Nancy ends long trip

Following is a resume of the last batch of letters sent to her mother:

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nishiwaka in Otsu-shi near Kyoto, writes Nancy, the party visited several of the 1,259 Buddhist and 300 Shinto shrines in that area. Kinkakuji temple had a golden pavilion on the lake and surrounded by beautiful gardens, The Ryonji temple noted for its rock gardens where people come to meditate and the Ryozen-kwan-on temple in Maruyama dedicated to those who lost their lives in the last war were among the most famous that were visited. One of the largest temples is Higashi-honganshi where one can see the famous rope made of women's hair.

In Orashiyama park the zoo revealed tame monkeys wandering around freely but caution was necessary because they can become easily disturbed and have been known to attack people. For relaxation and because Kyoto is very hot we spent much time swimming and water skiing on Lake Biwa.

Nara's Dreamland, a miniature Disneyland was visited on August 14 and there the party came into contact with deer wandering around freely and ready to eat out of one's hand. In the park is the statue of the Great Buddha similar to the one at Kamakura but larger. The Kamakura Buddha is 71 feet six inches high and weighs 500 tons. The Nara Buddha includes 437 tons of bronze, 165 lbs. of mercury, 288 lbs. of pure gold, seven tons of vegetable wax and considerable charcoal

THIS IS WHAT Gibsons Centennial pool will look like when constructed. This pool is somewhere in the Greater Vancouver area.

Public meeting called for swim pool project

A public meeting, Thursday, Sept. 8, at 8 p.m. in Gibsons Elementary School Activity hall has been called by Mr. S. Fladager, chairman of the Gibsons Centennial committee.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss ways and means to raise the balance of funds needed to built a swimming pool on the elementary school grounds.

The pool as a centennial project was decided on by the Gibsons and Port Mellon Centennial committees.

Besides the general public members of the Recreation Commission and those interested in forming a Gibsons Community association are asked to attend.

At a meeting of the Gibsons Centennial committee, on Sept. 1, Mr. O. Stevens, a Vancouver swimming pool contractor explained pool construction and costs.

After studying blueprints and pictures of various pools, the committee decided on a pool 30' x 60', to cost approximately $12,500. A sum of $2500 would be required at a later date to cover the cost of enclosing the pools and providing showers and changeroom facilities.

The government Centennial grant of $5,216 leaves a total of approximately $10,000 to be raised.

Mr. Sam Fladager suggested that a public meeting be held before Sept. 15 to acquaint the public with its financial requirements, and to discuss ways and means of raising the necessary funds.

Mr. G. Taylor, Port Mellon Centennial committee chairman, moved that a letter be written to the school board requesting (1) the pool site be on elementary school property, and within the village boundaries as much as possible. (2) That an agreement be reached as to maintenance costs and heating, and request that school showers and changeroom facilities be made available until the project is completed.

Mr. Ed Feidler asked why Brothers Memorial Park had not been considered as a location for the pool. Mr. Fladager explained that there was a government stipulation that the pool must be built on village property. He also stated that a swimming pool would be economically impossible without the participation of the school board in the project.

Local art displayed

The Sunshine Coast Arts Council Fiesta Week in Gibsons organized by Mrs. Kathleen Wells met with 100% co-operation from merchants who report many compliments from those who viewed the paintings of local artists. Many remarked on the Thriftee Dress shop display window, where the fall fashions in red and brown compliment the blue and green sea-scape by Jessie Dowdie.

The success of this first small Fiesta Week will undoubtedly lead to another display next year. This one was hurriedly assembled amid holidays and visitors and the Arts Council hopes for the sympathetic understanding of anyone who was overlooked. Planning for next year will include a preview of paintings so that the merchants may choose ahead of time a picture to fit in with their window display. Pictures are displayed as follows:

Beaver arrives Friday

A replica of the S.S. Beaver, the first steamship to operate off the west coast will arrive at Gibsons wharf Friday, September 9 at 3 p.m. and will be open to the public until 9 p.m. Sept. 9 and 10.

A welcoming group of members of Gibsons, Gibsons rural, Roberts Creek and Sechelt Centennial Committees will meet it on its arrival.

Officers of the RCMP, owners of small boats and the Gibsons Fire Department have agreed to co-operate to help create a festive atmosphere for the occasion.

