$800,000 improvements for Langdale terminus

THEY'RE THE TOPS! The two top bowlers so far this year in leagues at the E & M Bowladrome are Frank Nevens (left) who rolled a new high single record of 416, and Lionel McCuaig, who started off the year rolling 912 for three games. Frank Nevens was presented with a large number of gift certificate prizes awarded to anyone rolling a single game over 395.

Rezoning given OK

A regional planning department letter covering Sechelt council's request for advice on rezoning of the west side of Porpoise Bay road for industrial purposes drew considerable argument but resulted in council deciding to go ahead with that rezoning.

Chairman William Swain sought from council an answer to the difference between commercial and industrial as far as Sechelt was concerned. Clerk Ted Rayner offered the advice than on industrial zoning living quarters above the plant were not countenanced. Living quarters were planned in the machine shop.

Councillors were working from a map of a proposed zoning plan prepared inn 1961 and an opinion was expressed that the provincial planning department was trying to scuttle this project via letter and red tape. It was argued there was little enough business in Sechelt.

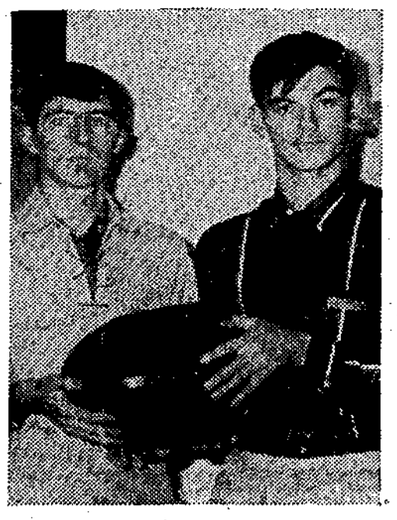
The present situation as regards the land which council is considering for rezoning industrial is that on the east side as far as the B.C. Hydro installation the lots are on the large side and on the west side the lots are subdivided with 60 foot frontages.

It was moved by Councillor Morgan Thompson and seconded by Rae Clarke that the proposed amendment to the zoning bylaw be proceeded with. Applicant for the rezoning is Charles McDermid.

Sechelt Lands Ltd. complained of the condition of the garbage dump following its closure and requested it be cleaned up. It was explained that owing to the long dry season nothing could be burned but now it can be attended to.

A grant of $20 was made to the Chamber of Commerce to cover Centennial Swim costs.

A letter will be sent John Motherwell, Victoria professional engineer confirming his appointment to make a study of the Sechelt water situation. Councillor Clarke reported continued vandalism was taking place on the Hackett Park building.



Big melon

Mrs. E. J. Mullen of Hopkins Landing enters the garden growth contest with a 20 pound California watermelon which was grown from seed which boys had thrown on the garden while devouring watermelon last summer. Usually they are grown from plants started in a hothouse or cold frame. Above are Jim Mullen and Bill Henderson holding the accidental watermelon.

Two fires

Two fires over the weekend saw Gibsons volunteer fire department in action. One, at 4 p.m. Monday was a truck fire behind the Shell Service Station. The flat deck truck was being worked on by Budd Kiewitz, Shell Oil Distributor, its owner, and as he was starting it fire broke out. As it was close to aeroplane fuel, the service truck was used to move it further away. In the meantime the firemen arrived, and doused the flames. Damage was reported slight.

The other fire at 6:30 p.m. Sunday was in a cedar shake shed behind the Women's Institute cottage, containing a chemical toilet. The blaze looked spectacular but when the firemen had the fire under control the shed was burned out and the side of the institute cottage was scorched. Damage was regarded as light.

Strange case

RCMP received a call Sunday at 11:45 a.m. that a man was lying in the dense forest between Twilight Theatre and I & S Transport. On investigating the man was located. He was a naturalized Austrian who had lived in Canada since 1951.

He was paralyzed on one side but had made his way aboard the ferry at Horseshoe Bay and got off at Langdale. Police learned from him he had been lying there soaking wet since Wednesday afternoon and had not eaten for seven days. Asked if he was hungry he said no and asked to be left there for about another seven days. Police took him to St. Mary's Hospital where he is now resting.

Name new chairman

The Sunshine Coast BPW Club held its first meeting after the summer recess at Ole's Cove Resort on Tuesday, Oct. 3. Miss Adele de Lange, vice-president, took the chair and explained that it was with great regret that she had to announce the resignation of the Club President, Mrs. Grace Harling, who was moving with her family back to Vancouver. Mrs. Harling will be greatly missed as she is a charter member of the club and worked very hard as the first secretary when the club was formed in 1964.

Miss de Lange regretted that she was unable to step into the presidency this year due to her heavy commitments on behalf of the Sechelt village council. Mrs. Helen Bathgate of Egmont was elected president.

Mrs. Bathgate has been a regular and reliable member of the club since its early stages. She has held the offices of emblem chairman, secretary and treasurer. She was one of the club's delegates to its provincial conference at Pinewoods Lodge, Manning Park, last May and also attended the Lower Mainland regional conference with other club members in March.

It was also regretted that the club's membership chairman, Mrs. Ruth McLintock, had to resign due to the fact that she too had moved back to Vancouver. Mrs. Marilyn Wigard of Sechelt was elected membership chairman; Mrs. Lois Stannard of Sechelt was elected United Nations chairman; Mrs. Phyllis McLeod was elected treasurer.

