INSTITUTE TO CEASE BUYING

IN FAVOR OF FRUIT GROWERS' UNION

Final Decision Came After Word Battles and Two Votes

That the buying of provisions such as flour and feed, which has been in the hands of the farmers Institute, is to be done by the Fruit Growers Union, was finally decided at a special meeting of the Institute last Friday night. Although this was the second vote on the matter the first being at the last regular meeting and those opposed to the change having had opportunity to work against the measure, the desire of the members as shown by the vote was 35 for and 5 against the turning over of the business About 50 were in attendance. As the voting was done by raising of the right hand and the was dark a number of votes were overlooked but it was evident that the ranchers are almost unanimous in favor of the action.

The special meeting, which wascalled by several members who were dissatisfied with the turn of affairs at the last regular meeting and believing the vote illegal because the members had not been notified as to the business to be taken up, was as anticipated, a warm one and the methods of argumentation employed by the few members that talked on both sides of the question, were not the best and not sanctioned by the majority present as was shown by their cries of approval when a stranger succeeded in getting the floor to speak against the "mud throwing." The principal argument against the motion that came out in the wordy fray was that the business would go into the hands of a limited company which would be just a liable to charge non-members and excess amount for the goods as any other company in the mercantile business. This argument, however, had little weight with the ranchers as every fruit grower in the district not only has the privilege but is but wanted to join the Union.

That the majority of the ranchers who have thought on the matter believe that the Union will be a boon to Creston and vicinity, and are willing to give it support is very evident by the overwhelming vote in favor of it and it is beleived that more would have voted that way had the speakers conducted themselves more mannerly.

A car load of provisions which has been ordered by the Institute prior to the meeting will still be handled by that organization.

Powder will also be purchased as before through the Institute in order to secure the reduced rate from the government.

The Fruit Growers Union has made application to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for a spur to run to their property and when this matter is settled the steps for building a ware house will be taken.

If the Union gets the undivided support of the community they will probably install a canning factory which will make a ready market for all the fruit that can be raised, thus giving the fruit growers a place to dispose of their produce in case the local market is overcrowded or low.

WEDDING BELLS

Kifer-Lamberton

The marriage of Miss Ruby Lamberton, youngest daughter of Mrs. E. A. Lamberton, to Mr. Robert Kifer occurred Monday, June, 3rd at the home of the brides mother at Canyon City.

The parlor had been beautifully decorated with ferns and wild roses. The whole color scheme was pink and white. The bride and groom in the presence of about thirty guests, immediate relatives and friends entered this room and were made man and wife by Rev. W. G. Blake, the beautiful ring service being used. They were attended by Miss Gertrude Knott as bridesmaid and Mr. Grover Kifer, brother of the groom as best man. Following the ceremony the guests were invited to an elaborate wedding dinner.

Miss Lamberton is an accomplished young lady who has grown to womanhood here and she has been honored by and old. She is capable of adorning a home with happiness.

The groom is a popular young man of Canyon City and is held in high esteem by all who know him

The prospects of this young couple seem most bright and prosperous and their large circle of friends extend sincere good wishes for it to follow them through life. The bride and groom received a large number of beautiful and valuable gifts among which were a set of dishes, cut glass bowl, table cloth, bed spread, berry spoon, butter knife, hand embroidered sofa cushion, and many other useful articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Kifer will be at home to their friends after Saturday, June 8.

After the wedding about sixty guests gathered at the home of the brides brother, Mr. Barton Lamberton for a dance, music being furnished by Guy Browell on the violin, Mr. Mitson, mandolin and Mr. Hanley, guitar. Everybody had an exceedingly joyous time and it was nearly three a. m., before the "Home Sweet Home" was played and the guests departed for home.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Honor Bright.

As time passed Sir George Haredale began to think that trouble was really before him. He had not the least pretence to be a business man. He had always been prone to take people at their own valuation. He would never have done anything dishonest or underhanded and he paid his fellow-men a similar compliment. He had never counted the cost of anything, for the simple reason that he had never been taught to. If he wanted a thing he got it. If he couldn't pay for anything he simply owed for it. And from time to time his creditors grew pressing. Then he gave his lawyers instructions to raise another mortgage, and there, so far as he was concerned, was an end of the whole transaction.

It does not take long, especially with two or three generations of similar incapacity, seriously to embarrass even so as fine an estate as Haredale Park. The day came at length when Sir George was under the painful necessity of facing the inevitable, when his worried lawyer told him a few plain truths, and he realized that his income was barely sufficient to live upon. Unfortunately, at this crisis, an occasional run of luck on the turf had relieved the pressure, and it occurred to Sir George as a brilliant idea that here was a source of permanent income. Then luck ran steadily against him, as it always does, and when Sir George became on intimate terms with Copley he was literally at his wit's end to know what to do.

It was a misfortune, though a disguised one, that Copley in his headstrong way should fall in love with May Haredale. He had gone about his love-making in characteristic fashion and had recognized that his suit was hopeless, unless he were in a position to force the pace. Hence he had helped Sir George when he needed every penny he had for himself. At that time Copley did not see his way to get it all back and a great deal more. But now, at any rate, he would have the consolation of knowing that here was a good thing for him, whether May Haredale became his wife or not.

He was playing the game now with wonted caution and cunning. In response to Sir George's note, he pleaded some excuse and on one pretext or other kept clear of Haredale Park for the best part of a week. He knew how to play his fish. He knew that delay was in his favor. He was not going to spoil it by undue haste.

Sir George was thoroughly frightened by now. The interview with Messrs. Absalom's manager came in the light of a revelation to him. He realized that he was in Copley's power, and that the latter could ruin him whenever he chose. Not that he expected anything of the kind. He was of far too sanguine a nature for that, and being a gentleman and a man of honor he naturally believed the story that Copley was temporarily hard put to it for the want of money. From that point of view, of course, Copley was behaving very well. He had not pressed Sir George nor had he insisted that the money must be paid. In point of fact, he had not mentioned the matter at all.

But Messrs. Absalom's manager had been emphatic enough. There was something in his manner which Sir George did not like. He actually had no respect for the aristocracy and spoke as if money were the only thing in the world that mattered.

"It comes to this, Sir George," he he said, "We must ask you to make arrangements to clear this off in a week. It is business purely and my people want the money. Things are not going well at present, and we must look to you to settle this claim."

"Within a week?" Sir George cried "Impossible."

The shrewd manager shrugged his shoulders.

"I am sorry to hear you say that, Sir George,' he replied. "In that case, we must take matters into our own hands and sell you up, including your horses in training. We shall very much regret this step, but necessity will compel us. The best thing you can do is to consult your solicitors and see if you can raise a loan elsewhere. Otherwise—well, I think I have made myself plain."

The man withdrew, leaving Sir George to his own disturbed thoughts. With his sanguine disposition and lack of business knowledge he still clung to the idea that Copley would be able to put this matter right. But when Copley did not come near and wrote that business called him elsewhere Sir George's vague alarm began to develop into a perfect nightmare. At the expiration of a week the first blow fell. A man shabbily dressed and dingy of aspect called to see Sir George and would take no refusal. He stood in the hall grimly quiet, waiting to see the master of the house, who appeared presently and demanded in his haughtiest manner what the intruder wanted.

I am here on behalf of Absalom & Co.' the intruder said. "Fact is, I represent the sheriff. It is no use blaming me, Sir George. I am only doing my duty, and it's not so pleasant, at that. But I am here in possession, and here I am bound by law to stay until this money is paid. As soon as that is done I shall be only too pleased to go away."

Sir George began to understand the position. He had heard of these things before, but they had always appeared to be remote enough from him. This was what was called an execution, and Sir George's dignity disappeared accordingly.

"This is very awkward," he said "I had not anticipated anything like this. How long will you have to stay here?"

"Well, it varies according to circumstances," the man explained. "It all depends upon what action the plaintiff's take. If they give you an extension of time I may be here for a month. Sometimes I have been in a house much longer."

"A month," Sir George exclaimed. "Impossible."

"It may be less than that." the man said. "If they don't give you any time at all I shall be gone in a week. In the ordinary course of things, at the expiration of seven days, the sheriff will come in and sell everything. That is the usual course."

"Seven days!" Sir George repeated the words over and over again, as if he were trying to grasp their meaning. He had barely a week to find all this money, and, if it were not forthcoming, everything he had would be disposed of. He would have to face the world without a penny.

He wondered if these people would take his horses. He wondered what would be the upshot so far as the Derby was concerned. But misfortunes never came singly, and it was possible that the Blenheim colt might not start for the historic race at all. For the moment everything lay in the hands of Raymond Copley. Probably he had not the slightest idea that Absalom & Co. had gone to these lengths. No doubt he would be able to find a way out of this disgraceful situation. It was the only chance.

