800 See Creston's 1921 Exhibition

With the finest kind of weather, the biggest-ever list of entries, the largest attendance and a line of outdoor attractions that have never been excelled, Creston's 1921 fall fair, which closed on Wednesday last, will easily go down into history as the most all round successful exhibition yet held.

Not only were the exhibits there as to quantity, but in the matter of fruit, at any rate, the quality of the display in all the sections almost was equally outstanding, and so uniform were most of the box exhibits that it must surely have been by the flip of the coin that some of the decisions were made so uniformly excellent were the box fruits.

The W. V. Jackson ranch will house the Speer Cup for the best five box lot this year, while Mrs. J. W. Hamilton secures the Canyon City Lumber Co., Ltd., Cup for the best three box lot and also lands the prize for the best packed box T. E. Goodwin was another exhibitor who went home happy, his honors consisting of the Review Cup for the best box of apples in the show, the best colored box, and also awarded the best display of fruit in the show. While less fortunate in the matter of gathering silverware L. Littlejohn was quite the outstanding exhibitor at the fair, having a heavy entry list in both the fruit and vegetables classes, and being the biggest prize winner of the whole fair. He carried off the sweepstakes for the most points in fruits, and had he had a little better luck in his box exhibit he would assuredly have copped the honors for the best display of fruit as well. Ashley Cooper & Sons ranch maintained its pre-eminence as producers of Gravensteins and swept the boards in plums and prunes. F. J. Klingensmith, who made his first appearance this year, was most successful. His Winter Bananas won both in plates and boxes, and he romped off with the Brown special for two boxes of McIntosh, while his plate of pears were certainly the class of that section of the exhibition. S. Moon also put Wynndel on the map as the spot to produce Grimes Golden, his two boxes taking both first and second. The only outside grower to make a showing was A. Mackie of Boswell who tork home first on a plate of Wagners, and seconds on Jonathan and Cox Orange.

The show in the livestock section was lighter than formerly. Geo. Hood captured the Johnson Cup for the best heavy draft team in harness. For the second time J. H. Webster landed the Stockbreeders Cup for the best beef type animal, while W. H. Crawford annexed the Bank of Commerce Cup for the best dairy cow.

The poultry section, which was much heavier than a year ago, witnessed pretty much of a sweep in each breed by some one exhibitor who specialized in that particular variety. In Minorcas, A. Wallach of Nelson had things pretty much his own way, and it was the same in Leghorns any variety, A. Nickel getting all the red tickets. In White Leghorns F. J. Harbinson of Cranbrook captured most everything, including President Jackson's Cup for the best male bird in the show. In Orpington's Mrs. Kleist was foremost and in Rhode Island Reds Mrs. W. V. Jackson had the lion's share of the honors. A show of birds that held everybody's attention, however, was Mrs. C. O. Rodgers' Barred Rocks, with which she scored both prizes in both cockeral and pullet. Handsomer fowl to look at it would be impossible to produce. Another pleased exhibitor was W. S. McAlpine, who landed the Col. Lister Cup for utility pen, with a splendid show of Plymouth Rocks. Roy, the young son of President Jackson, had a pen of high class bantams that were admired by all.

In roots and vegetable the show was quite up to expectations in view of the rather dry summer. Chief interest centred in the display of vegetables which carries with it the Board of Trade Cup, and which was won by E. Simmons, with L. Littlejohn second. The latetr's display was much admired for its showing of walnuts, sweet potatoes and peanuts.

The same adverse weather conditions also limited the show of plants and flowers. Fred Waylett had a notable collection of house plants, and Mrs. Stocks' dahlias and Mrs. R. S. Smith's gladiolias were also much admired.

The juvenile section was quite well filled, competition being quite keen in the writing and drawing sections, possibly the surprise of the class being the win of Annie Smith in iced light cake, while in the biggest competition Louise Bevan scored first in lemon pie.

In needlework Mrs. W. S. Slater of Rossland was the most consistent winner, with five prizes on seven entries. Mrs. Leslie McInnes had a collection of crochet that well deserved first place, while Miss Lillian Cherrington's collection of tatting was equally as prominent. Mrs. Geo. Cartwright with three firsts and one second deserves a special mention in that her articles were invariably those requiring much work.

In cooking the ladies this year mostly centred their attention on bread and pies and in all these the entry was large. In bread Mrs. Stocks had two wins, on the brown sort and the Purity flour special. Mrs. Kleist was the dandy of them all in baking from Five Roses flour, and Miss Lilly Marshall was the class of those who tried out Our Best. Mrs. Androsow, a local Doukhobor lady, had the Robin Hood all to herself, and her two 20 pound loaves certainly were entired to recognition. Mrs. Comfort was adjudged the best pumpkin pie maker, Mrs. E. W. Payne the best at turning out lemon pies, and Mrs. Geo. Cartwright superior at the old fashioned apple sort. Mrs. Morrow's fruit cake scored first, and Mrs. Geo. Johnson was first in devil food cake, both ladies meeting and beating considerable opposition. Mrs. Moon and Mrs. Carl Wigen demonstrated that culinary artists

More new settlers may be looked for in the spring, among the recent land sales being two 5 acre lots disposed of by R. A. Bathie, sr.

