Alice Siding

Miss Alice Carr of Fernie, who has been here with her parents for a two weeks vacation, returned at the end of the week.

Due to the continued wet weather Dr. Wells of Duncan, who is here to harvest the fruit crop on his ranch, is making a more extended stay than intended, but hopes to get away this week.

Residents who use the road at the Smith crossing have circulated a petition asking road foreman Davies to give the highway a little scraper attention and a few loads of gravel to put it in good shape for hauling.

With the public school reopened the attendance at the community Sunday school is picking up, the turnout on the 19th being the largest of the season. Principal Moore of the Alice Siding school is lending a hand with the school conduct.

The hard surface road from the Constable end is having some needed attention, with the rock crusher at work getting out repair material, and after this is rolled in it is proposed to give the road through to Compton's ranch a coat of heavy oil.

An event of interest to Alice Siding people is announced for Monday, September 27th, at Cranbrook, when Miss Marie Vaness is to be married to Albert G. Cox of that town. The young couple will make their home on the Vaness ranch, which they have leased for a term of years.

Women's Institute

The September meeting of Creston and District Women's Institute was held on Friday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. Stevens, Mrs. R. B. Staples presided. The ladies decided to have a tag day to help the Children's Aid Society of Vancouver on one of the days of the 1926 Fall fair. A committee was appointed to look after all details. The suggestion that the provincial and district conference should be held alternate years was put forward, in which case the government would finance both of them and relelieve the local institutes of this expense. There was also an amendment to the regulations submitted: "That no woman attend the meeting of conference as official delegate for more than two consecutive years." The resolution will be voted on by the membership at the October meeting. A letter from Mrs. Davidson, Dominion Red Cross organizer, also stands over till next meeting. Sending an exhibit of potatoes to the Provincial Potato Show to be held in Victoria in November was discussed but a final decision will be made next meeting. The tea hostesses were Mrs. Murrell, Mrs. Manuel and Mrs. Lillie.

Fall Exhibition Opens Thursday

At a directors' meeting on Wednesday night final arrangements were made for handling Creston's 1926 fall fair, which runs Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week.

Entries will be received by the secretary up till Tuesday night and all exhibits, except poultry and livestock, must be placed in the main building by noon on Wednesday, as judging will commence at 1 p.m.

The opening will be at 2 o'clock Thursday, at which time the main building will be thrown open to the general public at the usual admission of 50 and 25 cents, and will remain open until 6 p.m. on Friday, after which hour exhibits can be removed.

The prize list is a most attractive one and should bring out a big display, particularly in the main building. For both afternoons the amusements committee is arranging a lin of attractions to entertain the crowd, and all the church ladies' organizations will have refreshment booths.

On Thursday and Friday evenings the Grand theatre is showing Harold Lloyd's best comedy, "The Freshman," and on Friday night, October 1st, there will be the usual fair night dance in the Grand Theatre ballroom.

Lister

Rev. S. Newby will be here Sunday for Church of England service 3 p.m.

All worry about a water supply has been removed by the copious rains this month. Never in Lister's history have the well and creeks been so full at this season of the year.

Word from Cranbrook hospital is to the effect that John Bird came through his appendicitis operation in fine shape, and is making a a very satisfactory recovery.

Ernest Langston, who has been working at Kimberley for the past two or three years, was here at the first of the week making an inspection his place. He and Mrs. Langston are on a visit to the latter's parents at Canyon at present.

Pastor F. Harback took his final service here on Sunday afternoon, and left on Monday to resume his studies at college at Edmonton. During the year he has been in charge of United Church work he has labored with marked success, his work amongst the young people being particularly appreciated. There is no definite announcement as to who will succeed him, but it is likely to be a couple of weeks at least before he is replaced as both students and ordained men are scarce.

An event of intrest to many Cranbrook and Kimberley people took place at the St. Mary's Church, when Mr. P. Holland and Miss Jennie Yerbury, both of Kimberley, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The happy couple were attended by Miss Annie Yerburp, sister of the bride, while Mr. Muddyman was there as next best man. Following the ceremony, the newly weds left on the noon train for Spokane and other points, where a short honeynoon will be spent, after which they will return to Kimberley to take up their residence.—Cranbrook Herald.

Canyon City

Mr. and Mrs. John Porterfield of Spokane were visitors here at the end of the week, guests of the latter's father, Eric Olsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Browell motored in on Thursyay from Nelson for a three-day stay with the latter's mother, Mrs. Hickey.

The second and last car of wood pipe for the extension to Canyon Water Users' irrigation system arrived last week. It is the six inch sort and will be put in at once.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Langston and children of Kimberley are here at present with Mrs. Langston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Halstead. Mr. Langston is leaving in a few days to spend the winter in Vancouver, but his wife and family will remain with her parents.

Leonard Olsen left a few days ago for Kimberley, where he has landed a job, and will be remaining for the next few months.

Mrs. Wearmouth got back on Saturday from Fernie after a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. Waldie. She is accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Waldie and family, who will spend a two weeks' holiday here.

Canyon is looking forward with pleasure for the visit of Miss Siegel, dramatic reader, who will present "The Fortune Hunter" in the United Church on Tuesday night, at popular prices of admission. Mnsical numbers will be provided by Miss Severn and W. Truscott.

Rev. J. Herdman of Creston is due to take the service in the United Church on Sunday evening, and it is hoped a successor to Mr. Harback will be along in October.

Paster Harback was greeted with a large turnout for his final service on Sunday night, when an address appropriate to the occasion was given and at the close all had the opportunity to wish him goodby and good luck, as he left on Monday for his home at Vulcan. His work with the youug people has been a feature of his ministry and all are hoping his successor will be similarly talented.

"The Lion and the Mouse"

The story of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Miss Theresa M. Siegel presents at Trinity United Church on Monday night, is one of absorbing interest. The central figure, John Burkett Ryder, is one of great strength. Because of the honest decision of Judge Rossmore, which was adverse to his money interests, the "Money King" attacks the honor of the just judge, ruins him financially and uses his influence to have him removed in disgrace from the national senate. Judge Rossmore's daughter to save her father's life and honor, determines to fight single-handed, one thousand million dollars.

The great character play is by Charles Klein, and Miss Siegel's presentation of it has won for her many glowing newspaper comments. Her powers of memory, her ability to change her voice to suit a dozen different characters, her mastery of the art of impersonation, combine to make her production of this play a delight to her hearers.

Wynndel

E. Uri, manager of the Co-Operative Fruit Growers, was a business visitor at Cranbrook and Kimberley the latter part of the week.

Wynndel had an unusually large delegation at Creston on Saturday night for the picture show, and all were pleased with the feature comedy "Annie Rooney," with Mary Pickford starring.

