Organize for Referendum

The wing of the temperance party favoring the retention of the present Prohibition Act had an organization meeting on Tuesday night, to get things in shape for the campaign preceding the referendum vote on Oct. 20th. The chief speaker was Rev. R. W. Lee, following whose address the following were selected to constitute the campaign management committee: Dr. Henderson, W. V. Jackson, Rev. G. Knox and the Presbyterian minister who may be located here for that period. It is expected two or three meetings will be held next month when the issues of the referendum will be presented.

Kitchener

The first motor truck to come into the Kitchener section was unloaded here last week by Paulson-Mason, Ltd., who will use on their longer hauls of posts and poles.

Paulson-Mason, Ltd., have been busy the past couple of weeks putting up shacks for the accommodation of their men. In the future the oldstyle camp will not be much utilized; the men will now be housed four to the shack instead. Harry Rymell has been in charge of construction.

The intake at last week's box social will help out nicely in making a payment on the twenty lots which comprise the school site, as well as liquidating some back debts on the painting of the school.

The re-planking of Goat River bridge is held up at present due to the fact that it has been decided to rebuild the piers which are rather badly in need of repair. Men to handle the repair work to the piling are expected in any day now.

Frank Staples' portable mill has been shut down now for about a week, due to trouble with the engine, and it is likely it will remain idle until November, when Mr. Staples will be back to take charge himself.

So far no one seems to have had any extra good lick in the hunting line. Very few grouse have been brought in to town, and the only deer taken was by Roy Burch, who got one on the first day the season was open.

Provincial police Vachon of Creston and a friend were here a couple of days in the middle of the week on a fishing and hunting trip.

Haying operations are pretty well over here now. Mr. Schonnert has put up about 200 tons at the Paulson meadows, and is on the lookout for a few head of milch cows. At Goatfell G. A. Hunt has manufactured about fifty tons, nnd will not be cutting at Creston flats this season.

Sirdar

Sid McCabe and crew are here at present, busy at the slip fishing out the material that got pushed out into the lake when the new slip was launched. He figures it will take about a week to complete the job. Mrs. McCabe and their young son and daughter are with Mr. McCabe.

Mrs. Touhey and two sons, who were at Cranbrook for a few days, returned home the latter part of the week.

Roy Proctor and Jock McDiarmid are home from their two weeks' fishing and hunting trip, and if any reliance can be placed in the stories they tell certainly very few fish worth the catching are now left in Kootenay Lake.

W. Ramsay of Nelson, the engineer of the public works department, was here on Saturday inspecting operations on the Sirdar-Kuskanook road. The crew is certainly making headway on the rock work which is being hustled along so as to expedite operations should snow come earlier than usual this season.

Principal Brewis has rather a small attendance at the school at present, the larger pupils being detained to help out with the fruit harvest. Fruit shipments are heavier than ever before at Sirdar this season.

Exhibitors at the Creston fair this year will have to meet some Sirdar competition in several of the classes. The North, Pascuzzo and Mannerine ranches are all figuring on making a good list of entries.

There was no meeting of the city council this week. Mayor Daly is busily engaged this week consulting ancient and modern authorities on the liquor question, trying to decide on the proper way to vote on the forthcoming referendum. In view of the long and useful life Mr. Daly sees ahead of the Oliver administration the mayor leans rather strongly toward government control.

Mrs. Loasby, who has been a Cranbrook visitor the past week, returned on Sunday.

So far ducks have been rather scarce. The Indians are bagging a few of them, but the prices at which they retail them is prohibitive for most citizens.

Best Fall Fair Yet Is Now Assured

Given regulation Valley weather the day preceding as well as fair day and the all-round success of Creston's 1920 fall exhibition, Saturday, Oct. 2nd, is practically assured.

Almost everyone you talk to is planning to make a number of entries, while those who have always exhibited are arranging to exhibit heavier than ever this year—and this applies to almost every class in the rather extensive prize list.