A letter of thanks from the bursary recipient, Merrilee Olson of Elphinstone High School was read. She reported that this summer she had taken a six weeks' course in I.B.M. keypunch operation at Western School of Commerce in Vancover and is now employed in the data processing dept. of the B.C. Telephone company.

The club will again be selling UNICEF Christmas cards and will have a supply on hand in the near future. Proceeds go to UNICEF, a branch of the United Nations, to help needy children the world over.

Funds have to be raised to pay the club's portion to the federation's Centennary Year foundation, a foundation set up by the federation of all clubs in Canada, the interest from which will be used in various ways but chiefly in some form of education. It was decided to run a raffle for a Christmas Hamper. Tickets will be on sale shortly.

Business Women's Week will be observed Oct. 22 to 28 and a committee is working on the club's presentation.

It was announced that the speaker for the next meeting, Tues., Nov. 7, at Ole's Cove, will be Mr. Norman Watson, chairman of the regional district.

Anyone interested in joining the BPW Club is cordially invited to contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Marilyn Wigard of Sechelt, or any other club member.

BOTTLE DRIVE

Gibsons Cubs and Scouts will have a bottle collection drive, Sat, Oct. 13 starting at 10 a.m. at the Super-Valu area Anyone with bottles not collected please phone H. O. Hincks at 886-2539, anytime.

Something like $800,000 will be spent this winter on improving the Langdale ferry terminus of the B.C. Ferry Authority, Hon. Mrs. Isabel Dawson, minister without portfolio informed the Coast News during an interview while she was passing through Gibsons on her way to Powell River.

Of this amount more than $600,000 will be spent on the actual water area and the remainder on the land approach. Work is now going on to get the waterfront area in shape for the new slips. Greenlees Piledriving Company Limited are doing the water work which involves more than 50,000 yards of fill to be placed at the end of the present docking area adding a possible 100 foot extension to the land area.

Land has been purchased on the Salvation Army side of the parking area and it is reported that other land may be acquired

The Barford Report presented to the Regional District board recently intimated the B.C. Ferry Authority was reviewing the ferry system from Horseshoe Bay through to the Powell River side of Jervis Inlet. As the Barford report outlined, the discharge of 160 vehicles at any one time could be beyond the ability of the present road system to accommodate. This could lead to construction of the bypass from Langdale to the vicinity of the Peninsula Hotel. It would also mean a larger ferry on the Jervis Inlet run, if the authority discovers there would also be an increase of sufficient size at that end of the system.

However information from the Ferry Authority and the provincial roads department is as sparse as usual and speculation continues to be the only source in the gathering of information, With the entry of a larger ferry on the Langdale run it is reasonably safe to assume that something will be done about the road system at the Gibsons end. Traffic according to the South Coast Region Economic Survey issued in February of this year shows that summer peak traffic during July and August is heaviest in the Gibsons area tapering off when it gets into the Sechelt area.

Village land problem

Development of a land area south from School Road behind the Elementary school, involving reparcelling of lots for a road through the area was agreed to in principle by Gibsons council at its Tuesday night meeting.

The land lies between O'Shea road and the rear of the school, extending southwards towards Stewart road. If the plan is carried out a new road, midway across the lots, paralleling Abbs road would be put through which would veer into Abbs road at its southern end due to steep ground beyond that point.

Two parties are involved in the land reparcelling and they are Ray Johnson, logger and Dr. J. J. L. Crosby. Council decided to bring town planners Robert Williams and Associates into the discussion relative to costs that might be involved. A three acre park area would be included in the scheme.

Discussion on the Regional District board's location of its office was started by Councillor Fred Feeney who outlined what thoughts had been expressed at the last Regional board meeting. He is council's representative on that board. The Regional board was of the opinion Roberts Creek area would be a good location. Council decided to go on record that the Regional board office should be established in the heavily populated Gibsons area. When it came to mulling over the school board's intentions of building its own office building, possibly in conjunction with the Regional board Councillor Feeney expressed the desire to see more school rooms built, as they would be more preferable.

Chairman Wes Hodgson complimented the volunteer firemen for their prompt turnout at Sunday night's fire behind the Women's Institute cottage on South Fletcher road. He said the turnout in four-and-one-half minutes after the alarm during a holiday period deserved congratulations and added double congratulations for the speed with which the fire was got under control and extinguished.

Laughter rocks hall

Welcome Beach Community Hall rang with laughter at the Thanksgiving party Saturday. The evening started with a parade of ten men dressed in women's apparel. They made their solo entrances with great dramatic sense and were greeted with such gales of mirth that judges Mrs. F. Lyons, Redrooffs rd.. Mrs. A. Kadin, Northwest Bay, and Mrs. Comyn, Welcome Woods, had a difficult time

First prize went to Mr. Duff, the matron in mink; second to Mr. J. Cooper, the old red-wigged lady in a shawl accompanied by her daughter; third to teenager Roy Marshall, and fourth to Mr. Leuchte in a sleeping suit, year 2,000.

Runners-up were Mr. Roy Holgate in a Hawaiian dress; Mr. G. Clear, a Chinese lady with a fan; Mr. R. Wilkinson, the modern woman and Mr. Lynds and Mr. James, hippy types.

Mr. Bollington made his entrance in the dark by the light of an old-fashioned candlestick in a nightdress and mob cap and was a perfect Ma Murray.

