THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1923 No. 48

Canyon City

Mrs. Wetherhead was a visitor with Nelson friends a few days this week.

R. Hurl left at the first part of the week on a business visit to coast points.

School re-opens on Monday morning with the same teaching staff and an increased attendance is looked for, as a number of new families have come in with the starting of the mil.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance arrived home from Spokane in time to spend New Years at their home here. Mr Vances's health is improved somewhat but he is returning shortly for further treatment.

Word came the latter part of the week that Geo. Davie had been successfully operated on at the military hospital at Vancouver, and at time of writing his condition was quite satisfactory.

Members of the United Farmers are reminded of the January meeting on Saturday night. Everybody be out and get the new year off to a good start.

The dance at the schoolhouse on Friday night was fairly well attended, and the usual good time was had by all present, the affair netting the piano fund about $10.

Canyon Minstrels have been having a series of highly successful practices since organization, and are now shaping up to make their first public appearance the early part of February.

John Butler was home from Yahk for the New Year rest, and will be returning to Kitchener in a few days, where he will work for the rest of the winter.

The arrival of a fresh supply of snow on Monday saw logging operations under way again at top speed. The coming of sleighing was most timely as the Company had hardly enough logs in the yard to run another week when work ceased on Saturday night.

Lister

Jos. W. Bell and friend, W. Robson, ore returning to Kimberley this week, where Joe expects to remain until spring.

Gus Charleson, foreman blacksmith at Continental mine, after spending the Christmas week at home, has returned to his job at Klockman, Idaho.

W. Mitchell, late store manager of Lister Trading & Supply Co., Ltd., who has recently been residing at Sidney, has returned to look after his ranch interests.

On Friday, January 12th, Lister Local of The United Farmers will meet in annual session. In addition to the election of officers, Secretary Thompson states there is much other important business to transact and a full turnout of members is desired. In the absence of President Powers, vice president Jory will occupy the chair.

Fred Powers left at the end of the week for Klockmann, where he has caught on at the Continental mine, and will remain all winter. He has thus been compelled to turn in his resignation as school board secretary.

Carpenters are at work this week making some needed repairs to the floor and other interior portions of Lister school.

Edwin Thompson, son of E. Thompson, who has been a patient at the Cranbrook hospital since June, arrived home Christmas week, his injured leg showing considerable improvement.

J. Beard and R. Stevens have joined up with the Winlaw forces having taken a contract together at logging operations.

Miss Ruby Finley, a sister of Mrs. Vine. Liddicoatt, and well known to many of the Lister people, was a Christmas week bride, being married at Cranbrook to a Mr. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Liddicoatt were at the divisional city to witness the happy event.

Alice Siding

Miss Mary Barraclough of Calgary, Alta., was a Christmas week visitor with her mother here.

J. W. Parkin arrived from Michel early last week, returning on Saturday, taking his son, John, with him for a short holiday.

Report has it that the McLaren ranch of twenty acres along the slope of Goat mountain, back of the Compton place, has been sold to a Mr. Oakley, who recently arrived from Proctor. The property was purchased about four years ago by W. P. Stark

Christmas and New Year weeks were quite busy socially, among those who entertained friends at house parties being John Miller and Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson.

Frank Simister was a business visitor at Sirdar a few days last week.

Victor Carr is hauling lumber for George Marshall for the interior finish of the Marshall house on the land lately acquired from Guy Constable.

John Parkin had the bad luck to lose one of his work horses New Years week, the animal dying in spite of every effort made to save its life.

J. Kelly, who has been at Hosmer for some time, dismantling his house there, arrived home a few days ago, and a couple of days later the taken-down house arrived, and will shortly be erected on the Hummingbird ranch, which Mr. Kelly has purchased.

Wet Gold

The actors who took part in the making of "Wet Gold," which will be shown at the Grand Theatre, Saturday January 6th, traveled no less than 5,000 miles in taking the picture. The action of the story begins in the Hotel Astor, New York, where the hero, John Cromwell (Ralph Ince), appears as a waiter. Then the story shifts to a Southern plantation, which in reality was a beautiful home at Nassau in the Bahamas. From here the company was taken to Havana to make several race scenes at the Havana, Cuba, race track. Then the far-traveled actors returned to Nassau.

But a large part of the action took place at the bottom of the sea near a deserted island some 150 miles from Nassau. And the actors had to be transported back and forth until the picture was finished. "Wet Gold" was eleven months in the making.

FOR SALE—Jersey cow, just freshened, with heifer calf 3 weeks old, price right. Also 40 Rhode Island Red pullets, just beginning to lay. F. J. Klingensmith, Erickson.

West Creston

The milder weather that obtained last week put a crimp in travelling the ice across the Kootenay River, and about the middle of the week the ferry was put into operation again.

W. B. Muir of Creston was here for several days stay last week with Joe Stevens, looking after his live stock that is wintering in this section.