The public is invited to join the Centennial Committees in welcoming the S.S. Beaver to the area, and to view the vessel during the time it is in port.

J. W. Whitworth, before his death, was the last living white man who had worked on the S.S. Beaver, He was an engineer. He was the father of Mrs. Madge Newman of Roberts Creek.

She writes: Our high ceilinged kitchen, in the old days, was decorated with shelves, on brackets, each displaying a miniature steamboat or sailing vessel of one kind or another. They were replicas of boats he had worked in and he whittled them out of sticks of firewood with his pocket knife. My linen thread, embroidery cottons and beads were employed in the making of the sailing ships, and we had to watch that the bed sheets were not used for sail. I didn't even try to hang on to my paints.

One of these models was the Beaver. It was a beautiful little ship. He gave it to my cousin who traded it the next day for a pocketknife.

The most photographed Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Navy, Lt. Ian Sturgess believes his present post as skipper of the S.S. Beaver was made possible by his six years service on commercial ships plying the waters of the B.C. Coast before he joined the Navy. He holds a master's ticket for these waters

The skipper's past eight years of service with the Navy have taken him to points in South and Central America, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and Hawaii. He hopes after this experience, to be posted to the Atlantic seaboard.

50th ANNIVERSARY

Your vote will help

When the votes are counted at the close of the election on Monday of next week, it will reveal that the fight was between two candidates. Tony Gargrave the NDP candidate has sat in the legislature representing Mackenzie for several terms. Mrs. Isobel Dawson, Socred candidate has been working for this election ever since the last provincial election when she trailed the NDP by 403 votes. The total vote including a third candidate a Liberal was 10,390 which meant the Liberal polled 2,147 votes (final count).

If one decides to calculate what is going to happen to those almost 10,000 votes in a potential 14,000 vote constituency the field is wide open for any one to guess which of the two candidates are going to have to fight for a majority vote.

It is true there are three candidates in the election for this constituency but if any one is willing to place any bets based on previous election results, that there will be a three-way fight, there are plenty of people who will accept the odds no matter what they are.

Quite a number of people were of the opinion that this should be an election with the battleline drawn between the NDP and the Socred candidates. This they desired, to see just what strength both parties would be able to muster. Entry of a third candidate forestalled fulfillment of this desire.

There have been times when it was suggested that if opposition parties would get together and field one candidate only against the government candidate ,the political picture would not be quite what it is today. Perhaps some day the opposition parties may decide to give it a try.

In the meantime Mackenzie voters are faced with three candidates, NDP, Socred and Joseph Benner Liberal. Straws in the wind point definitely towards a two-party fight, Socred vs. NDP. The few votes that kept Mrs. Dawson out of office in the last election loom large now. One can surmise she has not lost ground since the last provincial election.

The question appears to be has the NDP candidate kept his fences mended. His strength lies at Port Mellon, Powell River and Ocean Falls. Has Mrs. Dawson's continuous cultivation of the constituency eroded the NDP hold on the voters? The result on election day will reveal the answer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor: It can harly be questioned but what we are witnessing an interesting period in world history.

Canada shares with the rest of the world some unique features. I know of no other group in the country that has complete control of their salaries like our M.P.'s at Ottawa.

We find after a period in the house, where all commentators agreed was about the most sterile and ineffective ever witnessed, our M.P.'s of all parties with startling unanimity agree without the habitual delays to give themselves quite a raise at one slap.

Thereby setting aside the customary procedure where workers get their raises in half yearly or yearly instalments.

Then we find a couple of strikes taking place, but premier Pearson was equal to the occasion and arranged a settlement on a basis of 30% advance for the two groups.

Now we have the railroad strike across the country. How can a group so generous to themselves in the first place and next setting a rate of 30% advance to settle strikes expect the present strikers to accept the 8% advance?

Then we find another unusual event. Our dynamic premier arranges for 22 P.G.E. strikers fired last December for Union activities to return to work, ostensibly owing to the way the P.G.E. workers conducted themselves in the present railroad strike.

We can all think what we like, but I find myself wondering what effect — if any — the September 12th election had upon premier Bennetts outstanding magnanimity. — Dave Rees.

Editor: I would like to congratulate you on your two editorials Death's Salesmen and Police Second Class Citizens.

