Extend water on Pratt rd.

Gibsons council informed Pratt road residents it will continue its new six inch water main as far as Chaster road and residents not now on the water line will be allowed to hook up to the system.

Some 1,500 feet of this extension will be paid for by developers of the Hough property.

Announcement of the extension was made last Thursday night at a meeting of the Pratt Road Ratepayers association by Ald. Charles Mandelkau, chairman of the Gibsons water committee. Work will start shortly.

Reporting back after attending a school board meeting to see what could be done about a school bus link for S-turn, Gower Point and Pratt Road children, Geoff Thatcher and Ray Lineker said the board turned the matter over to the transportation committee for study. Mr. Thatcher informed the board that it might be possible to make use of the bus which brings Indian children down from Sechart. The plan would be worked on a co-operative basis at ten cents per ride, with the children being given passes for daily use.

Commenting on the highways department refusal to place sidewalks on Highway 101 or secondary highways, the association maintained it never asked for sidewalks but that paths or widened shoulders be utilized.

The monthly meeting date of the association was changed from the second Thursday each month to the first Thursday.

Ramp cut opposed

Intentions of the federal department of public works to repair the ramp leading to the federal wharf includes reduction of the width of the ramp from 36 feet to 26. Council at its Tuesday night meeting last week decided it wants to keep the ramp at its present size and will inform the department of its decision.

A letter from the department revealed its intention but Mayor Wally Peterson and the aldermen do not see eye to eye with the department. For example, the change would remove the present walk down the ramp, which aldermen explained was used considerably during summer months.

Council was also of the opinion the ramp should be left as it is now. As it is the only federal wharf now in use over a wide area it was felt it should be left as future traffic will not be lighter. If reduced in width, it would also kill the present parking area now available on the sidewalk side of the ramp. Council will inform the department by letter that it does not look with favor on departmental intentions.

Canon buried

Rev. Canon Harry Usher Oswald, 85, retired Anglican minister, died Saturday. The funeral service was held Tuesday at St. Bartholomew's church with Rt. Rev. T. D. Somerville, Rt. Rev. Godfrey P. Gower, Rev. Dennis Morgan, Rev. Canon Minto Swan and Rev. Canon Alan D. Greene officiating. Cremation followed.

KEN'S LUCKY DOLLAR Store has changed hands and above is Ken Watson, proprietor with the new owner W. D. Edney who has operated several food stores over many years on the mainland. His wife Joyce and son Graham, 21 and daughter Julia, 15, will shortly settle down in Gibsons.

Gravel operation outlined to board

Rivtow Marine placed before the Sunshine Coast Regional District board at a special meeting Thursday night of last week a proposal for a gravel operation on Porpoise Bay.

The enterprise would remove gravel for about 300 acres and expend about $1,000,000 on development and plant, exclusive of towing which would be contracted. Loading would have to be carried on with one eye on tides as the Skookumchuk would have to be used to get into open water. There would be two or three 20 ton trucks operating with the crusher.

After hearing company representatives and public opposition to the project board members tabled the correspondence and await further development.

Three letters were presented in opposition to the project. They will be found in full on page six of this issue.

Mr. Gemmel said the land was not owned by his company but was leased from Mr. Walters. It had to meet the standards of the Strip Mining Act.

Crowston Porpoise Bay Estates complained that it would spoil the landscape, be noisy, and affect fish spawning in Angus Creek.

Mr. G. Spratt, the project engineer, regarded the gravel as of high quality and much needed with the present area supply running out in about five years. Mr. Screeves, a company man, explained their leased land was about 300 acres and the plant would cover an area of 200 by 200 feet and it would not be an eyesore because when travelling by in a car at 34 mph one could see the operation for not more than six or eight seconds. The plant would operate on a four or five and a half day work week with one eight hour daylight shift employing eight to ten men.

A 100 foot channel would be constructed out from the shore to allow the scows to approach for loading. With a small rock content it was not expected that the screen and crushers would make much noise as the rock content is on the small side. There would be the noise of trucks and equipment pushing gravel down to the crushers.

He said there would be very little pollution to the water as the water for washing gravel would be taken from Angus Creek above the falls, which is well above the spawning grounds. The water would then be recycled with settling ponds to store the surplus and not dumped into the bay.

These settling ponds would be cleaned out after a period of time with the company being able to sell the fine sand and silt at $10 per ton. As regards the unsightly appearance the area would be graded and replaced to the natural grade as close as grades specified in the Strip Mining Act. With quick growing grass and trees the landscape could be improved from its original state. Groves of trees could be planted as a shield between the highway and plant. All this would have to be done, he said, before the company bond would be returned to the owners by the mines branch.

Ganshorn resigns

School trustee J. D. Ganshorn, now employed at Port Mellon's CFP mill, announced at Thursday night's school board meeting he was resigning as he would be leaving the area.

Mr. Ganshorn will move to Chile where he will join a large pulp mill operation. He will leave somewhere about the middle of December.

