Graduation exercises Friday night

W. A. Willander, a member of the first graduating class from a high school on the Sechelt Peninsula, will be the guest speaker at Elphinstone High School on Friday night. Mr. Willander is principal of Sexsmith school in Vancouver. He will be introduced by Dr. Hugh Inglis of Gibsons.

The graduation class will attend their class dinner at Danny's Dining Room earlier in the evening.

The public ceremony will include the presentation of token diplomas to the graduates, the valedictory address by Miss Pat Peterson, and the presentation of trophies and awards won by the students during the year.

A private dance will conclude the evening's entertainment.

Daring rescue

Mr. and Mrs. H. Allan who live in the Sea Crest area of Halfmoon Bay witnessed a dramatic Air Sea rescue by Helicopter on Friday morning. Watching the high seas from a window in their home they noticed a fish boat drifting close to a reef which runs out from their property.

A department of transport tug boat tried to aid the fish boat but was unable to owing to the heavy seas. It radioed for help and in a few minutes a helicopter appeared.

Just then a man appeared on the deck of the fish boat shouting for help, he apparently had been sleeping and was unaware his boat was a-drift. The copter crew lowered a belt to the fisherman who was unwilling to leave his boat, they then landed on the beach, borrowed an eight foot dinghy from the Allans and rowed to the stricken vessel. The scantily clad fisherman was blue with the cold and they had to help him aboard. They rowed back to the beach got the man aboard the copter and headed for Vancouver.

The owner of the fishboat is Ed. Dee, 53, and his boat is the 30 foot Rhona J. Mr. Allan is watching the boat until the owner can salvage her.

Mrs. A. Phillips

Mary Ann Phillips, wife of George Phillips of Sechelt, died at St. Mary's Hospital, June 11, at the age of 74 years. Mrs. Phillips, the former Mary Ann Port, was well known here, and was one of the original settlers.

For many years, she worked at the Sechelt Hotel, then owned by Mr. Herbert Whitaker. She was a native of North Ireland. She leaves a sister, Mrs. J. McKay of Seattle, and her husband George of Sechelt.

Funeral services were held at St. Hilda's church, Sechelt, Wednesday, June 13, Canon Oswald officiating. Arrangements were made by Graham Funeral home for cremation. There was a request for no flowers.

EVAN KEMP SHOW

Evan Kemp will appear at Pot Mellon's Community hall Saturday night. He will present his stage show and dance. The program for the show will feature Frank Berry Vancouver's ventriloquist and magician. The Trail Riders will supply the music, high-lighting Evan Kemp singing the songs he is well known for. A dance will follow.

Bathing beauty contest widened

Due to popular demand it has been decided that the bathing beauty contest for the Dominion Day celebration will not be confined to any age group but will be open to all. A number of the business men of the district have expressed their willingness to enter floats in the parade, many of them are agreeable to entering a bathing beauty contestant in conjunction with their float.

Present response indicates that there should be the largest parade yet—approximately 40 individuals and firms have shown interest in this event and the entries will include commercial, comic and those carrying the bathing beauties. The commercial section is expected to include some of the largest logging equipment used in the industry today entered by some of our local logging firms.

The decoration committee has the situation well in hand. It is proposed to have a large supply of flags to hand out to the small children to add to the color of the occasion.

It is hoped that the storekeepers and occupants of all buildings along the route of the parade will co-operate by decorating their buildings and store windows appropriately on that weekend.

40 floats for parade

When a letter was read at Tuesday night's Village Commission meeting from the Board of Trade, seeking a Dominion Day celebration contribution, commissioner Balentine told the commission he was on the board's committee, and could report the co-operation coming from Gibsons people was the best yet, and that there would be 40 or more floats in the parade, judging from the advance information.

The commission voted a $10 donation, equalling the average donation given the board.

A Lands Department letter informed the commission there were complaints respecting the establishment of a garbage disposal area near the old cemetery, and that the Department would like to have the commission's view on the matter.

