More than 900 see Gold Medallion home

More than 900 persons visited the Gold Medallion home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Burley at Sechelt during a three-day open house which saw people from far away places signing the guest book.

This Gold Medallion home located on the waterfront Boulevard was the mecca for many women who marvelled at the numerous electrical conveniences incorporated into this beautiful home. Its completion, the result of the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Burley, Bob Norminton of B.C. Hydro, Ted Kurluk, contractor and R. Birkin, cabinet contractor has attracted the attention of Western Homes and Gardens national magazine which plans to do an article on it when its landscaped grounds have become more settled.

The multiplicity of conveniences in the kitchen held the interest of all women who inspected it and many of them marvelled at the compactness yet wide diversity of conveniences with unexpected kitchen helpers coming from unexpected places in the cabinets and table spaces. One can hang one's clothes from the utility room without having to go out into the murky weather. This was one of the attractions that appealed to a good many women.

In the living room the beautiful original Georgian marble fireplace with well-stocked bookshelves on the side wall and broad picture windows on the seafront wall gave the room, aided by its crystal chandeliers a feeling of gracious living.

B.C. Hydro guides escorted visitors through the various rooms pointing out the multiplicity of electrical uses in the various rooms, and demonstrated where demonstrations were possible.

To decribe all the attractions this type of home would have for a woman would be difficult. It has to be seen to be realized. The use of available space showed the work of craftsmanship.

Playday horses coming

Plans for a Playday on Horseback, Sunday, August 29 are rapidly approaching completion. Playday grounds, behind Sunnycrest Shopping Centre will be open for the public at 11 a.m. There will be a small admission charge. Saddle club mothers will be in charge of the refreshment stand. There will be ample parking space in Sunnycrest Shopping Centre parking lot.

Following are the events beginning with a class for horsemanship, 18 years and under at 11 a.m. At 12 noon the main program will begin with the various games including a sack race, stake race, potato race, barrel race, saddles and hats race, pole bending and musical

A new class has been added this year — a costume class, for Shetlands or ponies 12 hands and under, and may be shown in hand, under saddle or driven, but must be costumed.

Junior jumping will be limited to ages 16 years and under. The jumps will not exceed 2 feet, and spreads not greater than 8 feet, and to consist of a coop, post and rails, stone wall, triple bar and haystack.

The Senior jumping will be open to any age, with jumps not to exceed 3 feet and spreads not greater than 12 feet, on the first go-round. The jumps will include a gate, brush, coop, post and rails, stone wall and triple bar. In the event of a jump-off the heights will be increased.

General entry fee will be $1 for all events except Senior jumping. Entry fee for all events including the Senior jumping will be $2.

An experienced judge has been secured from Vancouver for all events, and Mr. Morris Hemstreet will once again be the master of ceremonies. Contestants may secure any further information regarding these events from Mrs. P. Lawrence 886-2901, or Mrs. D. Clarke, 885-9357. Entry forms will be printed in the next issue of this paper along with the prize list and must be returned by noon, Sat., Aug. 21, to Mr. Charles English, R.R.1 Gibsons, B.C. as post entries will be doubled.

Rowboat race listed

There is a new sign across Marine Drive at the old municipal hall and it informs passers by that Gibsons Firemen will hold their water sports Sunday, Aug. 22 at the Municipal dock.

Firemen who put the sign up Monday evening were also busy down on the water clearing the pool area of driftwood and straightening things out generally. Floats were re-arranged for convenience of contestants and judges.

Many local businessmen have contributed funds towards this day and the raffle ticket sales have been booming along in good style. Novelty events have been added to the program which will include log-rolling and a rowboat race for the 10 to 14 age group. Contestants in this race must provide their own rowboat and have them at the dock ready for the event. There will be a display of cups and other prizes in the store window next to Jerry's Barber shop on Marine Drive in Gibsons.

Pipers coming

August 21 from 9 p.m. until the wee small hours might be a good time for Sassenachs to head for the high hills — or if you can't lick them, join them.

An invasion will take place on that day and it will be the South Burnaby Pipe Band who will be the invaders. If there is a reason needed for the invasion it will be for the Royal Canadian Legion branch 109 (Gibsons) cabaret at which the pipe band will supply music.

Pearson here?

Jack Davis, M.P. and secretary to Prime Minister Pearson when passing through Gibsons Friday on the way to Powell River to officiate at the opening of a new wharf, informed Dick Kennett that he hoped to be able to get Prime Minister Pearson to come to this area on August 22 weekend for some salmon fishing.

Mr. Davis reported that the Prime Minister had been working hard lately and that a break away from official duties in Ottawa would do him good. During that weekend the fish derby sponsored by Gibsons Firemen will be underway.

Three cars in accidents

A rash of accidents over the weekend kept RCMP busy and one of them bordered on the spectacular. It occurred Sunday, just past Granthams bridge on the Langdale side when Jaroslav Dobrodolny of Vancouver with a launch in tow behind him, proceeding at about 25 mph tried to pass a dog which would not move out of the way The car hit a soft spot, overturned and careened towards the Smith garage bumping it and knocking it from its foundation.

The driver emerged unscathed from his car and with the aid of the RCMP and the Shell Service tow truck righted the vehicles. After examination the car was found to be in running condition and eventually boarded the ferry later in the afternoon.

Gordon Franske, a sailor on leave when heading towards Sechelt about 2 p.m. Saturday, one mile past the Peninsula hotel was forced off the road at a turn. The car tipped over and became what police have described as a total wreck. Franske was not hurt seriously. The car which caused the accident drove on.

In the Sechelt area at Davis Bay four people in a car that upset received minor injuries when the car failed to take a turn at Davis Bay, hit the soft shoulder and overturned. In the car were Douglas Fraser of Burnaby, Garry Wyton, of Gibsons, Dianne Webb of Sechelt and Mavis Cook of Gibsons. This mishap occurred at 2:30 a.m. Sat., Aug. 7.

Fair board announces trophies

Someone had visions of a good-sized cake to be entered in one of the competitions under the heading of home baking based on what appears in the annual program. The description of the kind of cake desired for No. 147, the Fry-Cadbury competition called for a nine-inch double layer cake.

Now a double-layer cake is a double-layer cake no matter how you dissect it. So the Fair board will settle for what is known generally as a layer cake.

Children are urged to get their minds working on their dress-up and decorations for the pet parade on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 21. The fair opens at 7 p.m. on Friday evening, Aug. 20. Here is a list of the numerous awards to be made.

JOHN J. CARSON

To Ottawa

Canadian Press reports that Prime Minister Pearson has announced the appointment of John J. Carson of Vancouver as chairman of the Civil Service Commission, succeeding R. B. MacNeill who has been named Canadian consul-general in New Orleans.

