11th FAIR ONE OF FINEST

The 11th annual Sunshine Coast Fall Fair was "one of the best ever."

This was the verdict of members of the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair Committee when the Fair closed Saturday night.

The Fair was opened when Gibsons Village Commissioner A.E. Ritchey, accompanied by Fall Fair Queen Judy Braun of Sechelt, cut a ribbon across the door of the school hall.

Louise Blomgren, Roberts Creek Teen Town Queen, Ruth Lumsden, Wilson Creek Teen Town Queen and Judy Braun were given presentations by Mrs. Haley of the Fall Fair committee.

Nearly 1000 people saw 700 exhibits displayed in three halls. This was a slight rise over last year's attendance.

A good crowd saw the Mary Isdale dancing group put on an excellent show under a searing afternoon sun.

Carolyn Anderson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson of Gibsons, was a standout with the Isdale group. She performed in two group dances and a solo number.

The pet parade was one of the features of the Fair. Thirteen children paraded with their costumed pets accompanied by the bagpipes of Mr. Eric Thomson of Hopkins Landing.

The winners of the pet parade were:

Cats: 1. Esther Charman, 2. Ruby Stroshein, 3. Una Stroshein, 4. Debra Docker and 5. Dinah Coates.

Dogs: 1. Marylin Lilliard and 2. Anette Berdahl.

Chickens: 1. Marian Dawe.

Goats: 1. Gordon Lamb, 2. Lorna Blake and 3. Esther Charman.

Costumed children without pets: 1. Linda Docker as a turtle, and 2. Teddy Strom as the hunter, Tim Buck.

Jack Fitchett was the clown for the parade and David Husby rode a horse with the children.

Fair committee members commended exhibitors for their originality and imagination in the handicrafts and weaving divisions. They called these exhibits in the Parish Hall "best of the show."

Mr. Lionel Singlehurst Sr won a first prize for his model of the tea clipper "Firey Cross" which sailed between England and Australia 80 years ago. His father served on this ship in the 1880's.

Flower exhibits were not as numerous as last year although judges called them "good." Home cooking and domestic science exhibits were also termed "good."

Judges said, "We need not be ashamed of anything here," in judging the large vegetable exhibits.

Mrs. Jean Wyngaert of Gibsons won the aggregate award in four out of six divisions. She is a perennial winner at the Fall Fair and often a big winner at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver.

Here are the aggregate and special award winners.

Flowers. 1. Jean Wyngaert 2. Mrs. Paul Skytte and Best Gladiolus in the Show, Mrs. Maude Fisher.

Vegetables: 1. Mrs. A.J. Charman, 2. Mrs. Jean Wyngaert and special award for squash, William Allan.

Fruits: 1. Mrs. Jean Wyngaert, 2. D.W. Walker and special award for assorted fruits, D.W. Walker.

Domestic Science: 1. Mrs. Jean Wyngaert, 2. Mrs. Dennis Hicks and special award for canned raspberries, Mrs. Celia Stroshein.

Home Cooking: 1. Mrs. Jean Wyngaert, 2. Mrs. O. Blomgren and special award for chiffon cake to Mrs. Jean Wyngaert.

Needlework: 1. Janet Mathew and 2. Miss Goodwin.

Church bus stop plan turned down

Following two tie votes broken by Chairman Ritchey of Gibsons Village Commission, the commission Tuesday night decided to leave the SMT bus stops where they are and not move the Sechelt-bound stop to the United church corner.

The decision was aided by a letter from Mr. T. Humphries, chairman of the church board, objecting to establishing a bus stop at that corner and a petition from merchants in Gibsons favoring retention of the present Sechelt-bound stop.

The commissioners were unanimous in their decision to shorten the area alloted the Vancouver-bound bus stop to allow angle parking for a taxi stand. Other improvements will be made so the bus can get off the highway completely when stopped.

The commissioners were divided equally on the Sechelt-bound stop, two favoring the church corner and two the present stop. The chairman's vote broke the tie in favor of the present stop. Later in the meeting Vince Prewer was given permission to erect a building on the vacant lot for establishment of a bus depot which would handle express and give shelter to passengers.

The committee empowered to check on possible bus stops recommended the Sechelt-bound stop be made at the United Church corner and the Vancouver bound stop remain where it is with the area reduced to allow parking in the space not used by buses. The committee was composed of Commissioners Crowhurst and Mylroie.