The addition of a three box competition in the apple section, coupled with the half dozen silver cups and a number of attractive special cash prizes is sure to see the fruit section excel even 1918, while the care the prize list committee has taken in placing an equally attractive lot of special prizes simply cannot fail to greatly increase the show of vegetables. Competition for the John Keen money on tomatoes, the McLeod store special on potatoes, the Board of Trade cup for best collection, Butterfield & Son's special on cabbage are just a few of the sections in the vegetable class that are already being prepared for.

Never before have the ladies been so busy on needlework, and the two days before the fair will be busy ones at home cookery, while in the preserving and canned goods a record showing may be counted on. The Birks silver medal for the first prize in jam is proving irresistible. The medal is suitably engraved and the winners name will also be shown. The flower show should easily be the best yet staged here.

Work is now under way on the erection of a temporary poultry shed and the exhibit of birds from all appearances will be large, and will include entries from a couple of fanciers at Lister.

But when it comes down to real enthusiasm the palm must be yielded the youngsters of the Valley who just at present promise a display in the School Children's Competition that it will be hard to find room to stage. The directors have been particularly fortunate in securing Mrs. Garland Foster of Nelson to both set up and judge this section. Mrs. Foster is a teacher of standing in the Kootenay and exceptionally well qualified to look after all the details of this competition.

$100 has been set aside for a line of sports, including the usual horse races which will likely be run on Canyon street at the close of the afternoon. There will be a senior baseball match as a closing feature, preceded by races and other athletic events.

Visitors to town that day can rely on having no trouble in securing meals and refreshments of all kinds. At least two of the church ladies' societies will be operating booths. For the evening entertainment there will be a first-class picture show, featuring Lieut. Locklear in "The Great Air Robbery," along with a Charlie Chaplin comedy. To take care of the early goers-home Manager Rodgers will also have an afternoon performance starting at 4 o'clock. In Mercantile Hall there will be a dance commencing at 8 p.m., for which Creston orchestra will furnish music.

Secretary Walmsley is busy getting the books in shape and would remind that entries close at 10 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30th, but will appreciate it very much if the entries are made as early in the week as possible.

Lister

G. Paton, who has had the position of assistant superintendent for the past ten months, has resigned the post and left on Friday last on a visit at Nelson, after which he will go to Vancouver. Mr. Paton was a hard worker in every line that meant improvement of conditions generally at Lister and immensely popular with everyone. That his departure is regretted by all goes without saying, and best wishes for success are universal.

Registrar of voters Hewat of Kaslo was here on Wednesday night last when all who had failed to have their name placed on the voters list had a last opportunity to secure a vote. Two new names were added.

Mr. McBraidy, who has been assistant to Mr. Paton, succeeds to the work of assistant superintentent. Mr. McKinley is the new Land Settlement Board bookkeeper.

The rainy weather that prevails at present is ideal for burning and at present the stumps from a 130-acre area are blazing merrily.

G. Langston is another departure from camp. He has gone to Vancouver to take the course in agriculture at the B.C. University.

The dance this Saturday night at the schoolhouse will be preceded by a couple of hours at whist. The Ladies' Auxiliary is in charge and guarantee the usual good time.

Miss Clara Anstad of Trail arrived here on Tuesday to take a position on the teaching staff of Lister school. Miss Jennie Brown has just taken charge of the Huscroft school.

Clarence Embree has just started work on the new residence of Chas. Davis. It will be a six room structure with bath.

Mrs. Dave Chalmers returned a few days ago from a month's visit with friends in Vancouver.

Congregational Meeting

Rev. Mr. Burkholder having declined to accept the pastorate of Creston Presbyterian Church, a meeting of the members and adherents will be held in the church on Monday evening, Sept. 27th, at 8.30 o'clock, for the purpose of moderating in a call for a minister.

Wynndel

The Co-Operative is shipping apples steadily just now. Growers complain that the cloudy and wet weather prevents the fruit ripening and coloring in good shape.

