Three fires damage set at $13,000

Damage estimated at $5,000 was caused when the radio room at the substation on Porpoise Bay Road near the B.C. Fir and Cedar Mill caught fire Sept. 11.

Billowing smoke was first noticed by Dave Wilson, timekeeper at the mill, who immediately phoned Mr. Bob Normington, manager of the B.C. Electric in Sechelt.

Mr. Normington said the smoke was evidently caused by the inside fire extinguisher which is set to explode automatically.

Cursory examination showed that the fire may have been smouldering for some time before discovery. The building which also houses line stores, electric meters and other items was almost completely gutted. Mr. Normington highly commended the Sechelt Volunteer Fire brigade on its speedy action, which probably saved about $1000 of the equipment.

It was thought a short circuit may have caused the fire. With the effective aid of some of the Hume and Rumble crew, and the B.C.E. line crew the fire was under control in about 45 minutes.

Two fires in vicinity of Gibsons during the last few days caused something like $13,000 damage to two homes.

One fire completely destroyed the D. A. Rowand home on Re d rd. It is thought sparks from an open fireplace caused the fire which aroused the family at 3:30 a.m. Sept. 5.

The second fire on Sept. 11th started, from what was thought to be an overload on electric wiring and caused $3,000 damage. It occurred about 1 a.m. in the home occupied by Lan Dorval on Sechelt Highway, near the provincial government road department equipment shed.

The Rowands lost practically everything they had as the fire left nothing standing but the chimney. The other home was badly damaged but police and firemen managed to save most of the furniture.

A Sunday fire was that of a jeep owned by Sylvia's store which caught fire and the wiring damaged.

Sign is missing

The sign for the jalopy races which was put on a telephone pole on the Sechelt Highway was taken down or stolen on Friday afternoon about 2 p.m. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the sign or any information should get in touch with Dick Clemens at Roberts Creek, 177G.

There will be a small reward for the recovery of this sign.

Racing was held again last Sunday, and will be held every Sunday until it rains or snows. The crowd was the best yet but the track was very dry and dusty. Here are the results:

OPEN LEGION MEETING

An open meeting will be held Oct. 1 at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall, Sechelt for all ex-service men, and anyone who has served in the armed forces will be made welcome.

Ratepayers association interests CPR in district

At an executive meeting of the Gibsons and district Ratepayers Association held a the home of Mr. Wes Hodgson, a letter addressed to Mr. J. Lamont from Mr. N.R. Crump president of Canadian Pacific Railways was read. It dealt with the possibility of a car ferry service between Vancouver and Gibsons, and requested a meeting of the representatives of the Ratepayers association. The meeting was held Tuesday, Sept. 10, at the home of Mr. Hodgson with the vice-president of the CPR representing the company.

At the meeting the possibility of operating a three trip per day car ferry service between Vancouver and Gibsons was discussed.

The Association was authorized to announce that "The Canadian Pacific Railway is vitally interested in operating such a service." For all further action the C.P.R. will keep in touch with the Ratepayers Association, Mr. Hodgson said.

Chairmen of committees were appointed. They were: Membership, Mr. Mainwaring; publicity, Mrs. Jean Duncan; municipal, Mr. R. Adams and Mr Keen; finance, Mr. Metcalfe; by-laws, Mr. R. Adams and Mr. Metcalfe; refreshments, Mrs Crowhurst and Mrs. Forbes.

Business people who are not taxpayers can take part in the association's activities.

Mr. Hodgson appealed to the members to attend regularly and gave his assurance the officers and executive would put forth their best efforts on behalf of the ratepayers.

The next general meeting will be held Oct. 8 in the United Church basement.

Gibsons and district Ratepayers Association met in the United Church basement Sept 8 at 8 p.m. to discuss whether the Association should be terminated and the funds disposed of or reorganized. Mr. E.A. Mainwaring who was appointed one of three trustees at a meeting last June presided.

Over 40 members were present. Mr. W.B. McNab and Mr. J Gordon, the other two trustees were also present. Attendance was most gratifying. Mr. Mainwaring commented on so many newcomers being present and invited them to become members.

The new slate of officers elected were: W.B. Hodgson president; H.B. Metcalfe, vice president and Mrs. Jean W Duncan, secretary-treasurer. Executive officers include: Mrs. E. Forbes, Mrs. E. Crowhurst, Mr W.B. McNab, Mr. R. Adams Mr. E.A. Mainwaring, Mr. J Hewkin and Mr. Keen.

The meeting opened with Mr Hodgson in the chair and first on the agenda was the changing of the general meetings to the second Tuesday of each month. Notice of change will be advertised in the Coast News Mr. Hodgson expressed a feeling that meetings could be more successful if they were not too long. Other opinions expressed were to make meetings more snappy.

Beer parlor is opposed

A fair representation of property owners of Roberts Creek turned out to a meeting called by the PTA to discuss the probability of licensed premises being included with the new building project on the Sechelt Highway a mile or two west of the Cemetery.

It was agreed by all that a good hotel in the district would fill a great need and that a licensed dining room would be an acceptable feature. It was felt by many that a beer parlor, however, would be detrimental to the community.