His resignation will create a vacancy on the board so a replacement will have to be found for next year. He was filling a two year term. His successor will fill the remaining one year.

New nursery

Pre-school nurseries are creating problems for the school board. The Jack and Jill Nursery school now operating in the United Church hall sought room in Gibsons Elementary school at last Thursday night's school board meeting. The board decided it had no spare room. Trustee J. D. Ganshorn pressed Supt. R. R. Hanna asking if he was sure there was no space. Supt. Hanna maintained there was none.

Earlier in the meeting Bowen Island mothers received permission to go ahead and use vacant space in Bowen Island school for 14 pre-schoolers from three to five years old. Parents were willing to form a co-operative and obtain the services of a certified teacher.

Trustee William Malcolm in whose area Egmont has a nursery school wanted to know whether mothers did not want their children at home any more. Supt. Hanna answering said that this early period was a tremendous learning age for such children. Trustees A. Labonte and J. D. Ganshorn moved that the request be granted.

Teachers favor slacks: principals face decision

John Burnside, president of the Sechart Teachers' Association, announced Saturday that the teachers' organization has passed a resolution recommending that the District 46 school board liberalize its dress code for students in the district.

Burnside said that the Elphinstone Student Council has been negotiating with the School board and the school administration for a change in dress code.

The STA president said the teachers' action came after many teachers had expressed concern over the deterioration of student morale resulting from the present dress code.

Tailored slacks for the young ladies of Elphinstone school are still a matter of debate. Thursday night last week the school board discussed the problem and then voted three to two against. Chairman Mrs. Sheila Kitten decided if she voted yes it would be a tie vote which would be negated according to the school act, so did not vote.

Chamber requires secretary

Gibsons and District Chamber of Commerce at Monday night's dinner meeting in the Peninsula Hotel decided to seek a secretary who would be able to devote more time to the job than past secretaries have been able to give.

It seeks a retired individual who would work closer to a full time basis than in the past. The salary would not be a strong point. It seeks someone with knowledge of the business and industrial world who would maintain a liaison with events.

Frank Hay was elected president and Barry Anderson, vice-president. Winston Robinson will continue as treasurer and the executive will include Dick Blakeman, retiring president; Dave Parry, Walt Nygren, Frank Daugherty, Moe Girard, Lorraine Goddard, Audrey Hinz and Ruth Baker.

A working party to assist the Ski club in getting the old B & K logging road opened as a route to the ski area, will be at the call of chairman of the working party Winston Robinson. All equipment and labor will be on a voluntary basis.

West Gibsons Heights Ratepayers association sought the support of the chamber in its aims to get road shoulders widened to allow pedestrian walking and a school bus for up to 75 children who face long walks plus other improvements as needed. The chamber decided it would take the matter under consideration as it would be a matter of policy. A trio of association members discussed their problems with the chamber.

Oops! Sorry!

Last week's civic election story had some readers confused. The confusing part read: "In Gibsons Ald. Ken Goddard has decided he will run again. Ald. Charles Mandelkau will vacate his seat after a one year term created when Wally Peterson resigned as alderman so he could contest the seat for mayor."

Some people have harbored the idea that Ald. Mandelkau is leaving council. Such is not the case. He has decided to run again.

