B. L. COPE DIES

Bertram L. Cope, in his 88th year, died Saturday at his home in Roberts Creek. Mr. Cope was well known on the Sunshine Coast.

Power boat day likely

A power boat demonstration, possibly for Sea Cavacade time was termed likely by Walt Nygren at the recent meeting of Gibsons and District Chamber of Commerce.

Walt Nygren said power boat people in Vancouver had written to see what they could do about a day in Gibsons area if someone would put up prizes worth $500.

Mr. Nygren said he was anticipating further correspondence with the power boat men and would try and tie them in with the Sea Cavalcade weekend during early August.

Mayor Wally Peterson informed the meeting that the council planned to refloor the unused part of the Municipal wharf so a booth could be built there for club purposes during the summer. Frank Daugherty earlier announced that there would be a July 1 event there in aid of the Children to Children fund. There are also other events lined up.

Gravel project size limited

Construction Aggregates, involved in the removal of gravel through the Sechelt Indian Reserve to water for barging has decided to work for the time being a small area of the whole.

This was revealed at last week's monthly meeting of the Sunshine Coast Regional District board when an application for limited operation was received.

If the company had arranged that it start work on the whole area it would pay costs on the whole under land use regulations. By cutting down the area to about one-quarter of the whole such taxation would be limited to the same extent.

New Eldorado!

If you are broke, collect coins or just want some work to do, the man to see is Gene Yablonski at 1625 Marine Drive, Gibsons.

He has been turning the soil in his backyard and has found something like 15 nickels, one of them dating back to 1923. According to pioneers his lot was a well treed lot and provided good shelter on hot days.

Huck Marshall, a neighbor, says he remembers when the youngsters of Gibsons played among the trees there and that it is quite likely the nickels fell out of their pockets.

Gets six months

Sydney Garnett Edmonds whom RCMP Const. D. B. Roth disarmed at about 1 a.m. on the morning of May 15 when called to the Edmonds home, was sentenced to six months jail plus probation for three years and a five year ban on carrying firearms.

He was charged with being in possession of an offensive weapon. Cst. Roth talked his way close to the armed man in spite of the loaded .308 rifle and eventually overpowered him.

Pupils sensible!

Roberts Creek Elementary school pupils have offered to place six barrels for garbage at selected spots in Roberts Creek area in an effort to keep down pollution.

A letter to the Sunshine Coast Regional District board making the offer was read at its May 29 meeting. The youngsters wanted to know if it would be approved and if the garbage collection service would see that they were emptied when required.

Chairman Cliff Gilker of the Regional board complimented the youngsters on behalf of the board and in turning the matter over to the garbage committee said the regional board should try and do something for them.

It was suggested the board look into the possibility of placing such containers at other areas where there is likely to be gatherings of people on a recreation basis.

Water finance easement possible

Financing of the Regional District's water system under the new Municipal Financing Authority is under close study of directors of the Sunshine Coast Regional District board.

At a special meeting in early April the board discussed the possibility of the district's water financing coming within the scope of Municipal Financing Authority act, legislative bill No. 74.

This bill stipulates that the authority may finance only those sewer, water, pollution control and abatement facilities for which a loan authorization bylaw was adopted after March 31, 1970.

The Regional District bylaw covering authorization for a $1,000,000 water loan which was later extended to $1,500,000 was passed by the board on March 28, 1969. The Municipal Authority act becomes effective on authorizations adopted after March 31, 1970.

However there is a section in bill 74 which the regional board has studied. It involves the right of approval of the lieutenant-governor to request that the financing authority take care of the Sunshine Coast $1,500,000 loan financing.

J. D. Baird, deputy minister of municipal affairs addressing the Municipal Officers Association took a dim view of municipalities borrowing at an interest rate of 10% on capital projects. He urged all local government bodies to use great restraint on borrowing. He mentioned that the new municipal financing auth ority would meet on July 3, and that all debenture issue requests should be in the hands of the secretary of the authority before June 25.

The problem will also be tackled at the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities whose strength is expected to be exerted on behalf of municipalities who are finding financing difficult while on their own.

The 10 acre subdivsion minimum set by provincial authorities does not apply to shoreline lots.

The proposed nursing home for the Ballentine property in Hopkins area was squelched when 15 area residents protested by letter. While not in line with Regional District zoning plans the title contained a covenant restricting the land to residential use.

A Halfmoon Bay beach area recommended to provincial authorities by Lee Straight as a possible provincial park received a ministerial reply to the effect it was not of provincial significance. Some directors thought it was of regional significance but Gibsons Mayor Wally Peterson urged caution as parks could become a responsibility without provincial financing.

The board learned that Pender Harbour ratepayers association sent out 196 requests for an opinion on garbage collection. There were 121 replies with 109 opposed and 12 in favor.

Indiscriminate garbage dumping brought the suggestion from Director Frank West, Gower Point, that Gibsons should have compulsory collection. Other directors said the Port Mellon highway was still a dump ground. Mayor Peterson said he felt that Gibsons had no problem. It was hoped that the RCMP would catch some culprits and produce a court case.

The board adopted the Halfmoon Bay water plan in principle with the idea of implementing it as finances will permit. As regards the Rosamund road water problem if more than 25 consumers would sign up it could be developed readily.

Labor troubles are costing the Regional District money, If it can get men to line the reservoir basin the cement will have to be brought in from the United States which would add to costs.

Arbo Realty company was advised that its trailer established in Hopkins area is on a temporary permit and that the board is to seek legal advice whether condominiums are permissible under the proposed zoning bylaw.

Free trips desired

A resolution going the rounds of school boards was discussed at Tuesday night's school board meeting. It concerns transportation of students via ferries on a complimentary basis while engaged in school programs.

