The Mayor comes home

Gibsons Mayor Larry Labonte was released from St. Mary's Hospital last Wednesday but doctor's orders will keep him around the house for a while. It is expected that he will be active again in another month.

The mayor suffered a heart attack last month.

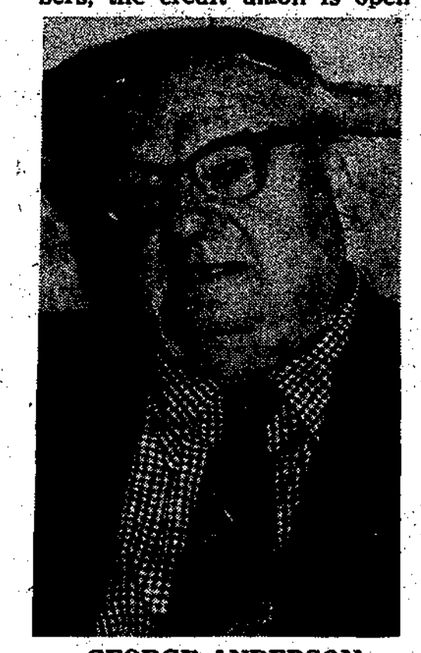
Credit Union readies for new quarters

The construction machinery started rolling in lower Gibsons village last week. In a few months the Port Mellon Gibsons Credit Union will be proudly displaying a brand new building.

"We are growing tremendously," explains general manager and secretary-treasurer George Anderson in his office presently located in a tiny building situated at the corner of Highway 101 and Seaview Road.

"We had assets of $250,000 in 1972 and we're up to over $700,000 now. We'll probably be pushing one million in six months."

You have to agree with George when he tells you the credit union has come a long way since 1955 when it originated for workers at Port Mellon. And now with 450 members, the credit union is open to the general public and getting stronger every day.



GEORGE ANDERSON

The new building, which will be located just off Jack's Lane and beside the Coast News office, will consist of about 1300 square feet of floor space. It will be worth about $70,000 including the land.

George Anderson goes on to explain about the operations of the credit union:

"We are not a bank, we're a membership. Everybody gets together and pools their savings and then it's lent out to members who are in need of money.

"Profits are turned back to the members and a minimal amount is put on the side for buildings. We must keep 20 percent aside according to the Credit Union Act in order to keep solvent."

That 20 percent goes toward the Provincial Credit Union Share and Deposit Guarantee fund which guarantees all shares and deposits of every member in every credit union. The fund also guarantees credited dividends on credit union shares and credited interest on term deposits.

To become a member of the credit union, you must take out five shares per year at one dollar per share for a minimum of five years. After five years that means you have a $25 share in the credit union. There is no maximum value on the shares you may own.

The shares will pay a yearly dividend of 6 percent maximum and any money left after the dividends have been paid goes towards a reserve and lowers the interest rates on members' loans.

Naturally it is beneficial to have a large membership, George says, because the greater the membership the greater the benefits.

ONCE THERE was a girl named Sadie Hawkins. She was the ugliest girl in Dogpatch and no one wanted anything to do with her. But Sadie's daddy was rich so he made a day where the girls could chase the boys. And that's how Sadie Hawkins day started and that's the way it was at Elphinstone Secondary last Friday. Just ask Russ Nygren, Brad Norris and John Harstad. They're hangin' around waiting for Sadie.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONEERING BEGINS

NDP policies in jeopardy - Curtis

The great issue in the upcoming provincial election, according to Hugh Curtis, Social Credit MLA for Saanich and the Islands, is administrative ability.

Curtis, in Sechelt last week with Socred MLAs Allan Wil-Williams and Don Phillips, said at a press conference prior to a Socred sponsored luncheon at the old Legion Hall that some of the present NDP programs are in jeopardy because of the government's attitude and the inability to administer.

"In the caucus Bill (Bennett) has already attracted good calibre candidates all over the province. We have two major tasks the first task is to become elected, the second — a far more challenging and complicated task — is to put things back on the track and to restore confidence." Curtis said.

The MLAs said mining was one of the major areas where confidence needed to be restored and the present government's claim that low world prices of minerals are slowing down the industry are unfounded because prices are higher now than they were in 1972.

"In the Yukon and Alberta there is a tremendous amount of mining activity but nothing in British Columbia," said Curtis. He said the Socreds would scrap controversial Bill 31 and tax mining companies on their profits.

The MLAs also criticized the present government for a slow down in the lumber industry saying that expansion is taking place in the lumber industry in every province except this one.

Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver-Howe Sound, who recently left the Liberal party to join the Socreds, said housing would be one of the priorities of a Socred government. He said the secret is to make more land available to the residents of the province and to assist municipalities to service the land.

Williams said there should be a better financial relationship between the province and the municipalities.

He said the government should confer with municipalities before the budget and find out what money is available — not to interfere but to assist them to develop housing. He added that growth must be left in municipal hands but support must come from the provincial government.

Speaking to the luncheon crowd at the Legion Hall, Williams further explained his housing program saying that crown land should be made available for private housing by private developers and that the 5 percent provincial tax

Sechelt upset over request

The village of Sechelt is not about to change its municipal status and it certainly is not planning to forfeit its half of the jointly owned Gibsons-Sechelt municipal airport.

That is the feeling of Sechelt council after learning of a letter sent to Transport Canada by the village of Gibsons. The Gibsons letter asks Transport Canada to include a clause in the airport agreement that would ensure Gibsons total ownership of the airport if the village of Sechelt should cease to be. The Gibsons request was based on "rumors" that Sechelt was planning to change its municipal status

As a result of the Gibsons letter, Sechelt council has written to C. R. Rhodes of Transport Canada denying that the village is planning to change its municipal status.

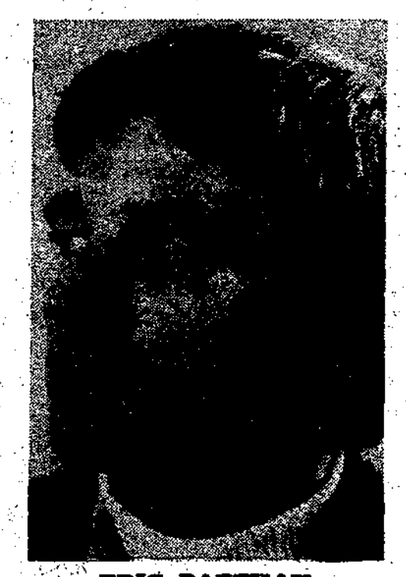
"... the Village of Sechelt is not planning to change its municipal status and the council feels that a dissolution clause is not only unnecessary but also in bad taste. The village of Sechelt will therefore not agree to the inclusion of such a clause." the letter states.