Carson, 45, is a graduate of UBC and was manager of staff services for B.C. Hydro.

Before that he attracted public notice as the youngest vice-president of privately owned B.C. Electric at the age of 39.

As an author of the Glassco Commission report, he put forward a suggestion that would end the system of giving veterans absolute preference for civil service jobs.

With Ottawa laurels fresh on his brow, Mr. Carson found time to get back to Hopkins Landing to lead community singing at an evening get-together. He said he would be back whenever he could get away from his new duties.

So we can move no Coast News will be published Aug. 26 and Sept. 2.

After Sept. 1 reach us at our new premises in rear of the Bal Block.

Greet friend of Indians

Canon and Mrs. A. D. Greene have recently returned from a four months visit to England and Ireland. They flew to Shannon airport where they were met by Mrs. Greene's sister, Miss Pauline Andrews and as her guest, they toured Ireland from headquarters in Killarney. There they visited Canon R. C. Harbord, brother of the Rev. C. R. Harbord of Davis Bay. They flew to Birmingham and toured Stratford on Avon, Coventry and the lovely west country around Bristol.

They spent a few weeks at Mrs. Greene's Chelsea house and in nearby Surrey, visited Mrs. Greene's brother, Lionel Andrews and Mrs. Fred Bennet, formerly of Gerald Island near Nanoose, whose generous donation was the first received for the building fund of the Church of His Presence.

In a guest house for old ladies at Worthing, they visited Miss Kathleen O'Brien, who had been awarded an M.B.E. for services to the Indians on the British Columbia coast. Miss O'Brien had come to Canada to work in the Indian residential school at Alert Bay and had stayed to build Huyatsi on Village Island near Alert Bay, to be a sanctuary of healing and learning. She had devoted 20 years of her life to this work.

The Greenes spent one night in Guildford seeing the new cathedral as the guest of Admiral Sir Denys Ford (retired) who had been closely associated with the building of the cathedral. In Exeter they visited Mrs. Wilding-White, late of Savary Island, who was the daughter of Mr. Fred Mather, one time registrar of the Vancouver County Court. Their final visit before returning to Canada by the Cunard ship Carmania, was to Miss Pauline Andrews' cottage near Winchester.

No words can describe the Greene's trip half so well as the fine collection of slides which they have brought back with them. There are pictures of rides in a jaunting car by the lake of Killarney, of gypsy caravans along picturesque Irish roads, of peat baskets, donkey carts and curraghs, the canvas covered fish ing boats still to be seen in the Bantry Bay region.

There are pictures of 300 year old cottages in Warwickshire and views of Stratford on Avon. Bristol, the Mendip Hills and the Severn River are all depicted. There are fine studies of the ruins of Glastonbury Abbey, reputed to be the burial place of King Arthur. Here grew the holy thorn which, it was claimed, sprang from the staff of Joseph of Arimathea, and this is said to be the most haunted spot in England. In Canon Greene's studies of cathedrals, the old and the new are represented, for beside the ancient glories of Exeter and Wells, are the modern cathedrals of Coventry and Guildford.

The collection of London pictures includes All Saints Church, Chelsea, the Tower of London, a Chelsea pensioner, a pearly king and queen, a London street artist, soap box orators at Hyde Park Corner and Westminster Abbey with its grave of the unknown warrior and the Coronation Chair with its historic stone of Scone.

In order to raise funds for the Redrooffs Road Centennial committee of which he is chairman, Canon Greene will be happy to show these slides to any club or group. For further information, please telephone 885-9328.

Film club set to go

With 54 reservations received and only 18 members not heard from, it appears that the Sechelt Film Club again is heading for a successful winter program. This year's series will commence on Thursday, Sept. 16 in the activity hall of the Sechelt Elementary school and be repeated every other Thursday up to and including Feb. 17.

This year's feature films will highlight events of importance in the province of Quebec and the United Kingdom, with visits to England, Scotland, Northern Ireland, Isle of Man and Wales. Besides these feature productions a great variety of documentaries about music, arts, sports, science and Canada's North will be shown On Nov. 11 the magnificent film Fields of Sacrifice will commemorate the Canadian war dead in two wars after 20 years.

Every member will be provided with a National Film Board portfolio, containing information sheets on every film to be shown as well as a portfolio on Quebec, made available by the department of commerce in that province.

This being the third winter series offered, the organizers are quite confident that all will find this type of relaxing and most educational entertainment satisfactory. The cost is very low and fixed at $2.50 per individual or $4.25 for a couple from one home for the entire series. Children in regular school attendance are not permitted to join. Membership fees will be collected on Sept. 16.

Those who would like to join this club are urged to take immediate steps as only 28 memberships are still available. Phone Mr. or Mrs. H. Barendregt, 885-9573

Let's discuss water again!

At various times enthusiasm has appeared for starting something like a district water board. In the last ten years there have been three attempts but none of them go beyond the armchair exploratory stage. It is obvious this situation cannot go on indefinitely. The area will have to have a continuous stored supply of water. Everybody will agree to that. Everybody always has. But agreeing is not enough.

Recent hot weather experience, drying up wells and placing small water systems in a position of short supply, should be a warning resulting in some form of action to see that water supplies do not remain vulnerable in periods of dry weather.

The Sunshine Coast today is not the Sunshine Coast of even ten years ago, much less 20 or 30 years ago. The responsibility for services is becoming greater year by year. Water is the one service a growing community cannot overlook. Water is the number one necessity no matter what part of the world you may be in.

There is need for action towards a more permanent supply of water — but where is the starting point and who will be the starter. If is true there are small water systems scattered from Langdale area to Pender Harbor but they will not be sufficient in the years to come and that insufficiency is not too many years off.

At present with these small water systems we have a sort of I'm All Right Jack situation with each little system sitting tight in its own bailliwick. Among the organizations which could inject some action into a broad water scheme are two village councils, three chambers of commerce and a dozen or more local improvement district units covering many phases of community life. It might be necessary to get them together to get something started in. For example there is a hospital improvement district which should be vitally interested in the future water supply because the hospital over which it has controll will not remain at its present capacity for very long — and much more water will be required.

People who have some knowledge of the watersheds in this wide area claim there is a sufficient supply of water available from the mountainous country but that storage facilities are required. According to federal mines and surveys department maps there are 11 creeks finding their way to the saltchuck from Langdale to Sechelt and judging from the contour levels all of them pass through the 1,000 foot contour level and some of them such as Chapman, Hudson, Roberts, Robinson and Langdale Creeks go back along way. There are others of shorter length, yet potential suppliers of water.

To an untrained eye in water storage problems a look at the federal survey map shows some interesting factors at the 1,500 foot level all the way from Langdale Creek to Chapman Creek. The terrain even beyond the 1,500 foot level does not appear too overly rugged until one reaches the more mountainous country farther back. Dams are not impossible.

