Apple Packing Draws to Close

Warehouses Closing in Few Days —Growers Paid in Full up to and Including Wealthys—McIntosh Reds Cleaned Up.

The 1931 apple packing season is drawing to a close. Crestland Fruit Company expect to close down their warehouses at both Creston and Erickson early next week, while Long, Allan and Long will continue operations at Erickson for another ten days only. Both firms report the McIntosh all cleaned up, and quite a good demand for the winter varieties now prevails.

The outstanding feature of the past few days is the payments to growers which have been made by both Long, Allan & Long, Limited, and Crestland Fruit Company. Amounts received by orchardists pay in full for everything up to and including the Wealthy apples" Crestland Fruit Company's payment totalled $12,465, and they announce that they will endeavor to make an advance on McIntosh and winter apples in the near future.

In connection with Macs, Long, Allan & Long report that while the trade was strong for bulk apples they were able to market almost 45 per cent. of this variety in the Fancy grade, and the balance moved "C" or household. The bulk movement is over for this year, and was heavy to Jonathans and Kings.

The firm has already loaded out a car of Fancy Delicious for Glasgow, Scotland, and has booked another in the Extra Fancy grade. Both these cars have been disposed of f.o.b. Creston. In connection with the movement of winter varieties the big demand is for "C" grade and household. Packing of the winter apples is well under way and will probably keep the staff busy until November 10th. Shippers through this firm have been paid in full for all the vegetables and all varieties of apples up to and including Wealthys.

At Crestland Fruit Company McIntosh Reds were all cleaned up early in the week, and the staff at both houses is busy now on the winter varieties, with the expectation that the packing sheds will close down very early next week. At the middle of the week all growers dealing with this firm had received cheques paying in full for all vegetables and fruits up to and including Wealthys.

The firm reports a fair demand for the winter varieties and by the end of October the stock on hand will be about 20 carloads, which should be moved in good time if the present demand is maintained. These are being stocked in the warehouse basement which has been made frostproof and in this way the apples will be available for loading in any kind of weather.

On commodities for which the grower has already been paid prunes have made the best showing. As high as 65 cents nett have been paid for these, as compared with 41 cents reported at some points in the Okanagan, which was considered quite satisfactory. Considering prairie conditions prices on pears have been just about all that could be expected. Cucumbers and tomatoes were all disposed of but there was difficulty with the tomatoes due the Okanagan product being of better quality, seemingly, and the pack more uniform and desirable.

A feature to the Creston apple movement is that almost 85 per cent. has gone out boxed. Repoets from other points would indicate that outside of apples put in storage or exported possibly 85 per cent. has been shipped bulk. The packing of local fruit has been a benefit to the community in providing labor for packing house staffs, as well as increasing the demand for boxes.

In a letter to their growers, under date of October 27th, Crestland Fruit Company says, "In spite of the very impoverished condition of the prairies and the rotten condition of the Crow market due to trucks peddling culls and low grade apples, we ave marketed your crop in such a manner that your returns will, undoubtedly be much higher than those received by any other district in the province. In addition to this, we have been able to keep our two packing houses running, giving employment to a large number of local people. We believe we are safe in saying that we have the only two packing houses that have run steadily during the season. There were times when it looked as though we would have to shut down our graders, but our customers came to our assistance and were able to give us sufficient orders to keep us working."

Soliciting Donations for a

Carload of Fruit and Vegetables for Saskatchewan Relief

Creston and District Women's Institute will load out their car of Fruit and Vegetables for distribution by the Relief Committee in the dried out areas of Sasketchewan on

Tues., Nov. 3

The car will be spotted opposite Creston station, and loading will be in charge of Farmers Institute members.

Those who are willing to make contributions to the good canse are asked to communicate with Mrs. R. Stevens, Phone 66F. Trucks will call on those who are unable to deliver their own donations.

Those giving apples are asked to put them in sacks.

Please make your delivery as early in the day as possible to facilitate loading.

Kitchener

G. A. Hunt has just taken delivery of a carload of flour and feed.

Miss Laura Andeen arrived on Friday from Cranbrook, and is visiting at her home here. She is just back from a visit at Calgary, Alberta, with her sister, Miss Mildred, also of Cranbrook.

Mark Devlin, and Mr. Coope of Regina, Sask., were Saturday visitors with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs N. K. Devlin. They were on a trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. W. Crawford and Mrs. Geo. Young of Creston spent the weekend here, guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Driffil, returning on Sunday.

A few of the single men were laid off the relief work on Saturday evening.

Miss Beryl Taplin of Canyon was a weekend guest of Miss Beatrice Molander, returning on Monday.

T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, and Major S. F. Moodie, Liberal organizer, were dinner guests at the Kitchener Hotel on Wednesday last. They were on their way to Cranbrook and other East Kootenay points.

W. Ramsay, district engineer; A. E. Dalgash, his assistant; A. E. Davies, general foreman, all of the public works department, in company with Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., were looking over relief work operations here on Monday, and complimented H. H. Redmile, who is in charge of the work, on the progress he is making.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Weston and daughter of Creston are at present occupying one of the cabins at Blair's tourist camp. Mr. Weston is in charge of a crew of men working on the cutoff cat of town.

The Community Bridge Club had a social evening on Saturday, with high score prizes carried off by Mrs. M. P. Molander and Miss Hazel McConegal. High score honors to men were awarded to Leland Nolan and Richard Molander.

Valley Teachers Re-Elect Officers

High School Principal Levirs Heads Association — Normal Grrduates May Join—Hear Report on Salary Commission

The first meeting of the Creston Valley Teachers' Association for the new school year was held on October 10th.

A report was made on the progress of the suggested Government salary commission, which is to evolve a schedule for the salaries of teachers in the various districts. This committee is to consist of three trustees, three municipal councillors and three appointees of the department, as representatives of those who pay the salaries; and of nine teachers, representatives of those who receive them. The chairman, a judge, is to have no vote.

The main business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The following were elected:

President—Mr. Levirs.
Vice President—Mr. Marriott
Sec. Treas.—Miss White
Executive Members—Mr. Freanie, Miss Walker.

It was also decided to extend an invitation to Normal graduates in the district to join the Association as associate members.

Canyon City

Miss Frances Knott was a weekend visitor at Grey Creek, a guest of Mrs. Hodnutt a former teacher at Canyon.

Andy Wickholm is employed at Creston at present, where he is erecting a residence for Mrs. Ben Long, on some property near the P. R. Truscott ranch.

The young people employed by Crestland Fruit Company, as well as the orchardists who ship through the firm, were guests at a ball at the Park pavilion, Creston on Tuesday night An enjoyable time was had.