To comply with conditions under the Milk Industry Act, the commission will pass a by-law to allow the sale of raw milk. Under the Act, this would not be allowed unless the commission passes a specific by-law.

The largest accounts-to-be-paid motion in recent years was passed and it totalled $11,645.72. Of this amount, $11,271.86 was spent on roads work, taking in all the recent paving, gravelling and topping in the village.

The sum of $147.17 was spent on the fire department, $38.08 for the water department, $119.25 general expenses and $18.36 on parks and beaches.

Two showers

A community shower was arranged for Miss Frances Gilbertson of Wilson Creek last Friday evening in the Hall, which had been decorated with streamers and flowers by Maude Kraft and Caroline Keeley.

Mrs. S. Tyson and Mrs. Paul Stroshein, assisted by those two ladies, served refreshments for the many guests.

Lovely gifts were presented to the bride elect, in a gay basket.

On another occasion Miss Gilbertson arrived with Avril Lucken at Sundi Stroshein's home, to find several of her school-day friends gathered to honor her with a surprise shower.

Games were played and Diane Pearson drew the lucky number for the ring, to indicate the next of the group to be married. Refreshments were served, bringing the evening to a close, with thanks to her friends for their good wishes by the guest of honor.

MRS. HERMISTON

Mrs. Stan Hermiston of Gibsons is in the General Hospital, seriously ill after an operation last week. Stan has been in to see her also Mrs. Nimmo, a neighbour. Mrs. Hermiston's sisters have been advised of her serious condition.

200 attend Babe Ruth ball opener

Close to 200 persons attended the opening of the Babe Ruth League last Sunday at Wilson Creek's Whitaker Park.

The four ball teams involved in the afternoon's double-header lined up on both sides of the infield and then Queen Ruth Lumsden cut a ribbon which crossed home plate, Linda Gail Parr Pearson presented the Queen with a bouquet.

First ball pitched was by Mrs. Wynne Stewart, president of the Gibsons and District Board of Trade and the catcher was none other than the redoubtable Capt. Andy Johnston.

There were two games. The first was between Pender Harbour and Robert's Creek which Robert's Creek won by 11-2. The second game was called in early innings.

Ask light for wharf

The Monthly Meeting of the Pender Harbour Board of Trade was held in the Club House on Monday, May 28 with a large attendance.

A Petition was sent the Federal Government asking them to provide electric light for the wharf at Irvine's Landing.

A Resolution was passed asking the government to declare a watershed at the Haslem Lake Area in order to have a safe water supply for Madeira Park.

A Committee was appointed to get details and designs for a directional sign showing the Pender Harbour District. A letter was read from Works Minister Gagliardi giving details of the road surfacing to be done this year.

A description of the dial phone system now being installed in Pender Harbour was given and satisfaction was expressed at the progress being made by the men installing the system.

Several complaints were received regarding the sewerage disposal at Madeira Park, near the bus stop, and the dumping of litter at the beach there. The Medical Health Officer was notified and steps are being taken to remedy this matter.

A resolution was passed inviting the Powell River Board of Trade to a luncheon or dinner meeting to discuss mutual problems.

Ruby Lake fire letter

Editor: I read your articles on the Ruby Lake fire with interest and am writing this letter in defense of the forestry agent at Madeira Park.

If you go deep into the archives of forestry manipulation I gather you will find that the district forestry official has to fire the starting gun before the man at Madeira Park or any other station can get off the mark.

Otherwise I am in agreement with your remarks.

CASE DISMISSED

In police court June 9 at Sechelt, before a stipendiary magistrate, Brian Finnerty and William Oldershaw, charged with failing to render assistance to extinguish a fire when called upon by a forest officer, were found guilty and fined $25 and costs each.

The incident occurred in connection with the fire on the M & W Logging operations at Sechelt Inlet.

MAKES VIOLIN OF 8,000 MATCHES

Sandy McNab, right, of Vancouver, proudly shows his prized violin to music expert Gilber Liddell. It took Sandy two years and 8,000 matchsticks to fashion it. He claims it plays tunelessly, especially when the songs are old Scottish airs. His neighbours offer no comment.