The resolution originating with this district's school board has been accepted by the B.C. School Trustees Association for presentation at the annual convention. It also has the backing of Powell River and Squamish boards.

The resolution asks that the B.C. School Trustees Association urge the minister of education to seek an amendment to the Public Schools Act and-or other legislation where by provision can be made for complimentary passage on B.C. Ferries for groups of students engaged in curricular or extracurricular programs when such programs are authorized by the board of school trustees.

So far efforts to convince the department that this would be a desirable move have failed to obtain the required result.

New mail box

A post office outgoing mail drop box is now in operation in Sunnycrest area at the point where rural mail boxes are set up, James Marshall, Gibsons area postmaster, announces. It will be cleared each day at 12 noon and if possible a later hour will be considered.

At the main post office on Gower Point road a drop box will be installed shortly at the rear road entrance to allow mail to be deposited after post office hours.

UBC GRADUATES

A complete list of graduates from UCB reveals five from Gibsons: Peter Mason (engineering physics), Nancy Elaine Leslie (B.Ed., elementary) Virginia Irene Douglas (B. Ed., secondary), Eugene Yablonski (B.Ed., secondary), and Francis Madeline Brown (Diploma in education of children with learning disorders).

Hopkins Landing: Linda A. Dockar (B.Ed., elementary).

Sechelt: Arlene M. Johnson (BSA), Gloria Helen Bishop (BA), John Sherwood Hayes (B. Sc.) Philip Brooks Malpass (B. Sc.).

Youth club organized

Over the past weeks a group of school aged people has been trying to organize and promote an organization as a youth club. At first they decided to go on their own with no assistance from the outside. The name of the club was Clique but it was found wiser to be affiliated with the Kinsmen; therefore it is now known as Kin-20.

What is Kin-20. It simply means that Kinsmen are sponsors and the age limit is 20 for the present time. Kin-20 is a youth organization helping the youth of the Sunshine Coast with dances once a month.

They try to have the best entertainment, bands, etc. at a reasonable price. Kin-20 is more than just entertainment. It is hard work on the part of the members in organizing and doing general duties. In other words give the Sunshine Coast a long needed assist which is organizing youth entertainment and involvement on the whole.

How do you become a member of Kin-20. You will have to seek out one of the Kin-20 members and obtain the Kin-20 bylaws which should be read over carefully. Go to a few meetings and find out what the club is doing. Then you can decide whether or not you want to take a part in their work.

Graduates celebrate

Following the graduation dance at Elphinstone school, graduates and friends congregated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Quarry, Veterans Road, for the annual all night party. It is estimated that well over 100 attended. At one point the crowd numbered 80 with standing room only. However everyone joined in the fun and had an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Quarry, with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McGregor, Barry Quarry and Gratia Burns have nothing but praise for the young people. Mrs. Quarry stated that these teenagers are to be commended on their behavior.

All conducted themselves in an orderly manner and the grads enjoyed themselves as much as Mr. and Mrs. Quarry enjoyed having them in their home.

At 6 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Quarry and the remaining students were guests for breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alsager, where 50 were served bacon and eggs, pancakes and sausages and syrup. Mr. and Mrs. Alsager also had high praise for the graduating class.

HOUSING MEETING

The annual general meeting of the Sunshine Coast Senior Citizens' Housing Society will be held on Friday, June 12 at 8 p.m. in St. Hilda's Church Hall, Sechelt.

Board reverses resignation vote

School board Secretary-treasurer J. S. Metzler who proffered his resignation at the April 23 board meeting withdrew it at the request of members of the board.

This occurred at the May 28 meeting when the matter came up for discussion at an in camera session. (See editorial on Page Two).

No announcement has been made by the board on the deliberations at the meeting but it is understood the vote on the motion asking Mr. Metzler to withdraw his resignation eventually became unanimous.

Conditions in the building industry may force the school board to accept available accommodation in spite of the district superintendent's aim to get the board installed in its own premises.

The issue came before the school board's meeting last Thursday night when the planning committee's board office accommodation was referred back to the committee for further study. The committee has three possibilities, the Lang block in Gibsons, Clayton's in Sechelt but not available until new construction occurs or a construction offer on a 3-year lease basis.

Secretary-treasurer J. S. Metzler informed board members that Victoria prefers that available rental space should be used before proceeding into new construction.

An amended resolution asking free transportation for students on B.C. Ferries when on school ventures will be included in this year's convention of the provincial school trustees association.

Superintendent Hanna read a letter of congratulation from Mr. F. R. Levirs, superintendent of education, to Ross Bown, a Langdale Elementary school pupil aged six who had his drawing selected as one of 50 from British Columbia, to take part in a contest for the final selection of a Christmas stamp. The board will send a letter of congratulations to Ross and to his teacher.

UBC native students offer education views

Reporting to the school board at last week's meeting, on a seminar at Harrison Hot Springs on Education for the '70s. Trustee Mrs. A. Labonte revealed that quite a bit of attention is being paid to the Indian education problem.

Later at the same meeting R. R. Hanna, district superintendent, said that there would be a June 3 meeting to discuss the continuation of the Indian integration project.

Two native UCB students offered the Indian point of view with Nathan Matthews outlining positive benefits such as a wider association for Indian students and that the education received in public schools is of better quality than that formerly received. On the negative side he said the alienation of a student from home life, language and cultural differences are a handicap to the Indian in the competitive school system.

His personal experience was that the image of the Indian student, which has been created over the years, is not a good or true one. He appreciated the experience of having some Indian teachers because he could identify with them and look up to them. He felt that in order to eliminate a feeling of discrimination the teacher or person dealing with the Indian must display a genuine interest in the person.

