THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1920 No. 3

Canyon City

Eric Olson left a few days ago for Spokane, where he intends spending a short holiday with his daughter, who resides in that city.

I. N. Rhodes got a sudden call east the middle of last week, to visit his father, whose health is rather precarious at the present time.

The flu epidemic with its several-other trouble accompaniment has now passed its worst stage and all those afflicted are recovering nicely, except the young son of Axel Bergren, who is at the Creston hospital, and who is making a desperate fight for life due to double pneumonia.

The soft weather prevailing at present has put a crimp in log hauling for the present. Enough timber, however, is now stacked in the yard to keep the mill running until June.

Lou Faulkner, mill foreman, accompanied by Mrs. Faulkner and family, left last week for Florida, where they will spend an extended holiday with Mrs. Faulkner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Huscroft.

A portable sawmill outfit was hauled through here last week, en route to Lister, where it will be set up to cut about twelve million feet of standing timber, recently acquired from the Alexander interests.

Alfred Spencer who has been here from Nelson since the first of the month due to Mrs. Spencer's serious attack of the flu, is now able to take his new position with the Fruit Growers Union at Creston. The Wood family had a hard seige of illness, Mr. Wood being taken just a couple of days prior to his intended trip to Victoria for the United Farmers' convention.

Leslie McInnes, edgerman at the mill, is taking a few days enforced holiday at present. He got a couple of ribs rather badly fractured in a mishap at the mill a few days since.

Mr. Anderson, who recently purchased the old John Crawford ranch, is haying the house considerable improved and enlarged before taking possession.

Five cars of timber and a car of iron have just arrived for the high level bridge. The false work is now about half in place and this feature of the job should be completed in another week. With it done and the material here good progress should then be made in erecting the baidge proper. Foreman Campbell is using a crew of about ten men at present—about all that can be worked comfortably.

At a recent meeting of the memorial committee it was definitely decided that the memorial to the Canyon men killed in the great war should take the form of two red maple trees, which will be planted in the school ground, and at the foot of which, on a cement base, bronze tablets suitably inscribed will be placed. Generally speaking this idea of a memorial is approved by all and it is expected the funds on hand will be ample to complete the whole undertaking in good shape.

Sawmill at Lister

Victoria, March 12.—Agricultural pursuits are not the only commercial interests of the returned soldier settlers at camp Lister, near Creston. Questions placed upon the order paper reveal the knowledge that the veterans are entering the lumbering business in earnest, the government having taken over two sections of timber land at a cost of approximately $32,000. Operations were carried on during the winter months.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, in charge of the soldier settlement work in British Columbia, stated to The Province this morning that a completely equipped mill had been installed, and the product was being used for buildings at Camp Lister. It had been found almost impossible to secure the necessary lumber for this work and it was found advisable to permit the veterans settling there to conduct a mill themselves. He said logs are being laid down at the mill ready for cutting at $4.60 per 1000. Some of the cut would be used in connection with the development of the Fernie area, development of which settlement had been discontinued last fall, but would be resumed shortly.

The timber acquired, stated Mr. Barrow, was a splendid stand, and it would be possible for the veterans in the settlement to carry on work for some time during the winter period when it was difficult to continue regular work of clearing. As fast as the land was cleared, it would be available for agricultural purposes, title being vested in the crown. This would mean the extension of the present 7000 acres area by nearly 1300 acres.

The Story of Royal Household Flour

In the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and two
The Prince of Wales and his retinue
Left Britain's shore in bold relief
For the glorious land of the maple leaf.
The Spanish Armada, it is said,
Would have envied the trip of this royal head.
But its not my intention at this late hour
To further discuss this royal tour;
But rather comment, if Nature wills,
On the Prince of Wales and the Ogilvie mills.
Mr. Ogilvie said: "It is a treat,
Your royal highness thus to meet,
And if you can but spare an hour
I will show you the home of the Ogilvie flour."
Then, with a guide, through the mills they went—
The prince and the vice-president.
The verdict was that he'd ne'er been
In a mammoth mill so neat and clean;
And, later on, through the royal mails
He christened this flour the "Prince of Wales."
Then W. F. Thompson, it is said,
Presented the prince with a fine moose head.
And for a few years this closes the scene—
Till the Prince of Wales became Britain's king.
When the prince became king, with his sceptre in hand,
His thoughts wandered back to the maple leaf land,
To the day, when as prince on his royal tour,
He was first made aware of the Ogilvie flour.
"I think," said the king, "it is but fair,
To change the name of this flour so rare."
This royal mandate thus I bring:
"Millers to His Majesty the King."
Then, as a sequel to this tour,
They named it "Royal Household Flour."
So now, young and old, this story you tell
To Mr. and Mrs. wherever they dwell.
And remember the words of the Quaker who said,
"Do what good you can now, before you are dead."
To make a long life, and a late golden hour,
Eat only the bread made from Ogilvie's flour.

$220,000 Spent

Victoria, March 12.—In answer to questions asked by the leader of the opposition the minister of agriculture on Thursday answered that the total amount of money placed at the disposal of the Land Settlement Board by the government was $1,475,503. The cost of the Merville settlement to date was $363,806; Camp Lister at Creston, $219,168. The Fernie area had cost $20,713; Telkwa, $30,820; Vanderhoof, $74,334; Marten Lake, $10,976; Prince George, $45,613. The Sumas dyking project was said to have cost to date $30,125.

Reference was made on the order paper to the resignation of Col. Lister, who as superintendent of the soldier settlement named after himself had received a salary of $200 per month. He was stated to have resigned because the salary was inadequate.

Local and Personal

Yesterday was the 17th of March, and it was the first St. Patrick's Day in years that Creston has missed celebrating in some shape or form. The local Catholic Club, who had appropriated the date for a concert and dance had to abandon their entertain ment due to the prevalence of flu, but will give it at an early date.

The stage is all set for an early spring. The robins have been with us for several weeks now, while last week the meadow lark smade their appearance, and on Monday reliable citizens report seeing a number of bluebirds. Pussy willows and even some of the cherry and plum trees would seem to only require a very few warm days to bring them into bloom.

Four cars of timber and a car of iron for the new high level bridge at Canyon were unloaded the latter part of the week. With the false work about in shape and with the timber and iron now available it will not be long before the superstructive of the bridge will be getting along toward completion. The approach to the bridge will have the first attention of the road crew this season.

Traffic to Corn Creek and other points accross the Kootenay was out of the question a few days the early part of the week. Sometime during Sunday night or Monday morning the Kootenay River ferry sank at the moorings, and a couple of days were required to put the scow back into commission. A new ferry is expected to be installed this season, at the new location opposite Goat River bridge.

G. H. Robinson of Nelson, Dominion fishery inspector for Kootenay, paid Creston an official visit on Tuesday, coming here from Wynndel, where he had made an inspection of the fish ladder the C.P.R. has just installed in its big concrete culvert at Duck Creek. Mr. Robinson figures the ladder will readily enable fish to get into the higher reaches of the creek, something that was impossible before the ladder was installed.