For all those who have shown interest, support and concern re Guns — No Money Down — I would like to thank those who have written me personally, particularly Hon. Mr. Bonner, attorney general and Mrs. Isobel Dawson, Socred candidate in the provincial election for Mackenzie riding, also the Corporation of the Village of Sechelt.

I trust that this matter will not die the usual death of apathy. — Dorothy Greene.

Editor: There have been articles and editorials in the papers lately about what are referred to as vicious gangs of hoods specially clad, who descend on places bound on doing damage, and also the editorials on the laws governing the sale of firearms, but nothing that I have read puts the blame where it really belongs

The blame lies squarely on the parents of the children who let their offspring roam round at all hours of the night and have never spent any time teaching them what is right and what is wrong. Parents now, most of them, are on'y interested in their own pleasure, much of which is spent in beer parlours.

The recent figures published in the Vancouver Sun under date of Aug. 11 tell us that the drinkers give government $41 million profit. In Gibsons and Sechelt and the 16 miles between those two places there are nine places where booze can be purchased. That is disgraceful.

A news filler in the Sun under date of Aug. 25 reals in part "Parents should be held responsible for the damage done by their children," the Ontario Municipal Association decided at its annual convention. That is word for word what I said when president of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of Western Ontario in 1930 and have said dozens of times since.

When the parents start to take an interest in their children and teach them right from wrong and stop blaming the teenagers as is done now we will have taken a step in the way of decency and constructive planning. There is an old but very true saying which runs "No nation ever rose above its own homes." School teachers should not have to replace the indifferent parents in teaching their children how to live like men and ladies.

Wake up, parents and do your duty to your children and society. — B. L. Cope.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

Harbors and crossings, crossings and harbors, the two seem to go hand in hand. So it should be in the case of Vancouver.

Ottawa, with its responsibility for navigation, should be in at the planning stage. But its assistance can be even more valuable on the financial front.

The nation can borrow money more cheaply than either the province or the municipalities can. It pays a lower rate of interest. So why not have Ottawa do the borrowing? This arrangement, alone, could save us hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

Ottawa, looking even further ahead, can write a project off over 50 years or more. Then annual depreciation charges can also be held to a minimum.

Again, and this is even more important, the federal government could demand less money in the early years. It can do what it is doing now in the case of the new bridge over the harbor in Saint John's, N.B., and also in connection with the new $120 million power line from the Nelson River to Winnipeg in Manitoba. Low yearly payments in the short run will, of course, have to be offset in the long run. However, future users will benefit most from the building of a big new crossing over the harbor in Vancouver. They will benefit most in this long term planning in any case.

How can we pay Ottawa back? Well we can charge tolls. We can charge tolls as they plan to do in New Brunswick. Either that, or arrangements can be made with the surrounding municipalities, the province and the National Harbors Board, to make annual lump sum payments to cover the financing of a new crossing.

Either way will do. But I personally, cannot get too excited about tolls. By the time our next crossing is completed, five or six years from now, our existing First and Second Narrows bridges will be loaded to capacity. They will be overcrowded. People will gladly pay a modest toll in order to cross a wide, modern expressway to downtown Vancouver. Motorists are doing this sort of thing in Montreal, New York and other cities today. There is no reason to think that they will avoid the use of a toll facility when it provides greater convenience and saves a great deal of time en route.

Finally, there is the question of who takes the initiative. Who should really get the ball rolling insofar as another crossing of Vancouver's harbor is concerned.

Under our constitution the responsibility for highways and bridges rests with the provinces. Planning in detail, however, is often left to the municipalities. I therefore suggest that the local committee which is looking into the question of the ideal location and size of the crossing should complete its work. It should then make its views known to Victoria. Victoria, in turn, should get in touch with Ottawa in order to iron out details on the financial front. And if arrangements proceed along the lines I suggest, we in British Columbia will also, like the people of Quebec, New Brunswick and Manitoba, be able to take advantage of the superior taxing, borrowing and other financial powers of the nation.

Any person who wishes to make such an appeal in respect of the list of electors must file the appeal in writing with the Secretary-Treasurer before September 20th.

Candidate attitude to be sought

Mike Bujan of Elphinstone Secondary School, Gibsons, stated on his return from a B.C. Teachers' Federation conference in Prince George, that the federation has invited political leaders and candidates to take a public stand on important issues facing education in the province.

