THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XXII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1930 No. 34

Consent to More Street Lighting

Additional Light Near Tourist Camp—Another Beyond the Cemetery—Gravelling Lane—Buy Another Chemical Tank.

All members were on hand for the October meeting of Creston village council with Reeve Jackson presiding, and the session very largely taken up with considering requests for street lights, lane gravelling and a letter from the Ministerail Association asking that soliciting charity should be controlled within the village.

There were two requests for street lights. E. H. Pridham and W. B. Martin, who own orchard property beyond the cemetery, asked for a street light to be installed at a point about midway between the two pl ces and the request was granted.

Paulson & Johnson, who recently donated the village a roadway through the tourist park property from Canyon street to Hillside Road asked that lights be installed at both ends of this street, known as Creston Avenue, but after some consideration it was decided to give but one light, which will be put in a likely location in that neighborhood on Canyon Road.

The request for gravelling was on the lane off Hillside Road and between Princess and Victoria Avenues, and the gravel will be put on as asked for.

The letter from the Ministerial Association was of a constructive nature. It suggested that if the soliciting of hand-outs or the price of a cup of coffee could not be effectively curbed, the next thing to do was for the village to open a central office to which the needy could be directed, or else the village issue certificates guarenteeing that the holder thereof was worthy of assistance. The council, however, decided to notify the association that it could not take actlon desired.

The resignation of J. G. Farris, as electrical inspector was accepted. The tax rate for 1931 was struck at the old reliable rate of 12 mills, and the accounts of September ordered paid tatalied $318

The fall fair management was given permission to store the display tables on the rafters of the main building and thus put them out of reach of possible destruction. The council will also consider paying for some permanent improvements made in the main building electric light equipment by the fall fair management, the clerk being instructed to secnre the acconnt rendered for this work.

To improve fire fighting facilities it has been decided to secure another chemical tank which will be mounted on new running gear with the present chemical equipment. General taxes for 1930 are coming in better even than in 1929, but poll tax payments are slow.

HEADACHES

Ended by Kruschen

"I was a martyr to headaches, with frequent attacks of dizziness affecting my vision. My occupation is a very sedentary one—a printer's reader. I gave Kruschen Salts a good trial, and from then onwards I seemed quite another person. The headaches disappeared and the dizziness, and the most wonderful thing to me is that I have gone back to weaker glasses, a lens which I had discarded some years ago as not being strong enough. I also suffered from bad circulation during the early mornings of winter. Now at 58 I can enjoy cold baths all the year round, enjoy and am eager for my food, and am what I consider very fit—the sort of fitness that makes living a joy."—(G. F.)

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach or to partial constipation—a complaint many indoor workers suffer from without ever suspecting it.

Kruschen Salts go right down to the root of the trouble and remove the cause by gently persuading the organs of elimination to function exactly as Nature intended they should.

Edmund A. Gullion, 17-year-old American youth, won the fifth International Oratorical contest held at Washington. Paul Leduc, 17-year-old French-Canadian, was second. Youths of eight nations competed.

General V. I. Karpoff, one time commander of the Chinese military forces at Tientsin, under the late Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, has abandoned his military career to become a monk.

W. B. Lambie, the British Government's assistant deputy trade commissioner in New Zealand, has been transferred to Canada, and will take up his duties in Winnipeg in December.

Empire delegates to the Imperial conference saw 37 different types of British aircraft in action at Croydon Airport, England. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald witnessed the air performance, executed in honor of the overseas visitors.

Keeping Down Weeds

Good Work Carried On In Alberta This Year In Connection With Weed Eradication

Good work was done in Alberta this year in the keeping of soil free from weeds, it was reported at a meeting of the advisory weed board at the Parliament Buildings at Edmonton. The activities of sixteen supervisors were reviewed under the direction of E. L. Gray, field crops commissioner. Recommendations from the board will go to the Department of Agriculture as to next year's work, for which some important undertakings will be suggested.

Has Faith In Sub Trip

Stefannson Believes Wilkins' Voyage To Pole Will Be a Success

Vilhjaumur Stefannson, who has spent most of his life in the Arctic circles, is firmly convinced that Sir Hubert Wilkins' voyage to the North Pole in a submarine will be a success. Sir Hubert was second in command during Stefannson's 1913-1916 Arctic expedition.

"If I were an insurance agency," he said, "and were to write a policy on Wilkins and his party, I would insure them for less in a submarine trip than I would in a polar flight in an airplane.