Singing of a harvest hymn was followed with Canon Alan Greene reading the Centennial proclamation by the lieutenant-governor and a letter from the Centennial commission. Following a short prayer the 40 members heard Roy Holgate tell of the work done on converting the woodshed into a dressing room with a level plank walk to the hall.

The meeting decided to send a wreath as a mark of respect for Mr. A. Young After discussing the financial state of the hall it was decided to send copies of the constitutional changes to all members.

A half-hour community singsong followed with slides and musical accompaniment by Mr. and Mrs. Leuchte intermingled with excellent Expo slides by Mr Duff. A few rounds of dancing followed to whet the appetites for turkey sandwiches and apple or raisin pie. Kevin, 3 and Trevor, 6, grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Comyn, created amusement in their readiness for the eats.

The fine vegetable display arranged by Mrs Olive Clear was auctioned by Mr. Holgate and bids were high. The donated door prize was won by Mrs. Duff and a redraw saw it won by Mr. J. Cooper.

Co-operation helps

By MICHAEL WEBSTER

If you want something done, the best way is to do-it-yourself. This is the reason 21 adults are studying Spanish at Pender Harbor Secondary school. Mrs. Doreen Lee wanted to learn a second language, but nothing was available at the school here. So she began a telephone campaign and rounded up 21 interested people.

The problem of a teacher was quickly solved with the recruiting of Mrs. M. C. Blue, who maintains it's always a pleasure to teach adults. Mrs. Blue has taught Spanish at Senior Secondary School level and at Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia. All 21 contacted attended the first class on October 2.

The school facilities were arranged through the co-operation of F. L. Fuller, director of adult education.

Expand clinic

Sechelt's medical clinic will be doubled in size at a cost of approximately $28,600. The building permit for construction came before Sechelt's council at its meeting Wednesday night

Gibsons will have a new clinic next summer, members of the clinic report. It is expected that tenders will be sought for its construction on land near Brian's Drive In.

Flower show big success

In spite of inclement weather Saturday, and heavy rains and winds in the preceding week after a hot dry summer, the Flower Show at Sechelt was a big success. Garden club members worked hard, evidenced by the beautiful potted and cut flowers at the show. Mr. Frank Read, president, thanks all who helped in any way. Mr. G. Potts was the energetic show manager and Mrs. L. Hanson, the hard-working secretary.

Mrs Greta Jorgenson won the Sechelt Garden Club grand aggregate cup, and Mrs. Lyla Eldred won the Redman cup. Mrs. E. S. Clayton won special mention for her beautiful table decoration. Mrs. K. Lemeaus won an extra special mention for her table arrangement of fruit and flowers. Mr. Frank Read won three honorable mentions for outstanding exhibits.

LIST OF WINNERS 4

Mums, 3 blooms, 1. F. Read.

A worthwhile report

With quite a few reports covering economics and other phases of the Sunshine Coast now available it leads one to the thought that more attention is being paid to the area.

The first of these reports was that of the provincial bureau of economics and statistics which in 112 pages covered the area described as the South Coastal Region including the Sunshine Coast, Howe Sound and Pemberton Valley.

As an aside one should thank the person who brought forth the name Sunshine Coast. It has become a defined area which extends from Port Mellon to Jervis Inlet and is a definite name for a definite area. This is now established by legal processes.

Before the South Coast Region report existed we had for the area surrounding Gibsons, the Martin Dayton report on the water potential. It serves a good purpose in outlining possibilities for a good water supply. Soon after came the Bullock report which was an extension of the Dayton report in that it covered the West Howe Sound Region, specifically to Gower Point but generally to the Sechelt area. It too gave some aspects of the water potential which are worthy of consideration.

Now we have a planning report, turned out by a young man named Jerry Barford, a university student recommended by UBC to help the Sunshine Coast Regional District board this past summer get itself set up with proper maps and other necessary municipal paraphenalia to help the board of directors in their work.

The Barford report, most of which has been published during the last two weeks in the Coast News, is more along the line of observations that have arisen as a result of Mr. Barford's work in lining up necessary detail for the Regional District board. He should be congratulated for his effort.

His observations on population trends while not new have been outlined in one section. Many people have made guesses as to the movement of population in the area but Mr. Barford has confirmed their thoughts. His analysis of the forestry situation in the area is that forestry is not an industry on which we should rely too heavily.

Recreation and tourism have been analyzed along with the need for water and transportation. In his observations he asks the question should the district emphasize secondary manufacturing or rec. reation? He also asks whether the rural atmosphere should be preserved at the expense of growth. The Regional District board at its recent meeting, the one which received Mr. Barford's report, felt that quality should not give way to quantity. Judicious planning will be a great help. The Regional District board will need plenty of such help.

110 youngsters waiting

Ninety Brownies and 20 Guides are looking for leaders. They are willing to take on the role of being useful to their community and now they desire to have some leadership to help them become the type of citizens most adults would like to live among.

These Guides and Brownies are in Gibsons which is the largest populated centre on the Sunshine Coast. Surely there are some people who have the interests of youth and the community in their thinking. Such guidance directed to the young people should show beneficial results and it is such results that most people are clamoring for in the lives of our young. But unless they have guideposts to follow in the form of good leaders we must not expect too much from them.

So if there are people who feel they will be able to help, the Coast News recommends they telephone 886-2458 or 886-2423. Do your part to help the youngsters feel they are a part of our civilization.