"If you wouldn't mind going away," Sir George said, "and coming back later in the day, I will see what I can do."

The man smiled broadly.

"Bless you! I couldnt do that," he said. "It would be as much as my place is worth. I might even get prosecuted. And I've a wife and family to think of. I dare not stir a step from here, Sir George; indeed I dare not. If people treat me well I always try to give as little trouble as possible. I daresay you can think of some excuse to account for my presence in the house."

It was very humiliating, but there was nothing for it but a mild conspiracy between the master of Haredale and this grubby representative of the majesty of the law. Sir George led the way into the library.

"You had better stay here," he said. "I can say you've come down from London on some unpleasant business in connection with the stable. By the way, it is just as well as I should know your name. Oh, Brown, is it. Well, Brown, you had better stay here until I come back and I can arrange for you to take your meals in the kitchen. I suppose you won't object to that?"

"I shan't if the servants don't" Brown said.

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Fortwo years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Who Chipped Poor Nannie's New Teacup

Nannie Looked at the Cup.

IT was an early bedtime, and Jack and Evelyn said they thought on that account daddy ought to tell them a longer story.

He smiled, for well he knew that by the time his usual story was over white lids would be drooping over heavy eyes and tired heads would be gently nodding. So he began:

"Nannie was a very careful little girl, and when her grandma gave her six little cups and saucers she was very pleased. Nannie asked in her six dearest friends, and they had an afternoon tea party.

"When they went home they thanked Nannie for the pleasant afternoon they had enjoyed and tripped down the street looking very happy.

"Then Nannie carefully carried the dishes out to the kitchen, where mother allowed her to have a pan of nice soapy water, and into this she put the cups and saucers one by one and washed and dried them.

"And when Nannie came to the cup used by Kitty Flynn, there, right out of the rim of the cup, a tiny chip was missing.

"Nannie held it up and looked at it hard. A broken cup—what a shame! She had told the little girls to be very, very careful because the cups with their pretty pink flowers had been a gift from dear grandma.

"Nannie sat down and cried. Never again would she speak to Kitty. It was bad enough to break the cup, but to go home without saying anything about it seemed the height of meanness.

"'Never mind, dear,' said mother. 'Perhaps we can get another cup just like it.'

"'But it won't be just the same,' sobbed Nannie. 'Grandma told me to take good care of them, and what will she say when she sees them broken so soon? It was mean of Kitty not to tell.'

"'Yes; if Kitty knew she broke it it would have been more polite of her to say so and tell you that she was sorry.'

"Nannie wept and would not be comforted.

"'If we must tell grandma suppose we have it over since it worries you so much. I'll just call her up on the telephone and tell her.'

"So mother called up grandma's number and told her about the accident to the cups and how very sorry Nannie was.

"'The dear child!' grandma replied. 'You know I forgot to tell her one of the cups was chipped when I got it. For that reason the storekeeper sold it to me a good deal cheaper. It was such a pretty set I thought Nannie would not mind, for unless you have very sharp eyes indeed it cannot be noticed.'

"'There,' exclaimed Nannie, 'I'm so glad Kitty didn't break the cup. I'm sorry I blamed her.'"

ANOTHER MARVELLOUS CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Ludger Cote's Backache had developed into Bright's Disease, and Pains and aches were his portion—Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

St. Yvon, Gaspe Co., Que. (Special)—Once more a wonderful cure has sent the name of the old Canadian Kidney Remedy ringing through the Province of Quebec. Mr. Ludger Cote, a well known resident of this place, is the man cured and the story of his cure in his own words is as follows:

"For four years I suffered from Backache, stiffness of the joints and finally Bright's Disease. I could not bend my right leg on account of the pain in my hip and knee. I had terrible pains in the region of the bladder. My eyes were swollen. I was always tired and nervous and took no pleasure in life.

"Finally, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and the effect was marvellous. Six boxes cured me completely."

Backache, neglected, develops into Bright's Disease. The one sure way to escape its tortures is to cure the Backache when it first starts with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

In some districts of the interior of China it is said that one-third of the population has died of starvation in the dreadful famine consequent on the destruction of crops by floods. All the aid thus far rendered has availed to save only a fraction of the numbers of human lives in peril. The people of Canada should not rest content till their consciences assure them that they have done their whole duty in the matter. Distance and difference of race should not quiet the call of humanity.—Hamilton Spectator.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets she would not be without them. They are the only medicine for little ones guaranteed by a Government analyst to be free from those opiates and other harmful drugs found in so-called "soothing" mixtures. Concerning them, Mrs. J. C. Wood, Underwood, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the last four years and would not be without them, as I have found them beneficial every time I have given them to my little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lord and Him

"You must try to be like God, sonnie," said the kindly minister to the worried-looking child who entertained him in the parlor while his mother, upstairs, was preparing for company.

"I guess I must be," the boy answered, wrinkling his brows, for [illegible] and me [illegible] blamed for about every thing that happens in this house. If it's a big thing they say the Lord did it, and if any little thing goes wrong it's sure to be me."

Wonderful Headgear

A well-known Paris painter gave a lecture a few days ago on the manner in which women covered their heads with all kinds of fantastic ornaments in the evening. He said that it was a pity when hair had so much expression in wave and color to conceal so much beauty beneath so-called fashionable accessories.

All the time this gentleman was expressing his views on this subject the audience was much amused at the presence of a beautiful actress famous for her exaggerated head dress.

On this occasion she wore a cap of gold and white brocade with a high mass of white aigrettes extending around the front from ear to ear. From the centre of her forehead stood a black aigrette almost two feet high held by an enormous cabochon in cut jet. Whether this lady will henceforth follow the conferencier's suggestion remains to be seen. But it is said that we shall soon be wearing a rose and little else in the hair.—From the Gentlewoman.

Australia's Big Trees

None too soon, a popular movement has been set on foot in Australia to preserve the gigantic stringy-barks, various species of Eucalyptus of that country, which far exceed in height the famous "big trees" of California, and are the tallest trees in the world. These trees sometimes attain heights ranging from 400 to 500 feet. Their timber is exceedingly valuable, and for this reason they have been ruthlessly destroyed by lumbermen while no proper steps have been taken to provide for their reproduction.

When Jamie sat down for any length of time his mother always trembled. It usually meant some question best defined as a "poser."

And on this occasion he hadn't moved for ten minutes. Then it came: Mother, do angels sleep?

Yes, dear, I suppose so.

Do they lie down, mother? How can they with those long wings?

I'm sure I don't know, Jamie. I've never thought about it.

Silence again and she hoped he had forgotten, but Jamie was thinking deeply. I've got it, mother, he cried. I'll bet they roost.

Della, after a rain, begged to go outside to play.

You may go, said her mother, if you will stay on the walk and not make mud pies.

It was not long before Della was leaning suspiciously far over the walk.

I thought you promised not to make mud pies, mother called.

I'm not mamma, replied Della, I'm making doughnuts.

Evidently Not

"Does your son realize the responsibilities of great wealth?"

"I fear not," sighed the eminent magnate. "He can't seem to learn auction bridge, and he shows no sign of wanting to marry a chorus girl."

Well, did you have a good time? asked mother.

How The Body Kills Germs.

Germs that get into the body are killed in two ways—by the white corpuscles of the blood, and by a germ-killing substance that is in the blood. Just what this substance is, we do not know. The blood of a healthy person always has some germ-killing substance in it to ward off the attack of disease. The fountain head of life is the stomach. A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished. To put the body in healthy condition, to feed the system on rich, red blood and throw out the poisons from the body, nothing in the past forty years has excelled Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a pure glyceric extract (without alcohol), of bloodroot, golden seal and Oregon grape root, stone root, mandrake and queen's root with black cherrybark.

"My husband was a sufferer from stomach trouble and impure blood," writes MRS. JAMES H. MARTIN, of Frankfort, Ky. "He had a sore on his face that would form a scab which would dry and drop off in about a month, then another would immediately form. It continued this way for a long time. He tried every remedy that any one would suggest, but found no relief. He then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which completely cured him. He [illegible] for two years and I recommend this valuable medicine for impurities of the blood."

HORSES NEED CAREFUL HANDLING

To most horse owners it is a matter of costly experience that an apparently slight wrench or sprain or cut is much more serious in a horse than in a human being. A man goes ahead and works it off, but the horse is liable to be "put out of commission" for weeks or months.

When this has happened in a busy season, the horse owner is thereafter keenly interested in getting quick action at the first sign of accident or disease. In fact many successful horsemen make a practice of looking each animal over carefully every morning to see that it is all right. If it is not, they get busy at once.