T. Anderson has disposed of his ranch near the W. J. Cooper place to Mr. Foxall of Baynes Lake, who has started work on a shack into which he will move his family as soon as it is available.

The bright weather at the end of the week saw the return of the haymakers to the flats. But the wet spell which set in on Monday has hustled them all home once more.

Deepest sympathy is extended the family and relatives of the late August Johnson, who died suddenly from heart failure on Thursday last. The funeral was to Creston cemetery on Friday, and was largely attended.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late August Johnson of Wynndel take this opportunity to express their appreciation of the many kindnesses shown them in their recent bereavement.

"Then I would say that you are still a liar," answered the woodsman quietly.

"Oh," with a shrug, "still caustic, I see. I thought perhaps this wilderness stuff, of which we hear so much, might have softened you, in a way."

"It has not, as far as you are concerned, at least. And my memory is still good. Once more I ask you, why are you here?"

'Suppose I answer your question by asking another. Why are you here, Stanley, and living under another name?"

The words were coldly insolent. Dorkin, with an effort, allowed them to pass.

He scrutinized the face before him with probing eyes. What he saw were strong, even features, dark to swarthiness, a good mouth, and an aggressive chin. The eyes were dark and clear with the shadow of vindictiveness in their depths; but on the whole, it was a good-looking face.

With a shrug and a short laugh the visitor seated himself on a block beneath a wild-hop vine. The morning sunlight streaming through the trees fell on his face. He removed his Stetson and let the warmth wash his waving, reddish-brown hair. During the woodsman's scrutiny his eyes had gazed squarely back, meeting question with question.

The Irish setter floundered up the path, his long hair wet from his morning plunge in the lake. He rubbed his cold nose against Dorkin's hand, and, bounding up to the other man, laid his head on his knee.

"Dogs make a mistake in me," he said, "all dogs make a mistake in me," he supplemented, a hint of bitterness in his voice. "They are supposed to possess a greater intuition than man, but still, they seem to trust me, while it is more than most men do. Stanley? How do you account for it?" he asked lightly.

"Timberley," said Dorkin tensely, "is it necessary to ask me that question? You know our relationship one to the other. You know why it is so. You seek me out; you assume the air of friendship you do not feel. Again I ask, why are you here?"

"Well, I'll tell you. I'm here on behalf of a friend of mine who wishes to buy some wild animals from you."

"I have none for sale."

A flicker of a smile crossed the other's face. "We expected you to say that," he said. "You're hard-headed all right, and know your business, know how to sell; but we're ready to meet you. Name your price."

"I said I had no wild animals for sale," repeated Dorkin; "I mean what I say."

Timberley stared. "Why, I understood that was your business," he frowned, "raising wild things for sale. Have I been misinformed?"

"Not exactly. I do sell them, but I first of all know where they are going and into whose hands I am placing them."

"Oh," Timberley gave a relieved sigh. "That's a simple matter. I don't mind in the least telling you the name of the company for whom my friend is buying."

Dorkin shook his head. "It's no use," he said. "I won't sell any of my animals at this time of the year."

"But why, in God's name?" cried the other.

"It's there breeding season," answered Dorkin. "I won't part with them, neither will I take the young from their mothers. Nothing leaves Hardwoods Retreat before October. I'm sorry you and your friend didn't know this before; it might have saved you a useless trip."

Timberley chewed an unlighted cigar thoughtfully. "Look here," he jerked out finally, "my friend is in a devil of a mess if you won't let him have those animals. Fact is he's under contract to deliver to Dever and Strads Shaws, New York, inside of two weeks."

"I guess he'll have to break the contract if he's depending on me," said Dorkin.

"You're sure?"

"Positively sure."

Timberley eyed the woodsman intently, then turned away with a shrug. He stood chewing his cigar, thinking deeply. When he turned once more towards Dorkin, his color had deepened and there was a sneer on his face as he asked:—

"You haven't any particular use for me, have you?"

