Institute Stages Flower Show

Representative Showing in Most Sections—Foxglove Best Single Entry—Many Roses Shown—Tea and Sale Home Cooking

Creston and District Women's Institute flower show in Trinity United hall on Saturday afternoon brought out a splendid display in most every kind of early summer bloom. There was a total of 29 sections, with 24 of them producing competition, and in most cases the entries were quite large, giving the judges, W. G. Littlejohn and Jas. Cook, considerable study before placing the prize tickets on more than a few of them.

The season seems to have been ideal for poppies as the entry in both the Oriental and an other variety was heavy, with the honors in the former going to Mrs. J. M. Craigie, and to Mrs. Mallandaine in the latter. Roses also had a large entry, with first prize awarded Mrs. M. Young.

Foxglove was well represented and Mrs. C. Moore not only won first prize, in this section, but the three stalks of these also carried off the honor of being the best single entry in the fair.

Pansies were in evidence in large numbers and in keen competition first was won by J W. Dow. The show of ferns was also notable with first prize going to Mrs. F. C. Rodgers. The winners in the various sections were as follows:

Iris—Mrs. Chas. Moore, Mrs. M. Young.

Roses— Mrs. M. Young, 1st and 2nd.

Pinks—Mrs J. M. Craigie, Mrs. M. Young.

Sweet William—Mrs. Hendy, Mrs. J. W. Dow.

Any other variety poppy—Mrs. Mallandaine, Mrs. Hayes.

Snapdragon—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. H. W. McLaren.

Foxglove—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. M Young.

Shasta Daisy— Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. F. C. Rodgers.

Cornflower—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. Mallandaine.

Delphinium—Mrs. M. Young, 1st and 2nd.

Petunia—Mrs. Mallandaine, Mrs. F. C. Rodgers.

Cape Forget-Me-Not—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. Hayes.

Colnmbine—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. M. Young.

Pyrethrum—Mrs. Craigie, Mrs. Hayes.

Any other variety garden flower—Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. M. Young.

Geranium—Mrs. Mallandaine, Mrs. M. Young.

Begonia—Mrs. McLaren.

Fern—Mrs. F. C. Rodgers, Mrs. Lowther.

Any other house plant—Mrs. Ross, Mrs. F. C. Rodgers.

Single flower in bud—Mrs. F. C. Rodgers, Mrs. Craigie.

Best single entry—Mrs. C. M ore.

The show was officially opened by Col. Mallandaine, president of Creston board of trade, who, in a brief address, commended the institute on the good work it was doing along community lines, and specially praised the flower show effort. In making a town attractive flower gardens played a most important part, and in encouraging people to go in for flowers competitions of this kind were quite helpful.

Mrs. Edmondson and Cook's greenhouse had displays of cut flowers and pot plants at the show which added much to the attractiveness of the general display. And along with the show went a sale of cooking and serving of afternoon tea these features giving the institute a cash intake of about $30.

Creston in East Kootenay League

Canal Flats, Fernie, Kimberley Other Towns on Circuit and Season Closes August 31st—Creston Asks Oldtime Support

For July and August Creston is to again be favored with league baseball, ith games at Exhibition Park every Sunday fortnight, commencing with July 5th, and closing here on August 31st.

On Tuesday arrangements were completed whereby Creston enters the East Kootenay league and will be grouped with teams from Fernie, Kimberley and Canal Flats, the locals making their debut in new company at Canal Flats, on Sunday.

On the showing made on the last two Sundays Creston has the material to enable it to hold its own in the East Kootenay circuit and if it is found present talent is not sufficiently good then the management will lose no time in securing needed reinforcements to keep Creston on a par with the best of hem.

The fans are urged to turn out at the league opener on the 5th and give the team the moral and financial support they deserve. In the matter of finance it should be borne in mind that funds are not only needed to meet league expenses, but it is also desired to accumulate a surplus that will enable Creston to enter the tournament at Fernie on Labor Day to defend the East Kootenay baseball championship cup which they won in spectacular fashion agains Michel at Fernie last Labor Day.

The most practical way to extend the needed financial help is by purchasing a season ticket, which can be had at $2.50 for the individual. A season ticket for the family has also been issued at an attractive price. These tickets admit to all home games.

Shows Faith In Canada

Sum Invested In Her Industries Is Over Six Billion

The impressive fact that the sum invested in Canadian industries is no less than $6,850,000,000 is mentioned by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, in a foreword to the "Canadian Resources Supplement" published by the Financial Times of London, England. Still more impressive, he says, is the fact that sums contributed from outside sources are held in proportion of 61 per cent. by the United States and 35 per cent. by Great Britain.

Detailing a few facts to indicate the "extraordinary resilience of Canadian industrial activities during the period of acute world wide depression," Mr. Ferguson records as another impressive fact that building contracts during the first ten months of 1930 totalled $400,000,000. He says, "this hardly looks like fatalism or resignation to depression. Building contracts on this scale are as reliable an indication of Canada's prosperity as any that can be found."

Amend Copyright Act

Bill Drafted To Conform With Rome Convention Of 1928

Parliament has given third reading to a bill amending the Copyright Act, approving the final three clauses in a short time. Nine clauses were passed in committee. The bill went on to the senate.

Piloting the bill through the House, Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state, said he hoped a thorough revision of the copyright law might be undertaken but indicated it would require "a great deal of time."