A bit of burglary was executed at the Mercantile Co. store some time on Friday night or Saturday morning when a quantity of jack knives, Ingersoll watches, a few clocks, some clothing and about $10 in cash was made off with—the total steal running to possibly $100. It would appear to have been an amateurish affair as just for the adventure, as only one drawer in the cash register was emptied; a matter of $20 in the other two compartments being overlooked entirely.

Kootenay flats reclamation will be discussed at the Dominion convention of the G.W.V.A., which opens at Montreal on Monday. Creston Local has passed a resolution calling on the federal authorities to wake up the U.S. reclamation service so as to get the joint board of engineers busy at once on the finish-up engineering features. Mrs. Garland Foster, who is at the convention representing Nelson, will present the Creston resolution, and as she is a speaker of ability and well posted on the project it is confidently expected the convention will favorably consider the resolution from here.

The latest ranch sale was consummated on Saturday, when Messrs. Norris and Wood of Medicine Hat purchased the Stace Smith ranch at Alice Siding. The buy includes 16 acres, much of which is in bearing orchard, at a price of $10,000. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family left on Tuesday for Victoria, where they will reside in future. Mr. Smith is one of the quite early rancher settlers in the Valley and while all will regret their departure it is hoped the change will benefit Mr. Smith who has been partially helpless for several months due to a stroke.

Begone Dull Care

It is not often we have the pleasure of hearing an artist of the calibre of Leslie Grossmith in Creston. The fact that so famous an English actor is to be with us next Friday will be sufficient to attract a capacity audience to the Peekin Theatre without question, and doubtless other engagements will be put on one side in order to make this a rousing and brilliant welcome. The entertainment offered is of a wide range—from classical music to nonsense songs and humorous character sketches. Miss Marguerite Hall, a young and charming soprano, will appear in popular and beautiful songs, and the concert is to be followed by a dance with special music, the whole forming an entertainment of unsurpassable excellence,

March Brides

The home of Mr, and Mrs. Albert Stewart was the scene of a quiet house wedding on Thursday morning, when the former's brother, Ronald H. Stewart, son of Mr, and Mrs. Robt. Stewart, was united in marrirge with Mrs. Louise DeVilliers, who has but recently come here from Calgary. Alta. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. T. McCord, in the presence of a few of the intimate friends. The bride's costume was of white satin trimmed with white Irish lace, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms. The young couple were unattended, and after the ceremony the wedding party sat down to sumptuous wedding dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside for the present in apartments in the Grany Block. The groom, who saw oversens service of almost two years with a forestry corps is quite well-known and many friends extend heartiest good wishes for future happiness and prosperity.

Rev. T. McCord officiated at another of these happy events on Tuesday evening of last week, when Mr. Theirstein of Nelson and Miss Walker of Castor, Alta., were quietly married here, the groom coming this far to meet the bride and had the ceremony performed before getting back to Nelson where they will reside, and for which city they left the next day.

For 1920 educational facilities at Fernie will cost $12,000 more than in 1919.

Unless pupils have been vaccinated they will be unable to attend school at Fernie after the middle of April.

Owing to the greatly diminished trade it is likely the government will shortly close the customs office at Greenwood.

$2.50 per trip is paid for hauling the children to the north part of Slocan Forks to attend the central school in that town.

Kitchener

Geo. Begg, canter at the Cranbrook Sash & Door Co. mill, spent a few days last week with friends at Medicine Hat, Alta.

Mr. Woodman was a week-ene visitor with friends at Cranbrook, returning on Monday.

Report has it that Hunt & Day are busy on plans for a new store to be erected on Bennett Aye. Their present premises are too small even for trade at present, and with the prospect of much biggrr business new premises are inevitable.

Z. Geroux was host at a dance at the Kitchener Hotel on Saturday night, following the raffle of his team of horses earlier in the evening. The tickets were $2 each and the raffle netted him about $300. Joe. Dubie was the winner of the horses, and will utilize them for a time bringing down his season's catch of furs.

Hunt & Day also had a raffle followed by a dance at the hotel the previous Saturday, the raffle being on a saddle horse, which was won by Roy Burk at the Schonnert camp; and a camera which Billy Johnson was lucky enough to land.

The Sash & Door Co. are utilizing all the available teams on the lumber haul to take the best advantage of the sleighing which is now pretty well done. Mr. Schonnert is equally busy finishing up his logging contract with the Paulson Co. while the slipping holds.

Jndging by the savory odors encountered at meal time the high cost of living cuts no figure at Castle Thoreson, since Tom took Ed. Hanson in as partner and star boarder a few days ago. As a chef Tom bids fair to outdo Joe. Dubie's reputation as a trapper.

The employees at the Sash & Door Co. will shortly be quartered in high class hotel style. The firm have just taken delivery of a shipment of mattresses and springs wherewith to equip the bunkhouses, and as soon as the weather will permit a bath house and laundry for the accommodation of the men will be put in.

Wynndel

The C.P.R. crew that has been here putting in a fish ladder in Duck Creek culvert pulled out on a freight on Thursday morning.

Ed. Butterfield spent the week-end at Balfour visiting friends.

Mrs. Laing and Mr. J. P. Brooke spent a few days in Nelson this week, returning on Wednesday.

We hear that R. Uri is now sole owner of the Uri Bros. place on the flats, and that E. Uri is going to improe and build on the Cory place he recently secured from W. J. Cooper.

Owing to the light snowfall this winter a lot of slashing has been done around here and it is expected a lot of new land will be under cultivation this spring. Several shipments of stumping powder have already arriyed for some of the ranchers.

All the concert expenses having settled up $32.75 has been turned over to F. F. Packman for the use of the social committee of the Wynndel Local of the United Farmers of B.C.

Miss R. Hagen left on Tuesday for Sandon where she expects to remain for a month or so. She was accompanied by E. Uri who went as far as Castlegar to look up some timber for his new house.

There is to be a dance at the school-house on Saturday night under the auspices of the United Farmers. Good floor and good music. Everybody welcome Gents 25 cents. Ladies please bring refreshments.

C. K. Robinson, district fishery inspector, of Nelson, was a business visitor here on Monday looking over the fish ladder just put in at Duck Creek culvert by the C.P.R. He went on to Creston in the afternoon.

BABY COVERED WITH ECZEMA

When 4 Days Old. Cross and Cried. Cuticura Heals.

"My baby brother had eczema which began when he was about four days old. It came in little pimples and then a rash, and he was covered. He was so cross that he could not sleep, and he cried.

"This lasted about two months before we used Cuticura. It helped him, so we bought more, and he was all healed after we had used two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment." (Signed) Miss Almeda Williams, Youngs Cove, N. B., May 22, 1918.

The Exchange Problem

No one question is commanding such widespread interest in all countries as the problem of equalizing rates of international exchange. It is a problem which first engaged the attention of financiers and governments. Soon, however, it called for the careful consideration of all mercantile houses, manufacturers, and others engaged in large enterprises doing an international business. Now it is a matter of concern to every individual purchaser. It has now reached that acute stage where it is influencing politics, international and domestic, and is vitally affecting all channels of trade and commerce. In the newspaper press, reviews, and in private conversation it has eclipsed even discussions of the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations.