"The reason I believe the experiment will work out is that there are no icebergs within 400 miles of the North Pole. There are ice floes, but those floes are of no great depth and a submarine might easily pass under them.

"Many people think the Arctic seas are infested with icebergs. This is not the case. If it were true, then such an undertaking as Wilkins suggests would be impracticable, for icebergs have a depth of a thousand feet or more."

Crying Babies Are Sickly Babies

The well child does not cry. He is laughing and happy all the time. Baby's cry of distress is the only means he has of telling the mother or nurse he is ill. Mothers, you can keep your little ones well and happy by giving them Baby's Own Tablets—the safe and efficient remedy for all childhood ailments.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and thus banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Purebred Bull Purchase Act

Alberta Farmers Are Taking Advantage Of Provisions Of New Enactment

Farmers of Alberta in considerable numbers are taking advantage of the provision of the Purebred Bull Purchase Act passed at the last session of the Legislature. An unusual feature of the situation, it is pointed out, was the fact that many applicants sought Red Polled bulls, which had not been much in demand in the past. Dairy Shorthorn bulls were also in demand. It is considered that the present movement is a good sign, indicating a return to diversified farming.

Caramel Pudding

One of the most delicious desserts one can serve, and it is one especially loved by children, can be said practically to make itself. It is called Caramel Pudding. Here it is:

"Place an unopened can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk in a kettle of boiling water and simmer for two and a half hours, being careful not to let the kettle boil dry. Remove can, cool and chill. Remove top of can, cutting along the side of can—not the top—so that the contents may be removed whole; place on a serving dish and garnish with broken nut meats and whipped cream. To serve individually, cut in slices, garnish with nut meats, and whipped cream—or use plain unsweetened cream, with or without garnish."

Actor: Laddie, listen. The last time I had a verbal contract I drew a verbal salary!

Tenth Anniversary Of Radio Broadcasting

Although Opportunities Were Restricted Development Has Been Rapid

The tenth anniversary of radio broadcasting, which gave the industry its greatest impetus, was celebrated a few weeks ago. The first program went on the air from a Pittsburgh station in 1920, and some weeks later this same station introduced radio to politics by broadcasting returns of the Harding-Cox election. Crystal-detector sets were then the last word in reception, and it was necessary for members of the family to take turns at wearing the earphones. Restricted as were its opportunities, however, broadcasting developed so rapidly that within a few years the air was overcrowded and the Government was seeking some form of regulation.

The substitution of electrified vacuum-tube sets for those with crystal detectors and the replacement of earphones with loud speakers, together with other improvements, greatly increased the range and quality of reception. Television today is scarcely more of a novelty than broadcasting was in 1920.

These developments have created great industries.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 9

THOMAS—THE HONEST DOUBTER

Golden Text: "Thomas answered and said unto Him, 'My Lord and My God.'"—John 20.28.

Lesson: John 11.14-16; 14.5-8; 20. 24-29; 21.1, 2.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 3: 13-20.

Explanations and Comments

Thomas the Pessimist, John 11.14-16. Read John 11.1-13.—When Jesus told the disciples that Lazarus was fallen asleep, they took his words literally, and He had to tell them plainly that Lazarus was dead. And then Jesus added words that at first sight seemed strange: "And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, to the intent ye may believe." When He had first heard of the sickness of Lazarus, He said, "This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified thereby." It was for Jesus a great opportunity to render service and inspire faith.

"Let us go unto him," thus Jesus announced His intention of going to Bethany. Thomas who is called Didymus, "Didymus means twin," was certain that death would be the fate of Jesus if He were seen at Bethany, but loyally he said to the other disciples, "Let us also go, that we may die with Him."

Thomas the Practical, 14.5-8. Read John 14.1-4.—In His last discourse with His disciples Jesus told that He was going to prepare a place for them in His Father's house. When He said, "And whither I go, ye know the way," Thomas voiced his failure to understand the words: "Lord, we know not whither Thou goest; how know we the way?" Thomas was still expecting Jesus to establish an earthly kingdom, and this obsession prevented his mind from grasping the meaning of his Master's words. "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life," Jesus answered. "The Kingdom which I have come to reveal, is not an earthly one; the mansions of which I have spoken are in heaven, not on earth. To share in my Kingdom is to share that state of exalted and blissful communion with the Father, which is not possible on earth. I depart to heaven, to enter that state of bliss; and you may follow and enjoy it, too, if you will have faith in Me as the one Mediator between God and Man (the Way), the one Teacher authorized to reveal the things of God (the Truth), and the one Author of spiritual as of natural life (the Life)." "without the Way there is no going; without the Truth there is no knowing; without the Life there is no living: I am the Way which thou shouldest pursue; the Truth which thou shouldest believe; the Life which thou shouldest hope for."—Thomas A. Kempis.