Both commissioners were of the opinion the noise effect at the church corner could be minimized and would be no worse than now experienced by the congregation.

Commissioner Ballentine favored retention of the present Sechelt-bound bus stop because it would be suitable when a shelter was erected with an express office available. He thought the merchants being heavy taxpayers should have some say in what they want. He was referring to the petition from business houses in Gibsons favoring retention of the present Sechelt-bound stop.

The recommended bus stops were voted down with Commissioners Crowhurst and Mylroie voting in favor and Commissioners Ballentine and Wilson against and Chairman Ritchey adding his vote to break the tie.

A motion to retain the present bus stops was next moved but Commissioner Mylroie moved an amendment that the Sechelt-bound stop be left in abeyance for the time being. Commissioner Crowhurst seconded. The vote split the same way on the amendment resulting in its defeat and the motion to retain the Sechelt-bound stop was passed when Chairman Ritchey voted with Commissioners Ballentine and Wilson.

Chairman Ritchey said his reason for voting as he did was that there was less complaint arising from the location of the Sechelt-bound stop. He thought the idea of a bus stop at the church presented possible hazards.

The letter from Mr. T. Humphries, chairman of Gibson Memorial United Church session opposed the placing of a bus stop near the church on behalf of the trustees and congregation He thought the noise and elimination of parking for Sunday services and funerals would create problems. He urged the commission give the usual consideration granted churches and hospitals.

The commission learned through the attorney-general's department in Victoria that it has power under clause C, section 875 of the Municipal act to regulate the making or causing of noises which disturb the peace.

This matter arose as the result of a petition by Marine Drive residents complaining of noises and the throwing of beer bottles towards their premises.

Phone work continues

Two B.C. Telephone Co. heavy gangs are returning to the Sechelt Peninsula this week in order to complete four outside plant jobs totalling $63,000. Foremen Ben Frigon and Bill Humphries expect to remain on the Peninsula for the rest of the summer.

The pole line for the Secret Cove area is still under construction and distribution cable will be strung along the Pender Harbour Highway near Trail Bay and in the vicinity of Porpoise Bay.

Within the Gibsons exchange cable is being placed along Marine Drive to Hopkins Landing and within the near future work will begin on the addition of 57 miles of wire in cable and 15 miles of open wire in the Roberts Creek district to relieve overloaded lines and provide facilities for waiting applications and for future development.

During July the number of telephones in the Sechelt Peninsula increased by 26 and in Gibsons by 28. At the present time there are over 500 phones served by the Sechelt telephone office and 725 by Gibsons.

A long swim

Loraine Mitten, 16, a summer resident of Selma Park made the swim to Trial Island Aug. 16 in one and a half hours from Selma Park General Store. Her parents accompained her in a boat.

The girl, who is from Vancouver, said she would not make the swim again even though she finished in good form, as the trip is too boring.

Yup! Bingo!

Welfare Fund Bingo was cancelled last week to make way for the Fall Fair but things will go on as usual this week.

Bingo is held every Thursday night at the School Hall with a $50 four corner deal going every week.

$5,700 in new buildings

Building permits totalling $5,700 in value were granted by Gibsons Village Commission Tuesday night.

The largest was for a $4,000 one storey laundry building 32 x 45 feet on property near the fire hall.

A permit was granted V.H. Prewer for a 12 x 14 foot $1500 one storey, three room waiting room on property north of the Bal block. The building will be used by SMT as a bus station.

C.R. Geldart of Vancouver was granted a permit for a 9 x 20 foot storage shed.

Weather favors regatta

Under a cloudless sky amid the scenic beauty of Garden Bay the tenth annual regatta of the Pender Harbour Aquatic club was opened by Canon Greene and Tony Gargrave, M.L.A., on Saturday.

Canon Greene commented on the growing tendency to making the annual regatta a family picnic and thought it was all to the good. Mr. Gargrave was, as usual, pleased to be invited and hoped the club would hold many more such events.

The regatta ran slightly behind time but was concluded in excellent time with the motor boat race providing the usual thrills.

John Haddock, master of ceremonies, kept things rolling along in good fashion. He was assisted by Al Erskine from station CHUB which will be broadcasting his tape recording of the event Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Winning the regatta raffle was strictly a family affair.

Ben Griffith of Egmont won the first prize of an outboard motor while his wife was winning second prize of a rod and reel.