At last week's Sechelt council meeting Ald. Frank Leitner reported that paving on the runway was almost finished and that the ramp to the runway would not be paved until next spring due to bad weather. He also said that Coast Paving, the contractor handling the paving job, has not yet received any payments from Transport Canada.

Ald. Norm Watson said the payment was probably delayed because of the suggestion from Gibsons council. Watson added that he talked personally with Rhodes of Transport Canada and he agreed Gibsons was just operating on rumors.

"The department (of Transport) people said they do not get involved in last wills and testaments," Watson old council.

Socreds choose Paetkau



ERIC PAETKAU

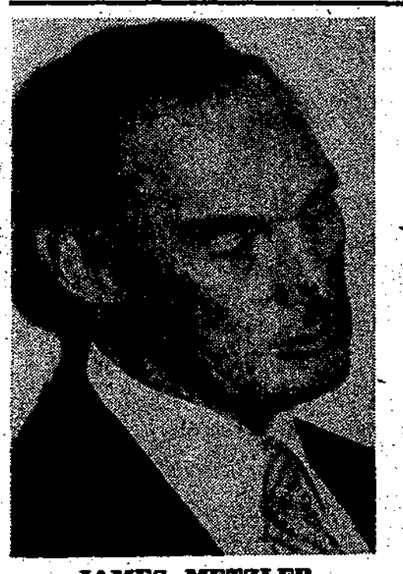
Eric Paetkau, a Sechelt surgeon, will run as the Social Credit candidate for Mackenzie Riding in the December 11 provincial election. Paetkau captured the nomination race Sunday over Peter Prescesky of Madeira Park and Ted Cooper of Powell River by a nearly two to one majority.

About 400 people were reported to be in attendance in the Madeira Park Community Hall as Paetkau won the Socred election with a 54.4 percent vote in the first round of balloting. The actual number of votes were as follows: Paetkau 181, Prescesky 95, Cooper 55.

The Socred election meeting, called hastily after Premier Barrett made his election announcement, was chaired by former B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Paetkau will start his campaign next week in the Powell River area.

In the meantime, a Liberal nomination meeting will be held in the Pender Harbour Hotel November 16. Joe Benner of Sechelt is the only person seeking the nomination so far.



JAMES METZLER

James Metzler is a candidate for re-election for an aldermanic seat in the village of Gibsons and is also seeking the regional board seat to represent this village.

Metzler, a former school board secretary-treasurer in this district and several other districts before that, has resided in Gibsons for eight years. He was first elected to council in a by-election in January 1975.

Metzler said his aims on council are to help further orderly progress for Gibsons as a good place to live, and to work for the good of the community as a whole without bias or conflict of interest.

"I believe I have shown that my years of administration, particularly in the field of finance have allowed me to make a contribution of value to the village this year."

Metzler is presently chairman of the Wharf, Recreation, Fire and Health committees on council. He is also alternate director on the regional board.

"As an alternate director to the regional district for the village of Gibsons I feel I have now sufficient insight into the operation of the Sunshine Coast Regional District to properly represent the citizens of the village of Gibsons I feel I have reason I am also seeking election as a director."

PIETER AELBERS

Pieter Aelbers is a candidate for an aldermanic seat in the village of Gibsons. He is also seeking a seat on the regional board to represent the village.

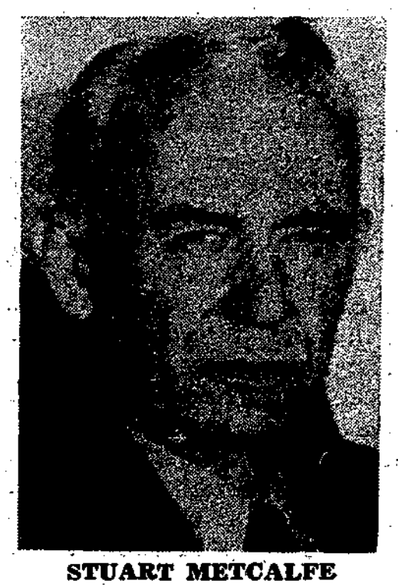
Aelbers, 38, a real estate appraiser for a Vancouver firm, has been a resident of Gibsons since 1967. He told an all candidates meeting at the Twilight Theatre Sunday that he would like to see better commercial representation on council and that he wanted to see on orderly development of the whole Gibsons area, including Langdale, Hopkins, and Granthams.

"The growth outside the village depends directly on the commercial services available in the village," he said.

He also felt there should be a better understanding with the regional board.

Aelbers, who organized the all-candidates meeting Sunday, earlier said that much of the land in the regional district was intimately related to the village since the village boundaries are not natural boundaries.

"I believe it is essential that the village and the regional district have a joint co-operative plan rather than the present tendency towards rivalry and animosity that exists between the two authorities."



STUART METCALFE

Stuart Metcalfe is seeking re-election for an aldermanic seat on Gibsons council. Metcalfe said Sunday that as a retiree residing in Gibsons he is not enthusiastic about the growth of this village. "But we can't stop the growth," Metcalfe said "and therefore I would like to see an orderly and well thought out growth plan for the village.

Metcalfe said he would also like to see more parks in the village and a general beautification.

"Gibsons is not a garden spot and it could well be. I would like to see it smartened up." He added there was also a great necessity for dog control and that the present council has a study underway now.

Metcalfe, a retired engineer, has occupied a council seat in Gibsons for the past 12 months. He said he has learned a lot in that time and if re-elected will continue to work for better roads, development of the harbor area, and continued upgrading of the water system.

LIONS 400 WINNER

Last week's winner of $100 in the Gibsons Lions 400 club draw was Hilda Girard of Gibsons. The ticket was drawn in Bank of Montreal by Dick Blakeman.

Loosing touch

Once the local elections are over and new directors have made themselves comfortable in their board room chairs, the Sunshine Coast Regional Board should set aside a entire meeting to take an objective look at policies and procedures.

The work load and responsibilities of directors have increased tremendously over the last year or so and in trying to cope with this avalanche the director on the "inside" is often in danger of losing touch with John Doe on the "outside".

Director representing Gibsons, Kurt Hoehne, told the board in a not-so-mild manner last week that some of the board's priorities were wrong. He pointed out that one half hour was spent discussing trivial details — as Director Norm Watson said: "Much ado about nothing" — while an expenditure report involving $181,000 of the public's money was merely given the rubber stamp of approval.