Joe Walkley, the Cranbrook butcher, was a business visitor at the Reclamation Farm on Friday, when he purchased another car of beef cattle, which went east on Saturday.

Geo. Seymour, a one time resident here, who has been making headquarters at Creston the past year almost, left the latter part of December on a trip to England, to visit old friends, and talks of taking a trip to Australia before returning.

The heavy fall of snow at the first of the week has started the wood haulers up again, and the export of wood fuel is now very heavy.

Matt. Moores is wintering at the Reclamation Farm, where he is in charge of cattle tending operations this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockhead were West Creston's representatives at the masquerade ball at Creston on Monday night. Both were in Indian attire and many of those present were disappointed when the judges overlooked this couple when awarding the prizes for the best dressed couple.

Kitchener

Reg. Hull was a Christmas and New Year week holiday visitor at his home in Grand Forks.

E. McGonegal, who has been superintendent here for the Paulson-Mason Company for several years, has resigned that position. He and Mrs. McGonegal and family, however, will continue to reside here.

Mrs. Cardiff and daughter, Margaret, are visitors with Spokane friends this week.

Miss Irene Schmidt, teacher at Sirdar, and former principal of Kitchener school, was a visitor with Mrs. Hunt this week.

Teddy Clauson and Fred Nelson of Cranbrook, were visitors here this week with B. Johnson.

All the local mills are running now and hauling has begun which makes Kitchener about the livliest town between Nelson and Cranbrook.

The young folks of the town had a dance in Hunt's Hall on Saturday night which was well attended and all had a fine time.

Miss Edith Geroux leaves on Sunday for Nelson, where she will attend high school the balance of the term.

Miss Helen Hunter is expected back from Silverton on Sunday, and school will resume operations on Monday morning.

Mrs. M. Castonguay is a visitor in Spokane this week.

Cranbrook Courier: For the first time since his accident on July 25th, Major J. A. Crowe, who was severely injured by a falling tree near Kitchener, was able to move about in St. Eugene hospital at Christmas time in a wheel chair.

Wynndel

Matt. Rosen returned to Wynndel on Sunday, after being away for the last three years.

The Co Operative Trading Association shipped in a car of flour and feed last Thursday, which A. H Piggott and son had charge of unloading.

About half a dozen from here took in the New Year masquerade dance at Creston on Monday night, and had a real good time.

Several ranchers have had to make a special trip out on the slough to refix their corralls. Due to the snowfall the cattle are getting hungry and breaking through the wire fencing.

Miss Loreen Williams was guest of honor at a party given by Mrs. Slingsby last Thursday afternoon. Whist and other games were played, Miss Nora Hagen carrying off both prizes. There were some vocal musical numbers interningled in the afternoon's proceedings, which concluded with a dainty tea, and all the young people present declare they had a perfectly swell time.

Board of Trade Annual

The January meeting of Creston Board of Trade will be held on Tuesday evening next, and will be preceded by the annual dinner which will be served at Norris' restaurant, commencing at 6.30 prompt. Following the dinner will come the election of 1923 officers, and then the usual round of speechmaking and the presentation of the presidential address covering the year's operations generally in Creston Valley.

Masonic Lodge Moves

A feature of the meeting of Creston Masonic Lodge on Wednesday evening of last week was the presentation of a master's jewel to the retiring master Hilton Young. The presentation was very ably made by W. Bro. Major Mallandaine, and accepted in very appropriate terms by the recipient.

After a dozen years' tenancy of Speers Hall Creston Masonic Lodge are moving to the top floor of the Mallandaine building, on which they have secured a two year lease, and which it is the lodge's intention to outfit in the best possible Masonic fashion.

Best by Every Test

Were you there?
At Creston Valley fair.
Were you led
To the table of show bread?
Did you see the bouncing loaves,
White as the eternal snows?
Did you see the tickets red
On that appetizing bread?
Did you long that bread to eat—
So inviting, wholesome, sweet?
Did you hear the ladies sing,
"Millers to His Majesty the King."
Did you hear the judges say,
"It ever is the way;
At every fair judged in B.C."
Then set your mind at rest,
And buy "Canada's Best"—
That perfect flour made by Ogilvies.
—T. M. EDMONDSON.

HORSE FOR KEEP—A quiet, work horse to be had for keep. Apply Geo. Davie, Canyon.

FOR SALE—Set double harness, in good repair, $25. Morrow's Blacksmith shop, Creston.

Erickson

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Klingensmith are leaving this week for Longbeach, California, where they expect to remain until early in April.

Will and Walter Long were week-end visitors at Fernie, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Davidson Mead, and attended the masquerade ball on New Year night.

Messrs. Clark and Sam Scott are daily visitors to the Canyon siding where they have the contract of loading out the cut of white pine logs G. J. Bayle is shipping to Nelson.

School is due to open on Monday morning, and after a two weeks' rest the scholars will readily resume studies in preparation for the end of January promotion examination tests.