Betty Wilson was critical of the treatment of the Indian in the past. She resented the influence of the church and in many cases Indian department influence. Improvements she advocated were a revision of text books, employment of Indian teachers, more financial assistance, Indian counsellors and more Indian students at university.

Ray Hall, regional superintendent of education and Mrs. L. G. P. Waller, chief superintendent of Indian schools expressed views of the department of Indian affairs. It was stated that Indian Affairs strongly supports the appointment of Indian counsellors and that the department is willing to back financially, special services for Indian education.

There are at present 121 Indian students attending post-secondary institutions in B.C. A credit course has been set up at UBC for teachers who wish to specialize in Indian education. Three Indian students have been appointed to do counselling among the natives and UBC has relaxed entrance requirements for Indian students to permit them to proceed to higher learning.

Teachers set up awards

John Ayris, president of the Sechelt Teachers' Association, announced at the May membership meeting that several awards were made by the teachers to deserving community organizations. The teachers also elected officers for the 1970-71 school year.

Donations totalling $900 went to three different groups, $500 to the Retarded Children's Association fund, $300 to the Recreation Centre of the Sunshine Coast and $100 to the award-winning Driftwood Players to help the local drama group defray their expenses to the B.C. Drama Festival. The Drama Festival is sponsored by a branch of the provincial government. Mr. Ayris also stated that the membership had also raised its three student scholarship awards from $150 to $200.

A report from Mrs. Joan Warn, public relations chairman, expressed pleasure that all four Indian teacher aides at the Sechelt Elementary School are receiving assistance from the Department of Indian Affairs to continue their education. She also voiced appreciation for the good work done by the aides, Miss Linda Joe, Miss Darlene Joe, Mr Tom Paul and Mr. Walter John.

Mr. Ayris also announced that a dinner honoring retiring teachers will be given at Lord Jim's on June 11. The teachers to be honored are Mrs. Eileen Glassford, Mrs. Cloe Day, Mrs. Iris Smith, Mrs. Jean Fallows and Mrs. Lois Stannard.

The table officers elected by the association for 1970-71 were: Mr. John Burnside, president; Mr. David Smethurst, vice-president; Mrs. Doris Fuller, secretary and Miss June Wilson, treasurer. Mr. Ayris will also serve as a table officer as junior past president.

The pressure eases!

The decision of Mr. J. S. Metzler to withdraw his tendered resignation as secretary-treasurer of the school board should help a more pleasant relationship in school board affairs.

It should not be taken for granted that the entire board was happy because Mr. Metzler had decided he wanted to terminate his association with the board. It is true a minority welcomed the resignation. The others felt sorry for Mr. Metzler and the position in which he found himself.

The Coast News seeks no pat on the back for its unhesitating support of Mr. Metzler. It felt it was a duty and not a campaign for or against anybody. The future of this school district was on the table and there was no use mincing words about it.

Perhaps the quiet operation of some members of the silent majority of ratepayers was more effective than they suspected. It was not necessary for Mr. Metzler to seek a platform on which to express his feelings. They were evident as the result of the actions of a minority of members on the board. The obviousness of the situation was crystal clear. At no time did the majority of board members regard Mr. Metzler's resignation a necessity. The vote by the majority to accept his resignation was a vote of sympathy coupled with regret.

Now that the situation has been brought to a head and the board back where it started with Mr. Metzler as secretary-treasurer he should be allowed to fulfill his obligations to the board and public. Perhaps he will be given the chance to do the job for which he was hired. A good many ratepayers are of the opinion he has done a good job. Let's hope those vigilant taxpayers will continue their vigilance and step forward when the need arises again in the future.

Readers may recall a meeting one year ago when pressure was evidently on Mr. Metzler and an in camera session was called for the board to hear a report on the secretary-treasurer by Clarkson, Gordon & Company covering an analysis of the board's financial system.

nIformation which came out at the in camera session was referred to at the open public meeting of that night when Trustee Agnes Labonte asked Trustee Walter Burtnick to explain to the public meeting what had transpired at the closed meeting.

Dr. Burtnick said the auditors found the secretary-treasurer, J. S. Metzler, was doing an excellent job. The accounting was in good order and no major changes were recommended.

Any changes that might be made would be of a minor nature. The auditors said they were favorably impressed with the secretary-treasurer. Dr. Burtnick added that he hoped this report would relieve the board of some of its problems.

Before the meeting closed Trustee Douglas mentioned that Mr. Metzler had been in his post as secretary-treasurer 10 months and that under the Public Servant act after a period of six months the office holder had to be certified in the position. Trustee Douglas and Trustee Mrs. Labonte seconded a motion certifying Mr. Metzler in his position permanently. The motion passed.

This occurred shortly after Trustee Norman Hough decided to retire because he found most of his ideas were voted down by a narrow majority. Thereupon a move started to have Frank West selected to fill the Hough vacancy. This resulted at a later meeting in the naming of Frank West and John Matthews as candidates for the vacated seat. The board vote resulted later in a tie so the matter was allowed to drop with no replacement chosen. Mrs. Lorne Wolverton and Mr. and Mrs. D. Ganshorn supported Mr. West and Trustee Don Douglas the candidacy of John Matthews. The school board finished out the year without anyone in the Hough seat.

Perhaps the confrontation of Mr. Metzler with those who prefer someone else will result in a more peaceful future. This remains to be proven. However the district has been saved from having secretary-treasurers shun this area because of unstable conditions.

People in search of water

(By STEVEN LEE)

Residents of Pratt Road gathered at the LePage home May 14 for the second meeting this year concerning the water situation.