H. Young and A. Bond were visitors at Nelson a couple of days the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Samuelson are this week moving into the residence on the Martin Nelson place, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Halstead.

Rev. A. Walker, who is now in charge of United Church work, is proving deservedly popular and attracting splendid congregations at the Sunday afternoon worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Wearmouth are home from a few days spent on a visit with relatives and friends at Fernie and Lethbridge, Alberta.

With the arrival of some new families during the past few months attendance at Canyon school is about the highest on record, being close to 80.

Canyon, as usual, is right to the fore in assisting with the good work of gathering up fruit and vegetables to be shipped to the Relief Committee in Sasketchewan. Ernest Langston is on the rounds finding out just who are willing to contribute and making arrangements to get the staff to Creston for the car the Women's Institute are loading on Tuesday.

Apple picking is completed in the Canyon section and practically all of the fruit has been hauled to the warehouses at Erickson. Some of the orchardists are storing a xuantity for later sale.

Miss Frances Knott was at home to about two dozen of the Canyon young people on Friday night the event being in honor of Miss Beulah Penson, of Erickson, who ia leaving this week to commence a three-year course in nursing at St. Eugene Hospital, Cranbrook. A very fine time was spent with music and various amusements, with an excellent lunch about midnight.

Bears are unusually plentiful this season and are somewhat common sight in the older part of the district. This week one was observed browsing around in the Huygens & VanAckeran orchard, and on Monday Ernest Barnes and H. Young encountered one on the highway about opposite the T. Hickey place which ambled along the road in front of the truck and finally headed into the hills at the Hickey ranch. Matt. Clayton later on went in quest of bruin but was unsuccessful in his effort.

Erickson

B. Stewart, accompanied by his two sons, were Yahk and Cranbrook visitors at the middle of the week.

W. Shields, who has been a resident of Erickson for the past year, left last week or his home in Ontario, where he will spend the winter.

Frank Putnam was a business visitor at Cranbrook at the weekend, returning on Monday.

Lee Heric was a business visitor at Cranbrook a few days during the week.

F. V. Staples was a visitor here on Saturday, returning from a trip to Kelowna and Beaverdell to his sawmill operations at Invermere.

A White Leghorn in the flock belonging to Mrs. Angus Cameron rather excelled herself one day last week with the production of an egg that measured 3 inches around the ends, and 6 inches in circumference, weighing 4¼ ounces. This is somewhat larger than the previous record breaker produced at Camp Lister.

The meeting of school district ratepayers on Monday night was fairly well attended, when the matter of providing bus transportation for the children living at Arrow Creek was fully discussed. By a vote of 10 to 8 it was decided not to provide the asked-for accommodation.

Athletic Club Meeting

A public meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 10th at 8 p.m., in Trinity United Church hall, to discuss plans and organize for the winter activities.

The plans so far concern any who are interested in gymnasium, basketball, etc. The Athletic Club has done considerable work in preparing for the winter, and will have some very interesting reports to make, particularly so will be the report of the deputation which waits on the village council on the evening previous, with regard to the use of the Park pavilion for athletics this winter.

This meeting should have the attendance and support of all who are interested in clean sport. The turnout at the junior atheletic display each year, and the quality of performance, indicates the interest in any organization functioning 100 per cent, catering to all ages and classes in the community, and as a community effort, sponsored by enthusiastic citizens, giving the course to the young people in particular that will fit them and train them for the adult years that are not so very far away.

Let's get the Athletic Club away to a good start. Turn out to this meeting, elect your executive as you want them, and let's get going.

Close Season With Big Dance

Crestland Fruit Company Office and Packing Staff Hosts at Enjoyable Function to Mark Close of Packing Season.

The apple packing season, which is just about to close, was given a social windup on Tuesday night at the Park pavilion when the office and packing house staff of Crestland Fruit Company were at home at a dance to which more than 250 invitations had been extended to employees and friends, and which attracted the largest attendance of any affair of the sort this year.

The committee in charge were very thorough in all their arrangements. The floor was in splendid shape, the building comfortably heated, new cloakrooms provided, and a something different sort of supper that was befitting the occasion.

The hall decorations were particularly attractive. Clusters of many-colored balloons throughout the hall were a new and attractive feature, and an abundance of confetti in all the rainbow hues added further to the attractiveness of the surroundings. Wherever possible apples were used for adornment. Groups of labels used on the different commodities shipped brightened up the walls at vantage points.

Everyone was taken with the fruity flavor of the different dance numbers. This was a very special creation of Manager H. Harrison and accountant Newton Fraser. Just why the former chose to call it the Maiden Blush moonlight waltz has not been satisfactorily explained. Mr. Fraser was much happier with his ladies' tag Delicious one step, and the Cooseberry circle one step.

Mr. Harrison showed rare judgment in designating it the Cookers' quadrille, which was called by Ray Telford with all the enthusiasm of the old days of Red Cross whist drives and dances in the Auditorium and Mercantile Hall. Roy gave them plenty of swing, grand chain, right and left six, and all the other movements of this former day favorite "square."

Music was provided by Creston dance band which was showing the best form of the fall season. The prize for the spot dance was won by Miss Yvonne LaBelle and Fred Hale.

Dancing was from 9 to 2, and an evening of rore pleasure is reported by all. Those in charge of arrangements are being complimented on all hands on the all-round success of the affair and it is expected a similarly planned dance will be staged to wind up the fruit packing season every year.

Set Your Own Standard

Most of us have seen the cartoons and read the stories appearing under the title "Keeping up with the Joneses." We have laughed over them, but at the same time exclaimed aloud, or murmured to ourselves, "What fools!"

Calmly facing, and closely diagnosing the situation which confronts thousands of us today as individuals, and all of us collectively as represented by our municipal, provincial and federal governments, must we not admit that no small part of our present financial problems are the result of conditions created by an attitude analagous to that portrayed in "Keeping up with the Joneses?"

The acuteness of our present day situation may be due to other causes quite beyond our control,—such as protracted drouth, and consequent crop failure, leading to unemployment in urban centres.—but would we not as a people, individually and collectively, have been able to withstand these shocks if, when times were prosperous and business active, we had not lived up to, and in many cases far beyond, our current income in a desperate race in which each and all were striving to keep up with somebody else?

Looking back,—and it is in times like these that people are in the mood to "look back," take stock, and give heed to things that at other times when everything is forging full speed ahead they will not stop and consider,—is it not possible to see that we indulged in expenditures which our actual position did not warrant but into which we plunged because of a false vanity that we must keep up with somebody else?