HARD SURFACE FOR PORPOISE BAY RD.

Porpoise Bay Road will be hard-surfaced this summer, at Provincial expense, while the Columbia Bitulithic Ltd. is working in the area, according to information received by the Sechelt Village Commission and discussed at the meeting June 6.

A beautifully hand-drawn plan of the Village Municipality of Sechelt was presented to the Commissioners by E. F. Cooks, M.B.E. The map measures 2' by 3 1/2', 1"/200' scale, and will be framed and glazed to grace the interior of the new office of the Commission.

Accounts payable, totalling $202.34 were approved, and Village Clerk, R. Johnson, was also authorized to purchase from the B. C. Electric Co. Ltd an adding machine for $200. Fire Insurance coverage on office furniture and equipment is to be increased from $500 to $1,000.

All village bylaws are to be filed with Magistrate A. Johnston, to obviate the necessity of the clerk attending all cases involving infractions of such bylaws.

Mr. B. Williams was appointed village sanitary and milk inspector.

The Board of Commissioners voted to donate to the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair Committee the sum of $25 to assist with the 1956 prize list, and the Sechelt May Day Committee will receive the same sum to help with expenses incurred for the celebrations of 1956.

Owing to an established provincial custom, the Graham Funeral Home, Gibsons, will be allowed the privilege of operating within the Village of Sechelt free of Trade licence fees.

A request from Standard Oil Co. of B. C. Ltd for permission to build a bulk storage plant on a selected site in the village was given consideration. The company must obtain prior approval from the Provincial Fire Marshal. The Board is prepared to grant permission for the undertaking provided the company agree that certain conditions be followed.

A permit was granted to the British American Oil Co. to construct petroleum pipelines from the plant on Porpoise Bay Road to connect with the Sechelt Wharf, subject to compliance with regulations.

The "Village of Sechelt Annual Indemnity Bylaw, 1956" was passed for Third Reading. This bylaw provides for the annual indemnity to each commissioner, for his attendance at meetings. The next meeting is scheduled for June 20, at 8 p.m.

Murdochs surprised

On Friday May 25, the R. D. Murdochs of Pender Harbour who are always ready to help any one else, had the tables turned on them.

They thought they were going to someone else's party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Parkes but when the Murdochs arrived 18 of their neighbours greeted them, all of them former customers of Murdochs power plant.

Murdoch had served 20 homes as well as his own store, fishing, gas float and other properties.

A game of whist opened the evening. This was followed by a little speech by Doug Parkes who expressed the thanks of all for the faithful services supplied for so many years by the Murdoch plant. He presented Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch with an electric heater, a gift from all the former customers.

Mr. Murdoch in accepting the gift, thanked everyone.

Prizes were given to whist winners, and refreshments were served. The table was centered with a cake, decorated with a miniature light plant, surrounded by houses, each connected by wire to the plant, it was made by Mrs. Garvey. A general sing-song closed a pleasant evening.

Another fire episode

Last week the editorial theme was "When is a forest fire and if it is when does it become official." This week the theme will be along similar lines but the text will be "When and what is an emergency?" involving forest fire fighting.

It is not the desire of The Coast News to be taking pot shots at any government branch unless there is reason for doing so. But actions by members of the Forestry branch of the provincial government during recent days have left much to be desired in the minds of many people. Last week it was explained how a man was fined $100 for leaving a fire unattended and how a Forestry branch official could leave a serious fire burning unattended except for watchers who were powerless to act, resulting in a serious fire lasting some days.

Once again it should be stressed that thousands of dollars are spent annually by the government and industry in warning against forest fires. This is all to the good except for one thing. There appears to be a very narrow bottleneck in the fire-fighting setup which apparently does not allow a man on the spot to take prompt action to avoid what could become a holocaust. While this may not be the intent of the legislation covering the Forestry department it does in fact actually occur at the lowest level of the administration — the man on the spot.