The retirement industry

FROM THE REGIONAL DISTRICT BARFORD REPORT

Population data for the Regional District showed that persons 65 years of age or over comprised 15.2% of the total population in 1961, compared to 7.6% for Canada as a whole, and 10.1% for B.C. This fact attests to the attractiveness of the area for retired people — the mild climate; the rural atmosphere and quiet pace of life (the latter being mentioned in many surveys as the primary factor in the choice of a retirement location); yet proximity to a major urban centre offering a wide range of goods and services; relatively low cost land, when compared to current prices for residential land in Vancouver; and recreational and leisure-time advantages, especially boating, fishing and beach-area activities.

Many couples in early or late middle-age buy a lot in the district for a summer cottage with the intention of retiring to it in later life.

* * *

With this in mind it seems reasonable to suggest that retirement, along with recreation and tourism, could become a major factor in the regional economy.

Retirement can be viewed as an industry. By the retirement industry we mean a service industry specifically catering to the needs of retired people. But one point should be made quite clear — with retirement age set at 65, there are still five to ten years on the average of continued activity and demand for the normal range of services before mobility is in any way curtailed or awareness is impaired, and, hence, before increasingly specialized care is needed.

* * *

With improved medical health practices, the proportion of people over 65 in any community is increasing, and the retired are becoming an increasingly important component of society. Further, with increasing productive capacity and a growing commitment to electronic technology, retirement age may be progressively lowered, making the need to provide retirement-oriented activities and facilities, and to recognize these people as a factor in any community or area, more acute.

We recognize basically six facilities that should be provived within any area. Education programs are needed, tailored to the requirements of retired people; under this heading would be included the provision of a public library system. Leisure fills a large proportion of a retired person's activity pattern — here we include outdoor recreation (fishing and golfing), and indoor social and cultural facilities. Shopping and commercial enterprises are also important, especially with regard to ease of access.

* * *

Health service facilities, including physicians, special clinics (for arthritis and diabetes, for example), and nursing services are increasingly needed as age progresses; the hospital in Sechelt may prove to be a significant location influence. And finally, circulation; in an area such as the Sunshine Coast, where public transit is minimal, this could be a problem as mobility decreases with age. This would probably restrict the impaired to the village communities, where the services are accessible on foot.

Although this concentration of retired people has not been induced by any positive policy, there are various forms of residential facilities that it may well be possible to attract in coming years. At one end are real-estate developments, promoted by independent developers or by public or semi-public institutions such as religious organizations and fraternal lodges. These may form part of, and are hence integrated into, existing communities or developments, sharing the same services; or they may form separate retirement villages. At the middle level are three residential types: dispersed dwelling communities (isolated or small groups of low-rise apartment dwellings); trailer villages; and retirement hotels. At the opposite end are the full care homes and communities.

* * *

Within Canada, the Sunshine Coast has a high potential for attracting retired people, and it is therefore quite feasible for the district to capitalize on this advantage. Take Florida as an example of what can be achieved. The retirement industry does offer an opportunity to diversify the local economy and provide alternative sources of regional employment and income. At the same time, we must acknowledge a possible danger from having a large proportion of retired people in an area. This group is, on the average, most likely to be conservative and cool towards continued development and increased spending on services from which they do not directly benefit (for example, schools). This factor may, therefore, be detrimental to long-run growth.

CANCER STATISTICS ARE FRIGHTENING

The Strang Clinic in New York City, famed for cancer detection, recently reported that one in every 100 patients past 40 who feel well and appear to have good health probably has cancer. Fortunately, reported Dr. Emerson Day, the Strang Clinic director, most of these cancers can be diagnosed by the family physician.

When discovered and treated at this pre-symptomatic stage, the chance of a cure is increased greatly. These facts of life or death make it imperative that every adult get regular health checkups.

POINT OF LAW

by A Practicing Lawyer

COPYRIGHT APPLIED FOR

We welcome written questions on legal points from readers. If possible they will be answered in this column. Letters must be brief, signed and your address shown. Send to "Point of Law," c/o this newspaper.

Many queries have been received concerning the rights that a person has who is charged with a criminal offence.

An accused (as he is called) has the following rights:

To know what offence he is charged with.

To employ a lawyer to defend him.

To contact a lawyer though he is in custody.

To appear in court promptly (generally within twenty-four hours if he is in custody) and apply for bail.

To a presumption of innocence in his favor.

To refuse to answer any question asked by anyone except routine matters such as his name, Etc.

To procure the attendance of witnesses at his trial compulsorily, that is, by subpoena and by arrest by the authorities if necessary.

To a prompt hearing if in custody — or alternatively his release — by habeous corpus proceedings.

To be present at his trial.

To a court open to the public.

To a jury trial, in certain cases.

To plead not guilty.

To require the crown to prove his guilt.

To require his witnesses to testify under oath.

To testify himself.

To decline to testify himself.

To, if convicted, speak to sentence, that is, to suggest any reason.

To the court why the sentence should be lenient.

To appeal or apply to appeal the conviction.

To appeal the sentence.

To a fair, just hearing by an impartial court.

It is only by insisting on the strict exercise of these rights that an accused person is fully protected under our law. Of course, if an accused throws away some of his rights by, for example, failing to request bail, pleading guilty, failing to engage a lawyer, or failing to apply for an early trial date, Etc., he cannot complain later.

Where is Rogers Pass?

