Roberts Creek opens new school library

Young Canada Book Week was appropriately celebrated at Roberts Creek Elementary school with the opening of their new school library by Mr. M. Dober, district librarian. The children are thrilled with and proud of their cheerful library, the shelves gay and exciting with bright-jacketed books. Mr. Dober offered advice on the care of their new books and warned of the potential dangers of younger brothers and sisters at home. Indicative of how seriously children take their responsibilities is the information volunteered by one small boy that he would not take his books home because of two very welcoming dogs.

Enthusiasm is so great that every member of the senior class wanted to help as assistant librarians to Mrs. Warr, Dena Blatchford, Mark English, Marianne Hansen, Debra Marsh, Greg McKenzie, Marjorie Mc-Lean and Doug Oram were chosen. Enthusiasm is as great among the teachers who, knowing that reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body, are happily planning multiple uses for the library so that it bids fair to be the busiest room in the school. Experience has proven that children who have access to libraries become better readers and hence better students; in fact the introduction of school libraries has radically changed the reading and studying habits of entire schools. Mr. Dober is planning a special course for Grade 7 students in the use and understanding of reference books which will be invaluable to these students when they are in high school.

The library already boasts a small reference section with dictionaries, a set of Americana Encyclopedia donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. Warr and a World Book Encyclopedia and atlas.

The non-fiction section will be long to the school and will be added to as funds permit; the fiction, about 40% of the whole, will be rotated with other libraries on the average of 100 books every two months. The present complement of nearly 1,000 books should be gradually increased over the next two or three years to two thousand. The system of rotating books among the schools is possible now that the school district has a librarian who can co-ordinate the facilities available. It makes more books available to a greater number of readers with the added stimulus of a new batch of books every other month.

Roberts Creek library is the first to be completed, those at Sechelt, Langdale and Mader Park will be ready soon. Gibsons Elementary library which with various play areas was sacrificed to rising costs last year will be on this year's referendum.

Four attend area fire meeting

Two advertisements covering two issues of the Coast News, one run free as a service for the cause, advertised a public meeting in St. Bartholomew's Anglican Parish hall Friday night starting at 8 p.m. called by the Gibsons Area Fire Improvement committee to hear public opinion on the proposed fire improvement district.

It was the public's last call to register public protest or approval for the formation of a fire improvement district. How many turned out? Four (4) showed up, three members of the committee executive and the editor of this publication. The only information the committee can gather from this lack of interest in the meeting is that the public concerned has no complaints to offer. Next move will be up to Victoria. If there are no complaints against it, it looks as though the fire improvement district will become a fact through government order-in-council.

Big safety drive planned for area

A Sunshine Coast Safe Driving and Safety Week is being planned with the R.C.M.P., schools, municipal councils and other organizations taking part, starting Dec. 1.

At the schools from Port Mellon to Earl's Cove there will be talks and moving pictures. There will also be a poster contest with all the posters being utilized throughout the area where they can be used. A big sign will be erected at Langdale and Earl's Cove ferry terminals informing motorists of the safety week.

All RCMP will make a combined effort to check as many cars as they can within the period of the week. This will entail extra RCMP help. If it can be arranged old wrecks of cars will be placed at advantageous points as a general warning to all. Ferry traffic will be urged to travel during the day with lights on so local traffic will give them right-of-way.

The hazards of the holiday season are closing in, particularly in road traffic. The Canadian Highway Safety council joins with police forces across Canada in their annual December-long campaign to fight those perils.

W. Arch Bryce, the council's executive director, has asked everyone, "Above all, support your police traffic officer. He is your ally, your protector, not your enemy. Give him a chance and he will smooth the way for you. All you have to do is obey traffic regulations. Is that too much to ask?"

The police "Holiday Hazards" drive begins with Safe-Driving Week starting Dec. 1 but the national campaign continues on to the Christmas-New Year's period.

Council vetoes two requests

Two religious organizations were turned down by Gibsons council at Tuesday night's meeting when they requested permission to hold services on municipal property.

Jehovah Witnesses seeking to rent the old municipal hall for its use was refused because council preferred other uses for it. Glad Tidings Tabernacle asked for the privilege of holding hour long Sunday services on the old church property, now Gibson Memorial Park. This was also refused, first because the park is now being seeded to grass and will not be completed until next summer and secondly because of previous complaints involving loud speakers at federal wharf Sunday services last summer.

A letter from Gibsons and Area Ratepayers association asked that council consider water meters for every house with a minimum water rate of $8.50 a year plus $2 annual meter fee. Council replied through Councillor Sam Fladager, water commissioner, who said that the test to the end of the year on meters now installed was not completed, therefore no basis can exist to test the variation between metered and non-metered water usage. Mr. Fladager said he did not feel the village could stand the cost of meters for every house. The water system was not paying its way and meters were a great expense. Mrs. J. Macey, ratepayer secretary, present at the meeting said she was satisfied with the reply from council as far as water was concerned.

School board supports regional college plan

Three readings of Bylaw No. 1 for Sechelt School District were made at Monday night's meeting of the board in Gibsons. This bylaw signifies that Sechelt district board is in favor of the establishment of the regional college on the North Shore of Burrard Inlet.

It also means the board after a period of public education on what the regional college is about will petition government officials for the holding of a plebiscite to see whether taxpayers are in favor of or opposed to the school district taking part in this scheme. A simple majority is all that is needed to pass.

Four boards are interested in the college plan, North and West Vancouver, Squamish and Sechelt districts. Sechelt district asked to be included in the arrangement, on the grounds that it would be unable to do anything about a college for many years until population showed a heavy growth.

The board has set up a budget committee to mull over the needs of the various departments for the coming year. Mrs. P. Vollen, finance committee chairman will also be budget committee chairman.

Considerable work has been done in preparation for the referendum and numerous meetings have been called with organizations and others, one meeting to include municipal councils and the press was held at the school board office Wednesday night.

As announced earlier a two year salary agreement for teachers has been under consideration and the board's chairman announced Monday night that it had been accomplished. This new contract which would run to 1967 contains a scale increase of 5.81 percent. The increase for 1966 is 6.73 percent.

Basin to be dredged

Sechelt's breakwater appears to be moving along judging from information supplied Norman Watson, chairman of Sechelt's breakwater committee.

A letter from the superintendent general of Indian affairs to Jack Davis, M.P. Coast Capilano, reveals that the department has been informed by the public works department that they expect to proceed with construction of the boat harbor at Sechelt during the 1966-67 fiscal year.

The letter continues, explaining that the public works department has estimated the cost at $215,000, involving construction of a stone mound breakwater, together with the dredging of a basin in the lee of the breakwater. There is no provision for floats or landing facilities in the item.

District public works officials, the letter continues, are now scheduling sounding and boring surveys of the site. A firm location and alignment for the new works will be dependent on the outcome of these surveys.

GIFTS FOR EVERYONE

On Dec. 3 at the United Church Christian Education Centre you will be able to purchase your Christmas cake and shortbread, a gift for that hard to please person on your list, from the variety of novelties, knitted goods, plain and fancy sewing at the U.C.W. Christmas bazaar. There will also be a Christmas tree for the little folks and a hot cup of tea or coffee for the grownups.