It was voted to send a request to the attorney-genera Mr. Bonner, that a plebiscite be given before issuance of a license to the Hotel.

Council gives Bal its praise

Tuesday night's Gibsons Village Commission meeting congratulated Commissioner Ballentine on his selection as Good Citizen of the Year by the Gibsons Board of Trade Monday night meeting. The matter was brought to the attention of the commission by Commissioner Harold Wilson.

Commissioner Wilson was appointed a member of the management committee for Gibsons on the new airport for the purpose of preparing a brief to be presented the Department of Transport in Ottawa in order the airport will be eligible for a federal grant.

Clearing up of the purchase of the garbage disposal site was ordered by the payment of $513.75 to complete the deal.

A motion was passed to take action against water rate delinquents who have not paid rates due by Oct. 1.

Copy of a letter from W.B. MacDonald, district sanitary inspector was referred to the commission regarding the condition of the shed on the government wharf. The letter was noted and filed.

A letter from the provincial roads department stated it was general policy to keep taxi stands off arterial highways and the feeling of the village commission on this was sought. It concerns the use of part of the Vancouver bound bus stop as a taxi stand.

A roads department letter also advised the commission it could rent provincial roads department machinery when not in use.

Accounts totalling $595.28 were ordered paid: $101.55 for roads; $438.74 for water; $37.66 general and $17.37 for fire protection.

The problem of trades licenses for Sylvia's store was discused at length and the commission granted the right to apply for licenses providing no goods were stored or displayed in front of the store and that the fire hazards be cleared up. It was moved that the number of licenses required to cover the store be limited to four.

Two building permits were issued, one to Laurence E. Hall Headlands Rd., for construction of a $6,000 40 x 27 feet one-storey, seveh room home and the other to Elma S. Lovell for a $100, 6 x 20 foot addition to a home.

Sechelt Motor Transport Company is having its parking area made ready for a blacktop job at Sechelt.

Name C.P.Ballentine as Good Citizen

C.P. Ballentine, village commissioner, one of the original members of the Board of Trade, a man who believes in Gibsons and built a business block to prove his faith was named Good Citizen at Monday night's Board of Trade meeting.

The announcement was made by William Sutherland, chairman of the committee that worked on the award. Magistrate Andy Johnson eulogized Mr. Ballentine's excellent work in the community before making presentation of the scroll noting the award.

Mr. Ballentine in his reply showed he was taken completely by surprise and informed members that he was left speechless.

Magistrate Johnston also officiated at the swearing-in of the new president, Fred Cruice, Coast News editor who will wield the gavel for the next year in place of Mrs. Wynne Stewart, retiring after a two-year session as president. Before leaving the chair, Mrs. Stewart presented Harold Wilson, retiring secretary with a gift for his excellent work as secretary treasurer during her tenure of office.

The dinner meeting, in the Mariner Cafe, also conducted some business including the sending of a letter to Victoria asking for some progress on the Herd Law situation which concerns allowing cattle to roam at large on highways where there are speed limits up to 40 miles an hour.

Mr. Wilson reported on the airport situation as the result of his having attended a convention in Victoria of the B.C. Airport association. He urged members of the board to take a definite interest in the new airfield to be opened in Wilson Creek area. He was of the opinion the airport had a great future.

A letter was read from Black Ball Ferries on the subject of a cut in the price of fares. The letter from President George Paulin stated that while other ferry services in the provinces had raised their rates due to inflated costs, Black Ball Ferries had refused to raise theirs and in view of present day costs he could not see how the rate could be reduced.

Mrs. Stewart, retiring president, in her summation of the work done under her presidency recounted efforts to get a breakwater established, work on the herd law, the first Dominion Day celebration and other items too numerous to mention. She thanked all members who stood by her so valiantly during the two years.

Along with Magistrate Johnston came his wife, Mrs. Christine Johnston, chairman of Sechelt's village commission. Magistrate Johnston is president of Sechelt Board of Trade

Women set colors of cars

It was a man who invented the automobile. But women are sharing the laurels for the modern version – long, low and light in color.

Credit goes to the female side for the pastel shades which are so popular today. When the woman of the house took over the responsibility of choosing the color for the family car, she demanded something gayer than the usual black, dark blues and greens.

With this new interest in color she has helped the designers to obtain the long, low effects in the styling of today's car. For clever placement of color creates illution of length and width. Two - and three - tones and sometimes even four colors in the lighter shades give dramatic effect to these modern lines.

The feminine point of view has become so important to car manufacturers that women are now employed as fashion co-ordinators on most of the styling staffs. Their influence is apparent in the color trends of cars which are following closely those in ladies' and men's fashions, and in home furnishings. It looks as though the dark colors will occupy a back seat permanently.

But working behnd the scenes to bring more color to the highways is the paint industry. To meet the demand for more exciting automobile colors, paint technicians have been busy developing new colors in automotive enamels.

Most of the pastel colors now used would have been out of the question only 20 years ago, according to J. K. Whiteley, specialist in automotive finishes at C-I-L's paint research laboratory. As these new shades were made possible, finishes were developed which would stay shiny through weathering, which would resist cracking and which would keep their rich hue.