The Co-Operative Fruit Growers shipped another car of McIntosh apples early last week.

The fall fair at Caeston last Wednesday attracted quite a large crowd from here and all are unanimous in claiming that it was by far the best fair ever held at Creston. Several of the local farmers and their wives were among the prize winners. Mr. and Mrs. S. Moon Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wigen and Mrs. Nathorst were the principal winners. Most of the visitors took in the picture show and dance in the evening, and by way of appreciation I say that Manager Rodgers deserves very great credit for the most enjoyable evening ever spent in town.

The camp had a visit this week from J. J. Smith the Mason & Risch piano man of Nelson, and Geo. Powell of Cranbrook, who was on a selling trip for Singer sewing machines.

At the United Farmers meeting on Saturday night J. W. Head and W. Langston were tendered a hearty vote of congratulation for being the first from Lister to get into the prizewinning class at the Creston fair. Mr. Head was a winner in honey and Mr. Langston in poultry.

Lister local of the United Farmers had their monthly meeting in the schoolhouse on Friday night, with President Powers in the chair, and T. Atkins acting secretary in the absence of N. Stones. It was agreed that in view of the many different political opinions amongst the members of the local that no discussions referring to the election will be permitted at U.F. meetings. The local will take no political action and the officers and members were notified that they will not be permitted to do electioneering or speechmaking as directly or indirectly representing or speaking on behalf of the membership of the Lister local. The meeting closed at 11, after an informal discussion of the apple producing industry.

Harris finished his meal with little relish. His daughter was very, very much to him, and an open rupture with her was among the last things to be imagined. . . . . Still, she must learn that the liberty of speech he allowed her did not imply equal liberty of action. . . . His wife, too, had behaved most incredibly. After all, perhaps he had been hasty with Jim. No doubt he would meet the boy in Plainville or somewhere in the district before long, and he would then have a frank talk with him. And he would say nothing more of the incident to his wife. He was beginning to feel almost amiable again when recollection of Beulah, and the regard which she was evidently cultivating toward Travers, engulfed his returning spirits like a cold douche. It must not come to that, whatever happened.

"You better get over to Grant's, Allan, if you're goin'," he said as he left the table. "I've some shears to change that'll keep me busy until you get back."

An hour later Allan returned, accompanied by George Grant, and operations in the field were resumed. Father and son were both anxious to make up for lost time, and they worked that night long after their usual hour for quitting. Just as the sun was setting George Grant left a last tank of water at the end of the field and started for home. As he passed the buildings he saw Beulah in the garden, and leaned over the fence for a short chat with her. The girl was thankful the gathering dusk hid the colour of her cheeks. George continued on his way, but still the steady panting of the engine, louder now, it seemed, than during the day, came pulsing down on the calm night air. The long twilight dragged on; the light faded out of the east and south, and at last shone like the spread of a crimson fan only in the north-west. It was quite dark when the two men, tired and dusty, came in at the close of their long day's labour.

The table was set for two. "We have had our supper," Mary explained. "We thought we wouldn't wait any longer."

"That's all right," said Harris, trying to be genial. But he found it harder than he had supposed. He was very tired, and somewhat embarrassed following the unpleasantness at noon. He had no thought of apologizing, either to wife or daughter; on the contrary, he intended to make it quite clear to them that they had been at fault in the matter, but he would take his time about reopening the subject. By waiting a day or two before reproving them he would show that he was acting in a judicial spirit, and without any influence of temper. Still . . . . it was provoking that there should be nothing to talk about.

When supper was finished Allan went to the stables to give final attention to the horses—a duty that had always fallen to Jim—and Harris, after a few minutes' quiet rest in his chair, began to remove his boots.

"The cows are not milked, John," said his wife. She tried to speak in a matter-of-fact way, but the tremor in her voice betrayed the import of the simple statement.

Harris paused with a boot half unlaced. While his recollection of Beulah's, defiance was clear enough, it had not occurred to him that the girl actually would stand by her guns. He had told her that she would milk the cows tonight as usual, and he had assumed, as a matter of course, that she would do so. He was not accustomed to being disobeyed.

"Where's Beulah?" he demanded.

"I guess she's in her room."

Harris laced up his boot. Then he started upstairs.

"Don't be too hard on her, John," urged his wife, with a little catch in her voice.

"I won't be too hard on anybody," he replied curtly. "It's a strange thing you wouldn't see that she did as she was told. I suppose I have to plug away in the field until dark and then come in and do another half-day's work because my women folk are too lazy or stubborn to do it themselves."

