Union Favors New Marketing Policy

There was a large and representative turnout of the Union growers on Thursday night in Speers' Hall to hear the address of E. C. Barnes of the Okanagan United Growers staff, who is at present visiting all the Kootenay points, including Grand Forks, discussing with the growers the plans of the province-wide selling organization, which will probably be called the United Growers, which will be made up of the O.U.G. and every other possible co-operative selling agency.

The aim of the new concern is to get control of the distribution of possibly 75 per cent. of the B.C. fruit crop, and careful and by systematic distribution prevent glutted markets with the inevitable slashing of prices to effect sales. Districts west of here have all been successfully organized and the decision of Creston Fruit Growers Union to link up with the new enterprise pretty well assures that the new order of things will take effect immediately.

In addition to getting the growers linked up with a comprehensive marketing plan, the enterprise also includes the formation of an effective selling concern in the reorganized Growers Sales agency, which as now constituted will have preference in supplying all the independent wholesale houses which at present represent sixty per cent. of the western Canada fruit distribution. The working agreement with the wholesalers going so far as to assure the Growers' Sales opportunity to meet any cuts in price other selling concerns may offer.

A strong feature to the Sales Agency, as mentioned by Mr. Barnes, is that they are a company handling all lines of fruit, etc., twelve months in the year, and that any profits that may be made are divided 50-50 with the Sales Agency shareholders and the various locals or unions that will make up the United Growers.

Too, in the new enterprise Creston's interests are doubly safeguarded in that provision is made for the election of a Creston man to act as a director of both the Sales Agency and the United Growers.

The linking up with the new selling enterprise necessitates the giving of five-year contracts by the growers to the Union, and after this feature had been threshed out those favoring were asked to sign these five-year agreements, and practically every grower present did so. Since then a canvass has been made of those not present at the gathering and at present we are assured that at least 80 per cent. of the Union growers have now committed themselves to the longer-term contract.

The plans of the United Growers are to open a central office at Nelson to take care of the purely financial features that the O.U.G. centralize at Vernon. There will also be a warehouse at Nelson for the assembling of the odd lots that cannot be shipped in straight cars from the lake points. Creston, of course, will handle its shipping the same as at present. Under the new arrangement provision is made for fortnightly payments to the Creston Union and in turn the Valley growers will be paid twice a month up to 60 per cent. of the value of the fruit and vegetables handled.

The new arrangement, too, should assure a substantial reduction in operating expenses of the various locals, as well as giving them the advantage of the savings that should be affected in the huge buying capacity of the United Growers, and some increased revenue in the shape of dividends from the Growers Sales Agency profits.

West Creston

Vehicular travel to Creston is again possible after being shut off for about a month by the floods. E. Simmons made the first trip to town Thursday.

Haying operations are in full swing on this side of the Kootenay and a very satisfactory crop of clover is being taken, whilst alfalfa four feet long and running three tons to the acre is reported.

Now that the cherry crop is maturing crow hunters can make quite a clean up by locating in this area as these birds are more numerous than usual, along with the grosbeaks which are also more plentiful than usual.

Geo. Seymour, who has been making headquarters in Creston for several months, is expecting to get away on a trip to New Zealand sometime in July and will be away for possibly a year.

The flood waters are receding rapidly and the Reclamation Farm cattle making their appearance on the flats again.

Considerable land clearing is still being done in this section, stumping operations being active on the Hurry ranch.

Kitchener

Mrs. Maderley, who has been visiting in Kitchener, has left for Cranbrook.

Teddy Clauson of Cranbrook was here a few days last week, on a visit to B. Johnson.

Misses Laura Andeen and Alice Molander are visiting with friends at Moyie, while Miss Ellen Andeen has gone to Cranbrook, where she will spend the next two months taking up music.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard were at home to the people of Kitchener at quite the most enjoyable dance ever given here, the affair being in honor of Miss Schmidt. Upward of fifty guests were present and the evening was one of solid enjoyment throughout. Miss Schmidt was also guest of honor at a tea given by Miss Esther Erickson at the B. Johnson residence, which was equally enjoyable. Miss Schmidt left this week for her home in Rossland.

The final report of Kitchener school has just been issued, as follows: Honor Rolls: Proficiency—Ellen Andeen. Deportment—Mildred Andeen. Regularity—Edith Geroux. The pupils promoted are:—From Junior to Senior Fourth—Alice Molander. From Junior to Senior Third—Ellen Andeen, Clara Hunt, Laura Andeen, Mildred Andeen. From Second Reader to Junior Third—Beatrice Molander, Margaret Cardiff, Ernestine Minard. From Phonic Primer to First Reader—Madeline Minard, Richard Molander. From Beginner's Reader to Phonic Phonic Primer—Vivian Langlois, Helen Schonnert, Vera McGonegal, Alice Cameron, Elton Schonnert. Perfect attendance for June—Edith Geroux, Alice Molander, Ellen Andeen, Laura Andeen, Mildred Andeen, Clara Hunt, Beatrice Molander, Ernestine Minard, Richard Molander, Madeline Minard, Vera McGonegal, Alice Cameron. Certificates in the MacLean Muscular Movement writing tests were awarded Helen Schonnert, Beatrice Molander and Edith Geroux.

Lister

Mrs. McKee of Yahk is a visitor here at present, with her mother, Mrs. Bert Yewberry.