BCTF president Harley Robertson, of Kitimat, told the conference that he has asked party leaders to state their positions on subjects ranging from class size to educational financing.

Following is the list of questions to be asked:

What, if anything, would you do to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio?

What positive measures would you propose to ensure an adequate supply of well-qualified teachers?

What steps would you recommend to maintain the present high standards of teacher training?

Are you in favor of a greater percentage of the tax dollar being allocated to education?

Do you believe that British Columbia should have a full-time minister of education?

Are you in favor of setting up an educational research program?

Mr. Bujan reported that 200 teachers from all parts of the province attended the conference at Prince George college. Most of the delegates were officers of local teacher associations.

Charles Ovans, general secretary of the teachers' federation told the conference that the school system must be adapted to take on the needs of the individual child. All children, he said, are capable of absorbing the same amount of knowledge, only with some it takes longer than others.

Mrs. Isobel Cull, Vancouver, a past president of the federation, said that in an age of increasing specialization and rapid change in education, there's a danger that the most important person of all — the child — is being neglected.

She said that behind the scenes in education today there exists a turmoil of internecine competition for time, reduction of class size, the best pupils and a host of other advantages, real or imaginary.

And what about the child, in whose name this elaborate edifice has been erected? she asked. He seems to have become lost somewhere.

Churchmen pool thoughts

Rev. Barry Jenks attended the Pacific Northwest Mission Conference at Willamette University, a small Methodist university in Salem, the capital of Oregon, when 14 different denominations were represented by the 235 delegates.

There were 45 from the United Church of Canada, 12 Canadian and eight American Anglicans and the rest Methodists, Presbyterians, United Church of Christ, Baptists, Congregationalists and Salvation Army.

The general theme was poverty and affluence, with a secondary theme of the Church in Canada.

He came away convinced that people of the affluent society have no idea of the degree of poverty throughout the world and even at home.

An encouraging note was that something is being done, but generally these endeavours come through government projects and not from the churches. The American government has its war on poverty and millions of dollars are being used on projects for better medical care, job training and education. There is a serious attempt to discover and remove the causes of poverty rather than just providing money and food for relief.

Mr. Jenks considers that Anglicans very often avoid the issue of poverty. One Anglican delegate flung a challenge into the Anglican seminar when he accused Anglicans of not caring about the poor — neither the poor people of the world nor even the poor in their own parishes.

Artists visit

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burritt at Gower Point were Ann and Zeljko Kujundzic from Kelowna.

Zeljko Kujundzic is an artist of international repute who works on metal, clay, wood and on canvas. One man shows of his work have been held in London, Paris, Edinburgh, Oslo, Montreal and Vancouver. He brought a selection of paintings and wood prints with him which were admired by neighbors and frends.

Mr. Kujundzic who has lived in Canada for eight years, started the Kootenay School of Fine Arts at Nelson. Recent commissions include a memorial fountain for Cranbrook City Council, a mural and sculpture for the Peebles Motor Inn at Nelson, a fountain for the Middlegate Centre and concrete sculpture and the designing of murals for the B.C. Institute of Technology in Vancouver.

Zeljko Kujundzic is one of a newly formed group of contemporary Okanogan artists, the Group of Five. These five artists who specialize in painting, pottery and sculpture have studios in Kelowna, Summerland Vernon and Keremeos.

New home grant fraud: Gargrave

The newly announced home purchase and construction grant is a fraud Tony Gargrave, NDP candidate for election said in a campaign speech in Legion Hall, Gibsons, Wednesday night. This was his fourth campaign speech in this area.

A model home for a large family costs $18,000 to $20,000 and one half of the cost of building and furnishing a home is taxable building materials and this means that the $500 grant is a mere refund of the five precent sales tax on building materials and five percent on $10,000 is $500, Mr. Gangrave said.

The five percent sales tax jumped to $22 millions last year and the provincial government is at its wit's end to find ways of spending the money, he said.

The legislature paid off the entire cost of the B.C. Ferry Authority vessels this year by retiring their bonds and the minister of finance, Mr. Bennett still had $35 million in the surplus reserve account, Mr. Gargrave added.

The poor voter-builder has paid $500 in the five percent sales tax by borrowing mortgage money at eight percent and when the house is complete the poor guy gets a cheque for $500 from the government, a return of his own money, Mr. Gargrave said.

