Creston Valley's Soldier Memorial Now Unveiled

Armistice Day Ceremonial Largely Attended—Records Show 110 Enlisted—26 Make Supreme Sacrifice—Inspirng Unveiling Address by Rev. J. S. Mahood.

Ideal weather and the Valley citizens' unvaryingregard for great patriotic occasions, brought out a crowd of not less than a thousand residents from all points in Creston Valley for the Soldiers' Memorial unveiling on Armistice Day afternooo, Saturday, Ncvember 11th.

The committee in charge of arrangements had done their work perfectly, including a modest decoration with flags and bunting of Canyon street in the neighborhood of the memorial, and proceedings opened shortly after two o'clock upon the arrival at the memorial site of some 100 men in command of Major Mallandaine and Capt. Crompton, headed by the R.C.M.P. detachment and the brass band, whilst following them were at least 400 school children, the teachers at Lister, Canyon, Erickson, Alice Siding, Wynndel and Sirdar accounting for a fine turnout of youngsters from each of these rural schools, and the 225 scholars of Creston's high and public school paraded almost at full strength.

At the memorial seating was provided for the relatives of those fallen in the great war, whilst on the speakers' platform with President Hayes of Creston Board of Trade, who presided, were Robert Stark, chairman of the original memorial committee, Fred Little, Rev. J. S. Mahood of Queens Bay, who delivered the unveiling address; Major Mallandaine and Rev. J. A. James.

The brass band under the leadership of Mr Hendy helped out splendidly with their accompaniments for the singing, the vocal exercises including "O, Canada," "The Maple Leaf," and "O God Our Help in Ages Past," all of which were vigorously rendered with the school children taking a prominent part. The ceremony concluded with the Last Post, which was well sounded by Bugler George Davie of Canyon City.

The G.W.V.A., Board of Trade, Masonic Lodge, Women's Institute, Canyon United Farmers, Christ Church Ladies' Guild and the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, were amongst the organizations that placed wreaths on the pillar, in addition to which was the wreath from the officers and men of such well known overseas Kootenay regiments as the 54th, 102nd, 225th, and others, whose floral remembrance was placed by Major Mallandaine. Numerous individual citizens also remembered the occasion with floral emblems.

Creston Valley's memorial, which stands at the intersection of Canyon Street and Barton Avenue, is in most respects a duplicate of the Cenotaph erected to one of the crack regiments of London England, with the addition of four bronze wreaths that effectively set off the four sides of the top.

The memorial shaft is of grey royal granite and is from the quarries of J. S. Wilson at Sirdar. In the selection of grey royal the committee chose well, as its sparkle and color features throughout not only furnish a monument that at once arrests attention, but also permits the lettering to stand out in artistic relief. The monument throughout is the product of the Wilson quarries and its erection was supervised by H. B. Downs, who lately removed to the Old Country to reside, the stone cutting being the work of Thomas H. Ven ing, and the letter cutting done by T. Crane.

In addition to Mr. Downs, who designed as well as supervised the memorial's erection, mention is due Robert Stark, chairman, and Messrs. J. W. Hamilton, R. Sinclair Smith, W. H. Crawford and C. G. Bennett, the other members of the memorial committee, for the production of the granite pillar. Numerous were the committee's disappointments in various directions ever since the memorial was projected, but now the finished product is on view and the unveiling accomplished under such fiitt ing and happy auspices, these gentlemen may well be proud of their effort, and certainly well deserve the many compliments that are passed the memorial and those directly responsible for its erection.

After the unveiling exercises the business men of Creston were hosts to all the children at a free moving picture show at the Grand which spacious theatre was packed to the doors with a very appreciative audience, with the children from all the outside districts paraded in first to be sure the visiting scholars all had seats for the show.

Addresses Given At the Unveiling

Cannot Do too Much for Those who Fought—War's Outbreak Saw Earth Re-Born—No Part of Valley Failed iu its Duty.

After God Save the King had been rendered and an appropriate invocation by Rev. J. A. James, Chairman Hayes, who, in addition to presiding, also delivered the civilian address, opened his remarks by observing that in 1917, when the wooden tablet further down the street was erected, all were agreed that when the war was over a memorial that would fittingly and everlastingly keep green the memory of the men who fought and fell as well as the memory of those who came back, would be erected The gathering on Saturday afternoon was for the unveiling of that bigger and better memorial which, the speaker held, "adequately commemorated the sacrifice and the service of those men who served the empire in her hour of greatest need."