To explain what this editorial is aiming at, a recent court case supplies the necessary example. A fire was discovered at Vanguard Bay, Nelson Island, May 3 on a right-of-way that had been cleared previously. A logging outfit nearby, the same one that had cleared the right-of-way, arrived on the scene of the fire in short notice and did what they could to keep it under control.

The pump being used broke down and a phone call was made to Powell River and the ranger was asked to send a pump at company expense to help fight the fire. There was no definite answer and the pump did not arrive.

Later on the same day, May 3 a fire ranger boat with a pump arrived but the ranger said he had no authority to allow the use of the pump. Next morning company men took the pump from the boat and used it to spray the fire area. At 4 p.m. they were ordered to return the pump to the boat and the logging operator was told he would have to get 22 men to fight the fire — but apparently no pump. He had 14 men on the job with equipment and a broken down pump.

On May 4 the logger operator again asked for a pump and was told there was no authority to give him the pump and that it was his, the logging operator's job to provide men to fight the fire. Apparently throughout this whole affair was one of these jurisdictional disputes as to whose fire it was. The logging operator claimed it was not his fire as he had not been in that vicinity for some time. Apparently the fire rangers were of another opinion.

Now any sane and sensible person would say a forest or bush fire that could lead to a major fire is a serious matter and should be extinguished as quickly as possible. But we have apparently in British Columbia first a jurisdictional dispute to settle before authorities can take part. Is that why we have so many fires that get out of control?

In view of the fact the government makes a great deal to do about our wonderful natural resources the jurisdictional dispute does seem somewhat foolish. No matter who is responsible for a fire it should be attacked with all possible means available, including government pumps. In many cases it is difficult to prove who is responsible for a fire. But does that really matter once a fire has been spotted?

Are government pumps so sacrosanct that only a release from on high can allow their use? Are they kept in ranger boats for the purpose of helping extinguish a fire? Which brings us back to the theme "When is an emergency?" It would seem to the average person that any sign of a fire in a forest area is an emergency to be attacked as quickly and as ruthlessly as possible.

Maybe The Coast News is not thinking straight. Maybe it needs some explanation from the Forestry department. The Coast News will welcome any and all explanations without reservations.

As a footnote the logging company involved in this fire was charged by the Forestry branch with "failing to do their utmost to control and extinguish a fire at Vanguard Bay, Nelson Island." The charge was dismissed.

As another and possibly more potent footnote an item was phoned in Monday from a forestry official stating that two men had been fined $25 for refusing to go and fight a forest fire.

What difference is there in the forestry department refusing to use a pump when requested and two men refusing to go and fight a forest fire? The King can do no wrong? Not in this day and age. Sweet reasonableness could work wonders. AND SAVE OUR FORESTS.

GRADUATION DAY Eternally youthful

Ah, Youth—Mad, impetuous, carefree Youth!
 I know not where you're headed—that is Truth.
 Strange, perhaps, to say, I dream and hope like you
 That I may see your finest dreams come true.

Here and there, from day to day,
 We see enough of dreams, lost on the way.
 Each Graduation Day I tremble, weep and quail,
 Glimpsing the world; You must not, cannot fail!

You do have the answers, I know that's right.
 I can relax and rest tonight.
 The candle of Hope is lighted again;
 Guard and treasure its precious flame.

Keep Faith in the rightness and goodness of things,
 You need not fear what tomorrow may bring.
 Tonight I saw you wear the Victor's crown
 And there was such rejoicing in the old home town.

Ah, Youth—This is my constant prayer, "Don't Fail!"
 Keep Faith, Gaiety and that look that says "I've the World—The whole wide world by the Tail!" — Wynne.

Civil Defence co-operation

The 10 provincial governments in Canada would be responsible should a disaster ever hit this continent. Meanwhile, the provinces' job is to make such co-operation possible should emergency conditions arise.

The latest civil defence thinking has underlined this duty of the provinces heavier than others.

First the provincial governments had to create their own C.D. organization. This was done following conferences among federal and provincial authorities in 1950-51 and regularly since. Each province now has a functioning C.D. organization within the framework of its government. Each has a cabinet minister responsible for C.D. and a provincial co-ordinator. Their staffs vary according to how actively the province participates.