Other improvements in paints have shortened the length of drying time required to paint a car. And repair shops can use colors identical to the original automobile factory produced car. This means quicker service and more satisfactory repair jobs.

JUST TO REMIND YOU

The Hon. W.A.C. Bennett, premier and minister of finance has announced that the British Columbia Power Commission has entered into an agreement with five groups of investment dealers headed respectively by A.E. Ames & Co. Limited, Mills, Spence & Co. Limited, Royal Securities Corporation Limited, Equitable Securities of Canada Limited, and Gairdner & Company Limited, and comprising 31 investment dealers and banks to offer a new issue of British Columbia Power Commission bonds guaranteed unconditionally as to principal and interest by the Province of British Columbia. The offering consists of 3% and 5% bonds of 3, 7, 25 and 35 years maturities, the purchasers having the choice of any of the four maturities. All bonds are being offered at a price to yield 5.25%.

What the reader has noted above is a provincial government handout to the press from the premier's office. One can learn from it, the bonds are "guaranteed unconditionally" by the province. It is this type of financing Mr. Bennett claims has no bearing on the debt total of the provincial government. Any ordinary person, including the bond houses, people helping float the loan, know better. It is a clear cut obligation.

Perhaps one could describe the premier's sugar-coated debt pill as a tranquilizer. He should know tranquilizers have a way of wearing off and sometimes in not too harmonious a manner.

A standard would help

Williamson got lost in the woods. He should have stayed where he was, but in a panic he started to walk. He walked around a circle. He came back to his starting place. He recognized it. He remembered that he should never have left it.. Will Williamson stop walking in circles?

For the answer, keep track of the sales prices in the stores, in advertising. If the prices continue to go up, Williamson will have kept on wandering around lost in the woods, without much chance of help's reaching him.

All this is about money, and anyone uninterested in whether he pays more for things should stop reading. Anyone who cares to risk a couple of minutes to examine a possibility of rescuing himself is welcome aboard.

Under today's managed currency, money has lost much of its real meaning. Dollars, because their value fluctuates so sharply under inflationary forces, are no longer a reliable measurement of purchasing power. For this reason people keep casting about for ways to restore stability to the purchasing power of money and make savings meaningful once again.

The strange thing is that in this search for currency stability so little has been said about the gold standard. It is only since the gold standard was abandoned, that uncertainty has come to surround the purchasing power of the dollar.

Under the gold standard the dollar was something more than a vague governmental promise to redeem paper money in more paper money, with no guarantee that its purchasing power would not steadily deteriorate. The gold standard provided that any currency, including banknotes and coins, could be redeemed in gold, and the value of gold was subject to no wild fluctuations. With gold as the anchor inflation was as slow as the aging process to a child.

W. Randolph Burgess, Undersecretary of the U.S. Treasury, says the U.S. "ought to be heading towards the gold standard." Going back to the gold standard, according to Mr. Burgess, is the only way to get unlost in these woods. The Printed Word.

Letters to the editor

MAKES SURVEY

Editor: An interesting visitor to the Roberts Creek Credit Union office last week was Frank Humphrey, field representative of the B.C. Credit Union League who was making an informal survey of the district.

He was pleasantly surprised at the commercial development of the peninsula and the steady growth of our local Credit Union, and judging from the additional school accommodation recently constucted he estimated an appreciable increase in both Junior Savings and adult memberships.

Our next goal should be a building of our own. He remarked that other C.U. units elsewhere in the province had launched their building campaigns with no greater assets than we have: but with cooperation and determination they succeeded. So could we.

He mentioned the rapidly growing residential areas of metropolitan Vancouver. It is obvious the trend will soon be in this direction and bring with it an even greater measure of prosperity.

Why was the far northern settlement of Aklavik moved recently?

Partial thawing and flooding made the site unsuitable for the permanent construction required for this increasingly important northern settlement on the Mackenzie River delta. In 1954, the federal government began moving it to a new site 33 miles by land and 70 miles by water to the west. The settlement is the administrative centre for the western Arctic, and the centre of the reindeer meat industry. On the original site, the nature of the land — a combination of permafrost and silt — and the river floods seriously affected buildings, prevented the construction of proper roads, a permanent airfield, sewers and water mains, created a health hazard, and hampered the settlement's expansion.

BETWEEN OURSELVES BY Archer Wallace

MIRACLE IN AFRICA

Whatever success Christian missions have had in Africa has resulted from the wholesome effect its teaching has had upon the lives of natives there. As a tree is known by its fruits, Christianity must meet the challenge of changed hearts and lives; no doubt that is true even of our own land. This is a realistic age and not in theory, but in practical results the church must stand.

Not many years ago there lived in the Chissamba district of Africa a sensitive lad of the Ovimbundu people. His name was Kanjundu. His amazing courage and skill as a hunter of wild beasts caused his fame to spread throughout the countryside, and he became honored and loved by his people, who named him "Hosi" (lion). Often chiefs from faraway villages sought his help when wild beasts were destroying their cattle. When he became a chief, he was wise and tender in ruling, yet like his ancestors, stern in administering justice. h In 1898 Kanjundu was converted to Christianity, and the story of his subsequent life is a thrilling one. He freed slaves, built new and better homes for his people, and, although not himself an educated man, established schools, procured medical assistance, and made his village a center for missionary work for the whole district. He listened eagerly to the story of the life and teaching of Jesus, and he introduced whatever changes he thought would benefit his people.