Wilson Creek drops 1st playoff game

Wilson Creek today find themselves with their backs to the wall and definite underdogs after dropping the first game of the Senior "B" zone play-offs 9 - 4 to Nova Heating Sunday at Wilson Creek.

The best of three series will conclude Sunday at Norgate Park in North Vancouver.

The losers jumped to an early 3 - 0 lead in the second inning as Rudy Crucil slammed a solid homer to left field.

Going into the seventh they still held a shaky 4 - 2 lead. Then the roof fell in.

The city nine rallied for three runs to take the lead for the first time in the game. They added three more in the eighth and one in the ninth for their margin of victory.

Don Holmes went the distance for the winners while John Clayton and Ralph Noble alternated on the mound for Wilson Creek. Neither showed the form they displayed during the regular season.

Port Mellon won the right to meet Wilson Creek in the Osborne Cup finals when they disposed of Gibsons Firemen two straight in a hard fought series. The first game was tied.

Jim Hall almost singlehandedly led Port Mellon to an 8 - 7 victory Thursday. In an awesome display of power he drove in six runs with two homers, one a grand slammer, and a single.

Bud McLean had two hits and a sacrifice fly that drove in the winning run.

Tuesday night the scene shifted to Gibsons where the Pulptowners ended the series with a close 7 - 5 win.

The Firemen, down 7 - 3 entering the ninth, rallied for two runs and had the bases loaded before an infield out ended the game.

Port Mellon and Wilson Creek open their final series Thursday night, Aug. 22, at Port Mellon.

W. Hodgson saves man

Two men drowned in separate boating accidents in Collingwood Channel and Welcome Pass over the weekend.

Drowned were Tony Karolvich, 56, of 2571 Dundas, Vancouver and Stan Hunter, 28 of New Westminster.

Karlovich disappeared from the 60-foot fishboat Race Rocks at about 8 p.m. Saturday in Welcome Pass. His body has not been found.

Hunter disappeared from the 30-foot cabin cruiser I'm Alone at about 4 a.m. Sunday. He was on his way from Tunstall Bay on Bowen Island to Salmon Rock to fish in the Vancouver Sun fishing derby.

In addition to the drownings two boats also capsized Sunday while fishing in the derby.

Wes Hodgson of Gibsons pulled a non-swimmer from the water just outside Gibsons bay after the unidentified man and his two companions had been thrown into the water when their 14-foot boat suddenly flipped over.

In another accident, three Vancouver men clung to an inner tube for ten minutes before being rescued after their boat capsized near Keats Island.

A monetary paradox

Once again the subject of inflation is tackled and a quote from the August 17 issue of the Financial Post, Toronto, will be in order. Here is the quotation:

"An increase in the money supply appeals to some Canadians as a relief from immediate troubles. But at a time when wages, production, costs and prices are all heading obstinately upward, the longer-term effect would be to worsen the whole competitive position of the Canadian economy.

"Canada's economic troubles don't stem from monetary policy and monetary policy alone can't cure them. But monetary restraints remind us in concrete fashion that stability is of greater worth than the illusion of prosperity which comes from pocketing more and more dollars worth less and less."

That ends the quotation from the Financial Post.

It is possible that the "less and less" thought as expressed above may be in the mind of Walter Reuther, United States labor leader, who has asked motor corporations to reduce next year's car prices by $100. It does show that labor is beginning to realize that more money and then more money, creating an inflationary spiral is not an answer. The thought has often crossed some minds as to why labor has not struck for reduced costs.

Hon. Douglas Abbott, minister of finance during war years wrote in a Wartime Prices and Trade Board annual report that every one point increase in the cost of living index cost the Canadian people about $35,000,000. Stability in the monetary world is worth millions and it may be a strange thing to say but apparently the millions of dollars we do not get are worth more than the millions of inflationary dollars we do get. What a strange paradox!

Rhymes on the Fair

Basketry — weaving — goodies galore;
Fruits — vegetables and all sorts of lore
Pottery — Paintings — crafts of all kinds
Knitting — sewing — science for the mind;
There were chickens — geese — rabbits too;
Kids and goats — calves a few,
Highland dancers in tartan and lace,
Bagpipes awailing at quite a pace.
The clown and his antics were something to see,
Children and adults laughed with glee.
All this I enjoyed for twenty-five cents.
No coin in my purse was better spent.
To those who worked and planned this fair
My vote of thanks and three loud cheers.

What is the world's largest annual exhibition?

The Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto holds this distinction. Land, buildings and equipment, occupying 350 acres are valued at $50,000,000. It has its own railroad depot, bus and street car terminals, bank, post office, police and fire stations, hospital and telephone exchange. It has the largest exhibition building in the world with a floor area of 25½ acres. The average yearly attendance is about 3,000,000. It began in 1846 as the Toronto Exhibition and was incorporated in 1878 under its present name.

Where and what is Earnscliffe?

This historic old house in Ottawa was the residence of Sir John A. MacDonald and is now occupied by the United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada.. A large limestone house in the Scottish style situated on the Ottawa River near the junction of the Rideau River, it was built in 1855.

What is Canada's national emblem?

Two emblems have gained national recognition in Canada —the beaver and the maple leaf. The beaver has been a significant feature of Canada's history and development from earliest times; the pursuit of its skin was largely responsible for first opening up the country. It dates as an emblem at least from the early 17th century, when it appeared on a coat of arms granted by Charles I to Sir William Alexander who held Nova Scotia as a royal grant and later extended his interest to other parts of what is now Canada. The beaver has appeared on Canadian memorial medals, coins and postage stamps. The maple leaf has become the chief element in the new design of the Canadian coat of arms and was the badge of the Canadian expeditionary force in World War I. It was used as early as 1805 as the particular emblem of the French Canadians and was so described in the Quebec Gazette of that year, while the thistle was mentioned as the emblem of the Scottish Canadians. Its use was broadened and a literary annual of 1847 referred to the maple leaf as the chosen emblem of Canada.

I have crossed the Atlantic several times and met many interesting people; and others a little difficult. Even a ship is a small space where one lives with strangers for seven or eight days, seeing them constantly. There are those who are emphatic in their views and express themselves about politics, religion and a dozen other subjects without reserve and expect to be taken very seriously.

The most thoughtful people are generally reserved and least inclined to air their views I have often remembered the saying of a famous man: "The most difficult of all sciences is the adjustment of human relationships. To say of a man that he gets on well with others is to pay him a high compliment. Those who have self-control and good manners are the pleasantest to meet, who are tolerant and of goodwill."

* * *

This is a true story of a man who got into a crowded streetcar in a hurry. There is nothing unusual about that; most of us have to ride sometimes on crowded street-cars, and we generally squeeze in as best we can. But this man accidentally trod heavily on another passenger's toes. It was an accident, but that didn't help very much.

Before the injured man had time to utter a word of protest — probably in anger — the offender said: "I beg your pardon will forgive me for my clumsiness." then a strange thing hapsir. I am very sorry. I hope you pened. The victim stared at the man and said: "You are a gentleman to apologize like that. Everything is all right and you can walk on my toes all you like."

Perhaps he didn't quite mean it, but he was touched by the other man's politeness and consideration. Let us just suppose what would have happened if the offender had acted differently. If, when he trod on the other's toes, the offender had said: "Serves you right; why didn't you keep your big feet out of the way?" That would almost certainly have started a quarrel which might have had serious consequences.

* * *

There is a passage in the Bible which reads: "A soft answer turneth away wrath." The truth of that statement is borne out every day. The angry person thinks he is living in a bad-tempered world. Everywhere he goes he meets irratable and cross people, and he never stops to consider why this is so. The truth is that anger stirs up anger just as a good-natured person finds the world full of good-natured people.

Not long ago newspapers carried a story about a ten-year-old boy who was severely injured by an automobile. After several week's treatment in a hospital he recovered from the accident, but it left him in an unfortunate condition. His face was injured, and the muscles which made it possible for him to laugh were destroyed. No matter how long he lives he will never be able to smile again. He may see or hear things which are very amusing, but he will never be able to laugh or even smile. The boy's parents took the case to court, and the judge awarded the boy five thousand dollars damages. It was not a cent too much. It is hard to imagine a greater calamity coming into the life of a healthy, normal, good-natured boy than to have to go through life without showing a smile.

There are many things in the world which get people down, but every good-natured, cheerful person is a lifter and a gloom-chaser. We should imitate the man who, when his toes were stepped on, said "You can walk on my toes all you like," even if he did not altogether mean it.

Our quotation is an old saying: "Pebbles become smooth by rubbing against other pebbles."

Population up half million

Canada's population stood at 16,589,000 at June 1 this year, showing a rise of 508,000 or 3.2% from the 1956 Census total of 16,081,000, according to the annual Census date estimates by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It was the largest numerical increase for a year in Canada's history and compares with the high average increase of 414,000 for the five years 1951 to 1956.