The government bridge crew has done a good job at repairing the bridges between here and Creston during the month.

Alex. Cameron was a visitor with Nelson friends a couple of days at the end of the week.

Rev. Dr. Daly had a fair turnout for the Presbyterian service in the old schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon.

Not in several years have the strawberry plants in this district gone in to winter in such healthy shape, and a letup to the rain would be welcomed—to permit apple picking to be finished.

Lovers of elocutionary and musical entertainment are assured a rare evening's pleasure on Wednesday, 29th, at the United Church, when Miss Siegel will present the dramatic offering, "The Fortune Hunter." Between the scenes there will be vocal numbers. The admission is 50 and 25 cents.

The anniversary service of Wynndel United Church was held on Sunday, September 19th. A large congregation enjoyed the musical features, which were supplied by Trinity Church choir, Creston. Misses Violet Morrow and Edith Cook sang a duett and W. J. Truscott was soloist. The subject of the sermon was "Kingdom Builders." On Monday night the congregation and friends were guests of the ladies at a most enjoyable social to celebrate the first birthday of the church. The building was crowded with merrymakers. Mr. Herdman was ably assisted by W. Truscott, to whom much credit is due for the happy evening. G. Taylor read the financial report of the church which showed that the building erected one year ago cost nearly $1100 and now has a debt of but $25. The minister gave an encouraging report of the spiritual work done by the Sunday school teachers and workers, and Mr. Cameron also spoke in cheerful strain of the good work of the church.

Have a Hobby

Among the many excellent features of that splendid organization, the Boy Scouts, is the encouragement and development of hobbies. It was recognized by the founder of the Boy Scouts that boys of a certain age invariably group together for their activities, whether in play or work; that the "gang" spirit prevails. And almost without exception these boys individually have some hobby which to them is of absorbing interest and arouses their enthusiasm, although to others it may appear quite unimportant, even futile.

It is part of the Boy Scout programme to encourage boys to adopt some hobby that is really worthwhile, one that appeals to them, and to then help them to develop a hobby to a point where it will prove of real value to them and to their fellow men. Thus the Boy Scouts offer badges for efficiency on the part of its members for an almost inconceivable number of things.

Life is full of instances of men and women who have developed their hobbies to a point where they became the real passion and business of their lives, resulting in important discoveries and inventions and bringing untold blessings to the world, as well as fame and often fortune to the hobbyist.

George Eastman, the Kodak inventor and manufacturer, was a bank clerk and, preparing for a holiday trip, he decided to take pictures of places visited to send home to his widowed mother. In those days, half a century ago, amateur photographers were few in number because the paraphanalia required was bulky and crude and the work of picture taking, developing and printing difficult. Eastman thought it could be simplified and in his spare time in his mother's kitchen made photography his hobby. The result is well known.

Luther Burbank's hobby was horticulture, and he amazed the world with his achievements in the development of new plants and flowers and in demonstrating how they could be improved in size and beauty. Jack Miner, Thompson-Seton, and others have made the life and habits of birds their hobby, with the result that mankind has learned how much we owe to the feathered folk, and how, without their help, destructive grubs, worms and insects would soon play havoc with gardens, orchards and our food supplies. Another man, Johnston by name, within the past twelve years has, as a hobby, grown all kinds of tropical and sub-tropical trees and plants with the result that he has proven that many things which the United States now imports from foreign lands to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars can be raised at home.

Many a boy has a mechanical turn of mind which soon finds expression in some form of hobby and which, if rightly directed, encouraged and developed, may point to the occupation in which he may find the greatest enjoyment and success in life.

But apart from hobbies of this character, it is well that the business and professional man and woman should have a hobby. It should be something distinctly different from that of their everyday occupation. Thus the professional and office man will find health, recreation and downright pleasure in devoting his spare time to the development of some hobby that takes him out doors and calls for the use of his hands rather than the concentration of his mental faculties.

There is, fortunately, a growing realization of the value of hobbies, although they are not always classified as such. Service clubs in all cities are more and more turning their activities in the direction of helpful, humanitarian service. Thus we find these Club members making a real hobby out of providing outings for orphaned, under-nourished and crippled children, and finding as much pleasure in doing so as they provide for these little unfortunates.

Hobbies there are such as the collecting of stamps, coins, antiques, china, pictures and other articles too numerous to mention. These all have their value in freeing the mind from too close and constant application to business affairs and worries, even though they may not result in adding anything very worthwhile to the lives of others and the advancement of the world.

The main thing is to have a hobby. Parents should encourage their children in this direction and carefully refrain from ridiculing what may seem rather silly and purposeless to them. Sympathetic study of a child's hobbies may give a valuable indication of the direction which such child's training should be given.

Germany's Emergence

Forcibly disarmed amongst neighbors big and small still armed to the teeth, the German race is becoming potentially stronger than ever. How can they be kept for many years more under any kind of foreign dictatorship or tutelage? How can they be denied their demand for civilized equality in every respect? It cannot be done.—J. L. Garvin in London Observer.

Radio In Canada

Six Plants in Canada Engaged in the Manufacture of Radio Equipment

Production in Canada of radio apparatus including sets, parts and batteries reached a total value of $5,548,659 in 1925, according to a recent statement issued by the Canadian Government bureau of statistics at Ottawa. Six plants in Canada were engaged solely in the manufacture of radio sets or parts, nine other concerns made sets and parts in conjunction with the manufacture of other electrical apparatus and 12 of the manufacturers of batteries in Canada reported an output for radio purposes.

Statistics for 1925 show a substantial growth in the radio industry during that year and also reveal a tendency toward the production of complete sets rather than the manufacture of separate parts. In 1925 the number of complete sets manufactured by these companies was 48,498 and the selling value, f.o.b. works, was given as $2,196,024. Production of vacuum tubes amounted in value to $1,299,684 and was double that of the previous year.

Radio licenses were issued by the department of marine and fisheries during the twelve months ending March, 1926, to 134,486 persons. Ontario led all provinces with a total of 60,110; Quebec was next with 21,141. Registrations in the other areas were as follows: Saskatchewan, 15,944; Manitoba, 14,503; British Columbia, 4,494; Alberta, 7,152; Nova Scotia, 3,288; New Brunswick, 2,612; Prince Edward Island, 202; Yukon, 23; and the Northwest Territories, 17. Licensed broadcasting stations, not including amateurs, numbered 55, distributed as follows: Ontario, 24; British Columbia, 10; Saskatchewan, 7; Alberta, 6; Quebec, 4; Manitoba, 2; New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, 1 each.