Misses Campion and Irvine, teachers of the local school, have gone to Nelson for the summer holidays.

Mr. Little, who has been employed at the new mill at Chase, for the past few months, has returned home.

The continued dry weather is having disastrous effect on Lister crops. Spring wheat and oats are only up about a foot and are already heading out. Raspberries and strawberries are at a standstill. The orchards, however, are in a fine condition, generally.

The hay crop in this section is quite disappointing. Clover is turning out poor, and the best alfalfa is doing but one and a half tons to the acre for the first cut.

Mrs. John Huscroft, who has been staying in Creston the past month, has returned home.

Owing to a lack of space in this issue the final reports of the Lister school are held over until next week.

The best of the season's baseball will be seen at Creston on Sunday afternoon, July 16th, when the locals have the return game with Bonners Ferry. The visitors undoubtedly have the best team in Idaho, having never been beaten this year, while Creston will be reinforced by including the fastest players of the three teams now playing in the Valley league. The fans should not miss this opportunity to see the classiest article of baseball ever dispensed in town.

A Nelson, the Canyon butcher, announces that he has temporarily closed his shop in Creston, but that he will call on his customers with his wagon one day a week instead. Due notice will be given of the re-opening of the shop.

In order to provide fast workouts for the baseball talent an inter-district series of games has been arranged with teams representing Wynndel, Creston and Erickson. In the clash on Wednesday night of last week Erickson put over a win against Creston but the locals evened the standing up on Wednesday night when they trimmed Wynndel by a margin of 10 8. The team to meet Bonners Ferry here on Sunday, July 16th, will be picked from the best of the three teams in the Valley league.

Alice Siding

M. Churchill was a business visitor at Nelson a couple of days last week.

Reed & Mather have erected a fan in each of their packing sheds for cooling the berries as well as adding to the comfort of the staff of packers.

Mr. Bailey, father of Mrs. Webster, is here from Saskatchewan on a visit at the Webster ranch.

The berry crop in this area is light this year. Despite the increased acreage shipments are not even up to those of 1921.

Miss Wadds, who has had charge of the Alice Siding school the past year, left for her home at Crawford Bay on Sunday.

Reports coming from the hospital at Cranbrook are to the effect that Mrs. Webster continues to make as good progress toward recovery as can be expected.

Miss Dalton of Shanghai, China arrived here the latter part of the week, on an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. W. H. Hilton.

Building permits for the month include a new house that Jack Smith already has under construction on his ranch here.

Mrs. Hook and family of Spokane are visiting her mother, Mrs. J. J. Grady, for the summer months.

Mrs. Mosely of Arrow Park arrived on Sunday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. R. Uri.

T. W. Davies, who has the contract for building the new house on the Sheppard ranch, has the work coming along in fine style.

Tenders are being called for the clearing of the right of way of the new road from the main highway up to the Cooper and Ofner ranches, which will eliminate the heavy grade experienced in travelling the present highway.

Preparing Drainage Report

BOISE, June 27.—Reclamation Commissioner W. G. Swendsen is working on a preliminary report to be submitted to the United States reclamation service on the Kootenai drainage project, of which he recently concluded an investigation in company with E. A. Cleveland, comptroller of water resources of British Columbia. The project is an international one, looking to the reclamation of rich land in the Kootenai valley which is inundated annually. Originally estimated at 120,000 acres, it was found to contain about 63,000 acres after elimination of lakes which can not be drained and other unsuitable land.

Mr. Swendsen is much more sanguine over the possibilities of the project than he was at the outset.

E. B. Darlington of the state reclamation office and Jack Toombs of the United States geological survey, have conducted underground tests and made surveys of the Kootenai river and its lowlands for Mr. Swendsen, their findings being favorable for successful drainage, if the work can be undertaken on a large enough scale.

Cranbrook Beats Creston Trapshots

By the narrow margin of two points Cranbrook riflemen managed to retain the East Kootenay trap shooting honors in a five-men-a-side match with Creston at Cranbrook on Dominion Day afternoon.

E. Cooper of Cranbrook was high gun of the shoot, with a score of 20 out of a possible 25, but the second, third and fourth place honors all fell to Creston, and had it been possible to have taken along a shot with more practise than it has been possible for J. W. Bell to get this year Creston would surely have been returned winners. But at that their showing was in every way creditable, the visitors having to work in the heat of the afternoon following a five-hour motor drive to Cranbrook the same day. Creston, too, was at some slight disadvantage in that the "trap" used at Cranbrook is of a larger size than the one used here. The scores:

CRESTON		CRANBROOK
Milt Beam	17	E. Cooper	20
Col. Lister	17	A. C. Bowness	14
Geo. Mawson	13	J. Laidlaw	14
Reg. Eastlake	16	E. Staples	15
J. W. Bell	9	A Grey	16
	77		79

Creston shots speak in the highest terms of splendid treatment they received at the hands of the members of the Cranbrook club, and look forward to having the pleasure of returning the compliment at a return shoot to be held in Creston before the end of the month.

Sirdar

The Bartlett geological survey party are working in this section at present and are camped back of the boarding house.

Excavation work is complete for the store building D. Whitesides is putting up the lot next the Loasby residence. We understand the structure will also include a hall and garage.

Mrs. Ernest Ryckman of San Francisco was a visitor here last week with her sister, Mrs. Jack Cameron.

Miss Neil of Kingsgate was a Sirdar visiter for a few days, with her father who is in charge of the yard engine.