The old motor car although still serviceable was not good enough because somebody else had bought a new, more up-to-date, faster car; the simple, refreshing, health-giving holiday at a near-by lake we had enjoyed for years had to give place to an expensive trip to the Coast, or a winter in California, or Florida, or some Eastern city because somebdy else had followed such a course; or because somebody else sent their son or daughter to university, we must do likewise, even though our boy and girl might not have similar tastes or inclinations or aptitude for the higher degrees of learning.

And these traits of character in the individual naturally have found expression in the policies of the governments we have created. Because older established, more populous and wealthier provinces, states and countries have, through the expenditure of millions of dollars, created great systems of permanent, all-weather roads, why we must do the same although still young, weak and not yet wealthy as a community. Not only roads, but our schools, our public buildings, all our public services had to be the equal of those to be found anywhere else. As individuals, as electors, we demanded these things, and our governments were forced to comply with our demands or give way for those who would. We were determined to keep up with the Joneses of the whole world.

As a result the factories of the world were busy turning out not necessities alone but enormous quantities of luxuries at a fabulous cost. Stocks and bonds of these inflated industries mounted in value to dizzy heights. Everybody bought them with a view to amassing more money in order that they might buy still more luxury. Sooner or later a collapse had to come, and the Joneses of the world and their vast army of imitators are now in difficulty.

There is a lesson all may well take to heart at this time. It is this; Rightly or wrongly,—and wrongly we believe, and certainly wrong in the vast differences which do exist,—wealth is unevenly divided, income and earning power vary greatly from one person to another, and at different periods of a person's life. One man's standard of living and expenditure cannot safely be accepted as sound and proper by another man. While our present distribution of wealth continues, one man's loose change will be another man's extravagant folly.

Like everything else in this changing world, the social order is changing. Furthermore, it is the right and privilege of every man and woman to work for a change along lines he or she considers will be better, more just; with this limitation, however, that they must consider and respect the rights of others just as they expect their rights to be respected. Self-interest alone must not be our guide, because, in the final analysis, insistence of self-interest alone means self-destruction. And this is true of nations just as truly as it is of individuals.

George Washington once said: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations—instil it deep." Far better to follow this sage advice than to indulge in the heart-burning dissatisfaction of continually trying to keep up with the Joneses.

Proud Of Record

In the province of Vermland, Sweden, 164 farmers have received diplomas testifying to the long hereditary tenure of their lands. The record seems to be held by a family at Eda, which has farmed its lands since 1470, but another family, at Norda Emterud, has held a farm since 1480. The Swedish farmers take great pride in their family records and the new diplomas are highly prized.

Mrs. R. I could not get the discharges checked, so I went to the druggist and he gave me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and told me it would stop the trouble if anything would. After I had given the boy the first few doses I noticed the discharges were being checked, and it was not long before he was well again."

Hard Times In Labrador

Twelve Thousand Families Are Reported To Be Facing Starvation

Unless prompt assistance is forthcoming some 12,000 families face starvation this winter in the Button Bay district of Labrador, according to a report presented the Quebec Government by Rev. A. S. Leomoygan, provincial school inspector and Anglican missionary of the stricken district. This condition was brought about by the failure of the cod fishing industry this year.

The report was considered by a cabinet meeting, at the conclusion of which Premier L. A. Taschereau said the Quebec Government will do something as soon as possible to alleviate the situation.

"We would naturally like the Dominion authorities to go 50-50 with us in providing this relief," he added.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted.

"I was heartsick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

A New Product

Making Of Wool Leather Is Closely Guarded Secret

The newest leather isn't leather at all. It is nothing more or less than wool. Wool-leather has been developed at the headquarters of the British Wool Industries Research Association in Leeds, England, and the process is a closely guarded secret. It looks like leather, wears like leather, is waterproof, and can be produced remarkably cheaply. The new wool-leather is excellent for boot uppers, furniture, motoring coats, and for the upholstery of cars, buses, and railway vehicles. Not the least of its advantages is that it is easily produced in any desired shade or colour.

Persian Balm imparts a rare charm and distinction to the woman who uses it. Fragrant as a flower, deliciously cool to the skin, it always results in complexions delightfully young and lovely. Indispensable to every dainty woman. As a powder base for oily-textured skins or as a beautifying lotion, it is unrivalled. Tones and stimulates the skin. Recommended also to soften and make the hands flawlessly white.

Telegraphing Flowers

Television May Enable Purchaser To Actually See the Flowers Selected

The sending of "flowers by telegraph" has for some years been a great convenience to many people, although they have been obliged largely to leave the selection of the bouquet or plant to the florist. But, according to information given out at the recent convention of the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association, television will soon enable the customer actually to see his selection of blooms and supervise their arrangement before delivery is made. Perhaps the time may come when a customer can get a whiff of their fragrance?—Christian Science Monitor.

Preparations Being Made To Entertain Delegates To Rome Convention

Delegates to the Fifth World's Poultry Congress being held in Rome, Italy, in 1933, are assured an exceptional opportunity for visiting. Not only will they "see Rome" during Congress week but they will be guests of the Government of Italy for an eight-day tour of the country, during which visits will be made to such interesting and historic spots as Leghorn, Florence, Pisa, Perouse, Ancona, Bologna, Roviga, Milan, Como, and Venice. Canadian delegates will return by way of Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and France en route to Great Britain. Going routes being considered include via Paris and the South of France, via Gibraltar and Old Spain, via the Riveria, and by steamer direct to Naples with a day at Palermo. F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, is again giving an active lead to Canadian participation and will be glad to hear from anyone interested in attending the Rome Congress.

Achieved Great Success

Lord Byng Restored Public Confidence In Scotland Yard

Canadians will read with warm satisfaction the tribute paid to Lord Byng by the London Times on his relinquishing the office of Commissioner of the Metropolitan Polic Force. The great popularity which his lordship gained with the soldiers under his command on the battlefields of Europe was shared by the citizens of this country when he became Governor-General of the Dominion. He was liked for his personal qualities as much as he was admired for his ability and strength of character. When he was appointed to Scotland Yard there were some who wondered whether military qualifications were the right credentials for a police chief. Unfortunately Lord Byng has suffered much from ill-health during his tenure of office, but he has succeeded in achieving a great success in the position. Certain happenings had marred the wonderful record of Britain's Metropolitan Police Department, and it was to no sinecure that the great commander was called. He undertook the task with his usual thoroughness, however, with the result, according to the Times, that "Scotland Yard has gained nothing less than complete restoration of public confidence in the police force and the police force has regained confidence in itself. The good which Lord Byng has done will live after him." May he be spared to long enjoy his well-earned retirement! He has shown himself in peace and war a true commander and a great administrator.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Canada a Good Country

Times may be "hard" in Canada in some lines, but generally speaking, this country can hold its head up with any of them when it comes to business integrity and solidity. Naturally, we cannot hope to be rid of those who are always tripping over their lower lip, but these, fortunately, are in the minority. But how that minority can sometimes broadcast.