Soon trouble arose. Near by lived a white trader who had done a flourishing business in rum. Now the great change which had come over the village meant that his gain had ceased. This man did all he could to oppose and discredit Kanjundu. Eventually he burned down his own house and, in connivance with some others who schemed with him, blamed the chief for the destruction. He appealed to higher authorities, and by false accusations of his own and his hired witnesses, he succeeded in having Kanjundu arrested and cast into jail. While the chief was in jail, his enemies attempted to burn down his house and the church. Every form of cruelty and indignity was heaped upon him and the sufferings he endured in a damp, filthy cell did much to shorten his life.

Throughout it all Kanjundu bore himself with such fortitude and sweetness of spirit that even his jailers were amazed as well as deeply impressed. To seccure a trial before Portuguese judge meant a good deal of expense, but his friends raised sufficient funds for this purpose, and he was acquitted. His return home was made the occasion of a great celebration by the Ovimbundu people. Bells rang and there was great rejoicing; no conqueror of old ever received a greater ovation. Throngs of people shouted welcome, and the salaves whom he had freed bowed in the dustt at his feet.

Kanjundu bore himself with the humility of a child. There was indignation and anger in the hearts of the people toward the trader, and many talked of revenge. It would have taken very little to bring about a slaughter. In the veins of Kanjundu, as well as in the people, ran a thousand generations of savage blood. Their forefathers - - not far removed – had been cannibals. But in the heart of Kanjundu the love of God ruled and controlled all passions. "Let there be no revenge against the trader," he said, as he sensed the temper of his people. "We must love him and pray for him, for that is what our master would have us do." And this was the miracle of Kanjundu.

Monarch line to go

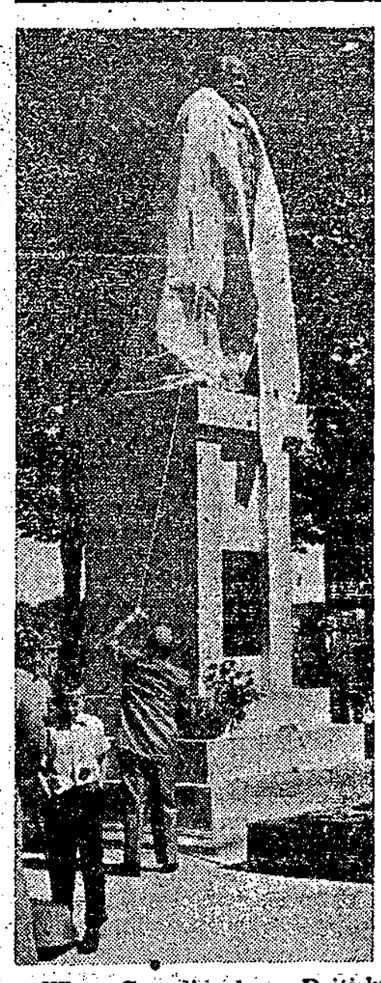
Ford of Canada president Rhys M. Sale has revealed at a conference that the world's newest line of automobiles, the Edsel, will be sold and serviced in Canada by the coast-to-coast organization of Ford - Monarch dealers.

They will operate in future under the Ford - Edsel sign, as the name "Monarch" is being discontinued with the end of current model production. "Since its introduction in 1946 the Monarch has earned an outstanding reputation and the name will be an honored one in Canadian motoring for many years to come" Mr. Sale said. "Monarch owners have our complete assurance that parts and service for their cars will be available as long as may be necessary."

With the dual Ford and Edsel franchises, Mr. Sale said, Ford-Edsel dealers will be fully competitive across the entire low price bracket and the big volume segment of the medium price. Concurrently, the competitive position of Mercury - Lincoln - Meteor dealers will be strengthened by a broadening of their product line-up. They will continue to have the entire Meteor range in the low price field; four series of Mercurys comprising the Monterey, Montclair and Turnpike Cruiser and an entirely new series of super Mercurys to be known as the Park Lane; and the full Lincoln line.

"The whole purpose behind the creation of the Edsel and Park Lane is to widen our company's approach to the medium-price section of the Canadian market, which is steadily becoming more important," Mr. Sale said. "We needed more cars in more price ranges to be fully competitive."

Assembly of the first Edsels began at Ford Oakville late in July and they are coming off the line in steadily increasing volume.



When Canadian born British publisher Lord Beaverbrook makes his annual visit to Fredericton, N.B., this year he will see this statue dedicated to him and paid for by the people of his province. The statue was unveiled in August and was built by 10-cent contributions. The idea was started by "Shun" Ryan, a Fredericton nightwatch man, who advanced the idea that Beaverbrook should be honored in life for his contributions to the province. Voluntary donations built the statue; municipal and civic governments made the property available and built the base. Mr. Ryan is shown here unveiling the statue.