If this outburst was intended to crush Mary Harris it had a very different effect. She seemed to straighten up under the attack; the colour came back to her cheeks, and her eyes were bright and defiant.

"John Harris," she said. "You know better than to say that your women folk are either lazy or stubborn, but there's a point where imposition, even the imposition of a husband, has to stop, and you've reached that point. You didn't have to stay in the field until dark. There's another day coming, and the ploughing'll keep. It isn't like the harvest. It was just your own contrariness that kept you there. You fired the best man you ever had to-day, in a fit of temper, and now you're trying to take it out on us."

Harris looked at her for a moment; then, without speaking, he continued up the stairs. The difficulties of his position were increasing; it was something new to be assailed from the bosom of his own family. He felt that he was being very unfairly used, but he had no intention of shrinking from his duty as a husband and father, even if its discharge should bring pain to all of them.

He found Beulah in her room, ostensibly reading.

"Why are the cows not milked?" he demanded.

"I thought I made it clear to you at noon that they wouldn't be milked by me," she answered, "and there didn't seem to be anybody else hankering for the job."

"Beulah," he said, trying to speak calmly, "don't you think this nonsense has gone far enough?"

"Too far," she agreed. "But you started it—let's see you stop it."

"Beulah," he said, with rising anger, "I won't allow you to talk to me like that. Remember I'm your father, and you've a right to do as you're told. Haven't I given you everything—given you a home, and all that, and are you goin' to defy me in my own house?"

"I don't want to defy you," she answered, "but if you're going to let your temper run away with you, you can put on the brakes yourself. And as for all you've done for me—maybe I'm ungrateful, but it doesn't look half so big from my side of the fence."

"Well, what more do you want?" he demanded.

"For one thing, I wouldn't mind having a father."

"What do you mean? Ain't I your father?"

"No!" she cried. "No! No! There's no father here. You're just the boss—the foreman on the farm. You board with mother and me. We see you at meal-times. We wouldn't see you then if you didn't have to make use of us in that way. If you have a spare hour you go to town. You're always so busy, busy, with your little things, that you have no time for big things."

"I didn't know it was an offence to be busy," he answered. "It's work that makes money, and I notice you can spend your share. You're never so haughty about me workin' when you want ten-dollar bill for somethin'. Work may be a disgrace all right from your point of view, but money isn't, and in this country you don't get much of one without the other."

"Now, Dad," she protested. "You're taking me up wrong. I don't think work is a disgrace, and I'm willing to work as hard as anyone, but I do think it's a shame that you should be thinking only of work, work, work, when you don't need to. I'd like to see you think about living instead of working. And we're not living—not really living, you know—we're just existing. — Just making little twenty-four hour cycles that don't get us anywhere, except older. Don't you see what I mean? We're living all in the flesh, like an animal. When you feed the horses and put them under shelter you can't do anything more for them. But when you feed and shelter your daughter you have only half provided for her, and it's the other half, the starving half, that refuses to starve any longer."

"I'm not kickin' on religion, if that's what you mean, Beulah," he said. "You get goin' to church as often as you like, and——"

"Oh, it's not religion," she protested. "At least, it's not just going to church, and things like that, although I guess it is a more real religion, if we just understood. What are we here for, anyway? Come now, you're a man of sense and experience, and you must have settled that question in your own mind long ago. What's the answer?"

"Well, I'm here just now to tell you those cows are to be milked before—"

"Yes, dodge it! You've dodged that question so long you daren't face it. But there must be an answer somewhere, or there wouldn't be the question. There's Riles, now; he doesn't know there is such a question. He takes it for granted we're here to grab money. And then, there's Grants. They know there is such a question, and I'm sure that to some extent they've answered it. You know, I like them, but I never go into their house that I don't feel out of place. I feel like they have something that I haven't—something that makes them very rich and shows me how very poor I am. And it's embarrassing to feel poor among rich folks. Why, to-night George Grant stopped on his way home to say a word to me, and what do you suppose he said? Nothing about the weather, or the neighbors, or the crops. He asked me what I thought of the Venezuelan treaty. Of course I'd never heard of such a thing, but I said I hoped it would be for the best, or something like that, but I was ashamed—so ashamed he might have seen it in the dusk. You see, they're living—and we're existing."

If Beulah hoped by such argument to persuade her father or even to influence him she was doomed to disappointment. Harris listened to her patiently enough at first, but the conviction dawned upon him that she had been reading some silly nonsense that had temporarily distorted her young mind. Such foolishness, if allowed to take root, might have disastrous results. His daughter must learn to centre her mind on her work, and not be led away by whimsical notions that had no place in a busy life.

"You're talking a good deal of nonsense, Beulah," he said. "When you get older these questions won't worry you. In the meantime, your duty is to do as you're told. Right now that means milk the cows. I'll give you five minutes to get started."

Harris went to his room. A little later Beulah, with a light cloak about her shoulders and a suitcaes in her hand, slipped quietly down the front stairs and out into the night.