Major factor in the greater increase last year than in the preceding five years was the sharp increase in immigration to Canada since June 1 last year. Total number of immigrants in the twelve months was about a quarter of a million as compared to the peak year's figure of 194,000 in the years from 1951 to 1956.

Ontario had the largest numerical gain among the provinces during the year with an increase of 217,000 or 4.0% to 5,622,000 from 5,405,000 Quebec was second with a rise of 130,000 or 2.8% to 4,758,000 from 4,628,000. British Columbia was next in numerical gain but had the largest proportional rise with an increase of 89,000 or 6.3% to 1,487,000 from 1,399,000. Alberta followed with an increase of 37,000 or 3.2% to 1,160,000 from 1,123,000. Fifth in population, Saskatchewan had the only decrease with a small decline to 879,000 from 881,000. Prince Edward Island's population remained unchanged at 99,000.

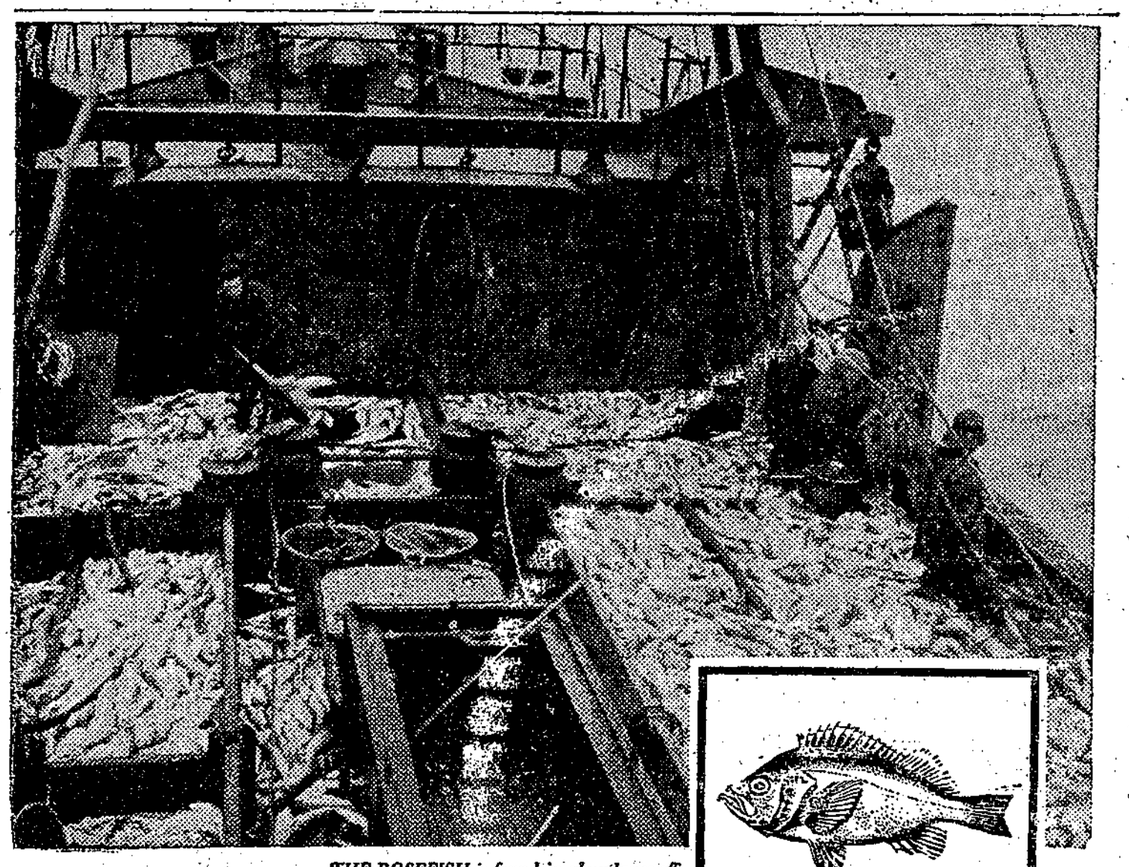
Population estimates for the remaining provinces are: Newfoundland,426,000 (415,000 at June 1, 1956); Nova Scotia, 702,000 (695,000); New Brunswick 565,000 (555,000); Manitoba, 860,000 (850,000). Populations of the Yukon and Northwest Territories were unchanged at 12,000 and 19,000 respectively.