Thomas the Doubter, 20. 24, 25.—Read the account of His appearance in the evening to His disciples, John 20.19-23. Thomas was not among them at that time: he was the only one of the eleven disciples to whom that first Easter was not Easter. He would not credit their report that they had seen the Lord. Thomas stoutly maintained that nothing less than the evidence of his own senses—the putting of his finger into the print of the nails, and his hand into His wounded side—would convince him of so stupendous a miracle as the resurrection of his Lord.

Thomas Convinced, 20.26-29. Again Jesus appeared, and after the customary greeting "Peace be unto you." He turned to Thomas and said: "Reach hither thy finger, and see my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and put it into my side; and be not faithless but believing."

Another Proof Given Thomas, John 21.1, 2.—Peter, Nathaniel, James and John, Thomas, and two other disciples, were back in Galilee, in the old haunts. By the Sea of Galilee Jesus manifested Himself to them; this was the occasion of which we learned in our lesson last week, when Jesus forgave Peter.

For Dry Skin—Minard's Liniment.

Alberta Sugar Factory

The refinery of the Canadian Sugar Factories Limited at Raymond, Alberta, will likely be kept working up to the end of January, the crop of beets having been heavy this year—in the neighborhood of 11,000 tons. Slicing of beets began September 25th last.

Porsium Balm quickly relieves chapping, windburn and all roughness caused by weather conditions. Keeps the complexion clear and lovely. Completely absorbed by gentle rubbing. Never leaves undesirable stickiness. Stimulates the skin. Makes it soft, smooth and flawless. Preserves and enhances natural beauty. Soothes, refreshes and invigorates. Makes hands soft flawlessly white. Imparts that subtle charm so essential to true elegance.

Gem Will Be Priceless

A ruby said to be a wonderful gem weighing about 100 carats has been found in Mogok, upper Burma. Great secrecy is being maintained about the discovery but it is said the ruby is flawless and of excellent color. If this is the case it will rank among the world's most priceless gems.

Dread Of Asthma makes countless thousands miserable. Night after night the attacks return and even when brief respite is given the mind is still in torment from continual anticipation. Dr. J. D. Relief comes, and at once, while future attacks are warded off, leaving the afflicted one in a state of peace and happiness he once believed he could never enjoy. Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

THE DUSTY HIGHWAY

"But—that's it," she said with sudden courage. "Did you hear what that dear old man said to me to-night? He said: 'Give him plenty of rope to run on.' And you'd be freer without me, Nick, on this wonderful trip — a thousand times freer. You've given me the happiest week of my whole life. Only—only I should want you to come back to me again."

Nick looked at her. The moon was so bright that he saw distinctly the sweet curve of her lips, and the soft, dark hair above her brow. Something in her nearness made him curiously inarticulate, and she misconstrued his silence.

"I could go back," she hesitated, "and—and when you got tired of roaming (and I suppose even the most confirmed vagabond has such moments), why—I'd be waiting, and —and glad to see you. . . . ."

She could no longer control the tremble in her voice, and the sound awakened Nick from the trance her words had brought upon him.

"So that's your problem?" he said quietly. "Well, my precious little wife, I'm relieved to hear that you'd be glad to see me! For just a moment I wondered if you were weary of your bargain. As for myself, Gay, I don't care for that long rope, if it's so long that I can't see you at the other end. I don't want my freedom without you to share it. I know I'm a kid in lots of ways, dear—too much of a kid to know how dearly I loved you, even a week ago. But I know now. That answers your problem, doesn't it?"

He would have kissed her, but she moved from him a space, and said, her voice still trembling: "Oh, Nick! you are always so sure. Are you never afraid of—Life?"

"No," Nick answered. He sat quite still, looking down on the moon-lit shadows in the valley. "No," he repeated. "Perhaps if I were a woman . . . . still . . . . my mother was not afraid. It was she who made me see life as I do. She was a poet, my mother. She didn't often put her poetic fancies into words; but the night she died . . . ."