CHAPTER XI.

Crumbling Castles.

At the foot of the garden Beulah paused irresolute, the suitcase swinging gently in her hand. She had made no plans for the decisive step events of the day had forced upon her, but the step itself she felt to be inevitable. She was not in love with Jim Travers; she had turned the whole question over in her mind that afternoon, weighing it with judicial impartiality, supposing all manner of situations to try out her own emotions, and she had come to the conclusion that Travers was merely an incident in her life, a somewhat inspiring incident, perhaps, but an incident none the less. The real thing—the vital matter which demanded some exceptional protest—was the narrow and ever narrowing horizon of her father, a horizon bounded only by material gain. Against this narrowing band of outlook her vigorous spirit, with its dumb, insistent stretchings forth to the infinite, rebelled. It was not a matter of filial duty; it was not a matter of love; to her it was a matter of existence. She saw her ideals dimly enough at best, and she would burst every cord of affection and convention rather than allow them to be submerged in the grey, surrounding murk of materialism.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Says Her Recovery Is Almost Like A Miracle

From Helpless Invalid to Complete Restoration of Health, Strength, and Happiness Is Wonderful Change Mrs. Root Experienced in Three Weeks --- Statement One of Most Remarkable On Record.

MRS. JENNIE ROOT

"Just a week before I started taking Tanlac I was down in bed so crippled up with rheumatism I could not move without help. My son had taken Tanlac, and it had done him a world of good, so one day he brought home a bottle and said, "Mother I want you to take this." When I had finished that bottle, I felt like a different woman, and by the time I had finished my second bottle, I was out in the garden hoeing.

"Tanlac has simply done wonders for me; it almost seems like a miracle." This is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Jennie Root, residing at 1409 Power St., Portland, Oregon, and is only one of tens of thousands from well-known men and women who are daily testifying to the powers of Tanlac.

Continuing her wonderful statement, Mrs. Root said, "For years I suffered terribly with rheumatism and would often be down in bed for days at a time. In the last five years there was not a time that I didn't feel those rheumatic pains all through my body. About two months ago I got very much worse and my arms and legs were so bad I was almost helpless and couldn't even hold a pen to sign my name. I was so weak I could not do any housework. I couldn't even sleep, and had no rest day or night. Even to walk a few steps would tire me out completely. When I tried to walk I would stagger, and when I did walk a little way and sat down I could not get up without some one helping me. I had no appetite and hardly ate enough to keep me alive. I could not stoop over far enough to get my shoes on.

"I never knew what a night's sleep was, and would lie awake for hours. At times I would get very cold and would have to get up and sit by the fire all huddled up, and my daughters would put hot water bottles all around me. I was treated by four doctors, and took all kinds of medicine. Nothing ever did me any good. I am just like a different person now. All those terrible aches and pains have left me, and only the other day I was able to walk up four flights of stairs in an office building when the elevator was out of order.

"My appetite is just splendid now, and just to-day for the first time in years, I felt so hungry that I had to go and eat a piece of pie between meals. In fact, I can't remember the time that I have felt as well as I do now. I have not only regained my health and strength, but I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. To tell you the truth, I wouldn't exchange the benefit I have received from Tanlac for the best ranch in Oregon, and I will praise it as long as I live."

And He Got It.

An English schoolmaster promised a crown to any boy who should propound a riddle that he could not answer. After many had tried, a bright youngster said, "Why am I like the Prince of Wales?" The schoolmaster puzzled his wits in vain, and was finally compelled to admit that he did not know. "Why," said the boy, "it's because I am waiting for the crown."

Not To Be Caught.

Brown was a testy fellow, and if there was one thing more than another that he hated it was to be caught. As a consequence, he was very suspicious of any deed or word the meaning of which he could not understand. Once when he visited a menagerie he had an interesting chat with one of the keepers, and as he was about to leave the man asked: "By the way, sir, have you seen our black-faced antelope?"

"Ah," thought Brown, "he's trying to make a fool of me. "No," he replied stiffly. "May I ask with whom your black-faced aunt eloped?"

A Handsome Ermine Wrap

By Marie Belmont.

A sumptuous fur wrap is always a serviceable addition to the fashionable woman's wardrobe. This season there are many appealing creations in styles that are decidedly distinctive. This model is made of ermine. It is elaborated with a rippling cape that swings from the back of the collar. The sleeves are very wide at the cuff. A most striking effect is attained by the use of a black fox collar. This reaches almost to the waistline, decreasing in size as it reaches this point. The black fur is also introduced on the lower edge of the cape, where it accentuates the ripples.

WELL SATISFIED WITH BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Experience teaches her that the Tablets are the very best medicine she can give her baby. They are a gentle laxative; mild but thorough in action and never fail to banish constipation, colic, colds or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. Concerning them Mrs. J. Bte. Charest, St. Leon, Que., writes:—"My baby cried continually and nothing seemed to help her till I began using Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The use of Miller's Worm Powders insures healthy children so far as the ailments attributable to worms are concerned. A high mortality among children is traceable to worms. The foolish man who built his house on the sand—

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner. Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

of high ability reside at Wynndel, by winning firsts in currant cake and iced layer cake respectively.