It is the route through the Selkirk Mountains of British Columbia that was adopted by the C.P.R. for its main line. Snowslides and the difficulty of maintaining the road in the winter led to the building of the five-mile Connaught Tunnel. The pass lies between the Hermit and Sir Donald ranges of the Selkirks, north of Glacier station in Glacier Park. It was named after Major A. B. Rogers who explored it in 1881. In 1956 it was decided to adopt the Rogers Pass route for the Trans-Canada Highway.

Electric iron ease improved

Comparing old - fashioned housewares with modern appliances makes one realize that housekeeping was not all beer and skittles in the good old days. Imagine, for example, what a chore it must have been to keep the family in starched shirts and flounced petticoats with the aid of an old fashioned sad iron.

Since electric irons were developed, there have been many improvements in the original models — lighter weight, more comfortable handles, temperature controls, faster heating, a groove to iron around buttons and optional positioning of the cord to suit right and left-hand workers. But possibly the most useful improvement was the development of a combination steam and dry iron with a switch to change from steam to dry ironing as required.

Two new and practical developments are a spraying device to dampen the fabric by spraying ahead of the iron and teflon-coated sole plates. The first device eliminates the necessity of sprinkling on all but heavier materials which might be better sprinkled by hand.

A scratch on a teflon-coated sole plate isn't so likely to snag sheer materials as it is when a steel sole plate is scratched. An extra coating of the teflon on the tip of the iron which receives the most wear, is a practical feature. If eventually the teflon coating wears off, the iron is still usable.

Here are some points which you might like to check when purchasing a new iron: Test the handle. Is it comfortable to hold? Is the temperature control easy to see and reach?

Has the iron a window to check the level of water in the tank? Is the opening to the tank conveniently placed for filling?

Is the position of the cord convenient?

Tips on Care and Use: To prevent a build-up of mineral coating inside the iron, a demineralizer to condition tap water is recommended even in soft water areas. It is especially important in hard water areas.

Always disconnect the iron before emptying or filling the tank. Empty tank after iron is used and store iron on its heel. Wax sole plate by running iron, set at a low temperature, over wax paper. Then buff plate with a soft cloth.

Outlay doubled in 13 years

Double Your Money is the catch line as 1967 Canada Savings Bonds went on sale this month. This is the same feature introduced in last year's Centennial Series. If interest coupons are held to maturity, 13 years, money is doubled. Average yield is 5.48 percent.

There are new features. Interest for the first six years is 5.25 percent, highest initial interest yet.

For the first time corporations, partnerships, syndicates, trusts, churches, charity groups, clubs and associations can purchase. Previously sales were limited to individuals and estates. Limit for a buyer now is $50,000 instead of $10,000.

There are the old features that have made the bonds a big part of a Canadian citizen's thrift scheme for 21 years and while playing a major part in government financing.

They can be cashed anytime for face value plus interest; bought from banks, investment dealers and through the popular payroll savings plans in so many plants, firms and factories.

More than $19 billion have been bought in 21 Series. Last year was a record, 2.4 billion. Payroll sales set a mark of $269 million (14.3 percent over 1965), were bought by 694,260 employees in 5,100 firms.

WHY GIVE THE BURGLAR AN ENGRAVED INVITATION?

"You might as well give a burglar an engraved invitation to help himself at your house, if you leave valuables lying about," says Frank Daugherty, manager of the Gibsons Branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. Daugherty adds that behind the steel doors of a B of M vault is the safest place for valuables such as bonds, leases, stock certificates, insurance policies, deeds, birth certificates passports and other important family documents.

"It costs less than three cents a day to rent a B of M safety deposit box" he says, and explains that hundreds of thousands of Canadians use B of M safety deposit facilities, an indication of the popularity of this service. "It pays for itself again and again in peace of mind alone."

"Give the burglar a brush-off at your house. Keep your valuables in your personal strong box — it's exclusively yours — in a B of M vault."

Drop in soon and see Mr. Daugherty about renting a safety deposit box . . . it will set your mind at rest.

Avt.

Some heating fuels give you "extras" you'd be better off without. Like fumes and soot. With electric heat, no fuel is burned so no dirt is created to mar your furnishings. You get even, comfortable heat; operating costs are low, and your heating system requires little or no maintenance. Come to think of it, electric heat does give you one extra . . . the extra resale value it adds to your home. As the trend to all-electric living continues, more and more homebuyers will be demanding modern, efficient electric heat. That could mean a lot when the time comes to sell.

14,000 homeowners have made Electric Heat B.C.'s hottest seller!

LOUIS RIEL ON RADIO

Louis Riel is one of the musical highlights of this Centennial year in Canada. The new Harry Somers-Mavor Moore opera, which had its premiere last month in Toronto, will be broadcast in its entirety with the Canadian Opera' Company's original cast headed by Bernard Turgeon in the title role on the CBC-FM network, Sunday, Oct. 15 and on the CBC-AM radio network Thursday, Oct. 19.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor: I am appealing to you, through your newspaper readers, for some information.

I'm sure the residents of the Peninsula are aware of the Girl Guide Camp situated at Wilson Creek. All of the sites, except one, have names, for example, Hi-yu-win, meaning Wind in the Trees; Kut-a-wa, Clearing in the Forest; A-wa-ki, by the Water. Also Tipi-wai-kin, Si'al'um, Ko-wa-ka and Naw-i-lak.

The unnamed site, used by the Burnaby Girl Guides, needs a name. We would like to have Sparkling Water or Shining Water translated into the Sechelt language.