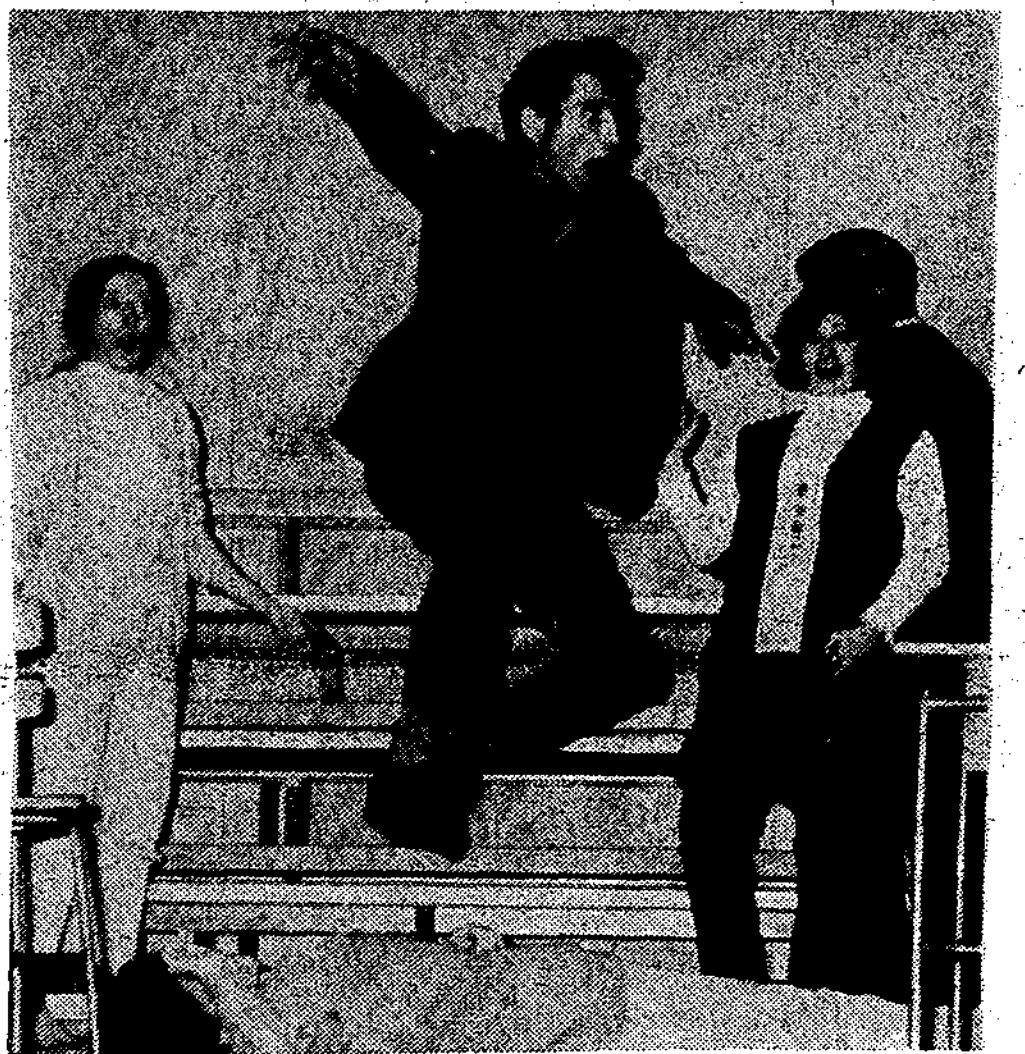

The board decided to turn the issue back to school principals to get their views. They should have a report ready for the next meeting. Those who voted against were Trustees Mrs. A. Labonte, William Malcolm and John Hayes. Voting in favor were Trustees Bernard Mulligan and J. D. Ganshorn. Trustee Dr. Walter Burtnick was absent.

Trustees Labonte and Mulligan following defeat of the first motion moved that the matter be referred back to school principals.

Trustee Mrs. Labonte had some objection from parents and for herself she preferred to see the girls retain their present identity in skirts. She also thought it would create more problems for teachers. Chairman Mrs. Kitson thought tailored slacks were in keeping with the mode of the times and anyway she added it was a matter of policy covering all the schools in the district.

The motion came before the board following a unanimous vote taken at the school through operations of the student council and four of the student council appealed before the board at a previous meeting to present their resolution. They were also present at last Thursday night's meeting to see what happened.

AN ACTION PACKED MOMENT in Driftwood Players production of See How They Run, directed by John Burnside. The play will be presented at Sechart Elementary School on Nov. 27 and 28, and at Elphinstone on Dec. 4 and 5.

A 50 foot constitution

The second session of Elphinstone Secondary school parliament in the gym Nov. 10 started at 7:30 p.m. with the reading of a speech from the throne by Steven Lee, prime minister, and a budget report by Linda Pearson, secretary of finance, followed by departmental secretaries presenting their white papers.

For social affairs it was decided there would be a student government sponsored Christmas dance, Dec. 18. The senior boys basketball team will play their first game of this season at Pender Harbour school on Nov. 20.

During the session several resolutions were introduced and one concerned a school district Centennial project of historic carnival type including an Indian village, folk dances and other items. The vote opposed this idea.

The students decided to continue talks with the education conditions committee to see what could be done about a Centennial project.

Another resolution concerned fund raising for retarded children and another for the showing of David Hancock's film Pacific Wilderness which the student government will sponsor. Both were tabled for further deliberation.

The most important business was a resolution on the acceptance of the constitution. It was 26 pages in length and was copied out in full by Cathi Hem-street, secretary of justice on a scroll which is some 50 feet long. Copies were also typed by commerce classes and will be posted in each room. The constitution was accepted in principle by parliament, then signed by the prime minister, cabinet members and parliament members.

Ski club gets area reserved

Tetrahedron Ski Club was officially informed this week by the B.C. Forest Service that approximately 90 acres of forest land on the north east side of Mount Elphinstone has been set aside for ski hill development purposes.

Special usage permits will be issued giving the ski club jurisdiction over areas which they may develop as ski runs and towns, at the discretion of the Sechart or Vancouver District forester.

Negotiations are going ahead to open up the old B & K logging road to public access.

The Ryerson Press deal

What is occurring in the Ryerson Press sale to McGraw Hill? Involved in the sale are the inventory of trade and school text books, some physical assets and the Ryerson Press name which will continue to be used by the McGraw-Hill company. Premier Roberts of Ontario has conferences under way so whether the sale to McGraw-Hill is final remains unanswered.