In New York city, Maj. Claud MacBeth Moir, member of the Black Watch, senior Highland regiment of the British army, displays toy soldiers representing regiments which will tour North America this month. Major Moir is a forerunner of the 100 bearskin-hatted bandsmen, dancers and pipers from Scotland who will begin the tour Sept. 19. During the 11-week visit to 55 cities, the regiments will give a glimpse of the pomp and ceremony surrounding many leading British events.

One minute silence in memory of E. Pearson

One minute of silence was observed in honor of the late Ernie Pearson at the meeting of the Sechelt Recreation and Centennial Commission.

Const. Jim Hodgson attended with a proposed plan for a boy's gym class. The committee was wholeheartedly behind the plan, but investigation proved prices for the equipment may make it necessary for the constable to get along with much less than is actually needed for a first-rate course of instruction.

Executive members of the Illahee Pottery club in Sechelt, Mrs. Rose Morrison and Mrs. J. Browning sought to have the rent for the clubhouse paid by the commission until such time as membership fees allow the club to be self-supporting. The commission agreed to assist for a specific length of time.

Organizations in the area will be asked by letter to help the committee raise funds for Centennial celebrations. The Centennial Raffle for August brought in $28. The Kinsmen donated $43 from their Saturday car-wash program and the Village Commission loaned $450, in order that the matching government grant will be coming without delay. Mrs. Ann Garry and the women of West Sechelt have donated $12 earned in a private endeavour last winter.

On May 15, an Historic Caravan will be available for this area as a Centennial highlight. It will be equipped with a movie projector and screen. Mrs. E. Lumsden was appointed chairman of this project. More details will be announced at a later date, when arrangements have been made.

Winners of the August Centennial raffle are Mr. E. Cooke, $10; Mr. Q. Russell, $5; Mrs. Elsie Johnson, $2.50.

Police Court

David Herrin, Gibsons, charged in the police court presided over by Magistrate Johnston, with driving without due care and attention, as the result of an accident near Port Mellon, causing damage to the extent of $1100 to the Herrin car was dismissed when evidence showed the accident was due to loose gravel on the paved surface, causing the car to overturn in the ditch.

Paul Henly, Roberts Creek; Merle Nelson, Port Mellon; Knude Peterson, North Vancouver were fined $5 each for illegal parking at Gibsons.

Allan Laird, Vancouver, was fined $10 for parking his car on the highway near Granthams.

Roger Joe, Sechelt, appeared at a preliminary hearing charged with a statutory offence. The hearing was adjourned until Sept. 21. R.L. Maitland is Crown counsel and Andy Paul for the defendant.

Gerald Fincham, Pender Harbour, was fined $10 for operating a truck without mudflaps.

Two juveniles for operating a car without a licence were fined $5.

Just about everyone has heard of Juliette and quite a few know that one of her hobbies is cooking, but few people know who all the cookng is for; her husband, Tony Cavazzi. Here she makes one of her specialties, Curried Lobster a la Capetown.

Hopkins children in Sports Day

Hopkins' silver strand and kindly weather provided a perfect setting on Aug. 24 when Hopkins Landing Association staged a community Children's Day. It was in three parts, a fishing derby in the morning, dinghy and log races in the afternoon, and a bon-fire and sing-song in the evening.

There was a big turn out of boats with the older children in the main derby, and the float was thronged with the younger ones intent on their own shiner Derby. The contest ended at high noon, with startling effectiveness, by Eric Thompson and his bagpipes. The weigh-in followed, and the number, size and variety was far beyond expectations.

After lunch, everybody gathered on the wharf for the sun-tan and freckles competitions, and what proved to be the highlight of the day, the spike driving competition for the ladies, of whom 27 took a swing. Then followed the dinghy and log races. Those in charge had figured on a strong south wind, and they got it, for the little contestants were wafted down the course at a rate of knots, whether they rowed or not. In the evening everybody gathered at the beach in front of the store for a bon-fire and hot-dogs, and a soft drink compounded for the occasion by the president herself, Mrs. Dave Hunter. John Carson, one of the Y.M.C.A. leaders of other days, conducted the community singing. Mrs. Hunter thanked everyone for making the day a success, and the donors of prizes in cash or in kind, particularly those in Gibsons Landing and Vancouver, whose generosity had made the event possible and Mr. and Mrs. Hamner of Hopkins Landing Store for arranging provisions and for granting the use of their property. She also thanked her committee, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hopkins, William Grant, Norman Boyd, Ted Rea, William Day, Dave Henderson, her secretary, Miss Valerie Hopper, recorder; and Dave Hunter. Mrs. Florence Hopkins Sr. presented the prizes.

The prive list was computed on a points system for the children's age group aggregates and is as follows:

Girls, 7, 8 & 9: Robbin Thomson and Diana Hopkins, tie, 6 pts; Wendy Chapman, 5 pts.

Boys, 7, 8 & 9; Tommy Grant 6 pts; Ron Hunter, 5 pts.

Girls, 10, 11 & 12: Joan Chutter, 13; Rita Bracewell, 3.

Boys, 10, 11 & 12: Richard Hopkins, 8; Donald Day, 7.

Girls, 13 & 14: Liz Carson, 4.

Boys, 13 & 14: Jimmy Musgrave, 10; Tommy Helena and Ronnie Fern, tie, 6.

Girls, 15 & 16: Heather Bracewell, 9; Karen Grant, 6.