During the last ten years there have been various speakers on future water supply for the area and some of them were experts. There is also a professional engineer working on water and sewage problems for Gibsons and the sewage problem for Sechelt. Without water sewage considerations are useless.

It should not be necessary for any publication or public body to point out to the people of this area that if they do not get busy on looking towards a copious water supply for the immediate future, the water problem in the not too distant future will multiply. What organization is there available to get the ball rolling. The Coast News slogan under the masthead on the editorial page which reads: Unity in the Community gets things done, is no pipe dream. We will have to have some form of unity, and quickly. Action will have to be started to see that we have a good supply of water for the future.

Will we have to wait for another really burning type of drouth period before some action starts? We hope not. The tendency for human beings to forget discomfort when good times arrive is all the more reason why something should be done quickly to get a nucleus organization at work. It must not be a one man organization in a chamber of commerce. It must be an area wide unit. There is plenty of legislative machinery available for this type or organization. How about some action?

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

The recent federal provincial conference in Ottawa covered many subjects. None however raised provincial hackles as much as the question of off-shore mineral rights. Led by Quebec and B.C. eight provincial premiers insisted that Ottawa had no business meddling in these affairs. Minerals are resources aren't they? And jurisdiction over these resources belongs largely to the provinces.

But B.C.'s Premier Bennett and Quebec's Jean Lesage conveniently forgot one thing, the actual expense of Canada's territorial waters is a matter of international negotiation. Up until last year they were confined to the familiar three mile limit. Recently Mr. Pearson's government had this extended to 12 miles. Now Ottawa is trying a headland to headland approach. If it succeeds all of the Hecate Strait on our west coast and all of the Gulf of St. Lawrence will also be Canadian territorial waters.

Other underwater areas, of course, are involved. Quebec wants half of Hudson's Bay. B.C. wants all of Georgia Strait. Newfoundland wants the Grand Banks and so it goes.

The federal government has entered this contest reluctantly but having done so must not back down. Ottawa, in my view, cannot possibly conceive that our provincial governments have a superior claim to any offshore mineral rights. If it did so, it would undermine its own position when it comes to dealing with other countries, notably the United States.

The same jurisdictional battle raged in the U.S. a few years ago Differences between California and the United States federal authorities were settled in 1947. Those between Louisiana and the nation were resolved in 1950. The U.S. Supreme court first confirmed its own authority in this regard then it found in favor of the federal government.

For instance "California is not the owner of the three mile marginal belt along its Coast." And "it has been and is a responsibility of the national government by external sovereignty."

Under this ruling, if a state government issued licences for off shore exploration, as the provinces of B.C. and Quebec are doing here, it would be trespassing. So the state governments were ordered to pay back any revenues which they had obtained before the U.S. Supreme court handed down its rulings.

Ottawa's confidence that Canada's Supreme court will come to a similar conclusion seems to be shared by Quebec's Jean Lesage. Witness the memorable statement that he will ignore the findings of our Supreme court, whatever they are.

Should Lesage persist in this attitude, which seems doubtful, he could find himself ending up face to face with the U.S. in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Americans would also be citing Lesage's own speeches in support of their right to be there.

That could bring the entire matter before the International Court of Justice at The Hague and if the U.S. can prove that Ottawa has waived its rights the International Court would probably find in favor of the U.S.

This is the main reason why I believe that Canada as a nation, must stand its ground against the provinces when it comes to asserting its jurisdiction over our off shore mineral rights.

Minute message

The first thing to get clear about Christian morality between man and man is that in this department Christ did not come to preach any new branch of morality. Really great moral teachers have never introduced new moralities — this has been left to the cranks. It was the famous Dr. Samuel Johnson who said 'People need to be reminded more often than they need to be taught'. We are to be brought back to the main principles, which we are not too anxious to face.

The second thing to get clear is that Christianity does not possess, nor has it ever professed to possess, a detailed political program, which can be applied to a particular society at a particular time. It preaches the same Gospel for all men of all ages. It was, it is, and it will always be.

Christianity never was intended to replace or supersede the ordinary human arts and sciences, for it is 'The Director', which gives to each one of us a true insight into the purpose and the uses of such gifts to mankind — that is if mankind is prepared to accept such an offer, and, above all, put itself at the disposal of the demands made by Christianity.

For a long time now people have said — The Church should give us a lead. This is only true if such people have the right idea of the Church. The task is given to every one of us, and the application of Christian principles can only come from those who are Christians. The existance of such principles, for example, in trade unions or education, must come from Christian trade unionists or Christian teachers.

The trouble experienced by most people is that Christianity is thought of as a blue print. We look at this blue print to see where our individual claims are justified, and where we find such claims are justified we readily say, See, we are doing this or that. This means we are really looking for an ally to justify our present behavior. — The Rev. J. H. Kelly, The Anglican Church of Canada.

What is Saskatchewan's most important resource?

Land. Over 40 percent of the province is arable. The bulk of this good farmland, 15 million acres, is planted to wheat. The long northern days of summer and the light dry soil produces hard wheat of top quality. Other Saskatchewan crops are oats, barley, rye and flaxseed. Minerals are growing in importance. Valuable copper-zinc mines are being opened in the north, while oil and gas fields have been established in the southwest. Coal has been mined at Estevan for many years. The province is a leading producer of uranium, along with non-metallics such as sodium sulphate, salt and potash. Manufacturing is still in an early stage of development, but their volume is growing. Most secondary industries process farm produce for local use, while petroleum refineries are geared to catering for agricultural machinery. Services have been growing very rapidly and now create more business in Saskatchewan than do manufacturers.

Courtenay was named after Captain George William Conway Courtenay, of the British warship HMS Constance.

CHILDREN NO LONGER NEED HAVE MEASLES

Nearly five million American and Canadian children come down with measles each year. Mild as this disease is considered, some cases have serious complication which have caused deaths. Experts say measles now do more harm than polio.

Dr. Saul Krugman of New York University School of Medicine recently stated, "there is no excuse for any child to endure the disease of measles or its risks. Newly perfected vaccines almost always prevent that possibility. So, if your child has not yet had measles, go to your physician for protection against this danger."

Funny, the little things that annoy customers! Like hearing a busy signal every time they call you, for example. They get to feel unwanted. Wouldn't you? You might as well leave your business phone lying on the desk!

Every now and again a customer hears your busy signal once too often—and phones a competitor: a man with a voice, not a buzz.

The economical solution: an additional telephone line. Then, few customers will ever again get the busy signal from your phone. It could pay for itself sooner than you think just by the business you save.

You will even pick up new customers, folks tired of being buzzed at by one of your single line competitors.

