the "Scotian" is an all-steel double ender vessel 160 feet long. Her minimum capacity is 50 vehicles and 600 passengers. The steam ferry is powered by a Skinner-Unionflow steam engine.

The "Scotian" has been in service by the Dartmouth Ferry Commission between Halifax and Dartmouth. The vessel became available due to the completion of the bridge connecting the two Nova Scotia cities. "Black Ball's Purchase of the 'Scotian' will have the effect of doubling the capacity and frequency of ferry crossings between Horseshoe Bay and the Sechelt Peninsula area", Mr. Birse said. "It is another indication of Black Ball's faith in the economy of the area and also of our policy to offer the best possible ferry service in those areas where such service is always given ahead of the maximum demand."

The "Scotian" will go into service between Horseshoe Bay and Gibsons as soon as some adaptations have been made for the run the vessel will serve, Birse said.

New 80 ft. float for harbour docks

The Gibsons waterfront is to have an additional 80 foot float in the harbour for docking small vessels. This was announced at Monday night's dinner meeting of the Gibsons and District Board of Trade in the Mariner Cafe, by Walt Nygren, newly appointed chairman of the marine affairs committee.

He said the new float would be for the accommodation of visiting craft and is not intended to be used for "parking" vessels over a long period.

Mrs. Wynne Stewart, new president was sworn in by Commissioner Jim Drummond of the Village Commission. In his remarks he hoped the new president would have the support of the entire membership.

In thanking the members for naming her president, Mrs. Stewart said if any of the executive says something that does not please someone, come to the meeting and get it off your chest.

Committees appointed were Ways and Means, George Hunter; public relations and advertising, Harold Wilson; trade and industry, Rolfe Spence; local affairs, Danny Smith; program and entertainment, Ed Sherman; marine affairs, Walt Nygren; membership, Rae Kruse; agriculture, Norman Hough; house Bob Ritchey; health and welfare A.E. Ritchey; Farmers institute John Glassford and reception, William Sutherland. These committee chairmen can appoint other members as required.

Ray Kruse in presenting the financial statement said the paid up membership totaled 33 and the financial statement at Oct. 3 showed $527 in the bank.

The board decided to have representation at the Lands department hearing on the Shoal Bay logging boom. Mr. Drummond said the men involved might be small loggers but they brought quite a bit of money into the community. Mr. Sutherland said the board's views were on record in favor of retaining the boom.

Among the projects the board will work on this year are the gathering of area statistics, a rest room, a community hall, Indian Reserve park, town planning and parking.

Members discussed parking and Mr. Drummond declared the Village commission had no jurisdiction over the activities of the police. He suggested those complaining take the offender's car number and turn it over to the police for prosecution.

Danny Smith said he thought that for the number of people passing through Gibsons the lack of a rest room is a disgrace.

Mrs. Stewart as president said visitors from Pender Harbour and such points who come to Gibsons to shop should have some facilities. When the matter of the opening of the new Community Hall at Port Mellon was discussed Mrs. Stewart said, "we shall feel green with envy when we see it." The board decided to send a large bouquet of flowers to mark the opening event at Port Mellon.

Response for Blind good

Donations actually in hand as a result of the first period of the C.N.I.R. drive for funds total $175, John Wood of Gibsons reports. He states donations may be made direct to the Bank of Montreal or to himself, and official receipts will be issued.

There is still money coming in, and the response so far has been gratifying. He suggests those who have received mailing envelopes for donations, but have not got around to it, should do so soon.

To those who have not actually been canvassed for a donation to the CNIB funds, Mr. Wood makes the suggestion that they mail or bring in their contribution now to either the bank or himself.

Fat ones only

Keith Wright of Gibsons returned last Thursday from a hunting trip through southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, and bordering States. He and Frank Bailey reported the ducks so numerous it was only necessary to shoot the fat ones.

Fisheries Meeting

Mr. James Cameron, a native son of Pender Harbour, accompanied by Dr. A. Needler and Dr. E. Foerster of Nanaimo left Vancouver by plane on Oct. 19 for Tokyo where they will attend a meeting of the Biological and Research Committee of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission.

Mr. Cameron will be chairman of the meeting. Representatives of United States and Japan will attend.

The purpose of the committee meeting is to hear reports on the progress of research done during the past year, and to plan a program of research for the next year.