In nine sections of canned goods, including pickles, Mrs Payne was right to the fore with three firsts and two seconds, while Mrs. Maxwell agreeably surprised all by displaying a matter of 125 likely looking dishes made from apples and thus winning the Conservo home cooking machine offered as a special prize.

J. W. Head put Lister on the map as a honey producing centre by winning first for extracted honey. Mr. Asher, the local camera artist, had a display of photographs of the Valley that got the attention of every passerby, while the Indian beadwork of Mrs. Skinny of the local reserve was paid much attention by all the lady visitors.

In addition to a long list of races designed to entertain the juvenile fair visitors, Creston and Kaslo hooked up in a thrilling eight inning baseball match which was won by Creston in the final frame, when they overcame Kaslo's one-run lead and won the encounter 9 to 8. Both the afternoon and evening show of pictures at the Grand were largely patronized—the night crowd breaking all records. The opening dance at the Grand dance hall saw an attendance of just over 100 couples, with the floor space not at all crowded even at that.

The feature of the footracing was the 100 yards dash which was captured by A. Spencer in a close finish with E. Taylor. Fred Christie won the boys' pony race, with Harty Smith second. The Indian pony race went to Hary Edwards, with Andrew Alec second.

The gate intake showed a total attendance of at least 800, and when the financial statement is submitted it can be safely said this year's fair will show a surplus considerably in excess of any of its three predecessors.

Thanks to careful planning ahead of time the fair went off without a hitch anywhere, and while praise is due officers and directors alike, special mention is due Secretary Walmsley. Not only had he the book recording work in connection with the show dor e early and correctly but in the supervising of the innumerable details around the grounds and buildings on fair days he had the whole work at his finger tips and his all round ability certainly helped materially in putting the fair over so satisfactorily.

A September Wedding

Residents of Creston will read with interest the report of the marriage of Clarence Pease and Miss Hunter of Princeton, which we clip from the Princeton Star. Up till the time of his leaving here the groom was an equally popular member of the Creston younger set, and heartiest congratulations are extended on his advent to the ranks of the benedicts. Says the Star:

At high noon on Thursday September 15th, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. R. Herison, Miss Isabel S. B. Hunter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunter, of Princeton, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Clarence A. Pease, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pease, of Cloverdale, Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Atkinson acted as groomsman and bridesmaid. Only immediate friends were present at the ceremony.

Afterwards eighteen invited guests partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. Many beautiful and useful parents testified to the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held by the many friends in Princeton.

Mr. Pease has been engaged as engineer at the mine for the last seven years with the exception of the time he spent overseas in the service of his country. The bride has been a resident here for about three years, both are popular members of the young set in town.

The happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti on the afternoon train on a honeymoon trip which will take them to Vancouver and other Coast cities. On their return they will take up their residence in their home in Princeton.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

The Importance Of Encouraging Western Settlers

The many advantages that would accrue to Canada from the settlement of the vast unoccupied areas of fertile agricultural lands in the West are fairly well recognized by all people, yet the work of peopling these vacant lands languishes and proceeds almost at a snail's pace.

There is hardly a Canadian problem today, the solution of which, wholly or largely, is not to be found in a large increase in the population of the country.

Is it the huge national debt created by the war and the consequent heavy burden of taxation? The solution is not so much in decreased expenditures or newer and additional means of revenue, but in a larger number of people to produce new wealth and to carry a share of the national load, thereby reducing the burden all round.

Is it the problem of making the National Railway pay? The solution is not to be found in higher rates for passengers and freight, which would operate to further decrease traffic, nor solely in economies in management and operation, to which there is a limit if efficient service is not to be destroyed, but through increased population and increased production creating greater traffic to keep the railways profitably busy.

Is it a steady output for our factories and uninterrupted employment for Canada's artizans? The solution is more people in Canada requiring the output of our factories.

Older countries, already blessed with fairly large populations, can well depend upon the natural increase of their people. But not so a young country like Canada, an empire in itself covering half a continent and possessing untold wealth in untouched natural resources. Canada now requires, and for many years to come will require, just what the United States required throughout the Nineteenth Century, and that is a large and steady stream of immigrants. The United States, with its more than one hundred million people, can now afford to check the stream, but Canada needs to encourage it.