SOME SYMPTOMS OF THIN BLOOD

Everybody Should be Able to Recognize Them Because Early Treatment is Important

Anaemia, or lack of blood, is a stealthy disease and is often quite advanced before it is recognized. It is much easier to correct in its early stages, but if unchecked causes weakness, loss of weight, lack of vigor and ambition.

Some symptoms of anaemia are loss of appetite, indigestion, headaches, sleeplessness, shortness of breath after slight exertion, and often extreme nervousness. If you have any or all of these symptoms begin treatment now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the tonic which will make the blood rich and plentiful. Every part of the body will respond to this treatment as is shown by the case of Mrs. Isaac Bell, Sr., Port Anson, Ont., who says:—"A few years ago I was a very sickly woman. I was all run down and my nerves badly shattered. I had taken doctor's medicine, but as I got no help from it, I tried other medicines, but with no better results. One day while reading a newspaper, I came across an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills describing a case very much like my own. I decided to try them, and by the time I had taken two boxes I could feel the benefit I was getting from them, so I cheerfully continued the treatment and was soon a well woman in better health than I had enjoyed for some years. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cheerfully recommend their use to all weak, run-down people."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A free booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent to any address on request.

Canada Protects Railways

The custom of American manufacturers of automobiles to drive new cars across the Canadian border has aroused the customs department at Ottawa, the officials of which maintain that this is a discrimination against the railways that should be stopped. They say it is not only unfair to the railways, but if allowed to continue would cause congestion in the highways at times.

Will Be Presented With Medal

Scottish Scientist To Be Honored By American Chemical Society

Sir James Irvine, principal of the University of St. Andrew's, Scotland, since 1921, and a member of the advisory council, department of scientific and industrial research, has arrived in Canada. The object of his visit to this continent is to receive the Willard-Gibbs gold medal from the American Chemical Society. The last scientist of note to whom this medal was awarded was Madame Curie. Although Sir James was of inestimable value to the British Government during the war on account of his studies and discoveries of antidotes for poison gas, the American Chemical Society is presenting him with its high token in recognition of his valuable researches on sugar—principally dealing with starch and celluloise. The presentation is to take place in Chicago, September 17.

Now Is The Time For Canada To Put Forth Every Effort To Secure Immigrants

When Canada launched a vigorous "open door" immigration policy at the beginning of the present century, we made our first, and only, great stride in settling the west. We succeeded chiefly because we attacked our problem intelligently and at the "flood tide." European countries, surfeited with population, were groaning under dire economic pressure, and our "free farm" propaganda carried a special appeal to the landless masses there. . .

It took the world the better part of half a million years to reach a population of 750 millions up to the year 1800. Food had normally been scarce and this near-starvation condition had acted as a powerful brake on natural increase according to well-known economic laws. Then came the golden age of invention, followed by rapid and cheap transportation on sea and land, which in turn led to the opening up of vast continents of virgin lands, constituting huge food reservoirs, in temperate zones overseas.

This, coupled with the increased mechanization of agriculture, relieved the pressure and automatically led to the most spectacular increase in world population that history records. Within one brief century, during the latter part of which the world wallowed in cheap food, population doubled, reaching 1,500 million in 1900. With European population at the very peak, Canada garnered her human harvest comparatively easily. But the day of easy colonization accomplishments is now over.

A new era has dawned. There are no more virgin worlds to conquer in temperate zones. The day of cheap food is definitely past, and presently the earth will only be made to yield more abundantly through the expensive and laborious process of intensive cultivation. Prof. East, of Harvard, after painstaking investigation, tell us that if the same fantastic birth rate should by any chance continue, the world would be on the verge of actual starvation by 1960!

But economic laws are at work and we need entertain no apprehension. Vital statistics demonstrate clearly that the general birth rate is falling rapidly everywhere. Great Britain now has the lowest birth rate of any nation, even lower than that of France. Economists now predict a stationary, or possibly receding, world population. Beyond all shadow of doubt, in fifteen or twenty years, Canada will look overseas in vain for surplus man power to develop her resources. And the birth rate of our own native stock is falling ominously. We need consult no statistics to convince us of that fact.

So Canada is essentially working against time in her present leisurely colonization effort. With the passing of each year the problem will be irrevocabzly intensified. For a few years yet the world may remain partly overpopulated with adults, but our chances to secure more people are dwindling steadily day by day. It requires no prophetic foresight to conclude that Canada's opportunity is "now or never."

And yet there is not the smallest indication that our statesmen can be shaken out of the present sluggardly attitude on this subject and that this fundamental and urgent national problem will be solved within nature's time limit. The stagnant, routine methods of the past are out-of-far-sighted policies.—C. W. Peterson in Manitoba Free Press.

A Death In Europe

German monarchy is dead. The fears expressed when Hindenburg was elected were without basis. When nearly 15,000,000 German voters approve the seizure of royal property, the divine right of kings is a flyblown doctrine. When those who oppose such seizure do not dare vote, but beat it by abstention, there is little danger that the call for new king-emperors to rule Germany will be loud enough to be heeded.—New York World.

Insurance Against Single Crop Failure

Aaron Sapiro Says Hope Lies In Building Up Crops of Constant Production

In "eggs and bacon" lie Saskatchewan's prosperity for the future, Aaron Sapiro, "father of co-operation," told the Canadian Club in Regina. Mr. Sapiro compared the United States and Canada, much to the advantage of Canada, in respect to successful farming.

He told of the tragedy caused in the United States by the dependence on certain sections on single crops of annual productiveness and urged Saskatchewan business men to tell the farmer that the only adequate insurance against the failure of a single crop was by the building up of crops of constant production. In eggs and bacon, he said, were the greatest opportunities for Saskatchewan in this direction, while the production and export of butter and other dairy products to the great London market could be increased by at least ten times, he declared.

Mr. Sapiro said he was doing no boasting about the United States.

"I am going to ea t humble pie," he continued. "Never in the United States have we done anything so well and so importnatly well, as this wheat pool you have built up here. It is undoubtedly the greatest single accomplishment in the hostory of co-operative marketing, and I stand and view it awed. Since my return to the United States three years ago I have received letters from every country in the world where wheat is grown, all asking for details of the Canadian pool, and the manner in which it operates.

"It is a beacon of hope for the wheat grower the world over."

Last Year's Grain Disappearing

Heavy Shipments Being Made to Prepare For New Crop

Last year's grain is fast disappearing from western elevators and storehouses.

The Canadian Pacific reports that for the period from July 7 to 14 inclusive, this year, 431,146 bushels were marketed from the Manitoba district as against 491,683 for last year. Saskatchewan, 380,290 this year, against 374,365 for last year. Alberta district, 194,289, as against 258,817 last year. A total of 915,725 bushels against 1,124,865 last year, or an average of 152,621 per day, against 187,478 bushels.