Under the terms of the treaty signed by the three nations, Japan agreed to abstain from fishing west of Meridian

175. However Canada and the United States must show that they are making the maximum utilization of the fish of the sea. Research is to be made to determine the origin of the fish that the Japanese are catching in the mid Pacific, whether they are North American or Asiatic fish.

Recently Japanese packed fish mostly pinks, were being offered on the world market at prices considerably below those offered by Canadian and American packers. These fish apparently are immature fish and have not the texture or the color of our North Pacific fish.

The annual meeting of the Commission will be held a week after the committee meeting.

Parking problem under fire

Tuesday night's meeting of the Village Commission under the chairmanship of Commissioner James Drummond discussed parking problems in Gibsons and was unanimously of the opinion there was insufficient enforcement within the village.

The matter was opened by a letter signed by Clifford Connor on behalf of the S & S Service station complaining of the needless parking, sometimes three deep on the main highway in front of the station.

One Commissioner suggested a week of parking tickets could probably clean up the matter. There were complaints about lack of police supervision but the commission decided the problem was beyond its jurisdiction as it had no authority over the police operations.

The commission ordered a copy of Mr. Connor's letter with added comment be sent to the provincial attorney-general's department for his consideration.

The commission decided it would have representatives attend the meeting on Nov. 7, called by the provincial lands department to discuss the Shoal Bay logging problem.

Accounts totalling $760.77 were ordered paid constituting $161.25 for the water department, $48.70 for the fire department, $3.06 for roads, $223.96 general expenses and $323.80 for work on the approach to the library.

The matter of the B.C. Electric running a high-tension power line through property controlled by the village resulted in the commission asking for more detailed information respecting access to the property. The power line will be carried on high steel towers along a 200 foot cleared right-of-way.

Building permits for three small construction projects totalling $1,065 were passed.

Commissioner A.E. Ritchey was welcomed to his seat at the commission table after his sojourn on contract work in the Powell River area.

Chairman Drummond aided by Clerk Robert Burns presented a report on their trip to the B.C. Union of Municipalities meeting at Prince George recently. This report will be dealt with more fully in a later issue of the Coast News.

Trueman selected

Mr. S. Trueman, principal of the Elphinstone high school, was invited by C.D. Ovans, general secretary of the B.C. Teacher's Federation, to attend the Teachers' Federation convention in Toronto, Nov. 10 to 14.

As secretary of the curriculum directors' committee for B.C., Mr. Trueman will represent the body.

During his absence, vice principal Mrs. Rankin will take over.

Choraliers notice

The next practice of the Peninsula Choraliers will be held on Monday, Oct. 24, at the Parish Hall, Gibsons.

All members are asked to attend, as the future of the choir will depend on the interest shown at this rehearsal. Practice will start on new items for the coming season.

CSB drive under way

The 10th series of Canada Savings Bonds are now on sale to Canadian citizens and Bank of Canada officials can look back with some surprise to the thrift pattern set up in the decade.

Canadians have bought $4,164 million worth. While this saving has been used for emergencies, a nest egg for some personal project or any of the many uses for cash, half of those bonds are still outstanding in the hands of perhaps a million and a half people.

This constitutes 13 percent of the public debt, an amazing and unequalled distribution.

Probably half a million people have bought bonds each fall. And if they did, at the average purchase in Canada throughout the nine series, would each have invested $3,960.

Again the bond pays 3 1/4 percent, can be cashed at any time for face value plus interest, and can be bought through investment dealers, banks or payroll deductions.

Helping organize payroll purchasing setups in the Coast region is W.S. McQuaid, one of ten Canadian Investment Dealers Association members borrowed from B.C. firms for this job with plants, business houses and other establishments.

Big PTA conference

Gibsons PTA is sponsoring the regional Parent Teacher conference in Gibsons on Nov. 4. Board members and special speakers from Vancouver will attend.

The theme of the discussions at this conference is "The Parent Teacher Program". The afternoon session will be held in the school hall, chaired by Mrs. McIntosh. Mrs. Young, Mrs. Krag, Mrs. Binns are participants in this discussion, which will be summarized by Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. A.H. Young will discuss "Newer Trends in Education" at the evening session, held in the High school Auditorium. A general question period will follow.