By Mrs. M. WEST

An alert school board, aided by the generosity of North and West Vancouver School Boards has resulted in Sechelt District participation in the proposed North Shore Regional College. The four school boards, North and West Vancouver, Howe Sound and Sechelt unveiled their plans for a community college to their respective councils and the press on Tuesday last. Councillors Sam Fladager, Jim Drummond and village clerk, Mr. C. Gooding of Gibsons also Councillor Ben Lang from Sechelt were present.

Following the implementation of the MacDonald report the school trustees of North and West Vancouver began serious consideration of their problems and in December 1964 arranged for a professional survey of their districts to ascertain the need for a college or other institute of higher education. This survey was carried out by Tantalus Research Limited, headed by Dr. Walter Hardwick, UBC and Prof. Ronald J. Baker, SFU, both of whom served on the MacDonald committee. Prof. Baker was one of the speakers at the Teacher's Convention at Elphinstone last March.

In August when the survey was completed Howe Sound and Sechelt School Boards asked to hold watching briefs. The North and West Vancouver boards invited them to participate and a joint committee was established.

Mr. Leslie Brooks, director of adult education for North and West Vancouver, outlined the need for a two year college which will provide continuity and continued education for students not going to either university, technical or vocational schools, usually the majority of high school graduates. One of the serious criticisms (Continued on Page 4)

Trustees to be elected

Monday will be nomination day for school board members to fill four seats to be vacated at the end of the year. Members whose terms will have expired include Chairman Joseph Horvath of Roberts Creek, Mrs. Leslie Jackson of Wilson Creek, Mrs. Celia Fisher of Gibsons Rural and Mrs. Peggy Vollen of Gibsons village.

However, there will be a change in the procedure for election to the board. The former selection of representatives who, except for Sechelt and Gibsons seats were chosen from among the representatives, has been dropped.

In its annual report to taxpayers the school board explained that the minister of education has approved a change in the method of election of the trustees of this district. In future no more rural representatives will be elected and there will be no election of rural trustees by representatives. Instead, rural representatives will be elected at large in two zones.

Two trustees will represent a zone north and west of a line drawn from the south east corner of the village of Sechelt and thence in a northerly direction to Porpoise Bay (northeast corner of the village of Sechelt) and thence by a line drawn in a northerly direction through the centre of Porpoise Bay to Sechelt Inlet to a point where a line can be drawn in a northeasterly direction through the centre of Salmon Inlet to Clowhom Lakes, up the Clowhom River to the school district boundary.

Three trustees will represent the other zones, south and east of this line. Municipal trustee elections for the villages of Gibsons and Sechelt will not be affected.

Members of the board who will carry over into next year will include Leo Johnson of Sechelt, Clifford Thorold of West Sechelt and W. P. Malcolm of Francis Peninsula.

Two councils to nominate

Municipal nomination day falls on Monday in Gibsons and Sechelt. In Gibsons, chairman A. E. Ritchey and Councillors Fred Feeney and James Drummond will be up for re-election. In Sechelt Chairman Mrs. Chris Johnson has announced she will not run again. Councillors Bernel Gordon and William Swain have completed their terms.

In Gibsons it is reported Wes. Hodgson, former councillor who ran against Mr. Ritchey in the election of two years ago will run again opposing Mr. Ritchey. Gibsons Ratepayers association has allowed the names of Mrs. J. Macey, William Laing and Wally Peterson to stand following a meeting at which they were nominated.

In Sechelt Bernel Gordon plans to seek the chairmanship according to reports. Sam Dawe a former councillor intends to run for councillor.

Ratepayers ask questions

Selma Park Ratepayers' association want to know just what are the boundaries of a proposed expansion of the village of Sechelt. This came up before Sechelt's council at last week's meeting in the form of a letter of inquiry. The letter also wanted to know what effect this expansion would have on the fire district which has also been proposed but for the area east of Sechelt only, including Selma Park.

Council decided to inform the association by letter that the boundaries of a proposed expansion would be to the west of the village and not to the east. Council decided to send them a copy of the motion which was passed at a previous special meeting which stated that West Sechelt was the only area council was considering in a proposal for expansion.

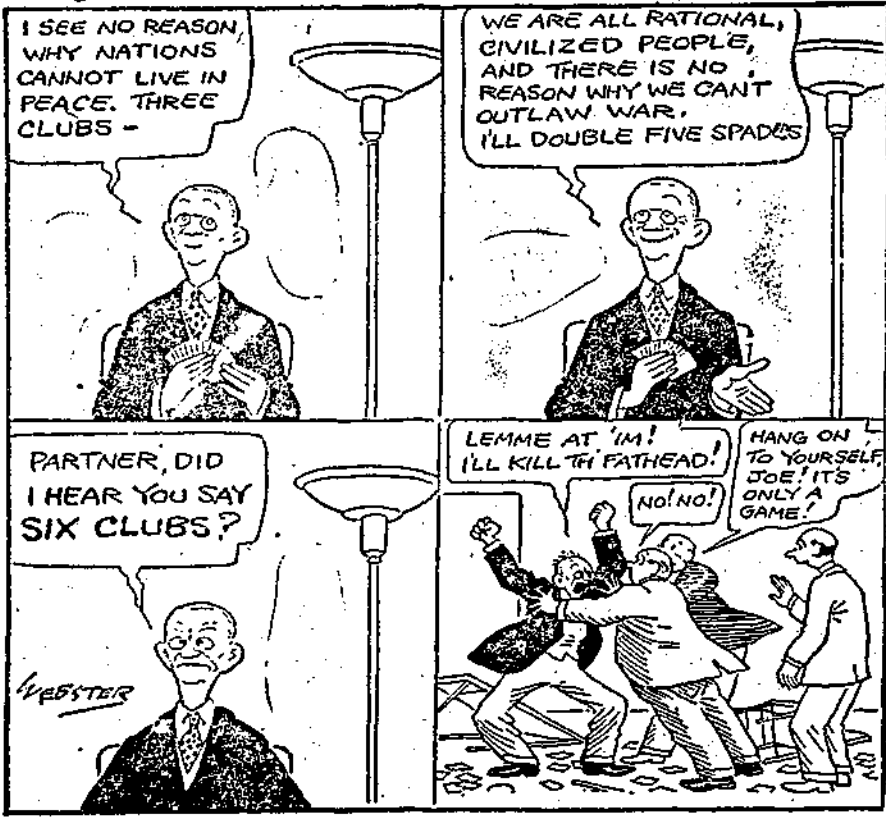

A letter from Sechelt's Royal

Canadian Legion concerning the placing of the annual Christmas tree on the Cenotaph site informed council it did not feel the tree should be placed there as it was regarded as hallowed ground. The suggestion that it be placed at the western end of the Sunshine Coast highway at the school was vetoed by Reginald M. McCallum, provincial engineer for the district as he regarded it as dangerous for motorists to be attracted by any lighted decoration at that corner. It might possibly be put up at the Ocean St. corner near the school.

Unity in the Community gets things done

Regional college proposal

In case anyone harbors the thought that a regional college is being pushed through willy-nilly to cover North and West Vancouver, Squamish and Sechelt school districts, they had better be cautious in the expression of their feelings because such is not the case.