Furthermore, the upcoming elections have manifested certain feelings regarding the staff and operations of the regional district and those feelings indicate that the regional district bureaucracy is becoming more and more inaccessible to the very individual for which it exists.

A little house cleaning would be in order.

A tribute to the volunteers

The opening of the Gibsons Winter Club curling rink has been postponed for another month. It was hoped that curlers would be sliding out of the hacks by November 15 but spokesman Harry Turner said the club failed to receive the expected LIP grant that would have allowed the hiring of five men to finish the project.

That again puts the burden on volunteer workers.

It must be disheartening for some of those involved in the building or organization of this village asset to be continually denied those much-needed government grants Especially disheartening when the village of Sechelt announces the approval of an LIP grant for over $38,000 to plant flower bulbs in Hackett Park.

A great number of hours of volunteer work and donations of materials and equipment have gone into this building that will provide a recreation activity for all people of the Gibsons area. These people should be congratulated on their spirit and determination. When the project is finished it should stand as a monument to remind all of us what a community is all about — people living and working together toward common goals.

If you want to be included in this spirit and if you can't donate your physical labor, or if you have no equipment to lend, you can still do your part by purchasing a debenture. Two hundred dollars is a sound investment into the spirit of co-operation in this community. And it will help us get onto the ice that much faster.

It's been said before...

Saturday November 15 is election day. Municipal, regional board and school board hopefuls will be winding up their campaign this week and the next step is up to you.

Over the past few weeks you have had a chance to learn something about the candidates and their platforms. Stories and advertisements have appeared in the newspapers and many candidates voluntarily placed themselves in the public hot-seat at the all-candidates meetings.

Public attendance at the all-candidates meeting for school trustees was good but most of those at the STA sponsored event were teachers. Attendance at the all-candidates meeting for Gibsons and regional district area E at the Twilight Theatre Sunday was poor. We won't make any nasty innuendoes about that word apathy we'll assume that people are entirely satisfied with what is going on at the local government level or we will assume that you have already made up your mind as to where you'll place the X.

All the past activity concerning the local elections has been for you, the voter. A 15 to 20 percent voter turnout is not at all encouraging either to the winning or the losing candidates.

It's been said countless times before, in our own area and in all other parts of the democratic world; and it will be said again: Get out and vote — it's not only your right, it's your duty.

OF SHOES AND SHIPS AND SEALING WAX . . .

Place your bets – they're off and running

The bell rings, the gates open, they're off and running.

A number of local hopefuls are now jockeying into position to try and gain a spot in one of several different categories. Place your bets early and stock up now on peanuts and popcorn for the big November 15 finale.

Feature race of the day is the coveted school board cup and with eight talented entrants running hot after four winning spots. the excitement and tension mounts.

Bets are two to one for Rottluff in the Gibsons school board event. She's known in this area and she's already shown some fine form voicing the concerns of the public during the past year. As an interested parent she's attended school board meetings as faithfully as the trustees themselves. And not just when there's a particular thorn in her side either.

Ibbitson has some strong ideas and would no doubt be a strong voice in some of those nagging board room sessions but Rottluff's popularity and demonstrated concern will give her the edge.

In the second part of the daily double, they're running neck and neck. Incumbents MacLeod, Horvath and Fisher have all demonstrated their strengths when things get tough and past performances probably place the odds in their favor.

Horvath may be overtaken in the backstretch because he's been kicking about the British Columbia Teachers' Federation trying to take over the entire field, lock, stock and education department. Horvath says what he thinks and he does not invoke indifference. You either bet the bundle on him or you don't bet at all.

No doubt local teachers will be out in full force November 15 and if the STA heavies expose Horvath's files the educators won't be giving him the X.

The three newcomers in rural area B will need a last minute effort for one, or perhaps at the most two, to even place. They're strong competitors but they'll have problems beating out the regulars.

Esslemont spends most of his time grazing around pleasont odor farms at Port Mellon. He's a young parent and he's concerned and that's what it's all about in education these days. He'll be one to watch in the future but the odds are probably against him in this round.

Douglas would prove competent if saddled with the school trustee position. He is tied directly to the grass roots school situation (wife, son and daughter-in-law are teachers in this district) and he's well known in the area. He had held the reins on the school board before and he's demonstrated his ability on various other tracks in the area. Could make it, especially if Horvath falters in the home stretch.

Spiekermann is the workhorse. He knows what he wants and he knows how to get it. No doubt he'll get all the votes from Bowen Island but he may be a bit fast moving for the Sunshine Coast mananas. Could land a place or a show but don't bet the whole bundle because the majority of Area B voters will be saying "Claus who?" when they look at their ballots.

The Royal Gibsons crown has already been taken in the preliminaries by one Larry Labonte but there's still a run-off for the place and show positions.

Metcalfe has seen a few races but he's probably got a few good tricks left. He's also got a great deal of sincerity and common sense. He will give you a good run for your money.

That leaves incumbent Metzler and newcomer Aelbers both vieing for an aldermanic seat and a regional board seat representing Gibsons. Metzler has been in the harness for only about six months and he's just getting to know the ropes. Appears to be competent and will probably have some support from the retired segment of the village.

Aelbers is in the same race but on the other side of the track. Hard to say whether he's a lap ahead or a lap behind the others. Likes to run for the sake of running — which makes things more interesting. He's running under the commercial banner and may win some support from local business. His greatest ambition is to trot alongside the boys at the regional track

In the Sechelt crown Harold Nelson has taken top spot leaving three entries for the place and show positions.

Watson is probably assured of a spot because he IS Sechelt council. On the condition that his fans aren't fed up with his verbal prancings. That leaves incumbent Booth and the entry of Morgan Thompson who's making a comeback after an earlier heyday in the sixties. Thompson probably has Sechelt big business behind him. Give him good odds.

Incumbent Booth is the question mark. His past actions on council have been quietly effective — or effectively quiet. Does a good job of looking after the fire committee.

A glance at the Regional track shows some activity but not enough to raise the dust. It's unclear what the stakes are except that some competitors feel that too many rules and regulations are slowing them down.

The Regional District Area E race shows incumbent and present board Chairman Frank West in the probable lead. Some past fans of West have expressed dissatisfaction over the "dictatorial" attitudes of the regional district but that issue is with the policies of the regional board rather than the person.

West's opponent Ed Johnson represents those who feel they're being lassooed by the board's rules and regulations and supporters of that platform seem to be surfacing in all parts of the grandstand. Slight disadvantage for the entry from Hopkins Landing because he's not on the home track. He's also spoken out against the tree bylaw and as a member of the logging fraternity the connection is a little bit obvious.