"I'm afraid not," returned Dorkin, quietly; "but that's your own fault, as you well know."

Timberley gazed upon the huge form of the man before him, marked the strength underlying the long, smooth muscles in the folded arms, the power behind those searching eyes, and something like admiration kindled in his face.

"There's an old saying," he said softly, speaking as though to himself, "an old adage which we used to write in our copy-books, at school. I think you'll remember it. It is: 'Man proposes and God disposes.' I'm going to tell you something. It was I who got you pushed out of college. I admit it. I tried my damnedest to put you down and out for good. Once upon a time I liked you. Funny, eh?—but I did like you. I can't help my Indian nature. I'd rather die any time than leave an injury unpaid. You did me an injury. You whipped me before the class, humiliated me before— Well, never mind that, it wasn't for that I spoiled your life's chances. You did me a great injury. You stole from me the affections of the girl I loved. I sought revenge. I succeeded, or thought I did. You were something I sought to wipe away,—wipe away."

He looked down at his strong hands, a smile playing on his face. Then once again he looked at Dorkin.

"Man proposes," he laughed sinisterly. He spread out his hands in a mocking gesture. "And then God takes a hand and rebuilds, reshapes, and—" He ceased speaking and bent above the dog, who had watched him silently.

"You went out," he said softly, speaking from this position. "You went out like a candle that has burned to a blue spark in a draft. That draft was morphine. God, how it ate you away after I had disgraced you and sent you from the college in degradation! But I had to do it, the desire claimed me. It may seem strange, unbelievable, that I did this thing without in the least hating you; rather, I believe I still liked you. It was a debt I had to pay and I paid it. Although in the end I lost her," he added half sadly. "Lost her because you, like this dog, she could not trust me."

He sighed, then shook himself together and squared his shoulders. "I'm a peculiar sort of devil at times," he said, in tone a challenge. "I've cooled your other life. If I have exacted too great a payment, why, I am here to answer for it."

glories of his world. He heard the other's voice as though strained through roaring waters.

Often he had asked himself the question—What should he do if he and that man who had caused his disgrace met face to face? He had been afraid to answer. Now in reality the question must be answered once and for all time.

The red mist was deepening. The roar of the cataract was growing louder. Dimly he saw the man who had forced him into exile, standing there on the heaving sward before hime. And his heart shouted, "Kill! Kill!"

He took a quick step forward towards Timberley; then he stopped still, his arms shuddering to his sides, his head sagging.

Somewhere, from the dim aisles of his world, came wafted the strains of a violin. Its wailing tenderness reached for his very soul and gripped it, held it, subdued it. With a sob he came back to his world of realities, his scented world that had reclaimed him.

He raised an arm and brushed the cold sweat from his forehad. Then he pointed down the pathway.

"Go," he said hoarsely, "for God's sake, go, and do not come here again."

Many Canadian Cattle Exported.

About 2,000 of Canadian cattle arrived at Antwerp a few days ago, according to word received at Ottawa. The city of Paris, which is expected to complete a contract for the purchase of cattle in Canada, had two representatives on hand to examine the quality of the animals sent to Belgium, their condition on arrival and the requirements for receiving such cargo. It is also understood by the Dominion Trade and Commerce Department that within the past few days retail prices of meat have fallen considerably in Belgium.

Miss Vanity is Very Old

Ancient Egyptians Extravagant in the Matter of Toilet Requisites.

The Egyptian belle of 5000 B.C. was no less extravagant in the matter of toilet requisites than is the beauty of today. She required among other things, a long stone palette with a hollow in the centre, in which to mix her green eye-paint. This palette also held a very delicate sea-shell, wherein she mixed the paint with the necessary grease for stiffening her eyelashes; ivory hair-pins which rivalled in length the hat-pin of the present day, and quaint ivory combs. All these articles were shown at an exhibition in London of the trophies dug up by the members of the Egypt exploration fund. There was also a small red clay of a face, with green paint bringing the eyes into extraordinary prominence.