RECIPES

HOT DOGS HAWAIIAN

Makes 8 servings
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
3 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 tablespoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (about 1 pound, 4 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1½ pounds frankfurters (about 12), cut diagonally into 1-inch lengths
Sesame Buns (recipe follows)

Saute onion in salad oil until soft in a large frying pan.

Mix cornstarch, curry powder, all-spice, and salt in a cup; stir into onion mixture; cook, stirring constantly, just until bubbly.

Stir in pineapple and syrup and vinegar; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils 3 minutes.

Place frankfurter pieces in sauce; cover. Simmer 15 minutes over hot coals, or 5 minutes on kitchen range, or until heated through.

Serve as is, or spoon over sesame buns.

Sesame Buns — Toast 1 tablespoon sesame seeds, stirring constantly, in small frying pan 3 to 5 minutes, or until golden. Toast 8 split frankfurter rolls or 8 hamburger buns; brush with 4 tablespoons (½ stick) melted butter or margarine; sprinkle with sesame seeds.

* * *

CREAMY SALAD POTATOES

Makes 6 servings
6 medium-size potatoes
1 medium-size onion, peeled and sliced thin
4 tablespoon (½ stick) butter or margarine
⅔ cup water
3 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup shelled peas (about ¼ pound)
½ cup cream for whipping

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water in a large saucepan 45 minutes, or until tender; drain. Cool until easy to handle, then peel and slice.

Combine onion, butter or margarine, and the ⅔ cup water in a medium-size sauce pan; heat to boiling; cover. Simmer 5 minutes. Stir in sugar, salt, pepper, vinegar, and sliced potatoes.

Heat very slowly, stirring once or twice, just until liquid is absorbed. Fold in raw peas.

Spoon into a heated serving bowl; drizzle cream over; fold mixture over once or twice until cream is absorbed. (Folding cream in this way keeps it from curdling.)

.FROSTED PINEAPPLE CUPS.

Makes 6 servings
1 fresh pineapple
1 cup maple syrup
½ cup dairy sour cream (from an 8-ounce carton)

Cut crown from pineapple, then cut fruit crosswise into about-¾-inch-thick slices. Pare each; halve and cut out core, then cut fruit into small wedges. Place in a medium-size bowl; cover; chill.

Just before serving, spoon pineapple into dessert dishes, dividing evenly; pour about 2 tablespoons maple syrup over each. Garnish with a dollop of sour cream and a drizzle of remaining syrup.

Trawling tests

W. R. Hourston, area director, department of fisheries, announces preliminary success in exploratory trawling work being carried out during the summer to locate new stocks of commercially important groundfish.

The 80-ton trawler, Ocean Traveller, under the command of Captain Frank Gale, sailed July 10 for the east coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Working in depths of 38-55 fathoms and using bobbin gear with 14" rollers, commercial stocks of grey cod were located seven miles northeast of Reef Island. Hauls of 7,000 pounds were taken in ten minutes. Important stocks of brill were located in the same area.

Continuing surveys located several more commercial stocks of these species in the same general area. Sampling and tagging are being carried out to identify stocks and routes of migration.

DANGEROUS MILES

Women drivers, according to the Canadian Highway Safety Council are better insurance risks than males. Men are involved in nine times as many accidents as are women but the miles men drive are more dangerous.

Low interest fishermen loans

A more liberal policy in granting loans to fishermen under provision of the Fishermen's Improvement Loans Act, 1955, was announced recently in the House of Commons by Canada's minister of fisheries, the Hon. H. J. Robichaud.

This act has been established to provide for long-term, low-interest loans to fishermen for the purchase or improvement of vessels, equipment, or materials used in their fishing enterprise. The recent amendments to the act raised the borrowing power of a fisherman from the former $4,000 to a new ceiling of $10,000.

The repayment period has been extended to ten years from the former maximum of eight years. The interest rate remains unchanged at 5%. The act has been extended for another five years until June 30, 1970. Inquiries concerning loans should be directed to the Department of Fisheries, 1155 Robson Street, Vancouver 5, B.C., although the actual loan will be handled through the fisherman's local bank or credit union.