Postmaster Telford had a letter for most everyone hereabouts on Saturday, when the annual tax notices arrived. Thanks to there being no school building this year the tax rate is much lighter than a year ago.

The annual meeting of Erickson local of the United Farmers will be held on Tuesday night, January 9th, at 7.30. A full turnout of members is asked for.

The snowfall on Monday and Tuesday is most welcome. As the frost is practically all out of the ground now there will be an abundance of moisture to start the season with.

Mrs. Lewis Leveque and children of Medicine Hat, Alta. were New Year week guests of Mrs. Leonard Leveque

Mrs. Bamford of Cranbrook is expected here this week, and will spend the next two months with Mr. and Mrs. Bundy.

Now that milder weather prevails the carpenters are making good time on the erection of D. Linn's new house on the Spence ranch which he purchased a couple of months ago, and the likely looking five-room structure will soon be completed.

At the masquerade ball at Creston Monday night Erickson carried off the bulk of the prizes, and well deserved the honors. Mrs. Leonard Leveque was adjudged the best ladies' comic, while Lewis Littlejohn was in a class by himself and easily annexed the gents comic.

With the assurance of an up-to-date depot and equal certainity the hard surface road will be completed around the loop past the Telford store, Erickson surely has every reason to expect a happy new year.

Milt Beam and H. Brubacker, who are operating a trap line and cougar taking in the Arrow Creek section, got a bear on Monday. Bruin had evidently denned up on the lower ground and the early January thaw freshets had forced him to seek new quarters, when the hunters got him.

CHAPTER II.

A Meeting and a Parting

Had some one of Gordon Wade's multitude of admirers in the East seen him as he stood looking out over his Wyoming ranch, he might have recognized the true cowboy composure with which the ranchman faced the coming storm, but he would not have recognized the stripling who had won scholastic and athletic honors at Princeton a few short years before, and who had spent a year after graduating in aimless travel and reckless adventure.

After fitting rapidly and at random almost all over the habitable globe, he had returned to his home in New York with some thought of settling down there, but the old family mansion was empty excepting for the servants, and his sense of loneliness and sorrow for the loved ones who were no longer there to greet him, drove him on speedily and he turned toward the West to explore his own country last of all, as so many other travelers do.

Attracted by the surpassing beauty of the country, he had lingered in Wyoming long enough to feel fascination of the ranch life that was then to be found in all its perfection in the wilder part of that State, and realizing that he had found the precise location and vocation that suited him, he had converted his modest fortune into cash, and invested all in the Double Arrow Ranch.

But on the way thither, he had stopped in Chicago, and there he had come face to face with Romance.

Before he had gone a dozen steps after getting off the train, some one dealt him a mighty blow between the shoulders, that well night sent him spinning. Before he could recover himself, he was caught from behind and hurled headlong into a taxicab.

"I've heard of Western hospitality before," he said, calmly, before he could see who his assailant was, "but you seem to be hard up for guests."

"No," said his college chum, George Stout, grinning happily as he clambered into the taxi, "but I wasn't taking chances; somebody else might have seen you first."

Followed three feverish days and nights; then as they sat in pajamas in Stout's apartment, Wade said: I don't imagine there is anything more to see or do in this hectic city of yours, and I am free to say I don't like it; I think I'll move on."

"Not yet," said Stout, with the grin that endeared him to everybody that ever met him. "You've only seen the outside edges so far. To-night you are going to break into society."

"Do they have society here?" asked Wade.

"Well, they call it that," still grinning, "anyhow you'll be interested, not to say amused. The game is new as yet, but they go through the motions, and Oh, boy, how lavish they are! You'll see everything money can buy this evening, and probably meet people you wouldn't be likely to run across anywhere else.

"You're bidden to appear, sir, at the ornate mansion of a Senator of the United States—the Senator, perhaps, I should say, I've secured the invitation, and Mrs. Rexhill will never recognize me again if you don't go."

"Would that be serious?"

"Very serious. I am counsel for one of the Senator's companies."

"And does that imply social obligations?"

"It does with Mrs. Rexhill."

"Oh, very well. I'll go anywhere once, but who is Mrs. Rexhill? I suppose, of course, she is the Senator's wife, but who is she in society? I never heard of her."

"You wouldn't; it isn't what she is, it is what she wants to be. You must not laugh at her; she is doing the best she can. You'll admit one thing readily enough when you see her. She is probably the handsomest woman of her age in Chicago, and she isn't more than forty. Where the Senator found her, I can't say, but she was his wife when he made his first strike in Denver, and I will say to his credit that he has always been a devoted husband."

"I'm glad to hear something to his credit," said Wade dryly. "The general impression I've gathered from reading the newspapers lately, hasn't been of the most exalted sort."

