Candidate for NDP plots new riding vote

A New Democratic Party federal nomination convention has been called by the Coast-Chilcotin organization for Sat., Aug. 19 in Union Hall, Powell River, starting at 8 p.m.

This announcement has been sent out by Don Lockstead, president of the Coast-Chilcotin NDP association. In a newsletter three candidates are named for party nomination. They are Hartley Dent of 100 Mile House in the interior; Alex McCormack and Don Sprague, both of Vananda.

The newsletter also contains the platforms on which the three seek nomination. Candidate Hartley Dent, Anglican minister, who has taken part in more than one election campaign in the Cariboo country reports on the new constituency voting strength as follows:

This new riding of Coast Chilcotin includes sections of four old ridings. The coastal section from Howe Sound to Brem River is part of the old riding of Coast Capilano, held by Liberal MP Jack Davis. The vote in 1965 was as follows in this area: Davis (Liberal) 4,001; Deverell (NDP) 3577; Hunter (Social Credit) 2009; and Boyd (Conservative) 1100.

A second part of the riding is a large section of the old Kamloops riding, including such centres as Lillooet, 100 Mile House and Williams Lake, and most of the Chilcotin. The MP for Kamloops is Davie Fulton. The vote in this section of the new riding in 1965 was as follows: Liberal 1529; NDP 1142; Social Credit 1185. Conservative 2523. Most of this area is in the provincial constituency of Cariboo, and the provincial vote, in which I was the NDP candidate, increased from about 600 votes to over 2000 votes in the area.

A third section of the riding was formerly in Skeena riding held by New Democratic MP Frank Howard. This area centering in Ocean Falls and Bella Coola was won by the NDP by a wide margin with voting as follows: Liberal 524; NDP 1134; Social Credit 165; Conservative 91.

The fourth section of the riding was formerly part of Comox Alberni riding held by Tom Barnett, NDP. The 1965 vote was as follows: Liberal 158; NDP 550; Social Credit 131 and Conservative 99.

The total vote in 1965 in the new constituency was Liberal 6212; NDP 6403; Social Credit 3490; Conservative 3813.

Big swim set for Sunday

The big swim from Nanaimo to Sechelt is set to take place Sunday and will, if weather conditions permit, start shortly after dawn.

Three swimmers have decided to take part in this event. They are Mike Pawley, Vancouver Red Cross water safety instructor, Marjorie Wilmink of New Westminster, Ernest Wakub of Nanaimo and possibly others.

This swim, an approximate 20 miles, was attempted last year by Evelyn Creelman of Victoria who was lifted from the water two miles from the finish at Sechelt because of accumulating driftwood and darkness.

Mr. Moore, a former member of the forestry branch office at Sechelt was her coach and he made the decision to lift her from the water.

As this year's swim is organized more thoroughly it is expected there will be quite a crowd on hand at the end of the swim in Sechelt. Last year arrangements were made hurriedly so that Mrs. Chris Johnston, chairman of council at that time would be on hand to greet her along with Jim Hayes of Sechelt's Chamber of Commerce. She was taken to the Calypso Room where she was given hot coffee and a chance to rest and warm up. Remaining overnight at Cozy Court Motel she journeyed home to Victoria next day. Stan Lambert, skipper of the tug Never on Sunday, accompanied the young swimmer across the strait.

Organized at Nanaimo by Frank Ney who also staged the recent bathtub derby it is expected that success in the swim this year would see it become an annual event and one of the summer's big events between Nanaimo and Sechelt.

Fair opens Friday

The Sunshine Coast annual Fair will be officially opened at 7 p.m. Friday evening by Hon. Mrs. Isabel Dawson, provincial minister without portfolio.

Chairmen of Sechelt and Gibsons municipal councils, William Swain and Wes Hodgson, will extend greetings from their respective councils.

Queen Bev of Gibsons and Queen Laurie Allen from Sechelt will also grace the event with their presence.

Fair entries have been coming in at a fast rate and the Elementary school grounds and building where the fair will be held have been taken over for Friday and Saturday's big fair.

There will be some unusual events this year including a mutt show Saturday morning (see advertisement on page three) and many interesting exhibits not only in the hobby class but in others as well.

Gerry Clarke, secretary, reports that all is ready for the big event and providing the weather helps out at the opening ceremony Friday evening at the school hall entrance, nothing will be lacking.

Calls have been coming in steadily to the Coast News office from youngsters who are all set to show their favorite pooch in the Mutt Show, a feature of the Sunshine Coast Fall Fair at Gibsons Elementary School yard this Saturday at 10 a.m.

