WEEKLY COMMENT BY OUR EXCHANGES

New Zealand, a dairy and meat producing country, will lower its tariff against American States under more favorable conditions. But this will not affect Canada. This country has no dairy or meat to export, to our shame be it said. In fact, so poorly do we avail ourselves of opportunity that we import rather than export much of our food products.—Calgary Herald.

The will of the late Lord Strathcona shows the Canadian bequests, which are munificent. The Royal Victoria College at Montreal receives one million dollars and also a donation of the land fronting on Sherbrooke street valued at one quarter of a million dollars. Half a million dollars is provided for the Royal Victoria Hospital. All his land at Pictou, Nova Scotia, is given to Mr. J. Hardesty Smith of Montreal, who also gets $125,000.00. One short clause in the will is: "And I declare that I am and I intend to remain a domiciled Scotsman." The will was made in 1903 and is contained on thirty-nine pages of typewritten paper.—Merrith Herald.

DUCK CREEK NEWS

A party of autoists arrived at Duck Creek Siding on Saturday afternoon. Finding it impossible to get onto the road at Sirdar they had to put their auto onto a flat car and get the switch engine to haul them to Duck Creek.

A most enjoyable dance was held at Mr. Paul Hagen's house on Friday, June 19th, it being the 17th anniversary of Miss Anna Hagen's birthday. A large crowd was present and everybody had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Butterfield wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Phoebe, to Mr. Frank J. May, of this place.

Mr. Wm. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, accompanied by M. B. Middleton, Provincial Horticulturist, arrived here on the eastbound train Tuesday. After seeing a shipment of 200 crates of strawberries loaded on the train, the party left in Guy Lowenburgs automobile for Mr. Wigen's ranch, where they had lunch and looked over the strawberry fields, after which Guy Lowenburg drove them into Creston. Mr. Scott was enthusiastic over the beautiful appearance of the berries, and also with the care with which they were handled.

Mat Hagen was a Creston caller Tuesday.

Misses Olga Wigen and Ann Hagen spent Wednesday in town.

Miss Falecloth, who has had charge of the school here for the last twelve months, left on Thursday for Boston, where she will sail on the White Star liner, Cymric, for England.

769 crates of strawberries have been shipped by the Co-operative fruit growers of Wyandell in the last week.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Ebbutt and family most sincerely thank the many kind friends and neighbors—and especially the boys—who gave their help and sympathy on the occasion of the sad death of their beloved son, John.

George Hendren, and Jack Smith of Creston and Joe Dubie, of Kitchener, returned early Saturday morning from the White Grass country where they had gone to bring down the body of White Man Jim Crawford who died alone in his shack this Spring. The funeral took place at Port Hill on Monday under auspices of the Odd Fellows.

PYTHIANS ARRANGE FAMILY PICNIC

Not less, but if possible, more loyal to Canadian institutions than other fraternal societies, The Knights of Pythias have arranged for a family picnic to mark the anniversary of Dominion Day, July 1st.

The arrangements are very simple. Knights with their family and friends will assemble in Huscroft's Grove on Wednesday at the hour most convenient to them. Each family will have a basket for its own members and invited friends with possibly enough for one or more expected late arrivals.

Rev. W. G. Blake has been appointed a special committee on Children's sports and will have some prizes for the winners. There will probably be a ball game between the grown-ups and some races for the ladies and contests, etc. In the fact the whole thing will take after the plan of the old time family picnic which is often theme with some of our parents even to the present day.

Knights and especially esquested to come out to the meeting on Monday evening and learn further of the arrangements.

W. E. SCOTT VISITS CRESTON DISTRICT

W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, made one of those proverbial, ministerial political, flying visits to our district on Tuesday.

According to the Daily News he was met at Duck Creek by the Secretary (P) of the Board of Trade Guy Lowenburg, and there visited Wigen's strawberry patch. From there he was whisked by auto to Creston and succeeded in getting an interview with one or two of those who wanted to see him and missing several of those he wanted to see besides several of the w who wanted to see him and whom he should, in courtesy to our district, have sought.

