The raging blaze that engulfed Anderson Realty and three other businesses last Friday morning in Sechelt was attended by three fire departments, whose volunteers worked through the early morning and the following day. Twelve hours after the fire began, firemen were still hosing down the rubble to catch pockets of smouldering debris.

Offices gutted by fire

Firemen battle for hours

by Ken Collins

"It looked like the whole town was burning!" said Rick Dixon, owner of MacLeods in Sechelt.

He was speaking of the Friday morning fire that left realtor Stan Anderson's building in the "Dock" on Cowrie Street reduced to a pile of rubble. At around 4:00 am Dixon was awakened by a phone call telling him that there was a large fire on Cowrie Street. That's when he looked toward the town centre one half mile away and saw the sky glowing red.

"I knew there was no way we could drive down the street," he said describing his arrival at the scene. The heat was so intense that paint blistered on the opposite side of the street.

The fire broke out in Gourmet Munchie only days before it's widely advertized opening. Owner Kristina Boese was just putting the finishing touches on the newly renovated establishment.

"There were only five ceiling tiles to go," said one employee.

Linda Malloy who lives across the street on the premises of the Shadow Baux woke up to the sound of crackling.

"The noise was so loud I thought the trees were falling," she said. The flames were so fierce she then thought her own premises were on fire. She looked out the front and saw flames inside the Gourmet Munchie. She quickly phoned the fire department.

"I don't think I was the first one to tell them," she said. "The line was busy the first time I dialed. By the time I finished phoning the flames were coming out at the front and up the back." Soon the entire building housing Anderson Realty, Gourmet Munchie, Lorne Paton, and the Garibaldi Health Unit was engulfed.

"There were explosions and windows started popping out," said Malloy. "There were bright red sparks all over the place and ashes all the way to the waterfront."

"I sure want to commend the fire department on their response," said Dixon. "They came very quickly."

When firemen arrived they had to start spraying from across the street. According to police spokesmen there was a lot of plywood and other wood comprising the internal structure which could account for the intense heat. Dixon said he saw flames shooting 12 to 20 feet into the air.

By 9:30 the building was pretty well a burned out shell and Inspector Jim Yuile from the provincial fire commissioner's office was at the site. Changing from his suit to rubber boots and coveralls, he spent a good part of the day sifting through the soggy mess of charred embers for clues that might help explain the origins of the blaze.

A large excavation shovel cleared away precarious remains and turned over still smoking remains for firemen to soak with water. Heaters and other barely recognizable electrical equipment were carefully dismantled and checked for any signs of malfunction. The heat-twisted remains of a clock frozen in time indicated the fire could have started as early as 2:00 am.

Displaced tenants and their employees received spontaneous hugs of support from a sympathetic and supportive business community. Anderson Realty employee Bob Bull set up a temporary office in a neighbouring business and the telephone company was prompt in supplying a line with his old number so that clients calling in could be at least informed of the circumstances.

"We have most of our properties multiple listed," said Bull. He stated that this would enable them to reconstruct their listings. Most if not all of their files were lost but Bull will still be going through the powdery blackened contents of the steel drawers in the hopes that something might be salvaged.

"At one time or another we have probably sold every house on the coast at least once," said Bull. "We even had the plans on the septic fields for some houses.

Owner Stan Anderson was not able to be contacted. He was on vacation in the USA.

Upstairs tenants Garibaldi Health Unit and lawyer Lorne Paton lost everything. Not even their floors remain .

It was not until later afternoon that the fire was considered dead and whatever remained of the walls were flattened into the ground. In a statement released Saturday evening the RCMP stated a conservative replacement cost for the building would be $250,000 excluding contents. The cause of the fire is so far being regarded as accidental.

Wood Bay charged

The Sunshine Coast Regional District has agreed to bring charges against Wood Bay Salmon Farm after continuing complaints by residents in the area. Under Bylaw 264, Wood Bay is not allowed to process fish that have not been on their farm for a minimum of 90 days.

Upon investigation, Regional District representatives found 'ample evidence of bylaw infraction'. The Board voted unanimously last Thursday night to refer the matter to their solicitor.

Indian District votes

The Sechelt Indian Band has now completed the second phase of the legislative process implementing self-government for the Band. On March 5, 173 of the eligible 232 voters turned out to vote on a referendum defining the powers of the Sechelt Indian District. It was passed with 162 in favour and 10 opposed, with one spoiled ballot.

APC appointments

The following Area E Advisory Planning Commission appointments have been approved by the Sunshine Coast Regional Board. D. Derby, J. Mahlman, T. Neill, A Hauka, G. Sluis, S. Jones, R. Moorcroft, and C. Chamberlin.

AIDS forum held

A community forum on AIDS will be held at 7:30 pm, Tuesday, March 22 at Greenecourt on Medusa Street in Sechelt. Here is an opportunity to receive up-to-date information and to ask questions.

Pollution control upgrade on hold

The Sunshine Coast Regional District was petitioned last Thursday by Canadian Forest Products to support Port Mellon in a bid to ask the province for more time to come into line with pollution standards.

According to Canfor representative Don Stuart, the mill is planning on a complete modernization which in three years will exceed the most stringent pollution requirements, but the mill is in a bit of a dilemma.

The planned modernization will make the old technology obsolete and will take three years to complete. The old technology could be brought up to standards by spending 10 million dollars.

"But the 10 million would be spent and then just bulldozed away," said Stuart.

In other words, Canfor says it is impossible to meet standards within three years but at that time it will more than comply.

And the Canadian Pulp Workers Union is in support of the mill. Vern Rottluff, local CPU president, also spoke to the Regional Board.

"We want to maintain our jobs and we want a chance to work in an environmentally sound environment," he said. According to Rottluff the local union has formed an environmental in-house committee and is keeping a close eye on the situation. In a previous interview he told the Coast News that the workers are very concerned about pollution as they are the ones who have to work closest to it and are affected the most.

But how bad is the present pollution? Not that bad according to Stuart. Pollution controls are based on equipment and not simply emissions he explained. You can be well within emission standards depending on your rate of production and still violate the terms of your permit.

"The pollution is quite heavy at times, in fact it is quite unbearable at times," commented Director Shaske's alternate Tony Laver. "There are some days you wonder if you are going to choke on it."

Stuart conceded the mill emissions still had a heavy impact on the community but not on the environment as he explained that particle emissions were low even though the odour was still there.

"The odour emissions do not change," he said and went on to state that air inversions did change where they went.

Part of Stuart's presentation was a candid history of the long struggle the mill has had to stay in business in difficult times coupled with the expense of the race for technology. At one point they had been advised to close or sell. This is where their new Japanese partners come in and Stuart forsees a bright future ahead with a minimum of pollution.

"But our Japanese partners need assurance," Stuart said as he asked for a strong statement of support from the Regional Board to counteract an anticipated vigorous lobby by Terry Jacks and his West Vancouver supporters.

The Regional Board did pass a motion of support that also will suggest to the Ministry of Environment that it should amend its regulations so that they are viable and do not build unrealistic expectations in the public that lead them to believe that they are being protected when they may not be.

Zoning change?

Planner Rob Buchan informed Sechelt Council at last Wednesday's meeting that an application has been received from a developer for a sixty six unit retirement village on Browning Road, next to Rockland Wynd.

The proposal is to invest $5.5 million in a cluster development complex. The developer is requested a change of zoning from R1 to R2 as the plan calls for double the density of buildings provided for in the present R1 zoning. Buchan pointed out however, that because of the nature of the plan, there would be less people living in the community than there would be with R1 zoning, which provides for multiple-members family dwellings. Retirement complexes usually have only two residents per unit.

Council passed a motion to provide for first reading of the plan, as well as a public hearing.

Strength of spirit shown by locals

Perhaps the neighbours we should be looking to for leadership in any economic development, are not the ones talking but instead are the ones who are doing.

Some of us tend to forget that we, the human race, have evolved from a rugged stock that once roamed the land with stone clubs and clothed with only the skins of animals. And if we had to, we could do it again!

But there are those of us who are confident of this and demonstrate a strength of spirit such as was displayed by Gourmet Munchie's owner, Katrina Boese, when faced with the totally devastating destruction of her freshly renovated and about-to-be-opened business.

"What setback?" she boldly stated and not unlike the majority of coastal residents is forging stalwartly ahead to build her business yet another time.

And right beside her, Bob Bull, an employee of another burned-out business sets up a temporary office amidst the rubble in order to minimize inconvenience in case a customer wants to call. There are other places in the world where employees would go home and start packing for a two week vacation.

Local songwriter/singer Bob Carpenter is being featured on a national CBC FM program. A crew from Winnipeg, Manitoba specifically flew out here with other well-known Canadian and American entertainers for a three-hour recording session overlooking Georgia Strait.

A Canadian trade union takes responsibility for being the watchdog of its employer so it will not pollute and make this an unsafe place to live.

Some of the first people of North America, the Sechelt Indian Band, shake off the oppressive yoke of the Indian Act and welfare and in the same breath initiate a megaproject.