The entrants in Regional District Area C are Jack Whitaker and Barry Pearson. Neither has had a chance to demonstrate abilities on the track before and both are well known in the Selma Park area. Fifty-fifty odds on these two so you pays your money and takes your choice.

The race at Pender Harbour also involves two newcomers, Wayne Spring and John Paterson. Hard to say what the natives up there will be thinking next week, so don't bet the entire bundle on either one.

See you at the track. . . . Put my nickel on the bobtail nag, doo-da, doo-da.

JACK WHITAKER

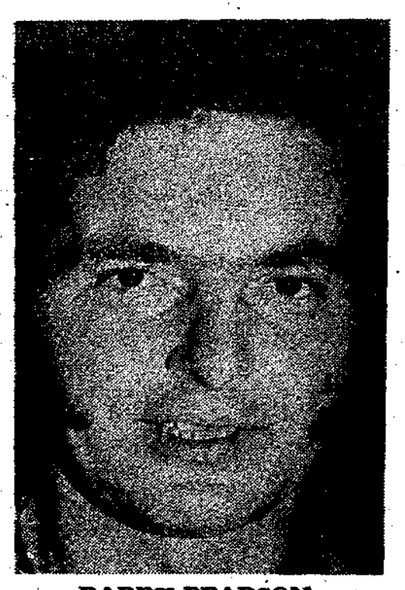
Whitaker, a businessman residing in Davis Bay, has been president of the Wilson Creek Community Centre and is presently involved in projects for teen-age children. He is also a member of the Committee on Government presently studying alternative methods of governing the Sunshine Coast.

"I realize that a director's first obligation is to the residents of the area he is elected in, but I also know that if the directors from each area do not work together for the common good of the Sunshine Coast as well as their own area, they are not fulfilling their obligations to the people who elected them. I stand for government for the people and not to the people," Whitaker said.

He said if elected he would do his best to assist the residents of Area C and act as a director for the common good.



BARRY PEARSON

Barry Pearson is running for a seat on the Sunshine Coast Regional Board representing area C. The seat is presently occupied by Tim Frizzell who earlier announced he would not be seeking re-election.

Pearson, 34, is a contractor who lives in the Davis Bay area. He is presently Regional Board alternate director for that area. He is a member of the Wilson Creek Community Association and a director for the Wilson Creek Daycare Centre. He is married and has two children.

Pearson, who grew up on the Sunshine Coast, says his major reason for seeking the regional board seat is because the area is growing and "I would like to see that it grows right."

Wharf problem

Coast Ferries says it is not responsible for the fact that the compressed gas tanks are scattered over the Gibsons government wharf causing further parking problems on an already overcrowded wharf.

The response came from a Coast Ferries official after a photograph appeared in the November 5 issue of the Coast News. The caption under the photograph noted that the enclosure specifically built to house the tanks was empty, and that the tanks were scattered around the wharf outside the cage.

The Coast Ferries official said the enclosure, built by the Department of Transport, had been built in the wrong place. He said it should be closer to the edge of the wharf so the tanks could be unloaded directly from ship to cage. He also said the tanks were not placed in the cages by customers, mainly welders, who deliver them to the wharf when empty.

Both the location of the cage and the tanks are causing parking problems on the wharf.

OOPS! WHAT happened to my car?

Luckily no one was hurt when this vehicle rolled over the bank on Gower Point Road in Gibsons last week. Two children were inside but only received a bit of a shock.

Bystanders said the car was parked along the side of the road and the two children left unattended in the station wagon were playing with the gear shift. Apparently the car was taken out of park and it rolled back over the embankment. There was no damage to the vehicle. The driver of the car asked to remain anonymous.

More permits

The Sunshine Coast Regional District's building inspector's report shows that the number of permits issued for July, August and September of this year is well up over the same three months of 1974.

The report, presented at the last regular board meeting, listed that a total of 232 permits were issued for the three months of this year. The largest number was during the month of September when 111 permits were issued. Last year 171 permits were issued during July, August and September.

In building values, the increase this year as compared to last year's $1,586,700.

Six Questions And Answers About The B.C. Price Freeze

The B.C. Price Freeze came into effect on October 24, 1975. It prohibits certain essential goods and services from rising above their October 24th price. Here are six important questions and answers about the way the price freeze works:

1 WHAT DOES THE PRICE FREEZE COVER?
All food and beverages for human consumption. This includes candy and ingredients such as spices. All prescription drugs. All proprietary or patent medicines (obtained without prescription), such as pain relievers, headache remedies, antacids, etc. All fares on provincially-owned buses and the ferry system. Also, passenger and freight tolls within B.C. charged by provincially-owned railways.

2 WHAT ISN'T COVERED?
All items not listed above, including: Food and beverages served in restaurants. Toiletry items such as deodorants, shaving cream, hair sprays, etc. Paper goods, hardware and household items. Cleaning soaps and detergents. Also pet foods and tobacco products.

3 CAN THERE STILL BE SALES DURING THE PRICE FREEZE?
Yes. Sellers can still lower prices. In fact, consumers are urged to shop for bargains and to continue to look for specials and sales. The price freeze does not prevent sellers from reducing prices. Prices may be lowered and raised again, as long as they do not go above their October 24th level.

4 ARE NEW ITEMS COVERED BY THE FREEZE?
No. Some specific merchandise—such as different sizes, grades or brands—not offered for sale at a particular store on October 24th are not affected by the freeze if that store later stocks them. But remember, most stores offer hundreds or thousands of items which they stock regularly and which are covered by the freeze. It may pay to shop for these.

5 WHAT ABOUT WHOLESALE PRICES?
In the categories listed above, they too are frozen. The price freeze applies equally to sales at the processing, wholesale and retail levels. (Farmers and fishermen, however, are not affected.)

6 IF YOU SEE AN UNFAIR PRICE INCREASE, WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?
You should first go back to the seller and ask why the price has apparently been raised above the maximum permitted. If you are not satisfied with the explanation, bring the complaint to us. We'll take it from there. Use the questionnaire below, or go to your nearest Consumer Services office or Government Agent. If you are not close to one of these offices, call your nearest Consumer Services office, collect.