Among them the secretary of the Farmer's Institute with whom he only managed to get a scant half minute as the train pulled in and out again.

No doubt the deputy minister "covered" the district—like the fellow went through College, in at the front door and out at the back.

There were some farmers who would like to have had a chance to discuss with the minister matters which to them were important, more so than the political issue.

The Review dislikes to be forced into the position of expressing censure on the representatives of the government which it loyally supports but we owe to our readers something more than to be blindly led around by the nose by politicians whose sense of the fitness of things is no more elevated than to call the late auto tour a visit to the district.

Parker Williams, the lone opposition in the provincial house and standard-bearer for the Socialist Party, addressed a meeting in the auditorium on Saturday evening. He was accompanied by Mr. H. Winch, of Vancouver. There was a very fine attendance and the speakers made a very fair impression on the audience. Mr. Williams is an aggressive and fiery opposition and has to his credit championing some of the very best ideas of modern legislation some of which are part of the Socialist platform.

The service in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday will be of a patriotic order, at 11 A. M. the children will assemble with the congregation. The service will be commemorative of the hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States. "Peace" will also be the theme of the evening service.

We publish here with a new photograph of Colonel George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and future Governor of the Canal Zone, the photo was taken in the smoking salon of the United Fruit Steamer Metapan. Colonel Goethals, because of his excellent administration in the Canal Zone has been much sought after as Police Commissioner of New York City.

RULES RE HANDLING SMALL FRUIT CROP

The horticultural branch of the Department of Agriculture at Victoria has issued the following rules for Picking, Grading and Shipping Strawberries and Raspberries:

STRAWBERRIES

1. Make pickings as soon as the color of the berries indicates the proper market maturity. For long express shipments pickings should be made when berries show about one-third color, the degree of color depending on the distance of the market.

2. Make frequent pickings, going over the vines on alternate days. Immediately after a period of rain go over the whole patch, cleaning up all the fruit and sending the fruit that is fit to the cannery.

3. Pick in the cool part of the day if possible and do not allow the fruit to stand in the sun or dust after picking. Carry the trays to the packing shed at once after they have been filled.

4. Each picker should be provided with stand holding six cups. Remove the berries from the vine by breaking the stem over the fore-finger in giving the berry a little side motion. Do not injure the berry in anyway, either by pressure or by tearing it away from the stalk or "haul". Pick the vines clean and place soft berries in separate cups for the cannery, throwing the culls away.

5. Pack the berries in a cool shed having plenty of light. Before packing remove the berries from the packing cup, placing them upon a cloth covered packing frame. Be sure the berries are perfectly dry before packing. Forcing currents over the berries while they are upon the frames removes all moisture, brings out the lustre on the fruit and leaves it in a cool condition.

6. Use experienced packers. For long distance shipments make at least three grades... A. Distant Market Grade, using only sound partially colored fruit. B. Local Market Grade, using only sound and well colored fruit. C. Cannery Grade, which includes a good quality of ripe fruit. All berries showing the least indication of decay or deterioration are culls and must be thrown away. Such berries will spoil the rest of the crate.

8. When packing for market use uniform sizes of berries, placing them in clean, new cups. Have the top layer of berries, come slightly over the outside edge of the cupstand so as to give an attractive appearance.

9. As soon as packed place the cups in the crate and keep in a cool place. In nailing on covers use four nails to the crate. Do not nail superficially as it irritates the consumer and defects from the packers reputation.

10. Cool the berries down to 60° before shipping. This may be done by leaving the fruit in the night air and supplying in the morning.

RASPBERRIES

1. Pick the berries as soon as the fruit will slip off the core without crumbling or mashing. Every berry that is red must come off the vine.

2. Pickers must use small carriers attached to the waist so as to hold the cups. Pick directly into the shipping cup and never transfer from one receptacle to another any raspberries that are to be shipped. Have a separate cup cannery berries. Throw away any berries showing decay. Do not put one over-ripe berry in the shipping cup as it will spoil the rest and the market condition of the whole crate will be ruined.