"FATIGUE? I just postpone it!"

"No, I don't have 'nerves.' You can't have them, and hold this sort of position. My head used to throb around three o'clock, and certain days, of course, were worse than others.

"Then I learned to rely on Aspirin."

The sure cure for any headache is rest. But sometimes we must postpone it. That's when Aspirin saves the day. Two tablets, and the nagging pain is gone until you are home. And once you are comfortable the pain seldom returns!

Keep Aspirin handy. Don't put it away, or put off taking it. Fighting a headache to finish the day may be heroic, but it is also a little foolish. So is sacrificing a night's sleep because you've an annoying cold, or irritated throat, or grumbling tooth, neuralgia, neuritis. These tablets always relieve. They don't depress the heart, and may be taken freely. That is medical opinion. It is a fact established by the last twenty years of medical practise.

The only caution to be observed is when you are buying Aspirin. Don't take a substitute because it will not act the same. Aspirin is made in Canada.

LEAGUE FALTERS IN EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH PEACE

Geneva, Switzerland.—Shaken by doubt of United States support and confronted by Japan's stoutly-maintained refusal to withdraw her Manchurian troops until her terms have been met, the council of the League of Nations faltered in its efforts to establish peace between China and Japan. Pessimism was so complete that a proposal to adjourn the council's special session for three weeks, without concrete action to arrest the Manchurian conflict, was debated. Observers feared that the crisis, now five weeks old, would continue unchecked.

Fate of the February disarmament conference and the life of the league itself were declared to be hanging in the balance because of the turn of events in Manchuria. Too, fear was expressed that within China itself there would be political turmoil as a result of the Geneva deadlock. Council members maintained silence concerning apprehensions about the attitude of the United States, but it was admitted that the council sized the situation up thus:

After giving the league cordial assurances of Washington's support in its efforts at pacification, and after accepting the invitation to sit with the council under the terms of the Briand-Kellogg pact, the United States Government now has evidenced unwillingness to support the move to insist on complete withdrawal of Japanese troops by a definite date, nor has the United States supported the proposal for a commission of neutral observers on the spot.

Deep regret was expressed over reports from Washington that United States Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has assured Japanese Ambassador Katsuji Debuchi the United States has no intention of participating in any program of economic pressure.

Champion Cattle On E.P. Ranch Burned

Ranch Hands Battled Disastrous Fire For Twelve Hours

Calgary, Alberta. — Damage totalling $18,000 was done by fire which razed two barns on the Prince of Wales E.P. Ranch near High River, Alberta. The fire claimed the $1,000 champion cow "Balcairn Lavatera"; the $600 champion heifer, "Princeton Lily"; the $600 yearling heifer, "Princeton Jessie" and seven young bulls.

Prof. W. L. Carlyle, manager of the ranch, believed that spontaneous combustion caused the outbreak. All the ranch hands battled the flames but the high wind blocked their efforts and the fire spread rapidly. For 12 hours the fire was fought before it was prevented from spreading to other buildings of the ranch. Professor Carlyle said the champion cow heifers were being prepared for the Royal Winter Show at Toronto. He said all entries would be withdrawn now because of the conflagration.

Federal Authority Must Be Secured

Before Provinces Initiate New Undertakings As Relief Measure

Ottawa, Ont.—"All that has taken place is that various provinces and municipalities have been notified to refrain from initiating new undertakings without federal authority," Senator Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, declared here, commenting on western despatches to the effect that the provinces had been requested to cut their relief measures.

"We found that new undertakings were being embarked upon for which federal authority had not been secured," the Minister said. "This had to stop. We notified the provinces that such works as were already commenced could be proceeded with; but that new enterprises must have Dominion authorization. We intend to insist upon that being respected. That is all."

Unemployed Women

No Census Will Be Taken Says Government

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Government will not undertake registration of unemployed women. This is made plain in a letter Senator Gideon Robertson has sent to the National Council of Women. The registration of unemployed men has proved a very considerable task. He is hopeful of obtaining much desired information from the census in this regard.

Senator Robertson's letter says "the results of the efforts to register unemployed men have been so obviously misused by duplications and men not unemployed registering in anticipation of their becoming out of work, that it seems to preclude the possibility of successful registration of unemployed women."

President Of Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Passes Suddenly In Regina

Regina, Sask.—A. J. MacPhail, president of Saskatchewan Wheat Pool since its inception, and president of Canadian Co-Operative Wheat Producers, Limited, that is, the central selling agency, died suddenly October 21 in Regina General Hospital. He was 47 years old.

Mr. MacPhail underwent an operation on September 28 for appendicitis, and since that time had been making satisfactory progress. He was to have been released from hospital the day he died.

His attending physician, Dr. Hugh McLean, stated that embolism, or the release of a clot in the blood stream, caused his sudden death.

"The Beggar's Opera"

English Light Opera Company Now On Canadian Tour

The English Light Opera Company which has come from London, England for a Trans-Canada tour has received high praise from the critics of Toronto and other Eastern Canadian cities they have appeared in. Special stress is laid on the vocal ability of the company which is headed by Leyland White, one of England's most popular grand opera and concert baritones, who will be seen as McHeath in "The Beggar's Opera," when the company appears at the Darke Building for Music at Regina on November 2, 3, and 4. Miss Kathleen Destournel, soprano, will be the "Polly Peachum." This charming and gifted singer was a protege of Dame Melba's, and appeared with the Australian diva at a Command Performance at Covent Garden shortly before the death of Melba. Another member of the company is Miss Dorothy George, well-known London contralto, who has sung the principal contralto roles in Gilbert & Sullivan operas. "The Beggar's Opera," by John Gay, is in full keeping with his name, for it is riotously merry. For an evening of jollity and tuneful music, no opera since this first of all English comic operas can compare. Mr. Henry Jaxon, one of the most distinguished conductors of all England, will conduct the performances. Those who attended the Wembly Exhibition will recall that it was Mr. Jaxon who directed the music for the Pageant of Empire, and was in charge of the music for His Majesty's Government. Mr. Jaxon is a personal friend of Sir Edward German, composer of "Merrie England," the other opera being given by the English Opera Company on its tour, and has assisted that eminent composer in re-orchestrating and arranging a number of his works.

SEES CANCELLATION

The announcement in London of Sir Norman Angell (above), well known British economist, that he believed all war debts will be cancelled, has attracted international attention. Sir Norman stated he doubts that payments on the debts, suspended by the Hoover moratorium last June, will ever be resumed.