In the ten or fifteen years before the war, immigration poured into Canada at a rate never experienced prior to that time. The mere handful of people in the West doubled, trebled, quadrupled; unorganized territories became flourishing Provinces; hamlets grew into towns, towns were transformed into thriving cities. Why? Because the incoming settlers brought money and goods with them, settled on vacant lands and began to produce. As they produced new wealth from the soil, the demand for the factory products of the East grew by leaps and bounds. Factories which had remained at a standstill in volume of production year after year, or grew so slowly that it was almost imperceptible, suddenly found it necessary to build a new storey, an addition, or a new building altogether in order to meet the demand. Labor was at a premium and unemployment practically unknown. The railways were congested with more traffic than they could handle. More railways had to be built, and thus more employment was created. The mines were busy and so was the lumber industry. It was all directly traceable to the immigration and the enormous resultant increase in agricultural production.

With so recent an object lesson before the country it is amazing to find a very large number of people opposing immigration to Canada now when, in order to carry the burdens imposed on the Dominion by reason of the war, the need for more people and largely increased production is so evident. Restrictions have been placed on immigration to Canada which were undreamed of a few yeras ago, and are of such a character that, as one speaker at a recent public meeting said, had they been in force at the time our parents and grand-parents immigrated to this country, probably one-half of the people now here would not be here. Stringent as present restrictions are, there is persistent demand in some quarters that they be made even more stringent, while some advocate absolute prohibition of immigration.

Possibly the immigration laws of both Canada and the United States were too lax in the past in one respect in that the bars were not kept up against the admisison of the diseased, the mentally and morally deficient, and the criminal class. All such should be rightly excluded. But lack of money should not be made a deterrent to anybody who is physically fit, morally sound, and mentally efficient, capable and willing to work.

In another respect, too, Canada was at fault in the past in its treatment of new comers. It is not sufficient to induce people to come to assist in the development of the country and on their arrival to leave them to shift for themselves, which so often led to failure and shipwreck of their lives through ignorance of the conditions and customs of the land of their adoption. A recent little "Manual of Citizenship" issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization for the guidance of new arrivals is, therefore, an encouraging innovation. In fact, the change in name from Department of Immigration to "Immigration and Colonization" is in itself significant as an indication of a new and better policy. It is important, however, that the work of immigration should not be stopped nor checked by too rigid laws and regulations. On the contrary increased efforts should be put forth to secure new settlers of the right type.

England Wants More Hens.

England needs 8,500,000 more hens in order to get back to the estimated consumption for 1913 of 120 eggs per person, asserts Edward Brown, secretary of the National Poultry Council. Mr. Brown says that in the United States and Canada it is stated the average consumption is nearly 200 eggs per unit annually. Basing his estimates on the recent census figures for Great Britain, he computes that each person in England last year ate 95 eggs.

Healthy Liver Healthy Life

Your liver—healthy or clogged, active or sluggish—makes all the difference between a vigorous, cheerful life and low spirits and failure. Persistency of British Post.

An instance of British postal delay but an equal testimonial to its persistency, was the delivery at Prince Albert to J. Harris, an Imperial veteran, of a packet of cigarettes mailed him while he was engaged in the South African War, from England in 1903. The package indicates that during its 18 years rambling it has been to India, New Zealand, and nearly all over the globe.

More Acres Seeded To Rye

Estimated That Crop of 1922 Will be Large.

It is estimated that Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan are this year seeding about 850,000 acres to fall-planted rye, as compared with 350,000 acres last year, an increase of about 500,000 acres, or about 185 per cent. It is further calculated that, given an average yield per acre, the rye crop of 1922 in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan will give the farmers of these districts three or four million dollars more than they will receive this year.

THE ORIGIN OF GALL STONES

They are simply dried bile made up of Crystalline constituents of that fluid. Very common is this disease among merchants, clergymen, shop girls and those of sedentary habits. Prevention consists in maintaining correct action of the liver and bowels, and this is spedily accomplished by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No person using Dr. Hamilton's Pills will be subject to bilious fits. Sound digestion, good appetite, a clear color will evidence the health giving properties of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are safest and best for general family use. When a laxative is needed, when you feel out of sorts, that's the time to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Wheat Yield in Saskatchewan.

The wheat yield of Saskatchewan is estimated for the present year to be 145,082,000 bushels; oats, 196,120,000 bushels; barley, 13,500,000; flax, 4,560,000 bushels; and rye, 4,053,000 bushels.

MILD EPIDEMIC GOING ROUND

It is due to impurities in the water, causes cramps, diarrhoea, headache. Those who take twenty drops of Nerviline in sweetened water usually get quick relief. It is really wonderful how good old Nerviline fixes up a sour upset stomach, how it stops hiccoughs, how quickly it puts a stop to those nasty attacks of gas. Every home should keep a bottle or two of trusty old Nerviline on hand. 35 cents everywhere.

Principal of Saskatchewan Schools Tells Out of His Own Experience What to do When the Kidneys are Diseased.

Webb, Sask. — (Special). — That there is one sovereign remedy for kidney disease and that remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills is the outspoken opinion of Mr. George Hutchings, principal of the public schools here.