The bill is drafted in order to bring the present copyright law into conformity with the Rome convention of 1928, and Canada is required to deposit this country's adherence to that convention by July 1. In general its purpose was to extend the provisions of the copyright so as to embrace radio broadcasting and cinematograph reproductions, those developments not being in existence when the original Berne convention was drafted.

As the bill operates, individuals who have not registered their works will not possess the right of suit in court in respect of such unregistered works. In the case of assignment having been made, only such assignments as have been registered will vest in the assignee whatever court rights are established. Unregistered assignments will have no status before the courts.

Organizations to whom copyrighted works have been assigned and who charge fees for the performance of such works will be subjected to government regulation if, after an enquiry by a commissioner under the Enquiries Act, it is shown that excessive fees are being charged or that the organizations are operating detrimentally to the public interest.

A Real Patriot

It was a beautiful Sunday morning. Simpson, having finished reading a paper printed with an invention made in Germany, set out with his wife for the meeting house of a faith found in Palestine. Contemplating the beauty of the land, which had been discovered by an Italian in the employ of a Spanish queen and musing on the liberty it possessed thanks to the help of a French navy, his bosom swelled with pride. "Thank God," said Simpson fervently in a language imported from the British Isles, "I am a one-hundred-per-cent. American."

Gandhi Prefers Humble Quarters In London

Chooses To Live In Garret Among the Poorer Class

Mahatma Gandhi, who will leave India about the middle of August to attend meetings of the federal structures committee in London, England, has decided that when he gets there he will live among the most humble mendicants of Kingsley Hall, London's east-end home for the poor.

While India's other delegates to the round table conference install themselves in the city's hotels or the castles of their friends, he will be in a garret among surroundings not unlike those familiar to the people who revere him so highly at home.

If the weather permits he will not even alter his habitual costume of white shawl and thin cotton loin cloth, but if it is cold he will wear a homespun coat and the conventional European trousers. When he appears before the King and Queen it will be in the Indian costume with shaven head and bare feet.

Despite the problems of state with which he is concerned, one of his major considerations at the moment is how he will obtain fresh goat's milk in London, England, and on the way there. Contrary to reports he cannot take his own flock of goats which are milked twice daily in his presence, and it is likely he will instruct Miss Slade, his British attendant and disciple, to take along a supply of condensed milk.

Life is just a one-way street.

Angela's hand, resting on her steamer chair not far from Nick's, caught his suddenly in a frightened clasp. He turned toward her, startled, but she had already drawn it away, and was looking out to sea.

"Any of you been there?" persisted the Colonel cheerfully.

Nobody had.

"It's just a long neck of land stretching out into the sea," he went on affably. "Rocks, and berry bushes, and one wide, wonderful curving beach—at least, that's what it was before the summer people took it up. It's some colony now. Finest hotel in the state out on the point beyond the artists' studios. Never hear your name, Mrs. Halilday, without remembering something rather ghastly that happened there a year or two ago—the only summer I've missed being there in a long time. Some people named Halliday took a house there for the summer. Any relatives of yours?"

"No," said Angela, her voice queerly breathless. "No; I never heard of the place."

"Quite a yarn," went on the Colonel. "These Hallidays (just a man and wife, I believe), were evidently a queerly assorted pair. He was a quiet chap—professional man of some kind, and crazy about his wife. Never looked at anybody else. She was different. Wasn't happy without a man at her heels. Before the summer was over some called her a murderess, but——"

"It's getting awfully chilly," broke in Angela. "I think I'll go for a wrap."

She would have risen, but Amy Myer tossed a sweater into her lap.

"Take that. I'm melted; the air's so breathless. Do go on, Colonel Nowell; this bids fair to be exciting."

The colonel obeyed eagerly.

"They hired the Burgess place, a fine big house out by the cliffs. The cottage next to it was taken by a man named Ashley—an artist from somewhere in New York state. He had a wife and baby. Everyone liked them; nice, homey sort of people, I understand, though Ashley himself was—well—his views were a trifle too radical to suit some of the regular population of the Neck; though I doubt if they thought much about it till after the tragedy."

The Colonel leisurely lighted a cigar, enjoying the sense of keeping his audience in suspense. Angela stirred again, as if she would arise, then sank back in resignation as he continued, her hands tensely clutching the arms of her steamer chair.

"Well, this Mrs. Halliday was a sort of vampire. She tried her charms on the Rector of St. Anne's, but they didn't work, so she began on Ashley, and before she was through she finished him—literally. The servants said afterward that they heard her husband remonstrating; but she had a high temper, and I guess he couldn't do anything with her. Anyhow, Ashley went off in a gasoline launch with her one day, and didn't get back till morning. When he landed and went to his own cottage (probably scared blue, too, trying to think what he'd say to wifey), he well, he found that he didn't have to say anything. She'd taken carbolic acid an hour before."

"How horrible!" exclaimed Nick, wholly unconscious of the rigidity of the form beside him.

"But that's not all." The Colonel was plainly relishing the effect of his lurid tale. "Mrs. Ashley was in the bathroom, alone, or so the neighbors gathered, when the baby woke and yelled so long that someone went in to investigate. Ashley had evidently turned her over to see if she were gone; and then he'd reached for his razor and slashed his throat."

Angela had risen. Even in the moonlight her face looked pallid.