He criticized his Socred opponent without mentioning by name, saying that some people wanted a government backbencher at Victoria. "I ask the Social Credit government where Stanley Carnell, J. Donald Smith Alex Matthews, J. F. Huhn and Arvid Lundell are. Matthews criticized the government for the lack of chronic care hospitals; Carnel and Huhn wanted improved conditions for farmers; Smith wanted a better deal for old age pensioners and Lundell wanted better roads in Revelstoke riding," Gargrave explained. All these members in the last legislature have been dumped by the Social Credit machine. They have not been renominated, Mr. Gangrave added.

Following his speech at Gibsons he visited Sechelt Thursday night of last week.

BY NANCY GAYLORD

FASHION CONSULTANT TO THE 160 SINGER CENTERS IN CANADA.

Don't Knock Knees . . . Brush 'em; scent 'em; decorate 'em. That's the advice from cosmetic firms who have discovered that the knobby knee needs help. Bright poster colors in liquid makeup suggest butterflies and daisies to paint-on. Leg jewelry includes papier mache thigh bracelets and knee coils in black and white beads. For the adventurous, how about a fancy garter with scarf to match? Your knee wardrobe simply must include several cosy fur knee muffs for the colder months to come. Unfortunately, the male population includes some "purists" (or call them diehards) who prefer the leg "au naturel."

Leather and suede can be cleverly fashioned into garments of classic and enduring beauty. Choose a simple style with few seams, darts and details and no eased seams. Tape pattern to single layer eliminating as many seams as possible. Mark construction details with chalk on wrong side.

1. Stitch with new needle and heavy thread and a longer stitch (8 to 10 stitches per inch).

2. When joining 2 layers in a seam, use paper clips to hold seam allowances, facing, darts. instead of pins (which mark).

3. Glue and hammer flat hem, (Use rubber cement or fabric glue).

To press use warm dry iron over brown paper or pressing cloth.

Here's a Lemon! Now, squeeze it all over your dress . . . . Whoops! Wait a minute. You are wearing a "Grapefruit Print" aren't you? Grapefruit prints are the wildest idea ever. You squeeze grapefruit or lemon juice in a design on the fabric and presto! The color changes and there's your very own art-work. Available this fall or winter.

Square? Slouch? I don't mean you . . . I mean your shoes. The "In" words for the latest . . . broad, square toes, slouch and museum heels. Laced, bowed, strapped or tied.

The Scooter Dress . . to wear biking or scooting around in house or on patio. A one-piece dress with split culotte skirt, U scooped neck and cut-away armholes. Exciting in exotic flowered print or op art effects. Are you a handy seamstress? Then, whip one up with a bonnet to match (sometimes called a Honda hat).

Sad but True. Many examples can be seen of the short, short skirt that are dowdy and downright ugly. Take the example of the waitress wearing a simple white blouse, short tight black skirt with flat shoes. The problem? There is as much blouse as skirt and a half-and-half proportion is simply not pleasing to the eye.

Waistlines must be up, down or not at all when skirts are well above the knee. Skirts should be relaxed and comfortable looking (never tight) to be chic when short.

A velvet dragon!

At the recent Fall Fair in Gibsons Mrs. Anne Ferris demonstrated a skill she has developed, and now teaches, in pattern painting.

A recent visit to her home in Gibsons gives ample evidence of her many other creative interests.

The yard has been landscaped with a fish pond and rockery the central features. Mrs. Ferris has fashioned from plaster of paris an elf and swans which she has used in the outdoor setting.

The view on entering her home is one of an exotic garden. She has cleverly arranged planters where both artificial and growing plants bloom profusely.

Angel fish, sword fish and black mollies flash among the strategically placed aquariums.

Her interest in painting is evident in a peacock in full plume, a Chinese dragon and a tiger in repose adorning her living room walls. She decorates with her paints, articles of wood, glass, cloth and metal.

In April 1967 Mr. and Mrs. Ferris plan to leave on a three month tour of Europe on their itinerary is a stop at the Louvre in Paris and a visit to the Amsterdam Art Museum where a painting Night Watch is of special interest.

In Holland the Ferrises will board a barge which will transport them along the Rhine River to Switzerland, and from there they will journey to Genoa and Rome.