Relief For West

$50,000 Worth Of Food and Clothing Shipped From Eastern Canada

Toronto, Ont.—Since the national emergency relief committee of the United Church of Canada was formed last August, 38 carloads of clothing, fruit and vegetables, mostly from Ontario have been shipped to drouth-stricken areas of the Canadian west. Definite promise of 27 more carloads from this province has already been secured, according to officials of the committee.

Figures compiled show that a total of $50,000 worth of food and clothing has been shipped to the prairies from Eastern Canada and British Columbia under the direction of the relief committee. The largest total is that of Huron County, Ontario, which is now loading its eighth car.

Not Yet Learned Lesson

Many Disasters Have Apparently Failed To Impress Nations

Toronto, Ont.—Equality of sacrifice among the nations was stressed as the salvation of the world, by Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada. Officiating at the annual prize giving at St. Andrew's College, Sir William addressed the students. Looking back over a generation, "which in the last 20 years has seen so many disasters come upon it, culminating in the severest and most widespread depression which the world has known," Sir William expressed a fear that even now the nations of the world had not yet learned their lesson.

Repays U.S. Credit

Bank Of England Retires Large Portion Of Big Loan

New York, N.Y.—The New York Herald-Tribune says the Bank of England has repaid most of the $125,000,000 90-day credit it obtained from the United States federal reserve system on August 1.

It was revealed, says the newspaper, in a major front page story, that the bank had been able to retire almost $100,000,000 of its credit in this market.

The Herald-Tribune says further in part:

News of the retirement of four-fifths of the August credit, which matures on October 31, evoked considerable surprise and gratification here. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the federal reserve advance, while nominally due last week, was actually "frozen" for some time to come.

Thus, by repayment of the major portion of its credit for the federal reserve, the Bank of England has lowered substantially its foreign liabilities, thereby removing some of the obstacles which might be considered as standing in the way of an early stabilization of sterling exchange, and simultaneously the liquidity of the federal reserve system has been increased a corresponding amount.

Premiers Will Meet Again In November

To Consolidate Views On Problems Of Western Provinces

Calgary, Alberta.—Taking back to their respective provinces information which will be studied in preparation for another conference in November, premiers and cabinet members of the prairie provinces closed their conference here and left for their homes.

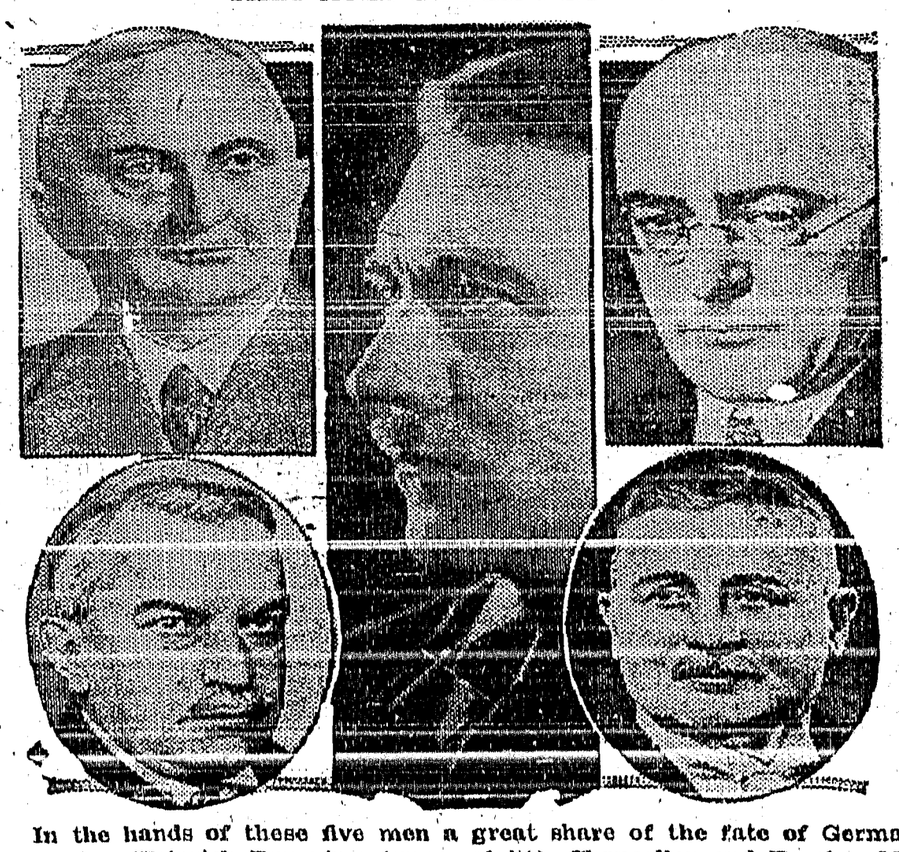
The meeting in November is being called to consolidate views of the prairie provinces and British Columbia in an effort to have legislatures of each province take uniform action on problems debated. British Columbia's representatives, absent from the last meeting, will take part in the November session.

Topics on which information was exchanged during the two-day gathering included unemployment relief, curtailment of provincial expenditures and finances generally, debtor-creditor grievances, wheat pool guarantees and gasoline prices. On the question of gasoline prices alone was any definite action taken, and this was a step towards an investigation under the Combines act.

Floods In India

Calcutta, India.—At least 150 persons were drowned and 2,000 made homeless by floods which reached a depth of 30 feet in the vizianagram area of India. About 90 per cent. of the cattle in the area were drowned and considerable damage done to the jute crop.

THEY HOLD GERMANY'S FATE



In the hands of these five men a great share of the fate of Germany now rests. Heinrich Bruening (upper right), Chancellor and Foreign Minister, charged with the formation of a new cabinet, selected Hermann Dietrich (lower left), as Vice-Chancellor and Finance Minister; General Wilhelm Groener (lower right), as Minister of War and Interior, and Dr. Kurt Joel (upper left), as Minister of Justice. In the group is shown Adolf Hitler (centre), National Socialist leader.

SAYS IN RAILWAY EXPANSION MORE CAUTION NEEDED

Winnipeg, Man.—Re-adjustment of the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways "would not alter the economic position of the country one iota," Dr. W. W. Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, told the Winnipeg young men's board of trade in an address in which he blamed the people of Canada for any extravagance in the building up of the government-owned railroad.

A private corporation, in debt as the C.N.R. is, might well consider some arrangement with its bondholders which might permit the scaling down of its indebtedness, Dr. Swanson said, but, he added: "It is not conceivable that the Dominion of Canada will assemble the bondholders in this case and offer a plan of reconstruction of capital which will involve their agreeing to a sealing down of the face value of their investments."