It might seem that because the first real notification people of this school district have had was the report in this issue of a rather important meeting on the north shore, that there is an effort to push it through. Well there is an effort, but as regards the pushing, now is not the time for such action.

As matters now stand the boards concerned are giving study to the project. There is no determination at this moment that there will be a regional college. Each school board has to signify its intention to either support or reject the proposal.

A bylaw must be prepared by each school board which must have the approval of education officials in Victoria. Based on this approval the school boards can then hold a plebiscite and ten days notice in the press must be given. In the meantime the boards will be publicizing the issue as far as they can.

If the plebiscite succeeds the boards must then obtain Victoria's consent to proceed with the next step. After this there would be plenty more to do and each time something is achieved it has to receive Victoria's approval. So, to add the final remarks on a sheet of paper containing information on procedures for establishing a regional college one reads that experience in the state of Washington indicates that these procedures take about two years from start to operation. Therefore, patience! A regional college is not just around the corner.

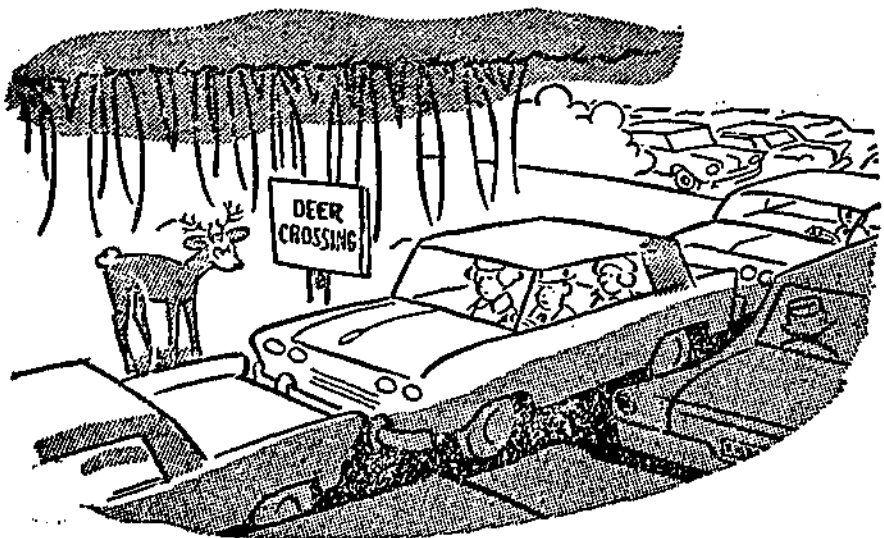

Man needs some rest!

By and large most men are proud of the confidence their wives have in them. It's taken for granted by many women that just because a man's a man he can do anything with hammer, pliers, screw driver, Stillson wrench, blow torch and a plumber's snake. The fact that time after time a man eventually has to call in a plumber, carpenter or electrician seems to have no material bearing on the general situation.

Fixing a faucet, unplugging the sink drain, or resetting a handle in the cupboard door are not too bad. But when a wife gets the obsession that a man can lay the new linoleum on the kitchen floor, it's time men get organized and asked for union privileges.

There's something about a roll of stiff, stubborn, unamenable, contrary and cantankerous linoleum that puts it in a class by itself. It won't roll out the way it's supposed to. No matter how carefully one measures, it never fits exactly; it either shrinks or expands without reason.

By and large, men are grateful for the confidence of their wives, but after all, a man can't get the rest and recreation he needs if there's too much to do around the house — especially if the job is laying linoleum.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

(By JACK DAVIS Coast-Capilano M.P.)

The recent federal election settled one thing. It was that Mr. Pearson and his followers will continue in power for some time to come. With 131 seats, the Liberals are still in a minority position. But the electorate is in no mood for another election. So it is doubtful whether any of the opposition parties will risk bringing the government down.

Personally, I think the 27th Parliament will last for at least three years. In other words, it may be 1969 or 1970 before Canadians go to the polls again. Meanwhile the Liberal government will bring forward its own legislation. It will carry on with its program confident in the knowledge that it will not be upset by a badly shattered opposition, many of whose members are loathe to face the electorate again.

Delays are bound to occur in the house of commons. Debates will be tedious. Sessions will therefore be longer than usual. But priorities dealing with the nation's business will continue to be set by Mr. Pearson's Liberal administration.

Much has been made of the fact that the NDP has gained several seats in Ontario. Though still small with only 21 members it is now the third largest party in the house of commons. It could be said to have the balance of power. But so, to a lesser extent, do the Creditistes, Social Credit and Independent members. They would also have to vote against the Liberals if the government is to fall.

That they are unlikely to do so is apparent from their behavior in the 26th parliament. Each of the smaller groups detest the NDP. Also their members are afraid of losing their seats. They will refuse to join forces with Mr. Douglas and require that legislation be altered to suit his demands.

The Social Credit party took a bad beating. From 30 members in 1962, it fell to 24 in 1963. Now it is down to 14. It is also divided between east and west. Mr. Caouette speaks for Quebec and Mr. Thompson, presumably for Alberta and B.C. Also the latter will be voting with the government to keep it in power.

Mr. Diefenbaker has 97 seats. Therefore he forms the official opposition. He, more than anyone else, will therefore determine the rate at which legislation is passed by the house of commons. So far there is little indication that he is in a co-operative mood.

Mr. Diefenbaker has already given notice that he will call for a vote of confidence as soon as parliament convenes right after the New Year. This, however, is an empty threat. There will be eight days of tiresome debate. However, I for one, have

THE COAST NEWS

19 YEARS AGO

The Hill Machine shop, owned and operated by George Hill, son of Mr. Andrew Hill who retired last summer will soon be in operation in Gibsons.

Following a director's meeting of Pender Harbor Hospital society a drive was started for the building of staff quarters for St. Mary's Hospital.

Selma Park women working for the B.C. Cancer clinic have dispatched their first consignment of several hundred dressings and bandages for the clinic.

Elsie Korhone, reporting Howe Sound United School news wrote that on Nov. 5 open house was held at the school for visiting parents. Classes went on as usual.

Otta Giersh is making good progress on Granthams wharf and with another load of timber will have the job completed in ten days.

not the slightest doubt what the outcome will be. Mr. Pearson's government will be sustained. It will be sustained either by one of the minority parties voting with the government or it will be kept in power as a result of some opposition members staying out of the house of commons. This was the pattern of the 26th parliament by some of the opposition members refusing to vote. It is bound to be repeated. In other words, votes of confidence should not be taken too seriously. And, unless Mr. Diefenbaker can show an unexpected ability to mobilize all of the forces of the opposition parties, the Liberals are likely to remain in power for a long time to come.

The recent election did one thing. It cut the number of official parties in the federal house of commons from five to three. The Creditistes and the Socreds are not officially recognizable any more. They are two small groups of members who will not necessarily catch the eye of the Speaker any more.

The magic number is 12. A group with 12 members or more rates as a party. Its leader has the right to speak on every piece of business which the government bring before the house. Mr. Caouette always took this opportunity in the last Parliament. Mr. Thompson also had his say. As a result we spent extra hours each day listening to those who had nothing original and little to add to what had already been said by the representatives of the Liberals, the Conservatives and the NDP.