Weddings

MACLEOD — CAMERON

On Saturday afternoon at Gibsons United Church, Joy Margaret Cameron, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. Murray Cameron, was united in marriage with Bernard Russell Macleod, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Macleod of Wilson Creek. The bride's father, Rev. W. Murray Cameron and brother, Rev. Bruce J. R. Cameron of Nanaimo, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother David of Toronto, the bride was lovely in a white lace trimmed crystal taffeta floor length gown with a train and short veil. She carried a bouquet of pale yellow orchids and pale pink feathered carnations.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister Jean, Mrs. G. G. Bradley of Vancouver, and bridesmaids Miss Roberta Quigley of Roberts Creek and the groom's sister, Miss Glenys Macleod, Wilson Creek, were all gowned in pale blue satin and carried pale pink roses.

Best man was John Robinson, Gibsons and ushers Stanley Macleod, Sechelt and Ole Hansen, Wilson Creek.

Mrs. R. W. Vernon, soloist, sang The Lord's Prayer and O Perfect Love. Organist was Alan Whitmore of Sidney, V.I.

Chimes rang out as the party left the church.

A reception for relatives and close friends was held at the bride's home, where a three-tiered wedding cake centred a lace covered table. Members of the Gower Group of the United Church Women were in charge and serviteurs were Miss Judi Gathercole, Miss Trish Wood and Mrs. Winston Robinson. Bruce J. R. Cameron was master of ceremonies and the toast to the bride was proposed by David M. Cameron.

"This bill from the beauty parlor . . . what did we get for that money?"

Showers

An early August tea, held by the United Church Women, in the beautiful gardens of the Grants, honored the former Miss Joy Cameron.

A bride's cake, prepared and decorated by members of the U.C.W. and clever flower arrangements were attractive features of the serving table.

Presiding at the urns were Mesdames T. Humphres, J. Mainil, A. Faris and J. P. Stewart.

Miss F. Grant, on behalf of the members of the U.C.W., presented the bride to be with a chest of cutlery.

Other bridal showers were held by Judi Gathercole and Patricia Wood at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gathercole.

Arlene and Marilyn Robinson also hosted a shower for her at their home.

COUGAR CASUALTY

E. J. Shaw of Roberts Creek and Charles Bourne of Gibsons, while driving home bound from a vacation, about 20 miles from Princeton on the Hope-Princeton highway, hit a cougar with their car. The cougar leaped from the roadside bushes. Front and back wheels went over it.

The car was stopped and Mr. Shaw got out thinking it was dead as it lay in the middle of the road. It raised its head and it started thrashing its tail. With cars piling up behind them they had to leave the animal and move on. Later they found an RCMP office in Manning Park and reported the matter.

Regional college site to be explored

Trustee W. P. Malcolm and Mr. Peter Wilson, school board secretary - treasurer attended two recent meetings of the North Shore Regional College co-ordinating committee. They reported a decision by the minister is still being awaited, following the submission to him of the academic board's recommendations.

The committee is proceeding with planning and publicity and intends to hire a part-time curriculum developer for a ten-months period at a salary up to $10,000 The question of site availability is being further explored, with a view to taking action to get an option if this proves both necessary and feasible. Inter-board agreements are being drafted.

The committee requested that budget provisions for regional college research be consolidated into one fund administered by the co-ordinating committee. An audited statement of this account will be provided at the end of the fiscal year. The school district's available fund of $2,100 will be passed on to the co-ordinating committee.

The Community Conference committee report by Mr. Wilson stated that Mr. E. Sherman, who was appointed co-ordinator, and Mr. Wilson met with Mr. Blaney at UBC on Monday, August 15. The committee then met with Mr. Sherman at his home in Port Mellon on Friday, August 19. Mr. Sherman showed considerable interest in the conference.

The topics were more fully defined, to assist Mr. Sherman in writing letters to proposed speakers. Names were suggested for the positions of chairman and the group discussion leaders. Suggestions of further names are invited and should be passed on to Mr. Wilson.

It was agreed to hold the conference at Elphinstone Secondary School, in view of the facilities available there.

Board approval was granted for a budget of $1,500.

Port Mellon

(By M. BULGER)

The Port Mellon Community Hall was the setting, August 25 for a wind-up program of summer playground activities.

Miss Norma Wills, playground supervisor, organized games with both adults and children participating.