"That's not a pretty story, Colonel Nowell," she said unsteadily. "It's given me the creeps." She laughed a forced little laugh that rang out eerily on the still night. "Well, I think I'll turn in now. 'Night, everybody. Hope there's some air to breathe tomorrow."

She moved toward the door, staggering, though the sea was like a mill pond. Nick sprang to her side, putting an arm about her until she reached the stairs.

"All right?" he questioned. "That was a beastly yarn to spin a night like this. Sure you're all right?"

But Angela did not speak as she fumbled blindly for the bannister.

When he came back the Myers were preparing to go below; but Colonel Nowell was at the rail, and motioned Nick to join him.

"Hope my story didn't upset the little lady too much. Say! I wonder if those Hallidays weren't some relation after all! Uncommon name—Halliday; but she said she'd never heard of Painter's Neck."

"I think it was just Mrs. Halliday's extreme sensitiveness," Nick answered. "She seemed nervous, I noticed, when you began to talk. What became of those people, Colonel Nowell?"

The Colonel shrugged. Nick had noted this growing habit, and wondered if the little man had caught it from Angela.

"You mean the Halidays? They left the Neck at once—naturally. She was in a sanitarium for a time—used up nervously. Gad! do you wonder? They never went back to the Neck, and that's all I know, though, come to think of it, someone told me last summer that Halliday had provided for the child—the Ashley child. Look! there's a big cloud gathering. Wonder if our good weather's over."

In their cabin below, the Myers had undressed in silence. It was as Myer dutifully stooped for his good-night kiss, that he said, jerking a thumb in the direction of Angela's stateroom: "Well what do you make of that?"

His wife smiled.

"I think our friend isn't always a successful actress; but let's not talk about it here. These partitions are too thin. Good-night."

And behind that thin partition lay Angela, hot hands pressed against her eyes as if to shut out some horrid picture.

She was thinking: "They said the carbolic had spilled onto her face. . . . . She was burned horribly . . . disfigured. . . . . What else could the man do then? . . . . She was a fool anyway. . . . . Why didn't she give him time to explain? . . . . I didn't hurt him! . . . . My God! . . . . won't they ever let me forget?"

As she turned dry-eyed to the wall she was conscious of an inexplicable longing—an aching want for the steady touch of her husband's hand.

CHAPTER XXI.

Two hours later the moon was obscured by clouds, and the face of the deep seemed vaguely restless. After the Colonel left him, Nick sat for a long time on deck, enchanted with the night—the soft and fragrant breeze—the thought that it was he, Nicholas Hastings, of Bakersville, U.S.A., who had seen the wonder and beauty of these tropic isles. Wooded, coral-tipped bits of fairyland, they seemed to him. All his life he would be grateful for these weeks, and grateful to Angela, who had made them possible.

He frowned as his thoughts turned to Angela. She was undoubtedly upset by the Colonel's story—curiously upset. Putting two and two together one might think—Still, it was a horrid thought. He hoped none of the others had grasped it. Of course Colonel Nowell had never met James Halliday. He couldn't know how near the story fitted. And Angela did enjoy having a man at her heels! Nick smiled into the clouds. Why, she even enjoyed an old married man like himself! It was perfectly evident, and with Mrs. Myer. Perhaps she was one of those women who didn't care for her own sex. That might account for Gay's strange aversion to her.

Gay! Why, it was a relief just to think about her! No wonder she and Angela didn't hit it off. They were so—different. Gay could talk to the men—could keep them interested (hadn't he seen Halliday himself looking at her as if he thought her a little piece of all-right?), but she didn't look at them the way Angela did. Gad! he was glad she didn't. Not that Angela meant anything by it either. They were just—well—different, that was all.

He arose, walking a bit restlessly up and down; glancing at the clouds that were hiding the familiar stars; wondering why Angela had grasped his hand so suddenly at the mention of Painter's Neck. Yet she said that she had never heard of the place.

"I'd give a penny to know," he mused quietly; then broke off with an impatient: "No I wouldn't either! Thunder! where are my thoughts taking me? Why, if it were Angela, if she'd been even the indirect cause of that ghastly happening, she wouldn't look at another man as long as she lived! No decent woman would. It must have been nerves, and—and sympathy, that upset her so. Gee! I hope the others didn't notice. The Colonel caught on all right, but he's a gentleman. He'll keep his mouth shut."

Stained Glass Windows In Battleship Chapel

Dedication Ceremony Performed On Cruiser "Repulse" Was Unique

The unique ceremony of dedicating a stained glass window on board a battleship was performed at Sheerness by the chaplain of the fleet, Archdeacon Walter K. Knight-Adkin, on the battle cruiser "Repulse." "Repulse" is the first ship in the Royal Navy to have her chapel adorned in this way, and the window fits into an ordinary porthole in the ship. Before the ceremony the chaplain addressed the officers and men on the quarter-deck. The designer is Archibald Nicholson. The window represents St. Nicholas blessing two sailors.

It is better to have little knowledge with humility and small understanding than greater treasures of learning with a vain self-conceit.

Eating When Tired Bad For Digestion

Body Needs Chance To Recuperate and Rest Is Better Than Food

When you are tired don't eat. Rest in times of fatigue, will do more for the digestion than something thrown into the stomach. says Hygeia, the health journal.

Many people develop a habit of eating or drinking to relieve fatigue or merely to pass away the time. When a person is tired the body needs a chance to recuperate. It is not then advisable to take in quantities of food or to overstimulate the body with drinks and drugs.