The chairman also recalled that within three days of war's outbreak Canada had started in to mobilize troops; that in less than a month from the declaration of war 35,000 Canadians were in training at Valcartier Plains, Quebec, and in less than two months after August 4th, 1914, these 35,000 troops were on board ship and on their way overseas.

In those 35,000 original firsts Creston Valley had six men, and throughout the war Creston Valley from its population of not more than 1500 had supplied approximately 110 men for militia service. That the men of the Valley had borne the brunt of fighting on many fronts was revealed in the fact that 26 of the 110 had been killed in action or died of wounds, and the speaker was happy to say that in looking over the names of the fallen and their one time Valley homes it was at once apparent that no part of the district had played slacker in supplying troops.

The chairman read a complete list of all the men who had served with the forces, stating that on an occasion such as this he felt that all were met full of just two feelings: A feeling of sincerest regret for the men who had answered the last roll call, and deepest pride in the men of Creston Valley who along with half a million other Canadians played such a prominent part in the great war.

"These went for empire and for right;
To brave the battle and to face the fight,
And keep the flag triumphant."

Let those who shall come after see that these names are not forgotten.

Major Mallandaine Speaks

Major Mallandaine, who delivered the address on behalf of the soldiers, in the unavoidable absence of Col. Pollen of Cranbrook, opened with complimentary references to the splendid memorial that had been erected, and on behalf of the returned men expressed appreciation of such a timely and lasting memorial to the sacrifice and the service of the men who had served in the great war. It was likewise pleasing to all to have had the unveiling and the address by Rev. J. S. Mahood, whose three sons had seen overseas service, and one of whom had been killed.

The major emphasized the point that the sacrifice of the men was the more to be admired in that they had voluntarily offered for service and Canada should be deeply grateful to the troops for sparing this country from being Germanized.

The speaker vividly portrayed the feelings of the people of France when word came of the armistice being declared on November 11, 1918. In a large French city on that day Major Mallandaine related that he had seen the populace go almost mad with joy. Yet in looking around he noticed great grief and fulness of heart mixed with that joy—grief and joy combined. The gasp of freedom and a view of peace to humanity was envisioned and only brought about through the sacrifics of not only our men, but of the whole of the allied nations.

The speaker made a touching reference to Armistice Day observance in France alluding to the burial field at Etaples with its hundreds of small iron headstones in serried rows, each with a name thereon—names from all over Canada, and each with a poppy and a wreath placed there for the fathers' mothers, widows or orphans of each dead hero.

The speaker's closing reference had to do with the men who had come back, and in this connection Major Mallandaine said: "What are you doing now to help those who have stayed over there. Are you helping the returned soldier as you ought to. Are you giving them the chance you should. You cannot do too much for these men who fought for you all, and who sacrificed their all for you."

Rev. S. Mahood Unveils

After performing the unveiling, which was accomplished by merely loosing the strings that bound the huge British flag to the memorial pillar, Rev. J. S. Mahood of Queen's Bay, to whom was delegated the task of also delivering the unveiling address, opened by remarking that he had not forgotten the honor conferred upon him in being selected to officiate at the dedication of the wooden tablet, and doubly appreciated the honor of being asked to unveil the permanent monument.

Referring to the excellent saying of the lines in "O Canada" he said the list of names as read by the chairman, and inscribed upon the splendid and most appropriate memorial, were of those who had helped to preserve our "true North strong and free."

"Whenever I see a monument," said Mr. Mahood, "to those who had died in the great war the lesson is borne home to me that the old world has passed away, and a new one born on August 4th, 1914."

The speaker dwelt briefly upon the fallen monarchies of Europe, and while not denying the possibility of blame being justifiably attached to our statesman—whom many claimed to be not entirely free from blame in not preventing the war—the men and women of our nation endured throughout its course from an ethical passion for righeousness and freedom. The lesson drawn was that we must cultivate the spirit of the Prince of Peace in the family, the factory, the farm, the workshop, and between class and class if we are to follow the cause for which our soldiers died.