Canada's constitution is such that communication between various governmental levels runs from the federal through the provincial to the municipal or local. This places responsibility on the province for co-ordinating the efforts of its communities into the plan for the whole country.

The province must help its communities organize their routes to be taken to these reception areas. These areas would have to provide food and shelter from weather.

The province must organize own C.D. setups; it must keep municipalities informed of the latest developments and provide training of civil defence volunteers within the province. It also must provide the legislation necessary for local authorities to operate; that is, it must delegate the necessary authority to carry out a civil defence operation.

What about the money necessary for equipment, training and organization centres? The province is responsible for assisting in this way, too. It can get financial help from the federal government which will match provincial contributions on a dollar-for-dollar basis up to an amount based on the population of each province. If the province agrees (the federal government, under the constitution, cannot work directly with the municipality unless the province allows it) the federal C.D. organization can contribute 25 per cent of a local project's costs. Then if the province puts in 25 per cent, leaving the municipality with the other 25 per cent of the cost to pay. Beyond this federal assistance the province must go itself.

The big job of each province, however, is to organize reception areas to take in people evacuated from cities. These will be towns and villages ringing target cities.

British Columbia's forest pulp and paper mill was built about 1894 in Port Alberni. Due to lack of technical knowledge and inexperience of the operators, the enterprise went bankrupt.

Eternally youthful

Somewhere between the dignity of Rotary and the soulful dedication of a service-worker, there is a smiling bright-eyed individual who calls himself a Kinsman. He may not be extra-ordinarily smart - let's face it, he may only occasionally show signs of fleeting intelligence, but somewhere under that treasured lapel-pin is a heart of 22-carat gold.

He may be described as eternally youthful - indeed it is a rare thing to have a Kinsman admit he is anywhere near forty. This he will do only at election time in the club. Then he has "just turned 40". (You see no one over 40 may hold Kin office.)

Any young man of good character may become a Kinsman on the approval of a local club to which he has been invited by some Kinsman of his acquaintance. He must be somewhere between 21 and 40 years of age. He must be able to produce a modest membership fee, usually around fifteen dollars a year. He must be prepared to attend all meetings. If he somehow misses three meetings in a row ... that's all, sir.

A Kinsman may travel to any part of Canada with the assurance that not too far away is a Kinsmen club much like the one at home. He may attend its meetings where he will learn that other young Canadians have the same com-

Port Mellon

BY MRS. M. WEST

Mrs. W. Schultze suffered a badly sprained ankle when she slipped on the wharf at their summer home Monday, and is confined to bed. Their daughter Margaret has come from Vancouver to help look after her parents. Thanks to the good offices of the West Howe Sound Boat Club their friends have been able to visit them regularly during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Swan visited former Port Mellonites Mr. and Mrs. W. Gray at Chilliwack and Mr. and Mrs. J. Boa of Abbotsford last weekend. Mrs. J. Robertson also of Abbotsford is visiting in Winnipeg for two months.

PENDER HARBOUR TELEPHONES WILL "GO DIAL"

AT 8:00 A.M. ON TUESDAY, JUNE 19

On Tuesday, June 19, at 8:00 a.m., all Pender Harbour telephones will be converted to automatic operation, and toll stations will be abolished between Pender Harbour and Sechelt and on Nelson and Hardy Islands.

The changeover will take just a short time, but subscribers should note the following points carefully in order to avoid any confusion in completing calls.

Please Remember

ALL PENDER HARBOUR NUMBERS WILL BE CHANGED to three digits and a new interim directory will be delivered. Please consult your new interim directory before calling.

ON MOST PARTY LINES, code ringing will be abolished. On some lines, subscribers will hear one other ring only, besides their own.

WHEN CALLING A TELEPHONE ON YOUR PARTY LINE, dial the number listed in the interim directory. You will immediately hear the busy tone. Hang up the receiver and the telephone you are calling will commence ringing. Allow about a minute, remove the receiver and your party will be ready to talk.