Human beings need food to develop energy for daily work. The antidote to desire for food is the feeling of satisfaction. To go on eating merely because food is set before one, after satisfaction has been reached, is to overtax the system. Because people are more moderate now in their eatings and drinkings they are living longer than their forefathers who gorged themselves on food in the belief that the more they ate the stronger they would become, and who boasted of being "three-bottle men."

Aviators Have Narrow Escape

Almost Sucked Into Crater Of Volcano In Alaska

Man, for the first time, has flown over the crater of Aniachak volcano on the south shore of Alaska Peninsula, but the suction of cold air towards the hot crater, 21 miles in circumference, pulled the aeroplane toward the pit, and only a sudden dive away from the gaseous mouth saved the ship from lunging into the hole.

A 'plane, piloted by Harry Blunt, with Al Monsen, mechanic, and carrying Father Dernard J. Hubbard, the "Glacier priest," after several days' waiting for good weather, soared over the world's largest active crater taking off from Chignik Bay.

Sailing over some crags, several huge eagles attacked the 'plane Father Hubbard reported, sneaking from behind on a short turn and diving in. The propeller wash turned them over like chips of the ocean, but, screaming, they came back for more until out-distanced.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

PRAYER FOR THE JOURNEY

Oh, God of small things as of great,
Of atom as of star,
Let me not fear or hesitate
Before the things that are!
Let me unfalteringly go
Always with steadfast trust,
Since I am blest in that I know
The plan is wholly just.

Oh, God of worlds unguessed, remote,
And farthest deeps of space,
Yet not too vast a force to note
The spider's silver lace,
And heed the tiny sparrow's fall,
Let me serenely tread
Life's way, and go content in all
The paths where I am led.

Oh, God of small things as of great,
Of atom as of sun,
Let me not doubt or hesitate
Till all my course is run.

Long-Lived Twins

Retired Farmers Just Celebrated Their Ninety-First Birthday

Theresa Agnes Golding and Miss Clara Golding, whose deaths at the age of 88, within a few days of each other at Rochester, were announced recently, were reputed to be the oldest twins in England.

A Lincoln resident has stated that at Haxey, recently, two retired farmers, John and William Cooper, celebrated their ninety-first birthday. They are known as the "Haxey twins."

Turner Valley Oil

Deliveries of Turner Valley naphtha and crude during May totalled 118,314 barrels, as compared with 114,217 barrels in April. Sales to farmers at the wells have been continuing in fairly large volume, so that the deliveries do not represent the total production. Farmers purchase around 500 barrels daily from the various companies.

LOSE YOUR FAT
This sensible way

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd almost forgotten had existed—you get the needful exercise.

As a result instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment and letting flabby fat accumulate you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition.

Kruschen Salts are the up-to-date Fountain of Youth. Take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water to-morrow morning and every morning—be careful of the foods you eat—take regular moderate exercise—then watch the pounds slide off.

Little Helps For This Week

"For we have great joy and consolation in Thy love."—Philemon i. 7.

Thou in adversity canst be a sun;
Thou art a healing balm, a sheltering tower;
The peace, the truth, the life, the love of One,
Nor wound, nor grief, nor storm can overpower;
Gifts of a king, gifts frequent and yet free;
There's none like Thee, O Lord, none, more like Thee.
—Maria J. Jewsbury.

There is no father, no brother so pitiful and compassionate as He who calls you His child. Whatever else may fail, be sure that His everlasting love will not fail. He is with you in your struggle against sins, in your search for truth, your woes and griefs, and loneliness, and trials. All your hope, all your patience, all your regard for what is excellent and imperishable, come from Him. And as He has given you your capacity for His friendship and His likeness, He will train you and guide you to Himself if you are submissive and obedient.—Horatio N. Powers.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, a most effective vermifuge. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring those healthy conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is a most trustworthy worm exterminator.

Telephones Per Square Mile

Britain Comes Fourth, But Tenth When Population Is Considered

It was recently suggested by the "Telegraph and Telephone Journal" that a very fair test of telephone development in a country is the number of 'phones to the square mile. Taking this test, Great Britain comes fourth on the list, with 21.2 telephones per square mile. But there is very little in it. Holland, which heads the list has 22.8 telephones per square mile; Belgium, 22; and Denmark, 21. The United States is ninth on the list with 6.6 'phones to the square mile. Both Canada and Australia have fewer telephones than they possess square miles of territory. However when it comes to a test of population, Great Britain only comes tenth on the list.

Death has claimed another oldtime resident of Creston district in the passing away at Creston public hospital Tuesday evening of Angus Currie, to which institution he had been taken a few days previous suffering with pleurisy.

Deceased, who was in his seventy-fourth year, was a native of Belleville, Ontario, and at a comparatively early age commenced his treck west, and for some years cowboyed it on a number of ranches in Montana, arriving in Creston Valley about thirty years ago, since that time he has followed mining, cattle farming and various other lines of work.

Up till about three years ago he made his home at West Creston, but due to failing health he was forced to quit his farm in that section and has been living by himself in a shack he built on Park Road.

His relatives in eastern Canada have been communicated with but it is expected burial will take place in Creston Thursday.

Protest Change Train Service

Board of Trade Fights Proposal to Have Eastbound Train Pass Through Creston After Midnight Commencing This Month

All members of the executive of Creston Board of Trade who were in town were out for an emergent meeting on Saturday afternoon to consider the effect the proposed change in time of the eastbound train will have on business generally.

