Canal Flats Wins Opening Game

After Bad Start Creston Gets Back on Even Terms at End Eighth—Boffey Fans in Ninth with Winning Runs on Path.

In their second appearance in East Kootenay league company on Sund y afternoon Creston had one bad inning in which Canal Flats did some heavy hitting and Creston contributed some untimely errors, with the result the visitors annexed five tallies, and emerged victor by a one run margin, the final count standing 9 to 8.

After the second frame Creston played gilt edge ball and at the end of the eighth inning were on even terms with their opponents, but in the ninth the Flats batsmen were able to connect safely to secure two tallief while the best Creston could register was one to close proceedings. The finish was a hair raiser. With Creston needing but two runs to win out, and two men on bases, Fred Boffey fanned for the third out.

Fortin turned in another great day on the mound, striking out nine and issuing but one pass, while at the bat Boffey accounted for a home run, and Telford, Romano and Board (the latter playing third in the absence of Baum) each had doubles.

Hollman, the opposing twirler, had quite a good day of it also, with eight strikeouts to his credit, and but two walks. Our former townsman, Ben Embree, belted out a homer as well as a double and was easily the best hitter of the day. Moore, the Flats catcher, also had a two ply swat to his credit. The score:

CRESTON		CANAL FLATS
Christie, ss	0	Lewis, lf	1
Telford, rf	2	Thompson, 3b	0
Brogan, 2b	0	Moore, c	1
Romano, cf	2	Hollman, cf	0

Boffey, lf	2	Irving, rf	1
Watson, c	0	Brogan, 1b	1

In a pitcher's battle, in which the Kimberley slabster had a shade the best of it, Creston took another one run defeat on Dominion Day at Kimberley by a 7-6 margin. Allan did the hurling for Creston and is credited with eight strikeouts, while his opponent did equally well, but gave only two passes as compared with four issued by Allan. The score:

CRESTON		KIMBERLEY
Allan, p	1	Thompson, c	2
Watson, c	2	Livingstone, rf	2
Baum, 3b	1	Hall, ss	2
Romano, cf	1	Musser, 2b	1
Christie, ss	1	Miller, cf	1
McKelvey, 1b	1	McQuaid, 3b	1
Telford, rf	0	Cunningham, 1b	0
Boffey, lf	0	Mackie, lf	0
Brogad, 2b	1	Dicken, p	1
	7		8

Home run honors were even, Christie hitting for the circuit for Creston, and Thompson doing the trick for Kimberley. Livingstone, Hall and Miller hit for three bases for the winners, hile Baum and Brogan accounted for doubles for the benefit of Creston.

Fire Destroys Creston Hotel

Early Morning Blaze Tuesday Completely Wipes Out Well Known Hostelry—Loss Placed at $10,000—Some Insurance.

Creston Hotel was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour on Tuesday morning, and along with the building also went most of the contents, as due to the dense smoke that filled the second story it was impossible to save anything upstairs, but some of the furniture downstairs was salvaged. Fortunately there were but few guests that evening, so there was no loss of life, and no injuries sustained by the inmates in making their escape on short notice. The loss is placed at about $10,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

It is surmised the fire originated in the vicinity of the kitchen as the flames were confined to the rear of the hotel when first discovered, by the proprietor, F. LaBelle, who was aroused by the smoke filling his room, and he immediately aroused the guests.

About the same time the blaze was noticed by M. J. Beninger of the Commercial Hotel, just across the street, the glare of the young flames arresting his attention. He immediately aroused his guests and turned in the alarm at the firehall, the brigade making a quick response.

However, the fire made considerable headway before it was detected, and when the firemen arrived there was nothing that could be done but to confine the fire to the doomed building, and with the aid of a splendid water supply and numerous streams from garden hose the Commercial Hotel and Creston Cafe, directly opposite, and the King George Hotel and Nastasi bakeshop a little further up the street on the opposite side, came through with just a quite severe scorching. In holding the heat in check the row of shade trees alongside the hotel also proved beneficial. It was shortly after 2 a.m. when the alarm was sounded and at 3.30 the last of the burning front wall had fallen in and the fire was over. Fortunately for surrounding properties there was no wind stirring. Had there been any breeze at all in their direction it would have been almost impossible to prevent the flames leaping across the thoroughfare.

The building is owned by a Chinese syndicate, headed by Dong Barney who resides in Creston, who purchased it about ten years ago, and about a year ago was leased by the present proprietor, F. LaBelle. The building was erected late in 1898 by Frank Campbell, with whom was associated the late G. M. Benney and Geo. Bartlett. Later it was run by the late Geo. Munro, who was succeeded as owner by R. J. Long, during those terms in charge the building was enlarged and refurnished in modern style. Following Mr. Long was the late Sam Miller, who in turn was succeeded by Mead and Moran, both of whom have since died. More recent proprietors have been the late E. H. Small, J. W. Bell and M. J. Beninger, the latter vacating it to Mr. LaBelle in the summer of 1930.

Explanations and Comments

The Arrest Of Peter and John, 4.1-4.—Priests and Sadducees and the captain of the temple were troubled because Peter and John proclaimed the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The captain of the temple was the commander of the temple guard, and was himself a priest second in rank only to the high priest. The Sadducean party, to which the high priestly class at this time belonged, did not believe in the doctrine of a resurrection, and, of course, it was especially galling to them to have the apostles teach the people that Jesus had risen from the dead. They arrested the apostles, but because it was too late for a trial that day they had them imprisoned for the night. The result of Peter's preaching, Luke now tells us, was that about five thousand men believed in Christ. No wonder the authorities were startled when men of Jerusalem who had cried "Crucify Him," were now convinced that the Crucified was the Risen Saviour.

Peter's Boldness Before the Sanhedrin, 4.5-12. — On the morrow rulers and scribes, who composed the Sanhedrin, sat in session. The Sanhedrin was the great Jewish tribunal which was supreme in all matters affecting the Jewish law, the sentence of death being the only penalty which they might not impose. Annas and Caiaphas, before whom Jesus had been brought a prisoner, Alexander and other great officials were present. The Sanhedrin sat in a semicircle and the prisoners, Peter and John, stood before them. The man whom Peter had healed was also there, as a kind of accessory to the "good deed."

"By what power, or in what name, have ye done this?" the officials demanded.

Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit and eager to use the chance thus given him, replied: "Ye rulers of the people [chief priests] and elders [representatives of the Sanhedrin], if we this day are examined concerning a good deed done to an impotent man, by what means this man is made whole [if, like criminals, we are forced to defend ourselves for doing good], be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even in Him doth this man stand before you whole." Thus Peter answered their question and with superb daring accused them of the crime of having put to death the Lord's Anointed.

"He is the Stone which was set at nought of you, the builders, which was made the Head of the Corner." The stone made the head of the corner is the stone at the angle of two walls which supports and unites them. Had the arch been in common use the figure of the keystone would probably have been employed instead.