A great help then is a little book called "A Treatise on the Horse and His Disease," published by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vermont. While it emphasizes the necessity of sending promptly for the Veterinary in serious cases, this little book tells clearly and briefly just what to do for such ailments as Spavin, Splints, Ringbone, Wire Cuts, Lameness and Sprains, that can be effectively cured by home treatment when one knows what to do and has the proper remedies handy.

This book can be obtained free from any druggist who sells Kendall's Spavin Cure, the thirty-year old standby, or direct from Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., by simply writing them at Enosburg Falls, V.T., U.S.A.

Pen Pictures

It is probable that no institution in the Dominion of Canada comes into touch with so large a number of persons who have made improvident investments as does the Annuities Branch of the Post Office Department. It is understood that hardly a day passes that several communications are not received in which the writers bewail the loss of money invested in some scheme that promised phenomenal dividends or returns. One of the saddest of these cases is that of a lady who about three years ago enquired as to the cost of an Annuity of $600. The information was promptly given to her, but the opportunity to purchase was not embraced. She believed she could invest her money to better advantage, and that by the time she attained her 55th birthday she would not only have enough to pay for the Annuity outright, but a little fortune besides. This week another letter has been received from the same lady, who by the way, is now over fifty years of age, which furnishes the sequel to the story. She says: "I have spent my savings on worthless stocks, believing, firmly believing, that I would soon be rich. I would not listen to advice, convinced that I knew best. I wonder at my foolishness now, to waste my all in schemes I knew nothing about. For some time I had a large salary and gave to certain companies every month. Now that they have turned out worthless, I see how crazy and wrong I was. I am sorry, if ever anyone was sorry, for what I have done, but nothing will bring back what I have wasted." Her case is a pathetic one, and her experience has been costly, but it is the common experience of many who have tried Get-Rich-Quick schemes.

In the same month of the same year (1902) another lady enquired as to the cost of a Government Annuity. She, too, had saved a nice little sum for the 'Rainy Day" as the result of her own labors. She began payments with a view to purchasing the same amount of Annuity to begin at the same age (55). In the course of time she became afflicted with a malady, which, though not fatal, incapacitated her from earning a livelihood. Under the terms of the Act she was entitled to have her contract converted into an Immediate Annuity contract. She had this done, and is now receiving, and will receive as long as she lives, an annuity of over $___. It is doubtful if there is a more satisfied woman in all Canada.

The Annuities System does not promise to give something for nothing, and no benefits can be received which are not paid for; but it does promise to give a return, and with the security of the Government of Canada behind it, greater than can be obtained from the investment of the same amounts in any other manner. "World's Work" says: "It is the Savings Bank, the Insurance Company, and the Government Bond rolled into one in a shape adapted to the smallest of depositors." Your Postmaster will furnish you literature descriptive of this marvellous system of investment, or you may obtain the information desired by writing to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom your letter will go free of postage.

Herodotus Sustained

The inexperienced candidate had had a bad time. He had been severely heckled and his temper was at breaking point.

"Gentlemen, he said presently, in exasperation, "Herodotus tells us—",

"Which side is he on?" came a voice from the crowd.

But the candidate was determined to have his say.

"Herodotus tells us," he went on firmly, "of a whole army that was put to flight by the braying of a single ass."

Then the crowd applauded, and the young man thought at least he had scored. But his triumph was short lived, for again came a voice from the crowd this time in a resigned tone.

"Young man," it said quietly, "go ahead; this army has been tested."—Los Angeles Herald.

Brain of Its Own

An inexperienced colored girl had just been installed as housemaid. Having eyed a patient bottle with much curiosity for some time, she asked her mistress: "And what sort o' thing is dat, ma'am?"

"That," replied madam, "is a bottle that will keep things either hot or cold."

"Land sakes, honey!" exclaimed the astonished darky, "how is it gwine to know whether you want it to keep things hot or cold?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

A commercial traveller, at a railway station in one of our southern towns, included in his order for breakfast two boiled eggs. The old darky who served him brought him three.

Uncle, said the travelling man, why in the world did you bring me three boiled eggs? I only ordered two.

Yes, sir, said the old darkey, bowing and smiling, I know you did order two, sir, but I brought three because I just naturally felt dat one of dem might fall you, sir.—Harper's Weekly.

Women of Persia

During the last five years, the women of Persia have become almost at a bound the most progressive, not to say radical, in the world. The fact makes one gape with astonishment, and upsets the previous notions of centuries.

Without the powerful moral influence of the Persian women—those so-called chattels of the oriental lords of creation—the short-lived, but marvelously conducted revolutionary movement in Persia which has recently been smothered by Russia and England would have paled early into a mere disorganized protest. It was they, from their cloistered lives, who, with the patriotic support of the Isthmus priests, tomented the national movement of the forms of government and for the inculcation of western political, commercial and ethical codes.

How to Become a Neurasthemic

Eat no breakfast. Indulge in but one meal daily; at any rate, not more than two. Eat no meat. Eat freak cereals, vegetables, nuts and fruit. Masticate every morsel 268 times—267 times won't do. Take a cold bath every morning.

Be massaged daily. Read the health magazines daily. Read all the books on how to gain self-control and on psychotherapy. Concentrate the mind upon the digestion and upon all articles of diet. Upon every possible occasion discuss your imaginary troubles with your friends and coerce your wife into catering to every dietetic whim that you can formulate. Buy a lot of apparatus for indoor exercise and roll a cannon ball around over a selected portion of one's anatomy.

DIFFERENT NOW

Since the Slugger, Coffee, Was Abandoned

Coffee probably causes more biliousness and so-called malaria than any one other thing—even bad climate. (Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine the drug in coffee).

A Ft. Worth man says:

"I have always been of a bilious temperament, subject to malaria and up to one year ago a perfect slave to coffee. At times I would be covered with boils and full of malarial poison, was very nervous and had swimming in the head.

"I don't know how it happened, but I finally became convinced that my sickness was due to the use of coffee, and a little less than a year ago I stopped coffee and began drinking Postum.

"From that time I have not had a boil, not had malaria at all, have gained 15 pounds good solid weight and know beyond all doubt this is due to the use of Postum in place of coffee as I have taken no medicine at all.

"Postum has certainly made healthy, red blood for me in place of the blood that coffee drinking impoverished and made unhealthy." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Postum makes red blood.

COUGHS AND COLDS

Are Dreaded by Mothers Who Fear for the Safety of Their Children

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

In every cough and cold she recognizes the voice of Croup, Bronchitis, Consumption or other deadly throat and lung complications.

Few people, even among those who are convenient to doctors, can afford the luxury of a physician for every cough or cold, even though they realize the seriousness of neglecting such ailments.

For all such, Dr. Chase has provided a prompt means of cure known as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

One reason why mothers prize this treatment above all others is because of its suitability for children. It is sweet and pleasant to the taste, and children like to take it. By its soothing, healing action it is wonderfully prompt in curing Croup, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough, and can be used by children with perfect safety so long as directions are followed.

Thousands of families in Canada keep Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house at all times for use in cases of emergency. This is the only way to be sure of protecting the bronchial tubes and lungs against coughs and colds. 25c. a bottle, family size 60c. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Creston Review

Published every Friday at Creston, British Columbia, by the Creston Printing and Publishing Company, Ltd.

W. B. McCLURE - - - Editor and Manager

The Review is the acknowledged advertising medium of the Creston valley, circulating in nearly one thousand homes throughout the Creston district and reaching out in a broad manner into other communities. Our advertising rates are based on the scale of the Kootenay and Boundary Printers' Board of Trade. Land purchase and land lease notices, $7 for statutory time. Display advertisements, $1 per inch per month; other advertising 10 cents per line first issue and 5 cents per line in succeeding weeks. Subscription rates $2.00 a year in advance. Our columns are open to contributions dealing in matters of local interest and the welfare of the community. Contributions must be brief and signed.

There is no one in Creston who can conscientiously say that the fruit raisers should not be thoroughly organized, yet we find there are a number of men whose best efforts either blunderingly or maliciously, work against the welfare of the Fruit Growers Union upon which the furture of Creston so much depends. Although matters were apparently settled and all seemed well again for the Union when for a second time the Farmers Institute voted to assist the organization, by turning over to it, the Institute's purchasing power, there still seems to be a great danger of the Union being shattered on account of the stories of "underhanded dealings," etc which are being circulated, and which may or may not be true.