3. Berries should not be picked while the bushes are damp, either from dew, rain or fog, except for cannery purposes.

4. See that the cups are filled to the top.

Pickers must not pinch the berries, nor hold them in the hand to be crushed. The berry should be taken firmly between the fore-finger and the thumb, with a lateral twist removed from the core and placed directly in the shipping cup. Pinching makes a red discoloration after the berry has been on the market a few days, which is followed by premature softening and decay.

5. As soon as picked place the cups in a cool place. Never allow berries to stand in the sun or dust after being picked. For express shipments cool the berries to 60° by fanning with night air and ship the following morning.

The General Delivery of Post Office will be open July 1st from 4:30 to 5:30 only.

CENSUS BUREAU ISSUES GRAIN REPORT

In a bulletin issued to-day by the Census and Statistics Office preliminary estimates are given of the areas sown to the principal grain crops in Canada as well as reports on their condition according to returns made by crop-reporting correspondents on June 1.

The reports show that throughout the Maritime provinces seeding was delayed though the lateness of the spring. In Ontario and Quebec the condition of grain is generally satisfactory, notwithstanding a long spell of dry weather; in many places however the meadows were beginning to suffer from effects of drought. Condition throughout the west were reported as generally favourable, though rains would be welcome especially in Manitoba and southern Alberta.

The total area under wheat in Canada is provisionally estimated at 11,208,500 acres, or 188,800 acres more than in 1913. The area under spring wheat is reported as 10,230,500 acres, or 185,500 acres more than in 1913, and the area expected to be harvested of fall wheat is 978,300 acres or 3,300 acres more than last year. The acreage of oats is placed at 10,811,000 acres as compared with 10,484,000 acres last year an increase of 327,000 acres. Barley occupy 1,604,000 acres, or 9,000 acres, less than last year and rye 111,070 acres as compared with 119,300 acres last year. The estimated area under hay and clover is 8,206,000 acres as compared with 8,169,000 acres in 1913.

In the three Northwest provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the total wheat area is estimated at 10,247,400 acres as compared with 10,030,000 acres in 1913; that of oats at 6,683,000 acres as compared with 5,792,000 acres in 1913; that of barley at 1,041,000 acres as compared with 1,022,000 acres in 1913. These differences represent increases of 211,400 acres for wheat, 294,000 acres for oats and 10,000 acres for barley; of a total increase of 525,400 acres for the three crops as compared with 1913. The wheat area in Manitoba is somewhat less than last year, viz: 2,788,000 acres as compared with 2,804,000 acres in 1913. In Saskatchewan the area under wheat is 5,848,300 acres as compared with 5,720,000 acres, and in Alberta it is 1,611,100 acres against 1,512,000 acres.

On June 1 the condition of field crops, measured by a standard in which 100 represents the promise of a full crop was very favourable. The points are as follows: Fall wheat 79, spring wheat 83, all wheat 91, oats and barley 82, rye 80, peas 82, mixed grains 83, hay and clover 80, alfalfa 88 and pastures 90.

The present Lessee, Editor and manager of the Creston Review, A. B. S. Stanley begs to state that he has not been responsible in any way for the sending out of notices threatening court procedure for delinquent subscribers. He has only had to do with this paper since July 1st 1913.

At the same time he would appreciate it if those who owe from that time would come in to see him about the matter as it costs considerable to get out the paper and money is scarce.

make appointments of parasites whose only ability is to acclaim their allegiance to the party in favor now.

Mr. George Bury vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company upon being asked for his opinion of the present financial stringency and as to what he thought the future had in store said: "There is no financial stringency of consequence, the present trouble being that people are timid as to investments. I am firmly of the opinion that conditions will improve shortly but no one can make more than a guess as to when this will occur and if I were guessing I should say that the change will be felt this fall. It is my experience that such a stringency as that through which the country is passing which was about a year of bad times. The people have become timid with regard to investment and when sufficient time has elapsed to eradicate the effects of recent difficulties, there will be a marked improvement. As far as the C. P. R. is concerned we believe that the destiny to which the potentialities of Western Canada entitles her, must be realised through diversified farming. We have established twenty-five demonstration farms on the prairies and are also supplying stock of all kinds to settlers on the easiest terms. In short, we are doing everything we can to encourage the people in the direction of mixed farming and we have found that there is a growing tendency to go from the purely grain to mixed farming."