Out of town speakers, members of the Provincial PTA Federation, are Mrs. H. A. Young provincial president, Mrs. H. L. Horan, regional conference chairman, Mrs. J. Kragg, provincial organizer, Mrs. G.A. Binns, magazine board chairman, Mrs. J.L. Anderson, council presidents chairman, Mrs. J.J. MacIntosh, children's reading chairman, Mrs. J.A. McLean, council president, Powell River.

Wheat and B.C.

One may wonder what the prairie wheat situation has to do with British Columbia's economy. British Columbia sells lumber and fruit to prairie people, to mention two items only.

The present heavy stocks of wheat are causing worry. This situation is by no means new. Present indications are the wheat supply for next year will total 982 millions of bushels. The last year's total supply was just ten millions of bushels less.

In 1942-3 total supplies were 980 millions of bushels and the carry-over after domestic and export sales totalled 595 millions of bushels. The next year's crop was low, 285 millions of bushels. In 1945-6 the wheat position had got down to a carry-over of 74 millions of bushels.

It is true the international situation is ticklish as regards disposal of the large stocks of wheat but it has been ticklish before. The production cycle has taken another complete circle and it has come to the point where producers on sub-marginal land will have to drop out.

If it should reach the point, which is doubtful, where the prairie farmer has no cash to spend British Columbia will feel the effects of this. Less lumber for building and less fruit, and other sales will be made. What would happen, most likely, is that more prairie people will turn their eyes westward to the Pacific Coast and some will come and settle.

Dismissing the wheat situation as something concerning the prairies and Ottawa alone, is like wearing blinders to look in one direction alone. It does concern British Columbia.

The Glow That Lasts

There are ways of developing a glow. The most common to this educated civilization is through imbibing what is commonly termed refreshment. Another way is to do some good somewhere, somehow.

Take a dollar bill and see what sort of a glow one can get from it. You get about 15 cents worth of liquor for a dollar—the rest of the dollar goes in taxes, profit and costs. The glow you get in this manner would be brief.

Give that dollar to some deserving person through some social service organization or in person if you like—the glow will be more permanent.

Many persons may scoff at the thoughts expressed here. They are brought on after checking the annual struggle the VON makes to keep going vs. the annual lack of struggle with which the liquor store can take in more than $187,000. If the VON got $7,000 of that amount it would be less than four percent of the total.

If one can get a glow through imbibing only, this educated civilization is a trifle cock-eyed in its thinking. How about getting a more permanent glow. Drink if you must, but making someone happy with less than four percent of your liquor money contains worthwhile merit. It can bear serious thought.

LETTER to editor

Editor: I have just finished reading the lengthy column in your last edition entitled "Police Court". It is one that I believe would be better left out altogether.

I can understand that to print notice of fines for speeding or careless driving may have the effect of warning to other drivers, but I fail to see that any good purpose is served by promulgating any of the other items. It is an example of "man's inhumanity to man" that you should take pride in editing a complete account of that side of the activities of the community, and leave so many constructive and interesting happenings and accomplishments unmentioned.

Some of the items you print with so little thought, will undoubtedly have lasting and detrimental effect to the reputation of the person concerned. It also does not seem fair to mention the names and address of certain minors, and in another case call the person "a juvenile" and not state the name.

I should welcome communication with other readers who feel as I do about this injustice.

Mrs. Denelda Pearson

Editor's Note: All newspapers under Canadian laws must refrain from publishing the names of juveniles in court cases. Minors are over the juvenile age therefore do not come under the ban. The cure is in their hands and not the Coast News. They should stay out of trouble.

As for taking pride in editing such copy, no paper is proud if its police court news. Once again the cure rests with the individuals named, who do their misdemeanors with so little thought. As regards leaving so many constructive and interesting happenings unmentioned, please tell us what they are and we will do our best to record them.

The editor sympathizes with Mrs. Pearson's attitude but he has spent years and years around courts and newspapers and knows too well the angles to the argument. On the one side the police and judiciary believe publication helps keep down all types of law-breaking. The other side wonders why other items cannot be used.

To run only the motor breaches would rouse the ire of the motorists. They would ask "Why single us out?" So to be fair The Coast News covers police court happenings in a reasonable manner. If there is no police court news The Coast News will not manufacture any. Perhaps this is explanation enough.

A Logger's Tales

TOTEMS TOTED.
BY L.S.J.

On looking into the matter of totem poles that left Sechelt for Bowen Island recently, we find they had no right there in the first place. They may have been carved here but this seems to have been a pastime more or less.