Capital readjustment of the C.N.R. "would be a trick in accounting," declared Dr. Swanson. "It would be wholly useless, except as gesture." The Saskatchewan economist, who accompanied Premier R. B. Bennett to the last imperial conference in an expert capacity, thought the present condition of the C.N.R. has some value to Canadians "as a warning."

"It indicates in plain terms," he said, "the necessity for exercise of more caution in the future than has been shown in the past. It indicates the need to weigh projects of national expansion more carefully than we have sometimes done; the wisdom of making haste slowly, even in a country as rich and as capable of development as is Canada."

Dr. Swanson defended the railway's management. "Operating accounts of the system indicate they proceeded consistently along the lines of what they evidently, without protest from the public, conceived to be their mandate—to make the railway complete in equipment and service; to seek for new business wherever it offered; to handle the routine operations of the system efficiently, and to draw on the Dominion treasury for the moneys necessary for these purposes.

"If, as it has often been alleged, there has been extravagance in the addition of facilities, I for one shall accept my share of the blame which, as a whole, must rest on the people of this country. Cities demanding hotels, travellers clamoring for speedier trains, individuals and journals applauding refinement of luxury and service—of these is the Dominion of Canada made up, and they have had provided what they demanded."

Favorable Trade Balance

British and German Trade Shows Signs Of Improvement

Washington.—Business edged forward last month in both Great Britain and Germany.

Germany's favorable trade balance, gained through increased exports and declining imports, broke all records during that month.

The United Kingdom has a larger unfavorable trade balance than in August, but there were increases in both exports and imports.

Reports to the commerce department gave the following figures:

German imports, September, 448,000,000 marks; exports, 885,000,000 marks, including reparations deliveries in kind of 23,000,000 marks.

United Kingdom imports, September, 68,300,000 pounds; exports, 29,800,000 pounds, and re-exports at 3,800,000 pounds.

Tidal Wave Sweeps Island

Fifty Lives Are Lost Following Severe Earthquake

London, Eng.—The office of the colonial secretary was informed that 50 lives had been lost in the destruction of 18 native villages on the Island of Cristobal in the western Pacific when a tidal wave swept the settlements following an earthquake.

The earthquake, which was severe, occurred in the central and eastern areas of the British Solomon Islands, a report from the high commissioner of the western Pacific stated.

Bargains in Personal Results

A long-distance call is often the greatest bargain in the world measured in terms of results. Valuable friendships can be kept alive by long-distance telephone. Business can be done quickly and effectively.

If you have a friend in some distant place you would like to talk to or some business associate from whom you would like to get a quick decision, call "Long-Distance" and ask how much it would cost. No obligation to place a call is attached to inquiries.

LOST 20 LBS. FAT

Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the Kruschen method should have succeeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Kruschen for reducing weight, I weighed 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I decided I was too heavy, and now, thanks to the half teaspoonful of Kruschen every morning, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have been that weight for nearly four months. I may say I feel much better. I did not diet myself in any way whatever."—E. C.

Kruschen Salts do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will take away unhealthy flesh and restore your figure to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Separate Grade For Garnet Wheat Asked

May Be Excluded From Contract Grades Of Northern Classes

Garnet wheat will be excluded from the contract grades of the northern classes after July 31, 1932, if a resolution passed unanimously by the Western Grain Standards Board is approved and the Canadian Grain Act duly amended at the next session of parliament.

The resolution urged that it be graded as a separate variety of wheat in grades to be known as number one, two and three Garnet, with anything which fails to meet the requirements of these grades being included in the lower grades of the red spring wheat.

Worry and Fear

Factors That Help To Shorten the Span Of Life

The way that hate, fear, worry and jealousy have helped to choke off at 58 years man's hitherto rapidly increasing span of life, was described to the American College of Surgeons in New York.

The bank president worrying over business, the criminal suddenly stricken with fear and the mother watching her sick child all were pictured as doing the same injury to their health.

This increase to 58 as the average time every adult may expect to live was discussed by two internationally known physicians, Dr. George W. Crile of the Cleveland Clinic, and Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Crile told the medical story of ravages of emotions of modern civilization. Dr. Mayo sketched remedies for ill health, which included newspapers as "the greatest educating, thought-moulding enterprise in the world."

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

Golden Text: "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the Spirit."—Ephesians 5.18.

Lesson: Galatians 5.13-26; Romans 13.1-14.

Devotional Reading: Romans 14. 13-21.

Explanations and Comments

"Brothers," wrote Paul to the Galatians, "you are free from the Law, but Christian liberty does not mean that you can do as you please."

"A Christian man is the most free lord of all, and subject to none; a Christian man is the most dutiful servant of all, and subject to all."—Martin Luther.

Liberty and license are not synonymous. Do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but live in accordance with the law of love. "Flesh" is used here for "that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness and makes for evil. It signifies the entire potency of sin."—"Through loving services for others," continued Paul, "you fulfil the whole divine law, which is, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." Paul here quotes Leviticus 19.18.

Then remembering that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, Paul adds, "But if ye bite and devour one another—act toward one another like dogs or wild beasts—beware lest you destroy one another." "Mutual backbiting and hatred can only end in the destruction of one another's spiritual life."

The Power Of the Spirit, verses 16-18.—Walk by the Spirit, submit to the guidance of the Holy Spirit in all your acts, and then you will not fulfil the desire of your evil nature. For the evil nature and the indwelling Holy Spirit are antagonistic. "Throughout this passage the "Spirit" is evidently the Divine Spirit, for the human spirit in itself and unaided does not stand in direct antagonism to the flesh."—Lightfoot.

"If you are led by the Spirit," Paul continues, "you are not under the law, for you will not disobey it." "Law exists for the purpose of restraint, but in the works of the Spirit there is nothing to restrain."—Lightfoot.

The Works Of the Flesh, verses 19-21.—The works of the flesh are manifest—plainly seen—Paul declares, and then he gives a repelling list of some fifteen vices which were common among the Galatians. "It may be pointed to as a proof of depravity that vocabularies have more words descriptive of forms of sin than words descriptive of forms of holiness. Under the fruit of the Spirit Paul gives a list of nine, but under the works of the flesh his list extends to fifteen, properly sixteen, and the word translated 'which' implies that he did not profess to give an exhaustive list—he could easily have added other instances."—R. Finlayson.

The Fruit Of the Spirit, verses 22-24.—"When the baleful effects of the self-life is corrected, the fruits of the Spirit appear naturally and easily. Note the distinction between work, in which there is effort, and fruit, which swells so imperceptibly and silently on the branch, pressed out from within!"—F. B. Meyer.