Mr Mahood's closing remarks were highly appropriate, being a few lines he had written early in 1917 on hearing that his son had been killed in action a few days previous—

Now thy long day's work is ended,
Lay thy burden by.
Holy angels guard thee sleeping;
All peaceful lie.
Fare thee well, we bid thee, warrior.
Such farewell as never dies.
To thy sure reward we leave thee,
Resting in Paradise.

Now the battle's rage is o'er;
Victory is won.
Deeds no longer lose their splendor
When faithfully done.
Where the glory and the brightness
Far outshine the path once trod;
There, beloved, we entrust thee,
Safe to the care of God.

Visitors From the United States

Growing Popularity of Canada With American Tourists

The Wall Street Journal and other American papers attribute the increasing popularity of Canada with American automobile tourists largely to the sale of intoxicants in some parts of this country. Refreshments of the spirituous kind probably have less to do with attracting the United States tourists than some people imagine, however. Of the 617,000 American cars that entered Canada last year, 537,000 passed the customs in Ontario and only 43,000 in Quebec and 26,000 in British Columbia.

Of course many of those entering at Ontario cities would go on to Quebec, but it may be assumed that the majority of the tourists were induced to Canada by other attractions than the Quebec and British Columbia liquor laws.—From the Ottawa Journal.

A New Tower Of Babel

Monster Labor Temple Proposed by The Moscow Soviet

Those who laugh at the idea of history repeating itself will have to reconsider their incredulity when they pause before the latest announcement from the Moscow Soviet, says the Montreal Star. This is nothing less than the construction of a building to have the largest tower in the world, to cost seventy million dollars, to accommodate several thousands of people, and to be known as a labor palace.

The obvious intention of the Soviet in planning such an edifice is to divert the attention of the wretched Russian laborer from his present painful condition, and provide him with something that will keep him quiet for another brief space. The Tower of Babel was begun with intentions not very far removed in basic principle from those of the Moscow Soviet. It was never completed, if we are to accept the historic record and the existent ruin as proof.

But the Moscow temple may very easily be completed, if the Soviet treasury holds out. Moscow will then enjoy the unique distinction of being the city with the record building and the record public suffering. It is doubtless a distinction in which the Soviet will rejoice greatly, but even the dulled intelligence of the moujik will eventually penetrate the pretence. When it does, the doom of the Soviet regime will be sealed and Russia will start on the road to freedom.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The ankle skirt was removed officially and permanently removed from the wardrobes of 300,000 New York women by the action of delegates to the convention of New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, in voting unanimously to wear dresses no longer than seven inches from the ground. The resolution sounding the death knell of the long skirt urged women everywhere to free themselves from apparel now being introduced and having edges that nearly sweep the ground and carry germ laden dirt into the home. The club women also urged that garments be made of sufficient material to permit her freedom of all parts of the body.

HOW TO REGAIN YOUR GOOD HEALTH

It Can Be Done Through Keeping the Blood Supply Rich and Pure

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the mines and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other kind words have been said for this medicine.

You have only to ask your neighbors, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who has been benefitted by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a third of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout the world as a reliable tonic, blood-enriching medicine.

The success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich, they strengthen the organs and nerves of the body. Mr. A. M. Large, Victoria, P.E.I., adds his testimony to that of thousands of others who have found benefit through the use of this medicine. He says:—"About three years ago I became dreadfully run-down. So much so that I had to stop work altogether, and being a carpenter, and busily engaged, the outlook was gloomy. I became so reduced that I would have to rest even after a short walk. My appetite almost completely failed. The doctor whom I consulted told me I would have to take a prolonged rest, and gave me a bottle of medicine; which, however, did not help me. Then a good friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a supply and before long felt an improvement. From that on I continued to gain and was able to resume my employment. I continued taking the pills for some time longer and now feel as vigorous as I ever did."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Premier Bonar Law Announces Personnel Of His New Cabinet

London.—Premier Bonar Law has issued the list of the remaining officers of his Government, in which there is again a fair infusion of members of the House of Lords. His appointment of a minister of pensions does not necessarily mean that he has yielded to the Laborite clamor against the proposed abolition of that ministry, but is considered more likely a merely formal appointment in order to carry on the work until the ministry can be abolished by legislation. Agitation against abolition of the pensions ministry, however, is gaining ground.