Without an official party you cannot have an official leader. So Mr. Caouette with nine Creditiste M.P.s in the house will no longer draw a leader's pay or have the staff which goes with that office. Mr. Thompson will also lose $4,000 a year as the Socreds are down to five. He, like Mr. Caouette, will be an ordinary member of parliament from now on. He will be treated like one, no better and no worse. But his party has ceased to exist from a parliamentary point of view.

What else did the election accomplish? It can give us a new and more decisive Speaker. (Alan McNaughton was a disappointment in this regard and he did not run for office again.)

Our next Speaker can apply our new system of rules in such a way as to cut down unnecessary debate in the house of commons. One of his first acts, when parliament reconvenes on January 18th, however, must be to ignore Mr. Caouette and Mr. Thompson's call for special treatment; special treatment as party leaders in the new house. When he does this he will be taking parliament a long step back along the road towards a responsible two party system of government.

* * *

The Liberals gained two seats as a result of the election. The Conservatives gained two and the NDP four. The count is now 131 Liberals, 97 Conservatives and 21 New Democrats. Now we have three official parties with the Liberals well out in front and the NDP lagging behind. The eclipse of Mr. Caouette and Mr. Thompson at least gives the government, and parliament more room to manoeuvre in the months that lie ahead.

Trees, climate

In areas which have a low annual rainfall the forests develop open stands. We can compare for example, the open parklike forests of yellow pine, which are characteristic of the dry belt of the interior of British Columbia, with the dense, almost jungle-like spruce-hemlock forests of the northern coastal region where the annual precipitation often exceeds 200 inches. The effect of atmospheric temperatures on tree growth can readily be observed in regions of minimum precipitation. In such regions the forests are generally much denser on the northern slopes of the mountains.

ALWAYS LOOK TO IMPERIAL FOR THE BEST

Junior finds men can cook too

Father's pride in the steaks he cooks over the backyard barbecue fire is infectious. Junior soon wants to graduate from being a helper to cooking his own steak.

On a vacation trip as a treat the family may eat in a restaurant with a chef, perhaps trained in a European country, who is an expert. Father, as well as mother, may be intrigued by an especially tasty foreign dish and ask for the recipe. Junior may then learn to his surprise that cooking is a man's job in many world-renowned eating places. Irma S. Rombauner, who wrote the "Joy of Cooking" pointed out: "The most famous cooks of all times have been men. It is a mistake to think of cooking merely as 'woman's work'."

Cooking outdoors on camping trips has given a great impetus to boys as well as girls wishing to prepare their own food. Many Boy Scouts get practical experience in outdoor fire-making and cooking. When fishing is a favorite hobby, it is natural for a boy not only to know how to clean and scale his fish but also how to fry, fillet or bake it.

The secret of encouraging a boy (little or big) is to let him be "on his own" as far as possible. Start with something he wants to bake himself, and let him get along with the minimum of directions. Most boys prefer to have the kitchen to themselves and learn from their own failures as well as their successes.

Small boys as well as little girls may plead, "Let me bake!" or "Let me cook!" Many mothers busy with their mixing bowl have heard this urgent appeal. To a small child, a kitchen is a fascinating spot with its tantalizing odors, the sunshine streaming in the windows, and delicious-looking food appearing as if by magic.

Often a busy mother is tempted to reply, "Run along and play, dear." But if a child's request is ignored, he may never discover what fun he can have cooking.

Do let him wash his hands, don an apron, and if he can read, look up the recipe in the Cook Book. Then he can help assemble the necessary utensils and ingredients.

If the flour and baking powder and other materials which are used frequently are kept on a low shelf, even a small child can help, mother get these on the kitchen table. There are a number of simple things like greasing a pan, or beating an egg which little, willing fingers can complete.

A child who is old enough to read is old enough to start cooking on his own. If he is allowed gradually to take more responsibility for making a simple dish or following an easy recipe, he will get real pride in this achievement.

Let him have his own Cook Book and copy out the recipes he has tried. A loose leaf book or a card index file box are both a good idea for a child's recipe collection. If he wants, let him illustrate his recipes, and color the drawings.

Look in the public library for the books on cooking and the sections on outdoor meals in such books as The Fannie Farmer Junior Cook Book by Wilma Lord Perkins, Young America's Cook Book compiled by N.Y. Herald Tribune. Your son would appreciate a gift copy of The Boy's Cook Book by Helen Evans Brown and Philip S. Brown.

A boy or girl's interest in cooking can often be encouraged if he or she is allowed to plan, prepare and serve a meal when a chum is a guest. A boy may be a bit shy about the meat patties being his own concoction, or the "Pigs in Blankets" he has baked, but he can take real pride in his culinary products too.

Major resort planned

Hydro electric power has become available to the Alta Lake year-round playground area adjacent to northern Garibaldi Park opening the way for a major resort development within two hours' drive of Vancouver.

With the completion of an improved, all weather road from Squamish, 40 miles south of here, private developers have committed more than $2 million to new construction of accommodation and tourist services. Several additional projects are planned for the near future.

The Alta Lake-Garibaldi region has long been known as a summer vacation area, and the lakeshore is dotted with guest lodges, some dating back 50 years. With a new accent on winter sports, many local operators are planning to winterize their cabins and lodges and stay open throughout the year.

The major investment in the area is the combination gondola and chair-lift system being built by Garibaldi Lifts Ltd., at a cost of approximately $1 million. Scheduled to go into operation in mid-December, skiers will be transported from the base of the lift at Alta Lake, elevation 2,000 feet, to the 6,000-foot level on Whistler Mountain, where almost year-round skiing is available.

Also under construction is the Alpine Village development, a 34-unit, self-owned apartment project, which offers all-electric convenience in the centre of the resort area. Designed by architect Ian Davidson and built at a cost of $300,000, the villas may be purchased outright by individuals for about $10,000 per unit. An additional 30 units are planned for construction in 1966.

Accommodation for transient winter sportsmen will be available as well. Now under construction is Cheakamus Inn, a 14-room guest lodge incorporating a large restaurant. It will cost more than $300,000, and is scheduled to open this winter. The Inn is designed for expansion to nearly double its present size.

Adjoining Cheakamus Inn is Highland Lodge, a $140,000 motel which will offer house-keeping units for skiing families.

KNOW YOUR Canada

What do Cheddar, Emite and Oka have in common?

They are all delicious cheeses made in Canada. Canadian Cheddar is one of the finest cheeses in the world. Excellent varieties are made in the country-side of both eastern and western Ontario. They have a firm, flaky texture with a clean, sharp taste.

Emite cheese, made by the Benedictine Fathers in Quebec, resembles both Roquefort and Gorgonzola, but has an enchantment all its own.

Oka, which is similar to the French Port-Salut, is firm yet creamy and is made only by the Trappist monks at the small community of Oka on the Ottawa River. There are other cheeses native to Canada — such as St. Basile, Mme Clermont Camembert and Ile d'Orleans — that are worthy of attention.

Who was one of the world's first nature photographers? ..

George T. Taylor, a native of Fredericton, N.B., who made his first daguerreotype in 1856. From then until about 1906 he concentrated on photography, specializing in out-of-doors scenes. All his photographs were taken with cameras and dark boxes that he had constructed himself. He even mixed his own developing solutions.