A display of tambourines, chack-chacks, Mexican maracas, animals and drawings were made by the children as part of their crafts training.

Mrs. Robert Ferris in a speech of farewell to Miss Wills and Beverly Ferris, on behalf of the group, presented her with the gift of a vase, with Port Mellon inscribed on it.

Recent guests at the Jack Willis home were Mr. and Mrs. C. Kenworthy, of London, England. Both families enjoyed a three week vacation trip along the Olympic Peninsula, Washington state.

The Gordon Taylors have returned from a trip to California where they visited Disneyland and Marineland. The children were impressed with the performances of the trained seals, porpoises and whales at Marineland.

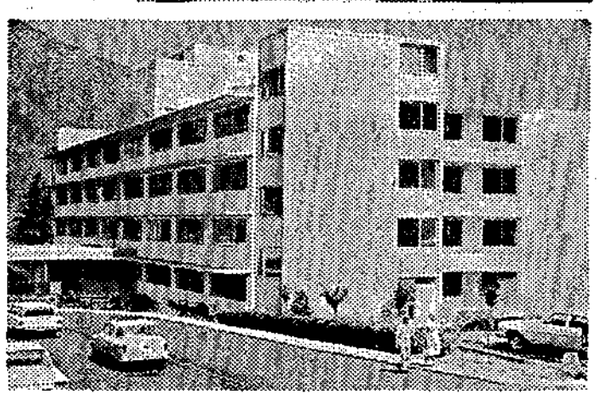
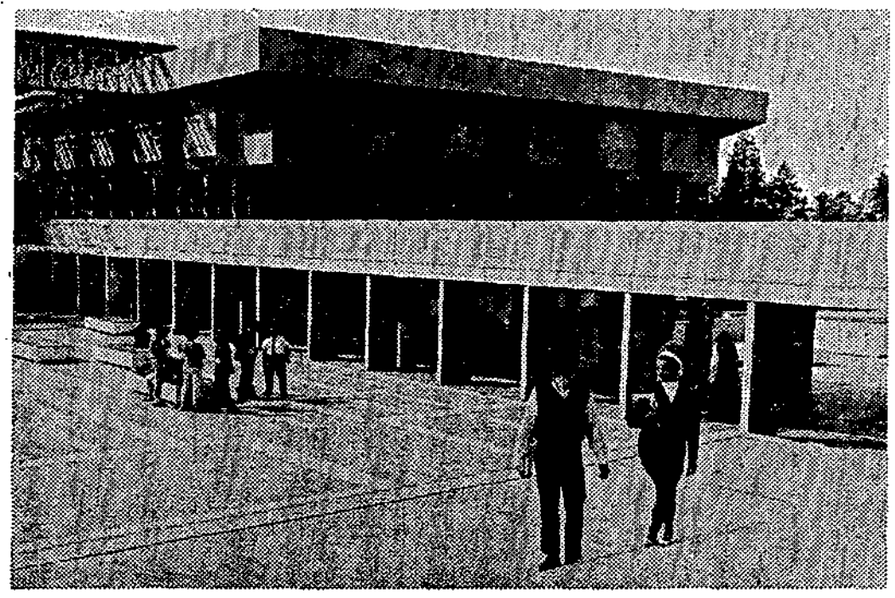
KEEP B.C. MOVING AHEAD!
with more and better programs for people





Under Social Credit administration, per-capita spending on health and welfare services is already 35% higher in British Columbia than in any other Canadian province. During the next seven years your Social Credit Government will increase social assistance rates even more – and further increases will be made to the blind, retarded and infirm.

Your Social Credit Government already pays the highest old age pension bonuses in Canada. During the dynamic years ahead, these bonuses will be steadily increased to further improve the living standards of our senior citizens.

Under your Social Credit Government's massive hospital construction program more than 650 new hospital beds are now being provided. Further projects involving 1,878 more beds are in the advanced planning stage. In addition, your Government will co-operate fully with local authorities to provide new facilities for the chronically ill.

Your Social Credit Government already has spent more on education than any previous administration in the Province's history. This expansion of facilities will be continued at all levels – elementary and secondary schools, universities, technical institutes, vocational schools and employment retraining facilities.

The Social Credit Government pioneered the "money-for-marks" plan which pays part of the tuition fees of many university students. This widely acclaimed plan – still the only one of its kind in all of Canada – will be extended to include thousands more students, and the percentage contribution of fees paid by the Government will be increased even further.