Master Donald C. Moore of Vancouver is spending part of his summer vacation here with his aunt, Mrs. Loasby.

The sewing circle gave the school children a treat on Saturday afternoon the favorite feature of which was the refreshments, which included strawberries and cake, ice cream, etc. In the evening the ladies had charge of the dance in the schoolhouse, which was a most enjoyable affair.

Mrs. Dennes is around again after being confined to the house with a rather severe attack of tonsolitis.

The new residence of Harry Hughes is now completed, and he will be moving into it in a few days.

The McCabe bridge crew have been shifted to Kimberley where they have started new construction work that will keep them busy for several weeks.

San Lombardo has a couple of men busy slashing the ten acres opposite the water tank, which he recently purchased from Mr. Nowell.

The annual school meeting is set for Saturday night and owing to the new system of financing the school affairs there will likely be quite a change in the personnel of the trustee board.

Fiske Farm, Elba,
June 24th, 19—.

In spite of Mrs. Arnold's prediction, I am not in a state of mental and physical collapse. Neither have I, since I reached the Fiske Farm, scrubbed the floors, done the washing, milked twelve cows, or cooked the dinner in a red-hot kitchen full of flies. In passing I might say that Mrs. Fiske's kitchen is the coolest and most delightful room in the house, and as for flies—why, even one fly would give her nervous prostration!

To be exact, I have just finished correcting several Latin exercises for Miss Fiske—christened Orvetta, known as Orvetty on Sundays, and as Gypsy on week-days. That does not appear as if I were a plain hired girl, does it?

I was listening with due attention to Mary's farewell lecture on Tuesday when a war-whoop from Percival made me jump in a manner most humiliating to one who prides herself on a total lack of nerves.

"Gee, here's Gypsy Fiske in the auto! Come on, Reg." And the two boys, shouting a hearty welcome to the evidently popular unknown, clattered down the stairs.

"Brethren, my time is come," announced Mary solemnly. "This is positively your last chance to escape, Elinor. If your heart fails you now, tell me quickly and I shall inform the unknown Gypsy that I am Miss Elinor Eliot—and I wonder how long they would stand me as a working companion?"

"Don't be silly, Mary," I replied. "One would think to hear you that I am going into some awful danger."

"Well, doesn't such a combination as Gypsy Fiske and an automobile strike you as being dangerous?" she retorted.

"Come right up, Orvetty," we heard Mrs. Mills's voice from the stairs; "the young ladies are in the setting-room. My, I like them auto bonnets! Do you think one of them would become me? A red one, say, with perhaps a bit of a feather on it? I was always partial to red."

"Young ladies?" questioned another voice. "I thought . . ."

"Hush-sh," retorted Mrs. Mills as she opened the door.

Gypsy, alias Orvetta, Fiske deserves a paragraph to herself.

My first thought as she entered the room behind Mrs. Fiske was that she was the handsomest girl I had ever seen—not pretty, really handsome—and after watching her for the greater part of the time for three days I have not changed my mind. Why didn't Mr. Hartford warn me, I wonder? She is taller than I (five feet nine, I should say), and beautifully proportioned. Her hair is black, the soft, dusky black, as are her eyebrows and lashes, and she has the thick creamy skin that sun and wind do not mark. But her eyes are the most wonderful part of all, wide-set, tilted just the least bit at the corners—and black? Not a bit of it, but the bluest of blue.

I am sure that Mrs. Mills enjoyed the politely concealed wonder with which we three girls met each other.

For a few minutes we discussed the weather, crop prospects, my impressions of Canada, and other kindred themes. And then it was time for Mary to go to the station.

Miss Fiske took us all in the motor-car, which she drives for herself. She and Mrs. Mills occupied the front seat, Mary and I the back one, and the twins were overjoyed to be allowed to ride on the running-board. If Mr. Livingstone's horses were a trifle fresh, Miss Fiske's car was truly verdant. I had time for only one gasp before we were at the station. Elba is not so populous that speed regulations are necessary, and the street was clear, so we did not break anything.

It is the custom in Elba for all the inhabitants thereof to see the east-bound train out of town. Mary says that she can now sympathize with royalty. Miss Fiske very thoughtfully kept Mrs. Mills and the boys occupied, so Mary and I were able to say good-bye in comparative privacy.

It was a very solemn Elinor who took her place in the motor-car after the train had carried Mary out of sight. The boys begged to sit in front and blow the horn, so Mrs. Mills came behind with me. "Don't you fret none," she said sympathetically under cover of the blood-curdling shrieks of the siren; "you'll be all right with Arabella, an' Gypsy a real nice girl."

At five o'clock Miss Fiske and I left for the farm, which is four miles from Elba. We went in the direction of the few trees I had seen, and I found that they followed the course of a little river known as "Livingstone's Creek." Miss Fiske drove slowly, and as we passed each farm-house she gave me a short history of the family that lived in it.

But I could see that, in spite of her air of unconcern, she was not at her ease. At last she blurted out:

"Miss Eliot, do you know what a working companion's duties are? I mean . . ." and here her courage failed her.

"Well," I replied, glad that the ice was broken, "I thought at one time that I did, but it seems now that I must have been mistaken. But I shall do my best, and perhaps your mother and I can make some satisfactory arrangement. I shall certainly not go back on my bargain now."