Mr. W. Graham, chairman began the discussion with a brief history of the 23 year old water pipe that services the road. Residents of Pratt Road had been treated like a football, being kicked between the Village of Gibsons and the Regional board, with neither organization willing or capable of improving the water situation, he said. A letter and a delegation had been sent to the last Regional Board meeting with no satisfactory results, in fact, the board made it clear it was in no financial position to give assistance and probably would not be for at least five years.

Mr. Graham proposed a change in the connection where the Pratt Road line joins the village main which would result in improved water pressure for evey house on the line. He proposed that the T connection should be replaced by a Y connection for this, according to Mr. Graham, would allow more water to enter the line from the village main. Mr. Graham also suggested that three lengths of 6-inch pipe be laid at the north end of the road. Mr. Graham then asked Gibsons water commissioner, Ald. Charles Mandelkau, to approve his proposal.

Mr. Mandelkau said the only way to improve the Pratt Road water system would be to renew the entire water line, end to end. This, he said, the village was not in a position to do.

The village would, however, begin immediately to lay six inch pipe down the road as far as the fire hydrant, about 30 ft. Mr. Mandelkau said. The valves have already been ordered for this job and as soon as the parts are in Gibsons and notice has been given in the press work will commence. Ald. Mandelkau, who had consulted a professional water engineer, said a change to a Y connection from a T connection would make no difference in the water situation so this move was not in the village plans. He suggested that if Pratt Road joins the village, the village will renew the Pratt Road line with 6-inch pipe, in stages as funds become available.

The meeting concluded with the general agreement that an official organization should be formed in the near future to give Pratt Road residents a stronger voice in dealing with the Regional Board and the Village.

Mr. Don Andow was elected president of Pratt Road Ratepayers and Consumers; Mr. S. Esslemont, vice-president; Mrs. B. Skellett, secretary; and Dick Derby, Jim Chaster and Mrs. LePage are to form a committee to look into amalgamation with the village.

A tentative date for the next meeting was set for Thursday June 11, at the LePage home.

MEMBERS INCREASE

The New Democratic Party of British Columbia reports 2,600 members joined in the first 15 days of May, according to Betty McClurg, chairman of the convention arrangements committee of the NDP of B.C. This brings total membership in the province to 9,300 since the beginning of the year.

PAUL ST. PIERRE, MP

COAST-CHILCOTIN

The closing month (or is it months?) of this session of parliament are apparently going to feature a massive debate on water use, pollution controls and the North. Hidden only slightly below the surface of what promises to be a long debate in the House of Commons is the role of the new and more powerful committees of this parliament. There will doubtless be bleeding.

The bills in question are the Canada Water Act, and its partner the Northern Inland Waters Act. These are designed to set up water management areas in Canada and in the federal territories, where federal and local officials will manage water use and control pollution.

Closely associated is the amendment to the Fisheries Act, which aims to immensely widen the powers of the Ministry of Fisheries to control pollution as it affects fish and men's use of fish.

Within the same general area is the Arctic Waters Pollution Control Zone bill, aimed to extend Canadian jurisdiction up to 100 miles offshore in the Arctic to control dangerous cargoes of our own or of foreign ships. And linked with this one is the Territorial Seas bill, extending Canadian territorial seas to a full 12 miles.

Yet to come before parliament are amendments to the Shipping Act which will have an effect on pollution control of shipping in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Of them all, only one has been through the standing committee and come back unchanged. This was the Territorial Seas bill.

Fisheries committee made major alterations in the Fisheries bill. There were three by myself and others by other Liberals and Conservative members.

Without boring you with the technicalities, which are numerous, our intent was to prevent fisheries legislation from being subservient or secondary in effect to the federal - provincial water management zones of Canada.

The bill arrived in a form closely linked to Canada Water Act. It was returned to the house with all mention of the Canada Water Act removed, with definitions altered from those of Canada Water Act and with the fisheries minister's powers focussed (and, hopefully, increased) on fish, fishermen and the users of fish or other products of the sea.

Arctic Pollution Control Act, which won the unusual unanimous recorded standing vote in the house on principle, was slightly altered by an amendment of Douglas Hogarth (L.-New Westminster) designed to give prior rights to the claims of Eskimos in cases of damage.

Canada Water Act was fought long and hard in committee. It, too, was amended.

However, since its reintroduction to commons, no less than 25 more amendments have been introduced by opposition parties. For the most part these are amendments which were voted out during the committee hearings.

This may sound like a highly complex process. It is. And it involves more than meets the eye.

In the case of acts extensively changed in the all-party committees, the government must now decide whether or not to amend the bills back to their original form — with the result that Liberal party committee members will then be fighting the move in commons, or accepting them at risk of considerable disagreements among various ministers within the cabinet.

Prime Minister Trudeau may wish, at times, that he had not extended the powers of the house committees as he did when taking office. Life was undoubtedly simpler for federal cabinets who conducted all their debates in secrecy and who could then put their legislation into a parliamentary Xerox machine and get out exactly what they put in.

Letters to editor

A new pamphlet that includes a reproduction of British Columbia's new Litter Act is being distributed throughout the province Hon. W. K. Kiernan announces.

Produced jointly by the department of recreation and conservation and the department of travel industry, both headed by Mr. Kiernan, the pamphlet will be distributed through schools, conservation groups, anti-litter and anti-pollution organizations, tourist information centres, chambers of commerce and other outdoors and tourist-oriented bodies.

The pamphlet reproduces in full the Litter Act which was passed at the last session of the provincial legislature. The act spells out the required disposal methods for litter as well as sewage or waste from trailers, campers, portable housing units, boats and house-boats.