The United Church, owners of Ryerson Press, have sold the publishing end only, they still retain ownership of the commercial printing operation with plant and building and will continue publication of the United Church Observer and other church printing.

It should be recalled that governors of radio and TV broadcasting have insisted on more Canadian content in their productions and it seems somewhat unusual that if Canadianism is to be nurtured should government officials resort to the attitude they are powerless to do anything under Canadian laws? There is no law which states how much Canadianism should exist but non-governmental units can apparently make such a decision.

Perhaps the shades of Johnny and Janey Canuck now lurking in the limbo of time are blushing because they are powerless to help. For the young it should be explained that Johnny and Janey Canuck existed in the same way as Britain's John Bull. Maybe we need both Johnny and Janey as a symbol.

Frank G. Brislin, secretary of the United Church Division of Communication has suggested that governments take some effective interest in the print media just as they do in broadcasting. He also urges Canadians to take a look at their own purchases, including school and other officials, to see what they can do to help Canadian publishers.

What can you do about it? You can express your views in a letter to Premier Roberts and also to the McGraw-Hill Company of Canada, 330 Progress Road, Agincourt, Ontario.

If the church could have hung on to Ryerson Press it surely would have done so but to be faced with a financial situation which needed about $2,500,000 to clear up there were no takers — except McGraw-Hill.

The federal government was willing to support a losing cause like Rochdale college and its resulting cesspool of iniquity, so why not support something clean like Ryerson Press.

Mode versus custom

Whether young ladies at Elphinstone School should wear tailored slacks while at school is a problem yet to be decided.

The school parliament with its cabinet of student council members obtained from students a unanimous vote in favor of slacks. The student council put the matter before the school board.

At last week's board meeting it was discussed resulting in a vote which turned it down — yet not exactly. As the problem would become board policy for all schools it was thought best that it should be passed back to the principals of all schools. They will report back to the board what they think of it.

To forecast the next school board vote result would be dangerous but in view of the democratic way in which students placed the issue before the board they should be given favorable consideration. Maybe they might be led to decide democracy has some good points after all.

Flowers that bloom in the spring!

By A. R. BUCKLEY

Plant Research Institute, Ottawa

Bringing hardy spring-flowering bulbs into bloom during the drab winter months is almost as simple as putting away produce in the freezer for use at some future date.

If we plant three to five bulbs in a pot, we like to see all the flowers from these bulbs bloom at the same time and no precocious blooms ahead of, and no tardy blossom behind the others.

The bulbs most commonly used for winter forcing are, of course, tulips, hyacinths and daffodils, but crocus, grape hyacinths, scilla, snowdrops, winter aconites and fritillaries will force quite well and provide an interesting variation. Dutch irises and even lily-of-the-valley too provide spring in winter with moderate forcing.

Although you will probably want to experiment with growing bulbs in water, pebbles or bulb fibre and in special glass or earthenware containers, it is better to stick to the common clay bulb pan and flower pot and a good compost or soil mixture, if top quality blooms are desired. A mixture of half-part good top soil, one-quarter part sand, and one quarter part peat-moss with about two ounces of 696 fertilizer to the bushel of mix will suit admirably.

Choose containers which suit the types of bulbs being planted. All daffodils and tulips require six-inch standard pots which will take three daffodil bulbs and five to six tulips. For hyacinths use five-inch pots for single bulbs and plant three in a six-inch pot. For smaller bulbs, use bulb pans six to eight inches in diameter, spacing the bulbs one inch apart.

Planting can be done any time until December, although I like to get this done in October if possible. Always put the same variety of the same type of bulb in one pot, otherwise the flowers may not open evenly and at the same time.

Place some pieces of broken pot over the hole in the container and cover this with sphagnum moss or coarse leaves. Then put in enough soil pressed down tight so that when the bulbs are placed in position their noses are about one-half inch below the rim of the pot. When the bulbs are in place, fill between them, press the soil down firmly and give a thorough watering.

Provide a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit for six weeks or longer in a dark place for root production; then 50 degrees in as much light as possible for three weeks or so for growth of stem and leaves; and finally 60 to 65 degrees in the light for flower production.

If you don't have a cool, dark part of a cellar with temperature from 40 to 50 degrees, then the best thing to do is make a plunging pit outside.

First, a well-drained and nearby location is selected in the garden, then dig a trench a foot deep, large enough to accommodate the bulbs. Place three inches of cinders or stones in the bottom to provide drainage. Stand the pots on this drainage layer and fill in below and over them with dry sand, peat moss or vermiculite. Leaves are good but don't make a layer thicker than four inches or else they will overheat and force the bulbs into premature growth.

If you have pots to spare place them upside down over the pots or pans of bulbs before you cover them. This eliminates the need for scraping off the sand when removing the pots from the trench.