The housewife of seven thousand years ago had household goods similar to those of the housewife of today. She had copper pans and strainers, stone blades, wooden bowls and copper mirrors, and to decorate her home she acquired alabaster vases and painted pottery vases.

THE TREASURE OF GOOD HEALTH

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages ,on the farms and in the mines and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back to bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbors, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout all the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medicine.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the diseases in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg county, N.S., says:—'I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommendings them to weak people whom I meet."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home, and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Importance of Flax.

In 1914 thirteen mills for retting and scrutching flax were in operation in Canada; at present there are sixty-four all in Ontario and Quebec. The most important development has taken place in Western Ontario. In 1919 there were 2,400 tons produced worth $5,000,000, or with the seed $6,000,000. This does not include the flax seed grown in the Canadian West, where up to the present time flax straw has not been utilized. It has now been demonstrated that in Canada a fibre of most desirable quality can be grown.

Fortunes in Fish.

It is estimated that the salmon pack in British Columbia will be worth $12,000,000 this year. The runs have been particularly good in the Fraser River and in the rivers of the Northern part of the Province.

The total revenue of Canada in August of this year was double that of August, 1919. It is expected the total revenue for the fiscal year will be $150,000,000, compared with $58,900,000 in the previous twelve months.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, SEPT. 24

Nelson Fair

September 28th, 29th and 30th are the dates of the 1920 Nelson fruit fair, and from all appearances this year's exhibition promises to be the best and biggest in the city's history. The fair this year has been considerably extended in several directions. A notable extension is the inclusion of a live stock section which is attracting much attention. The poultry department will be bigger than ever and a new department is the Farmers and Women's Institutes' exhibits—a feature in itself that would be well worth seeing. In the line of special attractions there will be no lack both for the afternoon and evening visitors. Two bands have been secured to furnish music. A fine lot of horse races are lined up, as well as a carload of Indian ponies for the Indian sports and races. High school pupils of Trail, Rossland, Kaslo and Nelson will stage a big list of athletic events, while Trail and Nelson football teams will play a match to settle the championship of West Kootenay. In the evening the management have contracted a display of fireworks that will far excel anything previously seen in the Kootenay. The feature of closing night will be the Mardi Gras carnival in which twelve prizes are being offered for the best costume in gents, ladies, girls and boys classes.

Visitors to the fair are specially asked to bring along costumes and masks participate in this feature. The C.P.R. is giving reduced rates from all points to Nelson during fair week.

A Sudden Death

After an absence of almost fifteen months the Wynndel district last week had another visit from the grim reaper, the summons this time being to August Johnson, one of the quite old-time and favorably known citizens, who died suddenly on Thursday of last week. Deceased had made his usual call in the morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Wigen, and had left apparently in the usual health he had experienced of late, but in the afternoon his lifeless body was found almost on his own place—heart failure having stricken him down just as he was about to get through the fence to his own ranch. Owing to the remains having been exposed to the heat for some time it was necssary to have the funeral next day the remains being interred in Creston cemetery on Friday, a very large number of Wynndel people going up on the noon train to pay their last respects. Deceased was in his sixty-fourth year. He was a native of Norway, coming to Canada in 1905 and remaining in Calgary, Alta., until 1912, when he moved to Wynndel, and had resided there continuously ever since. A family of three daughters and one son survive—Mrs. Carl Wigen of Wynndel, Mrs. John Huscroft of Porthill, Miss Ettie Johnson of Calgary, and Walter, who is at present employed at Sirdar. In addition to many friends in attendance at the funeral deceased's popularity was strikingly eyidenced in the unmeasured floral tributes. Rev. Mr. James, Presbyterian pastor at Creston conducted the funeral service, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Paul and Matt. Hagen, O. J. and John Wigen, W. J. Cooper and John Johnson, jr. While of modest and unassuming disposition at all times, he had the happy faculty of attending strictly to his own affairs and to a marked degree enjoyed the respect and friendship of all with whom he came in contact. In the passing of such a citizen his death is mourned by those outside the family circle almost equally with the members of his family, to whom a very heartfelt sympathy is extended in their heavy bereavement.