Conservation officers, park officers and forest rangers are among those designated enforcement officers by the Litter Act. Violations of the provisions of the act can result in fines of up to $500.

Wreckers demolish old landmark

A sturdy 72 year old Gibsons landmark, originally LePage's glue factory and later family apartments, has fallen to the hands of the demolishers to give way to a water-front development.

Back in 1898, the quiet backwater settlement of Gibsons Landing, greeted with mixed feelings the intrusion of big industry — a fish glue factory.

Fred LePage, a nephew of the founder of the glue industry, after selling out his share of the family interests back east, arrived in Gibsons just before the turn of the century with big plans to establish a glue factory at Gibsonn. As construction got underway, local people involved included Arthur McCall and Arnold Winegarden. The latter stayed on to become plant engineer. Son Ted, still in Gibsons and a daughter Gertie (Mrs. John Corlett, recently moved to Haney) recall the trials and tribulations of that ambitious project.

From the beginning the company was beset with problems. A man by the name of Maroni became the over-ambitious manager of the glue works. He occupied the executive house, now the old Corlett place on the hill alongside Peninsula Cleaners, and lost no time in undermining company management.

He succeeded in this but failed to obtain the basic formula. The plant closed down within a year (1901) of going into production. in charge of a caretaker, Carl Linford, until the late fall of 1919 when it was acquired by the Corletts.

They converted the three-storey building into family apartments. The boiler house and stack, storage shed on the lower level and warehouse on the wharf, in dangerous disrepair, were torn down. The machinery was removed to Burnette.

Mrs. Corlett in a phone interview from Haney, told the Coast News the apartments enjoyed a number of years of popularity among many Gibsonites who made it their early home. In the 30s when the Union Steamships included Gibsons in their coastal ports of call. the Corltets became a favorite summer vacation spot with tourists. Many a romance blossomed on the moon lit verandahs looking out over the sound.

During the latter years the apartment just sort of drifted into oblivion. Fewer and fewer tenants occupied suites in the old place and with the boarding off of the upper floors, the last occupants up to two years ago, included Alex and Marj. Smith, now residing in the old Corlett place on the hill.

Ted Winegarden, the son of Arnold, the plant engineer, and his sister Gertie (Mrs. John Corlett) lived in the mill manager's residence for a number of years.

In recent years Ted met a member of the LePage family cruising in these waters and then living in Vancouver. According to Mr. Winegarden Sr., the old plant produced a superior type of glue that really stuck for keeps. Les Peterson, the local historian, several years ago acquired from John Corlett for Gibsons museum, the last working trace of the glue works, a section of wood from one of the mixing vats with an inch and a half of glue still adhering strongly to it, 65 years after.

Mrs. Grace Chamberlin, the first white child to be born in West Howe Sound, and daughter of the late George Gibson, founding squire of this area, well recalls that smelly old glue factory, when as a chid of ten, on the way to school, she and her companions would hurry past the works, holding their noses against the stench of rendered down, vat boiled dogfish. She also has fond recollections of dances held in the old plant.

Phil Fletcher, another old timer, recalls the deserted factory as a favorite rendezvous of his boyhood pals. Many the time its walls echoed to the mischievous shouts of succeeding generations of adventurous youngsters who roamed the echoing corridors at will. "The wonder," Phil recalls, "is that the place wasn't burned down many times over when you think of the shenanigans that went on."

And so — in hail and farewell to this old familiar landmark, it can well be said that:

"This old house once knew much laughter,
This old house once knew some pain."

—and that at last, it rests in the abiding custody of whichever of the saints is assigned to the task of recording the legends of weary age-laden habitations and of the lives of those who once dwelt under their rooftree.

Rebekahs have birthday party

Sunshine Rebekah Lodge 82 celebrated its 8th birthday with guests from Arbutus Rebekah Lodge 76, Gibsons and Sunshine Coast Lodge 76. After a short meeting presided over by, N.G. Sister Emily Parsons all enjoyed a lovely smorgasbord supper with turkey, ham and all the trimmings.

Three of the lodge sisters were honored and presented with corsages for long membership. They were Mrs. Emily Parsons who wears a 46 year veterans jewel, Mrs. Lola Turner with 45 years and Mrs. Jean Hanson with 40 years. Mrs. Jennie Reiter was presented with her district deputy president's jewel.

The evening was spent in a sing-along with Mrs. R. Hatcher at the piano. Contests convened by Mrs. Nellie Whaites and a funny action song by Mrs. Carrie Surtees. Mrs. Lorraine Conroy won a dressed doll. Mr. Jack Boundy moved a vote of thanks on behalf of Sunshine Coast Lodge of which he is N.G. and Sister Alice Cherry for Arbutus Lodge of which she is vice-grand.

Letters to editor

Editor: In your recent letter one notes that Mr. Paul St. Pierre attempts, by quoting from a coldly statistical report, to justify the continued barbaric and unnecessary slaughter of the harp seals. Unnecessary because from the minister of fisheries' own figures it is shown that the killers earn a most miserable pittance per season, surely an anomaly in this land of wealth and opportunity. A few do make a considerable sum by catering to the vanity or thoughtlessness of women who could stop the carnage by buying the excellent synthetic furs now available everywhere.

As to the statement about the government of Britain advertising for someone to reduce the seal herd by shooting 750 seals — well, the surely obvious answer must be that with the ever-growing lust for killing. the natural predators are also being ruthlessly butchered. One cannot help but strongly sympathize with Dr. Jacques Cousteau, famed world-wide for his underwater research when he says "There are more important things in life than hides, oil, meat or ivory."
—Eva M. Webb.