Now that the Union is to do the purchasing formerly done by the Institute, it will be a decided advantage to every fruit grower in the valley to become a member of the newer organization and boost and work for it, for he will not only be able to buy his flour and feed through it cheaper than elsewhere, but by his membership and efforts, will assist in making the organization sufficiently strong to build the cannery and later the cold storage plant, both of which are so essential in a large fruit growing district.

Now, not to overlook those charges against certain members of the Union, it seems the majority of ranchers take no stock in them and besides that the indicted men are welcoming an investigation.

Boost for the Union at all times; if something goes wrong in it, remedy the evil and don't give up the boosting.

Average price recieved for eggs, 32c per dozen. Pen temperature, highest 90 degrees; lowest 38 degrees; avearage mean, 57.18. Rain feil on nine days; twelve days occured without sunshine and the rest of the days were bright.

It has been hoped it would not be neccessary to have to insert the usual paragraph concerning the dynamiting work, owing to the fact that no explosions took place during two weeks. Unfortunately, however, the blasting during the last two weeks, more than made up for the fortuight's lull. Lately the city athorities have been clearing the cedar stumps immediately surrounding the pens.

Several pens in Class One have passed the century mark during the past month, notably pens 9 (117), 12 (114), 2 (110), 23 (105).

Following pens provided broodies in class one: pens 9, 10, 17, 19, (two birds)

Pen 9 deserves special mention for having produced six eggs a day on six occasions during the month. Pens 12, 2, 23, (twice) and pens 5, 4, 1, 14 (once).

Feather eating among the light classes principally, is still prevalent, neccessitating further use of the bitter aloes and lard mixture. This proves very effective until the birds remove the mixture by dusting.

A point brought out by the hot weather experienced on the 11th, 12th and 13th of May, was that the heavy classes were more affected than the light weights. In three instances it was noticed in class one of decreased egg yield immediately after the hot weather. This occured in those pens only that were already laying very poorly.

Now that the birds are in full lay, the animal food has been increased, from seven to ten percent, which is the limit proposed. The first increase was given in the January-February period.

GARAGE IMPROVED

The Kootenay Garage has just completed laying a new concrete floor with a cleaning and working pit, which greatly facilitates repairing the lower parts of the automobiles. The pit is three feet wide by 10 feet long and 4 feet deep. When a machine is in need of repair the mechanic can work underneath in a convenient upright position.

R. S. Bevan, the manager has arranged a novel window display in the form of an actual working power pump. A small cam device attached to a little gasoline enjine pumps water into a pail which never overflows or goes foil. The pump is a lute make and will lift water 125 feet.

Last week two new Ford cars were recieved, one of which was sent to a party at Nelson after being through to Kootenay Lake.

CONCENTRATOR AT TRAIL DISMANTLED

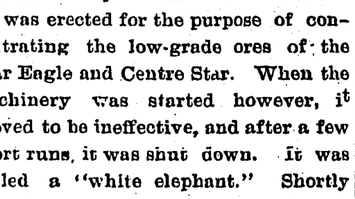
building and the plant cost about $250,000 Considerable of the machinery was sent to the Snowshoe mine, near Phoenix and to the No. 7 mine, a few miles from Phoenix and to other places four years since by the Consolidated Co. All of the nails, bolts, timber and boards have to be loaded on board of cars and will be transported to the smelter and piled up for use. The timber culls, no use for any other purpose are to be sawed into cord wood, the company furnishing an electric motor and power for that purpose.

The machinery left in the concentrator, which consists of Chilian mills, shafting etc., is to be taken apart and stored in a building that stands near the concentrator. Nearly all of it can be utilized by the Consolidated Co.

About ten years ago the concentrator was erected by the Rossland Power Co, under the direction of Edmund B. Kirby, who at that time and for several years previous was in charge of the war-eagle and Centre Star and other properties controlled by the Gooderham - Bloakstock Syndicate. The Rossland Power Co., was one of the subsidiary companies controlled by the Gooderham - Blackstock syndicate. The concentrator was erected for the purpose of concentrating the low-grade ores of the War Eagle and Centre Star. When the machinery was started however, it proved to be ineffective, and after a few short runs, it was shut down. It was called a "white elephant." Shortly after the concentrator fiasco, Mr. Kirby resigned and has been seen no more in this portion of the world.

When the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., was incorporated in May 2 1094, the compressor was acquired by company with many other goods, chattels of the Gooderham-Blackstock syndicate which included the Centre Star and War Eagle mines. The concentrator has remained idle and useless ever since. The only thing that has been done was to take out the machinery and send it to where it could be used. Now it is to be torn down and thus will disappear one of the most expensive monuments of foolish and irrational expenditure that has ever been seen in the Kootenays.—Rossland Miner.



The Bennett is the ideal typwriter for for the business man who does not feel justified in tying up $100 to $125 in a large machine but would like to send out business like, neat work. The Little Bennett enables him to do this as it is the only small typewriter that is practicle While there have been a number of small machines on the market they did not stay. AMONG THE RANCHERS

NOTE—Whereas it is only possible for fruit magazines and publications to cover the field of fruit raising in a general manner, the Review has installed this department in which ideas derived from actual experience by ranchers of this locality, shall be printed, thus making the subject matter of direct interest to this valley's fruit growers.

This week we turned our footsteps in search of a successful strawberry grower and as this is Creston Valley our search was not of long duration. W. K. Brown is one of the foremost of the many successful berry growers but as he is more of a worker than talker, his ranch had to speak largely for itself and it surely does that.

But it is our purpose to confine our attention this week to strawberries, and we will not take the time to describe the fruit trees and small fruits that adorn Mr. Brown's place.

The widely separated rows of strawberry plants and the evenly spaced plants in the rows show that the rancher is a believer of the hill system which gives each plant an opportunity to do its best, and certainly this system is a good one for his plants are simply loaded with blossoms and large berries which will soon be ready for the market

Swamp grass is used largely for a mulch although much of the land is a rich black loam and naturally forms a fine dust mulch, This swamp grass or as it is something called, snake grass breaks up and rots quickly so that it can be plowed under readily with the plants when they begin to decline, thus giving it an advantage over ordinary straw, which would have to be raked or burned off.

Mr. Brown believes that of the varieties of berries that do well here, the Klyde, Parsons Beauty, Bountiful and Magoon are among the best.

Cut-worms which have been the worst pest the ranchers have had to deal with season, have made inroads on some of the plants. About the best remedy for this trouble where chickens are kept and paris green and bran cannot be safely scattered, is shallow fall plowing which throws the grub to the surface where the winter exposure kills it.

The currants on this ranch are also thrifty and bearing so bountifully that they need special mention. All of the fruits have thrived well under the care of the ranch owner. He certainly has the know how, judging from prizes which his frnit drew last fall at Creston's Annual Apple Show.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilled. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $15 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

Cured of Shingles and Eczema

Mr. J. H. Jarvis, Kingston

By Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Chest Raw, Bleeding and Itchy.

"I just want to say a good word for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In November, 1909, I had what the doctors call shingles and eczema. My chest was raw and bleeding and itchy. I was that way all winter. It was not so bad in the summer. In September it got worse. I had the best doctors treating me, but did me no good, and I was all run down to health. In November, 1910, it got worse again. I sent to you for a sample cake of Cuticura Soap. You sent it to me and I got a box of Cuticura Ointment. I have used two boxes and on the third one it has cured me of shingles and eczema. I am delighted with them and do feel pleased to think I have something I have confidence in. Should anyone be suffering as I did, I hope that they will do as I did, and I am sure of the results. I am recommending them from experience." (Signed) J. H. Jarvis, 7 Ann St., Kingston, Ont., May 30, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for itching, burning, scaly and bleeding skin and scalp humors of young and old. A single set is often sufficient. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but to those who have suffered much, lost hope and are without faith in any treatment, a liberal sample of each with 32-p. booklet on the skin will be mailed free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 62 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A.

CORRESPONDENCE

THE SAMPLE MARKET

Grain Fixing and Grain Mixing

Dear Mr. Editor,

Will you permit an ordinary homesteader to pass an opinion on a very plausible, and at the same time a very great injury that threatens the grain trade of the West? I refer to the establishment of a sample market.

The grain sharks are making a determined effort to get legal authority to open such markets in Winnipeg and Fort William. The scheme is to take a certain quantity of grain from every carload and place it on view in the grain exchange, and as soon as the car is sold, the car from which the sample is taken is sent to its destination by the railway company. Meanwhile the cars are delayed in transit twenty-four hours, and cars not arriving at Winnipeg before eleven o'clock on Saturday mornings are held until eleven o'clock on the following Monday morning. This means that the loss of time in transit caused by the sample market, reduces the carrying capacity of the railway companies nearly two days in every week. This, on the three main lines of railway to Lake Superior, equals a reduction of about 2,500 out of a total of 15,000 available for the transportation of grain during the whole of the busy season.