CURLING

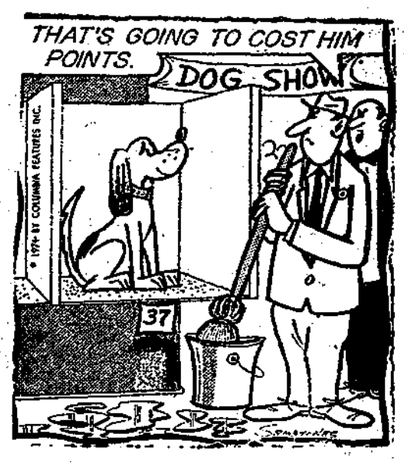
Winter club opening delayed

By HARRY TURNER

The opening of the Gibsons Winter club may have to be extended another month. We have not accomplished all we intended to have done but we have made considerable headway due to a lot of wonderful volunteers. The jobs left to do include finishing the inside, putting in the compressor, finishing of the electrical wiring and fixtures, finishing the plumbing, building walkways at both ends, hanging two doors, and opening the doors to the public. By November 3, we were expecting to receive an L.I.P. grant. We were not included in this round of grants, but we have not lost hope. Meanwhile we must push forward with the volunteers. This puts more onus on each member. The bigger the work crew, the faster we get the work done.

Our general meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 19 at the curling rink premises at 8 p.m. Everyone's welcome! If you have an old chair bring it along and leave it behind if you can spare it.

Those people who are prospective curlers please phone us. We would like to know what experience you have, what position you would like to play, or whether you are just beginning. We would like to arrange the teams so they have a combination of experienced and inexperienced people playing together. If you would like to curl, whether you are a member or not, phone Art Craze at 886-9882, Verda Schneider at 886-9906 or Harry Turner at 886-2184. We cannot give you a specific opening date but sometime in late December or early January looks hopeful. This is the result of not being able to hire the five men the LIP grant would have allowed us.



Sechelt District Municipality?

Commenting on the results of a financial study of the Sechelt vicinity, Sechelt Alderman Norm Watson said last week: "The results clearly point out that in due course — I don't know when it will take place, not now — but the area is closer to a district municipality level in terms of a straight money game with no social input. It's more optimistic than I thought."

The study was conducted by the committee on government which is presently investigating alternative methods of governing the Sunshine Coast.

Details of the study of the lands between Browning Road and Wakefield Creek in West Sechelt show that total 1975 assessment for the village of Sechelt was $3,358,520 and for land improvement areas outside the village the assessment was $7,261,922. The total assessed value for the study area is $10,620,422.

The mill rate for Davis Bay is 22 mills, West Sechelt 20½ mills, and the Village of Sechelt 23½ mills.

The results of a questionnaire conducted by the Committee on Government indicated that residents of the Sechelt vicinity preferred the area to remain rural and in a natural state.

Regional planner Adrian Stott said the one item that was most notably absent in the results was a desire to increase the industrial base or the employment in the vicinity.

"Apparently, the people of the area are satisfied with the level of industry now established with the exception of further light service industry for local needs. Such an attitude is consistent with the expressed desire for environmental and community preservation," Stott said.

FIRST VISITORS

Lief Ericsson is credited with making the first landfall on North American shores although recent archaeological work indicates that Irish and perhaps even Phonecian navigators may have arrived earlier.

Hospital orientation for new auxiliary members

Volunteer director Eve Moscrip is conducting orientation tours of St. Mary's Hospital to acquaint old and new members of the six auxiliaries to the ins and outs of the hospital This is a needed program for all members and a good introduction for new members. There are only two requirements for those wishing to join in volunteer work. First, to belong to an auxiliary to the hospital, and second, that you have had an X-ray in the past 12 months or are willing to have one. This may be arranged by phoning Eve Moscrip at 885-9322.

The tour takes you from the bottom floor up to the second floor where most in-service work with the patients is done. You will meet such people as food supervisor Sheila Danroth. dietician Marjorie Black; laundry and housekeeping supervisor Louise Christensen; chief engineer Harry Jenkins or assistant engineer, and fire marshall for the hospital Ray Burton.

The first floor is where the office of administrator and auxiliary mentor Mrs. Ellen Bragg is located with her secretary Mrs. Lilo Buckhorn. In the same area is finance director Wayne Robinson and director of nursing Dana Kearney.

The auxiliary gift shop is staffed weekdays by all six auxiliaries and is found in the foyer of the hospital. Along lab technologist Helen Schmidt the hall is the laboratory with X-ray with radiologists Mavis Burrows, and technician Greg Smith.

First floor head nurse is Diana Mansfield with an excellent staff and eqully efficient is second floor staff with head nurse Val Morrison. Activity aide Lillian Peters is the guiding force for volunteer work in the extended wing of the hospital.

The new physiotherapist Ian Hunter in his well equipped physiotherapy room on the bottom floor deals a lot with these patients and helps keep them mobile. Mr. Hunter's job is to help with the healing of patients in and out of the hospital, working once again with full staff. Outpatients are welcome here.

This tour is of benefit to all so take advantage of this opportunity to see our hospital and join the ladies in red.

The beauty of the outside of the hospital is the work of gardener Ted Gough who continues the good work started by Mack Baba.

Socred MLAs visit Sechelt

should be removed from building materials.

He said low interest rate mortgages could be available from funds obtained by the sale of special provincial bonds. He said subdivision services should not be a mandatory requirement for the developer because that developers merely adds the cost to the land, causing in Williams' words "front end loading."

Williams said the services should be initially paid for by the municipalities and paid back through municipal taxes over a period of 20 to 30 years.

He also suggested that additional government revenue be extended to the municipalities. He explained that a single family home cost a municipality a lot of money for services and the municipalities are therefore reluctant to construct cheap homes. The expensive houses have a higher assessment and with higher taxes the municipality obtains more revenue.

Williams said if a Socred government is elected there would be encouragement to build low price, high quality rental accommodation, especially in the urban areas.

On ICBC, the Socreds said the Crown corporation would not be eliminated but private insurance companies would be invited back into the province. It was admitted that without the government subsidy the ICBC rates would go up, "but ICBC would have to compete on its own and the insurance costs would not be hidden in the gas tax."

On social programs, Don Phillips, MLA for South Peace River said a Socred government would still implement social change but not socalism. Asked what the difference was, Phillips said a Social Credit government would encourage free enterprise and create a better life for the people of this province by taxing profits and not by buying companies and exercising government control on industry.

Said Phillips: "I think we're going to have to make a philosophical decision. Do you want state socialism or do you want a government that puts the freedom and the initiative of the individual first?"

After leaving Sechelt, the three MLAs then went to Powell River to complete a tour that was planned before the announcement of a December 11 election.

Two hurt in collision

Two people were taken to St. Mary's Hospital last Friday morning after being involved in a head-on collision on Highway 101 near Joe Road.

Gibsons RCMP said Jo-Anne Haramia of Gibsons suffered head and leg injuries when her north bound vehicle collided with a south bound vehicle driven by Julie Kathleen Gallup, 18, of Sechelt. Both were taken to St. Mary's Hospital. Gallup was later released.