What the Coast Salish did have were house posts which were extremely crude and signified nothing except a likeness of the deceased or come incident of his or her prowess in hunting or various other matters.

There has been deep research in this peculiarity of the North Pacific coast native and there are interesting facts about it such as the Macris in New Zealand, having a similar but much lesser type of ancestor acclaim. The resemblance in the facial types is noted with those much more intriguing stone faces on Easter Island.

The explanation of these poles at Sechelt is of some length but is well worth recording here, and taken from Vol. 2 "Totem Poles" by Marius Barbeau, National Museum of Canada, Page 731. The Kwakiutl system of privileges and its concrete expressions were flagrantly misunderstood by the Homalco, the Klahuse, and others to the south of them.

Among these Indians anyone who could afford it could have a carving or painting made, usually by an inferior and doubtless, contemptuous Kwakiutl artist. In consequence there was rather a brief proliferation and decadence of a few bleak and unesthetic crest patterns among some of the more aggressive and aspiring Homalco, Klahuse, and Slaiamon families.

Of the four big house owners at Salmon Bay (Klahuse) around the year 1800, one was a quiet "tyhee man". On the beach outside his house stood a human figure with its hands on its hips.

Another important lineage head had the four corners of his house carved in the likeness of women. His ridge pole support looked like a man, pointing to the seats in welcome and his ridge pole and projecting beam ends in the forms of sea lion and seal heads. This was the most important man among the Klahuse. He had married a Kwakiutl woman and very likely some of his crests came with her.

The third man had five posts in his house, carved in the same way as the second, and in addition a central post representing a "greedy man". This figure was symbolic of plenty, and at feasts it was bathed in oil, so that it oozed and drooled the precious liquid. The same individual also painted a whale on the front of his house. From all reports he was a self made man, as "his father had nothing" and he bought these figures, simply paying Kwakiutl to do them for him.

The fourth important Klahuse man had no decorations on his house: he was a "quiet chief" like the first.

Totem poles in commemoration of the dead were raised at the cemetery or in front of the houses in this north-eastern region, but they were few and stereotyped. In 1936 the oldest informant among the Klahuse remembered these poles as "about 40 feet high" with a human figure sitting on the top, one standing at the base, and a plain slender shaft connecting the two.

He had seen two of these at Salmon Bay and four at Grace Harbour. He insisted, however, that they and the rest of the crests were late acquisitions, taken over by the Klahuse after they began to come out of Toba Inlet and were able, because of the white man's intercession, to meet the Kwakiutl on friendly terms.

I was in that part of the country for several years and I never heard of Grace Harbour. I would suspect it is Squirrel Cove but it does not matter much. Another paragraph on page 745, (Among the Sechelts), who formerly congregated and built their permanent dwellings at Pender Harbour, there was even less of a display of privileges of the characters under discussion. There were no free standing posts or poles at all.

One house displayed eagles carved on the projecting wall binders as in Slaiamon instance above; another had a sea lion head at the end of its ridge pole; two others had painted thunderbirds on the gable. Most distinctive was the painted figure of a man straddling the doorway of one house, and carved posts in the shape of seals, sea lions, and blackfish in another.

It will be seen from the above that the totem pole business has a great deal of similarity with the ancestor worship and animal deities, coupled with a good dose of self aggrandizement of the old world. There is not much difference between our Salish friend's grave posts and the ornate ornaments in some of our earlier type European cemeteries.

I was interested in the fact the Sechelts formerly congregated and had permanent dwellings at Pender Harbour around 1800. It is odd that there is no trace of this move in the annals of the Sechelts. Even the church has no record of it.

The small island that constitutes the Reserve at Pender is only an acre or two in extent so the buildings spoken of must have been in some other part of the harbour. It may be that this recorder came upon them at the height of the herring run when they would be gathering spawn.

BETWEEN OURSELVES BY Archer Wallace

THEY ALSO RAN

I know little about horse racing, practically nothing, but I know there is a much used expression which has to do with horses that have not distinguished themselves and they are referred to as "also rans".

It is not a complimentary term. In any walk of life the number of distinguished persons is not large, at best about one or two percent, the rest are ordinary, mundane individuals who also ran.

Late in life that giant in heart and mind, Phillips Brooks, said: "I would like to have been captain of an ocean liner." That is not hard to believe. He was a born leader of men and it is difficult to imagine him in any other role. In most people there is a desire to know the direction in which one is going and, if possible, to know what the outcome of life's experiences will be. They like to stand upon the captain's bridge.