"Oh, well," replied Stout, and his habitual grin faded away as he spoke. "A man in public life always makes enemies, and the Senator has plenty of them. It almost seems sometimes that he has more enemies than friends, and yet he has certainly been a very successful man, not only in politics, but in business. He has more irons in the fire than any one else I know, and somehow or other he seems to put everything through. I doubt if he could do so well if he was not at the same time a political power."

"Yes," said Wade, still more dryly. "I have heard the two facts mentioned together."

"Come, come," said Stout, more earnestly than he was in the habit of speaking, "you mustn't put too much faith in what the newspapers say. I know how they talk about him in the other party, but I happen to know him pretty well personally, and there is a good side to him as I suppose there is to everybody. Anyhow, he pays me well for my professional services, and I have seen nothing thus far that leads me to be disloyal to him."

It seemed to Wade's sensitive ear that his friend was speaking with a large mental reservation, but wisely reflecting that the matter did not concern him, he said no more, and when evening came, he went, willingly enough, to make the acquaintance of the man who was then counted as one of the greatest political powers in the country. Nor had he any premonition that in the near future he and his host of the evening would be engaged in a life and death struggle.

Of all that, however, there was no present indication whatever. On the contrary, the great man welcomed him with all the suavity of manner for which he was equally as famous as he was for the over-bearing rudeness he often displayed when his will was disputed. This latter trait had won for him the nickname of the Czar of American Politics; but he was an adroit politician, not lacking in courtesy to guests in his own house. Moreover, he was keen in his appraisal of men and quick to see that a man of Wade's type would be more valuable to him as an ally than as a foe.

Accordingly, he presented the young aristocrat to Mrs. Rexhill, who openly showed her delight in meeting one of such distinguished appearance, and with a great display of cordiality, she introduced ihm to her daughter Helen.

"It is her coming-out party, Mr. Wade," she said, gushingly, "and you must do all you can to make it a happy occasion."

One glance at the beautiful girl who stood before him was enough to determine Wade that her evening should be as happy as he could make it. The galring ostentation of the house and its equipment had offended his fastidious taste when he entered, and the sight of the really handsome, but vulgarly overdressed and richly be-jeweled mother, had made him shudder inwardly, but when he looked into Helen's eyes, he forgot all his first impressions and imagined himself in Fairyland for the remainder of the evening.

An older head than his might easily have been turned and a wiser man bewildered by the tender glances of the charming girl who frankly met his advances half way, being as much impressed by his appearance as he with hers, and showing carelessness equal to his in regard to the comment they excited among the other guests. One thing that Helen Rexhill had never learned at school, or from the parents who had done all that could be done to spoil her, was to conceal her feelings. Just now she felt no inclination to do it, and she gave Wade dance after dance, with reckless disregard of her engagements and of the ill-concealed anger of some of the men she threw over with utter carelessness of social obligation.

Wade saw it clearly enough, but the preference she showed him was so flattering as to make him indifferent, even had he considered himself responsible. He was therefore amused rather than exultant when man after man came up to claim a dance only to be told "I just promised this one to Mr. Wade."

One such there was, who took his rebuff exceeding ill. Instead of retiring as the others had done, he stepped up closer to the girl and said rudely, "That's all very well, Helen, but you promised me first and I hold you to it."

And he looked contemptuously at Wade who had started in surprise at his words, and had stiffened himself instinctively, as if to interfere, but who controlled himself instantly and kept silent despite his inclination.

A moment later he was glad he had done so. Helen's eyes flashed and she straightened her form proudly as she spoke.

"Did I really promise you, Race Moran? If I did, I have forgotten it, and anyhow, I am going to sit this dance out with Mr. Wade in the conservatory."

Race Moran, as she called him, was a handsome enough man, though rather flashy in appearance. But the evil look that came quickly on his face, no less than his huge and burly build, indicated that he would have been more at home in a bar-room or a street fight, than where he was. For just a moment he seemed about to say more, but apparently thought better of it, and turning away with what sounded like a muttered oath, he walked toward the Senator, who stood at the other side of the room.

"I've made an enemy for you, Mr. Wade," said Helen, half laughingly and half seriously, as she led the way to the conservatory, closely followed by her eager escort.

"Well," said Wade lightly, "they say a man is poor, indeed, who hasn't few enemies. I don't know that one more or less is of great importance, but it is well to know something about them. Who is the gentleman?"

"I hardly think you would call him a gentleman," said Helen, "though he thinks he's one; I wouldn't tolerate him a moment, only on my father's account. Dad calls him a political heeler, and says he is very useful."

"He ought to be that," said Wade, smiling; "I'd hardly call him ornamental."

"Indeed he isn't," said Helen, pouting prettily, "and he presumes too much on Dad's favor. He actually persecutes me with his attentions, but you know a politician's daughter has to put up with a good deal, sometimes."

"I don't think you need to suffer much," said Wade, gallantly. "You will always find admirers enough to stand between you and any trouble you may have. I rather think there is one of them coming this way at the moment. I shall certainly take pleasure in recognizing Mr. Moran as an enemy, but is this likely to be another one?"