Police are still investigating the cause of the accident.

SECHELT

Council briefs

Ald. Ernie Booth reported that a new 600 square foot fire hall for Sechelt will be finished by the end of November. The new building, which is being built in dismountable sections, will be located next to the present fire hall on Inlet Avenue. Booth said arrangements are also being made for the installation of new fire hydrants in the Sechelt Fire Protection District.

Council received a letter from a village resident, Mrs. McKaan, suggesting that more stop signs be placed in some crucial intersections along Ocean Avenue. Council noted the 1975 allotment for road signs had already been spent and there were now other priorities.

Sechelt council gave support in principle to the Sunshine Coast Cultural Committee and their goals to build a recreation and cultural centre on the Sunshine Coast. Ald. Dennis Shuttleworth said he would like to have support from the cultural committee for his bouwhaus and arboretum project. He suggested the two projects could be combined.

First, second and third reading were given to bylaw 156 that wil exempt the Sechelt Senior Citizens Association from general municipal taxes. The association's hall, known as the old Legion Hall, is used exclusively for recreation purposes.

Timothy J. Clements was given approval to operate a portable sawmill in the village to manufacture precision cut lumber. Clement said the small mill makes very little noise. He has already received approval to operate in the Regional District.

The village received approval for an LIP project in the amount of $38,125. The project will employ a total of 14 people from November to April. Three persons will start work this month planting bulbs in Hackett Park and working on the marsh on Porpoise Bay. Wages are to be $125 per week.

Ald. Norm Watson will attend a seminar on capital financing in Courtenay November 28.

Council has agreed to lend the school board $6,000 for construction on the road between Highway 101 and the site of the new Sechelt Junior Secondary School. The school board earlier indicated it would pay for the road improvement from funds provided by the Department of Education. The school board told council the funds would not be available until February. Council agreed to lend the school board the money until that time.

A stop work order was placed on construction at Seaside Village because Interfacial Design, a sub-contractor, was using sub-standard concrete for retaining walls. The concrete aggregate was tested by building inspector Roy Taylor and testing showed the concrete to break at 530 pounds per square inch. The building code requires a strength of 2,000 lbs. per square inch.

Second and third reading were given to subdivision control amendment bylaw 155. The amendment deals with tentative approvals of new subdivisions and provides for a $25 fee for the first parcel and $10 for each subsequent parcel with application for sub-divisions.

SOCCER

Wanderers fail to get equalizer

In soccer action last weekend Elphinstone Wanderers came out at the bottom end of a 1-0 score in a game against the Vancouver East End Baceda Rats played in Jonathon Rogers Park.

From the opening kick-off of the Sunday afternoon game Rats controlled the ball and forced Gibsons into a defensive battle. At the twenty minute mark the Rats scored on a rebound off a hard shot that goal-keeper Jan de Reus could not manage to hang on to. The first half ended with the Rats leading 1-0.

Gibsons defensive style continued into the second half as the Rats set up good scoring opportunities. One of their shots hit the Gibsons crossbar.

In the last five minutes of the game Gibsons came on strong in a final effort to get the equalizer. Gibsons took several corner kicks and one excellent scoring opportunity went wide. The game ended with the 1-0 victory for the Rats.

Excellent efforts were turned in by Kerry Eldred, Ken Bland, Gary Davies and Dan McKay. Goalie Jan de Reus made some excellent saves.

In other league action last weekend, Sechelt Renegades lost a 5-1 decision to the league leading Columbias. Barry Johnson scored the lone goal for the Renegades.

Soccer action resumes Sunday November 16 with Gibsons playing the Firemen at Central Park in Burnaby. Sechelt will take on Four Seasons at Beacons Field in Vancouver. Game times are 12 noon and 1 p.m. respectively.

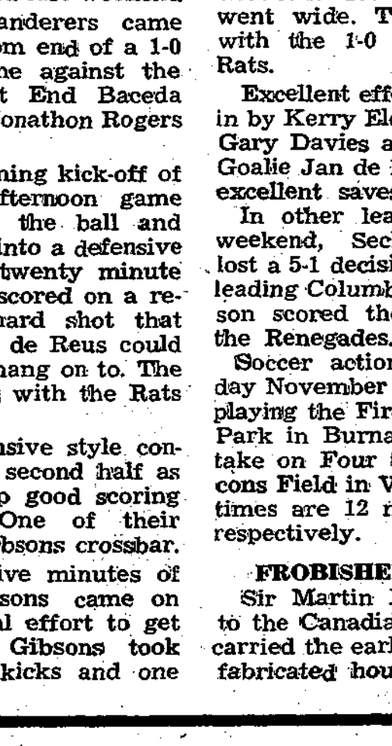
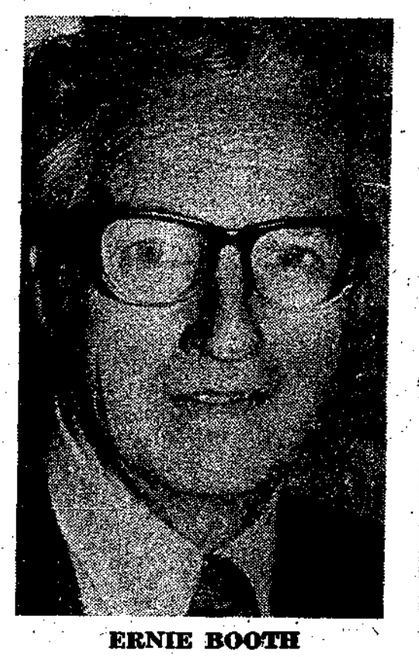
JoAnn Rottluff



AS YOUR SCHOOL TRUSTEE IN GIBSONS

NOVEMBER 15, 1975



ERNIE BOOTH

Ernie Booth is seeking his second term as alderman on Sechelt council.

Booth, a retired bank manager, has served ten years on the board of St. Mary's Hospital as trustee, treasurer and chairman. He has been a trustee on the Sechelt Fire Protection District and alderman for Sechelt Village council for the past two years.

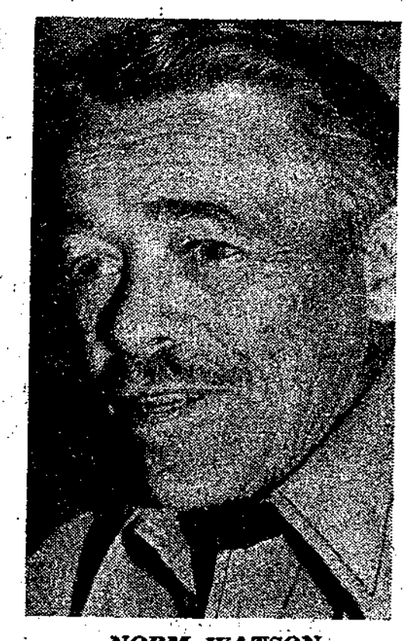
Booth said his aim on council is to work towards improvements and better services in the village according to the amount the taxpayer can bear.