So far as Canada is concerned, our money is at a premium in practically every country but the United States, where it stands at a very serious discount. British money is at a discount in both Canada and the United States, so, too, is French, Belgium, Italian, German and other foreign currencies. The United States alone enjoys the distinction of having its money at a premium in all countries, while Canada comes second with its money at a discount only in the United States.

Canada has always purchased more extensively in the United States than that country has in Canada. In other words, our imports from the States have always exceeded our exports to that country. On the other hand, our exports to Great Britain have always exceeded our imports from the Old Land. In former years we have, therefore, been able to liquidate our "adverse balance" in the United States by British funds on New York; that is, we paid our debts in the States with money which Britain owed to us.

At the present time we cannot do this because, while Great Britain and other European countries owe Canada far more than this country owes the United States, they are not in a position to pay us in cash or in securities negotiable in the States, because we have been forced to sell to them on credit on the one hand, and on the other they, too, owe the States large sums in excess of what the States owe them.

Therefore, while waiting for that time when Europe will be able to pay Canada what it owes us, we must pay the United States what we owe it either in gold or in goods. In the three years 1917, 1918 and 1919 Canada bought goods from the United States to a total of one billion dollars in excess of the value of the goods sold by us to the States. Notwithstanding this heavy debt to the United States, the American Exchange National Bank of New York estimates that Canada has a favorable balance with the whole world of over $500,000,000.

In the meantime, and until Canada can collect from other countries, there is only one of two ways, or a combination of both, whereby Canada can right her balance with the United States. (1) By buying less from the United States than in the past, and buying more at home and from Great Britain, France and other countries; and (2) by producing in Canada in larger quantities those things which the United States will buy from us, and energetically proceeding to sell such goods across the line.

The fact that the Canadian dollar has at present a purchasing power of only 80 or 85 cents in the United States will, in itself, operate to discourage Canadian buying there, while the fact that our dollar will buy more than a dollar's worth of goods in Great Britain will encourage heavier purchases there. This will help to right exchange conditions between Canada and the United States, and will also help the Motherland. From the purely Canadian standpoint, however, the main thing is that our people should produce in ever increasing volume those things which are in demand in the United States and which we can most easily and profitably export to that country.

At the same time, the Ottawa Government would be well advised at the approaching session of Parliament if it loses no time in adopting the policy advocated for so many years by the farmers of the West and increase the preference accorded to British goods under the tariff to fifty per cent. This would greatly assist Great Britain to enlarge her sales in Canada, and, to the extent that she does so, to replace United States goods, thus assisting both Canada and Britain. It would likewise result in a lowering of Customs taxation on the masses of the Canadian consuming public.

Close American observers of conditions are becoming alarmed over the prospect of losing a considerable part of their Canadian business—Canada is the best customer the United States has—and leading financial men there are urging adoption of a policy which will have the effect of raising the value of the Canadian dollar across the line back to par.

Canadians, however, should not depend on United States action, but should by hard work and unremitting energy increase production in all lines, and thereby enormously increase their export trade to the United States, and thus offset their heavy purchases of needed commodities from that country. And the Ottawa Government should encourage and assist in this work by substantially lowering, or altogether removing, the tariff on all implements of production, coupling therewith a larger tariff preference to British goods.

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little one out for an airing The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms, takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little one healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CURE YOUR COLD WITHOUT MEDICINE

Just Breathe "Catarrhozone." Its Balsamic Vapor Does the Rest

It's a tiny germ that sets up the irritation that makes colds so disagreeable. Colds die quickly if Catarrhozone is used, simply because the vapor of Catarrhozone instantly destroys the germ that keeps the cold alive.

Every breath you draw through the inhaler fills the whole breathing apparatus with pure piney essences that stop colds at their very beginning. You experience a pleasant sensation of relief at once. Soreness, congestion and irritation leave the nose and throat, the head is cleared, and every trace of cold or catarrh is cured. Catarrhozone is so sure, so pleasant, such a safe remedy for winter ills, that you can't afford to do without it. Get the dollar outfit; it lasts two months and is guaranteed to cure. Small size 50c; trial size 25c, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

The Disappointing Peace

This is not the peace whose hope sustained us through the dark days of the war. The new world that we thought we were making then is still unformed; the spirit of international rivalry and distrust is not safely chained up; and instead of a world animated by the ideal of common good, we have a world, partly distracted by the rivalry between the fiercely opposing principles of constitutional progress and partisan tyranny, partly affecting an indifference towards this issue which it cannot really feel, and indulging the old hopes of political isolation that broke down so completely during the war.

A good many moving spectacles are due to heartless landlords.

Drilling For Oil and Gas in Southwestern Saskatchewan

East End, in southwestern Saskatchewan, on the C. P. R. Branch line, known as the Lethbridge-Weyburn line, promises to be the centre of oil and gas drilling. Negotiations have been completed by the Imperial Oil Company for the purchase of the oil drilling outfit there with a view, after a geological survey has been made in the spring, to explore possibilities for oil and gas. East End is also known as Frenchman's Creek and White Mud on account of the peculiar nature of the soil there. It is the centre of large pottery works.

Long Promised Home Rule Bill Is Presented

London.—The bill for Irish home rule long promised by the government, was presented in the House of Commons here. The first reading was of the title alone, and was a mere formality, preliminary to taking up the measure proper.

The present bill, it is understood, adheres fairly closely to the measure as outlined by Premier Lloyd George in the House on December 22 last. The government project centres on setting up two parliaments in Ireland, one for the south and one for the north.

Home rule, as the government hopes to give it to Ireland, is based primarily upon the declaration of the Premier in his December speech that Great Britain cannot accept separation, but the largest opportunity will be given to the Irish people to unite on the constitution of parliament in the course of time, which will embrace Ireland as a whole.

For the north of Ireland the area embraced will probably include the six counties mentioned by the Premier in his original outline, with possibly some slight modifications, as a consequence of which the northern parliament will be a very much smaller body than the southern organization.

One of the fundamental features of the bill has always been a council representing the two parliaments, and it is understood that this council will derive its powers from the two bodies which will be responsible for its selection. The proposed legislatures will have extensive powers, and also representation in the imperial parliament.

Such matters as education, local government, agriculture, transportation, municipal affairs, insurance and the collection of taxes will be under the control of these two legislatures, while matters of more serious import to the empire, such as foreign affairs, defence, navigation and the higher judiciary, are reserved for the decision of the imperial government.

Mr. Lloyd George announced that the proceeds of land annuities in Ireland would be given as a free gift to the two parliaments, and estimated that this would amount to 3,000,000 pounds for the year. This sum, or other industrial provision, will be made for the maintenance of the parliaments, if the government's bill is accepted.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CLEANED OUT HIS RHEUMATISM

He Found in the Old Canadian Remedy Relief That the Hospitals of Egypt Could Not Give.

Cape St. George, Nfld., March 1. —(Special.)—Eugene Cornect, keeper of the light and fog alarm here, and who was overseas with the Newfoundland forces, is a firm believer in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a help for kidney disease and rheumatism.