No entry is required, just bring your dog up 15 minutes before judging time and it might be well to have him or her on a leash.

Len Wray of the local SPCA with Dr. Hylton and their assistants will be on hand to judge all entries, big dogs, small dogs, young dogs, old dogs.

Prizes and awards will be given to the first three adjudged in all nine categories and consolation prizes to those who just didn't make it. Remember the Mutt Show, Sat., Aug. 12, Gibsons Elementary School yard at 10 a.m.

St. Pierre for Liberals?

Paul St. Pierre, Vancouver Sun writer of Caribou country fame will allow his name to be put forward as a Liberal candidate for the new federal Coast-Chilcoton constituency.

This was announced last Friday night by Norman Watson, Sechelt, at a Liberal organization meeting in Gibsons Anglican Parish Hall. The meeting formed a steering committee including Leo Johnson and Norman Watson, Sechelt; Archie Rutherford, Halfmoon Bay; James Drummond, Gibsons; Harry Batchelor, Selma Park; William Scoular, Pender Harbor and Robert Cumming, Roberts Creek.

The organization will be known as the Sunshine Coast Liberal association representing both the federal and provincial constituencies. Cliff Gilker was chairman of the meeting and Mr. Watson secretary.

Mr. Watson in announcing Mr. St. Pierre's desire to seek nomination said that Jack Davis, M.P. for the present Coast-Capilano constituency had got Mr. St. Pierre interested in seeking the nomination.

Next meeting of the association will be held in Sechelt's Hospital Cottage starting at 8 p.m. on Sept. 20. The revived association has decided to avoid two Liberal organizations both doing the same job in different fields. It is expected tne one organization will be more capable of doing a better job in both fields.

The provincial association will be informed of the re-organization in the Sunshine Coast area.

Many attend funeral

A large number of Vancouver's legal fraternity and others attended the funeral at 2 p.m. last Friday for Magistrate Andrew Due Johnston. He died on Tuesday of last week in Vancouver General Hospital where he was taken on Monday from his Burnaby courtroom when he became ill.

Canon Alan Greene, an old friend of the family officiated at the service in Mount Pleasant Chapel. Honorary pall-bearers were Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Mr. Justice Branca, Magistrate Murray Hyde, Frank Ney, Alex Matthews and Sam Dawe.

Active pall bearers were Dr. B. W. Hoeter, Guatemala consul; Arthur Jacobson, representing the Notaries Public society; Morley Kalinski, Leslie Parsons and William Craig, lawyers, and Douglas Reed, Burnaby municipal solicitor.

Floral tributes were numerous and came from the Sunshine Coast and many other places in and outside Vancouver. A representative wreath was sent by Sechelt Indian band. There were a good number of young people at the serpice.

The funeral cortege was accompanied by 30 members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from the funeral chapel to the Masonic Cemetery, Burnaby.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner wrote that Magistrate Johnston's service on the bench showed great wisdom and good humor in the discharge of his duties. His passing would be deeply felt in the communities and jurisdictions in which he worked so diligently.

Mr. Justice Branca wrote that Andy was a humanitarian with a great and sincere understanding of his human brother and his failings. He was truly a great magistrate despite his lack of legal schooling.

Magistrate Johnston was past president of the board of directors of the Society of Notaries Public of B.C.; five years president of the Sechelt Boy Scouts; five years president of the Canadian Legion branch at Sechelt; past master of Mount Elphinstone Lodge 130, A.F. & A.M., Roberts Creek, a member of King Solomon chapter 30 R.A.M. West Vancouver, and a past district deputy grand master of the Masonic Order.

He leaves his wife Christine, of Sechelt; four sons, Brian, Vancouver; Roger, Montreal; Ronald, Calgary; and Walter, Sechelt; two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Keddis and Mrs. John Johnston, both of Vancouver; five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Karen Jacobsen of Trondheim.

Grandmother battles fire

A fire alarm at 2:15 a.m. Monday came from the Cliff Mahlman Home at Pratt and Gower Point Roads where some old roadside logs ignited in some unaccountable way.

The Mahlmans at the time were in Calgary, Alta., on vacation. Mrs. Graham, mother of Mrs. Mahlman who remained at home attending the family, noticed the outbreak when she rose to give one youngster some attention.

She tried to put the blaze out herself with a garden hose but found the pressure insufficient and the flames becoming more menacing and approaching a trailer at the rear of the house.

It was then she turned in the alarm and within a few minutes Gibsons firemen were on the scene and got the blaze under control quickly.