When the pots are filled with roots — which will be from five to eight weeks according to the type of bulb — you may bring them inside so that the plants may begin making top growth. The nearer to the natural time for them to flower the greater will be the success. I prefer leaving them until February before bringing them inside.

Once indoors, gradually increase the temperature. Keep them at 45 to 50 degrees for 10 days and then place in a sunny window where the temperature may go to 60 or 70 degrees. At this point ample supplies of water will be necessary.

To get hyacinth blooms to stand above the foliage, place cones 12 inches tall with four-inch openings at the tops over large six-inch pots. Inverted pots over the smaller ones will suffice. This accelerates the elongation of the flower stalks and prevents having blooms that must peer through the foliage.

Paper-white narcissus should be given different treatment, since these bulbs will not tolerate severe freezing. They should be planted early. Leave three-quarters of the bulbs above the compost and then place them in a dark corner of the basement for two or three weeks or until growth starts. Then bring them to a sunny window with a temperature of from 60 to 70 degrees

ROBERTS CREEK

(By MADGE NEWMAN)
Mr. and Mrs. T. Kolstee, of Vancouver, have bought property on Crow Road.
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fellowes celebrated their wedding anniversary on Sunday when they entertained friends and relatives

In Vancouver to attend a family reunion, Mrs. R. G. Sands met for the first time in 30 years, her brother, George Parks, of London, England, who will accompany her on her return to the Creek to continue their visit.

Amy and Frank Webster of Toronto, who lived here many years ago, came to take a quick look at old, but not familiar, haunts. They missed the store at Roberts Creek wharf, and the cheery whistle of the steamers as they pulled in for a landing, the approach being either high above or far below, according to the capricious tides; where passengers stumbled from the gangplank doubled over with bags and bundles into the arms of friends or relatives, and where cattle, feed and freight were swung from the deck and set down not too gently among the entire population who gathered there to enjoy the daily break in their somewhat prosaic lives.

Poor taste, says alderman

Alderman Gerry Dixon, substitute for Mayor Wally Peterson at the Oct. 30 Regional District board meeting told Gibsons council at last Tuesday night's meeting that Director Lorne Wolverton showed poor taste in chastizing Gibsons council over its policy on water problems.

Ald. Dixon added that the report should have been made when Mayor Peterson was present along with Ald. Charles Mandelkau, chairman of Gibsons water committee. It was mentioned at the council meeting that Mayor Peterson was away on a hunting trip.

Director Wolverton in a lengthy report on district water problems said the district water committee recommends that the Regional board exert all its influence to impress on the mayor and council to deal in a somewhat more mature manner with affairs which are of the greatest mutual interest to the people inside and outside the village, even if they did not wish to subscribe to such views.

He said public criticism in council of Regional suggestions by the village mayor or aldermen is totally uncalled for. If they wish to challenge or speak on these subjects, the board meeting is the place to do it.

Gibsons council did not deal with the report made by Director Wolverton at its Tuesday night meeting.

Rate cut helps

Notification from the Bank of Montreal that the municipal loan rate will be reduced to 7½ percent from 8 percent effective Nov. 1 was read out at Tuesday night's meeting of council and received with pleasure. It was also hoped that in view of the cut in interest rate by the Bank of Canada bringing its rate down to six percent that another cut may be expected.

As matters now stand council has not drawn on its chief money requirement for sewer construction therefore the interest cost will be reduced one half percent with the possibility of a further reduction.

Hydrants needed

Expansion of Gibsons village has created the need for more fire hydrants it was reported at the council meeting last week. Present plans call for the possibility of three hydrants at needed points.

It was suggested that council set up a budget in future for hydrants and it is likely next year's budget will see the start. There are points in the village to be considered and also Pratt Road now that it is using village water.

INQUIRE ABOUT PARK

Use of a park area reserved for Sechelt municipality by the provincial government has been revived with a request from Ald. Joe Benner that Sechelt's council enquire from Victoria officials as to the present position of the 172 acres in Block 1472. This matter was before council for several meetings some five or six years ago when it was proposed as a golf course.

GIFT IDEAS FOR EASY SEWING
When it comes to making gifts you don't have to be the most talented seamstress on the block. If you can stitch a straight seam and do simple sewing by hand or machine, you can turn out gifts that are both appealing and useful.

According to the Canadian Cotton Council, the trick is to make simple items... then apply cotton rick rack in imaginative new ways.

Gifts for a tiny baby are always fun to make, and one of the simplest is a reversible bassinet cover. All you need is a yard of quilted cotton gingham with solid color backing, jumbo and baby-size cotton rick rack, and two-inch wide bias hem facing.

On the gingham side, attach jumbo rick rack to the quilting stitches to form diamond-shaped motifs. Then apply baby rick rack in another diamond pattern overlapping the first.

Or, sew one for the master bedroom. Same procedure only larger quantities of materials will be needed. Team the quilt with pillows of the same fabric for that extra touch of pizzazz.