These are only five examples in our paper picked out of a long list of similar endeavours happening on a weekly basis.

We are extremely lucky to live within the community of the Sunshine Coast.

Offering a forthright assessment of the financial position of the Canadian Forest Products pulp operation at Port Mellon, mill manager Harry Cargo and technical superintendent Don Stuart sought regional board support last week, for the mill's request for a ministerial variance order for pollution control standards at Port Mellon.

Having spent $21 million since 1977 on pollution control, the mill is asking for a two year delay in implementing two further pollution control projects, one a vent stack scrubber and the other, a recovery particulate control.

The opinion of the union at the mill was reported to be positive.

Open warfare has been declared on roaming dogs that hunt and kill deer. An advertisement to this effect appears on an inside page in which the director of the fish and wildlife branch of the Department of Recreation and Conservation lays down the rule that any dog found running at large and harassing deer will be destroyed.

A letter from a cable TV organization seeking a permit to explore the area to see what commercial aspect it had for it drew the question from Sechelt councillor Morgan Thompson as to why it did not come before council. The clerk assured the councillor that the matter was being held in abeyance until Gibsons Council received legal advice on the matter.

25 YEARS AGO

Building permits valued at $51,000 were issued at Tuesday night's meeting of Gibsons village council covering four new homes for Gibsons. One was for $16,000, two for $12,000 and another for $11,000.

Event of significance

by Peter Trower

On Wednesday night, an event of considerable musical significance, took place in the living room of Bob Carpenter's seaside home on Ocean Drive. With the slow pound of the surf providing a percussive backdrop, five strong voices joined in song and sent the magic of their music drifting out over the gulf.

They were a somewhat disparate group on the surface -two fortyish folkies from Texas and New York respectively; a kid from Dawson Creek; a tall farm girl from Regina and long-time local resident, Bob Carpenter - but they had a great deal in common. All were professional singers and songwriters of no mean ability. All were totally dedicated to their craft. They had gathered here with a crew of radio-technicians to pool their talents for a segment of the Winnipeg-based stereo show Simply Folk.

The idea for producing the show here was the brainstorm of the show's host, Mitch Podolak, former labour activist, and a long time friend of Carpenter and the other performers. An ardent folk-music fanatic, Podolak has been organizing folk festivals across Canada for the past several years. Two shows had been taped on succeeding nights at the East End Cultural Centre, prior to this Sunshine Coast session.

Reporter/photographer Ken Collins and myself reach Carpenter's house around 5:30, ready to cover the event for local posterity. Our arrival coincides with that of Bob and the two American performers, Tom Paxton and Jim Post.

Tom Paxton has been around the folk scene since the early 60's. A native New Yorker, he knew Phil Ochs and Bob Dylan in the early Bleeker Street days.

Jim Post has been around the circuit almost as long. Texas-born, he was originally a gospel singer before branching out into more secular realms. We are introduced and chat briefly.

Soon the radio crew shows up, closely followed by the other two performers. Roy Forbes (formerly known as Bim) is a talent I have long admired. Originally from Dawson Creek, he first made an impact on the Vancouver music scene, about 10 years back. I have heard most of the cuts from his excellent new album Love is Like Ice, which he produced himself - and congratulate him on it.

"Don't forget to give it a plug," Roy laughs, "I need all the help I can get."

Tall, blonde Connie Calder was working as a duo with Roy Forbes until her recent move to Winnipeg. They recorded a Christmas album together last year. Connie, a friendly forthright lady is at present working on an album of lullabies. "Almost all my girlfriends seem to be having kids," she says.

Mitch Podolak introduces the show and the performers -"Five of the best songwriters in America." As host, Bob Carpenter gets to lead off on a set of love songs. He does Nightfall, a haunting ballad from his album. I knew Bob was a fine singer but had only heard him performing cover material before, most in the noisy venues of various local pubs. His original work is moving and impressive.

Roy Forbes is up next. He enlists Connie Calder's help on a number called Sweet Shameless Hours, from his current album. He wrote the tune when a friend remarked that they would like to hear a song with that title. It is a pleasantly risque piece, done in Forbes' one-of-a-kind high-tenor voice.

Connie Calder follows with what she calls - "Not just a 'like' song but a hardcore love song." She doesn't give the title. It's a pretty-enough piece, excellently sung but not too memorable.

Old pro, Tom Paxton takes his turn with a radically different sort of love song, based on the grim theme of wife battering. Entitled How Could I Leave Him, it is told from the point of view of the hospitalized woman. The stark tune draws impressed comments from the other performers. Jim Post remarks that not enough songwriters have the nerve to tackle such themes. Connie Calder says it reminds her of Jacques Brel.

Jim Post follows with another sombre piece about the love between his grandparents, that only ends with his grandfather's death. But he has not performed the song for years, is dissatified with his playing and finally abandons it in favour of an up-tempo number called Light Hearted Lover.

There is some discussion over what direction the show should take next. Mitch suggests that each player do his or her favourite song. They kick this around but none of the players can decide on such a song. Finally, Jim Post announces that he has remembered the chord changes for the song about his grandparents. It is a very moving piece, well-worth waiting for. Entitled Three Soft Touches (in reference to a life-long love code the two had), it ends with the image of the grandfather's soul "flying like a hawk to the moon."

Roy Forbes now decides on a song that is particularly important to him. During his early career, he became extremely depressed after bad dealings with agents and was unable to write for over a year. When the drought eventually broke, it was with a fine song called Looking All Over The World. He performs a fine typical high-voiced version of this wistful pretty tune. "You're back all right, Roy," remarks Tom Paxton.

Bob Carpenter tells how he has started writing poetry (as opposed to song lyrics) again, for the first time in many years. He reads an odd evocative little poem called Chinese Anchors.

Jim Post announces that he has also written a poem but it's too erotic to read. Connie joshes with him and the group takes a break. Local musician, Ken Dalgleish shows up with keyboards and an amp that Connie has requested.

On these evenings that sort of roll in
With the delicate curtain of a Georgia sunset,
The day walks away on quiet, light steps
Taking the events of history in its pockets.

Fish plant workers need protection

by Richard Hemingway

Regarding Ken Collins' story 'NDP researches fish farming', Coast News, March 22.

Considering there are over one dozen fish farms already established on the Sunshine Coast this investigation seems long overdue. There is an obvious need for regulations covering this new and rapidly expanding industry. Not only for the protection of our enrivonment, however.

Locally we are in the forefront of a new food producing industry. I adamantly support new local industry and the potential of increased local employment it may offer.

The studies being done are specifically aimed at protecting our environment, which I certainly support. However, there is only one paragraph that mentions the protection of this industry's employees and no mention of any regulations that will guarantee consumers a safe, high quality food product.

There are, at present, government regulations and standards covering employee safety and working conditions.

In most other food producing industries there are government inspectors and graders that ensure safe quality food products. These farm raised fish have been available for public consumption for more than a year without any government standards or tests regarding quality.

I am currently employed at a processing plant that kills, cleans, grades and packages farm raised salmon. To the dismay of myself and others connected with this industry, the government seems willing to turn a blind eye to violations of standards already in place. Unfortunately, the industry itself is more concerned with profits than it is with safety or quality. It appears the only people concerned about safety or quality are the managers and employees of the processing plants.

Through the course of an average day, employees are expected to perform some or all of the following duties:

Fish are pumped out of a boat into large plastic containers, (totes) roughly the size of a bath tub. These are live, free swimming fish.

The surface of the water is covered with two to four inches of crushed ice. Employees are required to submerge their hands and forearms into this frigid water and grab a two to nine pound salmon.

This task is performed while wearing rubber gloves, the kind many people use to wash their dishes, which offer little or no protection from the icy water. I have done this for up to three hours without a break, at the end of which, movement of your fingers becomes difficult.

After you grab a fish you pass it to a person that must hold the fish down and lift the gill plate with one hand and cut through the gills with a sharp knife with the other hand. Trying to hold a two to nine pound fish down on a slippery plastic surface while wielding a knife within twelve inches of four fellow employees will certainly result in the injury of someone sooner or later.

Once the gills have been cut the fish are dropped into another tote full of cold water, where they bleed to death. When the tote is full of bleeding fish the blood-filled water is drained off and replaced with fresh water and six to eight inches of crushed ice.

These fish sit in this water and ice for as long as ten hours before their internal organs are removed.

These fish are emptied onto a large stainless steel table where they are gutted and cleaned. Once again employees are required to stand within inches of a person using a knife.

The fish are cut open, passed to the next person who removes the internal organs, and passes the fish to the next person that removes all traces of blood.

Letters to the Editor

Illegal suite ban could raise rents

Editor:

I would like to say a few words about hungry children, a topic that seems to have surfaced with the dialogue about abortion. The main reason that children are hungry in Vancouver is the price of accommodation. I think we should be thinking about this problem in Gibsons because there has been talk of following the lead of other municipalities and getting rid of illegal suites.