Cars loaded in the Manitoba district this year are 264, compared with 447 last; Saskatchewan, 387 to 381 last year. Alberta, 164 cars against 217 for same period last year, with a total loading of 815 cars against 1,045 cars in 1925. The average per day is 136 against 174 last year. All of which shows that when the crop is garnered, the Canadian Pacific will be in readiness to handle it with speed.

Bruised Meat Exhibit

Losses on Livestock Due to Bruising Shown at Western Exhibitions

Something unique in the way of educational work was shown this year at the Calgary exhibition and stampede, and the Edmonton exhibition by the provincial department of agriculture.

This is a special automatic exhibit depicting losses on livestock due to bruising incidental to loading and shipping, and the provincial department is putting on the exhibit, in co-operation with the university, with packers, producers and others interested, in an effort to minimize the losses thus created, the extent of which is probably not realized by a large proportion of those handling livestock.

Princess Becomes Householder

The latest house-warming in which the King and Queen participated was the occasion of Princess Victoria taking up her abode at "Coppins," Iver, Buckinghamshire, when the Princess became her own householder for the first time. The house which the Princess, who is the King's sister, has taken is quite small and has nothing about it to suggest royal ownership.

Cost Of Rearing Chicks

Interesting Experiment Yields Valuable Information For the Poultry Farmer

An especially interesting experiment to ascertain the rate and cost of growth in rearing chicks is chronicled in the annual report of Mr. J. A. Ste. Marie, superintendent of the Dominion experimental station at Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Quebec. Three hundred and forty chicks were used and at the end of the experiment, which lasted 26 weeks, that is from April 5 to September 26, all the chicks were still alive. The feed consumed consisted of a home-sized grain ration, dry mash, rolled oats, eggs, skim milk, charcoal, grit oyster shells and greens (sprouted oats) kept constantly before the birds. Unfertile eggs taken from the incubator were boiled and served during a week at the rate of one egg per pound of mash, which was composed of equal parts of cornmeal, shorts, sifted oatmeal and meat meal. The mixed grains fed in the litter consisted of equal parts by weight of wheat, cracked corn and oats. When hatched the chicks weighed an average of 2 ounces each, at the end of the two months 1½ pounds, at the end of the 26th week 3.88 pounds each. The total cost of feed, as statistically detailed in the report, was $150.88 and the cost per pound gain 11.4 cents. The total weight when hatched was 42.5 lbs. and at the end of the experiment 1,320 lbs.

Combines and the Consumer

Ultimate Consumer Should Receive the Benefit of Large Scale Operations

The best way for combines to disarm prejudice is to give the consumer the benefit of promised economies from large scale operations. They have been granted much leeway, though often there is distrust of their financial set-up and doubt whether what savings are effected by them find their way to the consumer's pocket. In other words, they are being allowed to get into their hands power which may be readily abused and should watch their step.—Baltimore Sun.

Scientist Casts Doubt On The Report Of Ancient Inscriptions Found In Pacific Coast Region

The report that runic inscriptions relating the story of a terrific battle between a band of Norsemen and Indians in the year 1010 A.D. have been found almost within the city limits of Spokane, on the Pacific coast, seems quite incredible to Professor C. T. Currelly, curator of the archaeological section of the Royal Ontario Museum.

"That a party of Norsemen in the eleventh century before Columbus discovered America, crossed the continent of North America, especially taking women with them, seems altogether improbable to me," said Prof. Currelly.

"Of course nothing is impossible," added Prof. Currelly, "but it is one of those things that one would want overwhelming proof to accept.

"I remember that Stefansson told me of the finding of a stone with Norse inscriptions on it some time ago which would go to prove that a band of Vikings entered the Hudson's Bay before the time of Columbus and made their way down through the west to the country which now forms some of the American states of the middle west," said Professor Currelly.

"At first people were inclined to scoff at the whole incident. The runic inscriptions on this stone now owned by some farmer, I believe, told of so many days' journey from the sea. People naturally thought at once that these Norsemen must have been among the bands which are supposed to have landed along the Labrador and New England coasts and have made their way right across Canada or the United States to the west. The time of the inscriptions, of course didn't work out, but when the Hudson's Bay was connected with the story it was found that the 'so many days from the sea' mentioned on the stone inscription would do for a journey from the Hudson's Bay. Although it is so long ago that I don't recollect all the details, I believe that it is very likely genuine, and that Norsemen really did enter the Hudson's Bay.

"But that such a band even coming from the Hudson's Bay should get across the mountains to the Pacific coast seems very, very incredible to me."

Professor Currelly stated that there are many people who are sufficiently proficient in runic lore to forge such an inscription as is purported to have been found at Spokane on volcanic rock by Prof. Oluf Opsjon.

Prof. Currelly told of another hoax which told the story of an ancient Egyptian voyage around the Cape of Good Hope. A professor well versed in hieroglyphics had inscribed the story on tablets as a joke, which was taken seriously for a time.

The present story of the Spokane inscription is said to relate the heroic wanderings of a band of 24 Norse Vikings with seven women, one of whom was carrying a small baby, travelling "from east to west in 1010."

Exhausted and thirsty, they came to the spring beside the trail and camped. A party of Indians came along, found the Norsemen and immediately attacked.

The record is supposed to tell how the party put the woman and baby on top of the great volcanic boulder and then stood at the base and fought the Indians. Twelve of the Norsemen were killed. Two were captured. Six of the women, also, were taken prisoners, while the woman, with the baby in her arms, was thrown from the boulder and killed.

Later on, six of the survivors returned to the spring and the scene of the battle. There they dug a grave near the rock and buried their dead. The stone, marking the burial mound, is said to be plainly visible yet, and digging operations may even be predicted.

The Toll Of Forest Fires

Annual Loss to Canada Runs Into Millions of Dollars

Forest fires are again taking a heavy toll of Canada's forest wealth in Western Alberta, British Columbia and in New Brunswick. Every year the country faces this peril and this loss. The damage to the nation's timber runs into millions of dollars annually. A fire can destroy in a few minutes trees that take half a century to come to maturity. When they are gone they cannot be replaced for another half century and their destruction is a loss not only to the individual who may own the timber limit, but to the whole nation, for part of the national wealth and the national heritage has been removed.

Various organizations, notably the Canadian Forestry Association, are at work in the country preaching the gospel of "Save the Forests." They are doing valuable work in arousing public appreciation of the value of the public domain. Much work remains to be done, especially in the development of effective fire prevention and fire-fighting. The cost of such work is not an important factor provided something can be done to stop the devastation from fire. The country can afford to spend thousands of dollars on effective fire prevention and fire control, but it cannot afford to lose millions in fire losses.—Free Press.