"I suffered for two years from diseased kidneys," Principal Hutchings states. "I was advised about a year ago to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have helped me more than any remedy I have ever tried. I find that my health has been greatly improved.

"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney disease. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They help the kidneys to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. The result is new health and energy all over the body. Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sixty Years In One Regiment

Captain Swift Joined Queen's Own Rifles In 1861.

Captain Charles Swift, leader of the bugle band of the Queen's Own Toronto Rifles of Canada, has the longest service of any military man in Canada—sixty years in the one regiment. The Militia Department has just marked this service by promoting him to an honorary Captaincy in the regiment. It was as a triangle player that Captain Swift joined the Queen's Own Regiment at Ridgeway in 1861, and led the band on the trip to the coronation of King Edward. Leading musicians from all parts of the world have congratulated Capt. Swift on the wonderful band he leads.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh.

"There was a strange man at the door, sir," announced the new servant from Boston. "What does he want?" asked the master of the house, impatiently. "Begging your pardon, sir," replied the servant, a shade of disapproval manifest in his voice, "he wants a bath, but what he is asking for is something to eat."

Muscular Rheumatism Subdued.—When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he cannot do better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

Hail Insurance Claims.

Directors of the Municipal Hail Insurance Association have fixed the rate of premium to be paid by farmers for the current year at twenty-five cents an acre on the net seeded acreage. Based on all claims received this levy pratically means a five per cent. rate. Claims number-$1,668,491.

Proves Irrigation Is a Success

Man in Third Season Owns Farm and Equipment.

Proof of success in the irrigated section in Alberta is exemplified in a farmer named Williamson. After working as a hired man he rented an engine and ploughing outfit on an acreage basis and with the proceeds of one seasons ploughing purchased an irrigated farm of eighty acres and broke it. In the fall he bought a threshing machine and paid for it through the proceeds of the season's threshing operations. This is his third season's farming and he owns a farm, threshing and ploughing outfit and tractor, all fully paid for.

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD SPIRITS

When a doctor tells you that you are anaemic, he simply means, in plain English, that your blood is weak and watery. But this condition is one that may easily pass into a hopeless decline if prompt steps are not taken to enrich the blood. Poor blood, weak, watery blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, poor digestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous, irritability and many other troubles. To poor blood is due the pimples and blotches, the muddy complexion that disfigures so many faces. To have good health, a good complexion and a cheerful manner, the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. This is easily done through the use of a blood enriching tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to help enrich the blood which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing with it health, strength and new activity. That is why people who occasionally use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always feel bright, active and strong.

Mrs. E. E. Cook, Simcoe, Ont., gives strong testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the blood is in an anaemic condition, she says: "I have been a sufferer for some years from a run down condition of the system. I suffered from pains in the back, twitching of the nerves and muscles, my appetite was poor, I had indigestion and would get drowsy after eating. My hands and feet were always cold, and though I was constantly doctoring, the medicine I took did not help me. I had practically given up hope of good health, until a friend from Hamilton came to visit me, and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It took some persuasion, but finally I consented to try them. I have reason to be grateful that I did, for after using seven boxes I felt like a new person. I have gained in weight, have a better color and my work is now a pleasure. For this condition my thanks are due Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

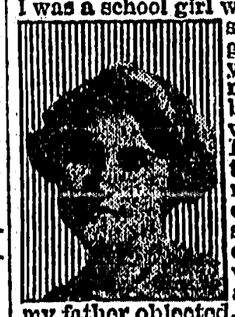
SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.



Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation; but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockvale Ave., Toronto.

Those who are troubled as Mrs. Goodman was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Britain and France To Pay Largest Proportion Of Expenses Of League

Geneva.—Great Britain and France must pay the largest proportion of the expenses of operating the League of Nations, it was found when the committee charged with determining the share each country should pay reported to the assembly of the league. Each must pay 9.26 per cent., while China, India, Italy and Japan were placed in the second category and were called upon to pay 6.65 per cent. In the third category were placed Argentina, Spain, Brazil, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia, whose individual shares were fixed at 3.58 per cent. The scale was graduated downward to .21 per cent., which will be paid by Panama, Paraguay, Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras and Liberia.

Consideration of an amendment to article 18 of the covenant of the League of Nations, which would exempt technical treatries from registration with the secretariat of the League of Nations, was postponed by the assembly of the league here.

The purpose of the change in the covenant was to make article 18 effective in breaking up secret treaties through registration.

A. J. Balfour, of Great Britain, declared it was absurd to expect nations that signed a treaty of defense which they were ready to register and make public, to be required at the same time to disclose the means, military or otherwise, by which they contemplated making their defense.

Instrumental Music And Christian Unity

(By O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta.)

The dominant issue in Christendom today is the unity of believers. All important denominations, except the Roman Catholics, and nearly all the minor ones, are actively participating in conferences looking to that goal. The discovery of a true and acceptable platform which will serve as a basis is one of chief quests, while the removal of any obstacles to such unity is of no less concern. Questions of creed, ordination, form of organization and government, and the title to property are important factors, but in the minds of both affusionists and immersionists, the question of baptism looms above them all.