Driftwood Contest: Jane Johnson and Deborah Docker.

Freckle Contest: Gail Hunter.

Sun Tan Contest: Libby Hopkins.

Ladies' Spike Driving Contest: Mrs. George Hopkins and Mrs. Wm. Day. Last, Mrs. Monte Marler. Perpetual Trophy, a rubber hammer.

Happy youngsters say goodbye

BY BETTE LUMSDEN

A tanned, happy group of youngsters bade goodbye to their leaders and counsellors at the Easter Seal Summer Camp at Wonderland in Wilson Creek Aug. 30, before they were whisked back to Vancouver in the bright yellow bus.

Although the camp opened for the first time this year, there were three camping sessions, divided into groups of girls, boys and a mixed group from the Jericho Hill School for the Deaf and Blind.

Camp Director, Miss Barbara Liscumb, is accountant office manager of the B.C. Society for Crippled Children in Vancouver. She feels the summer camp has been a great success, and hopes to visit the peninsula often before the opening again next year.

Miss Joss Gauthier, a school teacher from Ontario, served as program director and kept the children busy swimming, fishing and square dancing. Arts and crafts as well as group games added to the enjoyment for the youngsters.

There were almost 30 volunteer leaders and counsellors during the month. A number of the girls had been attending Crofton House in Vancouver, and enter the University of B.C. this season. A few of the assistants were Linda Walkem, Elaine George, Carol Forst, Pat Whittley and Margo Roberts. It is hoped that all the girls will be available for the camp next year, as their services were invaluable in keeping things under control.

A notable fact, mentioned by Mrs. Carola Utting who donated the use of the camp, is that no mishaps occurred during the entire month. Mrs. Utting recently opened the Five Star Delicatessen in Sechelt.

With the assistance of the senior staff from Camp Elphinstone, the boys' session had camp-out sites and woodcraft, with a view to teaching them self reliance and group activity

The staff included a registered nurse, Mrs. Lorna MacPherson and a cook who earned the praise of all, Mrs. Lorna Berryman. Mrs. Hazel Critchell of Wilson Creek, held dramatic classes for the girls. Mr. Gordon Potts of Sechelt showed interesting slides of Stanley Park, Vancouver and the Sechelt Peninsula.

A beautiful nature scrapbook was brought to the camp by Mrs. Margaret Lamb. Members of the Vacation Bible School in Sechelt had gathered all the material.

The Sunshine Coast Kiwanis Club kept the cook well supplied with fresh fish, when they heard that only frozen fish was available at the stores.

The Fall Fair at Gibsons, and the Country Fair held by the Canadian Legion in Sechelt both donated boxes of food products which had been on display, showing the thoughtful community spirit of this area.

Harry Lucken, of Wilson Creek allowed the campers entry through his property to a private beach and also the use of his boat. Gerry MacDonald, Gibsons, donated all the stove oil used throughout the month.

Miss Liscumb extends sincere appreciation to many individuals and organizations who also donated services and help to make the camp such a marvellous success.

WCB adds two inspectors

In a move to increase safety inspection in industrial operations in B.C. the Workmen's Compensation Board have appointed two additional safety inspectors to their accident prevention department.

They are John S. Hunt and Robert D. McEachnie who have had wide experience in the mechanical and forest products industries respectively. Mr. Hunt's headquarters will be in Vancouver and Mr. McEachnie will work out of the WCB's Prince George office.

The WCB's Accident Prevention Department will now have a staff of 23 Safety Inspectors covering industry in the province. Last year the WCB carried out over 10,000 safety inspections.

While lighting standards have improved in most homes, the proportion of your electric bill that pays for lighting has decreased considerably.

Today, in the average B.C. Electric residential customer's home, electricity is doing many, many jobs: washing and drying clothes and dishes, heating water, cleaning, keeping and cooking food, entertaining — even keeping the clocks on time.

Our average residential customer is now using nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but paying less per kilowatt hour. True, your bill may be higher than it was in 1946. But when you add up the number of appliances you now enjoy, you'll understand why you are using much more electricity in your home. By any comparison, electricity is today's big bargain.

A year ago, the life of this fine lobster was reprieved. Then small, he was thrown back into the sea—allowed to grow into a bigger, more profitable catch. By throwing back shorts, lobster fishermen are actively cooperating with the Department of Fisheries to conserve their own great industry.

The one that got away!

MANY LOBSTERS CAUGHT in the Atlantic fishing grounds go back into the sea. Some are small and are reprieved to grow in size and quality. Some are berried—egg-carrying lobsters—willingly surrendered to go back and multiply. During close seasons, no traps are laid. This keeps their numbers at a safe level to ensure good catches in future years.

By following these vital conservation methods, the lobster fishing community wholeheartedly cooperates with the Department of Fisheries and safeguards the prosperity of its industry and livelihood.

The annual market value of Canadian lobsters has been estimated at 15 million dollars. The Department of Fisheries and the lobster fishing industry are jointly concerned to preserve this important national asset.

Business growth shown by expansion

Opening shop in Gibsons about one year ago, Ken Watson, Gibsons Meat Market has increased business to the point that when Sam Fladager moved out, Mr. Watson took over and doubled the space of his shop.