"For two years I suffered from kidney disease and rheumatism," Mr. Cornect states. "I was treated for them in the hospitals in Egypt. But it was five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills that cured me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely a kidney remedy. By putting the kidneys in shape to strain all the impurities out of the blood they remove the uric acid, the cause of rheumatism. With the kidneys cleansing the blood, there can be no uric acid to crystallize in the muscles and cause those excruciating pains known as rheumatism. Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Buy U.S. Army Cars

London.—The Evening News says that an English firm of motor car agents has completed a deal with the American government for virtually all the cars used by the American army on the Rhine. The transaction, the newspaper asserts, involves between £1,500,000 and £2,000,000.

Another Epidemic OF THE SPANISH INFLUENZA

A great many authorities have predicted a return of that terrible plague which swept Canada from one end to the other not long ago and left so many deaths in its wake, and those who did survive were left in a great many cases with some serious after-effect, such as weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and a general weakened and exhausted condition of the system.

If you are run down, heart not just right, nerves a little shaky, take a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and fortify the system against this terrible plague.

If you had the "Flu" before and it left you with any bad after effect, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring you back to health and strength.

Mrs. C. C. Palmer, Keppel, Sask., writes: "I wish to inform you of the great good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. After a bad attack of the Spanish influenza my heart and nerves were left in a very bad condition. I got two boxes of your pills and must say they are the best I ever used, and I have taken a great many different kinds. I will always keep Heart and Nerve Pills in the house."

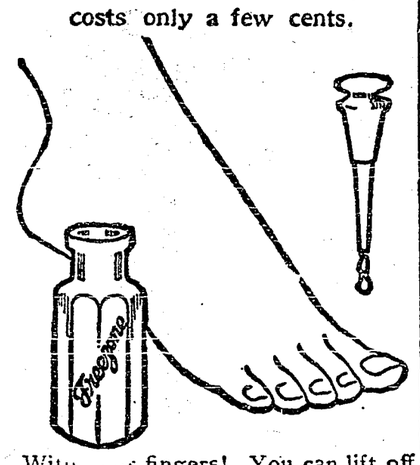
Capture of Vladivostok By Social Revolutionaries Causes Halt in Business

New York.—Trade between the United States and Siberia, which bade fair to run into the millions, has been suspended as a result of the capture of Vladivostok by Social Revolutionaries.

Thousands of dollars worth of furs are reported to be in Vladivostok awaiting shipment to the United States.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.



With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Women shouldn't cry; it's more picturesque to sob.

The Cause of Heart Trouble

Faulty digestion causes the generation of gases in the stomach which inflate and press down on the heart and interfere with its regular action, causing faintness and pain. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup after meals sets digestion right, which allows the heart to beat full and regular.

What Wonder Health Restorer Does for Suffering Humanity

THOUSANDS THROUGHOUT ALBERTA AND CANADA CURED OF TERRIBLE DISEASES BY THIS WONDERFUL HEALTH-RESTORING REMEDY

Well-Known Edmonton Man Cured of Tuberculosis in Six Months

George Harris, Calgary.

"I have recommended your Wonder Health Restorer to over a hundred people here for what it has done for me. I got so low with Tuberculosis that leading doctors only gave me six months to live, saying I was a hopeless case. Being run down to 100 pounds, I gave up all hope of recovering. Hearing of this wonderful cure, I decided to try it, and after taking it for six months, I was completely cured and gained over fifty pounds. — Yours gratefully. Chas. M. Hamilton.

11222 90th Street, Edmonton, Alta.

Prominent Alberta Minister Cured of Stomach Trouble

Mr. George Harris, Calgary, Alta.

Dear Sir,—For several years I have had a form of stomach trouble, which at times has caused me great suffering and which impaired my general health. Since taking your medicine I have been relieved in such a satisfactory way that I do not hesitate to recommend it as a tonic for building up one's health. — Yours very truly, (Rev.) H. D. Marr.

Prominent Champion Citizen Cured of an Ulcerated Stomach

Mr. A. S. Roberts, gents' furnisher, Champion, Alberta, writes to say that after a six months' treatment of Wonder Health Restorer he has been completely cured of ulceration of the stomach, from which he suffered for years. Previous to taking Wonder Cure he had been treated by the best medical men on the Continent of America. He recommends the Wonder Health Restorer to all sufferers.

After 35 Years of Suffering, Calgarian Cured of Bronchial Asthma

George Harris, Herbalist, Calgary.

Dear Sir,—Having been a sufferer for thirty-five years of this terrible disease called Bronchial Asthma, and having tried all kinds of remedies and hospital treatments without relief, I gave up hope. I was advised to try Wonder Health Restorer, and I did so, and after taking five months' treatment I am glad to say I feel a new man. It is sure a wonderful cure. —I remain, yours thankfully,

T. E. Hughes.

Popular C.P.R. Conductor Cured of Inflammatory Rheumatism

George Harris, Calgary.

Dear Sir,—In May of last year I was stricken with Inflammatory Rheumatism and suffered terribly from it. I tried various remedies, bake-ovens and the like, but with only temporary relief, and the rheumatism kept getting worse. At last I tried Wonder Health Restorer, and am glad to say that now the pains have all left me and I feel strong again and my original self.—Yours very truly,

James Maxwell.

All Trade In Foreign Bonds Now Prohibited

Toronto, Ont. — An embargo on trading in stocks, bombs, or other securities, from countries outside Canada, will go into effect immediately. This drastic action has been taken by the financial interests of the Dominion at the request of Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, in order to protect the home security market.

Trading with American exchanges for cash will thus come to an end for the time being, though there is no restriction against buying on margins, except that imposed by adverse exchange. Action was forced by the flooding of the Canadian market with bonds and stocks from Britain, under which the sellers reaped a handsome profit owing to the premium on the Canadian dollar.

In a statement issued by the bond dealers' association, intimation was given that action will be taken to prevent the importation of non-essentials, especially from the United States, and that the issuance of new securities for non-essential purposes in Canada would be discouraged.

Agents of American manufacturers in Toronto, who learned of the proposed new restrictions, were greatly agitated and anxious for information as to the probable course of parliament.

Madrid. — Thirty houses and a church have been destroyed by a tornado which swept over the town of Benicarlo, on the eastern coast of Spain, 80 miles northeast of Valencia.

Russian War Loss

Libau.—Russian Soviet newspapers received here estimated the Russian losses through the war at 32,000,000,000 rubles. The Russian newspaper says the country is unable to export anything at the present time, but on the other hand finds it necessary to import provisions valued at one billion rubies.

Calgary, Alberta.

Gentlemen,—I take great pleasure in adding my testimony to so many others which you have received in favor of Koalore. I can truthfully say it is a saving of fifty per cent. on the coal bills. I tried it in my stove at home just out of curiosity, and I was agreeably surprised at the result. I found that after treating my coal with Koalore that I had to use only half the amount of coal and I got more heat with no smoke and no smell, and I found it so easily applied to the coal I would not be without it, as I consider it has cut my coal bill in half.

Dear Sir,—We have thoroughly tested Koalore and have much pleasure in recommending its use.

We obtained very satisfactory results with both Steam and Lump Coal; we also found that it not only saves in coal used, but also produces an intense heat.

It the public would get familiar with its use before next winter, I am sure that it will not only save them money, but they would get far better results.