Andrew Michelin Says Germany Has New and Deadly Poison Gas

Germany is planning another war with a new and deadly poison gas that will penetrate any mask and specially designed aeroplanes charged with liquids that will annihilate cities, Andre Michelin, speaking before a gathering of political and industrial leaders charged.

Michelin raised a bogey of renewed warfare similar to that conjured up by Georges Clemenceau in the United States, declaring German factories are busy turning out implements of war, chief among which, outside of poisons, were special torpedo-carrying planes.

New Years' Masquerade

Barring the opening night crowd of October, 1921, the masquerade dance on New Years' night attracted the biggest crowd that has been seen at the Grand Theatre ballroom since its opening. The number in costume was much larger than a year ago, and the judges had their troubles in awarding the prizes, particularly for the best ladies' costume, in which the competition was particularly keen. The prizewinners were: Ladies' costume, Miss Amy Ebbutt. Queen Elizabeth. Gents' costume, Walter Carr, Mexican Grandee. Ladies' comic, Mrs. Leonard Leveque, "Sis" Hopkins. Gents comic, Lewis Littlejohn, coon porter. The Grand management had the dance details nicely arranged, and with excellent music by Mesdames Foreman and Lister, and Alex. Lidgate, and caterer Norris putting on the supper in his usual fine style, the affair was a most enjoyable one throughout.

Local and Personal

Directors of the fall fair are reminded of the inaugural meeting of the agricultural association directorate, which is announced for Monday night in Speers's Hall, at which the 1923 president and secretary will be selected as well as a number of committees appointed.

The Valley is again favored with excellent sleighing about a foot of the white mantle coming on Sunday and Monday mornings. As there is little or no frost now in the ground as the snow goes there should be an abundance of moisture to start the spring season with.

All the United Farmer locals in Creston Valley are combining to make the short course school in agriculture a success, and a large attendance is looked for particularly at the afternoon sessions The school will run five days, opening on Monday, January 15th, in Speers' Hall.

There promises to be some trapping in the Valley this winter. Five trappers' licenses were issued by the provincial police officer last month, netting the provincial treasury $50, while another $200 was gathered in from the representative of an outside firm who is fur buying in this section this winter.

Dong Wing and Dong Moon, the new proprietors of the Pacific Restaurant, took over the business yesterday. Jan Hing, the former owner will be here for another month breaking in the new owners to his Creston clientle, after which he plans a visit to China, where he has not been for at least three years.

25 YEARS TO PAY—The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada have several FARMS for sale to Soldiers or Civilians at ten per cent. down and the balance in 25 annual payments at 6 per cent. Several to rent for 1923. For particulars write to District Superintendent. Soldier Settlement Board, Vernon. B.C.

Every available bit of seating space as well as much of the available standing room was taken at the Grand on Monday night for the showing of "The Sheik," and many who saw it pronounce it quite the best film Manager Rodgers has yet shown. On Christmas night there was the same capacity crowd for the "Silent Call."

At the annual meeting of Christ Church Ladies' Guild at the home of Mrs. Grriand on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Bennett was re-elected president for the third successive year; with Mrs. Varley as vice-president, and Mrs Ebbutt, secretary and treasurer. The financial intake for 1922 was over $700—an increase of at least $100 as compared with 1921.

Every property owner in the Valley got a New Year greeting from Assessor Ferguson on either Saturday or Monday, when the 1923 tax notices came to hand. There has been no raises in assessments but those who were raised a year ago are this year paying higher school taxes, due to the fact that a year ago the school levy was based on the 1921 assessment.

CATTLE ESTRAY

Came to the premsises of the undersigned first week in December, three head of cattle—two heifers and one steer. Steer is black and white; one heifer red, mooley; other heifer is Jersey, showing ringworm. Owner can have same on proving property and paying expenses. L. N. LEAMY, Creston.

JERSEY BULL ESTRAY

Came to the premises of the undersigned on or about December 16, 1922, one Jersey bull, about two years old, no brands visible. Owner can have same on proving property and paying expenses. PETER NECEFERO, Creston.

MARE AND COLT ESTRAY

Came to the mill premises of Canyon City Lumber Company, Ltd., at Canyon City, on or about the first of the week in December, one bay mare with a star on forehead, with bay sucking colt. Owner can have same on proving property and paying all expenses.

NOTICE

The Goat Mountain Waterworks Company, Limited, hereby give notice that it has applied to the Board of Investigation for an order extending until the 31st of December the Schedule of Tolls which it is now authorized to charge for water, except that the charge for washing machines driven by water shall be $2.00 per month, and then only with special permission, in writing, at the option of the Company.

A copy of the said Schedule has been filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Nelson, and at the Comptroller at Victoria, B.C.