Forward with Social Credit

and other ingredients. To scrub the statue involves about 240 man-hours work. The statue is in Topaiji temple a wooden structure 187 feet long. 164 feet wide and 154 feet high.

The party left Kobe on August 17 on the ship Naniwa Maru for Pusan, Korea arriving at 8 a.m. next morning. Before leaving Japan the party went through customs declaring such things as tooth paste and soap. Gifts entering Korea are taxable. A typhoon off Kyushu Island provided some rough weather. However on arriving at Pusan the party was welcomed by Han Ki Chul and eight-year-old orphan boy and the director of the orphanage.

There are some 55 orphanages in Korea. In Ki Chul's orphanage there were 93 children who greeted the party with singing which blended in perfect unison. Accompanied by host Dr. Song the visitors journeyed to the Pusan Children's Charity hospital and such institutions as Compassion, Canada Save the Children Fund and the Christian Children's Fund, which do a tremendous job in helping to support and maintain the many orphanages throughout Korea.

Pusan has a population of about one million living mostly in the valleys in houses made from rock, sand and cement with tile or thatch roofing. Because of poverty Korea's policy is to save US dollars to bolster the economy. Therefore few cars are imported and those are for military use. Jeep taxis offer bumpy rides.

The women continue to wear the traditional long dress and rubber shoes with the ends curled up. One can see horse or oxen drawn carts laden with merchandise. There is a noticeable lack of sweets but members of the party were impressed by the Westernized home life and eating habits of Koreans.

The party moved from Pusan to Seoul by train on August 21 and spent four glorious days in that cosmopolitan city. The beautiful scenery between those two cities reminded one of Canada. Shinja Chow was their host and with him the party visited the palace, museum and famous Walker Hill. Returning to Pusan they visited various orphanages before boarding the ship Naniwa Maru for the return to Japan. The party will more than likely visit Nagoya before reaching Tokyo where all exchange students will meet for an evaluation meeting and farewell party.

Dan Henry, champion!

The ingredients for a successful sports day, sponsored by Local 297, Sept. 5 were all there: warm, sunny weather, an enthusiastic volunteer working force and crowds of people.

The children were treated to hot dogs, ice cream and pop, and various races whetted their appetites for second servings.

In the log rolling event, Dan Henry, Sechelt was champion.

A display of jousting skills ended with Norman Harris, Gibsons and James Dixon, Sechelt, the winnners.

Adults participated in races and a tug-of-war. During the match the sturdy rope being used broke in two, and a new one, quickly provided, managed to withstand the strain.

Bingo prizes, an electric can opener, leather wallets, glassware, bookends and steak knives spurred competition.

A $50 raffle was won by Mr. D. Myton, with Mrs. M. Alsager winning $25. Additional prizes of four $10 bills, four $5 bills and a transistor radio were raffled. The radio, donated by Mr. Chris Beacon, after winning it for selling the most tickets, was won by Diane Laird.

A Teen Town dance, held in the Community Hall, was the closing program of an eventful day. Music for the dance was provided by the Pannix, a local band with Tony Lukachuk, lead guitar, Norman Jones, rhythm guitar and vocalist, Ricky Davies, drummer and Paul Rudolph, bass guitar.

On Sept. 3, the local sponsored a public dance, with Ernie Prentice and his band, of Vancouver, providing the music.

Mr. Mike Blaney and Mr. Fred Inglis were organizers of the successful event.

X-ray 747

Operation Doorstep, a tuberculosis X-ray clinic with technician Mr. Ralph Pelly, of Vancouver in charge, X-rayed approximately 380 Gibsons area people on Sept. 1 and 367 at Sechelt the previous day.

The clinic, under the sponsorship of the PTA was completing a follow-up check of individuals who showed a positive reaction to skin tests made in February, 1965.

Volunteers Mrs. J. Clement, Mrs. J. M. Flockart, Mrs. M. Myers and Mrs. E. Marshall staffed the clinic, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Dawe.

BRING YOUR RAKE

Remember those rakes with people the Kiwanis wanted. Well, they can appear at Brothers Memorial Park on Saturday, Sunday or Monday where they will be greeted by supervisors. The idea is that the rakes and people will prepare the ground for seeding.