ON SOME PARTY LINE CALLS your bell may ring together with that of the called telephone. If so, your bell will stop ringing when the called party answers. If the called party does not answer, remove your receiver for a few seconds to stop the ringing and disconnect the call.

DIAL AND PARTY LINE INSTRUCTION CARDS have been delivered to all subscribers. When in doubt refer to your instruction cards.

TOLL STATIONS WILL BE ABOLISHED between Pender Harbour and Sechelt, and on Nelson and Hardy Islands. Subscribers on Thormanby and Lasqueti Islands will continue to have toll service out of the Sechelt exchange. Toll stations south of Secret Cove will receive local service from the Sechelt exchange and toll stations north of Secret Cove will be included in the Pender Harbour local exchange area.

A COLLECTION AGENCY for the convenience of subscribers in the Pender Harbour exchange will be opened on the premises of Subscribers in the Pender Harbour exchange wishing to discuss telephone matters with a Company representative directly, may do so free of charge by dialing "0" and asking for Sechelt 101.

TO MAKE LONG DISTANCE CALLS, to call information, to seek assistance in dialing, or to report trouble, simply dial the numeral "0" for Operator.

BETWEEN OURSELVES BY Archer Wallace

More than 40 years ago, I was a young minister in the north country living in a village with appointments far in behind the railroad. There was one settlement to which people came from isolated farms 15 and 20 miles distant! They were grand people and I enjoyed my life among them. We had no cars and drove to the meeting house in buggies. We had our problems and little things seemed important. Many of our people saw little of the outside world; neither radio nor television were even heard of; people heated their homes with wood.

I was young and eager to fill the church and if a family neglected church attendance, it upset me. There was one couple who were extremely kind to me when I visited them, but never came to church services. I decided to discuss the matter with them. Very tactfully, I thought, I brought the matter up during a visit. Then the lady said: "I have a good reason for not going". It took a while to get her to say what it was. Finally she came out with this explanation. "Nine years ago," she said. "One Easter Sunday, I went to church with a new hat and the girls in the choir laughed at it; it hurt my feelings so much I never went back to church".

So there it was, for nine long years she had denied herself the privilege and pleasure of worship because of what she thought was ridicule. Of course, it was a foolish excuse, but to her the wound was deep even after nine years. The story seems amusing now, but I have sympathy for that dear old lady even though I know her attitude was mistaken. Little things seemed large and she had time to brood over things. The weapon of ridicule is keen and can make people very unhappy. Jesus faced ridicule frequently when he said concerning a little girl: "She is not dead but sleepeth." Even the mourners laughed him to scorn. These professional mourners had been weeping loudly but their tears were quickly changed to loud laughter. No doubt Jesus was deeply hurt by ridicule; the sharpest of all weapons. I am sure that when the enemies of Jesus placed a crown of thorns on his head and said with mock solemnity: "Behold your king" it struck deeply.

Some people are easily hurt and often stay hurt for a long time: I think it is particularly true of young people. Sarcastic or cynical remarks are often remembered for years or even during a lifetime. A famous French writer once said: "Let us face this truth; some people are so sensitive they go through life as a man would walk over broken bottles with bare feet".

Our quotation for today is by George Morrison: "We are never so cruel as when we are scornful."

Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Farish and children spent a week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Blower. The doctor spent all his school holidays with the Blowers when a boy, and still has a soft spot in his heart for Wilson Creek. Though he has a summer home at Buccaneer Bay, he plans to build a home on the Blower's property.

KENNETH J. HARMER ARTHUR R. McFARLANE JOHN M. MUNRO

Forestry scholarships for trio

The names of three first year Arts students at the University of British Columbia were announced by Dean Walter Gage, chairman of the scholarship committee, as the first winners of the MacMillan & Bloedel Scholarships for Forestry and Forest Engineering.

Kenneth John Harmer of 603 Ian Avenue, Alberni, was awarded the $400 scholarship open to first year students entering forest engineering this fall.