"For in none other is there salvation: for neither is there any other name under heaven, that is given among men, wherein we must be saved." "We," in the Greek has an emphatic position at the end of the sentence, as has also "ye" in verse seven. By what name have ye, ignorant men, done this? There is no other name wherein we—you the judges and we the fishermen—must be saved.

"I find a man trying to lift a stone, which is too heavy for his strength; and I say to him: 'Get out your tackle and pulleys, and then you can lift it. You cannot move that stone without a tackle and pulley.' And no man can take the fruits of civilization unless he lays hold on powers other than his own; and no man can take the fruit of high, noble, divine, moral, spiritual culture unless he reaches out and lays hold of powers that are not his own, that make for righteousness."

The Apostles Threatened and Dismissed, 4.13-22.—The Sanhedrin marvelled at the boldness of Peter and John, who, they perceived, were unlearned and ignorant men; and seeing the man that was healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it. They could neither dispute the fact of the cure nor answer the arguments of Peter. "What must we do with these men?" they questioned. Accordingly they decided to threaten the apostles, hoping thus to prevent their speaking to any one "in this Name."

Peter and John were recalled and were charged not to speak nor teach in the name of Jesus. Respectfully and magnificently Peter replied, "Whether it is right in the sight of God to hearken unto you rather than unto God, judge ye; for we cannot but speak the things which we saw and heed."

A Provincial Pleasure Resort

The Opening Function Of Lake Manitou Provincial Resort Attracts Great Gathering

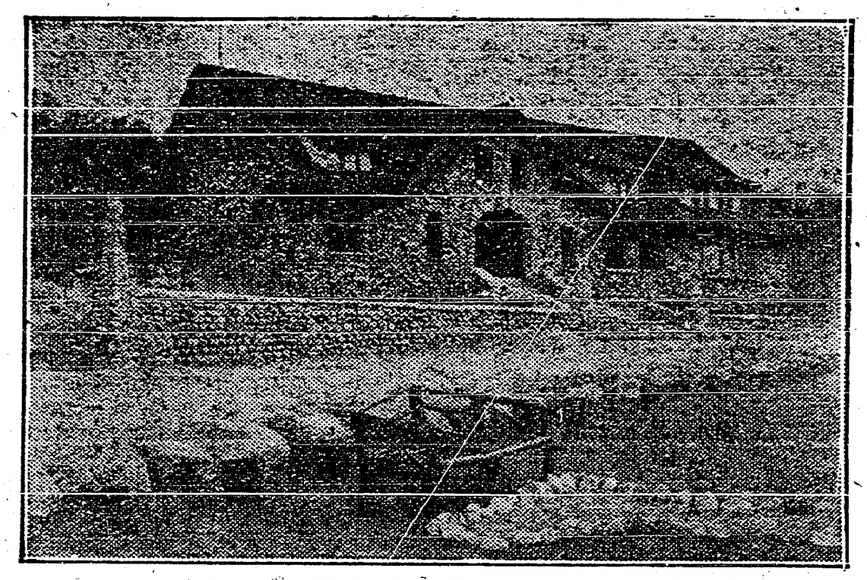
Saskatchewan, making a definite bid for its proportionate share of the approximately $300,000,000 spent by tourists in Canada, annually, has supplemented its aggressive all-weather road policy by establishment of one of the most unique and attractive tourist and family resorts in the Dominion.

On July 4, Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of the Province, officially opened Manitou Lake Lodge, the central building of the camp site which is located in the Provincial Park which flanks the shores of Little Manitou Lake, renowned for the medicinal properties of its waters.

Hon. J. A. Merkley, under whose direction the relief work has been conducted, and other members of the Cabinet, as well as a considerable number of Canadian journalists, who were attending their annual convention at Regina, were present. There was a great gathering of people from almost every part of the Province and from outside points, and the occasion was in every respect a gala one.

This marked the establishment of a Provincial Summer resort, convenient of access to the people of a great prairie region, delightful in its natural beauties, providing good accommodation, and offering many of the requirements desired by those seeking rest and recreation.

Its establishment is part of a Provincial programme to show the people of the Province, that after spending their working days at home, they do not need to seek their rest and recreation abroad. Saskatchewan summer days are long and fair; natural beauties are many and varied, and there is no need to look elsewhere for holiday grounds.



Lake Manitou Lodge built by the Government of Saskatchewan to supply work for unemployed farmers. Native stone was used in construction and the roof is thatched with rushes cut from the marsh lands near by. The photo shows the building in course of completion.

To those sojourning at Lake Manitou this season, it will be pleasant to contemplate, that many of the facilities which minister to their pleasure and comfort, in their creation furnished sorely needed work and wages to many a bread-winner. That perhaps was the keynote that prompted the development of this resort.

Manitou Lake which lies close to the town of Watrous on the Canadian National Railway, is a lovely oasis in the midst of a wide region of level prairie, between the northern end of Last Mountain Lake, and the South Saskatchewan River. It is the natural "Spa" of the Province, and the summer resort for the people of a wide extent of the Prairie country.

It occupies a blind valley with neither inlet nor egress that some inscrutable movement of nature has caused to be scooped out of the surrounding plain. The banks are covered with a lovely woodland verdure, and slope away to fine sandy beaches at the water's edge.

The waters of the lake, which change their colours as the quick cloud shadows sweep across their surface, are ideal for swimming, boating, and summer sports. From time immemorial, the Indians believed they were endowed by the Manitou with healing virtues, and many a wilderness caravan bringing sick and suffering to seek relief, halted by the banks.

Nor was this an idle belief. Science declares that the waters of this lake may have a real value in skin and rheumatism afflictions. Remarkable cures have been ascribed to imbibing and bathing.

Situated as it is, not only convenient to railway transportation, but on fine highways, which make it easily accessible from Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and other prairie points, and possessed of almost every qualification for summer holidaying, it is not to be wondered at, that this Provincial Park is rapidly becoming the Mecca of summer vacationists from all over the province. The Provincial Government realizing this, last winter so arranged a portion of its unemployment programme, in order to add something by art to what nature has already done to the place. The first object was to relieve unemployment, and the second to develop Manitou Lake and its surroundings as a Provincial Park. With these ends in view much work was done during the winter and spring.

There are about thirty acres, originally thickly wooded with the graceful native poplar. Men were set to work to clear roads and paths and camp sites. A picturesque lodge has been erected, almost entirely of native material and sixteen excellent cottages built. The collection of the stones for the building afforded much needed employment for farmers with their teams from a wide district. In many cases dual objects were served—the furtherance of the work on hand, and removing the stones from the land. The open winter greatly facilitated this work.

The Lodge and the cottages are thatched with rushes from a small bay of the lake. They were cut after the water had frozen, when the farmers harvested them by means of mowing machines driven over the ice. They were then sorted and tied in bundles by men experienced in this work. It was discovered that there were a number of men among the unemployed from Ireland and elsewhere, who were experienced thatchers, and these men were entrusted with the roofing work. Not only has a picturesque effect, reminiscent of lovely British lanes been achieved, but the thatch is proving to be both serviceable and economical.