"We have a growing clientele which has forced us to seek more space, and add grocery lines," Mr. Watson said. "When I came here first I did not expect to be quite so busy but we have built up a trade that warrants expansion."

The larger shop, twice the size of the original butcher shop contains close to 250 feet additional shelf space with three island gondolas and wall shelving on two sides. The backshop has been expanded to allow for double working space and a considerable area for storage.

A good line of groceries has been added along with frozen foods and fresh vegetables.

DRESS SHOP

The grand opening of Sam Fladager's new store was a huge success. The premises were crowded to the doors with customers.

Mrs. Ethel Bingley, who was hostess, pinned rose and orchid bouttonieres on every customer entering. Every half hour, prizes were given to the lady who entered the store. Instruction in the use of the Pfaff sewing machine was given by the head demonstrator from Vancouver

Among the many letters of congratulations and good wishes was one from an old time resident of Gibsons, Mrs. (Granny) McEwan, who now desides at Pincher Creek. Mrs. McEwan, who is 93, regretted she could not attend the opening of the new premises and sent her best wishes for the continued success of the Thriftee Stores

PHOTOGRAPHER

A photographer has opened shop on the peninsula and is established at Sechelt. Gordon Potts is the photographer and he is now doing business.

Mr. Potts plans to expand into the film developing and printing side of photography just as soon as he can. In the meantime he is prepared to take photographs in or out of his studio. His shop is known as the Glenaire Photo Service and will have as his specialty children's portraits.

CANADIAN TITLIST AT U.S. TRAP SCHOOL

Research agency planned to help schools, boards

A central research agency to assist departments of education and local school boards in all parts of Canada will be established at once by the Canadian Education Association, Dr. Treffle Boulanger announced in his presidential address to the association's annual meeting in Fredericton. He said the new undertaking is made possible by a donation of $100,000 from Imperial Oil Limited.

The new unit will make the results of provincial, university and other research programs quickly available to teachers and school administrators from coast to coast. At present there are many "pockets" of research but no central agency to disseminate important findings to those responsible for teaching in the schools.

The Canadian Education Association, which is maintained by the 10 provincial departments of education and by some 40 school boards, will set up the new research office immediately and appoint a research officer and staff.

Dr. Boulanger, who is education director for the Montreal Catholic School Commission, said that in addition to collecting and disseminating information on research findings, the new agency will print and send to school administrators and teachers pamphlets and leaflets on educational experiments and developments. It will also establish a research reference library, serve as a clearing house for information and act as a stimulating and co-ordinating agency.

Special attention will be given to particular problems in education such as the identification of gifted children and special education for them.

Commenting on Imperial Oil's donation, Dr. Boulanger expressed gratification that "a leading Canadian company has seen fit to discuss with us urgent problems in education and to take this practical step in contributing to their solution." He went on to refer to Imperial as "a good and generous friend of Canadian education on all levels."

Beekeeping big asset to country

Even though Canada's annual beehive produce has been known to reach a value of $9,700,000, the greatest value of beekeeping by far is in the cross-pollination of the many crops honeybees frequent for food, according to the new Encyclopedia Canadiana.

An article on beekeeping and honey production states that each year more and more farmers are coming to realize that the honeybee is indispensable to a stable agricultural economy. In Canada more than 40 crops benefit from cross pollination by honeybees. Many of the legumes, fruits and vegetables would not produce an economical crop without the aid of the bee.

Little is known of early beekeeping in Canada, although there are records of large apiaries in Ontario and Quebec as early as 1863.

Beekeeping was expanded rapidly during the two world wars, when a drastic reduction in sugar imports increased the importance of honey.

Expansion was greatest in the Prairie Provinces, where the vast acreages of sweet clover were ideally suited to honey production. Reports of yields between 300 and 400 pounds per colony were not uncommon in these areas.

Surplus honey was exported to the United Kingdom and elsewhere in 1924 and shipments continued until 1942. No postwar honey was exported because of dollar shortages in Europe. Moreover in the 1950's honey had to be imported, mainly from the United States, to supply the increasing demand of Canada's growing population.

In the peak year of 1947 there were close to 600,000 bee colonies in Canada. The largest number of beekeepers was 43,000 recorded in 1945. The average annual production of honey for the past 10 years is 32,000,000 pounds.

H.S. BERRYMAN

Appointment of R.M. Shaw as president of MacMillan & Bloedel Limited, coincident with the relinquishment of the top post by Harry S. Berryman on the advice of his doctor is announced.

Mr. Berryman started with the company 30 years ago at Port Alberni, and has held posts of manager of logging at Northwest Bay and Iron River, manager Alberni Plywood Division, manager Chemainus Division general manager of production, vice president of production (excluding pulp), and in January 1956, president of the company.

His resignation has been accepted with great regret. His close association with MacMillan & Bloedel will continue in a less demanding capacity.

Heavier penalties urged

A B.C. Automobile Association spokesman has agreed with Federal Bureau of Investigation director J. Edgar Hoover that "the false cloak of petty offenders" should be lifted from the shoulders of traffic speeders and careless drivers.