We would appreciate any assistance in naming the Burnaby Campsite, by writing to me at 4365 Midlawn, Burnaby, the above address. — Mrs. N. M. Jacobsen, Burnaby Heights Division Commissioner.

Editor: What right gives one man the power to control the morals of thousands of people? Does Mr. Campbell (Vancouver's mayor) think he is the only only moral person in Vancouver. Or does he think they cannot think for themselves.

I doubt very highly that Mr. Campbell ever thought to take a look at some of the books on the Vancouver scene. If Georgia Straight is obscene what is Fanny Hill and others like it?

The Georgia Straight, whether Mr. Campbell likes it or not, prints the real truth about Vancouver. It does not stop when someone says it might give Vancouver a bad name.

I cannot as a Canadian citizen see how one man can have control of the morals of thousands of people. — Mr. James Skinner.

Editor's note: What right gives one man the power to control morals? The same one that gives the Georgia Straight the power to publish. Freedom in this country is such that the question can become a matter for legal enquiry. Rights are not a one-way street. G. K. Chesteron, famous British writer, once said that art and morality consist of where you draw the line.

Halfmoon Bay - Pender Hbr. News

(By DOROTHY J. GREENE)

The Lovers of Life League will meet on Oct. 14 at 7:45 p.m. at the Greenes' for a raccoon party. Parents are welcome but they are urged to be punctual to make sure they see the show.

The Save the Children fund collection at Hallowe'en will be used for the adoption of a child for one year. This cost is $5 a month so donations should be liberal if this area wants to beat Roberts Creek's record of last year when it was able to adopt two children at a cost of $120.

Don't forget to bake some Christmas cookies and shortbread for the Halfmoon Bay Hospital auxiliary tea and bake sale on Oct. 21 at Welcome Beach hall starting at 2 p.m.

The parish harvest festival supper will take place Oct. 15 at St. Hilda's at 6:30 p.m. following a thanksgiving service starting at 5:30 with the archdeacon taking the service. Small children are esecially invited.

There is a growing industry on Trout Lake hill and it is the Cunningham B.A. garage with an excellent patio garden restaurant where wine and beer accompany the food. The old cafe continues to function on short orders. The ambulance service is of great benefit to the community and the first aid post is available for all who take highway curves too fast. Their three adopted children are a credit to the community.

The Halfmoon Bay Shell service cafe has been redecorated and is now providing excellent service. The twin Bond girls make fine waitresses and the Bond boys help Mr. Bond in his repair work.

The Donald Hendersons are planning a motel installation next to the garage after the turn of the year. It will be known as the Driftwood Motel.

Meetings to come at Madeira Park Community hall will be the film shows on Oct. 10 and 24; a fancy dress Hallowe'en party Oct. 28 and the Halfmoon Bay and bake sale, Sat., Oct. 21.

In hospital are Mr. Buck Cranswick and Mrs. Kingston of Halfmoon Bay and Mr. M. A. Shaw of Silver Sands. The Shaw home has been purchased by a sister of Mrs. G. Winning of Ole's Cove.

Mrs. Greta Jorgenson is being congratulated on winning the aggregate cup at the flower show Saturday and Mrs. Janet Allen for her hard work and many prize winning flowers.

A Centennial Thanksgiving Communion service was held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Church of His Presence by Rev. Barry Jenks. The oldest member of the congregation was Mr. McAllister, 90, and the youngest, Leiana Fraser, 9.

The church was decorated with huge vases of various seed heads, including huge green onion pods given by Mrs. Chaddie Bremner of Gibsons and variegated gourds by Mr. and Mrs. Julian, formerly of Merry Island lighthouse and now of Redooffs Road

ACCORDION CONCERT

Bob Dressler's accordion band will present a program starting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Elphinstone school auditorium and admission will be free.

There are about 35 members in the band and they are coming to the Sunshine Coast on a trip. Mr. Dressler suggested that they play for the encouragement of youngsters studying the piano accordion.

AIR RANGERS TO MEET

A meeting of Air Rangers will be held Monday, Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. at the home of Karen Alsager. Girls between 14 and 18 years old are invited to attend.

Censor rules

So the public will have information on regulations concerning restricted films which are shown in moving picture theatres Ray Boothroyd, manager of the Twilight theatre in Gibsons states the regulation concerning those under 18 years of age reads as follows:

Any person in charge of or employed in or about or by the proprietor of a moving picture theatre, may refuse to admit to or eject or cause to be ejected from the moving picture theatre during or before the exhibition for public entertainment in the moving picture theatre, of a film classified as Restricted, any person whom he deems in his absolute discretion to be under the age of 18 years and the refusal or ejection is not actionable at law.

Sechelt News

(By MARIE FIRTH)

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Shaw travelled to Victoria Thanksgiving weekend to attend the wedding at St. Luke's Anglican Church of Janet Mary Johns and Barrie Penrice. Accompanying them were Rickie Stephens and his fiancee. Both young men had been apprentices of Mr. Shaw's when he was in the cabinet making business in Vancouver. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Shaw are touring the Island for a few days recuperating from the accident which put Mr. Shaw in the hospital last week.