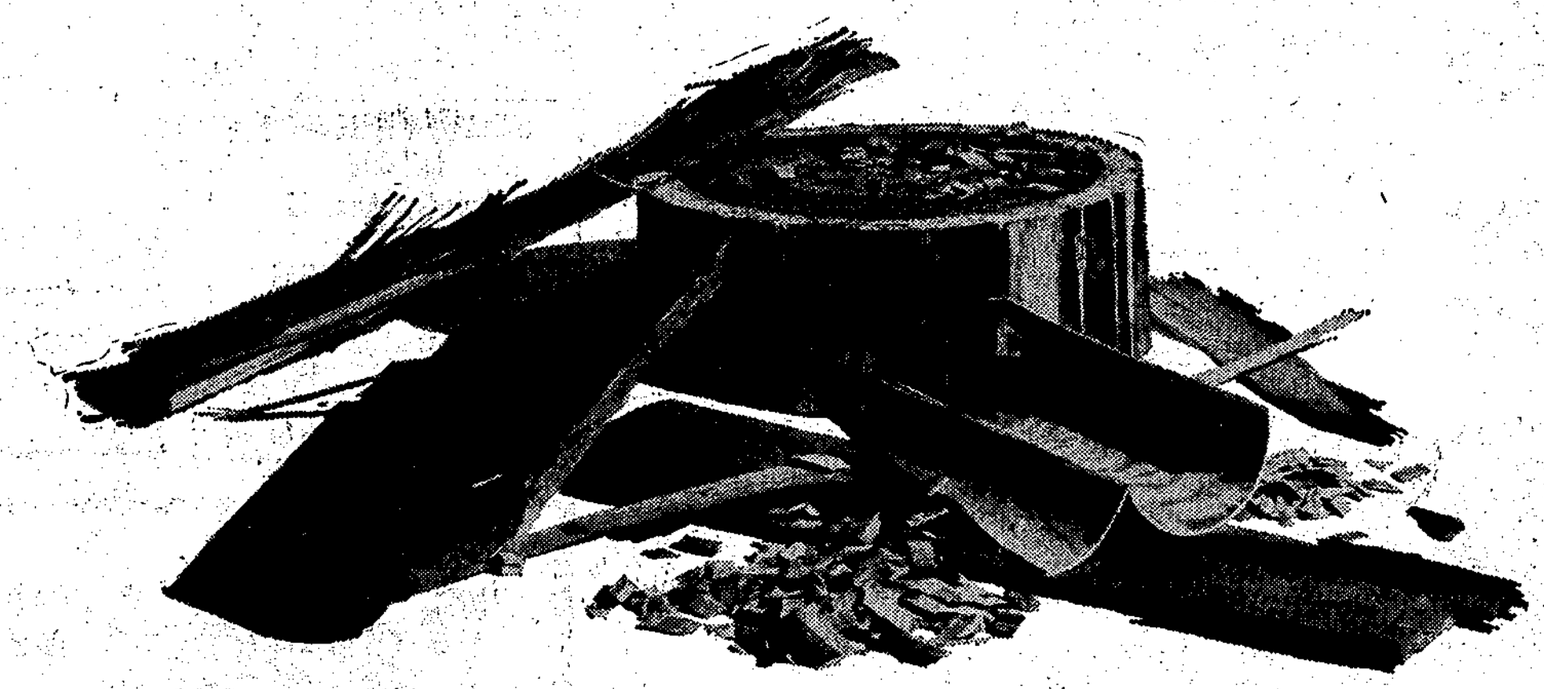
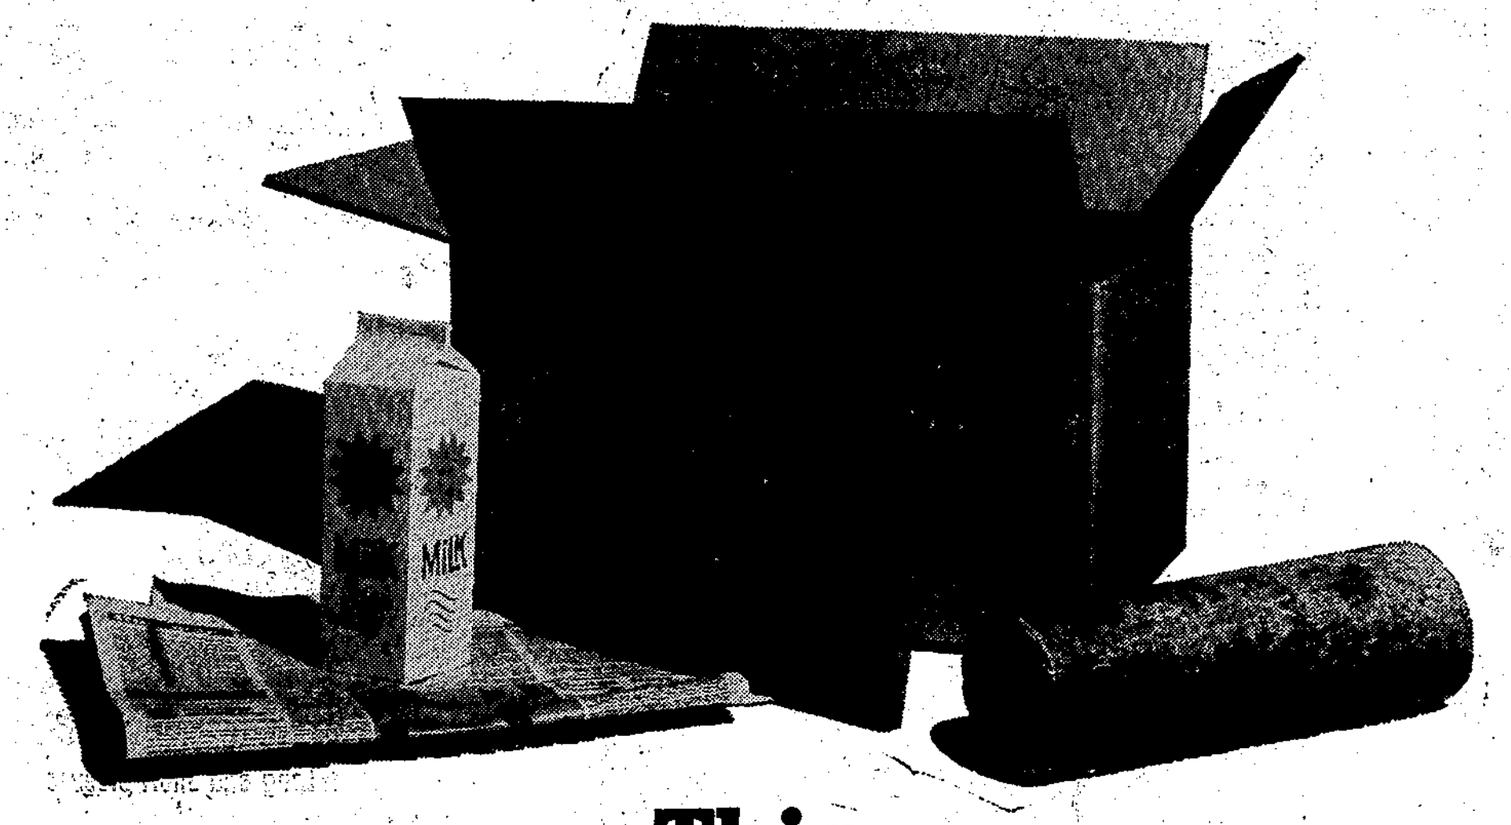
FAIR BOARD MEETING

All representatives of all organizations taking part in the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair are urgently requested to attend meeting on August 16 at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

BILL NORTHWOOD — by FRASER WILSON



What can we do with this?



This.

Not too long ago, small logs, sawmill cuttings and veneer clippings had little value in the forest industry. Then, we learned how to turn this waste into valuable products. Today, as pulp, newsprint, paper, cartons, Pres-to-logs and panel board, this material is now of great value to world markets. And in turn, to the people of British Columbia.

Waste not, want not. This old-fashioned policy pays handsomely in two ways. Right now, it ensures that every acre of forest will yield its full quota of payrolls and prosperity. But equally important, by using this former waste, we're preserving essential timber resources for future generations of Canadians. For your children and their children.

MOVIE NEWS

So great was the initial appeal of lovely Leslie Caron, at the Twilight Theatre, Aug. 16, 17 and 18, in the new Columbia release, "The L-Shaped Room," many filmgoers still think of her as a perennial adolescent, a full-time waif. They will be surprised to learn that Leslie, whose face and figure are undoubtedly more gamin-like than matronly, sort of specializes, these days, in pregnancy.

Leslie and husband Peter Hall have two young children—Chris, 5, and Jennifer, 3½. And she has been pregnant in her last four films — The Subterraneans (the proud papa was George Peppard) Fanny (Horst Buchholz), Act of Mercy (David Niven) and now The L-Shaped Room (man unidentified). Miss Caron was awarded the best actress of the year accolade of the British Film Academy for her performance in The L-Shaped Room.

LOST — UPPER TEETH

If you have found a new set of upper teeth while walking down hill from the Legion premises in Gibsons and you do not know what to do with them, take the set to Dave at the Legion Hall. He will know what to do with them. It appears that whoever owned this new set lost them while heading for home. They cost $110 and he had only had them about 24 hours.