John Miller Munro of 4344 Jericho Circle, Vancouver, and Arthur Robert McFarlane of 1355 Renfrew St., Vancouver, won scholarships of $400 each open to first year students entering the faculty of forestry this fall.

The scholarships, the gift of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., are the largest in value and the principal scholarships at UBC for university students entering the two fields of forestry. The awards are made on the basis of academic standing, personal qualities and interest in the field. This is the first year they have been awarded.

Mr. Harmer, 22, graduated from the Alberni District High School in 1951. From 1951 to September 1955 he worked as survey helper, axeman and topographer with the Sproat Lake Division and the Sarita Division of MacMillan & Bloedel. He is working for their timber and lands division this summer on survey work around Nitinat Lake.

Both Mr. Munro, 18, and Mr. McFarlane, 18, are employed this summer with B.C. Forest Surveys. Mr. Munro attended Pt. Grey and Lord Byng high schools. He has worked for the B.C. Forest Surveys at Prince Rupert for the past two summers.

Mr. McFarlane, who takes a deep interest in athletics and student government, was president of his Grade 12 class of Gladstone high school.

This camp for young children

A summer camp for small children can be found along Sechelt Highway. It is Mrs. Helen Galliford's Stratford camp, near Gibsons, in a pleasantly wooded well cared-for area where small children can have safe recreation.

Bright dormitories house the small girls and boys, and there is a cheerful dining room, also a play room for rainy days.

Ten minutes walk from the main camp is a privately owned seaside playground, where the children have their daily sing-songs, swimming and games, under supervision.

This is an ideal spot for younger children, when parents plan summer trips for themselves or when they must take a business trip. Mrs. Galliford has everything of interest for boys and girls from four to seven years, and for girls from eight to ten.

Organized activities consist of badminton, square dancing, swimming and swimming lessons, beach suppers, handicrafts, games, and even a small pony for riding or driving.

The daily routine starts early, and ends early. There are afternoon rest periods and wholesome meals. Staff members include a dietician, trained nurse and counsellors, and a doctor is on call.

To avoid those smoking cigarette butts in your dashboard ash tray, just line the tray with a piece of tinfoil from a cigarette package and half fill with fine, dry sand.

Mothers and friends attend Guide meeting

The Guides of the First Gibson's Company, held a combined Guide meeting and Social, Friday, June 1, in the School Hall. An enthusiastic group of mothers and friends attended. There were visitors from Port Mellon, including the Guide Captain, Mrs. C. Strayhorn, Lt. Mrs. B. Preiss and Acting Lt. Mrs. C. Macklam, with several Port Mellon Guides.

Captain Mrs. A. Labonte welcomed everyone and introduced the New District Commissioner, Ms. L. Sergeant and the visiting Gpiders.

The Colours were marched on by Barbara Olson, Dell Ritchey and Myrna Inglis.

Kathleen Matthews and Penny Clarke were enrolled and Capt. Strayhorn presented first year pins to Heather Bracewell and Penny Lea Davis, second year, to Pat Wilson and third year to Sharon Fladager. Pat Wilson also received her child nurse badge, which requires a great deal of preparation. She is also Pack Leader with the Brownies.

The Guide of the Year award, a camp knife, was presented to Mary Secord. The District Commissioner spoke to the company and a prayer was read by Joanna Ritchey, now a Lt. in Vancouver who was one of the first members of the Gibsons company.

Presentations of a silver spoon bearing the Guide Crest were made by Joyce Inglis, on behalf of the Guide Company and a Gold pin by Mrs. Sergeant from the L. A., to Mrs. G. K. Clendenning, retiring Commissioner for Elphinstone District.

The program ended with the Queen, marching off the colours and Taps with Port Mellon and Gibsons Guides.

Following this some coloured slides of local interest were shown by Mr. McFie and refreshments were served.

New refrigerator

An innovation at Danny's Dining Room is a new 74 cubic foot combination walk-in, reach-in refrigeration unit to keep foods in top condition.

The paving around the motel, Danny says, has made a big difference, in appearance and convenience and in keeping the interior of cabins clean.