Now, sir, I look on this as a very serious matter. The great cry, almost menacing in its intensity, from the Rocky Mountains to the Lake of the Woods, has been and will be, "Give us cars! more cars!! more cars!!!" And every newspaper in Western Canada re-echoes the cry, "More cars!!!" And this too in the face of the fact that next fall will witness an increase of millions of bushels of grain to be transported to eastern markets. It is nothing short of criminal folly in the face of these facts to place such an obstacle as a sample market in the way to prevent rapid and efficient transportation to Fort William and Port Arthur.

It is seldom, indeed that I can commend the railway companies, but I cannot shut my eyes to the fact that they are all straining every nerve to prepare for the fall rush. They are laying double tracks as quickly as possible. They are improving their terminals. They are largely increasing their elevator storage capacity. They are buying hundreds of locomotives and thousands of cars. And shall we stand supinely by and see the grain sharks block the march of progress. No! A thousand times no. Rather let us help ourselves to get our grain quickly to the lake front by seeing that no obstacles are needlessly allowed to interfere with the transportation companies. The farmers are perfectly right in asking for more cars, and the railway companies must do their utmost to comply with the demand, but is it not a queer way to get them when we allow the available supply to be cut down to the tune of 2,500 at one lick.

There is another aspect of this barefaced attempt to impose a sample market on us farmers. Ever since the mixing of wheat in the elevators was forbidden by law, desperate attempts have been made by the grain sharks, backed by the big interests, the financiers and very likely by the railway companies, to get at the wheat and play their old game of mixing grades, and robbing us farmers. Once allow a sample market and they can mix wheat to their heart's content. Nothing is easier for them. They buy a number of cars of maybe rejected wheat by sample, then buy a car or two of the higher grade, send the whole to an elevator, dump the good and bad into the same bin, mix the whole thoroughly and steal a higher grade and sell at a price that nets a substantial profit. Thus the mixing is as thorougnly done as it would be if there were no law to prevent it.

The men who are actively seeking to get the sample market established are the same gang who formed the Winnipeg grain combine, which controlled the entire wheat market of Western Canada. They are the men who named the price to be paid for wheat at every shipping point until the farmers got the Grain Act amended so as to compel the railways to accept wheat loaded in cars at loading platforms and the distribution of empty cars to elevators and farmers on equal terms. Ever since, this grain combine has been extremely persistent in their efforts to regain as much as they possibly could of their former control of the grain trade. Their latest is the sample market swindle. I cannot believe that they will succeed. But "Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom," from our subjection to the exactions of this unprincipled gang of plutocrats.

I fail to see how we can gain from the opening of a sample market, but, as I have proved, we can lose much. We now have honest inspectors and honest grades. Our markets are free and open, and are beyond the manipulation of greedy men, who seek only to enrich themselves at the cost of the farmers. Let us keep them so.

Yours truly,
C.H.B.

TWO YEARS SUFFERING

Brought on by a Severe Strain—How a Cure Was Found

Mr. Joseph Stephens, Rosemount, Ont., is one of the great host who continually sound the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he has much reason to do so as they brought him from suffering to health, after he had spent much money and two years of time experimenting with other treatments. Mr. Stephens tells his experience as follows: "In the month of January, 1908, while working in a logging camp at Creston, B.C., I got my back badly injured. I suffered a great deal of pain and was almost helpless. I tried plasters, thinking they would help me, but they were of no use. I took several medicines, equally without benefit. Then I was advised to try electrical treatment and did so for a time, but without getting any permanent relief, and it began to look as though I was going to be permanently crippled. Then I was advised to undergo treatment with a specialist at Spokane, Wash. After examining me he said I was in a very bad shape and that the trouble was likely to result in Bright's disease. However, he told me that he felt sure he could cure me. At a heavy expense I was under his treatment for three months, but did not get the least benefit. I was almost in despair; work was plentiful and wages good, but I could not work, as I was quite unable to bend. I was in this condition for about two years, when my brother, who was with me all the time, came across one of Dr. Williams' pamphlets and read of the great work Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were doing. He urged me to try them, but I thought it would be useless to spend more money after all the other treatment had failed. He insisted, however, and got a dozen boxes of the Pills and I began to take them. Before I had used a half dozen boxes I felt relief, and I continued taking the Pills until every vestige of the pain was gone, and I could raise my hands above my head and then bend until I could touch my toes with my fingers, something I had not been able to do for over two years. My cure was a great surprise to my comrades, and you may be sure I told them what had brought it about. I am now as well and strong as any man in the country and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DOGS HUNT SMUGGLERS

Animals Employed by Customs Authorities in Austria

Dogs are now being employed by the Austrian Customs authorities to hunt down smugglers. They are a cross between a greyhound and a wolf and are trained to detect persons endeavoring to cross the frontier with contraband by attacking the dogs employed by the latter.

The smugglers' dogs have shown themselves of great use in carrying pockets of contraband and eluding the revenue officers at the outposts. Now they are being hunted and killed by the Customs' dogs, which afterward lead Customs officials to the trail.

The smugglers trained their dogs by a course of whipping on one side of the frontier, and feeding on the other. Then the dog, usually a comparatively small animalwas flate nd the oinn small animal was fitted with the skin of a larger dog, usually a poodle, and the space between filed with saccharin, tobacco or other contraband.

Doing One's Best

A man really never knows when he has reached his best. Given a resolute will and fixity of purpose, the good of today can be made better tomorrow in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred. In the matters that really count progress and improvement are possible right up to the very gates of death—after that we fancy they will be still more possible. All that is necessary to make our own best a little better is the steady, upward striving. And it is a terribly crippling delusion that makes us think at any time that we have reached, the highest and best that is possible for us. Nothing will send us down in standard of achievement and purposing quicker than to even secretly cherish that conviction. Our best way and only way ought to be ever ahead of us.—Christian Guardian.

The Troublesome Garden Tools

With the coming of Spring it is said those who own motor cars operate them with considerably less speed not, however, always because of the county ordinances or out of consideration for their fellow citizen's safety.

On one occasion two motorists were crawling up a highway where lately a friend (then riding with one of them) knew they had formerly gone at top speed. The friend asked why the car was run so slowly.

"Why," explained the driver of the car, with perfect naivete, "everybody's carrying garden tools now, and you can't run over a man without risking a puncture."

The Duncans had corned beef and cabbage for dinner, and while the blessing was being asked, Mrs. Duncan observed that the head of her daughter Clara was not inclined.

Don't you know, Clara, she said, that your head should always be bowed when you are taking part in the blessing?

But mamma, the child protested, I wasn't taking part in the blessing; I don't like corned beef and cabbage.

Why did your cashier leave the country?

Merely because it was the only thing he couldn't take with him.

Happy Married Life

I married a suffragette, said Mr. Cholmondely Rippingate of Hyde Park, and for five years have found unspeakable happiness.

I'm glad to hear it, said the suffragette leader.

Yes, said Rippingate. Mrs. Rippingate has been in jail four years and three months altogether.—Harper's Weekly.

His Fatal Kindness

The difficulties of supplanting nature is shown in a Fulton, Mo., dispatch to a Rochester paper. The communication declares that when Roy Chamberlain's pet dog lost one of his legs, the chances seemed to be against Shep staying this side of the dog heaven, but Roy built a wooden leg and attached it to the stump of Shep's limb.

Shep each night went to his master and permitted his artificial leg to be removed, and in the morning it was strapped on again. Shep was really a much improved watchdog because he did not run around nights.

The wooden leg, however, was the cause of Shep's death. In a fit of absent-mindedness he went after a particularly ambitious flea that had chosen his head as a delving ground and fractured his skull as he attempted to kill the insect with his wooden leg.

Viewed With Suspicion

Before he was well known Wendell Phillips, the abolitionist, went to Charlestown and put up at a hotel. He had breakfast served in his room and was waited upon by a slave. Mr. Phillips seized the opportunity to present to the negro in a pathetic way that he regarded hi mas a man and brother. The negro, however, seemed more anxious about his breakfast than he was about his position in the social scale. Phillips became discouraged and told him to go away, saying that he could not bear to be waited on by a slave.

"You must 'scuse me, massa," said the negro, "I'se 'bliged to stay here, 'cause I'm 'sponsible for the silverware."—Indianapolis News.

A While for a Time

A Cleveland school teacher writes that she asked her class what was the difference between the expressions "a while" and "a time." Nobody seemed to have any idea on the subject. Finally the light of intelligence was seen to shine in the eyes of one little boy, and the teacher called upon him to save the intellectual honor of the class.