Continuing Mr. Bury stated that the greatest problem of today at least in Canada and the United States was to get the people back on the soil. The solution is to try to make farming more profitable and pleasant.

In one of the prairie cities recently there was a demonstration of unemployed, whilst at the same time there were demands on farms nearby for 3,000 men. The railroads tried to meet the problem by making the low rate of one cent per mile but only 600 or 700 took advantage of the offer. Personally I have not been quite long enough on the coast to know whether you have an unemployment question, but the papers have referred to it so I presume that something of the same

What a change has come over the churches. Fifteen years ago no one would have dreamed of a religious convention passing resolutions other than those dealing directly with spiritual affairs. Today these conventions are dealing assessments, the initiative and referendum and a host of other questions which in other days were popularly supposed to belong altogether to the realm of practical politics. It is a sign of the times and the sign is a good one, so long as these themes are discussed in a non-partizan way. —Calgary Herald.

Bears have this spring done considerable damage to the prospectors' buildings on Springer creek and other camps in the district. They break into cabins looking for food. Through bonhead legislation the bears are protected, and the prospector doesn't count. He doesn't wear horns or a hide that would attract hunters of large game, and all mining and game legislation in recent years in this province appears to have had but one object in view—to drive the prospector out of the country and make our forests a preserve for the professional big game hunter and tourist.—Slocan Record

Yes and the Creston Review would go further and say that as long as the present system continues, which hands over the administration of the laws to the pack of pinheaded party-nominees now in power, the prospector, or the farmer or the Canadian resident will have no look-in on game or land or anything else. The government has good men all over who would properly administer the laws but it seems more fashionable to

CANADA AND THE BRITISH EMPIRE

It is interesting to be told that a very considerable majority of the British people are determined that there must be no interference with us in our dealings with the question of immigration to Canada from other parts of the empire. The surprising thing to Canadians is that it should be considered necessary to mention this fact at all.

Downing street dominion of, or interference in, the government of the overseas dominions is something we imagine was so very much dead that it had ceased even to be a memory. Apparently there are still some people in Great Britain who labor under the delusion that the dominions should be instructed in matters of internal government from empire headquarters, but those people are in such meagre minority and are in such meager minority and are characters so well understood by Canadians that it is not necessary to waste cable tolls telling us how little weight their opinions carry. With reference to India, Great Britain has a difficult problem in the way of government to solve, and it must be admitted that Canada's refusal to permit the landing of Hindu immigrants has most likely further complicated that problem. But the blame for this lies less with Canada than it does with the home government.

It is not inconceivable that, had the colonial office been as closely in touch with affairs as it should have been the Hindu excursion party now making trouble for Canada and the British government off the Pacific coast at Vancouver would never have set sail for the east. In some respects, with all the troubles it has at home, the task of empire management seems to be a little bit too much for the Asquith aggregation.—Calgary Herald.

HOW LONG WILL THEY HOLD THEIR PLACES

The above is the latest photograph of President Huerta. He is shown herewith on the left with his Minister of War, General Blanquet. They hold on the Destiny of the Mexican Republic as to slipping at a rapid pace. Harassed by internal strife with Carranza and Villa who holds many important towns in Northern Mexico, and Zapata and his followers occupying many places in Southern Mexico, some of them uncomfortably near the Capitol, Huerta has all he can do to maintain his present position. As though he did not have enough trouble on hand, a fresh and more serious difficulty is now facing him, and which if he continues his present stand, will result in war with the United States. Huerta while serving Madero was not known as a man of means. He is now worth, it is said, about $1,000,000 and we wonder how much more he wants to "gather" before he takes his long delayed trip to Paris.

The members of the Fernie Ladies' Orange lodge are also expected. The committee in charge is arranging a program of athletic events which will include a horse race.