Taylor was born in 1838 and early showed an interest in art. After taking up photography as a result of reading about the subject, he was encouraged by A. H. Gordon, later Lord Stanmore, the last colonial governor of New Brunswick, to undertake a field trip to the remote headwaters of the Tobique River, where he took a number of photographs.

His earlier work was made on glass plates by means of the collodion process of the period, but he was quick to adopt dry plates when George Eastman began their manufacture in 1880.

Who belongs to the Ontario Teachers' Federation?

Every Ontario teacher under contract to a provincially-controlled public or separate school, elementary or secondary, is automatically a member of the Ontario Teachers' Federation. The organization was established in 1944 when, at the request of the teachers of the province, the Ontario legislature passed the Teaching Profession Act, uniting into a federation the five existing teachers' groups.

These existing voluntary federations retained their individual autonomy within the new federation. Each teacher, therefore, has membership in the Ontario Teachers' Federation and also in one of the affiliated bodies, according to the type of school in which he or she teaches.

Who founded the Edmonton Bulletin?

Frank Oliver, a native of Peel County, Ontario, in 1880 founded Alberta's first newspaper, the Edmonton Bulletin, which he controlled for the next 43 years. Born in 1853, he was the son of Allan Bowfield, but he adopted his mother's maiden name of Oliver. He worked as a printer on the Toronto Globe, where he came under the political influence of George Brown, and on the Winnipeg Free Press before moving to Edmonton in 1876.

Entering politics, he sat as an Independent Liberal and then as a Liberal in the house of commons from 1896 until 1917, serving as a cabinet minister in Laurier's government from 1905 until the government's defeat in 1911.

He did much to encourage immigration to the west and he was one of the few prominent prairie Liberals to support Laurier in the 1917 election. From 1923 until 1928 Oliver was a member of the Board of Railway Commissioners. He died in Ottawa in 1933.

MOVIE NEWS

James Bond is back. The second of the famous 007 James Bond High adventure movies From Russia With Love will be at the Twilight theatre Thurs., Fri. and Sat., Nov. 25, 26, 27 this week, also for Saturday's matinee. But why are we telling you! You have been telling us about this one ever since Dr. No. earlier this month.

When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone it is not likely he ever thought it would become a movie star. Yet it has. Both the title of the picture and the plot of If A Man Answers which will be shown Monday to Wednesday, make the telephone a star.

Without it, Sandra Dee playing the unhappy bride could not set in motion a scheme to befuddle Bobby Darin, her play-boy husband.

Scouts receive badges

Gibsons A pack reports that at their last meeting two gardeners' badges were presented and two house orderly badges. The cubs also enjoyed a relay, the object of which was to run to line, eat a piece of toffee, and then run back to his six and tag the next person who in turn ran to the line. In all this excitement some of the cubs ate their toffee paper and all.

On Nov. 6, Jim and Randy Naylor of the 1st Roberts Creek Troop completed their first class hike. Their journey took them up over the B & K Logging road and down Jackson's logging road to the airport. While they were on their journey the rest of the boys were camped at the airport. Mr. S. Butler started the boys on one of their badges. The boys' greatest satisfaction came in cooking a complete meal in tin foil. The use of the walkie-talkies on loan to them proved to be very valuable in their training.

At their troop meeting on November 16, Mark Dober, Ricky Wiome and Steven Lee were invested.

On Friday, Nov. 12 the 1st Port Mellon troop visited their favorite wilderness camp at Sakinaw Lake, returning on Sunday evening to their home base. While the weatherman did not give kindly of his shining skies, he failed to dampen the spirits of the campers. Patrol leaders quickly got the camp organized and in addition to the work of further development of Scouting fellowship, skills and crafts, 29 tests were passed by various Scouts.

Once again we are indebted to Mr. Al Lloyd of Garden Bay for his splendid co-operation in helping another successful camp to achieve the aims and objectives of the Scout program.

College

of the new secondary school curriculum he said is the dead end with nowhere to go to continue education for students wishing to enrol in service or arts courses. These students would be eligible for a regional college and graduates of the college would be able to go on to university.

Both Dr. Hardwick and Prof Baker admitted to being sceptical at first but now they are fully convinced of the need for a North Shore college and Prof Baker added that his experience at Simon Fraser has served to reinforce that conviction. Provision must be made for the increasing numbers of students wanting to continue their education beyond Grade 12 and also the number of adults wishing to update their qualifications.

The following figures reveal the present situation. A 250% increase in the number of Grade 12 students at Elphinstone over the past ten years. West Vancouver accepted six non-resident Grade 13 students last year, only two this year. A 1965 Elphinstone graduate had to go as far afield as Coquitlam before finding a vacancy in a Grade 13 class. Simon Fraser turned away 1500 applicants.

Mr. Peter Wilson secretary-treasurer Sechelt School Board speaking on the financing of the project said that at this stage it was of necessity vague, but that after negotiation with provincial and federal governments an educated guess would put the taxpayers share at between a third and 1 mill.

The proposal as outlined by the school boards was well received by the councils, members from North and West Vancouver and Squamish congratulated the school boards on the thorough and businesslike way in which they had presented their case and promised their support.

School District 46 has not been committed to anything. Before further steps are taken approval from Victoria must be sought and plebiscites taken in each area.

Recommendations in the study reveal a regional college will be desirable on the North Shore by September, 1968.

The college should offer a comprehensive program including program (only partially furnished at present in the Grade 13 program) new program packages unique to the regional college; an expanded academic and functions attractive to large segments of the North Shore population so that the college may assume the role of a focal point for the educational and cultural affairs of the community.

The college should be centrally located within the region on a site clearly and visually identifiable by North Shore residents.

The participating school boards should initiate a program of public education to inform the community of the need for, and the concept of, the regional college.

The school boards should then petition the Council of Public Instruction for permission to hold a plebiscite to determine whether the voters of the North Shore favor a regional college.

Generosity big asset

Thanks to the generosity of many hospital-minded groups and individuals medical services in the hospital are improving steadily. Later a complete list of equipment provided by these organizations and individuals will be published. It is a formidable list and shows how keen people have become about the hospital.

In the field of physical therapy, three items are proving of great value to patients. The Bird respirator for chest conditions is in constant use. Deep heat treatment is now available with a modern diathermy unit. An infra red lamp is also in constant use. These units are available in all modern hospitals, but they are fairly recent additions to St. Mary's. Two important points should be stressed, be prepared when admitted to the hospital to pay a deposit of $10 to cover your co-insurance.

Patients booked to enter hospital must report to the hospital before 2 p.m. of the stated date. Otherwise their admission will be cancelled. The reason for this is that it facilitates the rather involved admission process as there is considerable clerical work and expense in admitting the patient. There are routine procedures and treatments that must be performed and it is unfair to the hospital staff to be required to work overtime because of late admissions. Also, by being admitted early, the patient has a better chance to become relaxed.

A warm welcome is extended to Dr. Walter Burtneck upon his return after a year's absence overseas in post graduate studies.

The hospital board is delighted with the appointment of Mr. Harvey Hubbs as the provincial government representative on the board for a period of two years.

DAMAGES BOOTH

For apparently no reason at all RCMP can discover, Russell Butler, 21, who gives Roberts Creek as his home address decided to move a telephone booth from its site at Davis Bay. With the aid of a chain and his car he began hauling it away.