"In this changing world," commented a university dean of medicine to a recent conference of doctors in Winnipeg, "old deans never die, they just lose their faculties."

Girl Guides celebrate

Hallowe'en was celebrated with much noise and enthusiasm by all local Brownies, Guides and leaders, and in some cases, mothers and fathers.

1st Gibsons Pack ushered it in with a costume parade, the winners being 1, Jennifer Baker, 2, Suzy Francis, and 3, Lorie Plows.

Last week six Tweenies were enrolled. New Brownies are: Shirley Spence, Esther Michaud, Laurie Stromquist, Carrie Barnes, Louise Youdell and Mary-Ann Youdell. A second year star was presented to Elisa Higgs. This pack is working without a Tawny Owl. Anyone willing to help out please contact Mrs. Arlene White.

Second Gibsons pack had lots of fun with games and treats and ended their evening with an outdoor peanut scramble. These Brownies are busy learning new songs so one can expect to hear great things.

Third Gibsons Pack not only had the girls and their mothers in costume but fathers too. When everyone had to feel what the old witch was putting into her brew, the weaker sex was proven not to be the mothers. Spooky lights, apple dunking and refreshments topped off the evening.

On Nov. 9, mothers and fathers again were invited to watch Barbara Jackson, Jacqueline Gaines, Nadine Smethurst, Kathy McPhee, Annette Bob, Elizabeth Egan, Josephine Hogberg, June Mandelkau and Jennifer Dickson change from Tweenies to Brownies. They received their pins and emblems from the commissioner and the grand howl from the pack.

On Nov. 13, six girls who are flying up to the 2nd Guide Company were treated to dinner at the Coast Inn. In uniform for the event were Cindy Beaudry, Lynn Wheeler, Janet Dupuis, Colleen Hoops, Janet MacKay and Dawn Blakeman.

First Roberts Creek pack had an unusual and interesting outing recently when they watched the salmon going up Roberts Creek. The girls then got busy during their meeting and made their Hallowe'en masks and costumes. Mrs. Ann Thompson is in need of a helper for this pack.

First Gibsons Guides were watched by their fairy godmother and the commissioner while the frolicked in Hallowe'en costumes and filled their tummies with goodies. Scariest costume was worn by Kerry Mahlman, fanciest by Laurel Davidson and most original by Iris Veedoy.

Second Gibsons Guides had an original idea for Hallowe'en costumes when, like musical chairs, each girl took an article out of various paper bags. Every item they got had to be put on over the last one and no doubt some funny sights emerged. The district commissioner wore her own costume so was saved from the bags.

Glenda Davies, Brenda Rotluff and Maria Rinaldis prepared the refreshments in order to earn their hostess badges and baking was brought by Camille Turnyk to earn her baker's badge.

Third Gibsons Guides had Kerry Mahlman, the company leader, dressed as a scarecrow in the middle of the hall and she was so realistic all the bats and crows flew out of the hall leaving the girls to enjoy games, ghost stories and treats. The spooky evening was also enjoyed by Commissioner Mrs. Wheeler and Godmother Mrs. Meredith. Prizes for costumes went to Yvonne Inglis for the funniest and Heather Reid for most original.

Any ladies willing to help with the various packs and companies are asked to call the leaders or Mrs. Wheeler. The Brownies motto is 'Lend a Hand' and mothers are asked to do the same. The L.A. to Guides and Brownies meets on the third Tuesday of every second month in the Anglican Church Hall, the next one being in December.

Mothers are urged to attend.

During the next couple of weeks, Brownies and Guides will be selling Girl Guide calendars to help everyone get ready for 1971.

Let your vision be world embracing rather than confined to your own self.

Gravel opponents express views

We, the undersigned residents (about 40 names) of East Porpoise Bay area, object on the grounds listed to the mining and shipping of gravel by Rivtow Straits Ltd., & Associates (formerly Sechelt Sand & Gravel).

1. The noise, dust, traffic, disfigurement of the countryside, and pollution of fresh and salt water resulting from such a project would be extremely detrimental to this locality which is being increasingly used as a tourist, retirement and residential area. Two new subdivisions border this proposed gravel site, as well as several already established subdivisions, located nearby.

2. The scow loading and gravel stripping operations will adjoin the beach and woodland park (D.L. 1557) purchased by the parks branch in 1966, rendering the park site useless for its original purpose.

3. We want to preserve the herring spawning grounds in the proposed gravel loading area, and the access of salmon into Angus Creek (a registered salmon spawning stream, which enters Porpoise Bay at approximately the beach boundary of the park and the gravel loading site. Both the salmon and herring face destruction if these facilities are built and tugs and scows are moving about.

4. Any areas on these gravel ridges not suitable for residential use could provide a continuing source of forest products, and outdoor recreation such as hiking, hunting, etc., and preserve our area intact for the future.

Sirs: This letter states our objections to the proposed gravel industry and foreshore loading installations in Porpoise Bay on the north borderline of the government park.