Call tenders on ferry site work

Tenders have been called by the B.C. Ferry Authority for an extension and improvement of the Langdale ferry slip and area. Tenders close at 2 p.m. August 29 in Victoria.

From what the Coast News can learn the waiting to board area beyond the ferry slip gates will be extended in a southerly direction.

There will also be some work on the slip area to allow for the berthing of the recently acquired large ferry which will be on this run when available.

Andrew Due Johnston

Bereavement leaves pangs of sorrow and the Sunshine Coast has reason to feel the loss of Magistrate Andrew Due Johnston. He was a man of indomitable courage.

The 62 years of his life began in Trondheim, Norway, and when a lad of 18, Canada became his home. Since then he progressed by his own tenacity into becoming the first citizen of the town in which he lived a good part of his adult life.

During the Second War he served in the Canadian Army and rose to the rank of captain. On demobilization he moved to Sechelt where as a business man aided by an equally enthused wife he became a community leader.

There are few people of the Sunshine Coast who do not know Andy Johnston as an after dinner speaker. They can recall the pleasant humor he instilled into a situation when it needed such help. He could match wits with cabinet ministers, loggers, clerics and others, and had a knack of being able to penetrate the minds of most characters who appeared before him in court.

Perhaps he is better known as a magistrate than in any other field of his career. He did have a fling at politics but mainly in organization work. Few knew of the time and effort he put, at his own expense, into establishing the dignity of the court over which he ruled. No makeshift court for him. It had to be a court.

Few people know of his work among young people not only on the Sunshine Coast but in adjacent areas as a leader in Youth Guidance committee work. Such work was not confined in Indians. It covered all races and creeds, and was given little publicity.

Members of the Sechelt Indian Band looked upon Andy Johnston as a big help in time of trouble. They will miss him greatly.

His many friends far and near will echo the same sentiment as did Gibsons municipal council who, when informed of the death of Andy Johnston, stood for a minute's silence for a man whose courage in life was to feel "the daily daggers of relentless steel — and keep on living."

This occurred 20 years ago

The following item appeared in the Coast News on August 8, 1947, and should prove interesting in view of what is happening today in the field of water development. The item reads like this:

> Proposals for formation of a water board to serve the area from Roberts Creek, Gower Point to Hopkins Landing is under discussion in Gibsons.
> Roberts Creek, planning its own water board and a $35,000 scheme to service homes in that section, already has water rights on Mission Creek and Bowes Creek but it is willing to join the larger project when and if it is formed.
> Robert Burns, Gibsons village clerk, explained the general scheme. He informed delegates it would be costly and would require a great deal of 'ime and study. An engineer's services would be required.
> Board of Trade delegates offered to carry on with their committee and to contact interested individuals and organizations. Dr. Alan Inglis, sanitary inspector, said that from a saitation point of view a water board was a definite necessity for the whole district.

That ends the story in the Coast News of August 8, 1947. It puts emphasis on what is happening today. Let us hope that in spite of argument as to which is the best water source, Chapman or Langdale Creeks, that before long we shall be well on our way towards having a water sytsem which will be ample for the future population this area will get.

Minute message

"Blessed (happy) are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven.,,

In these words Jesus, as the great physician, gives his prescription for human happiness. His idea of happiness is very different from that which many have. They think that the kind of person who will be happy is the one who is proud of his own ability and who is ambitious to make an eviable name for himself in the world.

Such a person will forge ahead, amass a fortune and be in a position of great power. He will be happy because he will have attained what others very much desire.

But Jesus would say that this is not the highest happiness. The happy people are those who are without vain pride and unworthy self-assertion, who are, in other words, poor in spirit.

Those who are vainly proud will not acknowledge Christ's right to their full allegiance, and cannot be truly happy. But those who are poor in spirit, those who under the leading of the Holy Spirit have surrendered themselves, heart, soul, mind and body to Christ, the living door into God's Realm, are the truly happy ones.—Rev. W. M. Cameron, United Church

PAPER CLOTHES

The next 25 years or so could be the most exciting in the history of textiles, according to William Granger, editor of Men's Wear of Canada, who says that among the ideas that will radically change present thinking in manufacturing and retailing of men's apparel will be:

Introduction of paper-type and other non-woven fabrics; fibres that will react automatically to heat or cold to maintain a correct temperature and fabrics that will change color or pattern depending on light conditions. Looks like man in the future will take on the protective coverings and colorations that the chameleon and other animals have been using since life on earth began.