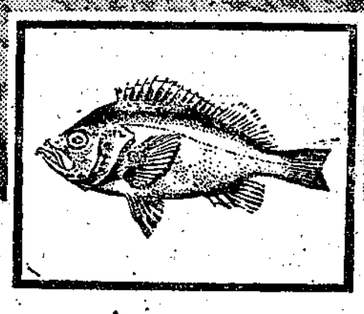
The Bureau's population estimates are based on a population accounting which starts with the 1956 Census, adds births and immigration and deducts deaths and an estimate of emigration. Family allowance statistics are used for purposes of estimating interprovincial migration.

LOANED TO NATO

Bill Herbert, veteran CBC radio and TV commentator, has been loaned to NATO for an assignment in London, England as Director of Public Relations — Radio and TV for the September naval exercises planned for the North Atlantic.

He will assist the more than one hundred correspondents from NATO nations assigned to the exercises and produce news programs on radio and TV about the largest western peace time war games in history.





THE ROSEFISH is found in abundance off Canada's east coast. The Department of Fisheries reports that exploratory fishing by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada indicates still greater stocks to the north.

A rose is a bream is a perch—

THE ROSEFISH is variously called Red Bream and Ocean Perch. By name it was, until recent years, of little or no commercial or food value. Today, however, as Ocean Perch, it is a big favourite of Canadian housewives and an important factor in the livelihood of many Canadian east coast fishermen.

Turning point in the importance of the rosefish came with advancements in fish freezing and handling. The rosefish were automatically scaled and filleted, then quick frozen and sent to market as Ocean Perch. Their mild flavour and relatively low price won them instant popularity.

At the same time the growth of otter trawling with huge, open-mouthed nets made the catching of rosefish in large quantities a commercial possibility.

The Fisheries Research Board of Canada, the Department's scientific arm, has discovered many of the important grounds which are being fished today and others still untapped. The rosefish typifies the role—one of many—that the Department plays in developing Canada's vast and valuable fish resources.

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES
OTTAWA CANADA

DF-57 HON. J. ANGUS MACLEAN, M.P., MINISTER GEORGE R. CLARK, DEPUTY MINISTER

LETTERS to editor

The Editor: It appears to me that the people are not being told the whole story covering the relationship of this ferry company to the B.C. Government.

Months and months ago I wrote to the Hon. Mr. Gaglardi minister of highways, Victoria, directing attention to the matter of giving consideration to a reduction in passenger fares when the Black Ball company moved away from Gibsons. The Minister was very courteous in his reply, and definitely promised that this matter would receive attention prior to the company being given permission to move to its new location.

When this company was granted a 25 year franchise by the coalition government, it was stated in the act that the minister of highways would have control over fares etc. The company insisted that it would not have anything to do with the B.C. Public Utilities Commission, which controls fares charged by the Sechelt Motor Transport Company. Now the village commission has been informed by the provincial highways department that owing to some agreement with the Black Ball company, the B.C. Government is powerless to reduce rates charged for passengers by the transportation company.

Although the Gibsons village commission and the Board of Trade may have been slow to take up this matter with the government, it is not too late to ask the highways department to reveal the nature of this agreement covering fares, and the date that it was signed? If the Black Ball Ferry company was under the supervision of the Public Utilities Commission, as it should have been, the information would have been forthcoming long ago.

I know of no condition that would permit any person related to the public utilities department holding a position with a transportation company, yet it has been stated that a gentleman drawing remuneration from government sources occupies a position of some responsibility with the Black Ball company. If this is the situation, then it can hardly be termed a satisfactory one.

Robert Macnicol.

Editor:

An editorial in a Vancouver paper last week followed the orthodox and traditional line of economic thinking that gets us into inflation, depressions and wars.

The main trouble is thinking of money as a commodity with varying values from time to time. Actually our dollars are but a means to measure values in commodities and services. They each have 100 cents and do not vary.

The commodities and services will vary from time to time sometimes having natural changes, but lately the changes are too often artificial. Pressure groups cause artificial values in our wheat, butter, organized labor and professional services.

When there is a shortage of money to represent our commodities and services, trade slows down and the condition is reflected in our foreign exchange, trying to offset the trade slack.