We have been owners of waterfront property in Porpoise Bay for three generations and have operated for the past eight years as Porpoise Bay Campsites and Recreational Marine Parks, (D.L. 1558) comprising approx. 100 acres by 1/2 mile waterfront; and adjoining the south border of the said government park (D.L. 1557) being approximately 160 acres.

We sold this 160 acres of parkland to the Parks Branch some four years ago for the stated purpose of a public recreational park and campsite; and public funds were used to purchase this park for these purposes. To break faith with the public and down-grade this park site by permitting the very worst type of industry — gravel stripping and scow loading installation, right on the park borderline and beach-front, is beyond comprehension. Why there has apparently been no objection from the parks branch is puzzling.

The natural reason the public desire these wilderness parks is to get away from the noise and pollution of crowded places and particularly of industry. For the tourist to arrive here and find he is in the midst of a huge land and marine gravel industry would be devastating.

For simplification we list our objections as follows:

LOCATION: The establishing of a gravel industry bordering the land and beach boundary line of the government park could only result in defeating the purposes for which the park was acquired.

POLLUTION: The pollution from outflow, tug-boat and scow manoeuvring, material spill-over, gravel-washing effluent (particle suspension) would result in the pollution of the whole bay area. Porpoise Bay being the end of Sechelt Inlet, once polluted would never recover, as there is no tidal flow flushing action, merely a tidal rise and fall.

SWIMMING AND BOATING: The proposed area for scow loading is so confined, the tugs and scows would necessarily have to manoeuvre in the waters fronting the park. This would greatly depreciate the swimming and boating, and the general appearance from the land.

SALMON SPAWNING: Angus Creek flows out into Porpoise Bay at approximately the boundary line of the park and the proposed gravel installation. This is a registered salmon-spawning stream and the fish gather at the mouth waiting for sufficient water before going up to spawn. Porpoise Bay is also an important herring spawning area which would be seriously threatened.

RESORT & RESIDENTIAL: There are many resort subdivisions and residences in Porpoise Bay. Many lovely homes and resorts have been built. These people purchased property here with the specific purpose in mind of getting to an unspoiled, unpolluted area, on both land and sea, and we are sure they would all voice their objections to the gravel industry at their front door if they were aware of the fact.

AESTHETICS, TOURISM, RECREATION: Gravel mining, above all other mining methods, is in its very nature strip-mining in its worst form, creating vast scars on the landscape and in this particular area, within view of most vantage points, land, marine and air, the while destroying land far better suited to human habitation and recreational use.

To accept the short view of the fast buck for a few jobs in a specialized industry, against the long view of the tourist and recreational industry, current and potential, which is virtually here and now heading into a boom, would be a short-sighted policy indeed.

We should not let ourselves be enticed or lulled into a false sense of security by any promises relating to restorative measures which are generally hazy and unenforceable in any case.

Sir: The Sunshine Coast Environment Protection Society would like to express its concern and to protest in the strongest terms to the operation of any major gravel pit on the Sunshine Coast. It seems to us to be unfortunate that the people objecting most strongly to these operations do not pool their resources and act in unison to achieve their objectives.

Is it not about time that the people of this area started to think about their environment, not in terms of dollars and cents, but rather from the fact that it exists and that we as residents have the privilege of living here? It does not take any intelligent imagination to realize the fact that we are only here on a very temporary basis, however long that may sometimes appear to be; and surely this does not give anyone the right to destroy forever our natural surroundings?

People will argue that this is going to bring employment to the area and that the prospects for the future look very favorable, but do they ever stop to think just what kind of a mess this gravel pit operation is going to produce and that it is quite conceivable that the tourist business which we are supposed to be encouraging, could be badly harmed for ever, because it must be fairly obvious that tourism and gravel pits do not mix, however much supervision might be enforced.

Has the idea ever occurred to those people who advocate the growth of this area in terms of bringing families in from elsewhere to operate the gravel pits, that perhaps the very fact of the pits being there will frighten more people away who would otherwise consider taking up residence on a permanent basis, simply because of the loss in land and property values? It should not be too difficult to project the future growth of this area and compare it with the number of people who would be brought in as a result of the employment created by the gravel pits. The results might be quite enlightening.

Most people on the Sunshine Coast are unfortunately unaware of just how big an operation this is going to be. Would it not be a good idea to publish the details of both operations in the local newspapers with a map indicating the area to be affected and the implications they are likely to have on the whole area?

There is no doubt in anybody's mind that some kind of light industry with a potential for employing the local people would be an asset on the Sunshine Coast, but let us not grab with both hands the first offer that comes along without giving it very careful thought, weighing all the pros and cons and letting the people decide what they want for their area instead of being told by big industry and financial concerns what is good for them. There are many, perhaps well meaning citizens who still think they are living in an age that existed 10 or 20 years ago.