Sir Montagu Barlow, who was parliamentary secretary to the Labor ministry in the Lloyd George cabinet, becomes minister of labor, and the pensions portfolio is taken by Major George Clement Tyron, who was also a parliamentary secretary under the Lloyd George regime, being connected with the ministry which he is now to lead. Sir Samuel Hoare is appointed air minister, and Neville Chamberlain, M.P., a brother of Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, and who has just recently returned from a visit to Canada and the United States, as postmaster-general.

No Reciprocity Treaty

U.S. Senator Does Not Expect Reciprocity Pact With Dominion

Washington.—No reciprocity treaty with Canada is likely to be brought about, according to Senator McCumber, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He points out that the tariff act makes no provision for reciprocity, and that a special treaty would be needed. He doubts whether this could be arranged or ratified by the Senate.

Senator McCumber does not believe the tariff law will seriously cut down importation, and predicts it will not seriously divert Canadian trade from the United States.

The Valley's Memorial

A memorial worthy of the cause, and the men who served in its behalf, and an unveiling that in every detail bespoke full appreciation of our citizens of the tremendouseffort and sacrifice of the Valley men who participated in the great war may well be said of Saturday s proceedings in connection with the Valley's war memorial.

No appreciation need be written of the memorial itself. A look at it at once convinces of its everlasting fitness. In the matter of location a very wise choice has been made, and certainly its design could hardly be improved upon in any respect.

While the many who have contributed towrrd the financing of the memorial are deserving of commendation insofar as their contributions are proportionate with their ability to give and the great cause that should summon forth unstinted generosity, the Review believes that special mention is deserved by Robert Stark, chairman of the permanent memorial committee, and H. B. Downs, who designed the monument and gave freely much of his time supervising its erection.

As directing head of the memorial committee Mr. Stark encountered numerous aggrevating situations, to state the matter midly, in the way of securing the ideal site and then accomplish the erection of a granite memorial that would give the effect the site demanded, with the limited funds at his disposal and the all too few monumental creations available at that sum.

These are the factors that largely account for the somewhat extended time required to complete the memorial, but now that the completed work has been dedicated and thrown open for inspection Mr. Stark and his committeemen are commended on all hands for adopting the slow but sure policy.

Others deserving of editorial mention in this connection are Mr. Wilson, who had the general contract in connection with the monument's erection. In all its appointments the pillar reflects highest credit on Mr. Wilson's well known ability in matters monumental, while on the remuneration paid him it may well be said that his workmanship is only excelled by the moderate charge made for services well rendered.

The choice of Rev. J. S. Mahood, to deliver the unveiling address, was a particularly happy one. For more than three years of the war, even though a non-resident rector of Christ Church, Mr. Mahood was a great contributing factor in the success of patriotic efforts of many sorts—often at much personal inconvenience to himself—besides which he was the chief speaker at the official welcome home of the boys in March, 1919. and in 1917 he dedicated the wooden memorial tablet at the bank corner.

Himself the father of three sons who served overseas, and during his ministry here so great a favorite, and so well known amongst all denominations, it was in the eternal fitness of thongs that he should be the central figure of Saturday's ceremonies, and that his choice was a decidedly wise one was revealed in the well-reasoned and briefly stated address delivered by him.

On severing clerical relations with Creston some eighteen months ago Mr. Mahood was signally honored in being given an undenominational presentation on leaving. The honor conferred on him of officiating at the unveiling of Creston's outstanding public memorial was a well deserved tribute to a man zealous in well doing without thought or hope of reward beyond that of being respected in the community.

The unveiling exercises throughout were most appropriate, and from letters reaching the board of trade certainly not the least appreciative are the children who are particularly grateful to the business men of town for the free moving picture show given them and which in such happy fashion rounded out a memorable day for all.

Finally we commend the efforts of the unveiling committee. Every feature of the ceremonial had been well and carefully planned and the affair went through without a hitch anywhere, and to the evident satisfaction of all present.