The application will be heard in the board room, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., on Monday, the 29th of January, 1923, at 10 a.m.

Objections to the application shall be filed with the Board of Investigation in writing before the 22nd of January, 1923, or they will not be taken into consideration.

Dated at Creston this 30th day of December, 1922.

RUPTURE KILLS 8,000 ANNUALLY

Eight Dominion persons each year are dead away. Dr. Local certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and all truss sufferers in the land are invited to make a test right in the privacy of their own homes. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when millowing close by to the body in most position, can or shift out of place, therefore cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—comparatively inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the kernal opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name and two cents, coin or stamps, today to PLAPAO CO., 482 Stuart Bldg., St. Louis, Mo., for trial Plapao and instructive information. —(c) P.L.

The Secret Of Success

Nothing Worth While Is Attained Without Hard Work

Thomas A. Edison, looking at machines made in his early days, could not remember why he made them. "But I know one thing," said he, "I sweat blood over every one of them." There's a recipe for success—sweating blood. Dante put the same thought otherwise more than six hundred years ago, "Work as Nature works, in fire." If you don't sweat and burn as you work, nothing comes of our work. Let young gentlemen write one thing on their tablets: "Nothing worth while is easy, and he who is taking it easy is doing nothing worth while."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

When Overtaken By Nausea Try This Simple Remedy

When you don't know whether it's going to stay down or come up, when you look like thirty cents, and feel even worse, what you need is twenty drops of Nerviline, in sweetened water. Almost like magic is the change you experience. Those feelings of vomiting disappear. Thousands of homes rely on Nerviline in case of sour stomach, gas-bloating, nausea and upset stomach conditions. Get it to-day, large 35c bottles sold by all dealers.

The ancient Romans buried their dead where the life of the city was gayest.

PALE AND SICKLY GIRLS AND BOYS

Need All the Strength That Rich, Red Blood Can Give Them

Youth is the time to lay the foundation for health. Every girl and every boy should have plenty of pure, red blood and strong nerves. With thin, impure blood they start life with a handicap too great to win success and happiness. Rich, red blood means health, full growth, strong nerves, a clear brain and good digestion. In a word pure blood is the foundation of health.

The signs of weak, watery blood are unmistakable. The pale, irritable girl or boy, who has no appetite or ambition, is always tired out, short of breath and does not grow strong, is a victim of anaemia—the greatest enemy of youth. There is just one thing to do for these girls and boys—build up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can't afford to experiment with other remedies, for there must be no guesswork in the treatment of anaemia. Dr. Williams Pink Pills act directly on the blood, giving it the elements it lacks, thus developing strong, healthy girls and boys. Mrs. R. Kinch, Hepworth, Ont., tells as follows what these pills did for her daughter:—"I think it a duty to let others know the benefit which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been to my daughter, and I hope this may be the means of inducing some other sufferer to try them. She was weak, nervous and badly run down. She took medicine from the doctor but got no benefit, and finally she was not able to walk to school. I was advised to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I did, and after taking them for a time she was restored to perfect health. I cannot speak too highly of these pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Have a Thought For the Unfortunate

Saskatchewan Everywoman's Fund for Tubercular Women Deserving Of Support

If those who have a well household about them at Christma time should have a thought for homes where there is wretchedness and suffering, it would be a sweet and gracious thing; and it would be quite certain to make the happy homes happier. There are 1,600 grown persons in the province who have tuberculosis in an active form, and who are not in the sanatorium, or in any hospital. Such is the information gathered by the Royal Commission on Tubercolsis in Saskatchewan, which recently made its report to the Government. In hundreds of cases, mothers who are not able to pay for medical care for themselves, are endangering their little children. If treatment could be provided for the mother, the children would be saved also from the danger of infection. It is with the desire to save both the mothers and the children that the Everywoman's Fund has been organized in the province. The object is to raise $50,000.00 for the care of 50 mothers during 1923. The donations already received by Mrs. F. W. Bates, 3068 Angus Street, Regina, and by A. B. Cook, Business Manager, the Sanatorium, Fort Qu'Appelle, amount to over $350.00. It is asked that every woman in Saskatchewan who has not got tuberculosis contribute at least one dollar towards helping provide free treatment for 50 of those who have it and have no funds. A dollar can perhaps be spared from the Christmas presents the reader has had in mind for luckier people, and sent to Mrs. Bates, Mr. Cook, or to the nearest newspaper, for the Everywoman's Fund. The luckier people would not begrudge the gift that went instead to the poverty-stricken, tubercular mother.

Friends Again

An inquisitive old lady was always asking her minister question. One day the persistent lady asked, "Mr. ——, can you please tell me the difference between Cherubim and Seraphim?" Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Off to school on a winter morning

Fresh and rosy—or pinched and chilly? That's a matter for Mother to decide.

Children, as well as grown-ups, need a hot mealtime beverage that is wholesome, invigorating, and free from harmful after-effects.