The double talk regarding the Canadian government buying up export bills is nonsense. Easing the tight money situation by having the Bank of Canada remove it's restrictions to the chartered banks on credit issuance is all that is required. In this way the quantity of money required to balance the amount of commodities and services would be available and the foreign exchange would right itself automatically.

Could it be possible that certain people are deliberately trying to keep the issue confused?

The power of issuing and restricting money is tremendous and is tantamount to the running of our country.

Should we be satisfied with our present precarious economic system? Should we continue to swallow confusing gobble-de-gook editorials, or find out for odrselves what the situation really is?

Harold Hunter.

Jalopy races improving

Jalopy racing at the West Sechelt track is getting better as the track dries with the warmer weather.

Drivers had to contend with dust Sunday instead of the mud of previous weeks but there were less coughing. Wet engines and fewer light cars spinning out on greasy corners.

Seven races were held instead of the usual six for which silver collection was taken instead of admission from the crowd of 400.

Sechelt Jalopy Club have scheduled racing for 2 p.m. Sundays until further notice. Feature event of next weeks racing will be a five lap race between the sponsors of the cars.

Here are the results of Sunday's races:

First race, independent car driven by Ted Turner; second race, Sheridan Logging driven by Wally Sheridan; third race, Roberts Creek Service with Dick Clemens driving; Powder Puff Race, Gibsons Merchants driven by Muriel McKinnel; fifth race, independent car driven by Ted Turner; sixth race, independent car driven by Ben Newcombe and seventh race, Gibsons Merchants with Ches Day driving.

Rare exhibit

One of the many interesting exhibits at the Fall Fair was a wreath owned by Mr. George T. Hunter made entirely of every kind of seed imaginable. Flowers and leaves were intricately fashioned of beans, peas, flower seeds, nuts, holly and others too numerous to mention the whole encased in a shadow box of inlay. The wreath was made by Mr. Hunter's grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, at Walkerton, Ontario in 1869 the frame was made by a hired man, name unknown.

RABBITS AT FAIR

Rabbits sold well at the Fall Fair. B.L. Cope of Roberts Creek showed 10 New Zealand white rabbits and sold them all He said he could have sold "as many more" if he had taken them to the fair.

New digester

Onetime millworkers returning to Port Mellon for a look around must be impessed by the dimensions of the mill's new digester.

The digester, first in a series of replacements, will hold 68 tons of wood chips and is one of the largest kraft digesters anywhere.

It is made of two and one eighth inch thick unlined steel and equipped with a new type of hydraulic valves.

It takes the digester about six hours to cook the pulp stock which is the same as produced by other digesters.

Highway hypnosis gets into accident picture

Some of the very safety features that have been built into super-highways are partly to blame for Canada's increasing number of highway fatalities.

So says an article in the August issue of the Imperial Oil Review.

It says "highway hypnosis," brought on by the monotony of driving over mile after mile of near-perfect highway, is often the cause of serious accidents.

While built-in safety features such as limited access, have reduced the actual number of accidents, those that do occur on super-highways are usually worse than on conventional roads.

Furthermore, says the article super-highway accidents often have chain reactions. A single smashup between two cars can cause four or five additional cars to pile up in rear end collisions.

What happens, apparently, is that the super-highway driver allows himself to be lulled into an exaggerated sense of security to the point where he can't handle his car when an emergency does arise.

The Review suggests a number of ways a driver can head off highway hypnosis. The motorist should avoid driving when sleepy, wear loose, comfortable clothing and pause occasionally for a hot drink.

He should vary his speed peiodically and keep lively music on the radio. Running the windshield wipers briefly helps relieve the monotony. So does intermittently changing the headlight beam.

The safe driver makes regular checks. Aware that speeds can creep up unnoticed, he checks the speedometer needle at least once a minute. Every few seconds he glances at the rear-view mirror, particularly on curves and when passing. He keeps an eye on the gas gauge; running out of gasoline on a super-highway can be serious.

"Tail-gating" is a common cause of accidents, the Review claims. The wise driver stays a reasonable distance behind the driver in front — at least one car-length for every 10 miles per hour of speed.

The article concludes that super-highways should eventually bring safer driving, but motorists must learn to follow a new set of driving rules.

Roberts Creek

BY MRS. M. NEWMAN

A successful sale of work and tea was held in the United Church grounds on August 9th by the Roberts Creek Church W. A.

Halfmoon Bay

BY PAT WELSH

The Sunshine Coast lived up to its name this past week much to the delight of visitors who were out in full force at the fishing grounds. Water skiing enthusiasts skimmed along the sun lit waters in twosomes and threesomes, performing some remarkable feats of balance.