Now that the Valley is posseesed of a suitable memorial it is to be hoped a permanent memorial committee will be named, or the monument turned over to the safekeeping of the board of trade, or some other active community organization, who will be responsible for seeing to it that the pillar always presents the best possible appearance, and to arrange for an annual decoration day and accompanying exercises, in addition to the Armistice Day features that the veterans will insist on being observed.

Lister

Mrs. Vinc. Liddicoatt, who has been with Vinc. at Nakusp the past few months, was here for a few days, the guest of Mrs. Rowbury, but is leaving immediately for a visit at Cranbrook.

Ma. and Mrs. Ivor Christensen and family are leaving this week for the coast, where they expect to spend the winter.

The ideal autumn weather that prevails is enabling the ranchers to complete a large amount of fall ploughing.

Mr. Yerbury, sr., had the bad luck to have his work horse drop dead on him while on the trip to Creston, Saturday, for the unveiling exercises necessitating him pulling the rig home afoot from a point well into the timber limit.

Ernest Langston has just been notified of his permanent appointment as Creston Valley agent for the B.C. Nurseries Company, Ltd. As soon as he gets things in shape for winter Mr. Langston proposes to make a canvass of the Valley for orders for trees

The residence of Col. Lister is reported burgalrized on Thursday morning last, and the desk containing all his papers was ransacked but so far as can be learned nothing of value was carried off.

There was a dance at the schoolhouse on Saturday night in the nature of a sendoff for A. H. Bernhard, Williams and Harry Helme, who are due to spend the winter working at the Continental mine at Klockmann, Idaho. The hat was passed during the evening and about $9 contributed to the piano fund.

Lister was very largely reprented at the unveiling exercises at Creston on Saturday, this area contributing possibly the majority of the uniformed men on parade. About thirty of the children were also present and much appreciated the free moving picture show after th unveiling.

Alice Siding

Mrs. Fred Taylor and two children are absent at present on a visit with friends at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Smith are now resident at Yahk, where Dick has a job for the winter. Jack Smith is at Kitchener where, we hear, he has a position as timber scaler.

Mr Wiley, an arrival from the prairie, is occupying Fred Taylor's former home at the back of the Collis ranch.

J. H. Webster has been busy hauling lumber from the Winlaw mill, for an addition he is putting to his barn and hay shed.

Elroy Jackson and Tom Anderson are busy in the timber near the former's ranch, cutting ties on a contract they have with the C.P.R.

Frank Sinister is doing some clearing on the Caven place, which he acquired at the government sale of lands. He has also erected a small residential shack on the place.

Mrs. Stace Smith and Ron and Miss Ruth Smith left a few days for Victoria, where, we hear, they will spend the winter.

ELINOR MARSDEN ELIOT

"What was the most interesting case that you ever nursed?" I asked.

"The one that introduced me to the Bar B," returned Mrs. Bingham promptly. "Did Mary not tell you how I meet my husband?"

"No," I replied. "Please tell me! I hope I am not inquisitive, but I do love 'truly' stories just as much as Bunny does."

"It is a wonder that Mary did not mention it," Mrs. Bingham began; "she never forgets to remind me of the fact that I broke all my solemn vows and married a patient.

"Seven years ago this summer I was visiting Dr. and Mrs. Randall in Carbon City, when one day a call came for the doctor to go out to see a man who had been badly hurt while breaking a young horse. The doctor was away all night and when he came back he told Mrs. Randall and me what he had found—a man with a leg broken in two places, a dislocated shoulder, and bruises from head to foot. That man was Mr. Bingham. The doctor knew him slightly and so did Mrs. Randall, and they were plainly worried to think that he could not possibly receive proper attention. So in a fit of temporary aberration I volunteered to go out to the ranch and nurse him! There was not another nurse closer than Medicine Hat, and the doctor, manlike, jumped at my offer, in spite of the objections of his wife. Before I had time to change my mind he had 'phoned to the hotel and told Don Livingstone to call for me on his way home (Don had come in with the doctor for some greatly needed sickroom supplies; I had not met him before), given me numerous directions and some warnings, and hurried off to another case, leaving me to pack my suitcase in fear and trembling.