Yet in the greatest concern of all, matters of the soul, complete knowledge is denied. There is continual need for faith and the best and wisest feel it. A beautiful poem by John T. McFarland expresses this truth.

I go not where I will but must;
This planet ship on which I ride
Is drawn by a resistless tide;
I touch no pilot wheel but trust
That One who holds the chart of stars,

Whose fathom-lines touch lowest deeps
Whose eye the boundless spaces sweeps,
Will Guide the ship through cosmic bars.
My soul goes not a chosen way;

A current underruns my life
That moves alike in peace or strife,
And turns not for my yea or nay.

Not on the bridge, but at the mast,
I sail o'er this far-streaming sea;
I will arrive, enough for me
My Captain's smile and words at last.

The widow of a really great man confessed about her husband: "He wasn't easy to live with". The lot of the gifted is not easy, too many of them are, as Carlyle said "Like ships on fire at sea for the benefit of the spectator on shore."

From the beginning of time there have been men and women, weighted down with responsibilities and they need our sympathy and prayers. Elijah once cried in self-reproach, "I am not better than my fathers." That was not quite true for he was a great man, but for those of us who are among the "also rans", we can but humbly and reverently, do our best.

Julia Ward Howe once invited Charles Sumner to meet a distinguished guest at her home but he said scornfully: "I do not know that I wish to meet your friend. I have no interest in individuals."

In contrast to that surly and ungracious attitude Paul stresses the truth, as did his Master before him, that God is tremendously interested in individuals. Indeed it has been said that the three classes of people Jesus had most frequently in mind were the last, the least and the lost.

The writer once had a conversation with an old superannuated minister who had outlived by twenty years the Psalmist's span of three-score and ten. The aged man told of days when travelling was exceedingly difficult and hardships a daily lot. With perfect frankness he told of what he considered had been his own limitations of a minister. He summed it up by saying: "I did not always get on well and I made some serious mistakes but I did the best I could."

Our quotation to-day is by Browning: "All service ranks the same with God."

The Badminton Club got off to a good start last Tuesday. Elected as president and secretary-treasurer are Don Weal and Barbara Coles, respectively, replacing Dick Kennet and Mrs. Newman. The club will meet each Tuesday night at the Hall. New members and guests will be welcome.

R.B. Boucher, R. McSaveney and W. Lee are the three men who will be in charge of the Roberts Creek Scouts. Some 17 boys showed up at the meeting on Monday with application forms completed. Tools left lying about amid shavings, branches and so on, resulted in an order to bring a "staff" to the next meeting.

VON changes date for tea

A new date was chosen for The Headlands VON auxiliary Fall Tea originally advertised for Nov. 24 which is also the date of the Eastern Star's Christmas Tea. It was decided to hold a Chrysanthemum Tea on Nov. 8 in the United Church Hall.

Plans for a sale of work and home cooking were made to include the making of mince-meat by members as well as the many knitted and embroidered articles.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Res on Oct. 12. The secretary read a letter from the Elphinstone Branch in reply to the $100 turned over by this auxiliary. In this letter it was mentioned the credit due the auxiliary for the money which they raise to carry on the services of the V.O.N.

Mrs. Haley, secretary of the Elphinstone Branch, spoke of the new auxiliaries which are being formed at Sechelt and Granthams Landing. She also made the suggestion that at some future date the auxiliaries might combine for a Peninsula tea.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Grant on Oct. 26th. New members will be welcome.

Two showers

Two miscellaneous showers were given to honor Miss Winona Pratt of Porpoise Bay to help to fill her hope chest for her coming marriage to Roy Trites in St. Hilda's Church, Sechelt, Oct. 29.

Mrs. L. Turner, Sechelt invited three Vancouver friends of the bride-to-be, the Misses Betty Baker and Karen Stockwell, and Mrs. Turner's daughter Mrs. Wood, as well as local friends.

Mrs. B. Salter, Porpoise Bay, held a shower on Monday, October 17. Numerous friends presented the guest of honour with many gifts.

Pantry shower

The United Church mance committee held a pantry shower at the church, Oct. 14 in honor of Mrs. Kemp, wife of the new minister.