The lodge is equipped with modern conveniences, including running water and electric light, and there is water and light in all the cottages. A cooking kitchen 51 feet long by 8 feet wide has been built for the convenience of cottager and camper, and in its longitudinal plan provides accommodation for many summer cooks without conflict in their operations.

A great deal of work has been done in clearing roads, and in making winding and attractive paths through the woodland groves. Convenient camp sites have been prepared, with flat camping space for the tent, and parking ground for the car. The arrangements in connection with the sites are handled from the Lodge.

The exterior view of the Lodge is picturesque and attractive. Built entirely of native stone the walls rise from a terrace surrounded by a stone enclosure, garnished with stone electric light standards in the middle and at the end. Cement steps lead from the roadway to the main entrance, a massive stone arch opening upon a spacious vestibule. From the vestibule, an arched doorway leads to a wide and airy rotunda with a fine stone fireplace. On the east wall, there are two stone electric light standards, and on the west side a stairway leads to a gallery which encircles the whole rotunda. On the second storey there are ten rooms for the accommodation of guests. At the west end of the Lodge on the ground floor, there is a den with built in fireplace, and some private suites. The east end is also divided into suites.

An attractive rock garden has been prepared at the front of the lodge. A fountain has been built, and the slope leading to the main entrance terraced. A flagstone walk bordered with native stone leads from the lodge to the beach, where there is a stone pier. The slopes surrounding the lodge have been artistically terraced, and six and a half miles of stone bordered crescents for one way traffic, have been laid out. The entire area of the Park has been circled by a bridle path, cut and rock bordered.

The work at Manitou Park was in the main used as a centre to provide employment, sorely needed for people from a very widely extended district. Practically all of the teaming, and a goodly proportion of the work was done by farmers of this class. Approximately 500 men went through the payroll on a rotation system that was designed to be as equitable as possible. About 75 per cent. of the workers were from the farms, and a number of them lived at home, and were enabled to go to and from their work each day. Workers from distant points, and those unable or too far away, to return home each evening, were well looked after in the quarters of the sanitarium company. There were about 165 workers of this later class employed.

About $50,000 was disbursed in this way, half of which was paid by the Federal Government, and the other half by the Province under the unemployment arrangement. Practically the only portion of this sum spent outside of the Province for material went for hardware and cement.

There is a fine spring of fresh water that wells out of the hillside, and which has made possible an ample supply piped into the lodge and cottages, and is available for the use of the campers. A scientific system of septic tanks provides for the sewage from the lodge in a modern and hygenic manner.

The beaches are delightful for bathing and swimming. The slope to the depths are gradual, and there is little fear of accidents to the children who delight to paddle along the shore.

The waters are buoyant and pleasant for swimmers, who require little effort either for support or propulsion. A bather may remain cradled in the embrace of the lake, and float in gentle undulations oblivious of the world and its cares. The healing qualities of the water are really remarkable, and bathers suffering from minor wounds or abrasions after a few immersions, find they have disappeared as if by magic.

There are boats available, and during the season, a merry laughing throng, are invariably engaged in acquatic sports. Riding a surf board towed by a motor boat is a popular sport, and it is the very poetry of youth and action to see a handsome girl erect upon a surf board coursing through a cloud of spray.

There is golf links close at hand, where the devotees of the "ancient and royal game" may brandish niblick and driver, and cry "fore', to their heart's content.

Keep Free From Fat--Feel Younger

Unlike most salts, Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts at any drug store — take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on sweets and fat forming foods and get some moderate regular exercise—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

A Virginia woman writes: "I just started on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and have been losing flesh right along—you have fathomed the secret of flesh reduction."

The Northern Seaport

Plans For the Development Of the Townsite Of Churchill

Plans for the development of the townsite of Churchill, seaport of northern Manitoba and terminals of the Hudson Bay Railway, call for the construction of a modern town, with central heating, fireproof public building and semi-fireproof residences, boulevards, parks and squares.

Constructed under a town planning system, approved of by Hon. Donald G. McKenzie, Provincial Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, every facility of a modern town will be provided. The townsite will be ready for settlement next year. No property will be sold, but it will be disposed of in 50-year leases, subject to revision every five-years.

Churchill will be blessed with wide streets for through traffic, protected residential districts and generous space for recreation. All streets, parks and squares will be named after early explorers and heroes of Canadian history.

Good Poultry Record

Performance Of B.C. University Rhode Island Reds Is Attracting Attention

Professor E. A. Lloyd, head of the poultry department of the University of British Columbia, states that the members of the University's family of Rhode Island Reds have already averaged over 100 eggs in their second year and give promise of exceeding an average of 200 before the fall. Such production has never been recorded in any strain or breed anywhere in the world, he said. There are eight birds in the family.

The inventor of a new riveting machine claims it is noiseless. We hope he turns his talents next to peanut brittle and celery.

CHAPTER XXII.

Keep her in bed," said Dr. Bennett, as he joined Simeon upon the porch. "She's had a terrible shock, but she's strong for all she's so slender; and we must save that baby. I'll drop in again this afternoon. In the meantime—well, I'm not such a fool as to think you can keep her mind off this horrible possibility, but give her all the encouragement you can. Tell her about cases you've heard of where boats supposed to have been lost were picked up weeks afterward. Put your imagination to work and invent such stories if you can't remember any! She's got pluck, and grit, and everything on her side; but a broken heart isn't the fairy tale that cynics would have us believe, Mr. Bartlett, and Nick is just about the breath of life to that little girl."

The doctor's eyes were moist. He blew his nose vigorously, and added: "what's being done?"

Simeon cleared his throat.

"I'm too confounded dazed to really know; but Mr. Halliday's doin' everything they is to do. He's sent a message to a friend o' his who's cruisin' somewheres off Florida in a big steam yacht—says if no word comes from the "Sea Bird," he'll hire it and hunt 'em himself—says it's likely they may have landed on one o' them islands, and if the storm put their radio out o' order they couldn't do nothin' but wait till they was picked up, that is, if their boat was injured. The big liners don't go nowheres near some o' them places, and they might stay there months. Gosh! it's goin' to be powerful tough on Gay—waitin'."

"It will be tough on all of us," said the doctor, "but a thousand times worse for her. Mr. Halliday will have the comfort of doing something. It's a bad business, Mr. Bartlett, a bad business. I wish to God the boy had stayed at home."

Bad news travels fast. Before noon everyone in Bakersville knew the worst. John Maxwell, who had glanced but briefly at his paper that morning, heard the news on reaching the bank, and without a word to anyone, returned to Mary for comfort. It seemed to her that he had aged five years in the short half hour since he left her.

"It was I who sent him," he kept repeating. "It was I who sent him. If it hadn't been for me. . . . ."

"That's a morbid way to look at it, John," she answered. "We all sent him, Gay as well as the rest of us who had his interests at heart."

She left his side and went to the window, looking out at the glory of her blossoming garden. The sight hurt her, remembering how Nick had played there with her own children so long ago. At last she turned.