"The trouble is that Mother had very little to do with it," Miss Fiske answered. "I am the one responsible."

And then she told me how it was that they had advertised for a working companion rather than for a general servant.

"Mother is going to Ontario for a visit this summer," she began, "and she will not leave me without a woman to keep me company. And even if I could stay alone I could not manage all the work—we have six men to cook for, besides all the general housework.

"But you simply cannot imagine how hard it is to get anyone to work for you in the country. Since I have been away to school Mother has had one girl after another. All the nice ones get married in a few months and the others are—awful! The last one we had got drunk on a bottle of horse-liniment and nearly killed herself. And the one before that was a homesick German who cried all the time, and after six weeks eloped with a travelling butcher. And the one before that 'wasn't used to kitchen work'; all she could do was dust, and set the table fit for a banquet.

"So I just told Mother that I had to have someone who could be a companion to me while she was away, and I wrote the advertisement. When your letter came I picked it right out of the bunch. 'That's the one I want, Dad,' I said. You see, we never thought of asking, and you never thought of giving, your age. I made up my mind that you were one of those nice, capable, middle-aged Englishwomen who had perhaps been somebody's housekeeper for twenty years or so."

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this letter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

Production of Dairy Butter

Increased Output for 1921 Over Previous Year

The total quantity of dairy butter produced in 1921 in Canada was 122,776,580 pounds valued at $45,893,082. This is an increase in quantity over the previous year of 11,084,862 pounds. Increased production is shown by all the provinces with the exception of Prince Edward Island, the largest proportionate increase, 36 per cent., being recorded by British Columbia. In order of dairying importance the provinces rank: Ontario, Quebec, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions one of the best remedies that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and they pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

Newspapers Help In Solving Problems

Minister of Interior Tells Association of Power of Press

At the convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association held in Ottawa recently, a number of interesting papers were read.

Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in an interesting address, said he wished to congratulate Mr. French on being president of such a fine body of people, who did so much to mould public opinion in the Dominion. His slogan had always been business first and politics afterwards. He found that this had not worked in Alberta during the last elections, but he had not yet altered his opinion.

The association could do a lot to help him in his work as Minister of the Interior. In the immigration problem, the department was at a loss to account for the fact that Canada was losing its immigrants. A certain section of Ontario, for instance, had a smaller population than it had some 15 or 20 years ago. The returned soldiers' settlement scheme too had not proved all it promised to be. He thought that the weekly press of Canada could help him determine the causes of these things so that remedies could be applied. He thought that a movement of co-ordination throughout the country to make things for the immigrant easier and to remedy faults where they occurred would do much to place Canada on a basis of contentment and prosperity.

Referring to the weekly paper in particular, Mr. Stewart said it was truly the home paper. It was taken home, read and re-read, each member of the family considering it an essential part of the home life. In the rural districts, especially in the west, the receipt of the weekly paper from the old home town was looked forward to with keen interest, as it was largely the medium by which the settlers kept in touch with old friends.

Mr. Stewart said he admired the courage and ambition of the weekly publisher, who had, in many cases, to overcome very serious handicaps before his paper became a success. The public owed a debt of gratitude to the weekly editor, who in many cases, was the mainstay of the community.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Mead—Todd Nuptials

Fernie Free Press,

One of the most popular weddings of the season took place in Christ Church, on the 28th inst. at 4.30 p.m., when Helen Rheta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Todd, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to George Davidson Meade, of Creston, B.C. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. U. Oswald.

The bride, a charming picture, attired in white Charmeuse with French bugle trimmings and a veil of French net and orange blossoms fastened with a beautiful pin, the gift of the groom, and carrying a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and lily of the valley, entered the church upon the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Clara Cody.

She was attended by three bridesmaids and two little flower girls, namely: Miss Daphne, sister of the bride, Miss Jeannette Cody, of Fernie, and Miss Blanche La Belle, of Kallispell, Montana, and the little Misses Emma and Katherine Wilson, attired in gowns of blue, orchid, and pink taffeta and jade green and maizie organdie.

The groom, who is a native son of Vancouver, B.C., was supported by Mr. L. E. Kyle, also of that city.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Dr. Asseltine sweetly sang, "O Promise Me," by Reginald de Koven.

The ushers were Messrs. Taynton, Colton and Rawlinson.

After the ceremony, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom partook of a sumptuous supper.

The gift of the groom to the groomsman was a gold tie pin with pearl setting, to Miss Daphne Todd, a white prayer book, to Misses Jeanette Cody and Blanche La Belle, gold bar pins, to the little flower girls, pearl lace pins, to the organist, Miss Clara Cody, and soloist, Mrs. Dr. Asseltine, sterling silver salt and pepper shakers, and to the ushers, sterling eversharp pencils.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the young couple were held.

The bride's travelling costume was of reindeer broadcloth, beautifully embroidered and wearing an ermine cape and feather hat.

Amid shower of good wishes and confetti, the young couple left on the evening train for Banff. On their return, on August 1st, they will take up residence at Killarney, Creston.

Birthday Of The Dominion

The fifty-fifth anniversary of Confederation on July 1 finds Canada enjoying fairly robust national health and, when studied in comparison with other countries, in pretty good shape financially, and its people contented and happy.

Of course, in these early after-war years, conditions in Canada, as in all countries, must be viewed in the light cast by that great world upheavel. It is impossible to fairly contrast conditions in the years before the war with those which now prevail, because the standard of comparison has in so many important respects been completely altered. When considering present-day conditions in Canada the comparison should rather be made with conditions as they are found to exist in other countries.