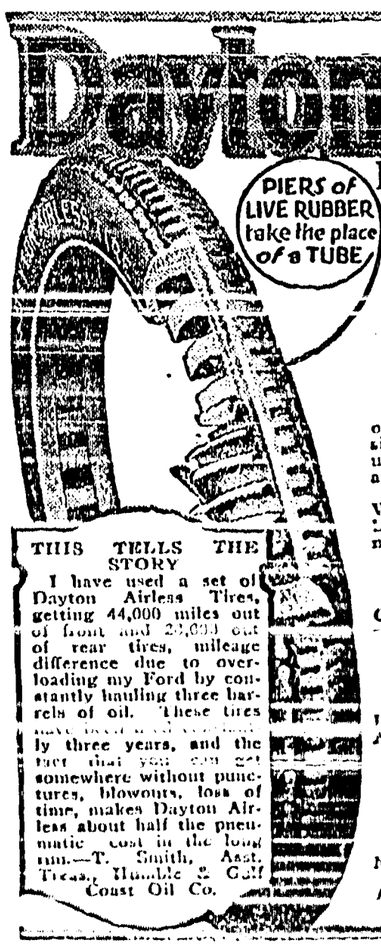
DAYTON AIRLESS



THIS TELLS THE STORY

I have used a set of Dayton Airless Tires, getting 44,000 miles out of front and 25,000 out of rear tires, mileage difference due to overloading my Ford by constantly hauling three barrels of oil. These tires have lasted nearly three years, and the fact that you can get somewhere without punctures, blowouts, loss of time, makes Dayton Airless about half the pneumatic cost in the long run.—T. Smith, Asst. Treas., Humble & Gulf Coast Oil Co.

Puncture Proof AND Easy Riding

Put Dayton Airless Tires on your car now and forget punctures, blowouts, pumps and patches. Seven years of service has proven their success and reliability. Over 100,000 are in use today. They don't bounce like a tight pneumatic nor d-r-a-g like a loose, pneumatic. They are easy riding—and wear till there's nothing left but shreds.

EQUIP YOUR FORD

THE CRESTON REVIEW

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAR. 19

Delivered the Goods.

The departure this month of R. B. Staples and J. W. Hamilton from the positions of manager and accountant, respectively, of Creston Fruit Growers' Union, means the disappearance from that institution of two men who in their respective capacities have done more to stabilize and popularize co-operative selling and buying at this end of Creston Valley than might offhand be manifest.

With all due respect to their predecessors in those positions and the, possibly, more trying times in which they had charge, the fact remains that Messrs. Staples and Hamilton took hold of the Union at a time when it was practically bankrupt and the securing of products for marketing no easy task in view of disastrous prices previously obtained thru this selling agency, the uncertain payments of monies due, to say nothing of several thousand dollars owing ranchers on previous seasons' trading.

To have—in four seasons—wiped out the arrears to growers along with a few thousand of back debts owing wholesale concerns as well; to have paid off a mortgage loan of another $1000 on the Union property on Canyon Road; to have taken care as they came due of all the accounts since then, and at the same time accumulate a cash surplus of over $7000 is the most effective way to convince of the efficient work these gentlemen have accomplished. Money talks, and in Union affairs it has had the historical "two talks"; the ranchers have the cash in their bank accounts and the Union now has a financial rating hard to beat.

On the excellent financial results, while the major portion of the credit will fairly be accorded Mr. Hamilton for his result-getting collection system, Manager Staples is also to be commended for wise judgment invariably shown in picking and choosing customers.

Too, in any discussion of the financial feature of Union affairs it is Mr. Hamilton's just due to remark that he enjoys the unbounded confidence of all who do business with the organization—a confidence that has always been justly merited, as a Hamilton statement in writing has never yet been found to check up wrong, while in his verbal observations he has the knack of striking the happy medium between undue optimism and any unwarranted feeling in an opposite direction—and growers' statements always reflected his opinions to a nicety.

In like measure Mr. Staples had the faculty of buoying up the spirits of his clients in times of sugar shortage and flu epidemics that badly shot the market to pieces, and taking things by and large rarely sized the situation up wrong one way or the other.

In addition to selling the Union output on the highest market and buying the growers' supplies at the lowest prices, Mr. Staples' residence in the Valley qualified him to handle marketing affairs in a way that worked out to advantage. For instance, knowing most of the growers would be busy at haying about the time the Wealthy and McIntosh Red apples would be moving, he was successful in selling these varieties domestic pack at prices that no other district in B. C. realized.

Besides the satisfactory financial features to Mr. Staples' management, in his four years in control great improvement has been shown in the quality of the pack of Union marketed fruit, which has brought with it the inevitable increased demand for the local orchard product.

Another Union triumph that may be directly attributed to him is a very considerable widening of the market on which there is a call for Creston goods. Previous residence in Manitoba gave him some acquaintance with the trade in that province which he utilized so ably that for 1919 the sales of Creston apples, particularly, were almost as heavy at Manitoba points as they were in the nearby province of Alberta — and the quality so excellent that Creston Wagners are now conceded to be the best fruit of that variety that goes into such cities as Brandon and Portage la Prairie.

Modern financiers tell us there are seventeen points to be observed in conducting any business successfully. The first one is, "Deliver the goods", the others don't matter. In this all important regard Messrs. Hamilton and Staples have more than made good in every respect, and they well deserve the genuine tributes that are being paid them by the Valley citizens, almost without exception.

Land Selling

While considerable satisfaction is felt over the quite numerous sales of improved properties that are being, and have been, recorded the past few months, at prices that make everyone feel good—the vendor because he is getting a fair return for, in many cases, pioneer effort; and the fellow who is holding because he anticipates such sales will entitle him to ask an extra $100 or $200 an acre next year, or whenever he wants to quit the land—it cannot entirely escape one's attention that these sales, while good for and undoubtedly the just due of those selling, have their little drawbacks in some cases, in that one party is moving in and the other party is liable to be moving away; production is not augmented, nor is population greatly increased, and little if any progress is being made to clear and get under cultivation a considerable area of wild land that must be of equal fertility to the acreage at present under crop.

In these days of bonuses of one sort and another it might not be bad policy for the authorities to consider extending special considerations to newcomers who are prepared to go on and develop our logged-off lands. And in all immigration literature that is being issued, either from Victoria or Ottawa, insofar as B.C. is concerned, prominence should be given to the desirability and advantages of newcomers taking up raw areas.

The demand for ranch help in the Valley is now reaching the stage where we can provide needed employment for this class of settler much more readily than in the case of the first comers who were to a great extent dependent on government roadwork and lumbering while it lasted.

NEWS OF KOOTENAYS

Cranbrook has a small-sized epidemic of mumps.

At Bonners Ferry the Great Northern is now paying 80 cents for No. 1 ties, and 60 cents for two's.

Fernie's tax rate this year will be 44 mills. Almost half of it is required for school purposes, the trustees asking for $43,600.

Starting the first of March the moving picture theatres at Nelson and Trail advanced the general admission price ten cents.

$100 a month is the lowest salary paid teachers on the public school staff at Grand Forks. The principal draws down $139.

The Cranbrook Herald believes the C.P.R. has serious intentions of very shortly putting on another train between Spokane and Calgary.

Hotel properties are not exactly a drug on the market at Cranbrook. A few days ago the Cross Keys changed hands at a price around $10,000.