"I'm going to Gay now," she said gently. "And you must go back to work, John. Of course everything posible will be done to find them. Julie telephoned me just before you came. She said Mr. Halliday was already planning to start for Florida, where he will make every effort to locate them if—if——".

Mary stopped abruptly, and going to her husband, kissed his bowed head.

"Johnny, you mustn't feel this way. Gay would be the last one to blame you, I know. The thing we must do is to help her now in every way we can. She fainted when she saw the news in the paper, and is in bed. Julie didn't know what the doctor said; but at least, we can care for the little boys until she's up again. I'll go down at once."

"I'll take you down in the car," said John Maxwell, rising. He felt suddenly better at the thought of doing something, as Mary had known he would. "There's nothing in the world I wouldn't do for Gay; yet we can't make her forget this terrible day," he added sadly. "She will never forget it, however it all ends."

It was in silence that they rode to the house on Elm Street.

"You go on up," said Simeon to Mary Maxwell. 'Maybe another woman's what she needs. She ain't cried. God a'mighty! I wish she would! I been settin' there tellin' her a pack o' lies about how they ain't no doubt but what Nick's safe and sound; but I got a hunch she knows I'm lyin'. I ain't much of a hand at monkeyin' with the truth.

"All she did was to lay there an' say till my heart most busted: 'Yes, Uncle Sim, o' course he'll get back all right. I'm not goin' to get worked up because o' the baby. It's the little daughter Nick wanted, and maybe she'll be here when he gets back. Think how happy he'll be! No. I'm not worryin', Uncle Sim.' Gosh! I couldn't ha' set there a minute longer an' not made a baby o' myself."

Tears were furrowing their way down his wrinkled cheeks. John Maxwell wiped his own eyes, and May said: "You mustn't get me to crying, too, if I'm to help Gay. I'll take the boys home, Mr. Bartlett, if it will make things easier."

A long hour passed before Mary came back to the two men waiting anxiously below. She sat down in the big rocker, and drew a deep breath.

"Well," she said, in answer to their pleading eyes, "she cried, and I think it will help her. She's drowsy now, worn out with emotion, and I hope she'll sleep. She wants me to bring the boys back tonight—says she can't spare them. I didn't tell her any lies, but I think I gave her a bit of courage, though the dear child has a good stock of her own. And, John" (Mary's voice trembled at last), "the first thing she said was to tell you not to blame yourself for sending Nick away. She spoke of it more than once, and said that as soon as she was better she wanted to see you. There! that's all. If there's anything we can do, Mr. Bartlett, day or night, just call us. I'll go along home now and take the babies. It's just as well that they shouldn't be with Gay today. She'd try to keep up before them; and there's a limit to human strength and endurance, you know."

"I feel like I'd most reached the end o' mine," confessed Simeon. He looked pitifully old in the bright morning sunlight. "But when I think o' that plucky little girl upstairs—— Sonny," he broke off suddenly, as the little boy appeared around a corner, "here's Mis' Maxwell come to take you an' Nick on a holiday. You dun wash yer hands like a good boy."

"Can little Marfa go too?" asked Sonny, his face beaming. "She'll be awful lonesome 'out us boys. You going to have 'freshments, Aunt Mary? It's a good, hot day for 'freshments, seems to me."

The child's words broke the tension of the hour, and the elders smiled as Mary answered: "Yes, little boy, we'll have any kind of 'freshments' that you want. And of course little Martha can come if Mr. Halliday is willing."

"I'll go right over'n ask him," said Sonny eagerly. "He seems awfully busy this morning, but I guess he'll let her go."

A week dragged by—ten days, and no word from the missing yacht. Gay was up again now, spending her days on the porch, a pitifully drawn look about her eyes that told of sleepless nights, but a smile on her lips whenever the little boys demanded her attention.

"Isn't it most time for Daddy to come home?" asked Sonny; and Uncle Sim turned away as Gay answered steadily:

"Yes, dearie. We'll hear from him soon, I'm sure."

The children's innocent chatter about their father came near to breaking Simeon's heart.

"I do'no how she keeps up before 'em," he said to Halliday; but when John Maxwell made the same remark to Mary, she answered:

"I do. It's because of the baby that's coming. She's afraid to let herself brood. But it frightens me just the same. I'm wondering if her brain can stand the strain. Dr. Bennett says she's wonderful, but I can see that he's worried. When does Mr. Halliday start?"

"To-morrow, I believe. His friends were a good way off, but they put back as soon as they got his wireless, and a message came today saying the yacht would be ready when he got there. The poor fellow looks ghastly—worse than Gay; yet according to Julie Nipps his is anything but a happy marriage."

"That makes it worse, of course," said Mary understandingly. "Perhaps he has things to regret, Johnny, while Gay has never had a thought away from Nick, nor he from her. Whatever comes, she's made a success of her marriage. Not all women have that comfort when they lose their best beloved."

It was the first of June, and like all Junes in Bakersville, the weather was hot, and gave promise of hotter days to come. Uncle Sim longed vaguely for the cooler air of his own State Line. He would have packed up Gay's entire household and taken them with him gladly, but he knew that was impossible, and for their sakes he stoically faced the thought of a Bakersville summer. But his brave attempts at cheer were sometimes pitiful, and once Gay remonstrated.

"Uncle Sim dear, don't try so hard to pretend there's nothing wrong. We won't talk about it, and we must keep the children happy; but we needn't make believe before each other, need we? Besides, there—there is a chance that Mr. Halliday will find them. You believe that, don't you, Uncle Sim?"

Use Miller's Worm Powders and the battle against worms is won. These powders correct the morbid conditions of the stomach which nourish worms, and these destructive parasites cannot exist after they come in contact with the medicine. The worms are speedily evacuated with other refuse from the bowels. Soundness is imparted to the organs and the health of the child steadily improves.

Suit Made In Record Time

Shear Sheep and Finish Suit In Three Hours and 22 Minutes

In response to a challenge made by Sir Malcolm Campbell in a speech before the Bradford Rotary Club recently, a Yorkshire manufacturing firm and a Leeds tailoring firm have broken the time record in producing a suit of clothes.

Starting with the shearing of a sheep the suit was finished in three hours and 22 minutes. The previous record set in the United States in 1898 was six hours and five minutes. The suit was made to fit Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominion, who agreed to wear it at the Imperial Industries Fair, at Bradford, next month and later at the Imperial Economic Conference.

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

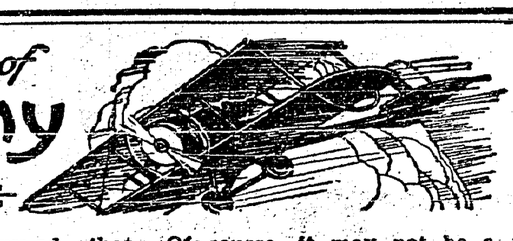
MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

The ADVENTURES of CAPTAIN JIMMY and his Dog SCOTTIE



WHAT CAME BEFORE: After many adventures in China, Captain Jimmy meets an old friend, Lieut. Stone. The two escape from bandits in a freight train which is wrecked in enemy territory. Eluding the soldiers, they set out to find a 'plane they had hidden in the woods.