Applying this test to Canada on the occasion of its fifty-fifth birthday our people have good reason for satisfaction. Probably no country has suffered less during the past year from industrial turmoil and labor troubles than has the Dominion. No great national disaster occurred. While there was much unemployment during the past winter, even in this respect the Dominion presented a more favorable aspect than most countries. The returns from agriculture were not all that had been hoped for and expected, but the adverse conditions of last year have operated in certain respects to improve the outlook this year.

The operations of the past year have resulted in the Canadian dollar again reaching almost par on the United States money markets, while the credit of the Dominion has not only remained sound and strong but has improved. The deficit on the National Railways has been substantially reduced, and although there is still a long road to travel before earnings will overtake all costs of operation, maintenance and interest charges, gratifying progress towards that goal has been recorded.

As a national birthday gift, too, comes the definite assurance of a substantial reduction in freight rates, a reduction which will certainly give an impetus to business generally and which will, we confidently predict, prove advantageous to the railways themselves.

At this anniversary time, however, while rejoicing because of the many blessings which the people of Canada enjoy, every patriotic citizen should also give serious heed and thought to the needs of their Dominion, the dangers which confront it, and the duty of the individual in the circumstances.

It would be foolish to seek to disguise the fact that the national debt of over two and a quarter billions of dollars, not to speak of Provincial, Municipal and School debts, is a heavy load for less than eight million people to carry. Not only must the interest charges on that studendous sum of money be met, but an effort must be made to reduce the principal sum from year to year until it is brought to a level where it can be carried without constituting a burden and an ever present obstacle to the inauguration of enterprises essential to the continued betterment and progress of the country.

There is only one way in which this burden of debt can be carried and removed, and that is through taxation, and the people of Canada must, therefore, be prepared to pay heavy taxes for many years to come. It is their contribution to the peace and personal liberty they enjoy; it is one of the duties of citizenship which they must ungrudgingly discharge. And heavy though these taxes may bear, they are light in Canada when placed in comparison with what the people of most countries throughout the world today are called upon to pay.

But there is only one way in which taxes can be paid and that is through the industry and labor of the people—not a portion of the population, but all the people. Wealth is not produced through the process of printing bank bills. If it were, Russia would be the richest country in the world today, instead of being in a state of poverty and internationally bankrupt. Finely engraved bank bills are merely the outward evidence of wealth created through labor, and represented by these bills for convenience in transacting the business of the world. It is through labor, and labor alone, that wealth is produced, and it is vitally important for Canada, and for each and every Canadian citizen to become thoroughly seized of that fact and conduct themselves accordingly.

On this anniversary of Confederation, each citizen of Canada might well resolve to make their country a birthday present, and no present could be more acceptable, or more far-reaching in its beneficial results not only to the Dominion as a whole but to each individual calling Canada "home," than a determination, expressed or unexpected, on the part of all citizens to make Canada's new year one of hard, conscientious productive work. Nothing will more surely start all the wheels of business and national activity revolving more rapidly, nothing will more quickly bring about a new era of prosperity; and nothing less will suffice to relieve Canada of its greatest danger—its unduly large national debt.

A Fatal Temperature

Soldier's Scheme to Stay in Hospital Did Not Work

A convalescent soldier, who was so comfortable in the hospital he hated the idea of leaving it, thought of a plan to prolong his stay. While his nurse's back was turned he removed the clinical thermometer she had placed in his mouth and held it for a few moments against the register. The nurse, returning to him, looked at the thermometer, but never blinked an eye. She merely murmured, "Poor fellow!" and went off to make her report.

Later she came back and announced that the patient was leaving that day.

"But nurse," he protested, "my temperature was away up this morning."

"I know," she replied calmly, "up to 140. That's why they're moving you—you're dead."—The Veteran.

Exports to Belgium

During the past fiscal year Canada exported to Belgium commodities to the value of $40,000,000. Of this sum about seven-eighths represents the value of wheat exported; $2,000,000 cheese; $2,000,000 asbestos; $270,000 flax; $200,00 canned fish; and the balance barley, concentrated milk, rye, etc. According to the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Belgium there is a good market in that country for Canadian cattle on the hoof, flour, pulp and furs.

Edward Brown, Provincial Treasurer of Manitoba, that arrangements have been made by the Govern- 000 for the Manitoba Farm Loans Asment for raising an additional $1,000, sociation. The treasurer called a meeting of the provincial cabinet and arranged the flotation of a $1,000,000, three-year, five per cent. province of Manitoba loan, which was sold to the Dominion Securities Corporation for 98.70. Animals Seek Place to Die

Prospector Explains Why Remains Are Found in Underground Caves

Harry Wigg, a prospector well known in the Transvaal and Rhodesia, offers a remarkable explanation of the finding of the remains of wild animals in underground caves.

He maintains that the same call that sets wild life migrating sends these creatures to a known goal when they know their time has come to die.

Mr. Wigg recalls an interesting experience he had in Southern Rhodesia, when a vast sepulchre of wild life was shown him by the Chief Nog of Southern Rhodesia.

They passed down a valley in which there were neither trees nor birds nor any life whatsoever. Utter stillness reigned.