Childhood is the period when nervous activity is at its height. The brain is ever busy receiving new impressions; the nerves, muscles and senses are alert and actively developing.

Tea and coffee are harmful, especially for children. Instant Postum is the one best beverage to give them needed warmth and comfort, these cold and frosty mornings. It is made of roasted wheat, has a delightful flavor and aroma, is free from any harmful element whatever, and is wholesome, healthful and invigorating.

Order a tin from your grocer TODAY. You will enjoy it as much as the kiddies do.

Expected Canada Will Save Half A Million By Postal Treaty

Ottawa.—From the operations of the new postal convention concluded between Canada and the United States a saving of half a million dollars a year to the Canadian treasury is looked for. This will be brought about by different means of economy and reciprocal methods of handling the international traffic. The effect of this will be beneficial to the United States as well as to Canada.

On the operations for the year in the post office department a surplus of a million dollars promises to replace the deficit of the preceding year. A saving of $400,000 has been made in the new contract with the railways for the carriage of mails while there has been a big increase in mail traffic, which is reflected by increased revenues.

A National Wheat Week

French Government Wants Country to Grow Her Own Breadstuffs

Paris.—A "National Wheat Week" has been organized by the Government for January 23-28 in an effort to free France from dependence upon foreign grain for bread and also to develop the colonies by encouraging them to help grow breadstuffs enough for home and colonial consumption.

Five commissions will hold public meetings at which will be outlined the best methods of selecting seed and of intensive farming, so as to get more and better flour by these means as well as through improved milling.

Afterwards means will be studied of putting this collective knowledge to work through legislation, through educational propaganda in the industries affected and through patriotic appeals to the people.

Agrees to New Naval Conference

U.S. House Opposed to Any Change In Proposal

Washington.—The naval appropriation bill, carrying a request that the President negotiate with foreign powers relative to limiting construction of war craft under 10,000 tons, was passed by the House.

The bill carried a total of $325,000,000 and provides for an enlisted naval force of 86,000, the same as fixed last year.

There was a flurry of talk over the provisions under which the President is asked to negotiate with Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, but in the end any effort to change the proposal was dropped in the face of overwhelming opposition to any alteration whatever.

Re-Building Rheims

Expect City Will Be Re-Constructed Within Five Years

Paris.—It is anticipated that within five years the city of Rheims will be entirely re-constructed, after the destruction caused by the Germans in the war. This year 1,500 houses, which were wholly or partly destroyed, have been re-built, and the construction of 600 new buildings is progressing. It is stated that the future progress of Rheims will depend in a great measure on the way Germany fulfills her obligations to France.

Captain Faces Grave Charge

San Francisco.—Capt. George MacKinnon, master of the Pacific Mail Passenger steamer Newport, has been accused formally of sailing away and leaving in peril the lumber schooner Svea when the two vessels collided near Port San Luis a few days ago.

He declares, however, that the Newport, carrying passengers, was in imminent danger and was forced to leave, while the crew of the Svea was safe.

Fishermen Torpedoed at Sea

Toulon, France.—A practice torpedo badly aimed during naval manoeuvres struck a small boat containing two fishermen. The projectile cut the boat nearly in two, and tossed the occupants into the sea. Neither of them was hurt.

GREAT INCREASE IN WHEAT EXPORTS

ENDING NOVEMBER - REPORT SHOWS VALUE THIRTY MILLION OVER 1921

Ottawa—Exports of Canadian wheat in November, 1922, increased 26,061,940 bushels in quantity, and $30,313,131 in value over the exports of November, 1921, according to an official report issued. Exports of Canadian wheat during November this year amounted to 55,315,972 bushels valued at $62,147,665 as compared with 29,254,036 bushels valued at $31,834,534 during November, 1921. Exports of rye during November this year amounted to 2,703,818 bushel valued at $1,192,393 as against 534,041 bushels, valued at $537,409 during November, 1921. Exports of oats in November this year reached 4,823,594 bushels valued at $2,239,651 as compared with 2,254,892 bushels valued at $1,102,119 in November, 1921.

Barley exports advanced from 1,482,206 bushels valued at $1,130,076 in November, 1921, 2,307,327 bushels valued at $1,332,134 in November, 1922.

Cadet Movement Growing

Strength Has Increased to 105,000 In Ten Years

Ottawa.—Figures made public by the Department of Militia and Defence show the cadet movement in Canada to be making great progress. Over 20,000 additional boys were enrolled during the past cadet year, which brings the total strength to 105,000 cadets, organized in 1,450 units.

There were only 11,000 cadets in Canada ten years ago and the great development in recent years is due largely to the support which this movement is receiving from educational authorities in all parts of the country. Since the re-opening of schools in September some 40 new units have been authorized.