Dayton outlines water preference

Comparison of the Dayton and Bullock water reports contained in a brief to Gibsons municipal council, favors using Chapman Creek as the major water source for an area system. This brief prepared by Dayton & Knight, consulting engineers, points out differences of opinion between the basic philosophies of the two reports.

It is on the basis of the Dayton and Knight report that Gibsons council decided it would not favor the water rights branch Bullock report. This report describes the Bullock plan to use Langdale Creek as inadequate and unacceptable. The Dayton and Knight report urges Gibsons council initiate and sponsor a large scale plan of primary water supply using Chapman Creek as its source to serve an area from Langdale to Halfmoon Bay.

The 1965 Dayton Gibsons survey examined water needs of the village but the survey was expanded when it was realized that Gibsons would eventually need further sources of supply. The possibility of a large scale metropolitan water supply under one authority was then studied. Chapman Creek was selected as the best sources for such a water supply. A system was designed and estimated and the recommendation made that the preliminary concept be studied further.

The Bullock 1967 water rights branch survey report takes a different approach. It found various groups of people, some with unsatisfactory water systems, who surround the core area of Gibsons and who can economically be served with primary water provided the core area participates in a new supply scheme. The source of Chapman Creek, was studied and found to be inadequate.

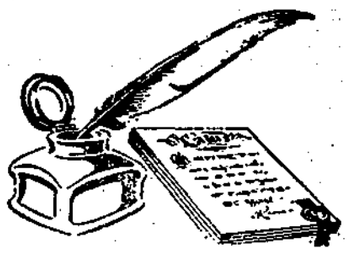
Both surveys used the same records of flow in Chapman Creek to judge its safe yield. The 1965 Dayton survey revealed discussions with the water resources branch of the federal department of energy, mines and resources to determine the accuracy of published low flows for Chapman Creek was offered advice to ignore the low flows because the creek guage was located in deep gravel and readings were known to be grossly low.

Chapman Creek with its watershed of 24 square miles (as compared to 2 square miles for Langdale Creek), is obviously the only source on the Sunshine Coast that should be developed for a primary water scheme. Without an adequate source any plan of water supply is inevitably headed for failure, the Dayton report concludes.

No metropolitan authority on water supply in North America would bypass Chapman Creek in favor of Langdale Creek, it adds.

Gibsons if it decided to take part in the 1967 Bullock recommended plan, would benefit as follows: It would receive a lump sum payment of $33,600 (payment for its water source). It would be relieved of the responsibility and costs of operating and maintaining primary water supply works.

Disadvantages to Gibsons the Dayton report says, are: Its water rates would be increased initially from the present $30 per single family connection to at least $50 to keep the waterworks system self-liquidating. It would also be supporting a scheme that does not recognize or protect the long term and needs of either the village or the area as a whole.



POINT OF LAW

by A Practicing Lawyer

COPYRIGHT APPLIED FOR

We welcome written questions on legal points from readers. If possible they will be answered in this column. Letters must be brief, signed and your address shown. Send to "Point of Law," c/o this newspaper.

Q. Every morning I am awakened by a neighboring dairy rattling milk cans at 5 a.m. I live in a residential area. Is there anything I can do about it?

A. There certainly is. One letter from your lawyer will probably solve this problem. If the dairy has to learn the hard way, an injunction (a court order) can probably be obtained preventing this noise, at the dairy's expense.

This falls under a branch of law known as nuisance. It is extraordinary how many nuisances are allowed to flourish without anyone availing themselves of their legal rights to prevent them. The law will stop nuisances if only the persons suffering will enforce their legal rights. The following are examples: smoke from factories, dust from construction, noises, noxious odors, vibrations from machinery, fumes, poisonous chemicals cast into rivers from factories, etc.

From a practical point of view, it should not be necessary to sue. See your lawyer and obtain his advice. He will write a letter demanding the ceasing of the creation of the nuisance. If the offending party fails to comply, the next step would be a summons for damages including a claim for an injunction preventing the repetition of the nuisance.

FEWER FARMS

Latest census figures for the year 1966 show that while the number of farms in Canada has slipped 10.5 percent, acreage has increased by almost one percent.

DON'T BE MISINFORMED ABOUT PRESCRIPTIONS

They are not expensive. The average nation-wide cost per prescription is about $3.41. 58% of all prescriptions are less than $3.00. Only about one percent are $10.00 or more. And, on the higher cost prescriptions, the gross percentage profit is no greater than a store gets when selling you a hat or a shirt. These figures are authenticated statistics.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the many cards of sympathy I received from my good friends and neighbors during my recent bereavement in the passing of my very dear wife. I would like to thank Rev. Canon Alan D. Greene who made it easier for me to bear my grief and conducted a lovely service. I would like also to thank Doctors Inglis, Crosby, Mylechreest and Hobson who were in attendance on various occasions, and my grate ful thanks to all the nurses who were so kind to her.
—Victor E. Metcalfe.