Students Get Toronto Fellowship

Graduates of five Canadian universities have been awarded seven special fellowships for graduate work in courses offered by the University of Toronto for the degrees of M.A. and Ph.D., it is announced. Among those who received awards were: A. E. Birney, University of British Columbia; C. A. King, University of Saskatchewan; Miss A. A. Berkeley, of British Columbia.

Famous Comic Artist Goes Fishing

Clare Briggs, continent-known creator of "Mr. and Mrs.," recently remembered that fishing time was here and with six New York colleagues came north to the Windsor Station, Montreal, for a little excursion to the Laurentians where the red and grey game trout besport themselves and incidentally furnish sport to the follower of Izaak Walton. He wandered as far north as the St. Donat Chalet on Lake Archambault, where he stayed for a couple of weeks with results that were very satisfying. Here you see him practicing in his New York flat prior to the trip. His fishing pole is a curtain rod to which cotton and a bobbin for a float is attached and he is entirely concentrated on the job. We don't know what he is trying to catch, but if patience means anything he should succeed in catching it.

U. S. To Increase Border Patrols

North Dakota is to have another contingent of border patrolmen placed on duty within a short time, according to information received from Washington. Steps have been taken to increase the patrols at various places on both the northern and southern boundaries of the country and to do this there will be 235 men added to the list. In North Dakota there will be five added, bringing the total up to fifteen. Montana is to get fifteen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Just Personal Grudge

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—I am sorry to trouble you again, but as the trustees of Canyon Community Hall have chosen to ignore my previous letters I have naturally come to the conclusion their reason for not granting me the use of the hall was personal grudge.

I said in my first letter Canyon was blessed with a hall—I should have said cursed—as there has been no community spirit since it was decided to have a hall. The reason why: well, I shall not make public. Everyone in Canyon knows the reason.

We have what might be termed two factions in Canyon. Thank goodness I am not one of either of them I have been asked various time why I did not play t Canyon dances. I will state right here, personal grudge.

We always gave our services free, and never refused to oblige with music. We only asked once for a couple of dollars with which to buy music. There was a big kick at that. Yet they are quite willing to pay much more for out side music, when they could have got Canyon music free.

At present they are going around the district soliciting money to buy chairs for the hall. If they had dropped their personal grudge in a matter that was no coucern of theirs they would have had money for chairs.

I have heard there is only one man in Canyon with brains. Well, the ingenuity of a schemer shows only in the company of fools. To finish, Mr. Editor, I may say, I can furnish the names of a majority of Canyon people who think I was quite justified in writting to the Review. GEO. DAVIE.

Gale is Grateful

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR.—Just a line to thank you and, through you, the many good friends of Creston and District who so very kindly rallied to our support and who did such excellent work in the recent campaign.

To merely say that I am thankful and that I appreciate all the kindness that was bestowed upon Mrs. Gale and my very grateful self is putting it extremely mildly indeed. I feel it all very keenly and will ever remember your great goodness.

September the 14th was a sorry day for Liberalism in this Province but the days to follow may prove to be more sorry for the Province than for the Liberal Party. Perhaps British Columber will some day realize that our leader, W. L. Mackenzie King, and the Liberal party are really worth while.

Whilst I am to day just one of those who also ran, I have no personal regrets. I feel that the Liberal party has not suffered in West Kootenay as a result of our recent activities, in fact, I believe that we have laid the foundations for future victories.

I hope to have an opportunity to visit Creston in the near future but, in the meanwhile, must ask to please accept very kindest regards, sincere thanks and best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
R. H. GALE

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A Friendly Paper's View

The Winnipeg Tribune (Conservative) in Wednesday's leading editorial said, in part:

A decisive verdict.

The election has given a decisive verdict. Mr. King is in a position to form a government; while incomplete returns do not accord him a full majority there is no doubt that with the aid of the Liberal Progressives he will control the next parliament, and the Liberal-Progressives are sufficeutly close to warrant their permanent adhesion to a Liberal government. Stability of government has been estab lished, the one prize Canada drew from the grab-bag yesterday.

Apart from setting up stable government it can be said that any national issue was decided by the election one way or the other.

It cannot be said either that the tariff played a strong part in the result, since the Conservatives were hit hardest in some of the protectionist strongholds of Ontario—Brant, Essex and Kent, for example. Nor can it be said the customs abuses constitute an issue.

What then did operate to bring about the changed sentiment the polling reveals, the swing from the Conservative to the Liberal column of many seats in Ontario and the prairie west. Manitoba in particular?

So far as Manitoba and Saskatchewan are concerned, the explanation is easy to find. It lies in the singularly maladroit campaign Mr. Meighen conducted in the prairie provinces. Unquestionably the West, under a Meighen government, would be quite as sympathetically treated in all respects as under Mr. King. But the people did not believe it, and the reason they did not was that on every distinctly western issue—the Crow's Nest rates snd the Hudson's Bay Railway, for example—Mr. Meighen seemed to fear speaking with the directness of which he is fully capable.

It requires sympathetic leadership to win the West to the Conservative cause, after all the years of tariff propaganda, which, while futile, has has nevertheless left an impression that the Conservative party is unfriendly to western interests. Mr. Meighen did not supply that need. As a matter of fact, he did not give his Western candidates a feather to fly with.

So much for the West. What happened in Ontario and how did it happen? The losses in that province may be largly ascribed to Mr. Meighen's Hamilton speech in which he proposed general elections in advance of Canada's commitment to any Empire war. That proposal in its implications struck at a basic principle of Conservative party, cut sharply across its traditions and deeply wounded many of its strongest adherents.

The Hamilton declaration did not come to the front as an election issue, but repercussions were inevitable. They were felt yesterday in Ontario and in Manitoba as well. Mr Meighen's defeat in Portage is by no means unrelated to his unfortunate utterance at Hamilton.

The Hamilton declaration was framed and timed to influence the electors of Bagot in a critical by-election. It did not influence them and the returns from Quebec tell a tragic tale of its failure in yesterday's polling. Not a seat was gained in Quebec to offset the sentiment in other provinces that had been estranged.

By what process of reasoning Mr. Meighen devised such strategies is difficult to comprehend. In the elections of 1921 Quebec slammed the door in his face. It slammed the door again in 1925, and yesterday the door was slammed for a third time.