"The tax share to the village is the smallest and we have to go as far as we can to provide improvements and developments."

Booth said he was in favor of bringing sewers to the village because land for septic tanks in the village is limited, particularly in the lower part.

Booth also said he would welcome suggestions for improvements from residents of the village.

"If you have a problem put it in writing along with a suggested solution and bring it to council."



NORM WATSON

Incumbent Norm Watson is seeking re-election as alderman on Sechelt council.

Watson, who also represents Sechelt on the Regional Board, said his main objective as an officer of the village of Sechelt is to maintain a good environment, physically, socially and culturally at affordable price.

"It is clear that Sechelt is the central core of a greater community and that all the citizens value the quality of our lifestyle equally. The trick is to maintain that level while at the same time restraining tax increases in the face of inflation," Watson said.

He believes in co-operation with the Regional District while also encouraging the village's own unique path.

Watson said co-operation with the Regional Board will lead to definite and important savings both from the administrative cost cutting and the economies of scale that will become possible. He believes this can be done without losing the identity or autonomy of the village.

Watson is the major force behind the implementation of a Sechelt sewer system.

Manpower office wanted here

Gibsons may get its own Canada Manpower and Unemployment Insurance office.

Gibsons council last week decided to approach Manpower and UIC officials to try and bring the offices here because as one alderman noted, the majority of the population is between Port Mellon and Roberts Creek.

Manpower and UIC offices are now located in Sechelt. They are open once every two weeks on Wednesday afternoons and all day Thursday.

Council will request that Manpower and UIC officials attend in Gibsons one day a week. A space in the present ICBC office would be provided.

MORGAN THOMPSON

Morgan Thompson feels this is an exciting time for the village of Sechelt and that is why he is seeking an aldermanic seat on Sechelt council.

Thompson was on council as an alderman in the 1960s for a period of three years. He also ran for mayor but was defeated.

"The population is growing and Sechelt is becoming the hub. The area is coming alive and I want to be involved," Thompson stated.

He has been president of the Sechelt Chamber of Commerce as well as president of Sechelt Kinsmen Club. For the past two years he has been chairman of Sechelt Timber Days.

Thompson said he wouldn't make any election promises, only that if elected he would do his best.

He is the owner of Morgan's Mens Wear in Sechelt.

Gibsons Hospital Auxiliary report

By JOAN RIGBY

Gibsons Hospital Auxiliary met at the Coast-Garibaldi Health Centre on Wednesday, November 5 at 1:30 for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Ida Leslie was in the chair and gave an enthusiastic report on the B.C. Hospital Auxiliaries annual convention held in Vancouver in October. It was also the 58th annual conference of the B.C. Health Association. Mrs. Ida Leslie, our president, was chairman of a workshop on ways and means of raising funds. She and Mrs. Betty Gisvold reported on many important features.

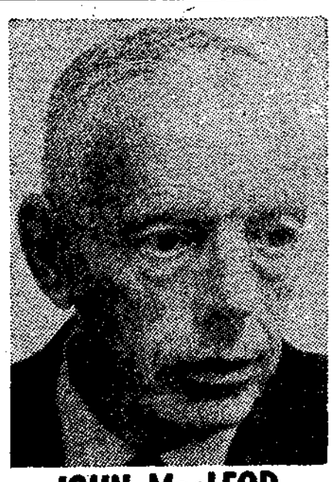
Did you know that it cost $400 million to operate our B.C. hospitals? Did you know that the province of B.C. gives the best C.A.R.S. treatment? There are now 125 auxiliaries; 10,370 members raised one million dollars and 60,000 treatments were given in 1974. Mrs. Muriel McKnight was elected new president of B.C. Hospital Auxiliaries.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. Gladdie Davis and Mrs. Alameda Whiting. It was reported that on Oct. 27 there were 8½ tables of bridge and $42.50 was raised. The Extended Care committee reported that six ladies worked 17 hours in three days. We desperately need more workers in this department. Are there any of you who do not yet belong to our auxiliary who would be interested in giving help to those in our hospital's extended care department? If so, please contact us through our president, Mrs. Ida Leslie, 886-9148.

Our appeal for knitters met with success, and we are very grateful. Four ladies phoned Mrs. Rose, 886-2975, and are already knitting. Mrs. Inez Roy knit a lap robe for a patient in extended care. We are grateful, and hope others will follow these four ladies and contact us for wool, free pick-up and delivery. Mrs. Onie de Camp reported that our auxiliary had taken in $116.76 at the Thrift Shop on our last day there — we serve every fifth Saturday. In three months the shop netted $4,160.47 and the various auxiliaries had worked there 1113¾ hours in that time. Over $4,000 was forwarded to the co-ordinating council to be used for hospital needs.

Mrs. Alameda Whiting has dressed eight dolls to be raffled. There will be eight prizes. The money will go to the Memorial fund — money given in memory of a loved one and used for special projects only.

Now, you quilters, and you who would like to learn how to quilt, Mrs. K. Butler will be helping us make a quilt to be raffled. We will be meeting at Calvary Baptist Church, Park Road, Gibsons, on November 19 at 1:30. Bring needles, scraps and scissors — experience not needed. Come, work with us, and rid yourself of the winter-rain blues!



JOHN MacLEOD

wishes to continue serving this community as a member of the Sechelt Board of School Trustees.

My three years on the board, and my background as teacher and principal will enable me to continue to make contributions to the development of education in this area.

As well as being a board member, I am engaged in some community activities — Treasurer of the Minor Hockey Association; member of the Sunshine Coast Resources Society, and President of the Sechelt Garden Club.

I request that you go to the polls on November 15th, 1975, and mark an X beside the name MacLEOD.

Commission studies facilities

The Sunshine Coast Recreation Committee has been formed and is presently launching a study to investigate what recreational facilities are presently available in various areas of the Sunshine Coast.

The Recreation Commission was formed last month under the auspices of the Sunshine Coast Regional District after the regional district obtained the function for parks and recreation.

The object of the commission is to direct recreation on a broad basis, to make policies regarding parks and recreation, and to be responsible for funds. The commission will operate from a budget provided by the regional district and from various provincial and federal government grants available. Any funding for parks or recreation in the area will require approval from the regional board.