While there are good reasons to regulate rental accommodations, I think that we should keep in mind the fact that anything that reduces the number of available suites makes for higher rents, and puts a squeeze not only on the poor, but on moderate income earners who have not been fortunate enough to be able to afford their own homes yet.

I don't think that people here realize the scenario in Vancouver. A single mother with two children is eligible for a rental allowance from welfare of $429. This does not go far in the city. A woman friend of mine rents a batchelor suite in Vancouver for $500. This is not luxury accommodation. There is no storage space. The kitchen is the size of a large closet.

You can imagine, then, what a single mother of two will get for $429 (the Shelter Allowance includes hydro). One family I know (two adults, two children) bring in a working-poor salary of about $1000 a month. Out of this they pay $600 for a not especially nice main floor of a house in a not great part of Vancouver. And they consider themselves lucky.

Those being gouged more callously can budget until they're blue in the face. They, and their kids, will of course have an inadequate diet.

Minimum wage, I will remind you, is only $4 per hour. A friend recently reported that he'd met a young woman in the city who had a job as a pizza-delivery person at $5 per hour. She was expected to provide her own vehicle. She was using her bicycle.

The Sunshine Coast is one place where the poor can usually manage without seeing their kids go hungry. I think that Town Councel should give this fact careful consideration before they get rid of illegal suites. The argument might be made that folks can choose to rent outside of city limits. This poses another dilemma -transportation - what is saved in rent can easily be used up maintaining a vehicle.

Opposition to late French Immersion

Editor:

I would like to commend the School Board for their recent decision not to bow to the pressure brought to bear by a small minority of parents to implement a highly questionable program called "Late French Immersion". Under this program students in Grade 6, whose entire previous school experience has been in English, would be stuck into an immersion program and lose an entire year of schooling while they tried to become proficient enough in French to learn the material their peers are learning in English.

The entire concept of immersion is in question now as the first graduates of immersion programs are entering universities. A recent study released by Carleton University has shown that most graduates of immersion programs really do not use French extensively, even in areas where a large concentration of French speaking population exists.

My main point is not to debate the relative worth of immersion programs but to insist that if immersion programs are started, they must not become a burden on the existing financial and administrative structure of the public school system. Our existing school system is being starved of funds and with a functional illiteracy rate of close to 30 per cent in Canada we cannot afford to diffuse our efforts to improve basic education levels.

With estimates of 30 per cent of students who enter Grade 9 never graduating from Grade 12, we have bigger problems to address than the latest trendy program that some parents want to see imposed.

It is interesting to note that in last week's paper, along with a letter pleading for support for the Late Immersion Program there was also a letter from a local school group requesting "donations" of money or old books for their school library. To me that indicates that we do not have time or money to spend on frivolous programs but rather we must concentrate our efforts on salvaging our existing school system.

I encourage all parents who are concerned about our schools and who want better education for their children to write to the Board or 'phone your School Board Representative to support their decision not to impose Late French Immersion on our school system.

Desist

Editor:

We are told that the gladiatorial games of Roman times came to an end when a gladiator (yet!) arose in the arena and cried "In the name of Jesus Christ, desist!"

In the same sacred name, will you please desist from ever again publishing such moron, idiot, foul smelling and tasting material as appeared in the cartoon on page two of the February 29, 1988 issue of The Coast News. Politics is politics, and often enough, dirty enough. It does not have to be obscene.

Roberts Creek

Food Bank Spring Fling at hall

by Jeanie Parker, 885-2163

The Gibsons Food Bank is sponsoring a two-day Spring Fling this weekend, March 19 and 20, at the Roberts Creek Community Hall. Roots Roundup, an international dance band that plays everything from reggae to country, will be featured.

Doors open at 8:30 pm Saturday night, no minors please. Bring the kids, your favourite dish and your musical instrument at 3 pm Sunday, however, because the band's musical mosaic lends itself well to jamming and all will enjoy it.

Tickets for the dance on Saturday night are $8 per person, $15 per couple, at Seaview Market, Books 'n Stuff, Nifty Thrifty's, and The Landing General Store. Come out and boogie to welcome the first day of Spring.

CARS NEEDED

The Roberts Creek Firefighters will spend this weekend learning how to operate their newly acquired Jaws of Life in various situations. But they're having trouble finding old cars to practise on.

If you have an old clunker sitting in your backyard that you'd like to get rid of and donate to this worthy cause, the firemen will arrange to have it towed away. Please phone Denis Mulligan at 885-7085 or Pat Parker at 885-2163 as soon as possible.

MEETING POSTPONED

Please note that the annual general meeting of the Roberts Creek Community Association has been postponed to the end of the month because of the theatrical events at the Community Hall. This gives everybody more time to get their new memberships at the Library and decide who should run for Executive.

All Executive positions plus one directorship are open and the long-standing members of the Executive would love to see somebody else come forward to serve. Interest in the Association swells and dies with the issues of concern but it's an important entity in the community and deserves more support at all times.

MARCH MUSIC

March came in with a flurry of fine entertainment in Roberts Creek. If you weren't "Seduced" by the Driftwood Players' performance at the Community Hall, you had to be swayed by the musical talents of Murgatroyd, Dalgleish and Dunn at the Little Legion.

The beautiful strong voice of Signi Murgatroyd was richly combined with the versatility of her partners. A few guest numbers by saxophonist Kerry Fowler and her father were an added treat. It was good dancing and great listening.

If you missed it, don't worry, they'll be back in the near future. This weekend fiddler Dan Sheppard returns with Elliott and Gustasson on guitar and banjo. This is a real up-and-coming combo so drop in for a listen.

Hall gets facelift

by Jean Robinson, 885-2954

The Wilson Creek Hall is undergoing a facelift. A 10 foot extension is being added to the front for storage purposes. People using the hall are asked to use the side door between the daycare and the hall. This is a temporary measure and should ultimately make a more spacious interior.

Anyone in the community association who would like to donate hours of labour, please call Bill LeNeve at 885-7490.

SPRING TEA

The Library Spring Tea and Book Sale will be held on April 10 from 2 until 4 pm. This annual event usually draws a goodly number of people. Plan on being there early.

STORY HOUR

Story Hour for Moms and Tots at the Wilson Creek Hall will be on April 8 because of Good Friday being a holiday. Please mark this on your calendar.

PLEASE NOTE

The Wilson Creek Library will be closed on Easter weekend. All those having books to be returned then will please bring them in the following weekend.

GENERAL MEETING

The Annual General Meeting of the Davis Bay/Wilson Creek Community Association is tonight. A very important meeting as year end reports are due and election of the officers put forth by the nominating committee. Come and support your community.

CONGRATULATIONS

Welcome to Davis Bay's newest resident, Rocky. A son for Lennea and Greg LaVal. Rocky was born March 3, 1988.

Spring tea and sale

by Larry Grafton

One of our main spring activities will be our Spring Tea and Sale as mentioned in previous columns. Each year this event has started at 1:30 pm but please note, this year the doors will be opened at 1 pm on March 26.

On Thursday mornings volunteers, under the guidance of Virginia Ekdahl and Tillie White, have been very busy producing a variety of Easter novelties for the sale. There will, of course, be the usual bake table which has proven in the past to be one of the items of prime importance to those who attend. You simply can't overlook a chance at all those scrumptious goodies providing, of course, that you are not one of the unfortunate individuals who is counting calories.

The raffle draw will take place at the tea. If you do not have a ticket on the Easter Basket and the stuffed Easter Bunny, there are still tickets available. Virginia Ekdahl or Gladys McGregor will be able to help you in this regard.

Although it is a little early to tell at the moment, a number of smaller raffles just could develop, depending on a few intangibles. We tender our thanks to Lillian Peterson who is looking after production of the posters and the usual announcement on Cable 11.

MEMBERSHIP

As of March 1, our membership stood at 471. Of these, 44 are new members this year. We particularly extend a warm welcome to these new members and we sincerely hope that they will join in the many activities at the present hall. The success of our branch is certainly dependent upon a strong membership and the participation of those members.

The branch realizes that it is not always convenient to make contact with your membership chairman at the hall. Consequently Kay MacKenzie will be pleased to receive your dues at her home next to the post office in Sechelt. The address is 5689 Dolphin Street and the phone number 885-3184.

Pender Patter

Pender Lioness project abandoned

by Myrtle Winchester, 883-9302

The Pender Harbour Lioness Club has been working diligently on restoration of the old Irvines Landing schoolhouse, built in 1931, to enhance the community as a heritage building, museum, and Lioness clubhouse.

The work has stopped, and the following excerpts from a letter dated March 4, which I received from the Pender Harbour Lioness Club explains why:

"We were in the process of removing the old roof and found extensive rot under the three consecutive roofs which had even crept down into the walls. The cost of repairing this would be major and we could not deal with it within our budget. Needless to say, we are abandoning this project with deep regret, we all have very warm feelings toward the old school - it has a lot of character and for some people a lot of memories."