President Col Mallandaine presided and he briefly explained that on Friday he had been handed a copy of a letter W. B. Martin, local C.P.R. agent, had received, asking the agent to ascertain the opinion of the businessmen on a proposed change in schedule which would bring the eastbound train through Creston about 1.30 a.m., instead of the present popular 2 10 p.m. time of arrival.

The long after midnight arrival proposed is to be brought about by having the Kettle Valley train discontinue its night stopover at Nelson.

The executive was unanimous the change in schedule was not in the best interests of the fruit industry and a motion was carried that the secretary write the C.P.R. Express Company superintendents at Vancouver and Winnipeg, as well as the passenger traffic superintendents, pointing out that serious loss will be sustained by the soft fruit growers, particularly, who under the new time card will lose the splindid marketing advantage they enjoyed at Lethbridge, Calgary, Medicine Hat and all intervening southern Alberta, points, by not being able to deliver fruit in time to be put on sale the morning following picking.

The Express Company will be advised that the twelve hour later service will mean berries will be travelling across country in the the heat of the day as the train is not due in Calgary and Medicine Hat until early evening, thus increasing the liklihood of spoiled shipments with consequent grief to the company. It will also be pointed out that the change in time will give the trucks a greater chance to pick off trade as these can deliver to points as far east as Crowsnest to better advantage than the proposed new train service.

Due to the very light travel it was felt the passenger department will not be seriously interested but they will have their attention called to the fact that if the Kettle Valley train were changed to leave Vancouver in the morning there would be no c mplaiht at this end as the train would still make its noon arrival at Creston.

The termination of the present advantageous service will be serious to local growers as at present half the strawberries, all raspberries, blackberries, cherries, currants, etc., are moved by l.c.l. express shipments. A loss of 24 hours in getting fruit on sale at at centres like Calgary and Medicine Hat, cannot help but be felt. And even at Lethbridge with the train not due to arrive until 2 p.m. it is questionable if berries can be placed on sale in that city the afternoon of arrival.

Don't Be Critical

There are two kinds of criticism,—one that nowadays we refer to as "constructive" criticism, and the other that in common parlance we term "destructive" criticism. To be exact, the word criticism should not be employed in connection with the latter.

Criticism is a fine old English word which in its pure significance, so a recent writer has pointed out, implies carefully weighing and balancing; fine, exact, authoritative judgment. Needless to say the heading over this article does not refer to such true form of criticism.

In modern usage the word has been debased, and divorced from its true meaning. Today its implication is not to take the measure of something or some one, but rather to point out, dwell upon, magnify the defects of something or some one. The tendency is not to balance, but to distort, to become cynical, to carp at, to indulge in wholesale fault-finding, to seek to destroy what is rather than to work for betterment. It is in this sense we say: Don't be critical.

In so many respects people are the product of their environment that it takes an unusually strong person to stand erect and breast the onrushing tide of current opinion. When times are prosperous, business booming, stocks and bonds mounting ever higher, when nine out of every ten people are optimists, many of them merely because it is the fashion to be so, they become extremely critical of the person who advises caution. Such a person is characterized as a non-progressive, labelled a back number, when as a matter of fact he may be more truly progressive, more far-seeing, more of a real builder than those who deride him.

Reversing the picture, we find in these present days that the vast majority of people are pessimistic and because conditions are admittedly not good they are critical of and would destroy those very institutions under which they developed and enjoyed their former prosperity, and they now denounce those who again urge caution and a carefully weighing of all the facts before taking a leap in the dark; they are impatient with and critical of all those who advise sane, clear thinking and careful, well-thought out action rather than wholesale destruction of that which has gone before.

Environment, too, has a great deal to do with our pet prejudices, and prejudice is the fruitful source of a very large percentage of harmful criticism. It is only the accident or circumstances of birth that makes a person one of the white race rather than a negro or an oriental. Many a staunch Protestant who criticises, denounces and raves over everything appertaining to Roman Catholicism might just as easily been born a devout Roman Catholic and thus be the object of the criticism and scorn he now pours out on others, or he who now insists he belongs to the only true church might have been born one of those he now regards as a heretic, or even a heathen savage.

The circumstance of birth has placed some men on thrones, or in positions of luxury and wealth, while others have been born as slaves and into dire poverty. Each man may be doing his duty as he sees it, honestly and fearlessly, striving for individual, community and world betterment. But neither the one nor the other has the right to look condescendingly on his fellow man nor deride him. They may not agree upon what constitutes world betterment, and each has full liberty of action to strive for the attainment of that in which he believes or desires. Constructive teaching and action looking to the realization of desired ends is praiseworthy and should be indulged in, but narrow, bitter, illogical criticism, purely destructive in its nature and intent, is not only deplorable and to be condemned, but, in the final analysis, it is futile in results.

What this old world needs, probably more than anything else, in its present stage of development, is a more universal acceptance of the meaning of the good old English word, "Criticism." People need to readjust their thinking processes, their words written and spoken, their actions; they need to subdue their passions, curb their prejudices, look beyond their environment; in a word, in business, in government, in community life, in all our intimate social intercourse, there is imperative need for careful weighing and balancing, for fine, exact, authoritative judgment. Prejudice and selfishness require to give way to reasonableness, a willingness to recognize and study the other fellow's point of view.