BUILDING PERMITS

Recent building permits issued by Gibsons municipal council include one for Mr. and Mrs. Hauka sr., for construction of a $7500 home behind the Don Hauka home. This permit was delayed owing to council not being satisfied with the type of home planned. Since it has been increased in value with a basement included, council allowed construction to proceed. John and Mary Gooldrup are moving into the area a five room home on Dogwood lane, near the United Church. A carport permit to the value of $500 was issued to Sherry Wingrave.

FISH IN LEE'S BAY

Moochers are still catching some fair-sized spring salmon in Lee's Bay in Garden Bay area, according to late reports. Jack MacDonald of Vancouver at Parkers resort landed a 21 pounder. Elsewhere coho fishing has been good.

HAVE YOU CONTRIBUTED?

Allison Bell top Hopkins winner

(By NANCY DOUGLAS)

Once again the community of Hopkins Landing gathered for its annual regatta on Saturday, Aug. 7.

The day dawned warm and sunny. Following tradition the fishing and shiner derbies were held in the morning; paddleboard, swimming, diving and relay races in the afternoon; and dinghy races, ladies nail driving, and the tug-of-war in the evening. A new event this year, gold panning, for pennies, caused great excitement and one could see many panning till late in the afternoon.

The evening came to a close with a sing-song led by Mr. J. J. Carson, prizes being awarded, and hot dogs, pop and coffee being served.

Thanks go to all who assisted, especially Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hamner, Mr. Carson, and to Mr. D. Wheeler who donated a perpetual trophy for the boy or girl winning the most points. This year it was won by Allison Bell.

The winners were:

DANGEROUS SEEDS

When planting seeds, don't allow children to chew any they may pick up, since not all seeds are safe to eat. Sunflower seeds are considered a delicacy and are often eaten but morning glory seeds produce a poison.

A good lead pencil is one of the best and most helpful tools ever invented by the mind of man. Men who appreciate that good workmen need good tools are particular about their pencils. They need just the right degree of softness and hardness so that the lead slips easily and pleasantly over the paper.

They must be just the right diameter to fit the hand. The wood must be clear and soft so that it will sharpen easily and smoothly. Some men, old-fashioned though it may be, still enjoy sharpening their pencils with a pocket knife.

Few are the tools so much used all a man's life. From about the age of two on a lead pencil is a desirable material possession. A man likes to keep a good supply in a box in the upper right hand drawer of the desk in his den, and undoubtedly would if all members of the family didn't consider that their source of supply. Therefore, he keeps his good pencils hidden under some papers in the lowest drawer on the left hand side.

A man has a trying time with growing sons and daughters and a wife. But little things like this help him keep his ego. If a man couldn't control his cherished pencils it would indeed be a harsh world.

If you're about to begin that long-distance vacation trip, it will pay you to carry an additional four pounds of air pressure in each tire, says the B.C. Automobile Association.

The BCAA explains that while the recommended tire pressure in a new car makes for softer riding, a higher inflated tire allows for the safest high-speed travelling. Additionally, the tire wears better.

An under-inflated tire, on the other hand, can build up too much pressure at high speeds, because of its constant flexing, the BCAA says. It warns that the combination of pressure and heat buildup could, under some circumstances, result in a blow-out.

The additional four pounds of pressure in each tire might make for a little rougher ride, the BCAA notes, but the tires will always be ready for high-speed, long-distance driving.

Of some twenty species of ticks to be found in British Columbia only three normally bite humans. Although their bites may be painful and slow healing, there is little danger of disease provided the tick is removed promptly. Here are a few simple rules to avoid tick paralysis. 1. Wear trousers or slacks tucked into boots when on outings or hikes in the country. 2. Make daily examinations for ticks, paying particular attention to the pubic region, the base of the skull and the head. Remember, paralysis symptoms do not appear for five to six days after the tick begins feeding and complete recovery follows the removal of the tick, providing it is removed early. If it is overlooked, death may result. 3. Remove ticks by a very slow and gentle pull. This will normally remove the mouth parts. Treat the wound with a disinfectant. If there is an indication of paralysis, contact a medical doctor immediately.

Issued by Department of Fisheries, Canada, Director, Pacific Area

VANCOUVER - HOWE SOUND — Only a brief report is available for the Vancouver - Howe Sound area this week since the fishery officer is now away on his annual vacation.

Thirty-five boats checked off Brittania at 9 a.m. Sunday reported fishing poor. Chinooks appear to be the most constant species this week although the odd good catch of coho and the occasional pink were taken in waters off Salmon Rock. Anglers trolling West Vancouver beaches have taken a few small chinooks and coho. Pinks have been a dismal failure so far this year in marked contrast to the heavy run of 1963. Reports from the Fraser River indicate jack chinooks are now available to bar fishermen. Smelt fishermen are advised that the present closure on Vancouver beaches terminates at midnight, August 5.

PENDER HARBOUR - JERVIS INLET — Fishing picked up at Egmont on the weekend with large coho, small chinooks and a fair number of pinks rounding out the catches. The small chinooks have been holding off Egmont Point throughout the week. Largest Egmont chinook reported was taken Saturday and weighed in at 24 lbs. Coho in the area were running as high as 12 and 14 lbs. on Sunday.

The Pender Harbour - Quarry Bay region continues to produce good numbers of coho salmon with fair numbers taken at Welcome Pass and along the shore to Wilson Creek. Bill MacNaughton and Bill Whittle, of Pender Harbour, both had their limits in two hours' fishing in Quarry Bay on Monday, July 26th. Reports indicate that chinook fishing at Bargain Harbor picked up this week. Lees Bay produced a 38-pound chinook for Stu McGinn, of New Westminster, B.C.

Sechelt Inlet is rated poor. Ten boats checked on Sunday in the area took only 3 coho averaging 5 lbs.

A check of 21 boats afloat in the Francis Point - Lees Bay - Fearney Point vicinity on Thursday evening tallied 3 chinooks averaging 12 lbs., 7 coho averaging 5 lbs. and 1 pink. Sixteen of the boats reported no catch. Twenty-four boats checked afloat in the same area Friday morning took a total of one chinook, 8 coho and one pink. Nineteen of the 24 boats reported no catch. An overall tour of the area on Sunday from Egmont to Quarry Bay and south to Secret Cove tallied 5 chinooks averaging 12 lbs., 10 jacks, 10 coho averaging 10 lbs., 2 chinook grilse and 3 pinks. Thirty of the 50 boats checked reported no catch.

Denman sland was named after Rear Admiral Joseph Denman in command of the Pacific station in 1862.

September 16, 1964 — President Lyndon B. Johnson, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. This Peace Arch ceremony and receipt by B.C. Hydro of a cheque for $273,291,661. 24 marked formal proclamation of the Columbia River Treaty.