By the time I had forced my horse through the mob, Scottie had got himself untangled from the officer and was in pursuit of Jed Stone who had a horse for himself and was busy getting Fu, our interpreter, on another.

Such yelling and such shrieking! Every man for himself. We were a hundred yards or more away before a single shot was fired and at that distance we might as well have been home in bed for for all the danger of those soldiers hitting us.

Except for a lot of shooting, there was little attempt at pursuit. We circled through the woods, and after going a few miles, turned out again to the railway tracks. Turning the corner of a thicket, I was suddenly confronted with the most welcome sight of my life. Giving a great war whoop I started forward.

There, just as we had left it, stood our old 'plane. A hurried check up showed that it was just as we had left it—but no gas, no oil, no anything! A fine situation. There we were, with a perfectly good 'plane, powered with a tremendous engine that used so much fuel it called "Gas! Gas!" every time it went by a gasoline station. And we had just about enough in the tank to clean a grease spot in a suit of clothes.

"We'll borrow some from the soldiers," Jed Stone suggested.

"Ha, Ha, Ha" I laughed, "and while you're at it, just borrow a ten course dinner for each of us. My stomach is so empty it's digesting itself."

"Quite right," he said, "We'll just do that. Of course, it may not be a ten course dinner, but we will eat shortly—and fly soon after—just as soon as it is dark."

Our plan was perfectly simple. If it worked, it was grand. If it didn't—we wouldn't need any more gas and oil. We settled down to wait for darkness; a long, hungry wait it was, too, till near midnight.

We were mounted, Lieutenant Stone, Fu Hsu (the interpreter) and I—Scottie trotted along on foot. With every possible precaution against making any unnecessary noises, we circled the place where the old engine lay on her back. About a mile below that spot we crossed the tracks and shaped our course for the sleeping camp—a couple of miles away.

Perhaps half a mile from the camp, we dismounted. Fu Hsu and Scottie stayed with the horses—Lieutenant Jed Stone and I went forward to reconnoiter. All was quiet in camp. Sentries pacing to and fro were all that seemed to be awake. We crept as close as we dared.

On our left, a large roomy tent stood out against the sky line.

Back at the horses once more we arranged our plan. Fu Hsu, on pain of death, agreed to stay alone with our horses. Jed Stone mounted his horse, circled back and to the right so as to reach a point of the camp as nearly opposite the large tent we had seen, as possible. Under compulsion, Scottie went along with him. He much preferred to stay with me, but Jed Stone needed him to help him carry out his part of the plan. I crept quietly back towards the big tent.

Deportation Question

British Government Has No New Information On Subject Of Deportation From Canada

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominions, was asked in the British House of Commons whether he had received any reply to the representations he said the British Government would make to the Canadian Government regarding deportation from Canada of British subjects who had become public charges in the Dominion, either because of unemployment or because they were suffering from disease.

The minister replied he was not yet in a position to add anything to his answer of April 21, when he had told the House the government was taking steps to get in touch with the Canadian authorities.

Operated On Himself

Interne At Philadelphia Successfully Removed One Of His Tonsils

An interne at Philadelphia, Pa., attempted to contribute to scientific fields by removing his own tonsils, it has just been disclosed. Dr. Charles T. Meacham, of Petersburg, Va., a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania a year ago, succeeded in removing one of the tonsils and almost had the other one out when he became ill. Mirrors, a disc on his forehead and one on the wall, were used.

Muscular Rheumatism Subdued.—When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he cannot do better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

Have Completed Survey

Survey Made Of Proposed Mafeking Cut-Off In Manitoba

Engineers of the Canadian National Railways have completed a survey of the proposed Mafeking cut-off in Manitoba, and have made a report to the minister of railways and canals, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the National road, told a special parliamentary committee dealing with railway finances. Hon. R. J. Manion, the minister, said he had not seen the report, nor was he aware of its recommendations, because it had been received by his department only a short time ago.

The interrogation point was designed from the shape of the human ear. It is quite futile to ask questions unless we lend an attentive ear to the answer.

Little Helps For This Week

"Whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister; and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all. For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister."—Mark x. 43-45.

What time we nurse our discontent
Rather instead should we recall
How once in servant's guise He went,
Who was Master of us all;
Nor any work, whereby was wrought
The Father's will, too irksome thought.
Need any be disquieted,
Whose heart this memory inclose?
Who follows where the Lord hath led,
What matter is it where He goes;
For working with Him, side by side,
The meanest task is glorified.
—Mary Bradley.

We cannot be too little to be like Him, nor so great as to work outside of Him."—Adeline D. T. Whitney.

There is said not to be a shred of evidence to prove that Buffalo Bill ever fought or killed an Indian. Just another legend.

How Retailers Buy by Telephone

Many retailers in outlying districts are now being called up by wholesalers over the long-distance telephone between personal visits of salesmen.

The wholesaler lets the retailers know when he will call him up. The retailer keeps a memo of the goods he wants and when he gets the call it is an easy matter for him to place his order.

This method saves the retailer time and money. He is able to buy closely and take every advantage of price fluctuations. Ask the firms you deal with about long-distance telephone service.

Like the jewels of a fine watch

EVIDENCE of the quality built into the new Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. In addition to smoother operation, they save gasoline, give more speed and power in first and second speeds, decrease noise and increase the durability and efficiency of the transmission gears.

From the engine to the road, the entire drive of the new Ford on all forward speeds is wholly on anti-friction ball and roller bearings.

Come in and let us explain the many other structural and mechanical features that make the new Ford a value far above the price you pay.

Mass Pessimism

Returning home for a brief vacation, United States Ambassador Dawes at London, England, describes the present economic situation as one in which the peoples of the world are suffering from "mass pessimism."

What Ambassador Dawes says is unquestionably true, but before the prevailing pessimism became general the world was suffering from a condition which as it became intensified resulted in this "mass pessimism" which he deplores and which now has a crippling effect on all efforts to improve conditions.

Without going too far afield, we find that conditions in Western Canada this year are such as to induce pessimism. Thousands of farmers and their families are in dire straits because of widespread drouth conditions resulting not only in crop failures but in lack of water and pasturage for live stock. No crop in sight for 1931 and added expense in caring for livestock, following as they do upon a short crop or none at all last year, and prices below the cost of producing what may have been produced, have created an acute, a desperate situation for a large section of our population. And the resultant stagnation in agriculture, with an absolute cancellation of purchasing power, has reacted adversely upon all business with the result that unemployment has become intensified in all urban centres.

Such is the situation and it would be the height of folly to attempt to deny it or seek to minimize or ignore it. Such a situation breeds pessimism, first among those who, even when everything is bright and encouraging, always look upon the dark side of any picture, those who seem to be natural born croakers and fault-finders. But just as it only requires right conditions for bacteria to multiply and spread, or for some malignant disease to develop into an epidemic, so these habitual pessimists infect others not usually so inclined but who because of their difficulties and losses are susceptible. Mass pessimism is the result.