Police caught up with him and the result is he was fined $100 and costs on a wilful damage charge and ordered to pay B.C. Telephones $44 to repair phone booth damages. Magistrate Charles Middlesteadt heard the charge in Sechelt court.

Lang reports on college

Following Councillor Ben Lang's report on a regional college proposal to Sechelt council at last Wednesday night's meeting Chairman Mrs. Christine Johnston recommended council should study the information he had obtained as a result of his attending a meeting on the previous Tuesday night in West Vancouver.

Councillor Lang wondered why with the area of North and West Vancouver being declared the most affluent area in British Columbia, why they were seeking the help of such as the Sechelt District School board. He said he was of the opinion that the Sechelt board was in favor of the proposal judging from what was said.

According to what Mr. Lang learned it would require an increase of from one third to one mill of added taxation for the regional type of college under consideration.

He was of the opinion this area would be better off if it had its own grade 13 classes. However he thought it was a well laid out plan which would pull in many people who have missed out in higher education all the way from teenage to older people. It would fill in a gap between high school and university education.

EARLY READING

Children who are taught to read early in childhood, even while they are preschoolers, will be more advanced than the youngsters who have to start at the beginning. Easy-to-read but interesting little stories will awaken a desire in the child to do his own reading.

The exciting world of Ice Capades, at the Forum, Exhibition Park from Dec. 2 to 12 features seven production numbers visiting Paris, Japan, Spain and New York. Tops in the comedy field are Freddie Trenkler, the bouncing ball of the ice; Sepp Schoenmetzler, who also solos in the style that won him the title of German champion twice; Terry Head as the maddest Russian ever and duo Herman Rider and Hans Mueller.

in August of that year.

Contributions from general tax revenues to the unemployment insurance fund are estimated at $62.5 million in the current year.

Campbell River area working on regional college proposal

With the regional college idea having advanced further in other areas the Coast News is keeping an eye on what develops and presents here a story from the Campbell River weekly newspaper on what is going on in that area:

School trustee Bruce Saunders chairman of a special five-man local advisory committee on regional colleges, said that civic groups and the Chamber of Commerce should support the idea of a regional college on Vancouver Island prior to any decision being made as to the exact location of the college and its branch campus.

Saunders was chosen by the district school board to head the local advisory committee which along with nine other Vancouver Island school districts, is promoting the establishment of the two-year college in a location somewhere north of the Malahat.

Saunders said that a plebiscite will likely be held sometime next spring to seek ratepayer determination on the proposal. A recent report issued by Dr. Leonard Marsh of UBC has stated that an immediate need exists for the college and that the main campus should be located in the densely-populated area near Nanaimo or Duncan.

The report further recommends that a branch campus be located to the north of the main college. Dr. Marsh said that an immediate start should be made on the project. He is expected to make site recommendations in second report due to be brought down sometime in January.

The job of the local five-man advisory committee will be to present the pros and cons of the colleges to the school board and to act in an advisory capacity on such aspects as curriculum and sharing of costs with other school districts.

Choosing of a site for the main college and the branch campus will be left in the hands of the central committee working out of Nanaimo, Saunders says.

Saunders points out that the committee will act in an advisory capacity only and that all local decisions must in the end come out of the school board.

While he would not release names of other committee members, Saunders did say that he had lined up three definite members and was now contacting two others. He said the committee would represent a cross-section of the district population.

Woodworker wage minimum is raised

Hon. L. R. Peterson, Q.C., minister of labor, announces a new minimum wage order, governing the logging, sawmill, woodworking and Christmas-tree industries, has been issued by the Board of Industrial Relations. The order establishes a minimum wage of $1.50 per hour for male and female employees.

Mr. Peterson stated that the order was issued following public hearings at which representatives of labor and management were given an opportunity to make their views known to the board.

The order does not apply to employees covered by another order of the board specifically defining their duties, those who come within the scope of section 4 of the Hours of Work Act, or caretakers where operations are suspended.

Under the order employees are entitled to time and one-half their regular rate of pay for hours worked in excess of 8 in the day and 40 in the week. The overtime provision does not apply to emergency fire fighters and fire wardens, employees engaged exclusively in the transportation of men and supplies, employees employed on tug-boats, or others covered by certain variances allowed in the Hours of Work act.

The order states that employees reporting for work on the call of the employer shall be paid for the entire period spent at the place of work in response to the call, with a minimum of two hours' pay at the employee's regular rate except where the employee's condition is such that he is not competent to perform his duties, or he has failed to comply with the Accident Prevention Regulations of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and four hour's pay where he commences work except where his work is suspended because of inclement weather or other causes completely beyond the control of the employer.

The new order is effective on December 20th, 1965, and replaces three orders of the board presently in effect. The rates in these orders were $1.00 per hour in the logging, sawmill, and woodworking industries, and 50c per hour in the Christmas-tree industry.

SCOUT APPOINTMENT

Dr. S. L. Williams, president, and Lt. Col. G. W. Smart, regional commissioner, Vancouver-Coast region, Boy Scouts of Canada, announces the appointment of Barry Lloyd Shaw as regional field executive. Mr. Shaw's duties will entail working with the East Howe Sound, West Vancouver, Capilano and Seymour districts, besides the Regional Health and Safety and Sea Scouting committees.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor: I am wondering how many voters in Gibsons and district were cut off the voters list because they may have been out when the enumerator called. It is rather annoying when you have lived in B.C. for more than 60 years to find your name taken off through the slackness of an enumerator.

— A. Kurtzhals.

Editor: Premier Bennett says, "There is nothing left for Mr. Pearson to do but resign, as he has been repudiated by the voters" (his party got 39%).

At the last Provincial Election, I didn't see Mr. Bennett resign after an even smaller percentage 38%. — John L. Gordon, Gibsons, B.C.

In reply to the letter signed by John Gordon and which appeared in the Coast News dated Nov. 11, it is interesting to note that if Mr. Gordon had only raised these points at the meeting of the Ratepayers' Association, instead of rushing to the press, we should have been glad to deal with them. In my opinion this procedure on his part was not only irregular, but uncalled for and unnecessary. It must be understood that if the Ratepayer Association had had to depend on Mr. Gordon, there would have been no such organization today, and those who have been responsible for the action in re-forming this organization and who have given their time and energy as well as serving this association need all the help and encouragement they can get.

Since this letter has been published in the Coast News, I have been informed by telephone by several of our members that Mr. Gordon's letter is totally unwarranted, and one member stated that in his opinion the last meeting was a wonderful meeting, and he was one of the earlier members of this organization. I do not think the chairman, Mr. Harris, did otherwise than what was strictly fair and impartial, and I and others, found nothing discourteous about him in the way in which he handled the meeting. I have heard nothing but praise from those who spoke to me personally, and they express amazement that Mr. Gordon should write such a letter and they would like to know his motive, and so would I.