He who is governed by the inner spirit is not content merely to refrain from breaking the law; he exercises positive virtues such as Paul now enumerates: love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control. Each of, these is the result of the first which is love. Against such there is no law. "Paul is content to remark—not without a touch of irony in his tone—that these things do not seem to call for the interference of legislation!"—A. W. Robinson.

The Final Counsel, verses, 25, 26.—"If we live by the Spirit, by the Spirit let us also walk." Walking by the Spirit is the effect of living by the Spirit. If the Divine Spirit has control of our spirit, then we are living loftily, doing daily what we believe Christ would have us do.

The most vicious and despicable of human vices is insisting upon minding other people's business.

Dean Inge says true fasting is eating something you don't like. Many children feel that way about spinach.

Increased Postal Revenues

Substantial Decovery Is Noted By Postmaster General

Substantial recovery in postal revenues, with every prospect of last year's deficit being overtaken, is indicated in reports of postal business presented to Hon. Arthur Sauve, postmaster-general. Since assuming that portfolio, Mr. Sauve has applied himself industriously to the task of converting a heavy deficit into a surplus and recently expressed satisfaction with the result, which promises well for the future.

One feature of the increased postal business is the marked advance in third-class mail matter. "If this conveys anything at all," declared one official, "it suggests that business houses and industrial concerns have greatly widened their advertising campaigns. Third-class mail embraces printed matter—circulars and such like. The doubling of this business in September indicates a pronounced confidence on the part of merchandising houses in the gradual betterment of conditions generally."

Lending support to this is the 15 per cent. increase in registered mail during September. Second-class mail matter has retained its position, while a slight drop in letter mail is more than offset by increases in other directions.

For the first three months of the fiscal year the department was $900,000 in "the red" from last year, but the months of July and August overtook $800,000 of that, and from now on officials look for a steady upswing.

Young Jap Is Independent

Eleven-Year-Old Boy On Long Trip Shows His Mettle

Pride runs high in the Japanese and it gets its start at an early age. Young Mr. Haruo Inouye, 11-year-old Japanese boy, who travelled alone from Toronto to Vancouver via Canadian National Railways, possesses a fiery independence that rose in protest when a representative of the Traveller's Aid remarked that Haruo looked no more than eight years old.

"You're goofy," was the young Oriental's cryptic reply. Master Inouye decided to take a walk around Winnipeg before the Continental Limited steamed on west, and, when the passenger agent, whose charge he was, left momentarily, he nodded in the direction of the uniformed official and said: "Tell the president not to worry. I'll be back."

Haruo's father is dead and now his guardian, with whom he lived in Toronto, has also passed beyond, so the independent little lad was on his way to join an elder brother in Vancouver. He accepted words of sympathy with a shake of his head, a flashing smile and terse, "Guess I'm jinxed, but I'll get along."

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes instantly many times that much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go, get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 50c a bottle—any drug store. (Made in Canada.)

Growth Of Swedish Town

Modern City Was Arctic Wilderness Twenty Years Ago

A little more than twenty years ago the thriving town of Kiruna, Sweden, was nothing more than Arctic wilderness, the abode of wandering Lapps and herds of reindeer. Today it is a bustling community of 11,000 inhabitants which serves as the commercial center of a vast iron industry with a history as romantic as the most adventurous pioneering exploits of North America. Swedish engineering skill has placed in the center of polar wastes a small modern city with as many up-to-date mechanical comforts as the most fastidious American city dweller could wish for. In the industrial world, Kiruna has become known for its almost unlimited iron ore resources. Figures given by officials of the mining syndicate which controls the properties show that more than 9,000,000 tons of iron ore were produced during 1930. A steady annual gain has been recorded since the mines were first worked on a large scale, about 1911.

A jealous person is always in love, but it's usually more self-love than anything else.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

— BY —

MARGARET PEDLER

Author Of
"The Splendid Folly." "The Hermit Of Far End."

Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

Jean, always sensitive to her surroundings, shivered a little.

"It's rather eerie, isn't it?" she said. "It's just as if someone had suddenly turned the lights out."

"Quite a nice bit of symbolism," he returned enigmatically.

"How? I don't think I understand."

He laughed a little.

"How should you? You're young. Fate doesn't come along and snuff out the lights for you when you are—what shall we say? Eighteen?"

"You're two years out," replied Jean composedly.

"As much? Then let's hope you'll have so much the longer to wait before Madame Destiny comes round with her snuffers."

He spoke with a kind of bitter humour, the backwash surely, of some storm through which he must have passed. Jean looked across at him with a vague trouble in her face.

"Then, do you think"—she spoke uncertainly—"do you believe it is inevitable that she will come—sooner or later?"

"I hope not—to you," he said gently. "But she comes to most of us."

She longed to put another question, but there was a note of finality in his voice—a kind of "thus far shalt thou come and no further"—that warned her to probe no deeper. Whatever it was of bitterness that lay in the Englishman's past, he had no intention of sharing the knowledge with his chance companion of a day. He seemed to have become absorbed once more in his own thoughts, and for a time they tramped along together in silence.

The ascent steepened perceptibly, and Jean, light and active as she was, found it hard work to keep pace with the man's steady, swinging stride. Apparently his thoughts engrossed him to the exclusion of everything else, for he appeared to have utterly forgotten her existence. It was only when a slip of her foot on the beaten surface of the snow wrung a quick exclamation from her that he paused, wheeling round in consternation.

"I beg your pardon! I'm walking you off your legs! Why on earth didn't you stop me?"

There was something irresistibly boyish about the quick apology. Jean laughed, a little breathless from the swift climb uphill.

"You seemed so bent on getting to the top in the least possible time," she replied demurely, "that I didn't like to disappoint you."

"I'm afraid I make a poor sort of guide," he admitted. "I was thinking of something else. You must forgive me."

They resumed their climb more leisurely. The trees were thinning a bit now, and ahead, between the tall, straight trunks winged with drooping, snow-laden branches, they could catch glimpses of the white world beyond.

Presently they came out above the pine-wood on to the edge of a broad plateau and Jean uttered an exclamation of delight, gazing spell-bound at the scene thus suddenly unfolded.

Behind them, in the pine-ringed valley, a frozen reach of water gleamed like a dull sheet of metal, whilst before them, far above, stretched the great chain of mountains, pinnacle after pinnacle, capped with snow, thrusting up into the cloud-swept sky. Through rifts in the cloud—almost, it seemed, torn in the breast of heaven by those towering peaks—the sunlight slanted in long shafts, chequering the snows with shimmering patches of pale gold.

"It was worth the climb, then?"

The Englishman, his gaze on Jean's rapt face, broke the silence abruptly. She turned to him, radiant-eyed.

"It's so beautiful that it makes one's heart ache!" she exclaimed, laying her hand on her breast with the little foreign turn of gesture she derived from her French ancestry.