Yet it is uncalled for. It is utterly futile. It accomplishes nothing but to make the individual more downhearted and miserable than he or she would otherwise be, and to frighten and discourage others who might otherwise continue on the even tenor of their way, helpful factors in the encouragement of many and in the dissipation of the prevailing gloom.

In time of war there is no one thing which gives a wise general more concern than the maintenance of the morale of the rank and file of his army. Let morale be broken and lost and the best drilled and equipped army in the world becomes a mob. Instead of being a threat to the enemy, it becomes a menace to itself. And the most victorious of armies has to retreat sometimes. It meets reverses, temporary though they may be. It is then that morale must be maintained, when it requires to be pitched higher than ever in the confident hope and expectation of the crowning victory to come. It is only so that victory will come.

There is just as truly a morale in economics, and it is in times of depression, crop failures, failing markets, unemployment, that it must be maintained, not only by the generals and captains but by the rank and file if the nation is not to suffer irretrievable loss and possibly go down to defeat.

It is the duty of people in their own best interests to curb their pessimism. We do not say they should minimize present difficulties, because they should be frankly faced and efforts made to overcome them, but they should not be magnified. Nor should difficulties and troubles be imagined where they do not exist.

We do not believe people can pull themselves up by their boot straps, but we do believe they can refrain from stepping into quagmires. They can keep their feet on firm ground and not supinely slip into a slough of despond. And now is the time to do it.

What is this mass psychology anyway? It is simply a lack of individuality on the part of the many. A man stands on a street corner gazing up at nothing at all and soon he is surrounded by a crowd craning their necks looking at exactly the same thing. A man says times are hard and the one to whom he says it, even though he be better off than ever before, dolefully shakes his head, buttons up his pockets, repeats the same story, and thus helps to make times hard when he would be the gainer by adopting exactly the opposite course and thus help to improve conditions.

Be an individual. Be yourself. Stand out from and away from the mass. Think and act with hope in your heart and an eye to the future. By so doing you will not be making conditions harder, you will not be discouraging others; on the contrary, you will find your own burden lightened, your own outlook improved, your courage renewed.

Shopping Psychology

They are telling the true story at the Hotel Victoria, New York, of the enterprising Seventh Ave. shoe merchant, who, after failing to dispose of a bargain batch of shoes at $3.50 a pair, ran a dollar-day sale offering them at $6 a pair, with an extra pair thrown in for a dollar more, closing out his entire stock in less than three hours!

Second Ditto: Oh, that's the noise you musn't swallow your tea with when there's company.

Demand For Vegetables

The increasing demand for vegetablse in the diet is probably largely responsible for the rapid expansion which took place last year in the vegetable canning industry throughout Canada. The increase in 1930 was 64.8 per cent. as compared with 1929. Total production amounted to 10,066,614 cans. — Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Dysentery Is a Very Dangerous Bowel Complaint

Mrs. E. M. Ward, 627 Ave. H. South, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"When my husband was in France he took dysentery, and was in hospital over a year. Ever since he came back he has had the attacks three or four times a year. I cannot emphasize the good Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for him. He generally takes a few doses and gets relief in a few hours.

"I cannot speak too highly of your excellent remedy, and you may be sure we are never without a bottle of it in the house."

Tinned Hams From Denmark

Danish Methods Of Marketing Sets Mark That Is Hard To Beat

There is food for thought for the Canadian farmer in the recent arrival in the Canadian market of "tinned hams" from Denmark. When it comes to marketing its production, or overproduction if you prefer, the little kingdom of Denmark sets a pace which is hard to beat. Not only do they market their product in all the usual forms, maintaining the dominant position in the British market, but they are now processing their finest cuts, packaging them attractively, and making a strong bid for the larger consuming centres in our own Canadian market. Canadian farmers should find an incentive to opportunity in the situation. A study of the fundamental principles underlying Danish methods might hold much of useful interest.

Health Of Children Affected

Children Of Unemployed Men In Montreal Show Effect Of Malnutrition

The effect of the economic depression on the children of unemployed men has been revealed by the health service of financial federation, conducted by the Child Welfare Association of Montreal. Ninety per cent. of the children, who are being examined at the rate of 200 a week, are underweight, Miss Esther Beith, R.N., director of the Child Welfare Association, stated.

One child was found to weigh 24 pounds less than normal. Lack of nutritious food has also caused dental decay and clinics conducted by the association are busy doing what they can to halt the rot. A youngster of 13 had to have her entire upper row of teeth extracted, Miss Beith said.

Conquers Asthma. To be relieved from the terrible suffocating due to asthma is a great thing, but to be safeguarded for the future is even greater. Not only does Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy bring prompt relief, but it introduces a new era of life for the afflicted. Systematic inhaling of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent relief.

H.B. Trial Shipments

Nothing But Wheat To Be Shipped Over Bay Route This Year

"Nothing will be shipped out of Hudson Bay this year except wheat," said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. Dr. Manion had been asked the attitude of the department towards requests for trial shipments of cattle later in the year.

There would be difficulties enough in making trial shipment of wheat without entering into other projects, Dr. Manion said. He drew attention to the lack of feeding facilities at Churchill as an example of the handicaps facing any attempt to ship cattle. The department had been deluged with requests of that type but all had been refused.

Report Is Denied

Regina-Saskatoon Edmonton Air Mail Not To Be Discontinued

Officials of the post office department denied reports that the Regina-Saskatoon-Edmonton branch of the western air mail route was to be disbanded after July 15. It was pointed out that this story, similar to one some time ago saying all the mail services were to be disbanded, was apparently based on the cancelling of the present air mail contracts in order to give the government an opportunity to review the situation. These contracts terminate at different dates, it was explained.

Depression Hits Icebergs

Not For Many Years Has There Been Anything Like Present Shortage

It takes quite a bit of water to make a sizable iceberg. No one who has seen one of these floating samples of the Arctic zone would take issue with this statement. One ordinary iceberg carries around enough congealed moisture to irrigate a ten-acre farm all summer. Coastguard craft which annually proceed to the nesting grounds of the icebergs for the purpose of warning shipping of their proximity to steamer lanes have found a scarcity of them this year. Icebergographers say the situation is without precedent.

Not in a great many years has there been anything like the present shortage of icebergs in the north Atlantic. Last year 440 of these gorgeous spectacles of the sea were reported in the areas of sea travel, but this year only two little tramp bergs were located and so far away from steamship lanes as to make it unnecessary to tie cowbells around their necks.—Christian Science Monitor.

Ranch Will Breed Cattaloes

Young Buffalo Bull Shipped By B.C. Authorities To Peace River District

British Columbia's first herd of cattaloes, half cattle, half buffalo, are expected to result from the shipment of a young buffalo bull from Beacon Hill Park to the Peace River district. This animal is being presented by the city authorities to Mrs. Emily L. Crawford, pioneer rancher of Fort St. John, for crossing with her cattle. He will be the first buffalo liberated in this province outside a park, the Department of Agriculture here understands.