DR. BOILEN ABSENT

Dr. Boilen (Van Loon) has gone to Toronto for treatment of a serious medical condition, and Drs. Swan and Hobson will provide medical care in her absence at the Pender Harbour and District Health Clinic.

On behalf of Dr. Boilen, Clinic Chairman Bill Griffiths explained that her illness has recently caused her severe head and facial pain. The doctor feels that her patients may have noticed a change in her behaviour and reassures them that any shortness in her manner was due only to the pain she was suffering.

We wish her a complete and speedy and recovery.

THE MAN DIGS FOR FISH

The Pender Harbour and District Wildlife Society is having a very special guest of honour at their Tuesday meeting: he is "the man who digs for fish," Frank Jenkenson, a 92-year-old ex-logger from Powell River.

"The Man Who Digs For Fish" is also the title of the National Film Board production that will be shown at the meeting, the story of Jenkenson's discovery that newly-hatched salmon often can't get out of the gravel they were hatched in to make their way back to open water.

Jenkenson, a true salmon stream pioneer, dug trenches for the little fish and eventually became an environmental hero.

On March 15 at 7:30 pm in the Madeira Park Elementary School the Wildlife Society will hold its regular monthly meeting and at 5:00 pm some members will dine with Frank Jenkenson at the Ruby Lake Restaurant. You are invited to Ruby Lake and to the meeting.

EASTER MEAT DRAW

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 112 will hold a special Easter Meat Draw at 3:00 pm on March 26.

Draw items include ten turkeys and ten hams, and raffle tickets will be sold on a ceramic rabbit planter and a handmade braided rug, to be drawn on April 2.

LEGION DANCE

Branch 112 of the Royal Canadian Legion (Madeira Park) will hold a dance on March 26 for members and guests, featuring door prizes and the music of Larry Bransen.

FISH FARMERS BALL

The second annual Fish Farmers' Ball will be held at the Madeira Park Community Hall on March 26 with door prizes and music by Slim and the Pickups.

A limited number of tickets are for sale (proceeds to benefit St. Mary's Hospital) at the Sunshine Coast Aquaculture Association and Scantech Resources, both in Sechelt.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Redrooffs fire sad sight

by Ruth Forrester, 885-2418

It was a sad sight to behold last Sunday morning as flames engulfed the Dombrowski home on Redrooffs Road, totally destroying it.

Kay Dombrowski had left the house to go to church just after 9 am and by ten o'clock the house was gone.

At the time the fire broke out the Halfmoon Bay Volunteer Fire Department were assembled at Coopers Green for an exercise, a matter of about five minutes away, and were on the scene within minutes of receiving the alarm.

Unfortunately the call was made to the operator who in turn called the Sechelt Fire Department. Nobody's fault really, but an indication of the importance of having local fire department numbers clearly on your phone.

All the firemen carry pagers and are contacted immediately so are at the scene in no time at all.

Kay has asked if I, through this column, would let the firemen and everyone know how very grateful she was to all these fellows who gave up their day off work to help at the scene. She couldn't praise them highly enough for their kindness and dedication and for spending almost the whole day in amongst all the dirt and ashes. Also thanks to all her friends who were so kind and concerned.

FRIEND DUFFY PASSES

Hugh Duff who was known to all his friends as Duffy slipped peacefully away on Wednesday in a Vancouver hospital. Although his health had been deteriorating for some time, Duffy had a kind and friendly word for everyone right to the end.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

There is always some exciting project going on for the children of the Halfmoon Bay School as well as hard work and report cards. For instance, last Friday the parents of the Division I students were invited to teacher Mrs. Amberg's home to a Haida Potlach. The Grade 3-4 class have been studying the natives of the Northwest coast in Social Studies.

This Thursday, March 17 the school choir will go to Gibsons to take part in the Sunshine Coast Music Festival. They will be performing at approximately 10:30 am and everyone is welcome to attend. It would be nice to see a good turnout of parents and friends there to encourage our fledgling vocalists.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Nikki Weber on the opening of her new music store.

PART 17 OF 26

To the Peoples of the World

A BAHA'I STATEMENT ON

Peace

IN THE BAHA'I VIEW, recognition of the oneness of mankind "calls for no less than the reconstruction and the demilitarization of the whole civilized world—a world organically unified in all the essential aspects of its life, its political machinery, its spiritual aspiration, its trade and finance, its script and language, and yet infinite in the diversity of the national characteristics of its federated units."

Elaborating the implications of this pivotal principle, Shoghi Effendi, the Guardian of the Baha'i Faith, commented in 1931 that: "Far from aiming at the subversion of the existing foundations of society, it seeks to broaden its basis, to remold its institutions in a manner consonant with the needs of an ever-changing world. It can conflict with no legitimate allegiances, nor can it undermine essential loyalties. Its purpose is neither to stifle the flame of a sane and intelligent patriotism in men's hearts, nor to abolish the system of national autonomy so essential if the evils of excessive centralization are to be avoided. It does not ignore, nor does it attempt to suppress, the diversity of ethnical origins, of climate, of history, of language and tradition, of thought and habit, that differentiate the peoples and nations of the world. It calls for a wider loyalty, for a larger aspiration than any that has animated the human race. It insists upon the subordination of national impulses and interests to the imperative claims of a unified world. It repudiates excessive centralization on one hand, and disclaims all attempts at uniformity on the other. Its watchword is unity in diversity".

Gates explains 'Cosco'

by Gladys Coates

The March general meeting opened with Past President Jim Munro introducing Reg Gates, first vice president of the provincial OAPO. Ernie Hume, president, welcomed Mr. Gates and invited him to address the membership. He explained the function of 'COSCO', Council of Senior Citizens Organizations, which is our watchdog over the provincial government.

They are constantly on the watch for regulations which affect seniors, and we owe a debt of thanks to them for many of the benefits we enjoy.

The provincial OAPO presents scholarships each year to four students of Gerontology - the study of aging and its problems.

Mr. Gates also reminded us of the convention in June, and the Canada-wide Moon Walk in May.

Ernie Hume opened the business portion of the meeting to 72 members and four guests. Ernie mentioned the recent presentations to Ernie Fossett and Steve White who have contributed much to the community. Congratulations, fellows, we are proud of you.

We have been asked to allow access to the park which is being developed behind our hall, and hope it will be an asset to the area.

The wheelchair parking area finally has a sign, and we hope this facility will be recognized by users of the parking lot.

Lloyd Hicks contributed a polisher and buffer to do the floor of the hall - now for the manpower or womanpower to operate them. Thanks, Lloyd.

Tai Chi classes have changed time and are now held Tuesdays at 3:30 pm.

All activities are being enjoyed by the members. The pool table has been moved and leveled, and will be in use as soon as it is checked over, and in suitable condition for play.

The carpet bowlers are into the last few weeks of keen competition, and will have the wind-up dinner on April 28 in Harmony Hall. Will those planning to attend, and who have not already made reservations, please get in touch with George (Sam) Chamberlin or Joy Maxwell.

Happy to hear that Mary Strom is home from her stay in hospital. And to one and all who are or have been on the sick list, a wish for good health from all the folks at Harmony Hall. Spring is on the way.

Driftwood Players entertain

by George Copper, 886-8520

"I remembered Howard Hughes staying at the Bayshore some years ago," said Jay Pomfret about his production of the Sam Sheppard play Seduced the other week in the Roberts Creek hall, "and when I read this play, I remembered the Hughes mystique. His was a legend nothing could destroy."

Jay Pomfret has that special quality as a director that attracts and inspires a company, both actors and musicians and crew and spurs them on to a scintillating performance.

"Ken Salmond, who played the lead with such vitality and plausibility was one I gladly deferred to." said Jay. "An experienced actor and playwright, too."

Ken Salmond is indeed a theatre person. He has had plays of his produced in Victoria and Vancouver. A book, Two Plays is published by Gordon Soles and copies can be obtained through the Coast Book Store.

Ken is a UBC graduate, a Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing. At present, he is employed at the Cedars Inn in Gibsons.

Now this week there's another Driftwood play, the Agatha Christie The Mousetrap. That's the thriller that has been running continuously for well over thirty years in London with many changes of cast, of course.

Try not to blurt out who done it for the play runs this week March 17 and 18, and again March 24, 25, 26 in the Roberts Creek hall.

Stage design for The Mousetrap is by Alf Davies who has come to live here after a career in the federal service in Ottawa.

Alf has had a long experience in stage design with Ottawa's Orpheus Society.

"Little woman does it all herself," the major said. She flinched. Prunes and custard was not her idea of an adequate dessert. And that strange young man, one of the other guests, was actually helping out in the kitchen. What had he said? "Red wine, any sort, will give it that Continental flavour." She tut-tutted loudly. Heaven only knows what they'd be eating tomorrow.