"I know, teacher!" he cried eagerly "When papa says he's going out for a while, mamma says she knows he's going out for a time!"

That's one way of looking at it.

For a number of years a bitter feud existed between the Browns and Perkinsees, next door neighbors. The trouble had originated through the depredations of Brown's cat, and had grown so fixed an affair that neither party ever dreamed of "making up." One day, however, Brown sent by his servant a peace-making note for Mr. Perkins, which read:

"Mr. Brown sends his compliments to Mr. Perkins and begs to say his old cat died this morning."

Mr. Perkins' written reply was bitter:—

"Mr. Perkins is sorry to hear of Mr. Brown's trouble, but he had not heard that Mrs. Brown was ill."

THE TIDE OF IMMIGRATION TO THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Manitoba Takes the Lead During the Past Year in Securing New Settlers, but Many go to Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Ottawa.—That the efforts of the Manitoba government and the "Million-for-Manitoba" league to turn the tide of immigration toward the province is proving highly successful already, is shown by official figures of the departments of the interior.

There were ten thousand more immigrants settled in Manitoba during the last fiscal year than the year previous, and the rates of the first month of the present year shows that all records for Manitoba will be passed this year.

Most of the new settlers are wealthy farmers who are purchasing improved properties. The official figures of 1911-12 show that 43,477 new settlers gave as their destination Manitoba, as compared with 34,653 the previous year.

Saskatchewan obtained 46,158, an increase of six thousand, and Alberta 45,957, an increase of a thousand; British Columbia figures being 51,843, a slight falling off.

Ontario is given the credit for obtaining the lion's share of the immigration the total being 100,227. However this does not take into account the vast immigration of Ontario farmers westward or the fact that many British settlers, after a short stay in Ontario struck for the prairie province.

Quebec's share was 50,602, and the maritime provinces, 15,973. Of last year's 354,237 new settlers, more than a third were from United Kingdom. The British immigrants totalled 138,121, and American, 133,710. From Europe came 82,406 settlers.

Of the British isles, 96,806 were from England, 32,988 from Scotland, and 8,327 from Ireland.

Ten years ago the British immigration only amounted to 11,810. There were debarred at ocean ports last year only 972 as compared with 2,210 the year 1910-11. Of these debarred, 246 were for lack of funds, while the year previous, 1033 were debarred for the same reason.

Of the British immigration bonuses were paid or 23,183, or 18.78 per cent. and 3,613 of the American immigration, or 2.79 per cent. and 2,111 European settlers, or 2.56 per cent.

During the last year 39,151 homesteads were entered on. 5,379 of the entries were English, 1,041 were Scottish, 476 Irish and 10,978 Americans. The European entries were 904.

The immigration authorities figure that 20 per cent of the English, 18 per cent of the Scottish, 23 per cent of the Irish, 36 per cent American and 31 per cent Europeans took up homesteads. Of last year's immigration which arrived at ocean ports 72,828 are classed as farmers, 61,752 as general laborers, 24,133 as mechanics, 14,158 as clerks and trades, 14,348 as miners and 18,390 as domestics.

The cost of obtaining Canada's 354,000 immigrants was $1,080,208, or under three dollars a head.

ROUND THE HORN

Rails Being Shipped from Cape Breton to British Columbia

Vancouver, B.C.—T. G. Holt, executive agent of the Canadian Northern railway, is advised that a steamer with a cargo of 500 tons of rails for the Pacific section of the road will sail next month from Sydney, Cape Breton, for Port Mann. The vessel is expected to reach its destination in August. The rails will be used in laying the tracks from Hope to Yale, a distance of 35 miles. Other vessels with similar cargoes will follow later in the summer.

SPEND REMAINING DAYS THERE

Sir Charles Tupper Quits England as Home and will Live in Vancouver

Ottawa.—The veteran Canadian statesman and sole surviving Father of Confederation, Sir Charles Tupper, passed through Ottawa recently on his way to Vancouver where he will spend his remaining days with his son, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper.

Sir Charles, who has resided in England for the last few years with lady Tupper, was recently bereaved by the death of his wife. After bringing the body of Lady Tupper to Canada and seeing it interred in their native province of Nova Scotia, he has now decided to spend the rest of his life in the Dominion, the welding together of which he played such a conspicuous part half a century ago.

Prince Arthur Gets Special Leave

London.—Prince Arthur of Connaught is to be granted special leave from the army in order to pay a visit to his parents in Canada during the autumn.

He will join the king at Balmoral in September and may go west afterwards so as to get some sport during the fall.

The expected presence of Princess Patricia in London for the midsummer season is now postponed until next year in order to enable her to serve as the companion of the Duchess of Connaught when she accompanies the governor-general upon the extended tour of the Dominion which has now been planned.

Tobacco Company Merger

Hamilton—Arrangements have been practically consummated looking to a merger of the McDonald Tobacco Company of Montreal, and the Tuckett Tobacco Co. of Hamilton. The reasons given for the merger are that the American Tobacco Trust can be fought more effectively in Canada by the combined efforts of the two concerns than by each cutting the other's throat.

Austrian Explorers Make Discovery in Pit Within Cavern

Vienna.—An exploration by members of the Imperial Museum into the cavern of Saint Kanzian in the Karst Mountains has yielded more than a thousand bronze implements such as swords, axes, lance heads and vessels supposed to date from 1000 B.C. They were all found at the bottom of a pit 150 feet deep within the cavern. It is suggested they were thrown in there as a sacrifice to a subterranean deity.

HAS FOUND PERFECT SPHINX

Petrie Also Reports Remarkable Discovery of Egyptian Fortress

London.—Details of the season's results in exploration by the British School of Archaeology in Egypt are described in Prof. Flinders Petrie as gigantic. An alabaster sphinx twenty-six feet long and fourteen feet high which weighed eighty tons was found at Memphis. The face is as perfect as when it was carved in 1300 B.C.

Earthern fortress walls over one hundred feet thick and a quarter of a mile across were discovered at Heliopolis. They probably date back to the early barbaric invasion.

A cemetery was discovered thirty miles south of Cairo with dates on the stones from the earliest historic age down to the period of the pyramids. Linen was found there of which some sheets went back to the eleventh dynasty. They were as white and as sweet as if they were just from the loom.

GRAIN COMMISSION

Announcement of General Policy to be Made Shortly

Ottawa.—Prof. Magill, W. D. Staples and F. N. Gibbs, members of the Canada grain commission, who have been in Ottawa for several days conferring with Hon. G. E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce, have left again for Fort William. While here they reported to the minister on the progress which has been made in the organization of the commission since its appointment, shortly after the house rose. There was a general discussion with the minister of the general policy of the government with respect to terminal elevators and grain sample markets. An announcement of the general policy to be pursued will, it is expected, be made shortly.

Fenian Raid Veterans' Re-Union

Ottawa.—A re-union of all Fenian raid veterans is being planned by John P. McMillan, of Cornwall, to be held in Cornwall some time in June, preferably etween thbe 20th and the 27th. Overtures are being made with the different railroad companies to grant the veterans special rates to and from Cornwall from all parts of the Dominion. The Duke of Connaught has been invited to attend and it is understood it is very probable he will accept the invitation.

Use Wireless in Survey

Toronto—The Ontario government is preparing a new map of Ontario which will show the newly added territory of Patricia, next to Manitoba. When this map makes its appearance before the public the new territory will be colored green. No arrangement has as yet been made for surveying the boundary between this province and Manitoba. In doing this work, wireless telegraphy will probably be used, one station being established at Port Nelson.

Militia Training Camps

Ottawa.—That there will be 14 large training camps on the same scale as Petawawa next year is Col. Sam Hughes' plan for economizing in the present expense to bring the militia to the training camps. This will mean 13 new camps.

There will be located in Saskatchewan one new training camp in the north and another in the south, while the same will apply to British Columbia and Manitoba.

Panama Canal Regulations

Washington. — Secretary Stimson told the state committee on Inter-Ocean canals that he favored permitting railroad owned steamships to use the Panama Canal under regulations of the interstate commerce commission. The secretary declared that he would not exclude railroad ships before wrong had been committed any more than he would have a law passed to [illegible] He favored the same tolls for domestic and foreign vessels, provided it did not violate any treaty relations.

MAY HAVE TWO NAVAL UNITS

Two Dreadnoughts, Four Cruisers, and Auxiliary Vessels on Pacific and Atlantic

Ottawa.—An interesting rumor is in circulation anent the naval proposals which, it is said, are likely to be made by Premier Borden and his colleagues to the admiralty.