Mr. Gordon, in his letter, states, I quote, "Just what the future of this organization will be is not difficult to define." I agree with him in this statement if he is allowed to get away with these subversive tactics. I ask the question, just what part this man has taken in running and organizing this Ratepayers Association. Answer — nothing. He was a member of the Ratepayers Association years ago, and we would like to know, what did he achieve? His reference to three or four members who have an axe to grind, and keep on grinding that axe no matter what subject is under discussion. I would like him to name names and explain in each case what they have to grind. The next meeting will give him an opportunity to explain and show his prowess. We have our opinions on this man's attitude, and suspect he must have an axe to grind for some person or persons. If not, why does he rush into print at this psychological moment before the election. We wonder.

What we need in our organization are people who are willing to work harmoniously together for the benefit of the ratepayers interests and the only way to accomplish this is for all ratepayers to become members of our association, in order to strengthen our hands and authority, and we would appreciate and welcome their attendance at our meetings, so that they can decide for themselves who is working for their best interests. — C. H. Halstead.

Editor: May I congratulate your community-minded newspaper for the fair and responsible coverage it gave to the recent federal election campaign.

I hope I may borrow some space in your columns to say thanks to those in the Gibsons area who voted for me and who helped boost the New Democratic Party to a record vote in Coast-Capilano.

Congratulations must also go to those who voted for other candidates — because they showed a responsible interest in their community, their constituency and their country by participating actively within the framework of democracy.

And I also tender my appreciation to those election officials who worked so diligently on election day to keep the machinery running smoothly, to those who labored mightily upon my behalf in our campaign, to those other defeated candidates who put up a brave battle.

Finally, I give my regards to the winner, Jack Davis, and I wish him luck — until the next campaign, anyway. — William H. Deverell.

Legion now 40 years old.

Before WWII its membership was about 50,000. Today that membership in 2,000 Legion branches exceeds 275,000. In the past four years, membership has grown by 25,000.

Minute message

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Rev. 3:20.

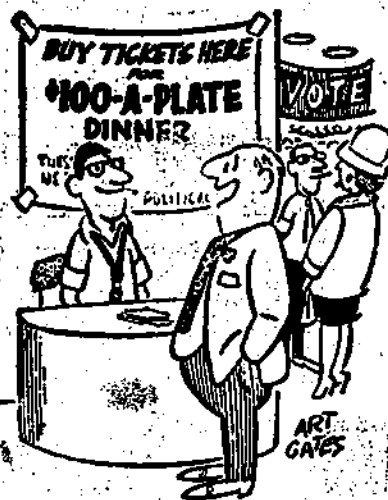

We associate these words with Holman Hunt's painting The Light of the World. The artist has pictured Jesus standing outside a closed door, with a lighted lantern in his left hand and with his right hand poised as if knocking on the door. The picture has been interpreted in this way. "The house is the dwelling-place of my soul. I am inside, sitting in darkness. There are no windows in my house, and the only door has long been unused. Ivy wanders across the jamb; the stalks of a dead past rustle on the doorstep; rust has bitten into the hinges. In fact, I have never opened the door, being content to sit in blindness and ignorance and spiritual poverty. I do not care to be disturbed. The bat that shuns the light is my symbol."

The occupant of the house has arranged everything to his satisfaction and considered that his life is quite complete, that he has everything that he needs. But gradually he realizes that there is something wrong. The things with which he has filled his life no longer satisfy him. He is beginning to realize that he has made a failure of his life. Though to the world he may be a success, having proven his initiative and ability, yet to himself he is a miserable failure. Outwardly rich, he is bankrupt within.

He hears someone knocking at the door, and a voice speaking softly to him, saying, "I am one who seeks to enter your soul that I might give you a full and satisfying life." But he answers, "I have no need of you. I can rule my own life."

Finally, however, he has to admit his failure, his utter impotence and desperate need of help. Still hearing the knocking at the door and the kind voice of Jesus, he now listens eagerly and believes that in Jesus is his hope. Trustfully he opens the door and welcomes the divinely-appointed King, who comes in with the light of life, and gives him spiritual enrichment and power, abiding love, peace, joy and satisfaction. — Rev. W. M. Cameron, Gibsons United Church.

"Be sure and tell them there's no charge for a second cup of coffee!"

Fred and Dot Mackenzie, Dogwood Cafe proprietors are rather proud of their 6 x 26 ft. map on the side wall of the cafe. This map, taken from the Port Mellon to Jervis Inlet map published by the Coast News was painted by Harrison Smith of New Westminster who has done a considerable amount of painting in this area.

There is also a picture of a dogwood flower on the windows of the cafe. The painter also obtained from the Coast News office a picture of a dogwood flower which was used as the model for the window display. No one in passing would now have any doubts about the whereabouts of the Dogwood Cafe.

Teacher scholarships

The seventh annual program of teachers' scholarships was announced by L. R. Peterson, minister of education. Totalling $5,000, this will enable two to three outstanding teachers to take advanced training during the academic year, 1966-67.

These teachers' scholarships are intended as a means of rewarding sincere, capable and devoted teachers, who have over the years made a real contribution to education in the classroom.

Over the past six years teachers' scholarships have enabled seventeen teachers to undertake a year of post-graduate study in other parts of Canada, in the United States and Europe. Last year's four winners went to the University of British Columbia, the University of Washington, the University of Illinois and the University of Texas.

Copies of scholarship regulations and application forms may be obtained by writing to the Co-ordinator of Teacher Recruitment, Department of Education, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

Spotlight on Defence

B.C. Tel communication systems help guard our continent against surprise attacks

To detect the approach of and defend against missiles, rockets or planes entering the territorial atmosphere of North America is the role of NORAD—North American Air Defence Command—with its Combat Operations Centre at Colorado Springs.

Jointly controlled by the United States and Canada for defence against surprise nuclear attack, this complex nerve centre demonstrates vividly how B.C. Tel and a continent-wide network of telecommunications systems is meeting the challenge of today's "Cold War" conditions.

B.C. Tel's variety of the very latest developments in the communications systems are playing a key role in perhaps the most important of all public services—defence of North America against destruction. These electronic marvels provide the connecting links for data transmission devices between radar sites and strategically located computer centres.

Such dramatic advances for military purposes are even now expanding our everyday communications. Long distance calling, radio-telephone coverage, TWX and other special data services are but a few.

Picked up in passing

A story in a London, England newspaper should be of interest here and could be adopted by Old Age Pensioner organizations in this area. It explains that the Belgian Red Cross has developed an SOS for old people. The sign, a red triangle can be shown in a window or hung outside by a rope. The public is asked to call the police when such a sign appears. Similar signs have been used by drivers for about two years by drivers needing a priest after serious road accidents.

Another item which came to light was a plastic paint that cuts out wires, through which current will flow. It has been developed by American engineers. It comes in liquid form and can be dabbed in places hard to get at. When it dries it completes a circuit.

Scientists are tracking five black bears through the woods north and south of Elma, Washington, hoping to learn more about the living habits of the animals that damage millions of dollars worth of Pacific Northwest timber each year.

The bears were trapped, put under sedation and fitted with a radio transmitter attached to a collar. They were then released and since then have been tracked with portable and mobile radio receivers.

Scientists hope to learn more about why bear damage is great in one area and almost non-existent in other areas. Extensive damage occurs in the forests north of the Chehalis River, for example, but there is almost none south of the river, although the forests and bear populations seem to be about the same.

By studying the feeding habits of bear, scientists also hope to find out why the animals feed on the sapwood of trees. If they can find what nutrients bears seek in sapwood, they may be able to breed a tree low in these nutrients or find a substitute food source.