Of course, if you're in the middle of Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap you can't ever be sure if there will be a tomorrow!
If you'd like to find out more about these mysterious people come to Roberts Creek Hall on March 17, 18, 24, 25 and 26 at 8 pm and find out who done it!
Meanwhile, for a truly Continental flavoured after-the-show snack why not make some

SOUP A L'OIGNON GRATINEE

6 medium sized onions
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon sugar
6 cups beef stock
4 tablespoons cognac
½ teaspoon dijon mustard
salt & pepper to taste
6 rounds french bread, toasted
1½ cups grated gruyere cheese

1. Peel & slice onions. Heat the butter, oil and sugar and 'sweat' the onions over a low, low heat until they become golden brown. Use a large saucepan.
2. Add the beef stock. Stir well. Bring to the boil, then simmer on a low heat, covered, for one hour.
3. Stir in cognac and mustard. Add salt & pepper to taste.
4. Pour into 6 individual heat proof serving bowls, place a round of toasted french bread in each. Sprinkle grated cheese over each and bake at 450°F until cheese is golden brown. Serve immediately.

See you at the show.

LEISURE

Mrs. Boyle (Colleen Elson) and Major Metcalf (John Morris) chat about the murder investigation at Monkwell Manor Guest House in Agatha Christie's Mousetrap which opens this Thurday at Roberts Creek Community Hall. —Penny Fuller photo

Mousetrap opens

"Three blind mice, see how they run,

They all ran after the farmer's wife,

She cut off their tails with a carving knife..." was never as sinister as in The Mousetrap, Agatha Christie's two-act mystery play which opens this Thursday, March 17, at the Community Hall in Roberts Creek.

Set in the wintery English countryside of 1947, The Mousetrap, in traditional Christie style, brings together a cast of characters from different walks of life, and throws murder into their midst.

Whodunnit? Was it Molly (Karen Bruce), or her husband Giles (Ray Cooper); or perhaps the mysterious Italian stranger Paravicini (John Diplock) or the no-nonsense Miss Casewell (Inge Dahm); then there's the very Pukka Sahib Major Metcalf (John Morris) and the intrepid policeman Trotter (John Kruse); did young and arty Christopher Wren (Matt Beynon) do the dirty deed? And how does the thoroughly unpleasant Mrs. Boyle (Colleen Elson) fit into the picture?

If you're an Agatha Christie fan, this is a "must" for you. Directed by Nest Lewis, and presented by Driftwood Players, The Mousetrap runs March 17, 18, 24, 25 and 26; show begins at 8:00 pm sharp; tickets on sale at the door for $5, and $3.50 for students.

Pages From A Life-Log

An actor's commitment

by Peter Trower

Despite Nick Mancuso's fluency in English, it was not his first language. The magnetic actor came by his Latin good looks naturally. Born in Mammola, Italy in 1949, he spent his first six years in the ancient mountain town. Nick's mother was a local woman but his father's people were Sicilian.

"The Mancusos are a bit mysterious. They were mostly guitarmakers; goldsmiths-artisans of one sort or another. My father's a carpenter - a very good one. His family fled Sicily around 1850 after formenting an unsuccessful revolution against the Spaniards, who occupied part of the island then. The Mancusos made their way to the southern mountains of Italy which were a sort of no-man's land at the time. It's a very ancient area that hasn't changed much in 2,000 years."

At Nick's Baptism, a fascinating incident occurred that turned out to be more than a little prophetic.

"The old tradition of travelling mummers was still in existence and apparently, a troupe of these performers were invited to my Christening. There was a very famous clown in the Comedie del Arte tradition, travelling with the group. He held me in his arms and declared that I was going to be an actor."

Although Mancuso today is very much the urbane man of the world, he remains fiercely proud of his simple peasant roots.

"Where I came from, people didn't wear shoes and ate one meal a day - usually cheese, bread and a few olives. Meat was a luxury. They got up at 5:00 o'clock in the morning and they worked. They were hardy, strong, sturdy, salt-of-the-earth people. Whatever strengths I have, I got from them. They drank from the clean well of life."

Romantic Italian poverty was all very well but there wasn't much future in it. North America was still the Land of Opportunity to most Europeans and Nick's father was no exception. He emigrated to Canada in the early 1950's to establish a domestic beachhead.

"I came over with my mother and sister, when I was six years old. It was a huge cattle ship. There were hundreds of Italian women and their kids, travelling with us in steerage. Half of them were seasick and the whole place stank of vomit. The husbands of the women had come to Canada several years earlier and worked there until their families were able to join them."

Nick's early experiences in Canada were confused and unpleasant. He recalls them vividly and not without some bitterness.

"My first memory was of kids wearing coonskin caps and the Davy Crockett song playing on the radio. I came from a totally alien culture. I couldn't understand any of it. We moved into an Irish/English neighbourhood in Toronto. There were very few other Italians there and I used to get beaten up all the time. It wasn't just the fact that I was a foreigner - I also had a pretty good mind. In a couple of years, after I'd learned English, I went to the top of my class and that didn't make me too popular either. It wasn't fashionable back then to be smart or different. The kids were acting by herd instinct. I was the odd bird in a group of chickens and they tried to peck me to death."

Resolving contradictions within

by Penny Fuller

The wonderful thing about living in this modern world is the wide range of choices we have. You can turn on the news at suppertime or bedtime and, depending on the kind of day you've had, you can choose to get upset about what's happening anywhere in the world you like.

If it's been a hard day, you may choose to just relax and get annoyed at what's happening locally. After you've rested for a while and get your second wind, you might decide to fly into a rage about the situation in a wide, ever-changing selection of exotic ports.

None of these choices are restricted by your race, religion, economic strata or political orientation. Whether you're a nazi or a commie, or any of the spectrum in between, I can just about guarantee that during the last few months you've become firmly convinced that we're all going to hell in a handbasket.

This 'season of discontent' is reflected in a planetary tango that has been going on since the New Year, and will continue until December. I think it is interesting to note that the extremes represented by Saturn (restrictions) and Uranus (revolution), the partners in this dance, seem to be occurring on an internal level for a lot of people as well as in the world at large.

Since early January, Saturn and Uranus have been aligned in the heavens, like beads sharing a single thread. On an internal level, this indicates a growing awareness of the things in our lives that are holding us back, dragging us down.

It doesn't matter whether it's our children or parents, our job or lack of money, our spouse's bullying or our own sense of inadequacy, many people are suddenly feeling like they're trapped by the conditions of their lives.

They're also, to one degree or another, plotting their breakout. A feeling of almost unbearable tension sometimes seems to hit, as individuals wrestle with these two contradictory aspects of themselves.

Without making any judgement about which end of the political spectrum is right or wrong it is obvious to me that the same kind of conflict is being acted out in all areas of our external world. It really doesn't matter whether you're talking about our little province or all of South East Asia, extreme restrictions are being imposed and extreme rebellion is the response - Saturn vs Uranus in the second round.

The challenge at this time is the same (whether you deal on a family level or are in a position to affect international events) is to balance and use the energies of restriction and revolution together for an effective constructive rebuilding of your life.

The new hypersensitivity that you're feeling toward the things that are holding you back can be a catalyst to examine where your needs are being met and at what cost. These are limitations that you've chosen for yourself, have you outgrown your need for them? Are the same needs still there? If so, while you may not like the reality you've created, the ball and chain that you've chosen may still be what you need to feel safe.

This doesn't mean that you can't change your conditions. But you may try to throw the baby out with the bathwater. The two opposing energies that are reflected in Saturn and Uranus can be resolved in disciplined change. Simply reacting to the conflict without thinking it through could be disastrous.

Try to analyze what changes and compromises are needed to permit a fuller expression of your individuality. Use practical, mundane methods to accommodate freedom. This could include anything from a new budget to exchanging babysitting; it could entail looking for a new job (before you quit the old) or physically relocating to a new place.

It may take a while to find your centre long enough to consider your alternatives in a creative light, but this is going on for at least another ten months, so you have time.

There's your choice. You can use this time to adjust your life in a way that will give you the freedom you need, or you can end up a basket case. It will be interesting to watch which choices are made on the international scene.

Arts Beat

Memorable film

Many thought that Malcolm Lowry's novel, Under the Volcano, could not successfully be put onto film, but John Huston, with the wisdom and discipline of expression acquired over his half century's work in the cinema, has done it.

Under the Volcano was made in 1984 and will be presented at the Arts Centre on March 16 at 8 pm.

Albert Finney puts forward a memorable performance as the alcoholic Englishman abroad, retaining the trappings of his dignity amid the steadily declining fortunes of his private life. But Under the Volcano is not entirely pessimistic - it is also a celebration of humanness.

Admission is $3.50/$3 at the door.

EINSTEIN

There is sure to be a rush for Einstein tickets when they go on sale March 15.

This one-man theatre production provides an intimate glimpse into the life and thoughts of one of the great men of recent time.

Albert Einstein is portrayed by Christopher Britten who has been breaking house records and playing to sell out crowds everywhere.

The Twilight Theatre on April 17 is lucky to be on the last leg of Einstein's Cross-Canada tour before it heads for New York.