Thank you to all my friends who sent cards and flowers during my recent stay in St. Paul's Hospital.
—Linda Comeau.

Charlie and Kathie Mandelkau and family wish to thank all the kindly friends who have helped out in so many ways during their recent mishap. In times of trouble it's heartening to know we have so many good friends throughout Gibsons and area. We are indeed many times blessed.

Mimsy Farmer co-starring with John Cassavetes in Devil's Angels coming to the Twilight Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Aug. 15, 16 and 17, gave up that long climb of the Hollywood beanstalk to turn her back on the Cinderella road to fame.

A deeply personal decision caused her to call a halt to her flourishing film career and devote her life to another calling. At the film's completion she began training in a Canadian hospital to become a psychadelic therapist — a guide for persons under the supervised influence of LSD.

Scouts camp on mountain

The road took them to within about a mile of the top. By 2 p.m., three hours after departure from Gibsons camp was set up then some of the boys found their way to the top of the mountain. They found at the top a rock cairn with a surveyor mark.

That evening Harry Laing, Mark and Lance Ruggles and Elliott Trueman journeyed into the slash above the camp and lit flares which were seen by watchers in Gibsons. Next morning after a cereal breakfast the party climbed close to the top of the mountain and lit a smoke fire which was spotted by Gibsonites. Fire fighting was practiced and later the party journeyed to the top of the mountain again and raised the flag of Canada. More flares were set off that night.

Next morning the Scouts packed up and reached Port Mellon Highway for the return home at about 12:30 p.m. The Scouts thank Mr. Ray Johnson for the use of his pickup truck and Bill Laing for driving it. Last week the Scouts camped at Chapman Lake.

UNUSUAL HOBBY

One of the earliest stamp collectors on record was a young English lady who had no intention of displaying her accumulation in an album. Advertising in the London Times in 1841, she requested cancelled postage stamps to complete a whimsical project. The 16,000 stamps she had already received from personal friends, she said, would be inadequate to paper her dressing room.

PAT BOONE AT PNE

Singer Pat Boone rocketed to fame by bucking the tidal wave of rock 'n roll. The popular singer — who headlines the big PNE '67 free Grandstand Show

Dear Doris:

DEAR DORIS — My boy Joe who is now 11, was in bed three years with polio as a toddler and sucked his thumb until he was six.

At school he was put in an advanced class and couldn't do the work. By the time they changed him he was discouraged and hated school.

After that he just dawdled and the teacher got disgusted. Yet she says he could do lots better. His only handicap — ten percent vision in one eye — shouldn't be a thing which would hold him back, the eye specialist says.

How do you make a child want to learn?

Baffled

DEAR BAFFLED—Joe startoff with a far worse handicap: those years in bed, which deprived him of the usual chances to explore the toddler's world before being thrust into the much broader one at school.

In his case the advanced class was sheer folly — as you know by now.

When a child — or adult for that matter — has to try too hard, doesn't believe he can do it anyway, and then gets too tired, he is likely to give up.

A psychological assessment would put you back on the right track. The rest depends on careful and understanding teachers; patient help at home, with large doses of praise for any slightest step forward. All wrapped up in great gobs of love and laughter and fun.

Fish news

VANCOUVER-HOWE SOUND —The first good catches from odd-year pink runs homing to the Squamish and Indian Rivers were taken in lower Howe Sound last week. Up to the close of the weekend, two areas held most of the fish: the Cape Roger Curtis to Roberts Creek area and the east Howe Sound shoreline between Whytecliff and Lions Bay. Catches in the latter area also included fair numbers of chinooks and a sprinkling of coho.

Coho salmon catches last week indicated that stocks have thinned out considerably. The next good coho fishing might be a wait of some weeks yet till ocean stocks pass through these waters enroute to spawning streams.

As for Britannia chinooks some fair catches came from Upper Howe Sound last week. Several 20 pounders were boated. Biggest chinook tipped the scales at 33½ lbs.

Apart from an 18½ pounder taken off Cowans Point last week, indications were that fishing here had been slow.