Mrs. Stan Bryant left for Nakusp last Friday to attend the wedding of Patricia Harris of that city, and Wayne Green of Port Alberni. Miss Harris, a graduate nurse of the Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, is a friend of long standing of Mrs. Bryant, who lived in Nakusp for nine years before moving to Sechelt. Mrs. Bryant will be staying with Mr. and Mrs. B. Crowell, and renewing old friendships

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hayward have been holidaying for the past 10 days visiting his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Atkinson in Kamloops. On their way home they stopped off in Vancouver to visit friends and relatives.

Don5t forget the Harvest Supperd in St. Hilda's Anglican Church Hall at 6:30 following the church service at 5:30, Sunday Oct. 15. The Ladies Auxiliary is busy preparing lots of good things to eat. There will be entertainment.

Thanks to the Sechelt Garden Club, the grounds of the new Village Hall will soon be landscaped. Money has been donated to cover the cost of the trees and shrubs and members of the club are preparing the ground.

A new business has opened in Sechelt under the management of Hazel Liste. They will specialize in dressmaking, alterations and repairs.

A warm welcome to newcomers Mrs. Betty Garner and daughter Kim, from Vancouver. They are now residing in Wilson Creek.

An unexpected guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Firth over the weekend was their son Allen from Castlegar.

Adults start night school

The Adult Education program was in full swing this week as adults attended night classes in Gibsons, Sechelt, Halfmoon Bay and Pender Harbor public schools. New students may still register for classes by contacting the Adult Education Office, 886-2241.

The ducumentary film program begins this week and will continue to meet twice a month, except December, until April 4. Films were shown at Welcome Beach Community hall on Tuesday night and will be shown Wednesday night at Sechelt Elementary and Thursday night at the Gibsons Landing Elementary School. Time for all film showings will be 7:30 p.m.

The Elphinstone Secondary school library will be open every Wednesday night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for research and study. An excellent collection of reference works, magazines and other material will be available for use in the library. A professional librarian will be on duty to assist.

A 12 week course in Industrial mathematics will begin on Monday, Oct. 16. Students may register at the first class session.

MORE ON BARFORD REPORT

101 area's spine

The whole question of growth in the Regional District is, in one sense, inextricably bound to the factor of accessibility. One of the major forces promoting the continued development of the district is the ferry route connecting the Sunshine Coast, and any change in the time-distance relationship of the district and metropolitan Vancouver will undoubtedly have a significant effect.

The traffic department of the B.C. Ferry Authority is at present initiating a review of the Horseshoe Bay - Langdale and Earls Cove - Saltery Bay routes. Operations will be assessed in the light of population changes over the past few years, and predictions of population and traffic growth for the future.

The present ships, with average capacities of 80 and 83 vehicles each per trip, are at present running at capacity most of the time, particularly during the summer months; and a program of mid-week promotion is being conducted to build up the weak spots. The Sunshine Coast Queen, which will be introduced later this year, has a capacity two and a half times that of the present ships, but no change in the timing of the run is contemplated.

Changes will have to be made at the Langdale terminal to accommodate the vessel; further, the discharge of over 160 vehicles at any one time may be beyond the ability of the present road system to accommodate. The capacity of the Powell River Queen on the Earls Cove - Saltery Bay run is inadequate to cope with present volumes, and steps will be taken to improve the situation. Improvement in the Powell River - Comox route, at present operated by the Toll Authority, are also being considered, and these may have some effects on travel habits, particularly those of tourists, in the area.

Highway 101 provides the spine to the district, and in conjunction with the coast, a major locational force for development. Relocation of the highway to bypass the Village of Gibsons is at present being actively considered by the provincial department of highways. This will have an effect on future development of the north of Gibsons, and also on the commercial area centred around the government wharf.

Two other projects may be in the process of consideration, but appear to have a low priority. Highway 101 north of Sechelt is sub-standard as a two lane provincial highway, and its inconvenience and frustration potential is recognized. Improvements will be undertaken, however, only when the pressure arises.

A cost-benefit analysis of a projected road from Woodfibre to Port Mellon was undertaken several years ago. This demonstrated the construction problems and high cost involved, and such a route could only be considered when traffic volume is beyond the capacity of the ferry system.

Traffic volumes on Highway 101 show a general upward trend over the past seven years — more than twice the volume in 1966 than there was in 1960. The average daily figures would also seem to indicate that the greater part of the volume is generated by the area between Gibsons and Sechelt. This points to the fact that the south-east section of the district is the major activity area. To go beyond this somewhat broad statement and indicate the proportion of through as against local traffic would, however, need precise information on the directional flow of traffic past these and other points, as well as the average daily traffic volume handles by the ferry system. The configuration of the road system would allow a relatively accurate and inexpensive determination of the flow patterns of vehicular traffic, and such information would be immensely useful from a planning viewpoint.

Big fish derbies expensive

For the past 29 years the Vancouver Sun has sponsored a free Salmon Derby which has become one of the largest in B.C. This year, the derby was held on Sunday, August 20, and it was estimated that 12,000 fishermen operating out of 4,600 boats took part in this one-day event.

The Sun Derby was selected for a special study by the department of fisheries and on Derby Day, field assistants of the department interviewed at random a total of 1,400 fishermen obtaining their names and addresses and some basic information on the extent of their fishing activities.

The list of names was used for mailing purposes and a special questionnaire requesting information on costs and fishing success on Derby Day was sent to 700 of those interviewed. A total of 317 questionnaires, or 42% of those sent out, were completed and returned.