The Miss Canada rose, a magnificent Canadian hybrid tea rose, has been endorsed as the rose to mark the 1967 Confederation Centenary by Canadian Nursery Trades Association and the Canadian Rose Society.

Miss Canada rose is described as an extraordinary beauty. Rose madder in color with a silvery underside, the blooms have a delicate fragrance. The buds are large and open slowly into 4 to 5-inch blooms.

It is a lusty grower, producing strong thick stems which have more than the usual amount of thorns. The foliage is thick and leathery. The rose is disease-resistant and a hardy bloomer.

Garden experts say Miss Canada roses do well in light clay loam soil but will do just as well on sandy loam soil if they are fed and peat moss is added. They should be "hilled up" for winter protection.

In feudal times all forests belonged to the lord of the manor. The peasants were not permitted to cut trees, but had permission to secure for heating and cooking whatever underbrush, limbs or twigs, they could reach by hook or by crook or what they could cut down with a pruning hook or pull down with a shepherd's crook. This served the useful purpose of keeping tree stands clear of underbrush, dangerous in a fire, and of superfluous and dead limbs.

Books presented

The November meeting of Gibsons Branch OAPO No. 38 was a pleasant one even though so many members were absent. To those sick, good wishes for a speedy recovery. A high light of the afternoon was the presentation by Fred Cruice, editor of the Coast News, of a set of Encyclopedia Britannica. This was made possible by Mr. Cruice's guiding hand, from an anonymous donor. A set of shelves have been purchased, and the books will be used, not only by OAPO members but by the nurses and staff of the Health Centre.

The Christmas dinner is arranged for Friday, Dec. 17, at 6 p.m. in the Legion Hall, with the Chancellor Car club again offering their services for transportation to and from the dinner. A hearty vote of thanks was expressed for this kindness.

The December meeting date is changed to Monday, Dec. 6 when a shortened business meeting will be followed by a social. This also will be the chance to book for the dinner.

Election of officers for 1966 followed, and elected were:

President Mr. William H. Haley, vice-presidents Mr. George Mould and Mr. B. Rutherford, Secretary Nora A. Haley, treasurer Mr. Eric E. Rosen, directors Mrs. E. Chamberlin and Mr. William Swallow, auditor Mr. S. W. Burt.

The meeting was followed with a social and refreshments served under the sponsorship of Mrs. Hutchings and helpers.

Her 82nd birthday

On Nov. 8, Halfmoon Bay's pioneer settler, Mrs. Sarah Wall celebrated her 82nd birthday. She spent the day quietly in her home which was decorated with masses of carnations and chrysanthemums, gifts of her friends.

It is 46 years since Mrs. Wall came to live in the Bay and it is interesting to compare her life then with the life of the average young woman today. Mrs. Wall milked the cows, made butter and cheese, trap nested 500 hens, spent two hours each day carrying rocks in two pails to help build a road, did the laundry for the Redroofs Resort and boarded the school teacher.

In season, there was fruit to be picked and canning to be done. She was kept busy from 6 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night and had no need of sleeping pills. Her late husband, Tom Wall, was also a busy man. He built their home from logs cut out of the bush; he cleared 10 acres of land, fenced pasture for his horse and cows, grew oats and wheat for feed, produced fruit and vegetables which were in great demand by the resort, built a greenhouse for tomatoes and installed a pelton wheel to supply the ranch with electricity.

One of the few settlers in the area when the Walls came to the Bay was Mrs. Clara Lyell, the postmistress, who had settled there in 1888. She donated the site on which, in 1915 was built Halfmoon Bay's first school and she died in 1933. Neighboring ranchers were the Shoebridge and William Worrall families and the Tom Robilliards. Both Mr. Shoebridge and Mr. Worrall have recently died. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robilliard now live in Coquitlam.

A young man who was working at the Redroofs Resort during the summer months helped the Walls during the winter. He was Tommy Beasley who later built the Halfmoon Bay store and who now lives at Kelowna.

Newsprint is the only manufactured product that the United States accepts from Canada in large volume.

ROOF DAMAGED
Gambier hall on Thursday night or early Friday suffered some wind damage when some of the roof was swept off. It is believed the roof may have to be replaced. Some log booms also ran into troubles as the result of the strong wind.

Fairview Transfer vaulted into first place in the Richmond Senior Soccer League Sunday as they dealt the Peninsula Rangers their second straight defeat a 3-2 decision at Woodland Park. The Rangers are one point behind in second place but have a game in hand.

Fairview opened the scoring in the first half but goals by Teddy Joe and Lorne Gregory gave the Rangers a slim 2-1 half time margin. The city club equalized at the 12 minute mark of the second half and notched the winner ten minutes later.

Rangers are home this Sunday to host C.N.R. at the Sechelt Reserve field. Game time is 1:30.

UNIFORMS WANTED

the editor

Editor: The writers feel sure that many of you will recall that seven Christmases ago before the deluge of locally sent and received Christmas cards decorated the mantelpiece for a short time before their inevitable fiery end, a small group agreed to send a donation (equal to the dozens and dozens of cards we send to friends and acquaintances we come in contact with frequently) to the Central City Mission in Vancouver.

This was done rather than sending Christmas cards locally, so that some less fortunate may better enjoy his or her Christmas and possibly appreciate that Christ did not die in vain after all.

This small group has been growing each passing year so this letter is directed to any and all who wish to contribute in this manner to ensure that more and more people will have a happier and brighter Christmas as it was intended.

This year the proceeds will go to Central City Mission.

Those wishing to join with us, please contact Mrs. F. Feeney, 886-2121 or Mrs. A. Drummond at 886-2390. Money must be in by Dec. 16.

Recent guests of Mr. Harry McLean were his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McLean from Cowichan Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie White are home after a visit to their son Ralph and his family at Calgary.

Mrs. Stan Moffatt with Elaine and Kit spent last weekend in Vancouver visiting daughter Lorraine in the apartment which she shares with Joan Brooks.

Pupils help teachers

A music workshop for primary and intermediate teachers arranged by Mr. Klyne Headley, music supervisor for the school district was held Tuesday afternoon at Sechelt Elementary School. Fifty teachers from the school district attended and received instruction on new methods and materials.

Mrs. Denise Laughland, a specialist in the teaching of music to primary classes, demonstrating with a Grade 1 class delighted both the children and the teachers. Dr. Lloyd Slind, Prof. of Musical Education at UBC was instructor for intermediate teachers and made the generous gift of his autoharp to the school. The new methods which enable quite young children to understand and read musical notation have been borrowed from Hungary.

Dec. bazaar

Roberts Creek Legion thanks the Scouts, Cubs and Brownies for participating in their Nov. 11 parade. Special praise goes out to Mrs. Sluis and Mrs. Fair for having the Cubs and Brownies so well groomed.

Owing to the illness of Padre Harbord, Rev. W. M. Cameron officiated at the service. Wreaths were laid by the branch, auxiliary, scouts, cubs, brownies and by Mrs. Crawford for the navy. After the children finished up the soft drink and departed, the branch had a social, which was well attended.

The ladies are hoping to have a good turn out at their bazaar on Dec. 3, for which they are now working very hard.