There will be one show only and advance tickets will be sold at Hunter Gallery, Talewind Books and the Arts Centre. Call Sandie at 885-3891 in the mornings for more information.

EXHIBIT

The exhibition at the Arts Centre by Ursula Fritsch and Donna Balma can be viewed for one more week between 11 am and 4 pm. This show of paintings by two local women artists is a study of contrast - Balma's work is introspective, metaphorical and concerned with ritual while Fritsch explodes with oranges and vibrant blues.

The next exhibition starting on March 23 is the Young People's Art Show by children and youth and submissions are invited from the community. Work may be brought to the Arts Centre on March 18 and 19 between 11 am and 4 pm.

CRAFT FAIRE

Attention craftspeople! The First Annual Sunshine Coast Craft Faire is receiving submissions for consideration for the event to take place August 6 and 7 at Hackett Park. The Faire, will feature crafts from the Pacific North-west, a food fair, entertainment, overnight security, etc. Submission information sheets available at The Arts Centre, Sechelt and The Hunter Gallery, Gibsons. Deadline is April 25, 1988.

Dancing for all

Their intention is to get to the roots of various cultures, and to let the music be that powerful medium to unite all people.

The Sunshine Coast is fortunate to have this group for two gigs at the Roberts Creek Hall, Saturday and Sunday, March 19 and 20. The dance on Saturday is being run by the Gibsons Food Bank, bring donations if you wish.

Doors open at 8:30, $15 a couple and $8 a head, no minors.

On Sunday, there will be a Coast Family Dinner, starting at 3 in the afternoon. Bring your kids, favourite dish, dancing shoes and musical instruments, as Roots Roundup's innovativeness lends itself naturally to jamming.

Tickets are available at Books n' Stuff in Sechelt Mall, Seaview Market in Roberts Creek, Nifty Thrifty's and The Landing Store in Gibsons.

DINING GUIDE

A listing of restaurants and pubs

Toast of the Coast

It is always a pleasure to drive to the Ruby Lake Resort and share the beauty and tranquility of the little lake with the swans and ducks gently swimming by the quaint little bridge. Better still, if you feel the pangs of hunger you can be sure that your appetite will be well satisfied by a visit to the restaurant.

The Friday night special is prime rib with baked potato and a nice selection of vegetables. I decided to try this fare as I had noticed several local work crews enjoying their hearty meals. It was served with green peppers, carrots and onions, all piping hot and a serving of beef sufficient to satisfy someone twice my weight.

My husband chose the New York steak with prawns, rather than fish and chips which are always excellent at Ruby Lake.

Although neither of us desired a dessert, the selection available was most tempting. Chocolate cheesecake, jumbo cinnamon buns, fresh homemade pies offering apple, raisin, cherry and blueberry, and butter tarts.

This coming Thursday, March 17 will be the start of a new and welcome innovation at Ruby Lake. Thursdays will be Senior's Night and dinners will be on for half price. This should prove to be a popular evening at the restaurant since there are many seniors who live alone and don't always go to the trouble of making a decent meal just for one. The menu has an excellent selection of choices, something to suit all tastes.

Average meal prices quoted do not include liquor.

Strikes & Spares

The zone round of the National Classified Tournament was held at Garibaldi Lanes in Squamish last Sunday and we had six ladies' and two men's teams taking part.

The ladies' teams didn't fare too well with a team from North Shore Bowl winning.

Our number two men's team consisting of Bill Wilson, Larry Wannamaker, Jim Gilchrist, Lorne Christie and Ray Mahoney won the Men's Zone by one point (pick up those corner pins) and will bowl in the Regional Round at Old Orchard Lanes on Sunday, March 27.

Also last Sunday, Petra Nelson was bowling at Bowlertime Bowl in Kamloops in the finals of the League Executive Tournament and took first place bowling 214 pins over her average. She won a one week holiday for two in Hawaii. Congratulations to our winners.

In league action, Hazel Skytte rolled a 356 single and Linda Voll a 300 single and a 702 triple in the Wednesday Coffee League and in the Ball & Chain League Pam Lumsden a 347 single and a 744 triple.

Pender Golf

by Terry Dougan

We have had some good golfing weather lately. We have also had some terrible days when even the hard-core golfers wouldn't go out. So there isn't too much golf news, but spring is coming and hopefully the course will be busy soon.

The Senior Men had good weather March 1 and 14 men turned out for their first Senior's Day. Low net was Dave Dakin 43 and Wilf Crowe 45. Low gross was Ernie Holloway 30 and Bruce Hamilton 31. Closest to the pin #3 Bart Dillabough, #6 Dutch Haddon. Most honest golfer was Jack McFarlane. Seniors day will continue every Tuesday with tee off between 9 am and 10 am. All men 55 and over welcome.

Ladies' Day will start Thursday, March 17 at 10 am. Men's Day is Saturday March 19 at 10 am. Everyone is welcome, members and non-members, beginners and pros.

Anyone who has gained a few pounds this winter, a game of golf is a fun way to burn off calories. So come to Pender Harbour Golf Club and play a round.

Krangle elected provincial coach

Boxers off to Olympic trials

Sunshine Coast Boxing Club coach Barry Krangle was recently elected Provincial Coach for the 1988 Senior Boxing Championships slated as the Olympic Trials in Edmonton, Alberta March 17, 18, 19 and 20.

"This year's national championships will be extremely tough" said Krangle. "Boxers who show well at the Nationals may earn a berth to challenge national team members for an Olympic position."

The final decision, however, rests with the Canadian Olympic Committee who reserve the authority to select competitors based on experience and world ranking.

Mr. Krangle and the BCABA do not feel it is advantageous for the BC team to send competitors just for the experience or for the chance of an easy draw into the medals.

"No weight class or any draw will be easy this year," Krangle added.

Canada has achieved, for the first time in boxing history, a #5 world ranking behind East Germany, USSR, USA and Cuba. This calibre will be reflected in Edmonton.

B.C.'s medal hopefuls begin with Geronimo Bie, 119 lbs, Astoria Boxing Club; Tony Duffy, 147 lbs, Sunshine Coast; Ron Paskie 156 lbs, Astoria; Jim Worril, 132 lbs, Astoria; Tony Francis, 125 lbs, Maple Ridge and John Hilleck, 139 lbs, Vancouver Boxing Centre.

Manny Sobrel, 147 lbs, from Astoria will be representing the National Team, which enters the tournament as its own entity, competing for points against the provinces.

Aside from Sobrel, Duffy will be on the alert for Nick Rupa from Ontario. Rupa, won a controversial decision over Sobrel last spring and earned a spot on Canada's Pan Am team.

Shane Vilatel, also from Ontario, and Quebec's Mario Bergerion will also provide stiff competition.

Following the Nationals next weekend, which are also slated as the Olympic Trials, top competitors will box off next month in Quebec where the final Olympic selection will hopefully be made.

Youth Soccer notes

By the time you read this the year end tournament will be just a few days away. Only one more weekend of soccer left and then your time is your own, that is until softball starts up. Back to the soccer scene, your son or daughter's coach will have the schedule for the tournament by now. Please have a look at it.

Last year one age group's standings at the end of the day were close and depending on how you interpreted the tournament rules you could have had two different teams winning the tournament.

So parents, if you have any questions about the rules of the tournament please ask one of the three area representatives to clarify the rules for you. The area representatives are Graham Chapman, Jim Brown and Leif Mjanes.

Parents and coaches, we would like all the uniforms collected as soon as possible after the tournament ends. Usually if the uniforms aren't collected within the first two weeks we seem to lose track of them, so please make an effort to get them to the coach quickly and then he can give them to the equipment manager to store for next year.

I have to mention one game this time and if you look at the team scores for the 10 and 11 year olds you will notice one team has seventeen losses, no ties, no wins.

Well, on Saturday, they lost again but parents from both teams told the coach that the game they played on Saturday was the best game they played this year. I would like to congratulate them and tell them that they can still win the tournament.

Minor hockey standings

On Thursday, February 25, Michael Yates scored all 4 goals for the Lions winning over the Wings 4-2.

There was no minor hockey the weekend of the 27, 28, as the men's teams had a tournament. The bantams did go to town on the Sunday to play West Vancouver and had a real good game which ended in a 4-4 tie.

March 5 in the Pups and Peanut division the Dolphins had a high scoring win against the Toppers. 12-4 was the end score. James Rickbiel was impressive with 7 goals, Silas White had 2 as did Chad Sach, and Buddy Peers had 1. For the Toppers Brad Wing and Mark Mcquiddy had 2.

March 5, the Pee Wee division were on the ice several times as they had a team from Chemainus in to play. Trail Islanders were on the ice first against the Blackhawks in their own division. The score was 4-2 for the Trail Islanders with Mike Lewis getting 2 of his teams 4 goals.

They were on the ice again later on in the day against Chemainus. This game they were defeated. Chemainus had 7 and Trail Islanders had 4. Murray Howse scored 3 of his teams 4 goals.

The Thunderbirds had an easier time with Chemainus later in the day. They managed a 7-3 win. Kurtis Francis and Darren Boodle each had 2 goals.