The next project is flower beds, but the problem of local livestock makes Danny hesitate. Cows have already caused extensive damage to ornamental plants.

Umm-delicious!
These beans taste just like the ones we grew in our garden!

That's what they are, dear. They've been in our freezer since last summer.

A home freezer is your personal food bank and supermarket. It saves you food money, saves you shopping time. What does it cost to run? A week's use of electricity for an average size freezer, storing about 150 pounds of food, might be 35c. And just think how good this summer's fresh-picked vegetables will taste next winter!

SPORTS

Sechelt is back in the league and will play a double header with Wilson Creek on Sunday. This will be a home and home series in the afternoon and evening.

I understand that Orv Moscrip is taking over the Sechelt team so the rest of the league can expect to see a hustling team.

Pender Harbour plays host to the Merchants on Sunday and Port Mellon and the Foremen will play a home and home double header. The first game will be in Gibsons at 2 p.m. with the teams moving to Port Mellon for the 6:00 game.

It looks like the league is organized and ready to play ball so watch your schedules and see team managers for information on making up postponed games.

I haven't heard about any great rush to get the Gibsons High-school grounds in shape. "I Predict" thanks Floyd Patterson for easily making his prediction come true last Friday night.

only to find that there were no cars to drive them from the Sechelt Reserve. Port Mellon won by default.

This is not the first time these boys have had to lose a game never played. If there is anyone interested, boys and their coaches would be grateful for transportation when the team is to play away from Home Field. Please contact Clarence Joe at Sechelt 50.

Speeding in a school zone at Gibsons brought a fine of $30 and costs to Vernon Evans of Speeding at Roberts Creek New Westminster.

Little League

JUNE 7, AT WILSON CREEK

Wilson Creek Orioles blanked Port Mellon Dynamos 15-0. It was rather tough for the newly formed Dynamos battling against the second year Orioles, but as the season goes on, a much improved ball team may result. They cannot help but be one, because those Dynamos were really trying hard.

Batteries, Orioles: Pitchers, M. Crucil and R. McSavaney; Catcher, H. Gaines. Dynamos Pitchers, B. Latham and D. Thurrier. Catcher B. Shrayhorn.

MADEIRA PARK, JUN 10

Pender Harbour Tyees went down in defeat against Wilson Creek Orioles 4-3. It was a well fought game and a thriller right to the end.

Both teams were in hot water a couple of times with bases loaded but both pitchers managed to get out of the jam quite coolly. They played like old timers and it was something worth seeing.

Batteries: Tyees, Pitchers, K. Anderson and G. Helmar; Catchers, F. Pochrant and T. Donnelly.

Orioles, Pitchers J. Fisher and R. McSavaney. Catcher, H. Gaines.

Boys of the Sechelt Little League were disappointed Sunday, when they gathered to attend the game to Port Mellon

Police Court

Mahood Logging Ltd. were acquitted in Magistrate Johnston's court, last week on a charge of failing to control and extinguish a fire at Vanguard Bay, Nelson Island.

The magistrate found that the fire had been fought effectively, had been contained within a small area, and had been extinguished by men working under the direction of Ernest A Mahood, president of Mahood Logging Ltd.

Mahood Logging Ltd. was defended by L. Eckhart, Powell River lawyer. W. Twining, Vancouver lawyer, was crown prosecutor.

Mrs. Angela Andrews of Davis Day, was fined $25 and costs for driving a pick-up truck on the Sechelt highway without a driver's license.

Roger Leon Turmel of Vancouver was found guilty of stealing a .38 calibre revolver, at Port Mellon, June 4. Turmel was picked up by the RCMP at the CPR station in Vancouver, and returned to Gibsons, where he was sentenced to six months definite, and six months indefinite, at the New Haven young offenders' unit.

Driving his car into the ditch on the wrong side of the road near Granthams Landing cost Victor Braudt of Sechelt $25 and costs, for driving without due care and attention.

Driving without 1956 license plates cost Louie Bezdeck of Gibsons $25 and costs, following his moving a car from Roberts Creek to Gibsons without license plates.