ANNOUNCING: ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TO BUILD YOUR SAVINGS ON BRITISH COLUMBIA'S EXCITING DEVELOPMENT

British Columbia's great years continue. The Portage Mountain Dam rises in the bed of the mighty Peace River. Work presses forward on the Duncan, Arrow, and Mica projects on the Columbia. Month after month our economic development reaches new peaks, as we build a truly dynamic society in British Columbia. Take this opportunity to build your savings on your Province's development. Read in these four points why bonds in this new issue are an exceptional investment for every family.

1. Your investment earns 5% per annum, payable quarterly.
2. Your investment is unconditionally guaranteed by the Province of British Columbia. This is your Province's pledge that regular interest payments will be made during the currency of the bond, and that it will be redeemed at par on maturity.
3. You can redeem British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority 5% Parity Development Bonds at any time at par value at any bank in British Columbia or at any branch of British Columbia Hydro's bankers anywhere in Canada.
4. You have the satisfaction of investing in a public undertaking vital to your Province.

THE ISSUE: Purchases of this issue by an individual or company are limited to $20,000.

DENOMINATIONS: Bearer bonds are available with coupons attached in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000

REGISTRATION: Bonds of $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $20,000 can be fully registered.

INTEREST: Interest at the rate of 5% per annum will be paid quarterly on the 1st day of December, May, June, and September during the currency of the bond.

DATE OF ISSUE: September 1, 1965.

REDEMPTION: British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority 5% Parity Development Bonds can be redeemed at par value at any time at any bank in the Province of British Columbia, or at any branch of British Columbia Hydro's bankers throughout Canada.

MILITARY HANDYMAN — The CF-5, the new tactical, close ground-support aircraft for Canada's Armed Forces, is long on versatility. Besides the support of ground troops, the CF-5 can be used for aerial reconnaissance, air-to-air combat, or a tactical fighter or trainer. Depending upon the mission, the twin-engine aircraft is highly manoeuvrable at speeds up to 1,000 m.p.h. It has a combat altitude of over 48,000 feet, can take-off and land on sod fields or unprepared runways, and can carry out its missions and land on only one engine.

Did you know?

A bachelor ball was held in New Westminster May 30, 1865, in the Legislative Hall. Attendance was reported large.

At the time of their union in 1866 the colony of British Columbia was in debt $1,002,983 and the colony of Vancouver Island was in debt $293,698.

A Lillooet correspondent told the British Columbian at New Westminster in 1865 that his town now had a population of 1,000 and two bi-weekly newspapers.

One William Clarkson told the British Columbian that he had paid $100 for government land (2 acres) and $257 for raising a crop of 34,000 pounds of potatoes which he sold for $680, making a profit for the year of $323. Show me any country that can beat that, he wrote.

Chariot race PNE feature

Every movie fan everywhere remembers the breath-taking, death-defying chariot race from the Academy Award film "Ben Hur."

Now you can see it recreated live and in person at the exciting 1965 edition of the Pacific National Exhibition, August 21 to Sept. 6.

Highlight of the Empire Stadium Show of Shows, the daily grandstand attraction at the PNE will be a thrilling chariot race featuring horses and drivers who actually took part in the filming of Ben Hur at Cinecitta in Rome.

The chariots, each drawn by four snow-white steeds, will race at top speed around the track at Empire Stadium at each of the 27 matinee and evening grandstand shows.

And there's always the danger of a spine-tingling pile-up or spill when these spirited horses take to the track.

The horses in this heart-stopping act, many of them purebred Arabians, have been trained by Glenn Randall of North Hollywood, Calif., who trained the animals for Ben Hur and whose former students include Roy Rogers' famous horse, Trigger.

Randall is considered the master horse trainer in the world, and his highly successful commercial ranch near Los Angeles provides almost all the horses for today's Hollywood spectaculars.

The chariot races are only one of seven daring and colorful acts at the PNE's dazzling '65 Show of Shows.

LOST MONEY RETURNED

Jack Gordon who found a sum of money in front of the Shell Service station recently reports that through the Coast News, the young lady who last the money now has it. It was her newspaper delivery cash.

LIVERPOOL'S FAMOUS rock combo Gerry and the Pacemakers make their film debut in Brian Epstein's Ferry Cross the Mersey, a United Artists release on Aug. 26, 27 and 28 at the Twilight Theatre in Gibsons. Gerry is the one with the cap. Ray Boothroy, manager of the theatre, is looking for a local combo to help him in his presentation of the picture. Gerry and the Pacemakers have appeared on the Ed Sullivan show.

Community service in school program

This is the fifth in a series of articles describing the new secondary school curriculum.
(By Hon. L. R. PETERSON, Minister of Education)

So far these articles have discussed the content and purpose of secondary school programs designed to prepare students for university or an institute of technology, or to employment or further training at a vocational school in the general fields of commerce and industry. Another important program known as Community Services will also be offered, though I must warn again that not all programs will necessarily be offered in all schools.

The objective of the Community Services program is to provide for employment or further vocational school training in a range of occupations related to basic human wants — the preparation and serving of food, the provision of shelter and the selection, construction and wearing of clothes. These are among the fastest growing groups of occupations and are filled by men as well as women.

Students who select the Community Services program will take the same four general education constants as do all other senior secondary students. These are two courses in English, one in social studies, and one in guidance and physical education.

The program constants, taken by all students in the Community Services program, are the same as in the Commerce program. They consist of two courses in general business, one covering the economic geography of the province and the other legal matters affecting personal and commercial life.

Assuming that all Community Services students require the same general education and program constants, provision is then made for the three broad fields of endeavour which the student may enter. These are the foods, textiles, and home and industrial services specialties.

The food specialty is for those seeking vocations in the various foods industries or services, and the textile specialty for those expecting to enter the textile and clothing field.

The home and industrial services specialty is designed to provide basic preparation for a wide range of occupations including home making, the accommodations industry and child care.

All three specialties require one basic course on food, one on textiles, and one on management dealing with employment possibilities and management principles in relation to both employment and use of time, energy and resources. In addition, girls in all three specialties take an advanced course in child care to help them with their own children or in occupations involving the supervision of children.

Girls pursuing the food specialty must take two additional and more advanced food and nutrition courses, and those in the textile specialty two additional and more advanced courses covering manufacture and design of garments.

Boys are not required to take either the basic textile course nor child care and may substitute appropriate courses such as bookkeeping and typing from the Commerce program.

The third specialty, home and industrial services, cuts across both the others and involves either one of the advanced courses in foods and textiles or a course in bookkeeping as well as its own major study. The last-named, Home and Industrial Services 12, spends over half of its alloted syllabus on services for public accommodations, and divides the rest between job opportunities, construction projects, and home nursing.

In this last specialty it is also possible to take a course in community recreation which, when fully developed, will lead to useful training for those who wish to enter that growing field of employment.