Great Air Robbery

"The Great Air Robbery," starring Lieutenant O. L. Locklear, marks a new era in filmdom. In this superproduction, Universal shows man's conquest of the air and present scenes taken in the clouds which a few years ago would have been scoffed at as impossible.

There are few people who have not heard of Lieut. Lockleor, most intrepid of aviators—the man who accomplished the hazardous feat of changing from one fast moving plane to another in mid-air. In the picture the lieutenant appears as Larry Cassidy, crack pilot of the U.S. aerieal mail service, who upon returning from a transcontinental flight, becomes entangled in a plot of love and intrigue. Exciting episodes, engrossing situations, hair-raising climaxes and picturesque flashes follow each other in profusion.

Larry's rescue of his pal, a mile above the earth; his battle with the Death's Head Squadron of air pirates, his pursuit of the social bandit who has abducted the girl he loves and hundreds of other unusual incidents carry the story along from one dizzy height to another. All the sky views taken at close range, by cameras placed on swift-flying airplanes. Each daring scene is shown in full detail.

Canyon City

Word from Mrs. G. Strong, who is in Cranbrook hospital, is to the effect that her condition shows some improvement, and that there is every hope now for her permanent recovery.

W. Miller of Claresholm, Alta., was a visitor in this section the latter part of the week, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. T. Hickey.

Dad Browell pulled out for Lethbridge, Alta., a few days ago, and is now in charge of a separator in a threshing outfit near that city.

Chas. and Clarence Crabbe, who were on a motor trip through this way from Spokane, spent a couple of days with Geo, Leach early last week.

BIRTH—On Sept. 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo Davey, a daughter.

I. N. Rhodes has removed to Fernie, where he is now in the employ B.C. Spruce Co., Ltd. This is a new concern which is opening up sawmilling operations on a large scale in East Kootenay.

D. Hurl of Vanguard, Sask., who recently purchased the Harry White ranch, is expected along shortly to take possession. He is a friend of Geo. Strong's, whose boosting of the Valley was largely responsible for Mr. Hurl's purchase.

Hilton Young, who is with the Blair haying crew at the Reclamation Farm, was home the latter part of the week, looking after the harvesting of his apple crop.

The orchardists have all been busy the past week getting off the Wealthys and the other fall varieties. The yield is even better than expected and will run between 4000 and 5000 boxes.

Miss Corbett, principal of the Canyon School, was on the sick list the latter part of the week, the scholars in her room having a holiday Friday in consequence. The attendance at present is about 45.

The Water Users Association has just been advised that the Lands Department appropriation for irrigation subsidies for 1920 is completely exhausted, which means the Canyon irrigation scheme will have to stand over until next year. However, the plans have all been approved and the money will surely be available early in April.

In view of the heavy expenditure on the new high level bridge Canyon can hardly complain of government neglect this year, but if it were possible to put the road in shape from Browell's corner to the top of the hill at the new bridge certainly all hands would be tempted to shout long live the Oliver administration.

The Coming Liquor Referendum

What is regarded by many as the final battle in the long war waged against the liquor traffic in Canada will be fought at the ballot boxes in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta on the 25th of October. The necessary machinery for the taking of the referendum vote on that date has already been set in motion and the compilation of the lists for qualified voters is in progress. The opposing forces are likewise lining up for the final test of strength.

Apart altogether from the opinions which may be held by readers of this paper on the question at issue, namely, whether bone-dry prohibition shall be made effective or not, it is clearly the duty of all citizens qualified to vote to make certain of the fact that their names are properly included in the voters' lists, and, equally so, it is the duty of all, regardless of the opinions held by them, to record their votes on October 25 on the question being submitted to the people.