"If I had retained any illusions regarding my profession I should have lost them immediately upon seeing my patient and his surroundings. The surroundings were the worst—for in spite of the fact that Jack's distinguished countenance was more or less obscured by a three days' growth of beard, he looked quite safe and harmless. But he and Don lived in the bunk-house with the men, and the place was hot and untidy, and stuffy with stale tobacco-smoke—imagine a sick man in such a sick-room! I must confess that I have been in many worse houses lots of time, houses where several servants were kept, for the bunk-house was clean in a primitive, masculine way.

"Secure in my uniform, I assumed command at once, and inside of ten minutes had Don and the men well in hand. Dr. Randall had told me to have the men set up a tent for me and my patient, and it was not long before this was done. Moving the patient was not so easy a task—I suppose it hurt his dignity to be carried on a cot; but finally this too was accomplished.

"Westerner as I am, I had never before slept outside, and the first night in the tent was not strictly enjoyable. My patient was restless and feverish, so I was up several times, and each time I went back to my side of the curtain it was harder to go to sleep than the time before. And when I got up in the morning a garter-snake was curled neatly under my bed! I threw a boot at it, and as I watched it wriggle away I pined for home and mother.

"For the two weeks I was at the ranch I never saw a woman, except once when Mrs. Randall came out with the doctor. But the cowboys were a compensation; it was lovely to see them falling over each other to do things for me, and Don was a tower of strength in himself. Mr. Bingham says that he is still jealous of Don!

"For the first few days Jack was a model patient. Then he had a shave, and at once became cross. Really, cross is no name for the way he behaved! He had never been ill a day in his life, and the enforced quiet told on his nerves, I suppose; and then, too, his leg had been so long unset before the doctor reached him that there was considerable inflammation, so he had a great deal of pain. You may think that he is quiet and not given to unnecessary speech, but I can assure you that at times his vocabulary is nothing short of marvellous.

"At the end of two weeks Dr. Randall decided that the men could in future do all that was necessary for my patient, so I went back to Carbon City. I thought at that time that I never wanted to see a ranch again, but . . ."

"You changed your mind?" I suggested, fearful that I was not going to hear the end of the story.

"No, I didn't; Mr. Bingham changed it for me," Mrs. Bingham replied. "He wrote every week, and made numerous 'business trips' to Winnipeg after I went home, and at last I had to marry him to get rid of him."

The Bingham are not noticeably sentimental.

Four weeks from the day I went into quarantine Mrs. Bingham let me sit out on the balcony. Mr. Bingham and Sunny, Mrs. Davidson and Mr. Livingstone stood on the ground below—Romeo and Juliet up to date—and we all talked at once until "the nurse" ordered me back to my little bed. From that time on I went out every day, and almost before I knew it two weeks had passed and I was free once more.

We had a flurry of snow yesterday, and the air is pleasantly frosty, but the sunshine is as bright as ever. I have had a drive every day since I came out of quarantine, but I am not yet allowed to ride. I am afraid that Cupid will grow fat and lazy. I had been counting on sleigh-rides, but they tell me that the little bit of snow that does fall here never lasts long enough to make good sleighing. The hills are scarcely browner than when I came; nothing but the colder air and the absence of flowers mark the change from summer to winter. That is hardly true, though; there is a subtle and indefinable silence which tells that Nature is sleeping—what a very poetical sentence for Elinor to be guilty of! After all, the silence may only mean that the flies no longer buzz, the mosquitoes no longer sing, and the crickets no longer chirp.

SAVED HER FROM AN OPERATION

So Thinks Mrs. Tracey of Ontario, Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Knightington, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the change of life for troubles that women often have at that time. I had not been well for a year and was not really able to do my work. A friend who had taken the Vegetable Compound herself recommended it to me and I think its use saved me from an operation. I highly recommend it to all women who have troubles like mine, and am willing for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. DANIEL J. TRACEY, Knightington, Ontario.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But the more common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing symptoms first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious trouble.

Tanlac Does The Work, States Rickson

Still another who vouches for the fact that "Tanlac makes you eat better, sleep better, work better and feel better," is Jerry Rickson, 1001, 4th St. West, Calgary, Alberta, Canada. Mr. Rickson said:

"For four years I was in a terribly run-down condition, and kept getting worse. I was in such bad shape I fell off from a hundred and fifty-eight pounds to a hundred and thirty, and I tell you it took a mighty effort for me to keep on working. My nerves were very shaky, and I got but very little rest nights. My appetite dwindled to almost nothing and even when I did venture to eat a regular meal it did me no good whatever.