Again Nick seemed lost in thought; but as Gay's hand slipped into his he clasped it hungrily, and said: "I've never told this, Gay, even to Aunt Nettie, who knew all my secrets. My mother called me to her, because, though the doctors hadn't told her, she knew it was the end. I knew it, too, though I was only fourteen that day. Talk of being afraid of life! I was afraid then. The thought of losing my precious mother, and of living in my uncle's house without her to defend me, was pretty bleak. She knew that, and I suppose she wanted to give me something to hold onto."

Nick paused a moment, his eyes big and dreamy.

"I can see her now, lying there with her two beautiful braids falling over her shoulders. The window was open, and the breeze that blew across the lamp made little flickering shadows on the pillow. She was pale; but, boy as I was, I was conscious of an unearthly beauty in her face. She said (I have never forgotten one word), 'If I don't get better, sonny, there's something I want you to remember. Life won't be easy for you without me. Your uncle's a hard man, dear. He won't understand you, or help you to do the things you'll want to do. The next few years may not be happy years; but you must remember that life is a highway—a long, long highway that we must travel whether we will or no. If your life's like most lives, Nick, you'll find weary stretches of dusty road that seem to go on forever, and ever, and ever. But usually, when the way seems hardest, and your endurance is almost at an end, the road will lead into a cool woodland. You'll smell the ferns — you'll hear a brook rippling across the stones, and the song of a bird. Or, after a heartbreaking effort to keep your feet in the straight and narrow path that they must tread, son, if you're to know real happiness, you'll reach a hill-top, and see the earth and the fullness thereof stretched out before you; and the sight will make everything worth while.

"'And as you look back on your journey, Nick, you'll forget those weary, hot, interminable miles. You'll remember only the brooks, and the birds, and the grateful shade along the way. Those are the things that one remembers at the journey's end. Life is a highway, but you can make it a happy highway. Promise me that you will try.'"

Nick drew a quivering breath, as if the repeating of his mother's words brought back too vividly the night she spoke them. He clasped Gay's hand a little tighter, and cleared his throat.

"Perhaps most mothers wouldn't have talked that way to a boy like me; but she knew, you see, what I was up against. And the words sank in, Gay. As I grew older they became what she meant them to be—a refuge. I used to think of them when things seemed unfair to me, and they kept me from bitterness. I'd say: 'Don't you care, old man, after this long, hard pull those brooks and birds can't be far ahead," and my waning courage would come back. The thought steadied me, as my mother's hand on mine had steadied me years before. They were all that she had to leave me—those words, Gay, but they have been a wonderful legacy."

There was a silence until Nick spoke again, turning a little to look into the girl's face.

"I thought, that morning a week ago when I locked the door and started on my journey, I thought then that the weary miles were over—that I'd reached some of the shade my mother promised. But I only thought it then, Gay. Now—now, dear comrade, I—know."

It was Gay's turn to draw a quivering breath which seemed to be echoed by the pines above them.

"Gay," said Nick quietly, "tell me you're not afraid to tramp the dusty highway with me."

And still Gay did not speak. She arose with a gesture that brought him to her side, and they stood together looking off at a scene of moonlit beauty that might, indeed, have been "the ends of the earth." And then she answered.

"No," she said, slowly, as if trying desperately to be honest, "no, dear, I'm not afraid. Oh, Nick!" she cried, and faced him, her eyes like stars. "Oh, Nick, life is so wonderful! Just now I'm not afraid of—anything!"

CHAPTER IV.

Gay did not know that she touched one of life's mountain-peaks when she spoke those words. Later she was to understand, and look back upon that hour as something precious. For life's big moments do not last. Their beauty perishes like the beauty of a rose, leaving only a fragrance and a memory.

Standing there in the moonlight with Nick's arm about her, Gay felt a sense of security and happiness that, in her ignorance of life, she thought must last forever. Nick loved her; and she was not afraid! Nothing would ever make her afraid again; yet four months later, when they stood together on another hillside, fear stared at her—not fear for herself and the big mystery before her, but fear that because of it Nick's coveted freedom was at an end.

It had been a glorious four months. Leaving the "rusty flivver" with Mr. Bartlett, they had gone forth on foot, because Gay wouldn't let Nick change his long-laid plans.

"That's right," the old man said at parting. "He'll be happier to do just what he set out to do; and there's the railroad to bring you back if either of you gets sick or caves in on the job. You got plenty o' money along, Nick? I ain't advisin' you to spend any more'n's necessary; but there's nothin' makes for comfort on a journey like a full pocketbook. If you need more'n you got I'll be glad to supply you till it's convenient to pay back."