That is, the world needs today, as it has always needed and always will need, the application of the Golden Rule, the spirit of co-operation, in the every day activities of life, be those activities great or small, vitally significant or relatively unimportant.

Business As Usual

An insurance agent had outstayed his welcome in a merchant's office, and took no notice of the many broad hints that he was making himself a nuisance. At last his victim got him by the scuff of the neck and pitched him downstairs. The man got up, retrieved his hat, and turning to the man at the top of the stairs, he said calmly, "Joking apart, what about that insurance policy?"

Social Service Investigation

Professor Edouard Montpetit, chairman of the Quebec Social Insurance Commission, and four members of the commission, sailed recently for England and the continent to complete a general survey of social relief methods. Their investigations will take several months, after which they will make a report upon which will be based the social insurance legislation to be enacted in Quebec.

Dr. FOWLER'S EXT. OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Mrs. Ray Drinkwater, R.R. No. 2, Hagersville, Ont., writes:—"I am the mother of seven children, and last summer one of them, 17 months old, was taken very sick with diarrhoea, and I thought she was going to die.

"My husband went 7 miles to see what my sister had given her baby, and he came home with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I gave the child a few doses and she was soon well again.

"My other children also had diarrhoea at that time and I gave them 'Dr. Fowler's' with the same results."

Manitoba Visions Huge Power Project

Development Of Dauphin River Power Would Be Great Benefit To Province

A likely means of balancing agricultural and industrial development in Manitoba was pictured by Premier Bracken in his address to the Young men's Section of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, recently, on "The Feasibility of the Dauphin River as a power development scheme." Properly developed, the Dauphin River project would be the largest individual development in Manitoba, he said, and would increase the power resources of the province by probably 400,000 h.p. It would round out the whole power situation in Manitoba; assure all parts of the province of a supply of low-priced hydro power for many years; facilitate the development of industry in urban centres and of municipal services in the rural centres with the possibility of adding 50 per cent. to the industrial future of the southern part of Manitoba.

Amish Mennonites Ban Radios

Classify Them With Musical Instruments Sent By Devil

Bringing the extremely strict tenets of their creed up to date, the Amish Mennonite conference of Ontario, which concluded a three-day session at the Mapleview church, Wellesley Village, near Kitchener, Ontario, has decreed that radios must be banned from all Amish Mennonite homes, the sect classifying radios with musical instruments which have been barred since the sect was founded.

Musical instruments, along with many other modern luxuries and even some so-called conveniences, are banned from the homes of Amish Mennonites as being instruments of the devil designed to lead the faithful away from devout worship of the Almighty. Penalty for violation of the ban on radios in the home is excommunication from the church.

Would Cancel Certificates

One Hundred and Seventy Naturalization Certificates May Be Cancelled

Cancellation of 170 naturalization certificates which were obtained fraudulently has been recommended by Judge J. G. Wallace of Woodstock, Ont., who investigated many cases in Montreal and Toronto last April. The cabinet is considering the report at the present time but it is expected the recommendations will be followed. Consideration also is being given to the institution of criminal charges against those involved and to deporting them from the country.

Eats Poison Weed

Saskatchewan Boy Dies From Eating Wild Parsnips

After eating some wild parsnips, which he found near his father's farm, Gregory Kotek, son of a well-known farmer of the Foam Lake district, died before medical assistance could be obtained. No inquest was considered necessary, the youngster having told his parents what he had eaten.

Wild parsnips are deadly poison, even when cooked. Recently the University of Saskatchewan agricultural authorities issued a warning against eating this weed.

Cloud Of Insects Visits Alaskan Island

Report From Wrangell States All Vegetation Was Destroyed

A despatch from Wrangell, Alaska, states that a cloud of insects which filled the skies to such density that they could be grasped in the air by the handful, visited and destroyed vegetation on Vank Island.

J. G. Smith, a fox farmer, said the insects were borne to the island by a southwest wind. He described them as about half an inch in length, with red legs and with a head and mouth resembling an ant.

They alight on the trees and shrubs, eating a single hole in each leaf, he added. Strawberry blossoms turned black later.

Have Better Chance

The family which possesses a piece of land and will work it so that it will produce the things they must have to sustain life, is vastly better off than the general run of population of the towns and cities, even though they may not be out of employment now. It has been a long, hard pull lately for the farmers but they are not without something with which to pull, as is the unhappy condition of the unemployed in the cities.

Invents New Type Of Engine

Windsor Resident May Sell Rights To English Company

After 20 years of effort William MacKirdy of Windsor and Detroit is ready to offer for market an engine which is declared to be revolutionary and in many ways not comparable with anything on the market.

The inventor describes his product as a combination of the Diesel principle of internal combustion, that is, burning fuel oil under high pressure, and the principle of steam wherein the surplus heat of the Diesel—at present lost in water jackets—is utilized in generating a highly superheated steam. It has all the virtues of the Diesel practice and the steam principle, with none of the disadvantages, it is asserted.

When Sir Harry Brittain, director of D. Napier and Sons, of England, visited Detroit recently he crossed the river for the express purpose of examining the engine. On his request, complete plans of an engine for a mammoth flying boat have been forwarded to England. The English company has suggested taking over the world rights of manufacture if the engine meets with the inventor's claims. Sir Harry expressed himself as very favorably impressed.