The end of the valley was closed by a jagged, weather-worn curtain of conglomerate and on a ledge some ten feet above the floor on the valley was the entrance to a cave, the centre of which was cleft by a big fissure.

Huge boulders of conglomerate disintegrated from the softer sandstone formed niches and minor caves and galleries.

Every inch of the ledges was covered by the remains of animals, while a pit was filled high with thousands of skeletons of all the big buck and elephant, rhino and buffalo in all stages of "dry" decay.

Mr. Wigg had apparently found "the place where elephants die," of which much of a legendary nature has been said and written.

Worth Noting

A gift of $3 in Roumanian money was recently received from children of a village near Bucharest, sent to "aid the children of families made destitute by the destruction of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Washington, D.C." To children with their limited outlook, the Knickerbocker disaster appeared something which affected the whole American people, and since they had been helped by American children they wanted, out of their limited means, to give help in return. —Christian Science Monitor.

Winnipeg Resident Gains 12 Pounds and Hasn't a Trace Of Indigestion and Nervousness Left---Says Tanlac Will Help Anybody.

"It is wonderful what Tanlac did for me and I feel it my duty to tell about it for the benefit of others trying to find a medicine for their troubles," said Mrs. C. Clifford, 625 Langside Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"Five years ago I had a nervous breakdown and since then I have suffered terribly from dyspepsia and constipation and was in a general run-down condition. My head hurt so bad at times it seemed it would split open and I never ate a meal without having awful pains and bloating of gas that kept me perfectly miserable for hours. I could scarcely eat anything, lost weight, and was so nervous I never could get a good night's sleep.

"Tanlac made me gain twelve pounds, I never have indigestion any more and my nerves are in fine condition. I believe Tanlac will help anyone suffering like I was, and I shall always recommend it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

More Peril on Ground

Statistics Show More Infantry Officers Killed Than Airmen

There was less danger of death in the late war to officers who fought in the air than to those who combatted on the earth. French statistics show that 29 per cent. of infantry officers were killed, while only 21 per cent. of aviation officers lost their lives.

The fatalities among officers in general as compared to enlisted men in all branches were nearly equal, being 19 per cent. for the former and 18.5 per cent. for the latter.

The percentage of losses by age show that the 20-year-old soldiers, both officers and men, suffered the most. Here the death list was 29.2 per cent., while men from 45 to 50 years old lost in killed between 3 per cent. and 5 per cent. of their numbers.

Royal Welcome To Prince Of Wales On Return To England

London.—England gave an affectionate and joyous welcome to the Prince of Wales upon his return from his third imperial tour of the world. London, which he left eight months ago, greeted him with a fervor and spontaneity befitting a royal ambassador of the Empire returning from a series of diplomatic triumphs.

Through his half-hour ride from Paddington Station to Buckingham Palace, the Prince was acclaimed by jubilant crowds, who showered upon him salutations of affection and loyalty. Although he had been the recipient of endless stirring ovations on previous occasions, the Prince was profoundly affected by London's ringing welcome his pride and gratitude showing through tears of joy.

The Prince's reception by London's millions was exceeded in depth and emotion only by the ardent family greeting when he stepped from the train. The King grasped him by both hands and the Queen embraced him with motherly affection. Princess Mary who was married during his absence, discarding stilted royal decorum, threw both arms around him, and hugged him. Dowager Queen Alexandra and other relatives embraced him. The Prince's greeting to Viscount Lascelles, whom he met for the first time, consisted of a formal handshake, with no effort at conversation.

Observing the Prime Minister among the group of cabinet members, generals and ambassadors, the Prince advanced rapidly and greeted him effusively. Mr. Lloyd George returned the saluations with vigorous congratulations at the success of the Prince's tour.

After the Prince had shaken hands with the members of the cabinet and inspected the guards of honor with the King, a choir in the station sang, "God Bless the Prince of Wales," the tuneful strains of the popular melody resounding throughout the great glass-covered railway terminal. The Prince then entered an open carriage with the King and his two brothers.

Cyclone in Mossbank District

Windstorm Causes Considerable Damage to Farm Property

Regina.—A cyclone from the southeast travelling northwest struck Mossbank district and did damage which will run high.

The farm buildings on the farm of John Ireland, including garage, granary, large barn 36 by 70 ft., were reduced to kindling, all the outbuildings have disappeared and the roof of the kitchen is nowhere to be found. The family took refuge in the cellar.

An automobile, wagons and machinery were twisted into junk. One of Mr. Ireland's cows was taken up in the air and in falling some distance away was killed.

On the farms of Peter Horn, Herb Payne and Josiah Ireland, granaries, barns and outbuildings were blown to pieces and completely destroyed.

For a time Mossbank people watched the funnel shaped cloud which came within one mile from town near the Elmer Wighton farm. Here it raised and divided, descended in all its fury on the farm of John Ireland. A heavy rain and some hail fell following the cyclone.

Problem of Returned Soldiers

Widening of Scope of Royal Commission Agreed Upon

Ottawa.—Problems of the returned soldier were discussed in the House recently. The discussion arose on a motion for concurrence in the report of the special committee on pensions and re-establishment, which was adopted without division.

Herbert Marler of St. Lawrence-St. George (Montreal) Chairman of the Committee, related at length its activities and its findings. He emphasized the great debt of Canada to the returned men but observed, too, that they were also citizens of Canada and on them devolved the duties of citizenship. And following Mr. Marler, Alfred Speakman, of Red Deer, Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Land Settlement, reviewed what was proposed in the way of assistance to soldier settlers on the land. The aim of the scheme was sound, he asserted. The difficulty lay in changed economic conditions.