Full bloom buttercups were picked in Grand Forks on February 16 this year. In 1915 some of these same flowers were gathered on Feb. 12.

Chief McDougall, who has been fire chief at Fernie since 1907, is resigning next month. In thirteen years he has fought over 400 fires in that town.

Revelstoke is coming back. The Howson Furniture Co., which went out of business in 1917, is reopening their store in that town in the same old lines.

For expeditiously handling fires in basements and rooms where there is more smoke than blaze Fernie firemen are to be outfitted with gas and smoke masks.

By a vote of three to two Fernie voted against giving the to-be organized town band any financial assistance this year. The musicians wanted a matter of $1500.

The flu is no respector of persons. At Cranbrook one of its victims this trip was druggist Atchison, one of the town's best known citizens and a member of the school board.

Penticton electric power plant is in bad shape. There were more breakdowns last year than in any previous half dozen years put together causing a loss of revenue estimated at not less than $700.

Revelstoke recently secured a new chief of police from Vancouver, with the result that the two old members of the force have quit their jobs as a protest, presumably, of not patronizing home talent.

Kaslo has a newspaper controversy on its hands with Christian Science advocates writing letters to combat some sermons Presbyterian Pastor Campbell is preaching condemning the faith healers.

Stenographers predominated in the births at Trail for January. Out of 11 newcomers seven were girls. There were four deaths and but two marriages in the metallurgical mecca during the same month.

If the authorities approve of the new schedule asked for by the company Cranbrook citizens will shortly be paying $1 a month more for their telephones. Electric light will also cost 30 per cent. more.

The Methodist pastor at Kaslo is putting on scriptural moving pictures in order to get the crowd. To make sure of a sprinkling of grown-ups no children are admitted unless accompanied by their parents.

Penticton has revived its war memorial project. It will now be satisfied with a monument to cost $5000. The council will be asked to vote $1000, and the citizens will be canvassed for the other $4000 required.

The strike at the Sullivan mine at Kimberley is announced settled. On March 1st a raise of 50 cents a day was given and the few strikers who had stood the three months' idleness have decided to go back to work.

Of Kaslo's 800 population 312 claim to be Presbyterians, though church attendance figures would indicate that only about a quarter of that number are working at it regularly. The town has 153 Methodists and 114 Anglicans.

At Fernie the town band would like the council to make a grant of $1500 a year to pay the bandmaster's salary. In return for this handout the band would give an open air concert one night each week throughout the summer.

Kaslo trustees see financial troubles ahead and are after the provincial government to greatly increase the grant it makes for school purposes. At Revelstoke the trustees think the government should pay the whole school expense.

The News hears that a train will be run daily between Rossland and Trail shortly to accommodate the residents of the former city who will be working at Trail this season on the extensive development works the smelter will have under way.

Grand Forks is having some trouble deciding on a soldiers' memorial. A tombstone was first favored but after a year to think it over some folks now want a building, and possibly a memorial hall in connection with the proposed new high school in that city.

At Cranbrook the electric light company is wanting to raise its rates from 18 to 22 cents per kilowat hour. The firm claims that last year the works earned a profit of less than $50 a month.

The C.P.R. contemplates spending about $35,000 at Grand Forks on new station and freight sheds, but would erect the new edifice outside the city limits. On the score of losing considerable taxes principally the council and citizens generally are opposing the scheme.

A Vernon rancher last week sold the P. Burns Co., Vancouver, 90 head of beef cattle for which he got almost $14,000. They were grade Shorthorns and Herefords, and averaged 1380 pounds each. Since coming in off the range in November the critters have only been fed alfalfa and made a gain each of about 200 pounds.

Penticton recently offered $75,000 of electric light debentures to the outside bond dealers but as yet has not had a single offer for the lot in whole or in part. The Herald is demanding that when the irrigation bonds are put on sale that about $40,000 worth should be available to Penticton buyers—if such there be.

$4 Berries in Sight

Victoria, March 12.—Prospects of exceptionally high prices for strawberries, raspberries and loganberries are in evidence, according to information which has reached the agricultural department. The minister informed The Province today that offers from outside canning factories had been made to British Columbia growers for practically all the fruit "in sight" at prices averaging twenty cents per pound. It was stated this was a price which could be secured by the growers for everything they could produce, which augurs well for the fresh fruit markets.

Mr. Barrow further stated that firms in Puyallup, Washington, and in Hamilton, Ont., were buying everything they could get, and offering tempting contracts for this year's crop. The inference gained from his remarks was that exorbitant prices would be the rule this season, or else the fruit shelves of innumerable cellars would be empty next winter.

WATER NOTICE

DIVERSION AND USE

Take notice that C. D. Ogilvie, whose address is Wynndel, B.C., will apply for a license to take and use 75 gallons per minute of water out of a spring to be known as Deer Spring, located about 1500 feet from the N.W. corner of Block 18, Lot 279, Cory's Subdivision, in a northerly direction up on the side of Duck Creek Mountain. The water will be diverted from the spring in wooden or iron pipes along the boundary line of Blocks 27 and 20 and Blocks 26 and 19 to the northwest corner of Block 18, Lot 279, Cory's Subdivision, and will be used for irrigation and domestic purposes on Block 18, Lot 279, Cory's Subdivision. This notice was posted on the ground on the 29th day of February, 1920. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the Water Act, 1914, will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Nelson. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder, or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within fifty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first appearance of this notice is March 12, 1920. C. D. OGILVIE, Applicant.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established ... Stockowners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

A Constipation Cure Sold on Guarantee

Dr. Hamilton Says His Remedy Never Fails to Cure Quickly

Mine is a marvellous remedy.

There are others, but not one possesses the peculiar merit so prominent in mine.

With my remedy I guarantee to cure constipation.

I also guarantee to prevent it.

My preparation, which is in pill form, gives tone and regularity to the bowels that quickly rids the system of effete matter, accumulations of bile and other injurious results of costiveness.

I call my pills Dr. Hamilton's.

I am sure they are safe, because composed of such health-giving vegetable extracts as Mandrake, Butternut, Hyoscamus and Dandelion.

My pills are not harsh or drastic.

They cause no pain, no distress; they are prescribed by physicians because of their mildness and certainty to cure.

For women and children I know of no better medicine for keeping the system healthy. For men they are perfect.

I have proved their merit in biliousness, constipation and headache, and can strongly recommend them in these troubles.

My personal guarantee stands behind every box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box.

"And now he seems to prefer to quit writing and get married for his living. Well, never mind him. Next, here's this French officer. No doubt he's a very fine man, but he's over forty and half deaf, and has nothing but his retired pay, and that in the French army or navy is about enough to pay his laundry bill. He's got a title all right, but you can't eat titles. Now just stop and look at this bunch, Miss Elliot? What sort of a man would I be to hand out Hamid Pasha's daughters to three such bums, just to save myself a little more bother, and after what he's done for me?"

Miss Elliot's eyes fell. She looked, in fact, very much abashed, which was a most unusual expression for Miss Elliot.