This kind of bulldozing (forgive the pun) operation was acceptable then, but times have changed and it is time for these people to waken up to realities and realize that the ordinary man on the street does have a right to be heard and even taken notice of.

The SCEPS fully endorses the stand taken by the Selma Park Community association and the residents of the Porpoise Bay area and feel that they have done an admirable job in their presentation which deserves full and immediate consideration by those concerned both on the regional level and also on the provincial level.

—John Hind-Smith, secretary, S.C.E.P.S.

Human rights are very much in the news and the following are some fundamental human rights now protected by the Human Rights Act.

No employer or anyone acting on his behalf can discriminate between his male and female employees by paying a female employee at a rate of pay less than the rate of pay paid to a male employee employed by him for the same work or substantially the same work done in the same establishment.

Skiers check equipment as snow increases

(By DR. PETER ANDREWS, President, Canadian Ski Assoc. Western Division)

The first snows have hit the mountains and skiers are anxiously looking over last season's equipment to see if it will hold out for another year.

Don't forget how important it is to have the correct tension on safety bindings — or they will not be safety bindings. Most ski shops have a device for checking the tension of toe and heel pieces for the correct height, weight and ability of the skier. If you are not certain yours are properly adjusted, take them in now.

Instructors' courses have been going on wherever there has been snow. Grouse Mountain Ski School started on-snow training in September. The ASI and OSI courses are taking place this month at Sunshine Village, near Banff, and will draw instructors from all over B.C. and Alberta to get their certification.

And scheduled between the two courses is the Molstar Pace-setter Race when the 25 top ski school heads will race against each other to set a par for Molstar Standard races in Western Canada. Who will it be, Jim McConkey, Ornuif Johnsen, Al Menzies or Dave Brewer?

It's interesting to see the great job done at Grouse and Whistler this year with the summer grooming program. Let's hope the winter grooming will complement these vastly improved runs. Both area management are to be congratulated for a fine job in looking after the recreational skier.

New ski films being shown throughout B.C.: Once in a Lifetime, the new Dick Barrymore production highlighting the 1970 world championships at Val Gardena; The World of World Cup, featuring the Du Maurier Cup in Vancouver and Experience in Slow Motion, a brilliant new concept in ski photography.

All proceeds from the film showings will go to the National Ski Team.

Let your vision be world embracing rather than confined to your own self.

Art lecture

Gordon Caruso of Vancouver who has exhibited art work in many shows in the Pacific Northwest, will be the lecturer at a session Thursday night in Elphinstone school art room to help local artists get rid of biases, formulas and crutches in drawing and painting.

There will be an admission fee of $1 and the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. Bring along some large sheets of paper, white or brown, drawing and painting materials, also an open mind, is the advice of the originators of the meeting.

Mr. Caruso has taught or attended most of the university and school arts sections in the northwest and has exhibited in group and one man shows.

Letters to editor

Editor: The writers feel sure that many of you will recall that ten Christmases ago before the deluge of locally sent and received Christmas cards decorated the mantelpiece for a short time before their inevitable fiery end, a small group agreed to send a donation (equal to the dozens and dozens of cards we send to friends and acquaintances we come in contact with frequently) to the Central City Mission in Vancouver.

This was done rather than sending Christmas cards locally, so that some less fortunate may better enjoy his or her Christmas and possibly appreciate that Christ did not die in vain after all.

This small group has been growing each year so this letter is directed to any and all who wish to contribute in this manner to ensure that more and more people will have a happier and brighter Christmas as it was intended.

This year's proceeds will go to our local Senior Citizens Fund sponsored by the Sunshine Coast Kiwanis club.

Those desiring to join us, please contact Mrs. M. Holland at 886-9513 or Mrs. D. Wright at 886-7779 or money can be deposited in Gibsons Christmas Card Fund at the Bank of Montreal. Such donation must be in by Friday, Dec. 18 and signed as you would like your name to appear.

Let your vision be world embracing rather than confined to your own self.

Wagons ho! for boys, girls

Under the title Wagons Ho, there will be special gatherings for boys and girls aged 4 - 13 at the Pentecostal Tabernacle each afternoon next week.

These western style meetings are to be conducted by Sandy and Sparky, whose full names are Darleen Klammer and Glenda Butt. They are graduates of Western Pentecostal Bible College in North Vancouver.

The gatherings will be full of variety and will be designed to appeal to the above age group. A warm welcome is assured to boys and girls each afternoon from Monday, Nov. 23 to Friday, Nov. 27 from 3:15 to 4:45 p.m.

DAWSON TO VISIT

Hon. Isabel Dawson, minister without portfolio in the provincial cabinet, announces she will hold open house in Gibsons court room in the lower part of the Municipal Hall on Tuesday, Nov. 24 from 2 to 5 p.m.

She is also slated to make a tour of district schools starting at 10 a.m., Friday, Nov. 27.

Square Dancers!

ATTENTION!

The next Square Dance will take place Friday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Roberts Creek Legion Hall