She said no more, but remained very still, drinking in the sheer loveliness of the scene.

The man regarded her quietly as she stood there silhoutted against the skyline, her slim, brown-clad figure striking a warm note amid the chill Alpine whites and greys. Her face was slightly tilted, and as the sunshine glinted on her hair and eyes, waking the russet lights that slumbered in them, there was something vividly arresting about her—a splendour of ardent youth which brought a somewhat wistful expression into the rather weary eyes of the man watching her.

His thought travelled back to the brief snatch of conversation evoked by the sudden gloom of the pine-woods. Surely, for once, Fate would lay aside her snuffers and let this young, eager life pass by unshadowed!

Even as the thought took shape in his mind, Jean turned to him again, her face still radiant.

"Thank you for bringing me up here," she said simply. "It has been perfect."

She stretched out her hand, and he took it and held it in his for a moment.

"I'm glad you've liked it," he answered quietly. "It will always be a part of our day together—the day we stole from les convenances"—he smiled whimsically. "And now, if you can bring yourself back to more prosaic matters, I suggest we have lunch. Scenery, however fine, isn't exactly calculated to sustain life."

"Most material person!" She laughed up at him. "I suppose you think a ham sandwich worth all the scenery in the world?"

"I'll admit to a preference for the sandwich at the moment," he acknowledged. "Come, now, confess! Aren't your hungry, too?"

"Starving! This air makes me feel as if I'd never had anything to eat in my life before!"

"Well, then, come and inspect my salle a manger."

The propsed refuge proved to be a roughly constructed little hut—hardly more than a shed provided with a door and thick-paned window, its only furniture a wooden bench and table. But that it had served its purpose as a kind of "travellers' rest" was proved by the fragments of appreciation, both in prose and verse, that were to be found inscribed in a species of "Visitors' Book" which lay on the table, carefully preserved from damp in a strong metal box. Jean amused herself by perusing the various contributions to its pages while the Englishman unpacked the contents of his knapsack.

The lunch that followed was a merry little meal, the two conversing with a happy intimacy and freedom from reserve based on the reassuring knowledge that they would, in all probability, never meet again. Afterwards, they bent their energies to concerting a suitable inscription for insertion in the "Visitors' Book," squabbling like a couple of children over the particular form it should take.

So absorbed were they in the discussion that they failed to notice the perceptible cooling of the temperature. The sun no longer warmed the roofing of the hut, and there was a desolate note in the sudden gusts of wind which shook the door at frequent intervals as though trying to attract the attention of those within. Presently a louder rattle than usual, coincident with a chance pause in the conversation, roused them effectually.

The Englishman's keen glance flashed to the little window, through which was visible a dancing, whirling blur of white.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed in good round English. "It's snowing like the very dickens!"

In two strides he had reached the door, and, throwing it open, peered out. A draught of icy air rushed into the hut, accompanied by a flurry of fine snow driven on the wind.

When he turned back, his face had assumed a sudden look of gravity.

"We must go at once," he said, speaking in French again and apparently unconscious of his momentary lapse into his native tongue. "If we don't, we shan't be able to get back at all. The snow drifts quickly in the valley. Half an hour more of this and we shouldn't be able to get through."

Jean thrust the Visitors' Book back into its box, and began hastily repacking her companion's knapsack, but he stopped her almost roughly.

"Never mind that. Fasten that fur thing closer round your throat and come on. There's no taking chances in a blizzard like this. Don't you understand?"—almost roughly. "If we waste time we may have to spend the night here."

Impelled by the sudden urgency of his tones, Jean followed him swiftly out of the hut, and the wind, as though baulked by her haste, snatched the door from her grasp and drove it to with a menacing thud behind them.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

Species Is Unknown

Petrified Fish Found In Gravel Pit Near Moose Jaw

Mute testimony of the belief that the prairies were once covered by many fathoms of water is borne in the finding of a petrified shell fish of an unknown species, in a gravel pit, three miles southeast of Moose Jaw.

Carl Erickson, working at the rock pile was smashing a huge rock of 500 or 600 pounds when he came upon the "fish." It was right in the centre of the huge rock which had been dug up from a depth of about eight feet underground.

This relic of a distant age resembles the snail and is about the size of a man's fist.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

A Birthday Party

Birthday Cards To Be Sent From Royal Winter Fair

Every boy and girl in Canada whose tenth birthday falls between November 18 and 26, inclusive, will receive a personal birthday card from the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, if it is requested. This is because the winter fair on those dates also celebrates its tenth "birthday."

This year the fair is designated a "commemorative show" to recall the inspiriting influence it was to Canadian agriculture when founded ten years ago. And it is to help in spreading a cheery outlook respecting agriculture that the birthday party is being held.

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first care of mothers should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but act as a health-giving medicine and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfeebling them and endangering their lives.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

LIFE'S DELIGHT

Sometimes love is a rose aglow
In a garden gay with sun,
Where the winds all sweet with perfume go
And song is never done.

As day by day the roses nod
And brighten the garden-place,
So love in a life is the smile of God,
And life grows fair by love's grace.

Sometimes love is a lily-bud
As lovely as the moon,
A lily-bud in the star-light's flood
On the still and black lagoon.

As lilies may lift their petals pale
Out of the mud and slime,
So love in a life can never fail
To make that life sublime.

Love may be rose or lily white,
A thing of sun or shade;
But always love has been life's delight,
Since ever the world was made.

Was Always a Nobleman

Receiving Title Did Not Change Sir Thomas Lipton

Samuel Smiles never had a clearer self-made man than Thomas Lipton. The boy to whom a guinea used to be a fortune became the master of millions and the employer of hosts of men. He was generous with his money, never more so than in the World War, when he turned the Erin into a hospital ship; and Serbia knew him as "Uncle Tom." His motto was "Labor Omnia Vincit." A friend of the early Glasgow days said of him: "He did not need to be knighted to be a nobleman."

Little Helps For This Week

"Blessed is that man that maketh the Lord his trust."—Psalm xl., 4.

Just to trust and yet to ask
Guidance still,
Take the training or the task
As He will.
Just to take the loss or gain
As He sends it;
Just to take the joy or pain
As He lends it.
This is all and yet the way
Marked by Him who loves thee best;
Secret of a happy day,
—Frances Ridley Havergal.

If you go to Him to be guided, He will guide you; but He will not comfort your distrust or half-trust of Him by showing you the chart of all His purposes concerning you. He will only show you into a way where, if you go cheerfully and trustfully forward, He will show you on still farther. No contract will be made with you save that He engages, if you trust Him, to lead you into the best things all the way through."—Horace Bushnell.

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying a reliable remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.