In these three Prairie Provinces, prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes has for some years been in effect. There is, however, nothing to prevent a person in any one of these Provinces from buying liquor in another Province and having it shipped to him for his personal use. The result is, of course, that while there is prohibition in name, and actual prohibition of local sale, there is no truly effective prohibition of the use of intoxicants.

Through the votes cast by them in the referendum on October 25 the men and women of Western Canada are to decide whether, in addition to prohibition of local sale within a Province, there shall be prohibition of importation of liquor into any one Province from any other Province or country. In other words, whether it shall be made illegal for any person to obtain liquor in any manner whatsoever, except in very limited quantities on a doctor's prescription.

In the referendum on October 25 the following form of ballot will be used:

Shall the importation or bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?	NO
Shall the importation or bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?	YES

The voter who is in favor of absolute prohibition will place an X in the space opposite the word "Yes"; the voter who is in favor of allowing liquor to come into the Province as at present will place an X in the space opposite the word "No." In other words, a person votes "Yes" if he favors bone-dry prohibition; he votes "No" if he desires that importation shall continue.

Without presuming to say in this article how people shall vote, or even expressing an opinion as to the course of action which in the light of past experiences would seem to be the wisest course to follow in the interests of all, one thing can and should be said with all the emphasis that can possibly be laid upon it. It is this:

Men and women should mark their ballots in such a way as to express their honest convictions on this question in order that the vote on October 25 may be a true expression of the will of the people. A vote for bone-dry prohibition should be a positive declaration on the part of the voter that he or she will absolutely refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, that they will make no attempt to secure such liquors, that they will throw the whole weight of their influence in the direction of seeing that the law they thus ask for is lived up to and rigidly enforced. A "Yes" vote should be a pledge on the part of the voter to assist the officers of the law to efficiently enforce that law.

The time for camouflage is past. There should be no more hypocrisy, with a person voting one way and acting another. If the majority vote is to forbid importation of liquor, then the Government and officers of the law ought to be assured that they can count upon the men and women who make up that majority to assist them in every way to make the law fully effective and a success.

The man who votes for bone-dry prohibition and proceeds at the same time to stock up his cellar in advance with liquor is a hypocrite. The man or woman who votes for bone-dry prohibition, and later writes to the Government or the police stating that "So-and-So" is violating the law but that their names must not be used as informants and that they will not give evidence which may be in their possession in order to convict, is a coward and not a sincere prohibitionist.

The referendum vote on October 25 should be regarded as a clear-cut showdown on this question.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

The Color of Your Eyes

Where baby gets his blue eyes from is said to have been discovered by Dr. H. Bryn, of Norway.

After examining 834 persons, Dr. Bryn found that when all the parents and grandparents had blue eyes, all the children were blue-eyed, while when some of the grandparents' eyes were brown, only about 90 out of 100 of the children had blue eyes.

If both parents had blue eyes only 70 per cent. of the children had eyes of the same color, the remaining 25 per cent. being blue. If one parent was blue-eyed and the other brown-eyed, blue and brown eyes were equally divided among the children.

Fox Farming Pays.

What farm industry pays better than breeding foxes?

Last spring an average of four to a litter raised was reported from the ranches heard from. That means between two and three thousand dollars to a pair of foxes!

Some of the old-timers in the business have from seventy-five to two hundred youngsters on their ranches. As these men breed only foxes of good quality, it is safe to estimate the value of the pups at $500 to $750 apiece.

Evidently there is money in the business.

Helium in Canada.

Prof. McLennan, who was sent to Canada recently by the British Admiralty to devise a method of securing helium from natural gases, has reported that Alberta alone can supply over ten million cubic feet of helium annually, and other parts of the Empire another two million cubic feet. This quantity, he estimates, is sufficient to maintain a considerable number of airships, that cannot be brought down by airplane attack in the usual manner. Helium is a rare element, with a lifting power second only to hydrogen, and is non-inflammable. It can also be obtained in generous quantities in New Brunswick.