"No doubt you're right, Mr. Ruggles," she murmured. "I—I hadn't looked at it in just this way. They all seemed so nice—and attractive and desirable—"

Ruggles pondered for a moment longer. Miss Elliot remained discreetly silent. Anger and resentment had all oozed out of her. She felt extremely foolish. Here she had come bouncing into this stately mansion which Ruggles had prepared with such care for his wards and herself and jubilantly informed him that there was no need of it; that all was arranged, his responsibility relieved, the desired behest of Hamid Pasha in a way to be soon discharged—Miss Elliot wished a trapdoor would open under her feet and drop her into an oubliette. She thought of her semi-hysterical mirth at Ruggles's dazed expression as he had listened to her, and her cheeks burned.

And here opposite her was Ruggles, whom from the first she had been disposed to patronize and direct. She had regarded him as a rather ordinary but agreeable boy of no particular traits, who, by a stroke of marvelous luck and the senile whim of an old man, had fallen into fortune like a pup into a fountain. True, he had once dominated her, but that she had felt since to have been an accident. She had not intended to yield again.

But now, as she met Ruggles's quiet, pleasant gaze, her woman's intuition told her suddenly that in all crucial questions with the forceful personality opposite she was destined invariably to yield. He would compel her obedience on every point; either that or her dereliction. He would have his way.

Miss Elliot realized this with a sudden warm glow, the source of which she would have found impossible to analyze, but which was very far from being unpleasant. She remembered that she had felt in that day at the notary's when Ruggles had been with her. Her eyes rested upon him with a new respect and a peculiar submission. But she felt that she had still one claim to his commendation.

"But how about Lord Pembroke?" she asked, almost timidly. "Surely you have nothing to object to in him?"

Ruggles rose from his chair with a slight effort and stood for a moment leaning on his stick and placing a gradually increasing weight upon his injured ankle.

"No," he answered slowly. "I guess nobody could find anything much the matter with Pembroke. But say, Miss Elliot, s'pose you had a friend who had done more for you than any person alive—and s'pose one day he went crazy with the heat and took it into his head that he was a lion-tamer and wanted to get into a cage with a lioness. Would you let him, if you were husky enough to hold him back? Of course you wouldn't. And when he got his senses back he'd be mighty glad that you hadn't. Well, I'm not so sure that I am husky enough—but I'll certainly do my darnedest to hold Pembroke!"

CHAPTER XIX.

Miss Agnes Elliot took her lesson very much to heart, but being an intelligent and fair-minded young woman, she fully appreciated its worth and determined to profit by it. For many days she grew hot with shame whenever she thought of how she had sat and giggled over what she had considered a very quick and clever series of matchmakings, and then how Ruggles had quietly torn up the whole prospectus and thrown it into the waste-paper basket.

With some inward mortification, which, however, she managed to conceal, she told the four girls that Ruggles Effendi had seen fit to veto their prospective alliances, being determined to find them richer and more distinguished husbands. Much to her surprise, they took this information with the quiet submission of the Oriental women, trained from infancy to obedience. In fact, their coolness was a bit of a shock to Miss Elliot. Roxana was the only one to venture any direct expression of her sentiments. She raised her splendid shoulders slightly, smiled a little to herself, and said: "I am glad."

The Marquis Raoul de Poligny de Pouilly-en-Auxois and "Galloping" Livingstone called upon Ruggles within a day or two. Ruggles felt sorry for the Marquis, a courteous and as Miss Elliot had said, distinguished man and a chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur. He explained to Ruggles quite frankly that practically all he had to offer was a good name, an honorable career, and the assurance of affectionate marital devotion. When Ruggles explained with equal frankness that as the executor of a sacred trust imposed upon him by his benefactor he did not feel justified in bestowing the hand of his ward, with her dot of a million francs, upon one who, all questions of family and personal worth aside, was unable to match her fortune with something approaching it, the Marquis replied that such a point of view was quite reasonable and customary, and they parted with mutual expressions of esteem.

Mr. Livingstone was not so easily disposed of. He tried first to impress Ruggles with his splendid family connections, good prospects ("When this old uncle of mine cashes in—head of one of the strongest banking houses in America"), his recognized abilities as a writer, and the fact of his being an ex-lieutenant of the United States Army. Finding this preliminary skirmish a waste of ammunition, the more so as it failed even so much as to draw the fire of the enemy and locate his position (for Ruggles merely listened to the detonations from his masked trench without so much as shooting a question in reply), Mr. Livingstone tried argument. Wasn't it better for the girl to marry an American gentleman than some scrub of a titled foreigner who would eat up or drink up or do-something-else-worse-up with her fortune and throw her over when he'd got all he wanted of her? Ruggles agreed with him. Well, then, why not—etc., etc. Ruggles waited until he had got rather tired of talking for so long a time without liquid refreshment, then asked him if he had ever been in any sort of business. Livingstone said that he had not, in the strictly commercial sense. Ruggles then pointed out that he himself was a business man and had formed the habit of looking at things from a business point of view. In this particular case he was the trustee of a million francs to be put into a marriage partnership. If Livingstone could raise an equal sum, why then he might come around and talk business. Otherwise there was "nothing doing." Livingstone, world-bitten adventurer and soldier of fortune, took a good look at Ruggles's pale, set face, and being a keen judge of men, decided that there was no use in a further waste of powder. They parted pleasantly enough.

Miss Challand and Darthea took up their abode in Ruggles's household a few days after the arrival of Miss Elliot and the young ladies, and, to Ruggles's immense relief, appeared to be charmed with the girls, Miss Elliot, and the establishment in general; which latter, thanks to the high efficiency of the trained Levantine servants, was soon settled down to its steady beat with the noiseless rythm of a finely adjusted machine.

Mr. Falconer called with the Turkish Ambassador, whose chief Hamid Pasha had once been. Then came invitations to informal teas at the house of the Turkish Ambassador and at Mr. Falconer's apartment, where acquaintanceships were formed with certain ladies of the diplomatic set. Other invitations followed, these functions being of a quiet and formally informal character; for although, following the Mohammedan custom, conventional mourning was not being observed, it was necessary to conform to a certain extent to surrounding conditions.

Miss Challand then issued some invitations for tea—and there were no regrets. On the contrary, several of her invitees asked permission to bring friends. On one of these occasions, Roxana was asked to sing—to the accompaniment of her harp. This triumph of the Trans-Caucasus drifted from her chair like a wreath of seaweed caught in an eddy, and stood for a moment smiling and swaying, while her eyes peered beneath their long lashes until they caught those of Richard Ruggles, late salesman of the Walkeasy Shoe Company, who happened to be sitting next the wife of the Argentine Ambassador.

"Do you wish me to sing, Ruggles Effendi?" she asked.

"Sure," answered Ruggles. "Sing one of those Persian songs.

So Roxana sang.

Ruggles, once he had got this business well going and its several departments in competent hands, gradually withdrew from any active direction. Not only that, but he withdrew from personal participation. Learning from Miss Challand that his presence was not required by the rules of social conduct, he seldom appeared at the quiet functions, which, like a well-formed snowball rolled about a lawn, were gradually increasing by a sort of geometrical progression. Ruggles, in fact, was a sufficiently busy person. He was beginning to discover that the life of a millionaire at the head of a large and expensive household was not the primrose path which he had formerly thought it. In fact, so far as actual work was concerned, Ruggles usually got through more in the twenty-four hours than the average clerk.