It is said that Canada will propose that the British admiralty maintain naval units of two Dreadnoughts, four cruisers and auxiliary vessels on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. Canada to pay for the upkeep of these two units.

Canada, under these proposals, it is said, would provide large dry docks on both coasts. Of course, Premier Borden declines to discuss the report and intimates that the government will have no official announcement to make in regard to the navy.

KAISER TO FORBID DUELLING

Emperor May Issue Order as Result of Agitation

Berlin.—The Tagliche Rundschau says that as a result of the strong agitation against duelling in the army it is announced in high military circles that the Emperor soon will issue an order forbidding duels except in rare instances where honor has been grossly offended. The order will have a particular bearing on cases where a refusal to fight is made on religious grounds.

EUROPEAN CONDITIONS

People's Attention Absorbed by International Politics

London.—For the moment international politics are absorbing European attention. Premier Asquith's visit to the Mediterranean to meet Viscount Kitchener and his subsequent visit to Bizerta are causing people to ask, "Does it mean an Anglo-French alliance, or will Anglo-German relations improve?"

Russia's immediate aims are still puzzling everyone. There is now less hope of a nearly end of the Turco-Italian war. Still no fear is felt over any spread of hostilities this year.

The Berlin Bourse settlement this week is expected to end smoothly, but the settlement at the end of June is feared, as it is almost certain to produce great pressure.

Germany is bidding for loans here for two months at high rates. English trade is very excited.

Bordon and Hazen to go to England

Ottawa.—Official announcement is now made that Premier Borden and Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will go to England, sailing on June 28 and arriving in London July 4 or 5.

The object of the visit is to confer with the Imperial government and one other member of the cabinet whose name is not yet announced will go also.

It may safely be assumed that the Empire question and the Canadian part in the naval defence of the Empire will figure prominently in the discussion.

Hold U.S. Horses in Canada

Lethbridge.—In the neighborhood of seventy head of American horses are being held at Milk River station by the Mounted Police. These animals were found grazing in Canadian territory on the property of Mr. Farrell of Sweet Grass, Montana. Just as to what the Dominion government will do with the animals is not yet known.

London.—The admiralty intends, according to the Chronicle, to establish aviation scout bases along the whole of Great Britain's eastern Coast.

Paris, [illegible] the municipal elections of Loon-Plage France, has committed suicide on realizing the responsibilities which would fall on him if he was elected.

NEW CANADIAN LINE

PLAN NEW ROAD TO PENETRATE THE NORTH COUNTRY

A Railway From Montreal North, to James Bay Appears to be Now Assured.—The Canadian Government Has Guaranteed a Subsidy.

Montreal.—Announcement has been made that the contemplated railroad from Montreal to James Bay is now assured. The Canadian government has guaranteed a certain subsidy and the province of Quebec has pledged itself to a very large land subsidy.

This material financial aid will enable those in charge to begin construction work speedily. Unless President Charles M. Hays of the Grand Trunk had changed his mind before his recent death in the Titanic wreck, he considered the project with disfavor and even with incredulity. Some of the railway men who were very closely associated with President Hays reported him as convinced that the proposition, both from a financial and from a commercial point of view, was unworthy the consideration of any business man.

President Hays knew that, so far as the engineering difficulties were concerned, they could be overcome. He knew what the engineers had accomplished in constructing the extension of the Grand Trunk system to the Pacific Coast. But he did not believe that the short season—not more than three months—in which James Bay and Hudson Bay are free from ice was a sufficient time to permit ocean steamship service from James Bay to Europe to be commercially practicable.

Yet President Hays forecasted the future of Canada, and especially of British North America, with a keener and more farsighted vision than any of the great railway intellects in Canadian railway construction. He had an abundant faith in the resources of the vast region of upper British North America which until a few years has been presumed to be a forest and desert defiant of the approach of man.

He assured his business associates that immigration would penetrate the wilds of British North America and in the course of a few years would develop the agricultural and the timber resources to commercial profit both for the railroads and for the pioneers.

He fixed upon a seaport just below the southern boundary of Alaska, which was to be the Pacific terminal contemplating a commerce from that port that would utilize the Panama canal and would also extend across the Pacific. He also decided to conquer for the Grand Trunk system a part at least, of New England. What effect his death will have upon the skillfully conceived plan which originated in his own mind and had for its consummation an entrance into the city of Boston, remains to be developed. The Grand Trunk, through one of its allies the Central, of Vermont, secured a right of way from a point a little east of Springfield, Mass., to Providence, R.I.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, May 22.—The gradual weakening of the wheat markets which became so pronounced during last week culminated on Monday of this week with another decline of 1c to 1½c. High points of the recent large advance in the United States markets were reached about the 7th inst. The advance began about 6th to 9th April when the damage to the soft winter wheat crops in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Missouri began to be confirmed by the investigations and reports of private crop experts, which later were officially validated by the Government's May crop report. From the beginning of April up to about the 7th inst. there was a gradual advance in prices in the speculative markets with almost no reactions, the advance running from 10c. to 17c. per bushel according to the different markets. Cash prices followed the speculative prices, although reluctantly. Of course this large advance was confined to the United States markets, although it had a strengthening influence in all grain markets over the world. The fact is, however, that the wheat situation in the United States in these latter days runs very close to a wholly domestic proposition, where the [illegible] points to a partial failure of the crop. The prospect of higher prices as the result of crop damage reports broadened the United States markets in April, and started the public to buy July and September wheat speculatively. By the second week of this month, when the advances had reached the figures mentioned above, the damage reports had begun to lose their influence and were replaced by favourable reports from the hard winter wheat states, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska, and then the markets paused, held fairly steady for a week without any further bullish stimulus appearing, and for lack of it the inevitable reaction started. The big professional operators who had bought freely on the upward movement sold out their holdings as quietly as possible, securing good profits. The more wide awake among the public also got out as quickly as possible when they discovered how the current was moving, and lastly the longs who had overstayed their market were shaken out, each stage in the decline being helped along by bear operators selling short. There has been a decline of around 7c from the high points around May 7th to the low points reached on Monday the 20th. The viewpoint of the market has again changed. The United States visible supply is seen to be decreasing heavily. The damage reports are being revised. The spring wheat crop in the United States has had a fairly favourable start, but there is believed to be a large decrease in the acreage. The world is being reminded that the United States wheat crop is not grown yet, and while most of it is green and flourishing in appearance much of the winter wheat is thin on the ground and weedy, and all of it has its most critical time before it, and the markets have advanced 2c to 3c from the low points reached on the 20th inst. The large decrease in the United States visible supply in the last two weeks is attracting attention as is also the smallness of the world's exports last week as compared with the same week last year, and this week Bradstreet's world's visible stocks shows a large decrease compared with a liberal increase last year. Along with these, the primary receipts in the United States each day this week show considerably less than on same days last year, and the primary shipments show considerably larger. If this comparison continues to the same degree in the next three or four weeks the United States visible which has looked so big all winter, will have become less than it was a year ago. Last year, owning to the very warm dry weather the United States winter wheat had an early harvest; this year there is the prospect that it will be a late one. Last week the United States visible supply decreased 3,612,000 bus., compared with a decrease of only 506,000 bus. same week last year and it now stands at 34,568,000 against about 27,101,000 bus. last year. The world's shipments last week were 11,356,000 bus., against 16,280,000 bus. same week last year. The world's visible supply according to Bradstreets decreased last week 4,716,000 bus against an increase of 3,036,000 bus. last year. Since the 1st July, 1911, to date, the shipments from exporting countries to importing countries have been 107,000,000 bus. less than in the same period of 1910-1911. While the price making factor for the present and immediate future is the supply to meet the current demand up to the time new crops begin to move out of the farmers' hands, that for the more distant future will be the prospect for the yield of the new crops. At the present time there is no certainty that the production of wheat in the crop year 1912-1913 will be larger than for the previous year, but with good growing conditions in the larger producing countries, it may be. Just now it looks certain that the United States will produce less, but a favorable season for the spring wheat may improve the prospect. In Western Canada the seeding season has been a mixed one as regards weather, there having been an unusual quantity of rain and cool weather. It is difficult to estimate the acreage yet, but it is not nearly so large as it would have been with a drier seed-time. A great deal of the seed has been run into stubble land without plowing, and much of the seed is inferior, and it will need a favorable season during the next three months for good results. In Europe the reports read as if fair average crops might be expected if average weather conditions continue till crops are secured. It is now seed-time in Australia and the Argentine. Conditions are favorable in the latter country, but the weather in Australia has been too dry, and there is talk of a decrease in the acreage for the new crop. Whatever new crops may turn out the world is going to begin the new season with a very small surplus of old wheat in both visible and invisible supplies.