Opinion of U.F.A. President

Says Economical Marketing of Wheat Would Offset Rate Increase.

Calgary.—"If the wheat board had been continued for another year, the whole of the increased burden of freight rates on wheat from the western provinces to Fort William would have been more than offset by the saving which has been effected by the economical marketing of the wheat crop."

Such was the opinion expressed by H. W. Woods, president of the U.F.A. President Wood's estimate is based on the report of the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, of a total wheat crop of 258,000,000 bushels in the three prairie provinces. The average increase in the freight rates would have been offset in this manner, he stated.

All amounts of over $100 are being collected through the department of the secretary of state and are being turned over to the British Government to be transmitted to their German destination. It was stated at the offices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association that several firms have such debts owing, in some cases running into large amounts of money.

SOVIETS ARE NOW CAUSING TROUBLE IN ITALY

TO GIVE LABOR MOVEMENT POLITICAL CHARACTER.

Rome.—The metal workers' movement was early taken advantage of by the supporters of Soviet Russia in Italy as the basis of a political movement to force Italian recognition of the Moscow Government, according to a document published by the Tribuna. The document, of which the Tribuna says it guarantees the authenticity, provides for permanent soviet conditions and is addressed to the Legion of Red Guards at Torre Annunziata, near Naples, asking the Legion to communicate with the greatest organization ever known.

"Taking the favorable opportunity afforded by the vast movement of the metal workers," the document added, "it has been decided to enlarge the movement, giving it a political character."

The document bore the signature, "Vella."

Alberta's Big Crop

Bumper Yield of 1915 May Be Increased Four-Fold in Value.

Calgary.—The Herald says today: Alberta's wheat crop in 1915 was sixty million bushels, valued at $50,000,000. In 1919, it yielded 34,575,000 valued at $63,349,000. The largest federal official estimate of this year's crop is 82,972,000 which, taken at $2.60 a bushel, will bring Alberta farmers the huge sum of $215,722,200. This means in other words that the bumper yield of 1915 will this year be increased over fourfold in monetary value, assuming that approximately the present price of wheat holds.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes:—"I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

More From Income Taxes

Anticipate Increase From Higher Rates and Improved Methods of Collection.

Winnipeg.—A special despatch to the Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent reads: A $15,000,000 increase in the receipts of the federal income tax is estimated for the current fiscal year which ends on March 31 next. Last year's total revenue from this source approximated $20,000,000. This year it will approximate $35,000,000.

To the higher rates, a wider incidence and improved methods of collection are attributed the increase. Under the former act prosecutions were both difficult and costly. Under the act as amended last session, they have been much facilitated. A large number of prosecutions have been quietly instituted during the summer, and the effect has been to bring speedy and prompt reply to warning letters addressed to others. As a consequence receipts have much improved.

A staff of 30 auditors is being appointed this week to check up the sales taxes throughout the country.

WOULD PREVENT FREIGHT CARS CROSSING BORDER

RAILWAYS PREPARING FOR HEAVY CROP MOVEMENT.

Must Keep Rolling Stock at Home to Guard Against Grain Blockade.

Ottawa.—In view of the particularly heavy crop movement from the western province during the next few months, extra precautions are being taken by the management of the Government and other systems of railways to keep Canadian freight cars on this side of the border.

At the present time there is a car shortage in the United States of 600,000 cars and when a Canadian car is permitted to cross the line, it is practically impossible to have it returned. The daily charge for retained cars from Canada was sometime ago increased, but this has made no difference, the American railways being quite willing to pay the extra charge for the use of the cars. The necessity of keeping Canadian rolling stock at home if a grain blockade is to be prevented when the eastward wheat movement is at its height, is recognized and even at the best there is likely to be considerable congestion it is thought.