Following is a copy of a letter sent to Chief Stan Rowland of the Roberts Creek Fire Department:
Dear Stan:

I wish to publicly thank the firemen and fireladies for the efficient and capable demonstration of team work and equipment at our school last Wednesday.

The students and staff were very impressed with the speedy deployment of fire equipment and the professional way in which the crew utilized the self-contained breathing apparatus and portable extinguisher.

Thank you again.

Principal,

Clinic delayed

Pender Harbour's request for a two-bed ambulatory hospital for emergency cases, in process of negotiation for two years, has Regional Hospital District Director J. H. Tyner wondering how much longer it is going to take to get definite action.

At the May 29 Regional District hospital board meeting he said that while Hospital Minister Loffmark was in Sechelt recently he promised to send Mr. Tyner a copy of a Clearwater brief which he would like used to cover the Pender Harbour request. So far no Clearwater brief has arrived.

FASHION NEWS

Got redecorating fever? Then take a look at the cotton sheets blooming out in linen departments across the country. They have unusual home decorating possibilities. Color-coordinated in eye-filling prints, gay stripes and water-color pastels, today's sheets take the guesswork out of bedroom decor. And, for the homemaker with a creative flair they adapt wonderfully to dust ruffles, canopies and curtains.

One double bed size sheet contains approximately seven square yards of cotton muslin or percale, according to the Canadian Cotton Council. Both fabrics are easy to sew, hang and drape beautifully, and are woven to give years of service. A little starch keeps them crisp and fresh-looking, and their smooth texture makes ironing a breeze.

For a child's room try the magic of striped sheets. Choose them in sunny yellow, or, if you prefer, use pink, green or blue stripes. With just two double bed size sheets, you can make a scalloped dust ruffle and a matching half-canopy for a three-quarter size bed (mattress size 48 x 76).

Weddings

KNOWLES — HARRIS

The wedding of Leslie Faye Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Harris of Langdale, and Alan Fraser Knowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Knowles of Gibsons, took place on Saturday, May 30 at two o'clock in St. Bartholomew's Anglican Church, Rev. D. Morgan officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a short gown of white delustered peau de soie with guipure lace applique and paillettes. She wore her maternal aunt's wedding veil and crown of aurora stones. She carried a colonial bouquet of vivid pink carnations and baby roses.

Maid of honor Miss Jeannette Carmichael wore a short gown of yellow peau de soie with pearl trim and carried a bouquet of lilac baby mums. Bridesmaid Miss Patricia Carmichael wore a short gown of lilac peau de soie with pearl trim and carried a yellow baby mum bouquet.

Best man was Tony Rodriguez of Vancouver. Michael Harris and Doug Knowles were ushers.

The bride's mother chose a red two piece suit with black accessories and white carnation corsage, while the groom's mother wore off-white with black accessories and red carnation corsage.

A reception was held at Cedars Inn, with the bride's uncle Dio Creed as M.C. The toast to the bride was given by her uncle Don Harris. The bride's table was centred with a three tier cake baked by her mother and decorated by Henry's Bakery and topped with a nosegay of the bride's colors, lilac and yellow.

Leaving for their honeymoon at Lord Jim's Lodge, the bride chose a grey two piece coat ensemble with red carnation corsage. The bride's bouquet was caught by bridesmaid Patricia Carmichael and her garter was caught by her brother Michael Harris.

The couple will reside in Gibsons.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, Abbotsford; Mr. and Mrs. D. Creed, Coquitlam; Mr. and Mrs. D. Harris, West Vancouver; Mr. Rod Harris, Mrs. J. Ulleman, and Mrs. R. Lacelle, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. Frame, Gold River; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ritchie, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. N. Thomson, Squamish and Mr. and Mrs. S. Thomson, Campbell River.

Bridal shower

In honor of bride-elect Miss Sharen Davis, a shower was held at the home of Mrs. G. Legh, Gibsons. The hostesses were Miss Ann Tritt and Mrs. Legh.

Many lovely gifts were presented to the bride in a gaily decorated pink umbrella, also a lovely corsage of pink rosebuds and to her mother a corsage of carnations made by Mrs. Betty Duncan.

BIG GARBAGE BINS

Garbage containers with a one ton capacity are now available for those with plenty of garbage. They are handled by Sunshine Coast Disposal Service Ltd. which collects garbage in the Regional District area. There will shortly be eight of them at places where garbage collection is heavy. The container remains at the plant where it is being used and the garbage truck and crew empties it when required.

New style report card

A new type secondary school report card was approved at Thursday night's meeting of the school board. It was suggested by Principal T. G. Ellwood of Elphinstone secondary school. Its feature is to reduce the amount of work in compiling reports.

Principal Ellwood's type of report will be similar to a five-sheet carbon filled business form Outining the proposal to trustees he explained it in the following way:

We have taken all the standard format on the regular report card and consolidated it on one face of paper 8" x 11". The format has also been designed to accommodate the semester system.

The report card we propose would be a five copy type. The first copy would be kept in the school. The second copy would be sent home as the first report, the third copy as the second report, the fourth copy as the third report and the fifth copy as the final report. Each copy would contain all the information of the previous reports. These reports would not be returned to the school.

We feel this type of report is much more efficient than the one we now use. It will cut in half the amount of time the secretaries must spend making duplicate reports and replacing missing reports. It will completely remove all the time spent on collecting, sorting and checking 650 reports three times a year. It will also remove the opportunity to make transcription errors. It will also remove the unnecessary task of 23 teachers used to transcribe information from the duplicates to the report cards.

Procedures that would be used with such a report card indicate increased efficiency.

Secretaries in a single operation will prepare both the reports and the duplicate records.