SWEEPSTAKES BILL IS OPPOSED IN THE SENATE

Ottawa, Ont.—A vigorous attack on the Hospitals Sweepstakes Bill was launched by Sir George Foster. The bill would make it legal for hospitals to raise revenue by conducting sweepstakes with the sanction of the attorney-general of any province. He concluded by moving the bill be given a six-months hoist.

The state owed a duty to look after its aged and its poor and its sick, Sir George said. It should not delegate that duty to a gambler's chance.

If this bill was made law, Sir George declared, he could see no limits to which propaganda to sell lottery tickets might not extend. With such a bill made law, he thought it was possible such degenerating propaganda might result as would "eat out the honest heart of the people of Canada."

Referring to the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes, he called it "the great Irish industry." Everything was left to chance, and neither experience, skill, reason nor ability counted.

Senator Gillies said the majority of the people were opposed to the principle of the bill. Canada had had a disastrous period of stock gambling, and did not want a period of lottery gambling.

Senator Lacasse thought Sir George Foster's argument would have been stronger if applied to all forms of gambling. Money lost in gambling would not have gone to charity. He favored the bill because it transferred further rights to the provinces.

Senator Forke was opposed to the bill and seconded Sir George Foster's motion for a six months' hoist. He sympathized with the object of the bill but not the method.

Senator Dandurand felt the object of the bill was a worthy one but did not like the principle.

Must Show Courage

Col. Woods, Of Calgary, Sees Dawn Of Better Times For This Dominion

Victoria, B.C.—Evidence of the dawn of a greater prosperity than Canada had ever known were seen by J. H. Woods, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. In many fields, chiefly in the healthy acceptance of the Canadian Conversion loan, he read foreword of the ascendancy of the Dominion.

He urged upon his hearers the necessity of showing courage, energy and integrity in order to develop the potentialities of the Dominion.

After outlining the aims of the Canadian chamber, Colonel Woods spoke of the success of its recent delegation to Argentine and Brazil, emphasizing the fact that those countries were friendly to the Dominion and desired to enter into greater trade relations with it. With markets lying fallow, he again impressed his hearers with the possibilities of Canada in the future.

Sea Cadets Give Display

Winnipeg, Man.—Delegates to the annual convention of the Navy League of Canada attended in a body the annual assault-at-arms of the Winnipeg Sea Cadets. More than 100 cadets performed for the visitors. Judges included Admiral W. O. Story, Lieut.-Commander H. G. Nares, Brig. T. V. Anderson and Col. G. H. Gillespie.

Vancouver, B.C.—Urging immediate construction of a railway connection between the Pacific Coast and the Peace River primarily as an emergency measure of unemployment relief and equally as contributing permanent relief through colonization, the executive of the On-to-the-Peace Association waited on Senator Gideon Robertson, Federal Minister of Labor.

Windsor, Ont.—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canada's High Commissioner to Great Britain, will return to Canada about August 1, it was stated at Kingsville, by Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture. He remains in the Dominion for about six weeks, said Col. Kennedy.

Navigation Of Churchill

Port Now Reported To Be Free Of Ice and Work On Dock Nearly Comp'eted

The Pas, Man.—Churchill's harbor is cleared of the final remains of the ice flow and it is possible now for craft to navigate along the river for many miles. Dredging will get underway within a day or two. White whales and seals may be seen from the harbor daily.

The break-up started nearly a week ago and was brought back and forth with the tide during the past few days. Ocean craft could now steam into the bay port without danger, according to word received here from the port Wednesday. The dock is completed enough to handle ocean-going boats now.

The big dredging program at Churchill will be completed this season. About 2,500 000 yards of material will be moved under the directions of engineers there.

Work on the 2,500,000 bushel elevator is now three weeks ahead of schedule and there is little doubt that it will be completed in time to handle the initial shipments of grain through Churchill this fall.

Funds For Idle Relief

Winnipeg Member Suggests Government Float Loan For This Purpose

Ottawa, Ont.—Floating of a national loan to provide funds to carry on unemployment relief works was suggested in the House of Commons by W. W. Kennedy (Cons., Winnipeg South Centre). He urged the continuance of the government's program of public works and as sufficient money could not be obtained from revenue suggested a loan to which the Canadian people themselves should be invited to subscribe.

A fair test of the feasibility of the Hudson Bay route unencumbered by excessive marine insurance rates, the provision of pensions for the blind and overhauling of the machinery of investigating applications for war pensions were other suggestions thrown out by the Winnipeg member in his speech in the budget debate.

Pay Tribute To Heroes

School Children Decorate Graves Of Canadian Soldiers At Shorncliffe

Folkestone, England.—For the fifteenth successive year, thousands of school children gathered to deck with flowers the graves of Canadian soldiers in Shorncliffe cemetery.

"While we cannot hear too much nor in too forcible terms of the sin of war, on the other hand we cannot extoll too highly the heroism, self-sacrifice and devotion, the instinctive motives that urge the manhood of the day to face inevitable mutilation and death," said Mayor J. W. Stainer, of Folkestone, addressing the school children.

May Help Wheat Sales

Ottawa, Ont.—The advance in the percentage of foreign wheat to be permitted in flour in France should increase Canada's wheat sales to that country, said Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. Earlier this year only 10 per cent. of foreign wheat was permitted in French flour. This was subsequently increased to 25 per cent., and now to 30 per cent.