Subsequently came criticisms, J. T. Shaw (Progressive, Calgary West) —himself a war veteran—had an amendment to extend the scope of the royal commission, proposed to investigate G.W.V.A. charges against the Pensions Board. Under Mr. Shaw's amendment the commission would have power to make a complete survey of existing re-establishment needs, and to investigate the questions of exchange and canteen funds. Mr. Shaw regretted that the special committee had made no definite proposals in regard to unemployment. He criticized limitations placed on returned soldiers' insurance.

From other members also came pleas that the scope of the proposed royal commission should be extended.

Mr. Marler eventually agreed to a widening of the scope of the Royal commission, but declared that the provision to investigate "exchange" matters would entail a great deal of expense. He suggested that the clause be dropped. Mr. Shaw withdrew his amendment on this understanding.

Questions Government On Empire Wireless

British M.P. Asks Relationship of Canada to Plan

London.—In the House of Commons, P. A. Hurd, Coalition Unionist, asked whether the conference with the Canadian Government regarding an empire wireless chain, which was announced more than a year ago as about to take place had yet been held, and what was Canada's relationship towards the British post office's wireless scheme.

Rt. Hon. H. P. Pease, Assistant Postmaster-General, replied that informal conversations only have so far taken place, but he added, the Canadian Government would shortly send two technical representatives to discuss the whole subject with the British Government. After discussions it would be possible to describe the relationship of Canada towards an empire wireless chain.

Practice of Conferring Titles

Appointment of Committee to Consider Question in Britain

London.—Fifteen members of the House of Commons have agreed to support the submission of a motion for the appointment of a select committee to consider the system under which honors are conferred, the idea being to discover what changes, if any, are necessary to ensure that honors shall be given only as awards of public service.

Questioned in the House on this matter, Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Government leader, said the present practice was for recommendations to be sent direct to the Premier by the different governmental departments.

Joseph Devlin, M.P. for Falls, Belfast, asked: "Will Mr. Chamberlain state what is charged for a baronetcy and what price has to be paid for knighthood?"

There was no answer to this question.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend

MILBURN'S

as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Irish Republicans Express Regret Over Results Of Elections

Dublin.—The results of the elections give a substantial majority to the pro-treaty element. The republicans are generally surprised and disappointed over the results but assert that these were due to the defective register, and they anticipate a more successful fight on the new suffrage comprising adults of both sexes. Labor's evident opposition to them would appear to negative this hope, but they expect friction over the constitution between the Labor members and the treaty party.

A majority of the joint Sinn Fein is not in doubt. If they agreed they would outnumber all the others by nearly 40, but the prospects of an agreement are disappearing and the division of the Dail now seems more likely to follow the essential division between those who support and those who oppose the treaty. On both sides there is pessimism as to the possibility of forming a coalition.

Mr. De Valera made this announcement to newspaper represetnatives seeking a statement on the results of the elections. He said:

"These results seem indeed a triumph for the Imperial methods of pacification—outrage, murder and massacre, and then a threat with a concession, the policy of a kick and a caress, with a kick in reserve.

"By the threat of immediate renewal of the infamous war, our people, harassed and weary and fearful of chaos, have in the majority voted as England wanted, but their hearts and their aspirations are unchanged, and Ireland until free will never be at rest or geneuinely reconciled with England. England's gain is for the moment only, and England's difficulty will still be prayed for as Ireland's opportunity."

As for the published constitution, Mr. De Valera said it was only a draft and he felt confident that the Dail would not pass it as it stands. "As it stands," he said, "it will exclude from public service and practically disfranchise every honest republican.

To Amend Immigration Act

Discussion in Ottawa House Over Woodsworth Bill

Ottawa.—The House concurred in the report of the special committee on the Woodsworth Bill to amend the immigration act in regard to deportation and other provisions inserted during the stormy days of the Winnipeg strike in 1919. The committee, while recommending that the Woodsworth bill should not be proceeded with this session, advised three changes as preparatory to a general revision of the act.

The committee's report, however, did not find favor with Mr. Woodsworth, who represents Winnipeg Centre in Labor interests. He objected to it on the ground that it did not go far enough; that under one of its proposed amendments of the Immigration Act the Minister of Immigration could order the deportation of a member of the House born outside of Canada who objected to its policies. He moved in amendment that no person should be deported for any political offence committed in Canada without being granted trial by jury.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, thought the amendment would throw the gate open wide. It was defeated by a large majority.

Holland Given Presidency

M. Paton Elected Head of Commission On Russian Affairs

The Hague.—Holland was assigned the presidency of the central commission of the conference on Russian affairs here when the selection of the heads of this commission and the three sub-commissions of the conference was made. Belgium was given the vice-presidency of the central body, while representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy respectively head the three sub-commissions. The list announced was:

M. Paton, Holland, President Central Commission.

M. Cattier, Belgium, Vice-President.

M. Alphand, France, Chairman of Sub-Commission on Debts.

Baron Avezzano, Italy, Chairman of the Sub-Commission on Credits.

Sir Phillip Lloyd-Graeme, Great Britain, Chairman of the Sub-Commission on Property.