There is another issue, not less grave, to which the attention of only the few has as yet been drawn. Omitting the Latin Church, there are almost as many Christians who reject instrumental music as sinful as there are who employ it and regard it as Spiritual. Those who oppose it do so from principle. They will not employ it, will not worship or have fellowship with those who do, and they base their scruples upon the Scriptures.

Such concede that instrumental music was authorized in the Old Testament, but not in the New, and insist that we are to be guided alone by the latter. They hold that while there is no affirmative prohibition of such music in the Christian Scriptures, they allege that they are our sole and sufficient guide, and that their supposed silence amounts to a prohibition.

As matters have stood, the thoughtful few have realized that this situation constitutes an impasse that must shortly block all progress towards unity, and that the parties who forego instrumental music constitute two or three hundred millions, the largest of the dozen or so bodies which so hold being the Greek Church, to which most Slavs belong, which church is actively laboring for unity.

Many have assayed to point to a way of escape, but it must be admitted that they have left the riddle unsolved. The King James version and the revision which sheds no new light on the former as regards this question, have seemed to confirm the widely accepted insistence that the New Testament is silent as to instrumental music, and that such music is an innovation.

But all that is changed by the appearance of a remarkable book which has just been issued from the pen of O. E. Payne, of Hanna, Alberta, which is being received with equal joy by those who have conscientiously refrained from using such music. The book is entitled, "Instrumental Music Is Scriptural," and, in a new masterly way that amazes the best informed of both sides, proceeds to show that the New Testament is not silent upon the question, but that Christians are as distinctly directed to employ instruments in praising God as they are their voices in song. The inspired writers employ two Greek verbs, ado and psallo, to tell us what manner of music to employ. By the consent of all, the first means to sing. As to psallo, the author quotes definitions from a hundred Greek lexicons covering more than twenty centuries, proving that it means to play an instrument. Every important lexicon is included in the long list. Then, to guard against the possibility of the lexicons erring, about one hundred and fifty examples of the use of the word are gleaned from Greek writers of the centuries before, at the time of and after the period in which the New Testament was being written. About thirty of these excerpts are from contemporaries of the Apostles, in which the context proves to a certainty that the authors used the word to refer to instrumental music.

Having in these and many other ways established the fact that psallo signified the playing of an instrument, and that therefore when, in Greek, Christians are directed to "sing and play," the author proceeds to prove that from the first, translators have so understood the words. A century after the New Testament was written the Peshito, the first known translation, which Philip Schaff terms "the queen of versions," because of its accuracy, was from the Greek to the Syriac. Throughout it renders the Greek psallo as meaning play instruments. A Coptic translation in like way is also cited.

Four hundred years ago Luther pursued a like course, translating the Greek into "singet und spielet," which, in German, means "sings and play." The several revisions of Luther's great translation continue this rendering as do many other German translations, and all the Danish, Swedish, Norwegian and Dutch translations the author was able to find. It is thus shown that the common English versions are exceptional in rendering the two words "sing and make melody," while Rotherham's English and most other modern European translations agree with each other and the lexicons in rendering the verbs to "sing and play."

In thus removing the cause for scruples which many had, and the impasse as regards music toward which the world-wide unity movement was rapidly traveling, the author of this work, which is the outcome of years of research in the libraries of two continents, has earned the thanks of Christendom.

The book is equally adapted to the learned and unlearned, and the author, O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta., deserves credit for the production of this interesting work.

Oil Light Beats Electric or Gas

Burns 94% Air

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 100 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, T. V. Johnson, 595 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $200 to $500 per month.

Conference Will Debate On Improvement Of Canadian Livestock

Ottawa.—A conference of veterinarians to discuss the best means of improving the health of Canada's livestock, is to be called, at Ottawa for Nov. 15 and 16. Probably no livestock producing country in the whole world has a better record for freedom from disease than has Canada, said Dr. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, a condition undoubtedly largely due to the inspection system carried on by the department's health of animals branch. The work of keeping Canadian stock free from disease and giving it an even finer reputation than it now enjoys is not to be done by individuals or small groups in this work, says Dr. Grisdale, which must be done by a centralized organization for all Canada. Accordingly, serious consideration will be given at the forthcoming conference to the formation of a national veterinary association to work in connection with the department.

Representative veterinarians from every province in the Dominion will be invited to attend the conference.

The estimated value of Canadian livestock today is $1,078,262,000, and the department believes that any effort to enhance this great national asset must be to the advantage of the whole country.

Australia's Premier Says 20,000 Emigrants All They Could Handle.

London.—A Reuter cable from Melbourne says that Premier W. M. Premier Hughes thinks the figure quoted is absurd. In his view, the practical position is that from 12,000 to 20,000 might safely be sent out this year.