Better Times Ahead

Professor Swanson Looks For Greater Period Of Prosperity Than Ever

Saskatoon, Sask.—Commenting on the "better times are coming" interview with Roger W. Babson in New York, Professor W. W. Swanson, head of the department of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, said that "Babson was correct in his view that a greater period of prosperity than the world has ever known would follow the emergence from the present depression."

"There can be no real recovery of business until primary products, especially farm products, have reached higher values. Business as a whole will depend for its recovery fundamentally on international financial and commercial co-operation," he said.

"As far as the west is concerned only a return of higher price levels for wheat will start the process of business recovery. Wheat will tend to rise in price as the artificial surpluses are disposed of but the decline in the yield of wheat in the west this year will seriously retard recovery."

Waiting Reply To Note On Waterways

Washington Looking For Developments When Canadian Minister Arrives

Washington.—The Ottawa government is expected shortly to reply to the United States note of last September enquiring the attitude of the administration of Premier R. B. Bennett to the proposed St. Lawrence waterway enterprise. The impending arrival in Washington of Major W. D. Herridge, Canadian minister to Washington and brother-in-law of the premier, is being looked forward to by United States officials as presaging important developments.

Want Full Inquiry

Winnipeg, Man.—Full inquiry into all circumstances in connection with the boarding by United States coastguards of the "Josephine K.," on January 24, which resulted in the death of a Canadian sailor, will be urged on the Dominion government by the Navy League of Canada. This was decided in a resolution adopted at the annual convention here.

Farm Credit Proposal Outlined By Beatty

Half Of Five Million Capital Of Company Now Subscribed

Ottawa, Ont.—Within a few weeks the organization of the Dominion Agricultural Credit Company will be completed, H. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, told the House of Commons committee on banking and commerce.

Designed to assist farmers in Western Canada in diversifying their operations, the company will go slowly and feel its way for the first few years. The idea, Mr. Beatty said, was derived from agricultural credit corporations of the United States which had functioned with success on similar lines in Minnesota and other states.

Up to the present about half of the $5,000,000 capital of the company has been subscribed and when the bill now before parliament to authorize banks, loan, trust and insurance companies to invest in the securities is passed, no time would be lost in getting the scheme under way.

Cattle Ships Needed

Not Enough Ships Available For Transport To Britain

London, England.—The question of providing shipping facilities for import of Canadian cattle to Great Britain came up in the House of Commons. A member said that in view of the fact that large numbers of cattle were held in Canada awaiting shipment because there were not enough ships available for transport the president of the Board of Trade should bring the matter to the notice of shipowners who controlled ships lying idle in British ports.

G. M. Gillett, secretary to the overseas trade department, replied he was informed shipowners were not satisfied that proposals in regard to the increased shipment of Canadian cattle were such as to justify them in incurring the considerable extra expense needed to fit ships for this special trade. He understood, however, that discussions were now taking place between representatives of the shipowners and the shippers on the subject.

New Record For Hawks

Aviator Travels 200 Miles Per Hour From London, England, To Rome, Italy

Rome, Italy.—Captain Frank Hawks landed here on a round trip flight from London, England, completing the trip at an average speed of nearly 200 miles per hour.

Captain Hawks made the flight in the record time of four hours and 39 minutes. He found the weather fairly good all the way, but was surprised at his own speed.

Croydon, England.—Capt. Frank Hawks brought his fast monoplane down on the field here, completing a flight from Rome in five hours flat.

Must Surrender Books

Victoria, B.C.—The attorney-general of British Columbia must surrender all books and papers of Solloway, Mills and Company which have been seized and held under the Securities Frauds Prevention Act, the court of appeal ruled in final settlement of the appeal of W. J. McGee versus Hon. R. H. Pooley.

STRICT ECONOMY NEEDED FOR C.N.R. SAYS MINISTER

Ottawa, Ont.—The motto of the Canadian National Railways should be "care, caution and proper economy," Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, informed the House of Commons. While denying the charge that the government is unfriendly to the Canadian National, the minister stressed the need for careful examination of accounts, and the exercise of economy in the management of the system.

"I say that the statement that is being foolishly made by some of the press of the leader of the opposition that we are enemies of the Canadian National, is simply an untruth," Dr. Manion warmly declared. "Any man who is an enemy of the Canadian National Railways is not a good Canadian, and therefore, as I consider this a good Canadian government, and that we are at least good Canadians, we are not the enemies of the Canadian National but its friends, desirous of looking after its best interests."

While presenting facts and figures which indicated that the financial position of the government system is such that the greatest care and economy must be practiced, Dr. Manion's statement was not without a ray of hope for the future of the railway. If the depression passes, if unwise capital expenditures are eliminated and costly changes are not carried out, and if economical management is brought into play "and if we and the people of this country are reasonable in their demands from the National Railways and from the government, I think within five years there will be a very much more hopeful and cheerful picture," the minister said.

Farmers Going North Are Making Mistake

Timberland Soil In Northern Saskatchewan Usually Bad Says Professor

Saskatoon, Sask.—Farmers of the dried-out south country who are moving to timberland regions of the north are making a mistake. That is the opinion of Professor A. H. Joel, head of the soils department at the University of Saskatchewan.

Professor Joel, in an address before a Kiwanis club luncheon meeting here recently, said: "I don't like to see flocks of people going north. Timberland soil is bad as a rule. If, however, they settle on black grassland soil in amongst the timber they may be alright."