The final Pee Wee Team met Chemainus on Sunday March 6. The Blackhawks had a close game beating Chemainus by 2 goals. The score at the end of the game was 3-1.

Don't forget this Tuesday March 15 at 7:30 in the arena there will be our annual general meeting. There will be an election of new officers so please attend, your input is important! April 7 at 7:00 in the Legion at Sechelt we will be holding the Awards night. See you there!

Minor softball annual meeting

Sechelt Minor Softball will be holding its annual organizational meeting this Thursday night at 7:00 pm in the Native Studies room of Sechelt Elementary School. Anyone who is interested in helping out this year is invited to come out, the more people there are the less is required of each individual.

The season will start in the second or third week of April and run through to the second week of June, with games scheduled for Monday, Wednesday or Friday nights, usually only two games a week.

T-ball is mixed for boys and girls of 6 to 8 years, next is mixed softball for 8 to 12 year olds, finally there are separate divisions for 13 to 15 year olds.

A few ideals to be discussed are: having a mixed group for the 13 to 15 year olds; having a rep team for the older (14 to 15 year olds) boys and girls; having a coaching clinic for those who would like to help but feel they don't understand the game well enough; having an umpires clinic to get more people familiar with the rules of the game; and finally the possibility of having a mini-spring training program over the spring break.

Please come out and support your sons' or daughters' involvement in this season's program, if you can't make it this Thursday please contact John Denham at either 885-5392 or 885-2512.

Child Care: Opening New Doors

The availability of quality, affordable and flexible child care is a key to opening up the future for many women in Canada.

The Government of Canada has recognized the importance of accessible child care in assuring women's economic equality by introducing The National Child Care Strategy—a balanced mix of program initiatives, offering a wide range of choices to women who work inside or outside the home.

Highlights of the program include:
- the addition of 200,000 new child care spaces;
- the creation of a $100 million Child Care Initiatives Fund for developmental projects for child care and special needs groups;
- the increase of the Child Care Expense Deduction from $2,000 to $4,000 for children six and under or with special needs;
- the phase in of a $200 supplement to the Child Tax Credit for children six and under.

As Minister Responsible for the Status of Women, I invite you to learn how you and your family can benefit from the National Child Care Strategy.

Please write to me:

Rescue volunteers trained

"Canada has the world's longest coastline! Lives are at stake! Five percent of cases are lost forever!" These were only some of the multitude of details given out by FCAF Captain Harvey May at PEP presentation two weekends ago.

The Provincial Emergency Program has an air rescue program that is supported by the co-operative participation of both federal and provincial governments. It is staffed by volunteers and has the technical support of the RCAF.

The people gathered at Sechelt Aiport this weekend are to learn how to become spotters.

"I'm here to assist. My job is liaison officer," says Captain May as he starts his presentation.

"A spotter's role is vital," he continues. "You are to act as the main eyes of the aircraft." He went on to explain that the pilot is busy piloting and the navigator is busy navigating so it is up to you to spot the little scratch in the snow speeding along 500 to 5000 feet away. That little scratch is the one that might indicate a missing aircraft.

And driving home the seriousness of the exercise, he graphically describes true life examples of the fate of people that befall them when the search planes fly over them without noticing them.

A Buffalo aircraft from CFB Comox is scheduled to land at Sechelt and take the volunteers for a training run. There will be actual people placed on the ground that must be found.

But the winds are high and gusty. The weather is not good. Another lesson from the RCAF is demonstrated.

"We do not take chances," says Captain May, "but we will take calculated risks. "The Buffalo does not come but if we were a downed aircraft it probably would.

Instead of the flight, instructional videos are shown. How searches are conducted, what spotters have to do and what is expected of them, and also some of the reasons airplanes crash. It is demonstrated that lighting can cause even mountain peaks to be camouflaged in front of ones higher but much farther away. It is demonstrated that flying in some situations can be dangerous.

But flying is also a necessary means of transportation in Canada, points out Captain May, and there are large expanses of unpopulated wilderness to traverse.

Captain May states a simple reality that the airforce just can no longer do it all.

"There is a search portion and a rescue portion," says May. "We are relying more and more every day on volunteers," he said speaking of the search portion.

PEP (Air) as it is presently called is looking for a new name. It is a member of Civil Air Search and Rescue (CASAR) which is paid half for by DND and half for by Transport Canada. As well as a new name it is looking for volunteers and you don't have to be a pilot. Colourblindness would be a liability and self-discipline is important said May. A sign of irresponsibility and you simply won't be asked back, he pointed out.

Locally, the coast will be having a committee formed and whose Area Deputy is Ernie Montgomery. He will be guided by Deputy Area Chief of the Lower Mainland Region, Murray Lundburg who in turn is guided by Provincial Air Chief Bob Goldie. There are a total of six regions. All positions are unpaid volunteer ones.

School board notes

Last week's School Board meeting was held at Cedar Grove School and trustees and parents were treated to a delightful demonstration by students and teachers of the school's 'whole language' approach to learning to read.

In other School Board news, the Board, in response to a petition from Sandy Hook parents, decided to reconsider an earlier decision against extending the afternoon school bus run in the area. Parents were promised that a decision would be made at the next meeting.

A letter from Therese Egan, President of the Arts Council, clarified that group's position on the ownership of the Yamaha grand piano which is presently used by schools and other community groups. The Board decided that the piano should become the property of the District but remain available for community use.

The matter of vending machines at Chatelech Secondary School received a mixed response from Board members. Trustee Lynn Chapman was opposed to the idea on the grounds that it would contribute to the junk food habit, and Trustee Al Lloyd stated, "This could be opening the door to a pack of troubles we really don't need. Next thing, they're going to have a vending machine for cigarettes."

Other Trustees felt that the students' initiative in the matter should be encouraged and that denying them the use of a vending machine would not stop them from drinking pop. The Board decided to seek input from parents.

In response to a request from Chatelech parents to include a cafeteria and a mechanics shop in expansion plans for the school, Secretary Treasurer Roy Mills pointed out that under Ministry of Education guidelines, the school was not eligible for such facilities. However, it would be possible to have a multi-purpose room that would satisfy some of the expressed needs.

SECHELT INLET COASTAL STRATEGY PILOT PROJECT

This project was undertaken as the first stage of a process which will establish a plan and policies for managing uses in the Sechelt Inlet system. 2. Births

Hi, my name is Rocky John Lavale. My Mom and Dad Lennea and Greg thought I'd never arrive. I was just waiting for 6:47 a.m. March 8th. I weighed 6 lbs., 14 ozs. Mommy and I are just fine and Daddy is so excited. I caused a few grey hairs for Gramma Shirley and Grampa Ed though. I'm the first great grandchild for Paul and Evelyn Moline of Vancouver and Rocky and Agnes Lavale of Prince George. Dr. Cairns, thank you for taking such good care of my Mommy. Hi Uncle Terry and Auntie Michelle. #11

Gardening

by Marguerite

This is the week we wear something green on St. Patrick's Day, and the first day of spring follows a few days later.

Did you know that the shamrock, the flower emblem of Ireland which grows there profusely, really belongs to the clover family. Agriculturists and farmers plant it, as a nitrogen fixer and soil improver, then plow it in the soil, stimulating higher yields.

The shamrock pea (known here as Oxalis) with cobalt blue or white flowers, is useful as a potted plant, or in hanging baskets, blooming nearly year-round under ideal conditions.

The Gibsons Garden Club meeting will be held on Thursday, March 17 in the Marine room at 7:30. Old and new members and guests welcome. The guest speaker will be Mr. John Ostendorf of Sunshine Coast Highway Nursery. The subject being propagation and cultivation. He grows everything himself on this coast.

Happy St. Patrick's Day.

Police news

GIBSONS RCMP

A break-in and theft on February 27 at a Gower Point residence has been solved. A young male offender will be charged with possession of stolen property and a female young offender has charges of break-and-enter pending.

A 16 year old Bonniebrook resident has charges pending for break, enter and theft. Household goods were taken from a cabin in Bonniebrook during February.

Following an investigation on March 2, a 24 year old Gibsons male is being charged with narcotic trafficking.

About 2:30 am on March 5 when police answered a call about a break-in at the Village Store on Marine Drive, they were directed by a citizen to the government wharf.

They arrested two adult males who were trying to escape by boat. The two males have been charged with the break-in and theft and will appear in Provincial Court in Sechelt on April 5.

Fishplant workers need protection

This is done at a rate of three fish per minute with cold water running over your hands at all times.

Added to the risk of being cut with a knife or damaging the joints of your fingers due to the continual exposure to the cold water is the risk of bacterial infection entering your body through small cuts caused by fish teeth.

There is also the risk of tendon damage of your forearms. This is due to the repetitious use of specific tendons causing stretching and eventually tearing of the tendon. I have heard of cases that required surgical repair of tendons in the fore-arms of some employees.