Spokesmen for the nations forming the Little Entente let it be known that they were not entirely satisfied with the announced idea of having the four presidents form a steering committee for the conference. They voiced their apprehension that the Big Four thus created would practically dominate all the negotiations with Russia. If this proved to be the case they favored increasing the membership of the steering committee so as to include others besides the heads of the commissions.

Her action is dismissed with costs.

Says Britain's Air Defense Inadequate

London.—The outcry of certain newspapers with regard to the inadequacy of Great Britain's air defense was reflected in the House of Commons when Major-General Seeley declared that the Royal Air Force reserve to be provided by civil aviation had almost entirely disappeared. Trade Revival Only Remedy

British Government Cannot Advance Further Sums for Unemployed

London.—Premier Lloyd George received one of the largest deputations at No. 10 Downing Street, which has ever attended at the Premier's residence, it comprising 126 persons, including some sixty members of the House of Commons, who appealed on behalf of the Boards of Guardians, which are in grave financial straits, owing to the heavy calls for unemployment relief. The Premier, while expressing sympathy, said he could not ask the House of Commons to sanction an increase for the Boards of Guardians for unemployment relief based on local taxation. The only remedy he could see for the present unfortunate condition was a revival of trade.

In the absence of the regulars at Bonners Ferry the junior baseball talent occupied the diamond at Exhibition Park on Sunday afternoon, when the Erickson youngsters tuned up Creston to the extent of 28 to 25.

FOR SALE—Three hundred and twenty acres near Arrow Creek, known as sub-lot 54. Purchaser may have choice of north or south half at $10 per acre, or the whole lot at $8 per acre. W. K. Esling, Rossland, B.C.

At a well attended meeting of representatives of ladies' organizations in the Kootenays interested in public health, held at Nelson last week, a public health association was formed, Mrs. Garland being chosen as first vice president.

Monday was the hottest day ever experienced in the history of the Valley, many of the local thermometers showing as high as 99 in the shade. As there was little or no breeze stirring most of the afternoon the heat was most oppressive.

Hay harvest is under way at all points in the Valley and from all accounts the absence of the usual June rains has produced a crop of clover and timothy that is the lightest for several years, and even the alfalfa is below the usual standard.

Good time is being made at the excavation for the new Fruit Growers Union warehouse, and the whole work will be completed early next week. No announcement has yet been made as to who has secured the contract for the new warehouse building.

Mr. Bush commenced operations on the Presbyterian Church this week dressing it up in a new coat of paint—light grey with green trimmings. He has just completed painting the English Church rectory and the residence of good roads foreman Davis.

Interest in the competition for the rod and fishing basket offered by Mawson Brothers for the biggest trout and char brought in this season has been quite keen, the best showing yet being a one-pound six ounce trout and a char that weighed 9½ pounds.

According to official measurements the June rainfall was less than three quarters of an inch—.68 to be exact. The hottest day of the month was the 28th, when the mercury registered 89 in the shade, while the coolest spell was the 23rd when it dipped down to 37.

There was a large turnout at the Union growers' meeting on Thursday day night at which E. C. Barnes, O.U.G. organizer, spoke on the new provincial co-operative marketing plan, and at the close practically all present signed up the new Union five-year contract.

Amusement tax collected at Creston in June was the second largest amount ever gathered in here in that line. It totalled $140, and the Chautauqua pretty well accounts for the whole intake. There is still some demand for auto licenses, the revenue from it for June being $140.25.

The president, Mrs. Garland will report on the proceedings of the public health conference at Nelson last week, and Mrs. Lyne will give a short talk on the Institute's legislation programme.

Norman Moore of Cranbrook, district forester for East Kootenay, was here on an official visit at the end of the week. He states that in his district the fire season so far this year has been less troublesome than was the case in 1921, the blaze in the Lister-Canyon section being the worst of the present year.

The annual meeting of Creston school district will be held at the schoolhouse Saturday night, commencing at 7 o'clock prompt. A trustee and auditor will have to be elected and if the ratepayers favor opening a second room at the high school it may be needful for a vote of almost $10,000 to be made to carry on the school work next year.

The "June drop" is at an end in all the Valley orchards and while it has possibly been heavier than at first seems likely the set of fruit appears to be sufficiently heavy to assure a crop somewhat in excess of the 130,000 boxes harvested a year ago. Something like a two-day's rain would be very welcome now to head off drougth spot, which has already made its appearance on some of the varieties.

W. C. Robinson of Nelson, the Dominion fishery inspector for the Kootenay and Boundary country, was here on an official visit at the end of the week. He states that in the country around Fernie and through to the Alberta boundary the unemployed miners are playing havoc with the fishing, the daily avocation of many of the out-of-works being a catch of fish to help keep down the butcher bill.

The 1922 Chautauqua was wound up most harmoniously at a meeting of the guarantors on Monday night, which was very largely attended. The financial statement showed a deficit that will necessitate a levy of about $4 on each of the guarantors. The meeting commended Chairman Swanson for his all round and efficient work as head of the committee, and equally hearty appreciation was shown of the good work of Chairmen Allan, F. H. Jackson and Hayes, who were at the head of the ticket selling, grounds and publicity committees, and these in turn gave full credit to the different committeemen who were associated with them. While the list of guarantors for 1923 shows only about 20 of the names on the 1922 list those who are taking a year off assured that they would be there with the boosting and help, if needed, to put next year's Chautauqua over on at least a break-even basis.