"That's mighty kind of you," Nick answered, "but I think I've enough to see us through, thanks to my late uncle's not making the will in which he threatened to disinherit me! Thank you for housing the flivver for us, Mr. Bartlett. We'll call for it sometime during the next two years."

"All right sonny; but don't let that little lady get tuckered out. If she does, just ship her back to me and I'll be proud to look after her while you're gallivantin' round the world. Good-bye, ma'am. I'd be pleased to have you drop me a card from every port."

"I shan't forget to," Gay promised; then added, as something wistful in his eyes caught at her heart, "Will you kiss me good-bye in place of the father I can't remember?"

"That I will!" he replied heartily, "if you'll guarantee it won't make no hard feelin' betwixt Nick and me! Good-bye, children. Don't forget your Uncle Sim when you're off a-conquerin' the universe."

Nick grinned.

Four Doses Relieved Bad Attack of Cholera

Mr. W. J. Cooper, Maughan, Alta., writes:—"A year ago last spring I arrived in Canada with my family, and one of my boys, aged six, was suffering very much with cholera. When we arrived I had a few hours to wait, and told one of the attendants at the station about it, and he asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I had never heard of it in England, so he told me I could get it in Winnipeg. I am pleased to say I had only to give the child four doses and he got well and was quite cheerful by the next morning."

Little Helps For This Week

"Be ready to every good work."—Titus iii. 1.

Into thy charge hath He not given space,
All of thine own to make look green and sweet;
To be a haven unto troubled souls,
To be a resting-place for weary feet?

Doth He require at thy hands aught but this,—
To let thy garden show itself so fair,
That others seeing it shall straightway go
And till the portions given to their care?

And what is work? Is it only some task of hand or brain? Is it only accomplished when we see tangible evidences of our toil? Or is it, too the checking of a petulant or thoughtless word, the subduing of an unworthy desire, the rising above the subtle temptation that woos us to spiritual indolence, the striving to keep fresh and blooming the garden-plot God has given us all for our own, and where only by heart-work the fair flowers of "Love," "Joy," and "Peace," can be brought to bloom?

Old age is a long shadow lying in the cold evening sun, but it points towards the morning.

Central Farmers' Institute

Of interest to local members who support grower-control of the fruit industry is the news to hand from the semi-annual meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute at Nelson on October 27th. It was learned that the 'Federated Grower' resolution is receiving the hearty support of West Kootenay institutes—all delegates at the meeting voting in favor of it, The resolution was, however, amended by the committee. It read, "That the Advisory Board recommend to the government that the Produce Marketing Act be amended so that the Interior Committee of Direction be made responsible to the growers themselves rather than to the Growers & Shippers Federation. It was felt that if the government was interested the details of this proposal could be supplied at short notice. The delegate, D. Bradley, reports that the chairman of the advisory board intimated that he was converted to the principles underlying this resolution and would give it his full support.

Britain and a Wheat Preference

Whatever hopes may have been entertained by a considerable section of the Canadian people, our Western farmers in particular, that, as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference, the British Government would grant a preference to the wheat of the Dominions through the imposition of a Customs tariff on all foreign-grown wheat, have gone a glimmering with the definite announcement of Premier Ramsay MacDonald that the British Government will not take this action because it cannot be done.

The British Government is extremely anxious to help out the food producers of the Dominions. It is most desirous of promoting and developing Empire trade. It is willing to do everything it can, but it will not place a Customs tariff on the food of its own people because it cannot do so. As an alternative it is giving serious consideration to bulk purchasing of wheat by the Government with a view through such bulk purchasing to giving a preference to Empire-grown wheat.

Undoubtedly there will be regret and disappointment in this country over Britain's decision. It is to be hoped such feelings will not be allowed to develop into anything approaching bitterness or antagonism towards the Old Country. Canadians generally should strive to understand and appreciate the British position. They should realize the facts of the situation.

In Great Britain this is not a political issue in a partizan sense. Liberals, Conservatives and Labour are all of one mind that, whatever preferential policies may be evolved at this time, they cannot include taxation of food supplies. Mr. Baldwin, who is more favorably disposed towards adoption of a policy of tariffs than either Ramsay MacDonald or Lloyd George, nevertheless made it clear that he did not include tariffs on wheat and other food supplies and raw materials in his programme.