The fishing was good, most boats having their quota and the grisle are getting bigger and fatter every day.

Most cottages were filled with weekend guests. Mrs. W. Roberts, Margot, Duncan and Barry are occupying the Ken Argue cottage for the next two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thom and Gerry have returned from a trip to Seattle, via Port Angeles and Victoria and will be at their cottage for the remainder of the summer.

Virginia and Robert Gibson of North Vancouver are holidaying with their aunt, Mrs. P. Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Jackson held a house warming at their recently acquired summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart have returned after an extended stay in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bird are home from visiting friends in North Surrey and White Rosk.

Registered at the Redrooffs Resort are Mr. and Mrs. Reid and family, Mr. and Mrs. La Fleidh and daughter.

Police Court

James Rusk, Roberts Creek, was fined $50 in the court over which Magistrate Johnston presides, and 10 bottles of beer were forfeited to the crown for coasuming beer on the Porpoise Bay wharf.

J. Harvey of Sechelt was fined $15 and five cases of beer found in Mr. Harvey's car on the Sechelt Indian Reserve were seized.

Cassie May Fields, Wilson Creek, was convicted of a second offence and sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Edward Jeffries, Sechelt, was fined $50 and costs for illegal possession of liquor off a Reserve. Defendant stated he was given the beer by a man he had not known very long and whose name he did not remember. Three bottles of beer were seized.

Rare exhibit

An extremely rare electric ray, caught on the west coast of Vancouver Island is now on display at Vancouver Public Aguarium.

It was caught by fishermen who brought it to Steveston. During the trip one of the crew got a terrific electric shock when he accidentally touched the fish.

The ray is about 15 inches in diameter and about two and a half feet long and is colored grey and white with black spots. Energy producing organs in the fish's fins give off the electric impulses.

Some 40 new manufacturing industries have been established in Manitoba during 1955.

Weddings

MAXIUM-GRAY

A wedding of local interest took place at St. Aidans Church on the evening of August 13, with Rev. C. Harbord officiating, when Constance Margaret, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie M. Gray of Roberts Creek, was married to Karl Maxium, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Maxium of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a gray-blue dressmaker suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of red and white carnations.

Her bridesmaid was Sharon Baba who wore a pink linen suit and blue accessories, with a pink carnation corsage.

The mother of the bride chose beige silk with black for her ensemble and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. A. Swanson acted as best man.

The organ was played by Mrs. Harbord.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mr. M. MacKenzie proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxium are driving through the B. C. interior and later will make their home at Kitimat.

To celebrate arrival of gold seekers

The few hundred good people of Victoria were at church April 25, 1858, and unprepared for the arrival of 400 rough and ready adventurers on the wooden steamer Commodore.

Next year, 100 years later, thousands of residents will line the waterfront and take part in celebrations linked with a re-enactment of that historic arrival from San Francisco of the first gold-seekers on their way to the big strike on "Fraser's river."

HMCS Cedarwood, naval vessel that went into "mothballs" last year, will be converted at HMC Dockyard at Esquimalt into a replica of the historic side-wheeler Commodore. The B.C. Centennial Committee is contributing money to the cost of conversion.

Fifty naval ratings will represent the first arriving miners. The Mayor of San Francisco is expected to be among those riding the new "Commodore" from that California city to Victoria in a re-enactment ceremony set for around May 1. Other details will be announced later by the RCN and the B.C. Centennial Committee.

The Commodore, owned by Capt. John Thomas Wright, had brought the miners to Victoria. A letter from Victoria printed in Daily Alta California, later said:

"... the good people of Victoria were at church when we astounded when they came out arrived , and were perfectly and beheld between 400 and 500 Yankees armed with revolvers and bowie knives..."

These were the first of thousands of miners who flooded in on literally scores of craft. The Commodore was in the thick of trade and was the vessel most intimately connected with Victoria's gold rush history. Later, sailing under her athan, she hit a sunken rock original name of Brother Jonnear Crescent City, California, July 30, 1865, and sank, with loss of life variously estimated at from 138 to 221.

HMCS Cedarwood was paid off into the reserve fleet at Esquimalt October 19 last year She had completed eight years of oceanographic survey work for the Pacific Naval Laboratory since coming here from the Atlantic Command.

The Cedarwood's conversion is to be completed by late March, 1958.