At a recent meeting the commission decided that planning would start at the grass roots level with local public involvement prior to seeking any professional assistance.

We have a new stock of large dried maple leaves to give away, just ask for them. Miss Bee's, Sechelt.

The news is SO bad these days I sometimes think you must be running the country.

Weather got you down?

If the weather and lunch in a paper bag has got you down, a pleasant break will be the annual Aloha Buffet Luncheon, Friday, November 14 at the Gibsons United Church Hall, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For $2.50 you can enjoy a pleasant Hawaiian interlude, courtesy of the Gibsons Hospital Auxiliary. The auxiliaries supply many of the extras at our hospital, so join them for lunch and help meet the needs at St. Mary's Hospital. Aloha.

First car rally Sunday

The Sunshine Coast Rally Club will be holding their first car rally this weekend.

The rally commences at 11 a.m. Sunday and registration and check-in will start at 10 a.m. at the Wilson Creek Community Hall. Entry fee is $4 per person or $2.50 for club members.

The rally is open to anyone and all you need to qualify is a vehicle bearing valid license plates, a driver and a navigator. It is suggested you bring a clip board and a watch with a second hand.

Rally organizers Tim Frizzell and Andy Moore point out that a car rally is not a race. The object is to follow a predetermined course according to written instructions handed to participants at the beginning of the race. Specific sections of the course are timed and participants will lose points for passing checkpoints either early or late.

Drivers must hold a valid drivers licence and no age limit is involved. Navigators must be at least 14 years old.

Organizers say that this first rally is relatively easy. Club members have obtained a number of donated prizes from merchants of this area.

First prize is $100 and a trophy donated by C Cabs, and an extra $25 will be donated by Coast Line Plumbing if the winner holds a defensive driving card. Two small trophies are being donated by Wilson Creek hall.

Second prize is $50 donated by O.K. Tires, a $25 gift certificate from Coastal Tires, an eight track tape donated by Magic Mushroom, and an eight track tape donated by Campbell's Variety.

Third prize is a $35 wrench set donated by Kenmac Parts and a $15 merchandise certificate donated by Twin Creek Lumber.

Fourth prize is $25 from Sunshine Auto Parts and $5 worth of gas from Peninsula Motors.

Fifth prize is a $20 merchandise certificate from Gibsons Shell. Runner-up will get a free lube and oil job from Sunnycrest Standard Service station.

Door prizes will also be presented at a barbecue and dance after the rally.

The course will be approximately 100 miles long. Sponsors can be obtained to pay the entrance fee but it is not a necessity.

At Whitaker

Whitaker House is presenting an exhibition and sale of wood carvings and macrame wall hangings by Ernie and Bella Burnett from November 17 to November 22. You can meet the artists on Saturday, November 22 for discussion and questions.

Whitaker House is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. so plan to drop in for this special pre-Christmas event.

Civic centre proposal

Sechelt Chamber of Commerce has put a proposal before Sechelt council that involves the construction of a $400,000 civic centre.

Chamber President Frode Jorgenson told aldermen last week that the chamber would need two lots of considerable size. Jorgenson said a village commitment on the land was needed within the next ten days so the chamber could apply for provincial government grants before the deadline later this month. He added that no chamber of commerce money would be involved.

Alderman Norm Watson said there would have to be many questions answered before council would grant land for this "incredible" project. He said he would like to see a planning and feasibility study completed first and would also like to see a financial breakdown of the proposed project before any land commitment would be made by council. The chamber had no details available.

Besides that, council stated there was no land available at the moment large enough to house such a civic centre.

The proposal will be shelved and considered again when at least an acre of land is available for the project.

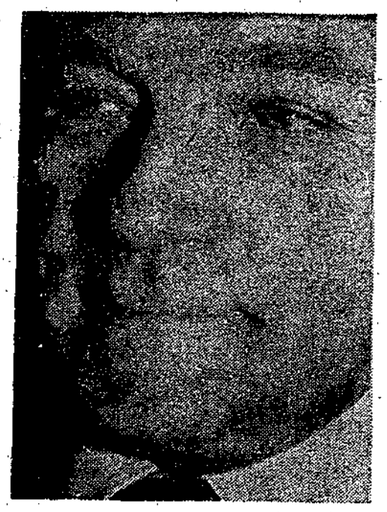
MEMBERS OF the Gibsons Kinsmen club lay a wreath at the Gibsons Legion Cenotaph Tuesday morning to honor those who died in the wars. The Remembrance Day service was held in the Legion Hall and later moved outside for a one minute silence and the laying of wreaths by officials representing various organizations.



EDWARD JOHNSON

Edward Johnson, a resident of Hopkins Landing is seeking election in Area E (Gibsons rural) as director of the Sunshine Coast Regional Board. Johnson, who has lived on the Sunshine Coast for 24 years said he feels he could make a worthwhile contribution to improve the administration of this area.

"I believe the regional board needs to become much more receptive to the needs of the people it serves instead of adopting an obstinate, unbending, practically dictatorial attitude towards many of the proposals it receives," Johnson said. He also said he considers it time to examine thoroughly the day to day administration of the reginal board business.

On the Gibsons boundary extension proposal, he said, "I would not give my support to such a plan unless there existed overwhelming evidence that it would be beneficial to the majority of residents who would live within the new boundaries. At present, I do not believe that such evidence has been collected; however, it is important for the future not to overlook the possible need for such an eventuality."

FRANK WEST

Frank West, present Chairman of the Sunshine Coast Regional Board is standing for reelection to represent Area E (Gibsons rural) on the regional board.

West, who has been a member of the board since its inception, says he backs the controlled growth concept for his area which has already been accepted in principle by the regional district.

"We know we can't stop growth and uncontrolled growth is a very expensive affair," West said at an all-candidates meeting at the Twilight Theatre Sunday.

Speaking about zoning and land use control bylaws, West said, "I know they irk some people because of the restrictions but they also protect us." He said regulations have to exist and will increase as the population increases.

West also said the primary function of the regional board is community planning and that member municipalities have the option of consenting or not consenting to certain principles.

Defending the regional district said bylaw Sunday, West said, "I confess some (gravel) operators disagree with the bylaw but it is in the highest interest of the majority of people. If the region doesn't control it we will have indiscriminate soil removal and holes all over this area."

Credit Union expansion

The credit union is governed by directors elected from the general membership. There is also a credit committee made up of members to discuss loan applications.

Once the building is finished the Credit Union will increase its staff from two to four people. Completion date is the end of December. The project is being handled by Sunshine Design and Development Ltd.
