Roberts Creek

BY MRS. M. NEWMAN

Friday July 26 is the day of the garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Long. The Auxiliary to St. Aidan's church will have much to offer in their home-cooking and fancy work departments, to say nothing of their usual good tea.

Tim Worthington had his toe nearly severed while working in the woods at Roberts Creek, on Thursday, and had to have it stitched.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Handy and daughter Gail, summer home owners on Beach Avenue for some years, have come to remain permanently. Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wells also expect to do likewise in the near future.

Of the ten girls who are guests at Mrs. Ruth Mitchell's only one is Canadian born. The others were born in France, Poland, Germany, Sweden, Scotland and the United States. Weekend visitors to the Mitchell home were Mr. and Mrs. H. Coughton with Mr. and Mrs. T. Schröder.

Visiting the Jack Warns are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson and son David of Long Beach, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Winram of Vancouver are building a home on Beach Avenue. So much activity abounds in that area of the Creek that even the Herons are looking for nests there.

Birds have the equivalent of human-like emotions seaside dwellers noted recently when an eagle attacked a sea gull. Gulls in numbers descended upon the eagle and forced it to drop its victim, but not until the gull had been fatally injured. For the remainder of the day, and far on into the evening, the flock of gulls, crying plaintively, circled about the body as it drifted with the tide.

Mrs. E.J. Shaw, matron of the local OES chapter, and Mr. Shaw, were among the 16 members who attended the OES picnic at Peace Portal Park last Sunday. As well as attending their own picnic, they were also interested spectators at a big Swedish gathering there and saw their crowning of the Queen, sports, native dress and so on.

The Harold Allans have their daughter and four grandchildren visiting them and the three grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Menzies are here for the month of July.

The Johnny Simpsons have gone to town to see their new 45 foot sail boat. Built on the Clyde in Scotland, it was shipped here via the Panama. They hope to have it assembled and sail up in her next weekend.

Visiting the J. Coopers were their two daughters, Marilyn and Pat.

Joining their families for the weekend were H. Merrilees Gail Merrilees, T. Campbell, H. Pearson, J. MacAllister, Dr. Paine, B. Robinson, J. Ladner, S. Walls, S. Shaw, G. Nairn, and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Greene came up for the weekend to work on their house.

Bible school ends session

Friday evening the Marine Medical Mission Bible School at Port Mellon ended its annual two week session with an open night.

At Port Mellon Community Church the Bible School pupils entertained their parents with songs, hymns and stories, all pertaining to the sea. They had been taught the songs and stories during the two weeks schooling.

An interesting feature of the evening was the display of their handicraft work.

The Marine Medical Mission which sponsored the school, has its headquarters on Thetis Island. It sends its 53 teachers to isolated parts of B.C. and as far north as Alaska.

For transportation the mission has two planes and two boats, one a converted minesweeper.

Children in the villages along the coast look forward with keenness to these yearly visits of the Bible School teachers.

Miss Swanson and Miss Gimberling, this year's Port Mellon teachers, have now left for a destination up the coast.

BERGNACH — FARNHAM

One of the most outstanding weddings of the year took place on Saturday, July 6, at 6 p.m. when the popular and well-liked couple, Doris Mabel Farnham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Farnham, and Daniel Antonio Bergnach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bergnach were united in matrimony at an impressive double ring ceremony in the Gibsons United Church with Rev. D. Donaldson officiating.

The church, which was completely filled, was beautifully decorated with summer flowers. The pews were marked with white bows with a small spray of blue hydrangea with red roses. The beautiful bride, looking very gracious and petite, was given in marriage by her father and wore a full length gown of white nylon chiffon which was completed with a long-sleeve lace jacket. The dress had a lace bodice with a sprinke of rhinestones. The skirt, having a lace panel down the front, was fitted over the hips with tiny chiffon folds and billowed out over a hooped crinolin. Her three-quarter length veil of illusion net with a tiny lace edge was held by a net crown with matching rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds and white carnations and her only jewelry was tiny pearl earrings and a small gold cross.

Miss Lila Farnham, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Pearl Farnham, the bride's sister, and Miss Sharon Bergnach the groom's sister. All three wore identical dresses. The maid of honor was in pink and the bridesmaids in yellow crystallized taffeta with folded necklines, cap sleeves and empire waistlines with full skirts and tiny folds over the hips identical to the bride. The maid of honor carried a small bouquet of pink carnations and the bridesmaids a small bouquet of yellow carnations. The groom's brother, Mr. James Bergnach, was best man with Mr. Bill Nichols of Port Mellon and Mr. Roy Duncan of Vancouver as ushers. Mr. Humphries of Gibsons was organist. While the bridal party were signing the register in the vestry, Mrs. Rhone Coleopy of Port Mellon sang "Because."

The reception was held in the Gibsons Legion Hall which was decorated in spring flowers. The bridal couple stood under an impressively decorated archway as the guests passed down the receiving line. The wedding cake was decorated with red rosebuds, the same in color as the bride's bouquet. Master of ceremonies was Mr. Bob Cumming of Roberts Creek and the toast to the bride was given by Mr. Ed Turner of Gibsons. The bride's bouquet was caught by her sister Pearl.

Among the 250 guests were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Taylor of Campbell River, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Simaz of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Osterberg and Mr. and Mrs. Cervi of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. McCartney of Aldergrove, Mr. Brett of Langley and Mr. and Mrs. Williamson of California.

Leaving on her honeymoon and looking very smart and happy, the bride chose a cream colored box suit with pink and white accessories and wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds. They will reside in Gibsons.

Fashions

Ever so versatile is this little jacket for it may be seen at the beach on cooler days or evenings, on a boat or in the car. A navy band is set in at the shoulder and at the patch pockets of the jacket which is of white cotton. It has a zipper front closing and knit inset. The hood comes from the pull-over blouse worn beneath and it can be dropped to form a cowl collar in back. Navy blue is used for the slim rib-knit slacks. All are interchangeable, but they go so well together that they should never have to live apart.