Teachers in a single operation will place their marks and comments on both the report cards and the duplicate records. This will eliminate many opportunities for transcription errors.

The reports will be issued to students. A cheaper type of envelope can be utilized with the new reports.

We would advertise in local papers prior to issuing the reports so that parents would be aware the report cards will be coming home within a few days. As parents would not have to return these reports, the major task of collection, sorting and replacing missing reports would be eliminated. Parents are always free to contact the school for a parent-teacher interview after reports or at any time.

Although the present report cards are provided free by the department of education the modest cost involved in preparing these new report cards can presently be covered within the scope of our general supply budget we feel that we could obtain a two years supply of these report cards for less than $175 or less than $88 per year. We would obtain a two year supply because there is little difference in the actual cost of buying 700 or 1500 of these report cards.

80th BIRTHDAY

On Monday, May 25, an enjoyable afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. Ann Prough, when neighbors gathered to celebrate the 80th birthday of Mrs. James Thomson of Gower Point Rd. Mrs. Thomson is the widow of the late James Thomson, who was for many years deputy minister of labor in Victoria.

ROBERTS CREEK

(By MADGE NEWMAN)

The Roberts Creek Auxiliary to the hospital has several catering jobs lined up which will add to their funds for various projects.

A valuable member has been lost and will be greatly missed. Mrs. Muriel Tibb, former secretary and member of committees, has moved to Langley. She was presented with a gift

The next meeting, the last for this season, will be held at the Mac Baba home where pictures of Japan, taken by the Babas on their recent trip, will be shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jepson, of Cincinnati, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Blackburn.

The local Red Cross group has closed the doors of their work room for a well-earned summer rest until the fall. Many will take work home to complete during the holiday. Their number of workers has fallen off somewhat as members have moved away and it is hoped that new helpers will be available to take their places. The output of sewing and knitting continues to be plentiful and the workmanship as expert as ever.

Members of St. Aidan's and the United church and any interested persons, are invited to St. Aidan's Parish Hall on Sunday, May 31 at 3:30, to view pictures of the Holy Land which Miss Ena Harrold has brought back from her recent trip.

Miss Helen Shea has returned to Vancouver after spending ten days with Mrs. Helen Galliford, who has moved to her new home at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fellowes have sold their Vancouver home and are now residing on Crow Road in their former summer home.

Harry Hill fund closed; proceeds for hospital room

At the meeting on May 21 in Sechelt Legion Hall, Sechelt's Senior Citizens Association, Branch 69, closed the Harry Hill Memorial Fund. The proceeds will be given to St. Mary's Hospital to completely furnish a room in the new wing, in memory of Harry Hill.

The association considered that such a room would be most fitting to honor a man who had spent a great part of his life in helping those who needed help, particularly elderly persons. Mr. Hill started the first O.A.P.O. Branch 96. This branch later became the present Senior Citizens Association Branch 69. Mr. Hill was a prime mover in both organizations.

At the same meeting a minute's silence was observed in memory of three recently deceased members, Mrs. S. J. Riddell, Mrs. Blanche Bates and Mrs. Violet Campbell. New mem bers joining in May are Mrs. Jean Hamon, Mrs. Betsy Palmer, Mrs. Alma Rogers, Mrs. Elsie Julian, Mrs. Lillian Wood, and Mrs. Mildred Grain. In honor of his 80th birthday, Mr. Maynard Dubois of Greene Court was the recipient of a gift, accompanied by members' best wishes.

Canon Greene gave a short talk asking for new members to the Senior Citizens Housing, and for a renewal of any lapsed memberships. The annual meeting will be held on June 12.

A letter was read from Mrs. Rose Gowland, a recent member, who has moved to Keremeos, inviting any members to call and see her any time they are in that area. The monthly raffle was won by Mrs. Lilian Swanson of Gibsons.

Plans for a tea and bazaar in the fall are already underway, with Mrs. Olive McGregor acting as convenor. Mrs. Nellie Whaites informed the members of a camp holiday, available for elderly people, at Camp Fircom on Gambier Island, starting June 15 at a nominal charge. Any senior citizen desiring a delightful inexpensive holiday in a beautiful setting, should contact Mrs. Whaites for further information.

The annual convention of the Senior Citizens association will be held on June 9, 10 and 11 in North Vancouver, and is open to any interested person. The resolutions to be presented were read and discussed in order to obtain the opinion of the members. The delegates to the convention are Mrs. Olive McGregor and Mrs. Mildred Whittaker.

Following the business session, a delightful program consisting of first a duet by Mrs. Trudy Edmunds and Mrs. Dorothy Stockwell, who sang In the Garden accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Evans. Mrs. Lillian Wood, a new member, recently of Hull, Yorkshire, England, gave a humorous recitation entitled Adam and Mary. A short sing-song led by Mrs. Dorothy Stockwell, with Mrs. Ruby Hatcher at the piano followed.

In accordance with Pioneer and Elderly Citizens Week, from June 1 to June 7, a non-denominational service will be held in the Sechelt Legion Hall on Sunday, June 7 at 2:30 p.m. Pastors from the area will participate, and all persons are urged to attend to honor the pioneers of this province. Refreshments will follow the service.

On May 5, a busload took a trip to Bellingham, where they had a delicious lunch at Bellingham Hotel. Then they drove along Chuchanut Drive to Whidbey Island and watched the tidal waters surge and eddy under an area of great beauty and the the magnificent Deception Pass bridge. The route was through return trip was through Burlington to Lynden and Langley where there was a stop for supper, then home via highway 401. The weather was beautiful, the scenery was grand.