How long is this nonsence to continue? How often must the Quebec door be slammed before Conservative leadership realizes that its approaches there, for a long time at any rate, are futile and that if it hopes to govern Canada it must boldly address itself to the proper needs of other fields? With an almost solid Quebec opposing it the Conservative party cannot carry an election in Canada without some considerable support from the middle-west. That fact stands out in yesterday's returns as some thing clear, definite and irrefutable. Mr. Meighen has been pursuing the shadow instead of the substance. He made a stroug fight and in many ways a courageous fight. But he threw his strength and his courage against a stone wall and reaped fruits altogether disproportionate to his personal merits and the capacity of his party for public service.

Pure beer is a beverage for every season

THERE is no season for the enjoyment of the benefits of pure, healthful beer. Not only in summer, but also in the cooler months its tonic properties are of the greatest value in the fortifying of the body against the strain and tension of modern life.

Used regularly with meals pure beer imparts not only the nourishment of the grains from which it is made; it assists valuably in the assimilation of other foods, and with its vitamin content makes up for the lack of vitamins from which modern diet so often suffers.

Pure beer, such as is made for the people of British Columbia by the Amalgamated Breweries, is of low alcoholic strength—only 4½%, as called for by law—only enough to stimulate the bodily functions and rest the nervous system.

Many qualified physicians prescribe pure beer as a beverage for nursing mothers, both for its tonic action and on account of its richness in malt extractives that so fit the physical needs of nursing mothers.

Every day in the year you may have beer, carefully brewed by the Amalgamated Brewers, on your table, as a useful and zestful part of your meals. You may buy it by the bottle or by the dozen bottles or by the case, at every Government Store.

Delivery is free to any part of the city

These facts are placed before you by the Amalgamated Breweries, in which are associated: Vancouver Breweries, Ltd., Rainier Brewing Co. of Canada, Ltd., Silver Spring Brewery, Ltd., Westminster Brewery, Ltd., and the Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co., Ltd.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Slavery In the Congo

Belgian Public Opinion Ready to Hear Plain Truths About Conditions

Enlightened Belgian opinion, with the King and Crown Prince taking the lead, appears ready to hear many plain truths regarding exploitation of the colored races when the International conference on the Christian mission in Africa assembles at Le Zoute, Belgium, Sept. 14. Many Protestant missionaries will be in attendance and they can be counted on to deal faithfully with the various colonial administrations. In return, the British, French and Portuguese missionaries will be invited to hear equally searching evidence regarding their policies and those of their governments. The King of the Belgians says: "The Congo and its inhabitants have produced largely and brought much money to the home country. Let us never forget that colonization must find its justification in the moral progress and material welfare of the native population. Is not this moral and material progress the necessary condition of the future output of colonial undertakings? We have a moral responsibility towards the native populations whose government we have assumed."

Development Of Wireless

Passengers On Huge Air Liners In Germany May Talk With Telephone Subscribers

While rushing through air, passengers on the huge air liners of the German air service soon will be able to pick up a wireless telephone receiver and, despite the roar of three 120-horsepower motors, talk with any telephone subscriber in any large city in Germany. Wireless telephone experiments between pilots on two of the night air routes and landing fields have proved successful. A pilot circling over Stockholm, Sweden, in a thunderstorm, talked with Templehorer Field, Berlin, for five minutes.

Disintegration of a Mountain

A mountain is crumbling to pieces near Cordova Alaska due to the pressure of a glacier at its base. An inspection of the mountain was made after reports had been received that a volcano was in eruption. A dust cloud arising from tons of rock sliding from the mountain peak had been mistaken for smoke. On the mountainside farthest from the glacier, masses of rock of from 500 to 2,000 tons intermittently crash down to a valley below with a deafening roar.

Pale Western Cutworm

Courses To Be Followed To Deal With Infestation

The pale western cutworm, as its name implies, has so far confined its operations to the west. It made its first appearance in injurious numbers in Alberta fifteen years ago, according to Mr. H. L. Seamans of the entomological laboratory at Lethbridge, Alberta, in his recently issued pamphlet dealing with the pest. This particular cutworm is of a uniform slate-gray color with a light yellowish head, on the front of which are two distinct short black dashes. During a severe outbreak this insect, says Mr. Seamans, may destroy thousands of acres of grain. A heavy secondary loss is also possible due to the reseeding of devastated fields while the cutworms are still present. If there is any doubt as to the species of cutworm causing damage the finder should place a few specimens in a tin box with a little moist earth and dispatch it to one of the Dominion entomological laboratories which are located at Lethbridge, Alberta; Saskatoon, Sask.; and Treesbank, Manitoba. Up to the present no absolute control method has been discovered, but by cultural methods it is possible to prevent an infestation in a particular field the following year. Fields which are to be summerfallowed should be worked early and thoroughly cultivated to destroy all the weeds. In the pamphlet, which is obtainable free from the Publications Branch, Ottawa, or from any of the laboratories, definite instructions are given as to the course to be followed at all stages either to deal with the infestation when revealed or to prevent its occurrence or recurrence.

World's Non-Stop Flight Record

Aviators Travel 2,940 Miles in 29 Hours

Captain Jurier and Lieut. Dordillers have established a new world's non-stop flight record, travelling 2,940 miles in 29 hours.

The aviators started from Paris and landed at Omsk, Siberia.

The former record was established in June when the Arrachart Brothers flew from Paris to the Persian Gulf. A message from the fliers says that they encountered storms all along the route and that their gasoline tanks were practically empty when they landed.

Some spider webs are so strong that birds can be caught in them.

Road Signs

British Columbia Soon to Have Motor Roads Well Marked

Every important road in British Columbia will soon be marked for the convenience of travellers with official warning signs. These signs are under preparation and will be turned out in thousands shortly for installation all over the province.

The official signs will warn motorists of dangerous curves and grades. All points where cars must stop before entering a main highway under the new government highway regulations will be clearly marked in this way. Railway crossings where motor busses must come to a full stop before proceeding, also will be marked.

Strange, Romantic Love Adventures of the Flapper you know!

Joanna

by H. L. GATES

Copyright 1925 by H.L.GATES

Published by arrangement with First National Pictures, Inc.

Kenilworth—he was of the sort she was most accustomed to, only, of course, he was the super-kind that would press to his lips whatever ribbons might come to his finger tips at night, and blow them to the winds in the morning without regard for silk or cotton.

She would always have to be on her guard against Brandon. If Kenilworth carried out the threat which lurked in his calculating eyes as he let them sweep over her, she'd checkmate him, easily. Considering all persons of the other sex as hunters, Joanna fell to wondering what would be the tactics of such a man as Kenilworth who, not being by any means young, must have had divers experiences. She was brought sharply out of this reflection by the young woman with the black hair, whom Brandon had called Yvonne.

"If Kenilworth carried out the threat which lurked in his calculating eyes, she'd checkmate him.