Once the fish have been cleaned thoroughly, they slide down a trough to the grading station. Quality is determined by fish "graders" employed by the processing plant. These "graders" were "trained" at a one day seminar attended on a voluntary basis on March 4, 1988.

There are at present, no government standards that these fish must meet. Our present government feels it takes five years to train a plumber to properly install the plumbing in your home. Yet it feels secure that the quality of the food we eat can be determined by people that attended a voluntary one day seminar.

The processing plant I work in is one of the newest and cleanest plants in our province. The people I work with are supportive and responsible. Most of us are prepared to work long, hard hours to produce a high quality product.

However, the conditions we work in are certainly in need of improvement. Without government regulations to improve working conditions and guaranteed quality standards, there is very little hope the industry will sacrifice its profits to improve a system that has operated as it is for over a year.

If our government is willing to sacrifice safety and quality in new industries, it is our children's futures that are at risk. It is time our government and industries realized that people and the quality of our lives are of far greater importance then profits.

In the long term, better working conditions and properly trained employees lead to higher production and better quality.

We need to protect our environment and the workers in our province. Without protection now, long term economic growth is impossible. Our children will be left without jobs and environmental problems greater than the ones we face today.

Writers' Festival talks to Sechelt Council

The sixth annual Festival of the Written Arts is well underway. In a recent letter to Sechelt Council, Festival producer Betty Keller disclosed that writers featured this year will be Knowlton Nash, David Suzuki, Nicole Parton, Dr. Morris Gibson, W.P. Kinsella, Lynne Bowen, Christie Harris and Barry Broadfoot. Writers-in-Residence instructors will be Ian Slater, Patrick Lane, Lorna Crozier, Sandy Duncan and Jurgen Hesse. This represents an increase of four speakers and one instructor over last year's slate. In addition, both the Festival and the Writers-in-Residence program will run longer than in the past. Four hundred press releases have gone out to newspapers and periodicals across Canada and in Washington and a flood of applications has already started to come in.

Keller pointed out to Council that because of spin-off benefits to the local community, the Festival has 'in fact, become an arm of the tourist industry. Nearly 49 per cent of last year's budget, or $13,385.56, was spent for goods and services on the Sunshine Coast.' "Festival-goers," said Keller, "spend dollars here for food, accommodation and souvenirs, and stay on after the Festival to spend more dollars at many local businesses."

The budget for this year has been increased by $18,000 for a total amount of $35,260. This amount represents grants from the Cultural Services Branch in Victoria, Canada Council, Sunshine Coast Community Arts Council and the Arts Liaison Board, as well as income generated by participants' fees and food events, and miscellaneous donations.

Last year's Festival showed a deficit of $1,200. A phone call to Keller disclosed that this amount represented the cost of umbrellas that the committee was able to purchase at the bargain price of $70 each, instead of $125 each. This is a capital expense and means a saving in the long run. Tables for the umbrellas are being made at the Sunshine Achievement Centre, in line with Festival policy of keeping money in the community.

Keller reminded Council that the Festival operates almost entirely on volunteer labour, though this year's expanded program has forced hiring of a part-time secretary and rental of office space.

The Festival Committee is asking Council for a grant of $1500. Council members were unanimous in their support of the Festival and referred the request to the Finance Committee.

Gibsons firefighters

March 10, 7:05 pm. Firefighters responded to a report of a chimney fire on Wharf Road in Langdale.

March 11, 4:15 am. Gibsons Volunteer Fire Department responded to a mutual aid call from Roberts Creek Volunteer Fire Department who were called to assist the Sechelt Volunteer Fire Department during the fire at the Dock Mall. The Halfmoon Bay Volunteer Fire Department was also alerted to stand by for the Sechelt Volunteer Fire Department during the fire.

Under the mutual aid agreement, Fire Departments on the Coast can call on a neighbouring department to assist as a back-up team when all their equipment and firefighters are involved in fighting a major fire.

Gibsons Volunteer Fire Department members on standby at the Roberts Creek hall on Friday would like to thank the Roberts Creek Volunteer Fire Department for providing them with breakfast after the fire.

If you have one-quarter of an inch of soot built-up in your chimney it's time to have it cleaned. One-third of all fires in the Gibsons Fire Protection District are chimney fires.

College hosts first conference

Over 120 delegates filled the halls of Capilano College last week, at the first conference to be held on the new campus. It was the Tenth Annual Conference of the Adult Basic Education Association of BC.

It was also the tenth anniversary of Capilano College - Sechelt Campus' introduction of its first Adult Basic Education program.

People from all over the province gathered to discuss the problems facing under educated adults and to explore some of the ever-increasing opportunities for alleviating those problems.

Topics covered everything from 'testing' to 'math anxiety' and 'critical thinking'.

A local 'success story' was there, too! When Diana Starbuck enrolled in the Adult Basic Education program at the Sechelt campus two years ago, she had a grade nine education. Now she is well on her way to becoming a Chartered General Accountant, having completed two years in the Financial Management Program at the North Vancouver campus.

Richardson heads for New Zealand

When the 1989 World Summer Games for the Deaf open in New Zealand next January, two young athletes from the Sunshine Coast will be there. Nyle Richmond, of Gibsons and Rae-Mairi Richardson who was born in Sechelt, have been training together in Vancouver with the Canadian Dolphins Club in Vancouver.

Twelve year old Rae-Mairi has been swimming since she was 18 months old, and Corinna Gyorfi, her coach at the Jericho Hill School for the Deaf says that she shows potential as an olympic class swimmer as well.

A rigorous training program and her own dedication were recognized this year when she won a training grant of $1000 from the BC Deaf Federation through the government sponsored Excellence Program.

During the week, Rae stays in a dormitory at Jericho, training three mornings and two evenings a week. Friday night she flies back to Nanaimo, where her parents now live, in time to make an evening swim practice with the Nanaimo Riptides team, followed by another the following morning.

RAE-MAIRI RICHARDSON

Although she has other interests, Rae says that right now she just wants to swim and have the opportunity to bring home a medal from New Zealand next year.

Foster homes needed

Three thousand foster homes in BC, seventeen of which are on the Sunshine Coast, are not enough according to the provincial government and the BC Foster Parents Association, so a recruitment drive is underway, to encourage new people to open their homes to children in need.

"There's a real need for foster homes right now," Carmen Peters of the Sunshine Coast Foster Parents Association told the Coast News last week, "especially in the areas of handicapped children and teenagers.

"We find ourselves really pushed to the limits sometimes. I've talked to other foster parents and at times they'd really like to take a break, but they can't because there are children who need a home."

Anyone interested in finding out more about foster parenting should contact the Sechelt office of the Minister of Social Services and Housing.

Sechelt Council

Sechelt Council has agreed to send a telegram to Pat Carney and Joe Clark urging them to take a strong position in opposition to the GATT ruling, thereby defending jobs in the BC fishing industry.

Other matters dealt with at the March 9 meeting included the sharing of expenses with the Town of Gibsons for the Building Inspector's attendance at a conference of the Building Inspectors' Association in Vancouver.

It was decided, in response from a query from the Liquor Distribution Branch, that the tasting area and off sales activities of Sunshine Coast Breweries was not a problem.

Alderman Graham Craig took violent exception to a recent editorial in the Coast News that was critical of library funding. Craig claimed that the Library has a considerable sum in surplus funds, that Sechelt donated the land for the library building, contributed to the recent expansion and provides an annual grant of $1000. Said Mayor Koch, "The grant will be increased this year. If they want more, they must ask."

Alderman Len Herder reported that two street lights will be installed in the new subdivision in Porpoise Bay.

It was suggested that students from Chatelech form a 'Shadow Council' as a project for Awareness Week. Rob Buchan cited previous experience with a similar project and strongly urged Council to follow through.

Alderman Nancy MacLarty requested Council's permission to propose to local merchants that they refrain from selling milk in plastic jugs for Enrivonment Week, and that some means be found whereby residents could safely dispose of old pesticides.

Alderman Herder reported that the District has been the recipient of a considerable quantity of free fill from the expansion at Greene Court which will result in a large saving. Herder also reported that an amicable agreement had been reached with the Marsh Society. With the exception of a possible emergency flood situation, Sechelt will have prior consultation with the Society before undertaking any work at the Marsh.

Jackson Brothers Logging proposes to move their works yard back from the beach in order to leave that area free for recreational purposes. This will necessitate a change in zoning.

Bursary fund boosted

Al Lloyd presented a cheque for $2,093 to the Pender Harbour and Egmont Bursary Fund on March 7 at the Pender Harbour High School.

The cheque was issued from Continental Carlisle Douglas, a Vancouver brokerage firm, in consideration of orders taken for Canada Savings Bonds by Mr. Lloyd last fall at Pender Harbour Realty.

Shelly Kattler, bursary fund chairman, accepted the cheque in the presence of Pender Harbour High School principal Norm Gleadow and student council president Jodee Lowing.

The bursary fund was established to enable deserving Pender Harbour and Egmont students to pursue a post-secondary education.