Find Prehistoric Remains

Buenos Aires.—Discovery of the thigh bones of a Pantagonian dinosaur, each bone measuring two metres, 70 centimetres (nearly 9 feet) in length and claimed to be the largest unearthed in any part of the world was announced by La Plata Museum. It is conjectured that when the Pantagonion dinosaur roamed the mesozoic forests he was at least 45 metres, or about 140 feet, long.

Coal Embargo Unlikely

Fuel Distributor Wants Canada and States Treated Alike

Washington.—Further renewal of the movement for a coal embargo against Canada as embodied in the resolution of Representative Brennan, Michigan, is not likely to result in an embargo being declared, according to the best information here. The attitude of the fuel distributor from the beginning has been that Canada should have the same treatment as the United States in respect to the delivery of fuel.

Mr. Brennan complains that Canada is being favored and getting hard coal which the United States needs. He expresses the suspicion that coal-carrying roads in the United States are taking coal into Canada and outside the United States because they get a longer haul and more money in freight charges.

Trappers Arrested For Murder

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—Two Finnish trappers, Kalli Maki and Urepo Ojetan, of Mile 68, on the Algoma Central Railway, have been arrested on the charge of the murder of two of their countrymen, Victor Joki and Hannes Niemi, who were found last August in a lake 35 miles back from the railway near the Montreal River weighted down with boulders.

League Of Nations Asked To Settle Trouble For Indians

New York.—Five thousand Indians who have lived near Grand River, Ont., since 1874, and who insist that they are a sovereign people, not answerable to the Canadian Government, have appealed to the League of Nations through the Dutch Government for settlement of their dispute with Canada.

Chief Deskaheh, of the Six Nations tribe, who is here on his way home from Washington, announced that he had given the argument of his people, set forth in a petition to Dr. J. B. Hubrecht, Charge d'Affaires in Washington of the Netherlands, with the request that it be sent to the Dutch Government and thence to the League. He said he left similar petitions with other embassies with the request that they be submitted to the foreign Governments.

Members of the chief's party said they choose the Netherlands to bring their case before the League because Hollanders were the first white people to settle near their land. The Six nation tribes were descendent from Indians who supported Great Britain in her eighteenth century wars and who were awarded by a grant of land they now occupied. During the war, they said, they sent many young Indians abroad to fight on the side of the allies.

EXCITEMENT OVER GRENADE BOMB

MISSILE FOUND IN ASH CART NEAR BUCKINGHAM PALACE

London.—A disturbing discovery was made at the rear of Buckingham Palace when a grenade bomb was found in an ash cart which had just arrived to remove the palace refuse.

How the missile got into the ash cart is a mystery and the police examined it to see if the charge had been removed. The authorities say they attach no special importance to the find, believing the grenade was thrown into the cart while it was on the way to the palace by someone who merely wished to get rid of a dangerous souvenir.

Automobile Goes Through Ice

Four Unknown Persons Drowned In St. Lawrence River

Sorel, Que.—Four unknown persons were drowned when the automobile in which they were crossing the St. Lawrence River, went through the ice. They had just passed the car of E. Duhamel, of Sorel, who was crossing to Berthier. Duhamel looked round and saw a hole through the ice. There was no cry as the party disappeared. He stopped his machine and walked back to the hole. The wheel marks of the car led straight to it, but there was no sign of the missing car or its occupants.

No Increase In Rents

Grazing Lands in West Will Remain At Old Price

Ottawa.—The Government will not increase the rental charged for grazing privileges on school lands in the west next year. This has been decided in view of the fact that there has been no material improvement in the livestock industry since the rental was decreased in 1921. The rental was formerly 10 cents per acre, but it was reduced to 6 cents per acre and will remain at 6 cents for the year ending March 21, 1924.

Settle German-Polish Frontier

London.—A formal settlement has been reached regarding the German-Polish Silesian frontier under which much of the disputed Rottberg district and also the town of Dombroda and other districts become German, while Poland gets some territory near Koenigshuette and elsewhere, says a dispatch to the Times from Oppelin.

Five Consulates In Vladivostok Remain

Britain, U.S., Italy, Germany and Austria Not Affected

Vladivostok.—The consulates of Great Britain, the United States, Italy, Germany and Austria were not included in the edict of the Soviet Government of Vladivostok, which directed that the consulates of France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Esthonia, Poland, Letvia, Czecho-Slovakia and Georgia be closed and leave Primoria within a week.

No announcement as to the consulates of China and Japan has been made.

The Soviet Government of Vladivostok recently took over the administration of the city and surrounding territory, known as the Primoria.

Quebec Fighting Drug Evil

Government Plans Measure to Control Sales in Province

Quebec.—The great amount of drugs being used illegally in the province of Quebec, and particularly in the city of Montreal, has necessitated some action on the part of the Government and a bill will be presented by Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, providing for the control of all drugs sold or distributed in the province.

The exact nature of the measure is not at present known, but it is understood that it will call for issuance of a permit from the provincial treasurer for all those who may legally have drugs in their possession.