"We are in full accord with Mr. Hoover's view that reckless drivers are a menace to society and we believe that penalties should be heavy," says Stan Wicks, acting secretary manager and spokesman for the 74,000 member club.

"It is going a bit far however to rank such motorists with major criminals."

Mr. Hoover had compared the loss of a child crushed by an automobile akin to the death of a loved one at the hands of a kidnapper.

And he asked: "Is the plight of a victim crippled for life under the wheels of a speeding car less pitiable than the predicament of a person permanently maimed by a robber's gun?"

"Mr. Hoover's interpretation of the problem which faces all of North America today is different from our own only in the terms he uses," Mr. Wicks says.

"But we cannot agree more strongly about the continued need for full support of the motoring public in adhering to traffic laws, and rigid enforcement of the laws when they are broken."

Trees are the oldest living things.

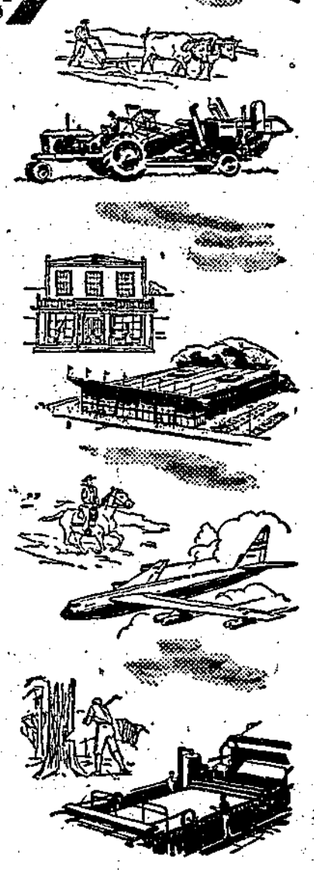
A time for memories... for looking forward

1832 ~ 1957



With the first week in September, The Bank of Nova Scotia moved forward beyond its 125th year.

The BNS welcomes this opportunity to express its warm appreciation to all its customers and friends who have made this progress possible. Through you, the Bank that in 1832 was a single branch in Halifax has grown until it now spans the nation, serving progressive communities in every province.

It is pleasant to look back upon the associations enjoyed in the past; and the BNS looks forward to working with you in the years of challenge and opportunity that lie ahead.

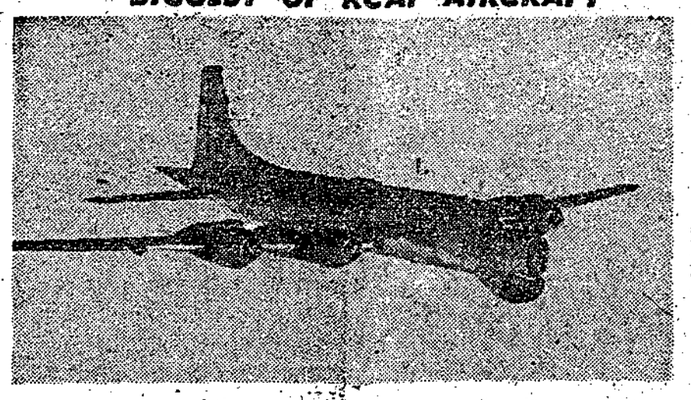
BIGGEST OF RCAF AIRCRAFT



The RCAF's newest and biggest aircraft, the Argus, will soon begin to fill an operational role with RCAF maritime squadrons. Shown here against a fleecy background during flight tests out of the Canadair plant near Montreal is the second prototype of the giant sub hunter and killer. With a range of more than 4,000 miles and the latest electronic detection gear, the Argus is rated among the best of its type in the world today. It was developed for the RCAF from the Bristol Britannia.

BC past, present, future to be in big pageant

A dramatic pageant unfolding the drama that is British Columbia, past, present and future, has been completed and will be distributed shortly throughout the province for next year's Centennial Celebrations.

L.J. Wallace, B.C. Centennial committee chairman has announced that some 2,000 copies of "From Wilderness to Wonderland," a two act pageant with 20 scenes portraying outstanding events in B.C.'s history, will be sent to schools and local centennial committees.

The pageant script is complete with staging advice and several pages of production notes, as well as photographs and drawings of historic persons and places to help with authentic costuming and set design.

The script does not necessarily have to be adhered to in all its detail, but it provides a main structure for the insertion of local or regional highlights, if desired.

The pageant, which even includes the recorded voice of Sir Winston Churchill, is expected to attract an audience of close to 1,000,000 by the end of 1958. It is anticipated that there will be performances in open-air settings as well as in community halls and on school stages.

Such historic scenes will be depicted as the meeting of Captain Cook with the Nootka Indians in 1778, Mackenzie's arrival on the Pacific, Simon Fraser's tracing of the great river to its mouth, Sir James Douglas building Fort Victoria, the Caribou gold rush, proclamation of the mainland colony of B.C., driving the last spike of the C.P.R. at Craigellachie, the "Roaring Twenties", the two World Wars, B.C. athletes, and a grand finale representing B.C.'s industrial and cultural progress, and including the various ethnic groups.

"We hope this pageant will be produced by schools and adult groups too, either individually or as a combined effort, in communities throughout British Columbia," Mr. Wallace said.