"I saw by the papers where Tanlac was being praised by lots of people, so I started taking it, and I sure am glad I did. Five bottles put me in fine shape again. I eat hearty, sleep soundly, and have gained back a lot of my lost weight. Tanlac does the work without a doubt, and I am more than glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

To Care For Tubercular Women

Saskatchewan Council of Women Will Help to Raise Fund of $50,000

All the women of Saskatchewan, in whatever part of the province, are invited to lend a hand in raising a fund of $50,000 for taking care of 50 tubercular women belonging to the province. The Provincial Council of Women has decided to make an effort to raise this sum each year to help along the work of the Sanatorium.

A. B. Cook, Managing Director of the Sanatorium, addressed a meeting of the Provincial Council of Women, telling of the huge programme ahead of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League, if it is to get a Sanatorium built at Saskatoon, and one at Regina within the next two or three years, in addition to the magnificent amount of health work that is being done at the Sanatorium at Fort Qu'Appelle.

He asked if the P.C.W. thought it likely the women of Saskatchewan had sufficient sympathy with the tubercular, to make them willing to try to get money enough together to pay for the constant care of fifty women who have tuberculosis.

The Provincial Council of Women believed that the ladies of the province would be proud to have the chance to care for fifty mothers who have not money enough to get treatment for themselves. So Mr. Cook was promised that the P.C.W. will try to make the need known, and that is how the $50,000 Fund for Fifty Mothers is starting.

Every woman and every women's club, or Sunday school class, or organization is invited to help with it. Mrs. F. W. Bates, 3068 Angus Street, Regina, is the P.C.W. Treasurer of the fund. Prompt acknowledgment will be sent to everyone who sends to her even the sum of a dollar for this fund; or if donations are sent direct to Mr. Cook at the Sanatorium, Fort Qu'Appelle, for the Fund for Fifty Mothers, a receipt will be mailed at once to the sender.

HOW'S THIS?

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by catarrh. We do not recommend it for any other disease.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a liquid, taken internally, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Special Crop of Apples

During the year that closed on June 1, the Wenatchee Valley in the State of Washington shipped sixteen thousand carloads of apples, or one apple for almost every inhabitant of the world. It is reckoned that the yield this year will be one-tenth less. The prosperity of the Wenatchee apple district under its system of co-operative effort should be an example to other communities that are adapted by soil and climate to produce a special crop.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

C.N.R's Nipigon Trophy

Angler From Alabama Is Winner Of Trophy For 1922

It is announced by the Canadian National Railways that Mr. C. E. Abbott, of Bessemer, Alabama, has been declared the winner of the Nipigon Trophy for the season of 1922.

This trophy is donated by the railways for annual competition by non-resident anglers, and is held by the disciple of Izaac Walton who secures the largest speckled trout in Nipigon waters with rod and line. The trout caught by Mr. Abbott was 7 pounds 9 ounces in weight, 27 inches in length, and 15 inches in girth. It was caught on a single hook, with cockaboosh bait.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, T. V. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Erickson

Frank Staples, who has been in charge of Staples Fruit Company operations at Grand Forks the past three months, arrived home the latter part of the week.

Lorne Botterill left the fore part of the month for Sandpoint, Idaho, where he is expecting to remain for the winter at least.

BIRTH—On November 10th. to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maxwell, daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Foreman, who have made their home at Erickson for almost the past two year, have moved to Creston, where they have taken the Emery house.

Frank Martin of Maple Creek, Sask., was looking up old friends here during the week, and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin.

Mike McCarthy, who has been with C.P.R. operations on the Wetaskiwin, Alta., branch this season got home for the winter a few days ago.

Misses Ruth Klingensmith and Maude Botterill are visitors with Cranbrook friends this week.

Mrs. D. Macdonald and Donald, Jr., of Cranbrook, are visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cartwright, at present. Mrs. Frank Staples, who had been at Cranbrook, returned with her.