Here is the situation. Great Britain is a country small in area but with a large population. It raises only a small fraction of the food its people require. It is a highly industralized country, yet the variety of its natural raw products for purposes of manufacturing industry is small and strictly limited. It scours the world for food supplies and raw products in order that it may exist. In order to pay for such food supplies and raw materials it must sell its manufactured goods abroad. Taxing its food and raw materials would so increase costs of production that it could not compete with other nations engaged in manufacturing but which likewise possess large food producing areas and needed raw materials, as, for example, United States, Canada, Germany.

Now consider Britain's trade position with two countries, Canada and Argentina, by way of illustrating the position of the Old Country. Both countries have large surpluses of wheat for export; both are anxious to sell in the British market. Britain has two main articles she is anxious to export in large quantities,—manufactured goods of all kinds and coal. The Argentine lacks coal, and is prepared to purchase it from Britain in exchange for wheat. Canada, on the other hand, is rich in coal deposits and is averse to large importations of coal from Britain entering into competition with Canadian miners. The Argentine is not a large manufacturing nation, and is prepared to purchase extensively in Britain, selling her wheat and meat products in exchange. Canada, on the other hand, is a manufacturing as well as an agricultural country. Its production of manufactured goods per head of population is one of the highest in the world. Canada is capable of manufacturing not only all the steel, textiles, boots and shoes, paper, automobiles, and a multitude of other articles required by her own people, but enjoys a large export trade in manufactures of all kinds. Canada, therefore, taken as a whole, is not anxious to take manufactured goods from Britain in exchange for wheat, meats, and various raw materials.

Therefore, notwithstanding a sentimental desire to favor Canada as a sister nation of the Empire, Britain simply cannot afford to impose a tariff against the Argentine and jeopardize her profitable trade with, and her huge investments in, that country. As Premier Ramsay MacDonald has stated; "We cannot do it."

The Americans, North and South, are food-exporting countries, with wheat the big item; so, too, is Australia, New Zealand, India, and so has Russia been in the past and will be in the future. China and Japan need food, but the economic position of vast millions of their people is not such as to enable them to buy high priced wheat. The wheat exporting countries must, therefore, look to Europe. But Europe, impoverished by war, with unemployment rife, burdened with enormous debt, no longer possesses the purchasing power to buy high priced imported food products. Her people are being forced to raise more grain for themselves, or go without. Their Governments are making them do so as a national necessity to prevent the exportation of money abroad which the nations must retain at home.

In the circumstances, what is Britain to do? Further restrict the markets for her manufactured goods by imposing tariffs against those countries which are prepared to buy from her in exchange for the sale of food products and raw materials, thus intensifying her own unemployment problem and at the same time increasing the cost of food to her people and of needed raw materials for her industries?

The British Labour Government says "it cannot be done;" the British Liberal party says "it cannot be done;" the British Conservative party, while favoring tariffs to "safeguard" Britain's industries, says in regard to food and raw materials "it cannot be done." It is, we repeat, not a political question in a party sense in Great Britain; it is an economic question.

And in Canada, whatever our sentiments, desires, interests, or political views and opinions may be, it is just and right that we should at least look at and appreciate the British point of view.

More Cigarettes Used

Report Shows People In United States Consuming More

The people of the United States are smoking more and more cigarettes. Last year they consumed about 1,000 per man, woman and child, but the reports for the first eight months of this year show an excess over those of the same period for last year of 200,000,000. Benjamin D. Hill, chief of the tobacco division of the Department of Commerce, assumes that the increase will continue until the end of the year.

In times of business depression or periods of great stress, it has been the experience of the tobacco industry, that consumption of cigarettes increases.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and mal-nutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

Wild Life Valuable

Canada realizes quite a revenue each year from its wild life. According to Dr. H. F. Lewis, of the Department of the Interior, this wild life has a capital valuation of one billion dollars and a yearly business turnover of about $45,000,000. This valuation includes the fur harvest, game fish, and their influence on sales of sports goods.

ARE YOU USING UP YOUR NERVOUS ENERGY?

Do you feel tired? Are you troubled with headaches, a poor appetite, irritability and a lack of ambition? If so, it is probable you have been using up too much nervous energy—you have been going full steam ahead without feeding the nerves.

Nerves that have become weakened and shattered through over-work or worry need nourishment—the nourishment gained through rich, red blood. Good blood feeds the nerves and gives them greater vigour and vitality.