A Good Fish Story

The season's best fish story comes from Banff Springs, Alberta. A 20-pound trout in Lake Minnewanka, yanked an angler off a pier into the water, but the fisherman held on and with the aid of a police officer and a boat finally landed the prize.

Aeroplane Prospecting

Areas In Northern Saskatchewan Will Be Investigated

The aeroplane will be employed by Professor J. B. Mawdsley of the University of Saskatchewan in locating and charting mineral resources in Northern Saskatchewan. Areas which would otherwise be accessible only with much difficulty can be readily reached by the aeroplane route. Investigation of areas of schist and greenstone presenting favourable prospects for metallic minerals will be made.

Under instructions from the Provincial Department of Railways, Labour and Industries a survey of coal and clay deposits lying north of the Saskatchewan River is also being conducted by Professor W. G. Worcester of the Ceramics Department of the University of Saskatchewan and Walter Hasting, developing engineer. For some time these deposits have been known to exist but they have never been thoroughly investigated as to their extent, quality or commercial value.

The survey is being made with a view to developing this area if tests prove that development would be feasible.

Terrorists Are Sentenced

Mafia Terrorists In Italy Face Sentences Totalling 15 Centuries

One hundred and fourteen notorious Mafia terrorists face sentences totalling 15 centuries as a result of their conviction at a trial in Italy lasting almost a year.

Thirteen of the defendants got life, 16 got sentences of 15 to 25 years, 16 will be imprisoned ten to 15 years, and 69 will go to jail for one year. Fifty-seven others were acquitted.

The charges against the prisoners included 43 murders, 26 attempted murders, and many cases of assault, extortion, blackmail, shooting, robbery and bribery.

EXPLAINS REASON FOR APPENDIX TO STAMP REPORT

Ottawa, Ont.—How the offending Appendix XII. attached to the report of the Stamp Commission which enquired into trading in grain futures, came to be affixed there was explained in the House of Commons when the prime minister tabled a written reply to a series of questions asked by Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib., Melville). The appendix takes the form of a chart filed by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and purports to show that only on a few days in the past four years were the prices for No. 3 Northern paid by the pool higher than those which could have been secured in open market trading.

Explaining the events which led up to publication of the report, Mr. Bennett's reply says:

"Mr. Commissioner Evans and the secretary of the commission (L. B. Pearson, first secretary of the Department of External affairs), appeared before the prime minister on Saturday, May 2, with a typewritten copy of the report. The prime minister suggested to Mr. Evans and Mr. Pearson that the report should be printed, if possible, in time to be mailed to the chairman by the "Mauretania," which sailed from New York the following Wednesday, May 6. Only those exhibits which had been selected by the chairman were printed as appendices to the report. Among them was the chart which became Appendix XII.

"Neither the prime minister nor any representative of his government perused or checked the report or its appendices before they were sent to the king's printer. The commission was responsible for its report.

"The main report was sent at once to the printing bureau on May 2. The appendices were sent when the proof of the main report had been printed.

"A total of 10,126 copies of the report minus Appendix XII. have been distributed.

"The appendix has been removed from all copies of the report in possession of departments of the government, and those persons to whom the report, with Appendix XII. attached, has already been sent, have been or are being communicated with requesting them to remove the appendix in question."

Court Gives Judgment On Radio Broadcasting

Decision That Control Belongs To Dominion Parliament Not Unanimous

Ottawa, Ont.—Control of radio broadcasting in Canada belongs to the Dominion parliament and not to the provincial legislatures. This was the decision of a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, handed down in the radio reference.

The court was not unanimous. Chief Justice Anglin, Mr. Justice Smith and Mr. Justice Newcombe ruled in favor of the Dominion's claim to full jurisdiction over radio on the ground, as the chief justice put it, of "convenience amounting to necessity."

In dissenting judgments, Mr. Justice Rinfret and Mr. Justice Lamont held the jurisdiction of the Dominion was not unlimited and took the stand that the provinces were entitled to a measure of control, particularly over radio receiving operation.

The case was one of the most important heard before the supreme court in some time and turned on the construction of the British North America Act. It was brought about by the action of the Province of Quebec which contested the Dominion's claim to complete legislative control over radio.

Five Killed In 'Plane Crash

Opening Of Air Pageant At Hamilton Marked With Tragedy

Hamilton, Ont.—Five persons were crushed to death, in a Travelair monoplane here when the pilot, attempting to swerve to avoid a crowded field, lost control of his machine as the fabric on the left wing ripped and sent the 'plane flying over on its back.

The dead:

Captain Robert Sterling, of Montreal, pilot of the 'plane.

Harold Raine, general superintendent of the Canadian Press, Toronto.

J. H. Maher, Jr., owner of the 'plane.

Charles L. Daly, Jr., Toronto parachute jumper.

Alfred Rogers, of Hamilton, Ont.

The 'plane had just participated in a "rat chase" over the city in an effort to draw a crowd to the airport, where the pageant was to have been held. The pilot swerved downward, but on account of the crowded field apparently changed his mind and attempted to zoom back up, but the fabric of the machine was ripped from the left wing, and the 'plane crashed about 150 feet to the ground.

The 'plane was a mass of debris and broken parts were scattered for yards around. All except Rogers were dead when taken from the wreckage, and he died in an ambulance en route to the hospital.

What was to have been a brilliant opening of a trans-Canada air tour to help make Canada more "air-minded" was marked by tragedy.

The 'plane that crashed was one of a numerous fleet that was to have travelled to the Pacific Coast and back after a two-day air carnival at Hamilton. Captain Sterling would have piloted it throughout the tour.

Leads In Disarmament

Britain Has Now Gone the Limit Says Premier MacDonald

London, England.—"We have gone pretty nearly to the limit of the example," said Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald a trifle wearily in the House of Commons, as he took the navy, army and air services, comparing the British figures with those of the other great powers.

"The naval appropriations of other countries have increased in much the same proportion as ours has decreased," observed the prime minister, speaking on the navy.

As he closed his disquieting comparisions Mr. MacDonald pleaded: "I would appeal to the other nations interested in peace and disarmament to admit that one nation cannot by its own example bring about disarmament—that it is the duty of every one to join together and make further disarmament possible by international agreement."

Radio Policy

Quebec May Appeal To Privy Council On Question

Ottawa, Ont.—The finding of the majority of the Supreme Court of Canada in favor of exclusive jurisdiction of radio was gratifying to Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine, whose department has charge of radio.

"We did not think it advisable to outline a policy on radio broadcasting until we got the decision as to jurisdiction," said the minister. "It now rests with Premier Taschereau whether he will appeal to the privy council. If Quebec does not appeal we will take up the question as soon as the time limit for making an appeal has expired."

Washington, D.C.—The United States has warned France, that failure of President Hoover's moratorium plan would unquestionably result in Germany's declaring a moratorium of reparations under the Young plan.