Men have been busy the last week making the necessary fills to put the water pipes well below the frost line and no failure of the water supply need be worried about this winter.

Miss Hunter, teacher at Kitchener, was a week-end guest of Mrs. G. P. Smith.

Messrs. Beams and Kelsey are about the second in this section to bring in a deer this year. They bagged one while operating along Goat mountain on Monday. Earlier in the season Sid Foreman is reported to have bagged the first 1922 venison.

Canyon City

The Union packing house at the siding closed at the end of the week, the last car being loaded out on Friday.

Mrs. Barnhart and children have returned to their home at Glenlilly, after a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knott.

The U.F. Social Committee are arranging for a wnist drive at the schoolhouse on Friday evening, Dec. 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance are leaving this week for Spokane, where Mr. Vance will be undergoing medical treatment.

Practically the entire adult Canyon population was at Creston on Saturday for the memorial unveiling, and in the school parade at least thirty of the Canyon school children were noticed.

E. Vance was home for the week-end from Klockman, Idaho, where he is employing a crew of eight men on a fuel supply contract at the Continental mine.

Mr. Bond, who is occupying part of the Swanson ranch, received a car of effects this week, included in which is a team of horses. Mrs. Bond and children are due any day now. He has been at Kingsgate lately on a plastering contract at that point.

R. Hurl is back from a three months' stay at Vanguard, Sask., where he was helping with harvest operations, and reports a good grain yield in that area this year. He is accompanied by his two sons, Joe and Reid.

At a meeting of those interested on Wednesday last at the school the Canyon Minstrels were organized for the season, with Principal Kolthammer selected as chairman, and T. R. Mawson, secretary. They will put a series of possibly three entertainments here before spring comes.

The U.F. social committee box social and dance on Friday night was well attended, the affair netting the piano fund $30. Excellent music was provided by A. Wickholm, accordeon; T. Mawson, violin; Geo. Davie, drums, and Mrs. Burnhardt, Miss F. Knott and Mr. Kolthammer, piano.

Sirdar

Armistice night was pleasantly passed here with a dance in the Whiteside hall, which was very largely attended.

Mrs. J. A. Cameron who has been at Cranbrook on a visit to friends, got back on Monday.

Mrs. Jones of Kuskanook was here on Saturday, en route to Creston for the memorial unveiling.

Mrs. North, who has been seriously ill the past week is improving nicely, and her many friends are hoping to see her back to good health shortly.

Mrs. Ike Lewis was here from Boswell between trains on Tuesdny, on a visit to her daughter, Miss Hazel McLelland.

Mrs. Goodman and daughter, Miss Myrtle, got away this week for Arizona, where the latter will remain for at least the next four months recuperating her health, but Mrs. Goodman is expecten back before Christmas. All extend best wishes for the patient's return to the best of health.

Sirdar was pretty well deserted on Saturday, young and old alike being at Creston for the soldiers' memorial unveiling. The school pupils, in charge of Miss Schmidt, were accorded front place in the march of children to the memorial site, and this fact along with the free movie show certainly has given the youngsters a fine opinion of Creston. Praise is due Miss Schmidt for her training of the scholars for the musical numbers and the march.

Another feature to the memorial unveiling visit was the pleasure afforded Sirdarites in hearing the splendid address of their old friend Rev. J. S. Mahood, and to also have the opportunity of renewing acquaintance with a former Anglican rector. Incidentally the school children took special satisfaction in knowing they had contributed the most money for the purpose of purchasing the bronze wreaths on the stone pillar.

Sirdar would also call attention to the fact that the granite used in the Creston memorial is all from the Jas. Wilson quarry near here, and the entire work was done under his supervision. A finer appearing monument we believe would be impossible to find anywhere.

The following are some of those noticed in the Sirdar contingent at Creston for Saturday's unveiling ceremonies: Mrs. Sid McCabe and children, Mrs. Dennes and Master Dick, Mrs. Hughes and son, Mrs. T. Rogers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cam and children, Mr. and Mrs. Loasby, Miss Rosa Pascuczo, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Tuohey and children, Mr., Mrs. and Miss McMasters, Jack Cameron, Mrs. and Miss Prento, and Mr. Mannerino.