Your chances of taking a chinook or two in the Lee's Bay, Pender Harbour, Bargain Harbour vicinity were pretty good, providing you came equipped to mooch with live herring. Chinooks last week ranged from 6 to 40 lbs. with Tom Cacchioni of Vancouver landing the big one. Dave Mayne of Burnaby was one of the runners-up taking a 32 pounder last Tuesday, July 25, from the Indian Island Hole inside the Pender Harbour entrance. Several other chinooks between 20 and 30 lbs. came from waters just off Henry Point at the Harbour entrance.

Boat checks afloat and at dockside Saturday in the Pender Harbour vicinity rated the fishing good. A check of 16 boats in the forenoon found 12 ith fish aboard and 4 without. Total catch for the 12 came to 1 jack and 11 coho to 11 lbs. Afternoon and evening checks found 18 of 58 boats with fish aboard and counted a total catch of 15 chinooks to 30 lbs., 2 jacks, and 6 coho to 7 lbs.

Friends meet

A fine day greeted those who attended St. Aidan's ACW garden party Friday at the beautiful Roberts Creek home and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. R. Cumming.

Local residents were pleased to meet former members who have moved out of the area. The event was opened by Mrs. Minto Swan.

The stalls were well patronized with the parcel post office being most popular as more than 100 parcels were purchased. The parcels came from every province and territory in Canada. The parcels were connected by string to the approximate mailing place. The door prize was won by Mrs. Gibb of Roberts Creek.

Extra living space here

Plan No. 11312 (copyright No. 117093)
1312 sq. ft. area

Does your family need extra living space for recreation room, extra bedrooms, or maybe a suite for mother-in-law?

Then, a cathedral entry type of home is your best investment and here is a good example of this type of home, especially suitable for a lot that slopes to the rear.

The roof projects to cover the entry while the living dining area is in the popular L shape, with an outside wall fireplace to accommodate many variations of furniture arrangements.

Lots of cupboard space, in both kitchen and utility area, are an especially attractive feature of this well planned home. Three excellent bedrooms with plenty of closet space, and plumbing "en suite" and walk in closet in the master bedroom, large bathroom with lots of storage and full sized vanity, complete the layout of the floor plan.

This is a particularly attractive example of the cathedral type entry, with vertical and horizontal sidings combining with a shake roof for an attractive appearance. Double doors at the front are a handsome addition.

The house is designed to the standards of the National Building Code of Canada, for approval under N.H.A. or conventional mortgage. Blueprints may be obtained from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd. Send 85c in coin or money order to receive a copy of Select Home Designs plan book, to the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 96 Kingsway, Vancouver, B.C.

Paper bikinis?

The French who are noted for not wasting any of their woodlands are now producing and selling paper bikinis, which are proving fast sellers. We have long realized the importance of the "trunks" of trees but now we have paper bikinis, paper dresses, and many other products that have envolved from the tree.

During the last six months of last year more than 500,000 paper dresses were sold through department stores in the United States and these ranged from a price of $2 to $9. Last year's Christmas tree, with our present system of utilization, might wind up this summer as your wife's bikini.

Dyes from bark

In early days our pioneers obtained their dyestuffs from native trees. An extract of butternut gave butternut jeans their name, a name synonymous with pioneer simplicity and hardship. Yellow and green dyes were at one time made from coffeetree, which was also used in making soaps and coffee substitutes, as well as furniture. The Osage-orange is practically identical with the fustic imported from Mexico and Central America for dye purposes. During World War I, Osage-orange was in great demand due to the cutting off of supplies of German chemical dyes and many soldiers wore olive drab uniforms dyed with the same Osage-orange used by their forefathers in homespun garments.

Gold guarded by armed men

The Cariboo Road to the gold fields of B.C., completed in 1865: miners are going in, and a coach is coming out, with gold guarded by armed men. Placer gold was discovered on the Fraser River in the 1850's. It was Canada's first important find of the precious metal.

Further discoveries up the river sparked the Cariboo gold rush of 1858. Only two years before then, the white population of B.C., then known as New Caledonia, consisted of employees of the Hudson's Bay Co.'s fur trading post plus 40 freehold farmers, at Fort Victoria on the colony of Vancouver Island.

Then came the impact of thousands of prospectors and adventurers from California and other parts of the world.

Britain quickly proclaimed a second colony on the mainland, named it British Columbia and gave it a civil government with its capital at New Westminster.

The gold rush also led Sir James Douglas, the first governor of the two colonies (which merged in 1866) to build the Cariboo wagon trail up the course of the Fraser from the head of steamboat navigation at Yale to Barkerville, the centre of gold mining in the Cariboo country.