A trip to Barkerville is planned for July 7, 8 and 9. This trip is not restricted to members. Any adult may make arrangements to go. Phone Mrs. Hazel Evans, 885-9772

The Labor scene

Local 297 IBPS&PMW publication Guardian covering events which led up to the formation of a picket line reported the following:

The oil that was delivered to Port Mellon was delivered in the normal manner. However the tug had crossed a picket line the previous evening to move a tanker in the Fraser River and consequently was declared hot by the Guild. The Guild is also claiming the contract for delivery of this oil is sub-let from Island Tug, a company against whom the Guild is striking.

tween the time of oil delivery and the picket line appearing was that the Guild had agreed to allow Port Mellon to use the oil they already had in the tank and a certain amount of reluctance on the part of the Guild to officially declare the oil hot.

When the official policy statement came from the Guild branding the oil hot, local Guild members acted within hours to organize and throw a picket line around the mill.

Local 297 members who had already expressed their feelings in this matter at a general meeting a day or two earlier emphatically refused to cross the line. One or two minor incidents that cropped up were caused by misunderstandings and were quickly squelched by members of the executive.

A special general meeting was called on Tuesday, May 19, at 2:30 p.m. to sound out feelings of the general membership regarding the picket line and work stoppage. Over 300 members of the local attended, after being brought up to date by President Corley, first vice-president Peterson and trustee and standing committee member D. Hill. A motion from the floor effectively demonstrated the unity of the local in this matter.

The reason for the delay be-

On Wed., May 20, injunctions were obtained against the guild and Local 297. These were served at approximately 4:45 p.m. and shortly afterward management began calling crews for a mill startup.

The Guild however, stated they would refuse to obey the injunctions.

Local 297's executive then began again to man the Union Hall on a 24-hour basis and three radio cars belonging to Local members were brought into action to give constant communication with the picket line so that we would be instantly aware of any change in the situation there and could advise the hundreds of callers at the hall accurately what the situation was. It was imperative that the Local know immediately if the picket line was lifted for any reason.

At (Guardian) press time, this is where we stand — so far all members of Local 297 have refused to cross the picket line. The executive have kept crews intact and are keeping a 24-hour watch on the picket line so they are in a position to keep members up to date on the situation.

A number of mills are in the same position as Port Mellon. Powell River, Woodfibre, Prince Rupert, are down and several others are expected to go down within the next day or two.

Point of law

(By a Practicing Lawyer)

(Copyright)

Question: There is a lot of talk now-a-days about female liberation and equal rights for women. Are men and women in an equal position before the law?

Answer: No. Men are in an inferior position.

By common law a man must support his wife. A wife does not have to support her husband. Moreover, a woman may run up debts in her husband's name for the necessities of life, including food, clothing and shelter, etc. —the law regarding her as being her husband's agent for the purpose of those domestic duties usually falling under the care of the wife. A husband, however, is not an agent for his wife.

The Divorce Act, in theory, places a divorced husband and wife on the same status as far as maintenance is concerned. It is, however, a man who almost always pays the costs of the lawsuit, despite the general rule that "The loser pays the winner's costs." In the divorce action John Doe versus Mary Doe and Richard Roe, on grounds of adultery, Richard Roe will be ordered to pay the costs if John Doe can prove Richard Roe knew Mary Doe to be a married woman at the time of the adultery. If John Doe cannot prove this, Mary Doe does not have to pay the costs. In a similar divorce action, Betty Roe versus Richard Roe and Mary Doe, Richard Roe pays the costs. In divorce actions on other grounds a wife successfully suing receives an order that her husband must pay the costs. A successful husband cannot, however collect costs from his wife.

In a quarrel over custody of children, the wife is almost always successful even though she has committed adultery.

Where a child is born to unmarried parents, the father must support the child or at least contribute to its support, but has no right of joint custody or guardianship and has not even any right to visit the child.

Under the Married Women's Property Act, a wife may sue to have determined any question between her and her husband regarding the title or possession of any property. Land in a husband's name may be tied up and a sale by the husband prevented. A woman may sue her husband for damage to the wife's property. If a wife damages her husband's property he is prohibited by law from suing her.

By the Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act a wife may cause proceedings to be commenced against her husband in the family division of the provincial court for support for herself and children and the court will provide a prosecutor for her without charge. A husband does not have a similar remedy despite any differences in the relative health or wealth of the parties.

The Wife's Protection Act gives a wife the right to prevent a sale of a joint residence registered in the husband's name only. A husband does not have a corresponding right.

These laws are, however, not as unfair as they first appear. They merely reflect the traditional social views of our society The law is slow to keep pace with changing public opinion but there is an increasing tendency of late to regard the wife's obligations as almost equal to that of the husband — especially where she is employed or has a separate income or is more wealthy than her husband.

Water Frontage Tax By-law

No. 217, 1970

Public notice is hereby given that the above By-law has been passed and is in effect within the Village of Gibsons.

The by-law provides for an annual frontage tax on each parcel of land deemed to front on the municipal water system, whether the parcel is actually connected or not. A fixed rate of ten cents per foot on the taxable foot frontage is levied on each parcel. The minimum taxable frontage on any parcel is 60 feet (or $6.00) and the maximum on any parcel will be 120 feet (or $12.00).

Each registered owner shown on the 1970 property assessment roll, who will be affected, has been mailed a notice showing the actual and taxable foot-frontage. A Court of Revision to be held at the Village Hall, at 7 p.m. on June 10, 1970, will consider written complaints received up to Monday, June 8, 1970 as outlined in the notice. The tax will be included in the regular annual property tax notice.

The foregoing is for general information only. A copy of the by-law may be inspected at the Village Office, South Fletcher Road, Gibsons, B.C. during regular business hours.