"Don't you all know it's horrid, to have to pretend," Yvonne said, suddenly, allowing her fingers to flutter over Joanna's wrist, "that we aren't bubbling over with excitement about Miss Manners' amazing news? I, for one, must tell her how thrilling I think it must be."

Joanna gave her a grateful glance. "There doesn't seem to be anything else I can think about," she admitted. "If I only knew 'why! and from whom!'"

"Let's see," Kenilworth mused aloud, Joanna stands for some generosity of the gods, doesn't it? Something like a 'gracious gift,' if I remember my mythology aright. Gods, like gifthorses, mustn't be looked in the mouth. Not even by the loveliest of their favorites. My advice to Miss Manners is to never worry over the source of her dramatic good fortune, but proceed to hire as many pipers to make music for her as she wants to pay."

Yvonne laughed a silvery little laugh that Joanna envied. "And you, Roddy, are dying to offer yourself as one of the original pipers," she accused. To Joanna she added brightly:

He's a beast of prey, this Roddy. He has the same accessories in every port that a sailor is supposed to have put away for his shore leaves. You must never take him seriously. Especially when he makes furious love to you." Kenilworth raised a protesting hand, but Yvonne continued, nodding at him.

"Oh, you'll be making love to her before the evening's out." She turned again to Joanna, and informed her, with a trick of dropping her voice into the inflections of a mock confidence that Joanna resolved to practice as soon as she was home: "He'll start in with your eyes, my dear; he has a fancy that young women pin their faith in their eyes and old women on their complexions."

"Don't let her mislead you," Kenilworth pleaded. "She has me confused with someone else. She is positively libelous. I never begin with the eyes, as I'll prove to you as soon as possible!"

"You see!" Yvonne exclaimed. "He prepared you for his onslaughts. You must tell me at once if I am right. It'll be the eyes I'm sure. They're quite pretty you know. I can fancy him raving over them."

Brandon came to Joanna's rescue. "She will survive, even Roddy, I'm sure," he commented. "She has a most disconcerting way of putting the proper people in the right places."

Over the coffee they talked of the money, of Graydon, and Eggleston—and quite understood Joanna's inability to make plans. As often as she could, Joanna watched Yvonne, and studied her. She was of the kind that seldom comes to the silk counter of a department store. Joanna decided she was a bright example of the butterfly who hovers gaily over the most desirable gardens in that world to which "Miss Twenty-seven of the silks," had stood no closer than the farthest edge until tonight. And she thought that Yvonne was deliberately reaching out to her, as if to bring her within some common bond. Immediately, though, she considered if this feeling were not born of her own self-consciousness.

She concluded she would have to learn, soon, to take these new people, who lived among the hilltops and knew the real ways she had always imitated, as she found them. With this resolve she smiled brightly at Kenilworth. He acknowledged it by putting down his cocktail glass.

"I don't know whether you mean it or not," he said, "but you are saying to me that with so much dancing to be done before they turn us out you'd like to be getting busy. May I consider that I'm right?"

When they were on the floor Joanna asked him to repeat Yvonne's name. "I didn't hear, or I didn't understand it," she explained.

"Yvonne will do, quite satisfactorily," Kenilworth assured her. "Whoever knows her knows her well enough to forget the rest of it—if he can! Anyhow, its Coutant—the Yvonne Coutant you read about. There's a husband here tonight, off in a corner some place. But I don't know which one it is, the first or the last. No use asking her. She's probably forgotten."

Yvonne Coutant! Now Joanna knew why her face had fascinated her; why it had seemed so vaguely familiar! Each marriage a sensation, and each divorce a greater one. She had seen her pictured regularly in the Sunday newspapers—that part of them which she really looked at, the illustrated pages. She remembered Yvonne Coutant divorcing a college boy she'd run away with. A college boy, who was a scion of a family, or something like that. Yvonne Coutant engaged to another millionaire's son, and then to an Egyptian prince. Yvonne Coutant at Monte Carlo, shocking English duchesses with gowns that wouldn't be allowed even in the movies—one newspaper had described them just that way. And in the most daring of beach costumes at Deauville. Then married to the famous author and promptly divorced in Paris. Joanna knew her Sunday-papered history as girls of another day knew their cook books. The Paris buyer for the store had sent over a dress, one time, which he said was an exact copy of the model worn by Yvonne Coutant at the Longchamps races. The store designers had added four inches to the back and front and put on shoulder straps, and made of it a best selling number in the four hundred dollar class. And she, Joanna, yesterday morning "Miss Twenty-seven," had talked with her: Had talked and held her own with her!

"Did you really mean that her husband actually is here, tonight?" she asked her companion.

"One of them. If I spot him I'll give you a nudge. He's with a new flame. Yvonne went over to them, awhile ago, to see what she's like. Says she's the kind that has golden weddings."

RUN-DOWN AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Ottawa Woman Made Strong by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottawa, Ontario.—"I was terribly run-down after the birth of my third baby. I had awful bearing-down pains and was afraid I had serious trouble. I was tired all the time and had no appetite. My sister-in-law is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly and asked me to try it. I have had splendid results and feel fine all the time now. Any one who needs a thorough pick-me-up soon learns from me what to take."—Mrs. RENE PAQUIN, 320 Cumberland Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Terrible Backache

Hamilton, Ont.—"After my baby was born I had terrible backache and headaches. I could not do my work and felt tired from the first minute I got up. But worst of all were the pains in my sides when I moved about. I had to sit or lie down for a while afterwards. I could keep my house in order, but many things had to go undone at the time, because of my ailments. I was told by a neighbor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she said it would build me up. I was relieved before I had taken the first we bought and have not had any trouble like it since."—Mrs. T. MARKLE, 115 Ferguson Avenue South, Hamilton, Ontario.

British Poise

Temperament, Stability and True Sportsmanship of the British People

The conduct, temper and general behavior of the British people during the great strike have called forth merited words of praise. To no nation was the unmistakable rebuke to communism more pleasing than to United States, where the foreign element is always threatening and where the real temperament, stability and true sportsmanship of the genuine Britisher is, perhaps, least understood.

The whole world is indebted to England for a system of government that works wherever it is applied, for a judicial system and code of laws which are yet unexcelled, for a spirit of true sportsmanship that allows the strongest adversary a fair chance, and now the Mother Land has with poise and dignity given such a rebuke to communism as to win the admiration of the world.—Farmer's Advocate.

A Modern Cinderella

London Saleslady is Society Debutante At Royal Court

A Cinderella in real life has been found by London society.