The road was planned by Royal Engineers under Colonel Moody and at their direction it was completed by private contractors in less than three years, one of the finest roads ever built. It was nearly 500 miles long, 18 feet wide, and justly regarded as a major triumph of engineering, because of the precipitous canyon and rugged country it traversed. The Cariboo trail and the people who used it brought about the first extensive settlement of B.C.

Although many successful miners returned to civilization, others remained and continued prospecting or turned to other occupations. The opportunities of feeding and supplying the gold rush induced pioneer farmers, ranchers and tradesmen to settle in the fertile valleys of the interior.

Roberts Creek needs water

It was mighty good while it lasted, that fresh clean mountain water of Roberts Creek, but alas, with weeks of hot, sunny weather, the supply diminished, and many homes found their pipes and gardens dry. So now comes the big question, to suffer this annual water shortage or to try for a community system which will end the drought.

To look into the matter a committee has been set up, with Jack Eldred at its head, to take a poll of residents and part-time residents on whether to become an improved district with water in mind. With such, the government would authorize an engineer to look the situation over, after which some idea of the cost could be obtained.

One is not committed to anything if he signs his name to a petition to explore into the feasibility of such a move.

Some facts noted: Taxes would go up a few dollars; insurance costs would go down; water is of vital importance.

Canvassers will call at each home very shortly. They are Mr. Eric Rosen for White Ave. and vicinities; G. Robertson and A. Dube, Hall road and vicinities; the Bill Clarks and the Gregsons parts of Lower road and White Ave.; Harry Almond the east end of the district and Jack Eldred the Upper Highway.

At no time is it to be confused with paid statutory holidays.

FASHION CONSULTANT TO THE 160 SINGER CENTERS IN CANADA

Start with a coat-costume to launch your wardrobe off to a happier, better - organized start. Sew coat and matching dress in your favorite color. Accessorize carefully with hat, shoes, bag, gloves and jewellery. Now, what other clothes do you need for your way of life? Jot down color and fabric suggestions that co-ordinate with your coat and accessories. Follow this plan and you'll be able to pack clothes for a week in an overnight bag. The best example is a wardrobe designed for Expo 67 travel which combines dresses, coats and jackets for maximum mileage. A color-booklet can be picked up at any Singer Sewing Centre.

Clues to clashes. Once upon a time, only "safe" colors were paired off, navy and red, brown and yellow and so on. Now it's the wow of clashing brights that really sets fashion frizzing. Try raspberry and moss, acid green and powder blue, fuschia and lavender, navy and orange. More ideas? Look to decorator prints, abstract paintings, magazine ads. Shake off your inhibitions! Let color run riot.

Suit your type. Strictly feminine? Sew a Dandy pantsuit with a froth of frosty eyelet at neck and cuffs. Pick cool raspberry sherbet pin-striped with creamy vanilla and stretch the jacket long and smooth for maximum elegance. A bit of a tomboy? You'll love the English-style pantsuit with two pairs of pants, one short and one long and lean. Spare shoulders, narrow lapels and high three-button closing mark the skinny look of the jacket. Tailor it in the sharp, clean look of linen, cocoa and cream lined up in a neat tatersall check. Top with a mod cap to match.

On the Waterfront

(By ERNIE BURNETT)

Another week has gone, and so has the sun, but for a change the fish are here. It was unfortunate that the weekend turned wet, but we can't complain. This must be one of the best summers yet.

The fishing has been good off Camp Byng, with some good large fish being caught, and there is a bit of everything, coho spring, humpback and grilse, and a few cod and dogfish. There have been a few off the Rock and Gower, and the odd one from the north end of Keats.

Plumper Cove was filled again over the weekend and there were a lot of visiting boats in the bay, with the usual shortage of wharfage. Until next week, good luck, have a good trip, and be good sportsmen.

The driftwood is still taking its toll of props and shafts, as well as some of those unwanted chain holes. I have also had several reports of great fields of seaweed or kelp floating in the gulf. These are good things to avoid. The skin divers have been doing well along the breakwater, getting a good catch of cod. Smitty's Marina is starting to take shape again, but it's a lot of work.

It has been brought to my attention lately of some very unsportsmanlike things going on, such as going over a man's line while he has a fish on, cutting the line and giving the boat a good rolling around.

If a man close to gets a fish on, give him a break. Pull your tackle and give him a chance.

So until next week, good luck and be a good sportsman. A quick reminder. There must be a life jacket for each person in the boat. Several boats have been pulled up on this lately.