Complete Epochal World Flight

Post and Gatty Circle Globe In Less Than Nine Days

Roosevelt Field, L.I.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty completed a flight around the world at 7:47½ (E.S.T.) July 1st, marking the 16,000-mile journey in less than nine days with 13 intermediate stops.

At 7:44 p.m., the white ship "Winnie Mae" shot at terrific speed out of salmon-coloured sunset and a crowd of approximately 2,000 broke into wild cheers.

Post, the one-eyed pilot, who had done all the flying on the journey around the world, shot his swift 'plane over the crowd, banked steeply and made three leisurely circles of the field, selecting the best possible place for the landing.

Gatty and Post completed the world flight in eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. Their actual flying time in the air was only four days, ten hours and eight minutes.

As soon as the 'plane stopped rolling, Gatty and Post climbed from the cabins, turned their 'plane over to a police guard, and entered an automobile which carried them half-a-mile across the field to the administration building.

As they left the automobile, friends and admirers of the flyers grabbed them up and carried them the last stage on their shoulders as flashlights boomed in the falling darkness.

Suddenly the police lines gave way and the field became a bedlam with excitement ruling supreme, and numerous fist fights breaking out as police, with night sticks in their hands, attempted to force a way for the flyers.

New Constitution For Spain

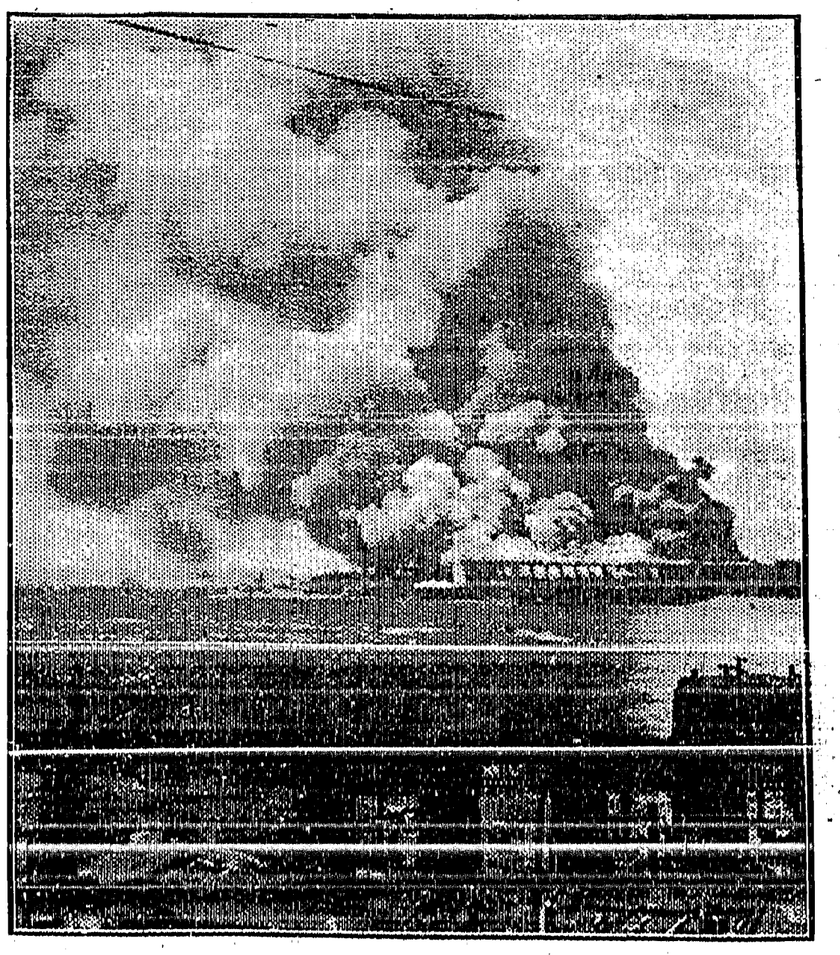
Universal Suffrage, Relgious Freedom and Abolition Of Titles

Madrid, Spain—A preliminary draft of a new constitution providing for universal suffrage, religious freedom and abolition of all titles of nobility was made public by the government commission created some time ago to prepare the document

It provides for a presidential term of six years, the president to be elected by a majority of the senate and the Lower House in joint session. There would be 240 senators divided equally among the "cultural, industrial and labor entities," and 470 deputies elected by popular suffrage, including the vote of women

Returns from the day's general assembly election confirm the original belief that the Conservative Republican-Socialists have an overwhelming majority in the assembly with the Monarchists left only five deputies out of more than 350 and the Communists with none at all.

$10,000,000 GOES UP IN SMOKE



This picture was taken when the fire which destroyed part of the famous harbour of Saint John, N.B., was at its height. The scene, looking south, shows some of the piers burning rapidly while ships are being towed away from the fire zone. Before the tragic conflagration had burned itself out more than $10,000,000 dollars' worth of damage had been done.

ASSISTANCE IS PROMISED FOR DROUTH AREAS

Ottawa, Ont.—Expressing the fear that Canada is faced with perhaps "the greatest national calamity that has ever overtaken the country," as a result of the serious drouth which prevailed in Saskatchewan and sections of Alberta and Manitoba, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, prime minister, announced in the House of Commons, that he would submit to parliament a measure for relief of the sufferers.

The prime minister announced also that it was his intention, as soon as disposition has been made of measures on the order paper and other measures to be considered, to submit to parliament unemployment measures "that we hope will enable us successfully to grapple with that difficulty during the coming winter and the balance of the year that is before us."

Prefacing his remarks by the statement that this is the 64th anniversary of Confederation, Mr. Bennett went on to declare that Canada could contemplate the past with some measure of pride and satisfaction and the future with courage, hope and confident faith. But with respect to the present, conditions in certain parts of the west were such that "notwithstanding the copious rains of the last 36 hours it will not be possible for any harvest in the way of grain to be reaped in a very substantial area."

Probably more than 5,000,000 acres of land had been adversely affected by the drouth, continued Mr. Bennett. From information received from the government, it was learned that at least 100,000 people were affected directly, and also their herds.

Canada, he asserted, had not hesitated to meet disastrous conditions affecting other countries. Therefore he proposed to ask parliament to assist in meeting this. The extent of the assistance would necessarily depend on information as to the need.

Co-operation of the Liberal party in any measures for meeting the situation was expressed by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. Co-operation would be given in the fullest measure by all members associated with him. He suggested that, as considerable sums would have to be spent in connection with this emergency, as well as unemployment, something in the nature of a national relief board should be established.

Mr. King remarked that at the time of the Halifax disaster a relief commission had been appointed to administer a fund of $20,000,000. He was confident that $20,000,000 would not begin to meet what the administration would have to spend in connection with relief this year.

Premier Bennett referred to the constitutional difficulties involved in administering federal funds for provincial purposes. The Halifax board, he stated, had operated under the terms of the War Measures Act, which could not now be invoked. However, it was suggested by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, that, if parliament declared unemployment an emergency, the Dominion Government could take direct steps to deal with it under certain provisions of the B.N.A. Act.