Our Winnipeg market has been comparatively steady and firm. During the weakness in the markets in the forepart of the week under review the demand for cash wheat was quiet, but with the advance in prices in the last two days a good demand has sprung up again. Receipts from the country continue liberal, and contain a larger proportion of the higher grade owing to elevator companies having shipped out their low grades and kept the best wheat to the last. The movement east by lake has been very large, and terminal stocks are now getting down to a moderate size. To-day's cash prices are: 1 Nor., $104¾; 2 Nor., 101¾; 3 Nor. 96¾c.; No. 4 wheat, 87c.; No. 5, 74½c.; No. 6, 64c. Feed 53c.; No. 2 Alberta Red Winter, 97c; No. 3 A.R., 95c.; No. 4 A.R., 88c. Futures closed: May, $104⅞; July, 105¾; October, 99¾.

Oats—

The oat market had quite a decline, the May option losing 4c. per bushel, closing at 44½ on Monday against 48⅝c last Wednesday. The feed grades declined only 2c. There has been a recovery of 1c to 1¼c since Monday, and the demand is good again. To-day's cash prices are: 2 Canadian Western, 46c.; 3 C.W., 41½c; Ex. 1 Futures closed: May , etaoin taoin Fd. 43¾c; 1 Fd. 43¼c; 2 Fd., 41½c;

Barley—

Flax—

The flax market continues firm, and to-day's cash prices are 1 N.W. $2.01; 1 Man., $1.96; Rejected, $1.78. Futures closed: May $1.98; July, $1.90¾.

All prices quoted above are for on delivery in store Fort William and Port Arthur.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON X—SECOND QUARTER FOR JUNE 9, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Luke vi. 39-49. Memory Verses, 47-49—Golden Text, Jas. 1, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This seems to be our last study for the present from the sermons on the mount and on the plain and reminds us of one of our Lord's sayings on the night of His betrayal, "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them" (John xiii. 17. See also His words in Luke viii, 21, "My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God and do it." In verse 46 of our lesson His words, "Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" are very similar to Matt. vii, 21, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." There is no conflict between all similar sayings and such words as these: "Being justified freely by His grace." "To him that worketh not, but believeth on Him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness." "By grace are ye saved through faith, not of works." "Not by works of righteousness which we have done." (Rom. iii, 24; iv. 5; Eph. ii. 8, 9; Tit. iii, 5). The former texts refer to the life and works of saved people as an evidence before men of their salvation by the finished work of Christ, with an awful warning that no mere "say so" on our part will suffice. There will be many who profess to be the Lord's but who are not sincere, not born from above, to whom He will say in that day, "I never knew you; depart from me ye that work iniquity" (Matt. vii, 23). Members of churches who are satisfied to be such and rest on the fact of their baptism in infancy or confirmation or standing in the church or the community, but do not know the forgiveness of sins, having never been redeemed by the precious blood of Christ, and while in their place in church once a week are wholly in the world and live only for this present world, how fearful their future in the outer, where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth (Matt. viii, 12; xiii, 42, 50; xii, 13; xxiv, 51; xxv 30,41).

While this will be the doom of many, it is not for us to judge any one, but to see to it that we ourselves are truly the Lord's and live to help others to be truly His and to let Him work in us to will and to do of His good pleasure (verses 37, 38; Phil. ii, 13). If we do not see clearly ourselves we cannot lead others, and in Matt. vii, 15, we are told of false prophets who outwardly seem to be sheep but inwardly are ravening wolves, not living to help the sheep but to devour them. These are more fully described in Jer. xxiii, 14-26, as speaking a vision of their own heart, prophesying deceit, making people vain, encouraging evildoers and telling them that no evil would come upon them, perverting the words of the living God. Such people wanted to kill Jeremiah because he spoke only what the Lord told him (Jer. xxiv, 7-11). The word of the Lord is not acceptable to the world and especially to the worldly part of the church, which cannot endure sound doctrine. Our Lord so taught his disciples and talked with His Father about it (John xv. 18, 19, xvii, 14). The margin of lesson, verse 40, says that every disciple shall be perfected as his Master and Heb. ii, 10, says that the captain of our salvation was made perfect through sufferings. He was always absolutely perfect, but as our High Priest, able to sympathize. He had to be tried Heb. ii, 17, 18) and to learn obedience by the things which He suffered (Heb. v, 8, 9).

According to our Lord's heart searching teaching when we think that we see failings in others we must remember that, while there may be a trifle wrong with the other party, the probability is that the greatest trouble is at our own end. We are not therefore to judge one another any more, but endeavor not to be a stumbling block in another's way (Rom. xiv, 13). Ambitious to be quiet and to mind one's own business (1 Thess. iv. 11, R. V., margin, and Weymouth), and so to abide as branches that the vine may bear the desired fruit unhindered. The last clause of lesson, verse 45, says, "Of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Compare Matt. xii, 34. "The mouth of fools poureth out foolishness; a wholesome tongue is a tree of life" (Prov. xv. 2, 4). I have just received a letter concerning one who was filled with pity for two others behind whom she walked whose conversation was wholly concerning dress and the fashions. Soon she found herself in a shopping district and somewhat fascinated by the very things she had condemned in others. As she passed on the words held her, "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he." (Prov. xxiii, 7). Being ashamed, she determined to fill herself with the words of Jesus that her thoughts might be more like him. She found it a splendid remedy and has since been greatly blessed in the use of His Words thus laid up in her heart. This is a practical illustration of Prov. xxii, 18, 21, which I, too, have for many years proved in my life and teaching. It is possible to be a well of living water springing up for the benefit of others.

To Educate Young Farmers

London—The government of New Zealand intends to educate young farmers in the near future. The cabinet has allotted a large sum for the immediate erection of apprentices' quarters at the experimental farm outside Wellington. The lads will be instructed by officers of the agricultural training, a similar organization will be paid, increasing in proportion to the degree of industry and ability shown by the students.

San Francisco, May 30—George C. Roeding of Fresno has been appointed Chief of the Department of Horticulture of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Roeding is a Native Son and has gained great fame as the introducer of the Blastophaga Grossorum, or the little insect which first made the Smyrna fig culture possible He was born here on February 4th 1868. He graduated from the local high school in 1885. He has been engaged in the Nursery and Fruit business at Fresno.

Word has been received by the Panama-Pacific International Officials that Costa Rica would participate in the 1915 Universal Exposition.

That country is the eighth foreign nation that has accepted President Taft's invitation to take part in the nation's celebration of the completion of the Panama Canal, Thus far Japan, Haiti, Guatamala, Salvador, Panama, Honduras and Mexico have notified the State Department at Washington, that they will make exhibits on a large scale at the coming Exposition.

On Wednesday last week, Mrs. Livingstone, Provincial Organizing Superintendent of the W. C. T. U., met the local Union at the mance. The regular monthly meeting was held and some business finished. Mrs. Fairhead and daughter were elected delegates to attend the annual convention at Vancouver in June. Five new members were recieved. Mrs. Livingstone then gave the ladies a talk on the subject of Purity; she also spoke of the keeping Mother's Day which was such a success at Nelson. It was suggested that Creston keep Father's Day in place of it, on the second Sunday in July. Tea was then served and Mrs. Blake then played the part of a clever hostes. Mrs. Livingstone, again spoke in the evening at the Methodist church at which a goodly number were present. Our ex-president, Miss E. V. Dannard also spoke a few words, pleading for the support of the members in behalf of her successor, Mrs. St. Jean.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS

COMMUNICATION

Dear Editor

Where is our dove of peace, forbearance and good will to men? May we ask your paper to shelter this noble bird in our community. It is sorely needed as you unboubtedly observed in the meeting of my brother craftsmen in your town last Friday.

The exhibition of craftsmen in driving nails into the coffin for one of our pet infants was a revelation to all sober minded present.

There was no perceptible difference in the skill on either side and both parties to the contravercy will have to share equally in the responsibility should the infant occupy the coffin.

Our public trusted men should keep in mind, that we do not live in age of Knighthood when valor was measured by one's skill in execution with the sword (be it steel or mouth) but in the twentieth century, when the public deemed fairness, tack and diplomacy in ferreting the cause of its interest. The tie of public sentiment has been lost to many a worthy cause by cruel treatment of the foe.

Any well regulated community is better off with its critic, and the public is prone to give this person a wider scope of expression than the rest of a .

Could we only keep in mind, that there is so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us, that soberly considered there is not much fault to find with either of us.

May I then venture to trust that the wounds inflicted may soon heal over to leave no scar to mar the application of good will and brotherly emity, without which every one of us will be paddling against the current.

Most fraternal
O. J. Wigen.