Boys to sing

Local residents are invited to join in a Centennial Campfire and celebration to be held in the lower camp grounds of the Salvation Army Camp Sunrise, on Wednesday, August 9 beginning at 8 p.m.

During the evening a colorful pageant depicting the history of our country will be presented by the adult and children campers. Also featured will be the 50 voice boys chorus.

40 FT. FLOAT

A 40-foot long salute to Canada's Centennial Year is the theme for this year's Pacific National Exhibition float. The float, which will be one of the highlights of the giant parade through downtown Vancouver on opening day, August 19, will promote. the Century Pacific theme of PNE '67 as well as salute Canada's Centennial.

Gibson author's story travels far

This all started ten years ago when Mrs. Wesley Hodgson, wife of the chairman of Gibsons municipal council, wrote an article for the Canadian Pacific Railway company magazine The Spanner.

The article ran in the 1957 Christmas issue of the magazine and later, Mrs. Hodgson incorporated the story among many others in a book, Autumn Leaves, printed by the Coast News.

The basic theme of the article concerned how the area got its first holly, laburnum and laurel trees. It happened at a CPR auction of unclaimed freight in Vancouver and George Gibson, attending the auction, came home with a supply of these trees. Some 60 years later, Mrs. Hodgson wrote in her article how a bountiful harvest of holly is sent easterly beyond the mountains and how now the area has many solid laurel hedges and other tree growth as a result of the Gibson purchase.

The next thing Mrs. Hodgson knew was a clipping sent her from the Sunday Star-Bulletin & Advertiser in Honolulu dated Feb. 12, 1967, in which is outlined the picturesque village of Gibsons as being Canada's holly centre, based on the story Mrs. Hodgson had written for the CPR Spanner magazine. No credit was given to the original article then or at a later date.

Last April 10 the Coast News received a letter with enclosures from Mrs. M. E. Gammie of the Greater Vancouver Visitors and Convention bureau. The enclosures were four copies of an article the bureau had distributed to 325 travel editors throughout North America. Mrs. Gammie wrote that she was sorry she could not take credit for writing the story as it was written by a Mrs. Ann Rivkin.

The article written on the enclosures was the same one used by the Honolulu newspaper, word for word.

The entire press release by the Tourist bureau was apparently based on Mrs. Hodgson's article written in Gibsons and used in the CPR Spanner first and then in a Coast News printed book, which is now a collector's item.

Mrs. Hodgson reports she is pleased Gibsons received such publicity even through the Vancouver bureau overlooked giving the originator of the article one mention at least.

Tenders opened

Five tenders, two from local contractors, were opened at the school board office for playing field development at Gibsons, Langdale and West Sechelt Elementary schools and Elphinstone Secondary School.

The tenders were from A. C. McEachern Ltd., Port Coquitlam for $50,950; Jenson and Johnson Landscapers, Vancouver, $59,973 Ed Fiedler, Gibsons, $68,000; C. Sicotte, Gibsons, $72,776 and Holland Landscapers, Vancouver, $99,908.

The board's building committee will come to a decision on the tender when it meets again.

Pantaloons tea feature

In a pert poke bonnet and even perter pantaloons, Mrs. Cliff Beeman, convenor of the Roberts Creek Hospital Auxiliary Centennial tea, surveyed her work and found it satisfying, last Saturday at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Stan Rowland, president, in demure blue and white checks and blue sunbonnet, greeted the guests.

The attire chosen by members of the auxiliary was colorful, gay and varied. There were plumed hats, laced bodices, prim collars and cuffs. Full skirts, and looped skirts. Curls, skirth, and looped skirts. Curls, beauty spots, cameos.

At the bake table, the quantity of goodies disappeared in record time with Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. C. Hilchie and Mrs. A. Crawford on the job.

Mrs. R. McSavaney was at the door; Mrs. R. Hughes and Mrs. K. Baba, assisted by Debbie Baba held forth in the kitchen. Gorgeous gladioli, grown by Mr. Baba sold for 10c a stalk. The artistic flower arrangements on the tables were the work of Mrs. H. Tibb. Among the servers were Mrs. J. Forbes, Mrs. R. Leask and Mrs. J. Shields.

Winners of the draws, which were in charge of Mrs A. McIlwaine, were Mrs. J. R. Marsh, who won the dainty hand-done smocked dress, donated by Mrs. A. Rutledge, and Mrs. J. Shields jr., who became the owner of a pair of boy's pants.

Mrs. G. Mould was in charge of the children's corner where mysterious 10c packages could be purchased.

After the tea, sand-filled plastic cups were decked with flowers and distributed to patients in the hospital.