On the basis of these returns it was calculated that the total amount of money spent on the derby by the 12,000 fishermen participating was $143,000. Boat owner and operator expenses were estimated at $13.78 each while the cost to other fishermen averaged $10.77. Boat operating costs, including rentals, gas, launching, etc., totalled $38,000. Fishing tackle purchased or rented was $46,000 with $11,000 spent on bait, $27,000 on food, $20,000 on other refreshment and $1,000 on accommodation.

A total of 408,000 man-miles was travelled by all fishermen, or an average of 34 miles per person. The total number of salmon caught — chinooks, cohoes, pinks and grilse — was estimated at 7,200 or an average of .6 fish per person.

Early homes on the prairies

It took a very special breed of people to settle permanently in the west. Life was hard and lonely. The winters were long, and the nearest neighbors would be miles away. Though he did not have to clear his land of forests before he could plant a crop, the western farmer still faced the hazards of drought, locusts, rusts and frost which could prevent him from reaping his crop.

There was very little timber available to the early pioneers on the prairies and they had to make the best of what they could find. Some homes were wooden shacks made of small poplar logs, as shown in the lower right of the drawing. The spaces between the logs were filled with clay or a mixture of mud and straw, both inside and out.

Sometimes the original homes were sod cabins and even caves dug into hillsides, with clay floors and white-washed walls. Some British families built dwellings of steeply slanted poles, thatched with coarse long grass from the sloughs. Most of the furniture was homemade. Early beds were made of small boughs. Later came straw-filled mattresses and eventually, as farming developed, the luxury of feather ticks.

The coming of the railway and promotion of Clifford Sifton, minister of the interior, greatly increased the flow of settlers. Small towns mushroomed, providing a store, a grain elevator, perhaps a cabinet maker, carpenter, blacksmith and weaver. When sawn lumber became available, it made possible the type of barn at the upper left, a combination of logs and frame construction.

Dear Doris:

DEAR DORIS — My husband left us several years ago and he has neither visited nor supported me and the four children since then. Usually sends a card at Christmas. Once in a while returns to the district and I am told enquires about his children.

(1) Should we send him a letter telling him of my daughter's coming marriage, or a wedding invitation?

(2) Should both his name and mine appear on the wedding invitation?

Wondering

DEAR WONDERING — (1) A letter or an announcement is probably best. Usually such a separation is evidence of bitterness: a bitterness which, if he were present, could cast a pall over an occasion which should be the last word in happiness.

(2) Just your name — unless he were to contribute to the cost. I gather this would be the farthest thing from his mind, even if he were to be consulted about it.

A salute to Suomi!

PART TWO
(By DOROTHY J. GREENE)
(Copyright)

I was billetted with Dr. Aino Teitennen who lived in a three room apartment with her mother and a maid. When her mother died she was given one week to fill the vacancy so she appealed to the British Council. Luckily I answered the phone and went to see her that evening after work and agreed to teach English at mealtime in exchange for board and lodging.

Hot water was turned on once a year so one kept a pot of boiling water on hand daily for bathing and laundry. I gave her my extra rations and she was amazed. Previously for the first month I had a rented room at 3,000 marks a week, a cold tap and basin, borrowed sheets and towels and an epectric saucepan. Breakfast consisted of a boiled 21c egg and ovaltine made from the egg water also black rye bread. No warts internal or external resulted as prophesied. To pay the rent I had to give three English lessons per week to the daughter of the house and only paid 2,000 marks per week. I also had the privilege of one bath a week, an unheard of luxury. I washed hair first, then body then the laundry.

However hot and ready food, prepared by the maid won the day. I had one room, Dr. Aino the other, the third was her consulting room. The maid gratefully slept in a kitchen alcove. She was a Karelian refugee, an ex-university student in Viipuri and did extra mural courses at night school.

I could go on about the passive resistance of this admirable people — how they were already paying their war debts to the USA — how two children's hospitals, the most modern in Europe were going up, built by gifts of coffee and sugar given by the American Red Cross under the enthusiastic leadership of Prof. Arvo Ylppo, Europe's leading pediatrician. He, by the way, celebrates his 80th birthday on Oct. 27 and present the Arvo Ylppo medal to the scientist who has done the best research work on premature babies. This medal has been given every five years since his 70th birthday and in perpetuity. It is hoped he will stay with us at Redroofs this November to recoup from his celebration and go fishing, his favorite relaxation.

I was devoted to his first wife Marietta when I stayed from January to May in 1938 and again in 1939, to teach him English. She died during the war. He was married again in 1954 to charming and brilliant pedetrician Lea Jokalainen. They have three sons and a daughter. Her brother Pentti works in New York at the surgical branch of the Medical College.

To the 1,000 patrons of Twilight theatre in Gibsons who saw Dr. Zhivago I can only say that the Russian trains have to be smelt to be believed! I have been in dozens of the onion roofed type of Victorian dwellings as portrayed in the film both in Finland and Estonia the land of the white Russian refugees but where are they now since the USSR won the war?

As for war scenes, go to Suomi (Finland) for the real war commission films if you want to see real nightmares.

To the large Finnish population on the Sunshine Coast, if I have brought back bitter memories, I apologize. My facts are true as they were checked with the late Finnish ambassador in London, before I lectured for the General Mannerheim appeal and the Finnish Red Cross under the leadership of the murdered Count Bernadot in the 1940s.

I salute you as a people I have been privileged to live with for one glorious fishing summer and fine hard working winters. So Ketos (Thank You).