Then one day he received a letter from Pembroke saying that he had seen Mr. Karapopoulopoulous, who was having the greatest difficulty in preventing the confiscation, by the Imperial Ottoman Treasury, of the late Hamid Pasha's palace and the many valuable things that it contained; and that if Ruggles wished to make a fight for it, he would advise his coming out to Constantinople to defend the litigation. Ruggles's business instincts rebelling against the idea of letting property that was his by moral and testamentary right be taken from him without a protest, he decided to act upon this advice, the more so as his presence in Paris seemed no longer absolutely necessary. Therefore, he turned over the business management of his household to a trustworthy homme d'affaires recommended by his Paris lawyers and proceeded at once to Constantinople.

Matrimony in Scotland

Large Number of Couples Are Becoming United in Glasgow These Days

Glasgow. — Glasgow recently saw the crest of a matrimonial wave. Fully 50 couples with their witnesses lined up before the sheriff to swear that they had fulfilled the legal requirements under the marriage schedule, which is afterwards completed at the office of the registrar.

This so-called "irregular form" of marriage, which is in every respect legal in Scotland, has been very popular in Glasgow this year.

Fully 4,500 couples, from all classes and of particularly all marriageable ages, have appeared before the sheriff. This is easily a record, beating last year's figure by 2,000, and the record war rush by 1,000.

Big wages have tempted many working class couples to marry, although houses cannot be obtained.

We have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in our home for a number of years, and use no other Liniment but MINARD'S, and we can recommend it highly for sprains, bruises, pains or tightness of the chest, soreness of the throat, headache or anything of that sort. We will not be without it one single day, for we get a new bottle before the other is all used. I can recommend it highly to anyone.

ABOUT YOUR CHILBLAINS!

What are they? A mild form of frost-bite—a chilling of the part to such a degree that inflammation is set up, causing a tingling pain, excessive irritation and often a swelling. Zam-Buk cures chilblains by drawing out the inflammation, thus ending the pain and irritation and reducing the swelling.

Miss Annie Lepard of Beaverdale, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies from chilblains and used many remedies, but nothing gave me any ease until I used Zam-Buk, which, after a little perseverance, completely rid me of this painful ailment."

Regular applications of Zam-Buk will prevent a recurrence of the trouble. Keep it handy. 50c. box.

B. C.'s Pulp and Paper Industry

Now Producing About Seven Million Tons of Paper Annually

British Columbia is now producing 645 tons of paper daily, or about seven million tons annually. Eleven years ago the province was not producing any paper at all. The progress that has been made in the last eleven years is being maintained, so that during the next few years a considerable increase in the pulp and paper industry of the province may be looked for.

British Columbia produces fourteen per cent, of the pulp and paper manufactured in Canada—the second largest paper producing country in the world—at the present time, being the third largest producing province, following Quebec with 24,000,000 tons and Ontario with 21,000,000 tons annually.

INFLUENZA HAS LATER DANGERS

Particular Care Needed When Patient Is Convalescent, Says Expert

The influenza convalescent who has apparently recovered from the disease and is yet in a strangely weak and depressed condition should be the object of particular care, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the New York Health Department. In the opinion of Dr. Harris, the after care of the influenza patient is most important. The co-operation of the patient, coupled with the willingness to see that the weakness and depression are a part of the illness, though coming after the disease itself has spent its force, is a big factor in effecting a complete return to full health. On the other hand, the determination to ignore this debilitated condition and to fight against it will, Dr. Harris says, frequently bring serious consequences upon the patient.

After Effects Bad

"The subject of the after effects of influenza," said Dr. Harris, "is one of particular interest to the scientist at the present time.

"First, and perhaps the most momentous condition to be considered, is the striking depression, mental, nervous, and physical, complained of by most patients. Those attacked by the disease with moderate severity are almost always afflicted with this depression, which should be recognized and dealt with. Those who have had mild cases of the epidemic are little affected by depression, and their quick return to health and strength gives rise to the belief that influenza is trivial. On the contrary, influenza in its after effects is anything but trivial, and calls for the application of rules of common sense and sanitation which are the fruit of years of experience.

"Tonic treatment, well chosen diet, and great care in not becoming overtired or allowing the body to be chilled are necessary. Eggs may be eaten, but not more than two a day, for the average adult. Of course, it must be remembered that in many cases this disease tends to direct its force against the kidneys, and therefore we instruct patients to avoid eating a great amount of meat, eggs, or beef extracts. Eggs, soft boiled, poached, or beaten, raw, are advisable in limited number. The raw eggs should always be well agitated before taking.

When Good Food Is Bad

"With milk and eggs as a foundation, the patient should eat good nourishing food, including meat, fish and vegetables, simply prepared. Frying, for instance, is out of the question. Good food prepared in an unassimilable manner becomes bad food; especially is this to be noted in cases of convalescence from influenza, for the disease often manifests itself in vomiting, and in intestinal and gastric disturbances, and it is important not to weaken the digestive function by the eating of poorly prepared food, or even the best of food in ill-advised quantities. The quantitative distribution of foodstuffs should be so adjusted as not to overtax the stomach, but the patient should eat generously and frequently."

As a tonic to build up the blood and stimulate the shattered nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. These pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, improves the appetite, strengthens digestion and drives away the feeling of weariness and depression always following an attack of la grippe or influenza. Those who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial will be amply repaid by the new health and strength this tonic medicine always gives.

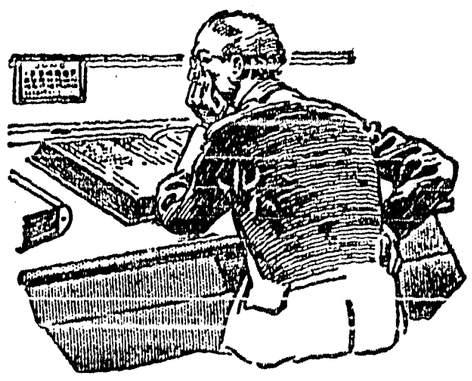
A Nervous Wreck

BY DR. D. L. GRANTIER.



How many business men feel fagged out, nervous, with a "soggy brain"—worn out completely before the day and its tremendous tasks are half over? Try the right way! Clean the body first. That will help your nerves, your head and your circulation. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a headache or a common cold to grippe or a serious illness may result from allowing food to ferment in the intestines. Don't give the body a chance to absorb the poisons. Remove the toxins from the system and give the tissues of the body aid to resist disease by taking an occasional laxative such as castor oil, or a tiny pill made up of May-apple, aloin, jalap, and sold by most druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The kidneys and bladder suffer from the wear and tear, and we get chronic inflammations sometimes indicated by backache, painful voiding of water—dull, heavy feelings. Perhaps the uric acid is stored up in the system in excessive amount, and consequently when the urate salts are deposited in muscles and joints one suffers from lumbago (pain in back), rheumatic pains, gout, etc.

Nothing will act so nicely as "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid), a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce's which can be had at all drug stores. "Anuric" washes away the poisons, cleanses the bladder and kidneys—rendering them antiseptic—consequently one is soon cured of lumbago, rheumatism, gout, and the body is put into a clean, healthy state.