Some 25 members and friends of the W.A. enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Newman presented the "gifts" to Mrs. Kemp who replied in an apt manner.

Refreshments were served by Miss P. Doherty, Mrs. Warwick and Mrs. Forbes assisted by other W.A. members.

FROGMAN KEITH CARTER, 28, of Vancouver, starts his underwater patrol of Imperial Oil's new products pipe line trenched in the soft mud of Burrard Inlet. Clad in a hooded rubber suit with flippers on his feet and air tanks on his back, Carter swam 50 feet down to the line and inspected its 4,000ft. length section by section for an hour, with one surfacing. He found it in perfect shape, ready for the open trench to be filled in. The section is part of a six-mile line which this fall will carry gasolines and other oil products from Imperial's loco refinery on Burrard's north shore, near Vancouver, to a new marketing terminal being built near Burnaby.

WILSON — MORRISON

An afternoon wedding in St. Aiden's Church Oct. 9 performed by Canon H.U. Oswald united two well-known young people, Dianne Morrison and Louis R.M. Wilson.

The bride is the second daughter of Mrs. Lillian and the late W.L. Morrison and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson.

White satin net and lace with matching bolero was chosen by the bride. A jewelled coronet held her three-quarter length veil and a bouquet of deep roses completed a charming picture.

Maid of honor Edna Mae Morrison was gowned in a floor length pink lace and net. Bridesmaids Lorraine La Breche and Doris Solnik chose ballerina length dresses in pastel shades with matching coronets of lace. Mrs. Lillian Morrison was in a midnight blue lace gown with a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for friends and relatives was held at the bride's home. Mrs. Ted Chambers of Sechelt assisted the hostess. She also assisted in designing and making the bride's dress. The toast to the young couple was proposed by Mrs. E. Foulkes assisted by Mr. Tom Graham.

Guests from Vancouver included Miss Edna Mae Morrison, Miss Rosalie Stettinuck, a cousin; Mr. Archie Johnson and Mr. Z. Czubajkowski.

During the evening the bridal party attended the dance at Wilson Creek where the orchestra complimented the bride and groom with a wedding waltz. A honeymoon by car to California was planned after which the young couple will live in Vancouver.

Proper forms are required

Nearly three thousand cheques, Family Allowances and Old Age Security, issued by the Regional Office, Department of National Health and welfare, here during September, were returned as undeliverable because the payees had failed to notify the department of their change of address.

An erroneous impression appears to exist that filing of the ordinary change-of-address notification with the post office is sufficient to insure direction of the cheques." W.R. Bone, Regional Director, said.

"Postal officials have definite instructions that our cheques are not to be re-directed; and the result is that every month large quantities are returned causing not only a great deal of additional work for this office, but a considerable inconvenience to the payee. special change-of-address slips directed to this office are available at all post offices and are enclosed from time to time with the cheques."

Weddings

MACINNES — WILANDER

A honeymoon in San Francisco and Carmel followed the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross MacInnes on Oct. 1 in Ryerson United Church.

Rev. M.W. Stevenson heard the vows of Elizabeth Anne Willander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilander, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers MacInnes.

The groom was attended by Mr. Ion McInnes and ushers were Mr. Jack Costigan, Mr. Deane Lundy and Mr. Charles Patrick Gray.

The bride chose a simple French antique delustrated satin gown with lace edging, the deep portrait neckline. Seed pearls edged the tiny pillbox satin hat from which floated a finger tip veil.

Miss Nancy Wilander, maid of honor, Mrs. Anton Miachika, Miss Lila Jones, and Miss Sheila Carolin, wore slim frocks with swirl skirts in mushroom pink and copper respectively. Hats and slippers matched.

At the reception in UBC Faculty Club, the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. R.S. Nicholson.

Who Pays For Advertising?

—NOT the newspaper reader, because he saves both time and money by shopping the wide selection of honest values offered through the advertising columns!

—NOT the advertiser, because advertising always returns a profit when it is used correctly and consistently!

—NOT the publisher, because of the hundreds of firms who profitably invest hundreds of thousands of dollars in newspaper advertising!

EVERY LINE OF ADVERTISING IN THE PAPER IS PAID FOR BY THE FELLOW WHO DOESN'T ADVERTISE!

The business which the non-advertiser loses pays the cost of advertising and ALSO returns a nice profit to the fellow who does advertise! HOPING for more business is not as effective as inviting more business!