In addition to those who actually enter the Community Services program, it is expected that many girls and perhaps some boys from other programs will enrol in food, textile and child care courses as electives. The personal values of such electives to girls, no matter what career they follow, have often been demonstrated in the past. They are also suitable electives for those who intend to take university or other training with eventual specialization in such studies as home economics or nursing.

5 years work aids blind

A simple machine which enables the blind to read printed material in the form of sound is being developed at the University of British Columbia. It will make it possible for trained blind persons to read much material not available in Braille.

The Lexiphone, as it is called, can be manufactured for $500 to $2000 per machine, estimated Dr. Michael P. Beddoes, associate professor of electrical engineering, making it widely available.

Dr. Beddoes has been working on the Lexiphone for the last five years, aided by grants from the Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Woodward Foundation, the National Research Council of Canada and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

"It would be nice if the machine were to convert print into the spoken word, but such a machine would be very expensive, "Dr. Beddoes says. "We settled for a simple machine that could be manufactured inexpensively to provide the widest possible service to the blind.

"Basically, a line of normal print is scanned by photo-electric cells, a letter at a time. It converts the information in the line into a sound code. The blind person has to memorize the sound code corresponding to each of the alphabet letters.

"In operation, a book or any printed material lies upon a platform which moves past the photo-electric cells. They convert each letter into electrical signals. The signals in turn control a number of code-sound generators which produce the alphabet sounds previously memorized by the blind 'reader'."

The first code developed in 1962 by Dr. Beddoes and his assistants was multi-dimensional, each letter is represented by a combination drawn from four pitch sounds, three sibilant sounds and a click.

Tests with the multi-dimensional code indicate that, after a two-month training period, two blind students can begin to read words and sentences, made up from a limited vocabulary of nine letters, at 20 words per minute.

"We think that a blind person has a reasonable chance of reading about 30 words per minute with the Lexiphone, "Dr. Beddoes says." Although this is much slower than the 170 words a minute possible with Braille, the slow speed is offset by the advantage that much material not available in Braille can now be read directly by the blind."

Dr. Beddoes and graduate student Garry Caple are now working on a single dimensional sound code which is less complicated.

TO CLEAN UP BEACH

Complaints about the condition of the municipal beach in Gibsons received the attention of council at its meeting Tuesday night of last week. Plans were made to have it cleaned up. Council is also awaiting installation of a flood light from the old municipal hall to floodlight the toilet facilities at the beach.

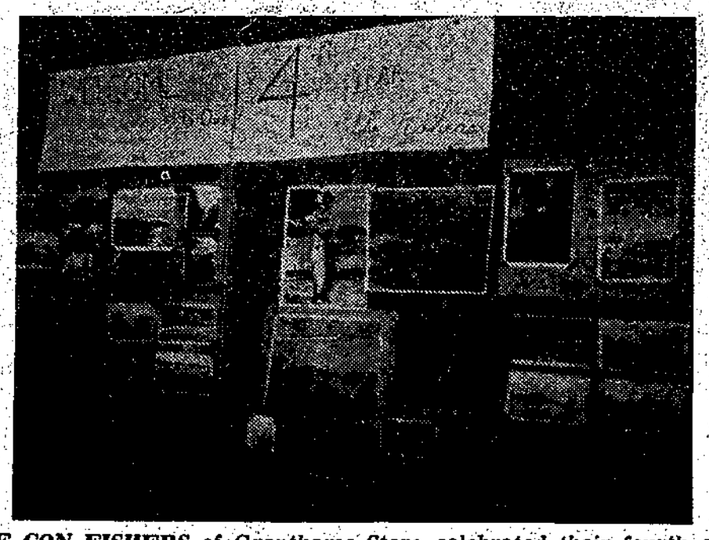
Pleads guilty

Pleading guilty to breaking into the Kruse Drug store in Gibsons on May 22 and taking by theft narcotics, Dr. H. R. Hylton, veterinarion, appeared before Magistrate Andrew Johnston in Sechelt court and received a one year suspended sentence on a recognizance bond of $500. Sentence was passed after the magistrate heard character references from Dick McKibbin, Frank West and Tom Morrison of Gibsons. Earle Dawe was defence counsel and John McAlpine of Vancouver prosecuting counsel. Dr. Hylton was advised by the court to refrain from the use of alcohol and drugs other than those prescribed for him. Reason for the delay in the trial was because Dr. Hylton had been in hospital for a period.



THE CON FISHERS of Granthams Store celebrated their fourth anniversary in the store with a week long display of pictures of people in the area and scenes including some of the large fish caught nearby. The celebration was preceded by a party at Sandy beach, Granthams Landing with close to 150 taking part in the community singing. Bonnie Stanley and Anne Kendall sang songs and everyone gave Graham Hill, grandson of H. Frith Smith a Happy Birthday in song. Mr. Fisher supplied music on the accordion. Weiners, buns and pop more than filled out the evening.

LETTERS to editor

Editor: Before we leave Vancouver today on our way back to our home in the Niagara area of Ontario my wife and I want to tell you that when we retire in four or five years from our dairy farm we hope to settle in your neck of the woods. We think it is the grandest spot we have come across yet.

For Christmas a Powell River cousin sent us the book Of Days and Driftwood and that is why we came this year to see is what L. Linton wrote was true and as far as we can figure it is and we can't wait to come back.

—John and Ann McDonald.

Editor: Is it not ironic that at the same time South Pender Harbour Water District is considering lowering their water rates Gibsons is doubling theirs? Perhaps Mr. Fladager and the rest of the council would be wiser to take a trip to Pender Harbour and discover their secret instead of prowling around catching thieves wasting water.

It's all very well to point out this is an unusually dry summer but there are many families on the outskirts of Gibsons who would gladly pay the present rates if only they could get the service. This happens every year, the only ones benefitting being the Real Estate agents as the residents are faced with carrying water from Gibsons every summer.

I note that an improvement district for garbage collection is being set up. Why not one for water? I for one can stand the sight of a bit of litter but get really ill looking down a dry well! The point is Gibsons is supplying all the outside territory with water now anyway via the bucket system. Perhaps Mr. Fladager will prosecute our kind friends for sharing their water with us. I understand that the Stone Villa residents are taking up another petition. Could not your paper give them a little needed publicity and really get behind them. It's all very nice to support stocking our lakes with fish for the tourists but those same lakes are full of lovely water for the taxpayers and incidentally your subscribers.

—I. Green, Granthams.

FORMER GIBSONS VICAR

Rev. Canon A. E. Thain of Edmonton and a former vicar in Gibsons will take services Sunday, Aug. 29 at St. Bartholomew's Anglican church. He will also be a delegate from Edmonton to the general synod in Vancouver.