Miss Dorothy Knaggs, daughter of Lady Knaggs, was presented as a society debutante at the most recent brilliant Royal Court at Buckingham Palace. She was sponsored by Lady Cadham, her aunt and wife of the chairman of the Great Anglo-Persian Oil Company.

It has now been discovered that at 8 o'clock on the morning after the court, Miss Dorothy Knaggs, saleslady, presented herself for duty at a big department store. None of her fellow workers knew anything about the presentation.

The Friend of All Sufferers.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a valuable remedy to all those who suffer pain. It holds out hope to everyone and realizes it by stilling suffering everywhere. It is a liniment that has the blessing of half a continent. It is on sale everywhere and can be found wherever enquired for.

Little Helps For This Week

And thou shalt be secure, because there is hope.—Job ix., 18.

And, as in sparkling majesty a star
Gilds the bright summit of some gloomy cloud,
Bright'ning the half-veiled face of heaven afar;
So when dark thoughts my boding spirit shroud,
Sweet Hope! celestial influence round me shed,
Waving thy silver pinions o'er my head.

—John Keats.

Hope is the cordial of the human heart.

—Robert Burns

Hope never hurt anyone, never yet interfered with duty; nay, always strengthens to the performance of duty, gives courage, and clears the judgment. Saint Paul says, "We are saved by hope."

— George MacDonald.

Fresh Supplies in Demand.—Wherever Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has been introduced increased supplies have been ordered, showing that wherever it goes this excellent Oil impresses its power on the people. No matter in what latitude it may be found its potency is never impaired. It is put up in most portable shape in bottles and can be carried without fear of breakage.

Military Guard For Bank

Troops On Duty At the Bank of England Every Night

The custom of having a military guard at the Bank of England dates back to the time of the Lord George Gordon riots, when the bank was threatened by the mob, and only relieved by the soldiers. Ever since then a guard of one officer, two sergeants, two corporals, a drummer, and 29 privates has been on duty there every night, coming off at six or seven in the morning, according to the season of the year. By custom, the guard is the guest of the bank, the officer in particular being given a rather ceremonial dinner, to which he has the privilege of inviting two friends.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

In Summer When Childhood Ailments Are Most Dangerous

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Village treasurer Taylor expects a considerable rush of business next week in the way of tax payment to avoid the further penalty of 15 per cent. which is added at October 1st.

The shooting season, which opened on the 15th, was spoiled by the unusually wet weather, but those out last week state that the ducks are avilable in good quantity for so early in the year.

W. S. Ireland of Wycliffe spent the weekend with his family on the former Ligate ranch north of town. He reported six inches of snow in part of the Cranbrook area at the end of the week.

There will be the usual fair night dance at the Grand Theatre Ballroom on Friday night, October 1st, with popular pricea of admission, $1 to gentlemen, and ladies 50 cents. Supper is extra.

Manager Rodgers is offering Harold Lloyd in his stellar comedy, "The Freshman," for the two nights of the fall fair, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 30 and October 1st, starting at 8 o'clock prompt.

Come on time if you want a seat at Trinity Church on Sunday night. It is rally day and the feature will be Miss Siegel's presentation of "The Mountains," which will take the place of the usual sermon.

Rev. Dr. Douglas of Vancouver, travelling superintendent of B.C. Presbyterian missions, paid Creston an official visit on Monday night when there was a meeting in the church to receive him.

S. M. Watson has opened a downtown office in the Jackson store next the old Auditorium. You can get him on telephone 80. If no one is in the office orders written on the slate will be immediately attended to.

Don't miss Miss Siegel's dramatic recital at Trinity United Church on Monday night. Those who heard her last fall will want to hear her again. This appearence she is presenting "The Lion and the Mouse," at popular prices.

Creston's 1926 fall fair opens Wednesday, and entries will be taken up till 10 p.m., Tuesday, 28th. There has been a larger than usual lot of enquiries for prize lists from outside points, which would indicate a large exhibit in needlework.

With an open season on all fur bearing animals, except beaver and muskrat opening on November 15th, and a six week open season on the rats and beaver from March 15 to April 30th, there is an unusually fine demand for trapping licenses this fall.

Shareholders of Creston Reclamation Company, Limited, are meeting in special session this (Thursday) evening at which the directors will submit a proposed plan to get on with the first unit of the undertaking, which will likely to embrace 2000 acres.

About the biggest crowd the Grand has seen since the presentation of the "Covered Wagon" almost two years ago, was in evidence on Friday and Saturday night for "Annie Rooney," which proved about the most popular feature comedy ever shown in Creston.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Argue of Nelson were visitors here a few days at the first of the week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hare. Up till about a year and a half ago Mr. Argue was in charge of the Beattie-Oatway drug-store, and is now in charge of the City Drug Company at Nelson.

M. J. Boyd is busy this week with a 10 x 26-foot side addition to Dr. Lillie's residence on Victoria Avenue, which will be used as a dental room, in place of the quarters now leased by the doctor over the Mercantile store. Fully modern equipment will be installed and the best possible dental service provided.

At the September meeting of the village council permission was given the roads and sidewalks committee to proceed with the laying of a new walk from the drugstore to the Mercantile corner, and also to put a new walk on Sirdar Avenue from Creston Growers, Limited office, to the Frank Provazanno property.

The fall fair finance committee waited on the villane commissioners at the September meeting asking that the grant to ehe fair be raised from $50 to $75, which latter amount was given in 1925, but the clerk has since notified the fair people that the council is unable to comply with their request. Accounts passed for payment at this meeting totalled $503.

There was a fair turnout at the curlers meeting on Monday night at which the club excutive was authorized to wait on the directors of the Creston Valley Agricultural Association to get permission to put a leanto on the main building 30 feet wide and extending 50 feet to the rear of the building, which will give plenty of space to install two sheets of ice for curling purdoses solely. If the enlargement is made the club will be able to double its present membership of 24.

Some very fine bargains are offered in village property to be sold for arrears of taxes on Thursday next at the municipal building. The sale starts at 10 a.m. and there is likely to be some bidding as several enquiries have been made for some of the property.

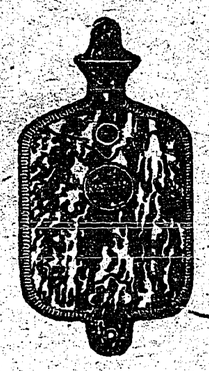
SERVICE ON ANYTHING OPERATED BY GASOLINE



It Can't Leak Because It's Made In One Piece

From top to bottom, the Kantleek Hot Water Bottle is moulded into one continuous piece of soft, pliable rubber—no seams, bindings, patches or splices. Even the metal stopple socket is vulcanized right into the neck. And the stopple is fastened securely to the bottle.

Every Kantleek Product is guaranteed for two years.