No other medicine has been so successful in treating nervous disorders as have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their sole duty is to enrich and renew the blood. That is why they are the ideal nerve tonic. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUGGEST BONUS TO ASSIST THE WHEAT FARMER

Ottawa, Ont.—A proposal that the Dominion Government grant a bonus to western wheat farmers whose wheat crops were caught in the rain and snow storms this fall is being given serious consideration by the Department of Agriculture. It costs three cents a bushel to dry tough wheat and five cents a bushel to dry damp wheat.

The proposal which the department has under consideration is said to be that the Dominion offer to pay one and a half cents a bushel on the grain caught in the storms if the province would pay a like amount. Should Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, decide to recommend to his colleagues that the government make such an offer, it would be accompanied by the provision that it would only apply to a limited number of bushels for each farmer.

The misfortune of having the crops injured by rains has made more acute the situation of the prairie farmers, already serious because of the low price grain is bringing. It is known that Mr. Weir has been studying every suggestion to cope with the difficulty regardless of from where the suggestions eminated.

Hon. George Hoadley, Alberta Minister of Agriculture, suggested that the Dominion Government provide free drying facilities at the terminal elevators. This has been studied by the Federal Department and it is understood many obstacles presented themselves, one was the vast amount of bookkeeping that would be necessary to differentiate between the wheat entitled to free drying and that which would be paid for. Often in drying, wheat becomes bleached, and suffers loss of a grade. The question would arise whether the government, in case of free drying, would be liable for loss caused by such improper drying. Experts estimate that much of the wheat caught in the rains would maintain 30 per cent. moisture. The point has been raised whether it would be economical to transport all this wheat to terminal elevators, whether it would not be much more profitable to feed it as it is.

One problem of course which applies both to a bonus and free drying would be that the farmers with big crops would reap the greatest benefit whereas the people most in need of assistance are the small farmers. For this reason it has been suggested that the number of bushels on which a bonus be paid to any one farmer would be limited. Should a bonus be decided upon it would not be taken out of the $20,000,000 voted to deal with unemployment, but from some other vote.

Feed grain to livestock is looked upon as the most logical way of alleviating the western situation, but many cannot buy the livestock and in a number of districts shortage of water supply makes livestock farming difficult.

Recover Part Of Money Only

Winnipeg Police Succeed In Locating Only Part Of Loot Of Bank Robbers

Winnipeg, Man.—Detectives of central police headquarters made records in the fast round-up of alleged bandits in the Transcona Bank of Toronto robbery on October 1, but they have had little success, despite diligent search, in locating the majority of the $12,000 loot.

Ten persons were arrested in connection with the robbery, one is now under sentence of three years in the penitentiary, three others have been committed for trial, and charges are pending against the others. Only $3,000 of the $12,000 secured by the bandits has been recovered, and a "mystery man" is believed to have escaped with the missing $9,000.

Pledge Not Kept

British Government Protests Against Continuance Of Soviet Propaganda

London, England. — The British Government has made representations to Soviet Russia that the Moscow Government has not been observing its pledge against propaganda exchange between the two countries on the resumption of relations.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, divulged in the House of Commons that this representation had been made as a result of inquiry into propaganda carried on by the Third Internationale in Great Britain and other parts of the Empire.

"I asked the ambassador to impress seriously on his government that continuation of this propaganda would be calculated to endanger relations between the two countries. The ambassador, continued Mr. Henderson, "said that the Soviet government would continue to observe the pledge but could not control the activities of the Third Internationale."

Loud Conservative cries greeted this statement, but the matter was allowed to drop.

Prospectors Drown In Northern Manitoba Lake

News Of Tragedy Reveals Tale Of Heroism

The Pas, Man.—Lakes of Northern Manitoba took their first human toll of the season when two prospectors, Charles Stabback and Fred Miller, drowned. They crashed through thin ice while travelling across Herb Lake. Details reaching The Pas from the north, indicate a typical northern tale of heroism lies behind the tragedy.

The men were travelling by dog team with a canoe on the sled. One prospector fell in while the other was able to save himself. He ran to the shore, not far away, obtaining a long pole and attempted to save his companion. Blundering through raging snow storm that swept the Herb Lake area, he met death with his companion. The pole was floating on the surface of the water to mark the tragedy for searchers. The bodies were recovered.

Brandon Entry Wins Egg Laying Contest

Race For Honors Was Between Saskatchewan and Manitoba Birds

Brandon, Man.—The white leghorn entry of John R. Beer, Brandon, won the eleventh Manitoba egg laying contest conducted at Brandon experimental farm. The closing weeks of the contest were exceedingly interesting as the final outcome was in doubt until the last few days. During the summer months there were several pens with an equal chance of winning the contest, but during the final month the race for premier honors was between the barred rock entry of W. C. Wroth's Sunton poultry farm, Welwyn, Sask., and the white leghorns entered by J. R. Beer.

At the close of the contest Mr. Beer's pen had a total of 2,270 eggs and 2,297 points, and the barred rocks owned by W. C. Wroth had a total of 2,207 eggs and 2,271 points.

Pool Guarantees

Information In Connection With Wheat Pool Loans Will Be Given In January

Winnipeg, Man.—At about the end of January, "losses" to the Prairie Provinces in connection with their backing of Wheat Pool loans, will be definitely known, according to the statement of Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba. Mr. Bracken, who says that the prairies may lose more than $10,000,000 unless wheat prices improve, considers that the position of the provinces will not be determined until the unsold 1929 grain is disposed of—namely, he says, in about three months.

No ultimate loss will accrue to Alberta in any case, states Premier J. E. Brownlee, who claims that "it will all be taken care of by the Wheat Pool." He states that the prairie governments are not being pressed to meet the guarantees they offered to the lending banks and characterizes crop-loss talk as "a matter of speculation." No stand on the question has been taken by Saskatchewan's premier, Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, beyond saying that when the governments deem a statement necessary it will be made.

Premier Bracken at a luncheon described the $10,000,000 loss figure as "somebody's guess."

Reduce Initial Payment

Wheat Pool Makes Reduction On Initial Payment On Barley

Winnipeg, Man.—A five-cent-per-bushel reduction in the initial payment on barley was announced by the central selling agency of the Canadian Wheat Pool. Initial payment on the basis of No. 3 C.W. barley at Fort William will thus amount to 20 cents a bushel.

The reduction applies to all the malting grades and No. 3 C.W. Payment spreads on the lower grades have been narrowed somewhat, and are as follows: No. 4 C.W., initial payment, 17 cents; No. 5 C.W., 16 cents; No. 6 C.W., 14 cents, with a minimum payment of 12 cents a bushel on lower grades.

The Pool's initial payment was appreciably higher than the street prices paid by the trade for barley, it is pointed out by the coarse grains committee of the central board in explaining the reduction. Since the recent slump in barley prices, prices quoted have been particularly lower on the higher grades produced in Manitoba. This, and "increasing deliveries of barley to the Pool made it absolutely necessary to reduce the initial payment," the Pool announcement said.

EMPIRE RADIO STATIONS MAY BE ESTABLISHED

London, England.—At the Imperial Conference, the committee on communications, which has been considering the erection of an Empire broadcasting station, encountered both financial and technical difficulties. The cost of the central station, which would be built in England, is estimated at 40,000 pounds, or about $194,000 a year for the first five years. How the cost would be allocated has still to be determined.

Relaying stations would have to be constructed at a number of points to ensure proper reception. The idea would be to broadcast a regular radio program, including news bulletins, throughout the Empire. According to the skeletonized plan already submitted there would be four separate hours of broadcasting, and Canada, owing to the difference in time between the Dominion and the Old Country, would have devoted to it the early morning hours, so that the program would arrive before Canadian radio listeners had gone to bed.

The Sankey committee, headed by the Lord Chancellor, will soon have its draft report ready for the Imperial Conference. The report, dealing largely with constitutional issues, covers three main grounds; the channels of communications to be adopted as between Britain and the Dominions; the advisability of extending in practice the machinery of Dominion autonomy as recognized in the Balfour report of 1926 and the establishment of an Empire tribunal for the hearing of disputes between different units of the Empire.

The appointment of governor-general is understood to come under review. The British Government, it is learned, holds that advice on a proposed appointment given by a Dominion Government to the King should continue to pass through United Kingdom channels.

The constitutional committee members were so intent on their work recently that they did not adjourn for luncheon, being content to discuss the political status between sandwich munches.

One economic sub-committee worked on the application of a quota scheme to British purchases of canned fruit, fish and dairy products.

The Canadian Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, has entirely recovered from his recent indisposition.

Home Government Will Not Interfere

Dominions May Choose Governor-Generals For Appointment By King

London, England.—The Daily Herald says one of the most important results of the Imperial Conference would be elimination of interference of the home government in selection for governor-generals for the dominions.

The paper said a method of procedure had been worked out in committee, and that in the future each governor-general would be appointed by the King solely in consultation with and on the advice of the dominion government.
