Both in quantity and quality of exhibits the 1932 flower show of Creston and District Women's Institute in the United Church hall on Saturday afternoon proved the best of those held in the past few years. This has been a wonderful year for plant growth and the kindness shown by nature was reflected in the large and beautiful collection of blooms on display, the peonies, columbines, poppies and pyrethrums showing to specially good advantage. Death Summons Ardrey Wilson

Native Son of Creston Passes After Short Illness—Funeral Very Largely Attended and in Charge of Knights of Pythias

In the passing of Ardrey J. Wilson at Creston Valley public hospital at an early hour on Sunday morning, death has removed one of Creston's well known and highly respected young men—a native son, born in Creston in 1902. Deceased was the eldest son of the late Joseph Wilson, Creston's first provincial police officer, and Mrs. Wilson, who is now a resident of Olds, Alberta. His illness had been of short duration, having entered the hospital for treatment just a week previous.

The funeral took place on Monday evening from the Presbyterian Church which was profusely decorated with flowers and the high esteem in which deceased w as held was evidenced in the many who turned out to pay a last tribute of respect, quite a number being unable to gain admittance to the edifice.

The funeral was under the direction of Wild Rose Lodge Knights of Pythias, of which deceased was a member, with a large turnout of the membership attending. At the c urch the service was in charge of the pastor, (Rev.) Neil Smith, assisted by Rev. Thos. Scott, rector of Christ Church, both of whom gave appropriate addresses, and during the service Miss Frances Knott feelingly rendered "He Wipes the Tear from Every Eye." The pallbearers were Dr. G. G. McKenzie, H. Cornwall, Orin Hayden, Ray McKelvey, Fred Hale and W. H. Fortin. At the conclusion of the services by the clergy at the cemetery, the beautiful burial service of the Pythian order was read by Past chancellors Dr. Henderson, R. M. Telford and L. C. Payette.

In addition to his mother, deceased is survived by a brother, Dudley, at Medicine Hat, Alberta, and three sisters, Mrs. Browette of Vegreville, Mrs. Crellin of Nanton, Alberta, and Mrs. George Mawson, Creston, his mother and Mrs. Crellin being here for the funeral.

Genial, courteous, industrious the late Ardrey Wilson well deserved the very high esteem in which he was held and in his passing the mother and family have the deepest sympathy of the community. In addition to the very large turnout of friends at church and cemetery the floral rememberances were equally striking and beautiful. Those sending floral tributes were:

Dominion Day Sports Program

Oldtime Celebration of Canada's National Holiday—Children's Sports, Baseball, Tug of War—Midway—Big Dance at Night

Something doing from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. is the slogan of the committee in charge of the Dominion Day celebration, under Knights of Pythias auspices, at Creston on Friday next, July 1st, and judging by the list of events scheduled for the day spectators will have something to interest them throughout the day.

Proceedings will start with the baseball game at 11 a.m. between Wynndel and Creston Intermediates, and at 3 p.m, the second baseball contest, Porthill vs. Creston Frothblowers will be staged, to be followed by the final game later in the afternoon. In order to play the games off on schedule only seven innings will be played.

There is wonderful variety to the children's sports, due to start at 1 p.m., and during these there will be the tug of war pulls between Canyon and Creston and Wynndel and Erickson, with the final at the close of the sports. An amusing feature will be the oldtime climbing the greasy pole, the prize for which is a ham located at the top of the pole. For the ladies there will be a nail driving contest.

On the Midway everyone will have a chance to win blankets, aluminumware, hams, fishing tackle, dolls and a great variety of other articles, and for the children the Pythian Sisters will have a novelty booth. The Sisters will also have a refreshment booth, serving lunches, hotdogs, ice cream, lemonade, etc., opening at 11 a.m., and continuing all day.

All children under 16 years of age will be admitted free to the grounds. To the adults the admission is 25 cents and each ticket gives the holder a chance to win one of three cash prizes of $5, $3 and $2. The winning tickets will be drawn at the dance in the evening.

The celebration will conclude with a dance in Park Pavilion commencing at 9 o'clock, for which the music will be provided by Creston Commanders orchestra, with a popular admission of 75 cents to gents and 50 cents to ladies, which includes lunch, which will be served under the direction of the Pythian Sisters.

In former years Creston was in the habit of staging some fine Dominion Day celebrations and the Knights of Pythias have a hard working committee on the job of making the 1932 doings even better than those staged in the good old days.

Not Much Difference

Vegetarians Healthy But Slow In Generating Body Heat

Experiment running over two years has been concluded at Kansas City where a professor has been observing 70 vegetarians and comparing them with meat eaters. He finds that the vegetarians do not generate body heat and energy as quickly as meat eaters, placing the difference at 10 per cent. The vegetarians, he said, do not appear to be more active or intelligent than any others, nor are they more apt to become sick. Apart from generation of heat he could see little difference in the two plans of diet.

New Discovery Valuable

Makes It Possible To Evaporate Platinum Like Water

Platinum is caused to evaporate like water by a discovery announced from the California Institute of Technology. This precious vapor, probably the world's highest-priced mist, condenses into unimaginably thin films upon a wide variety of materials. It coats them virtually permanently. Smoother than dew it will cover fibres, converting them into pliant, filmy threads that seem made of pure platinum.

A BOON TO STOUT WOMEN—THE ADJUSTABLE SLIP

Its wrap-over front makes it shadow proof.

There isn't anything more essential for a slender appearance than a well-fitting costume slip.

Today's model reduces the breadth of the figure and does it gracefully.

There is a narrow sash that slips through a bound opening at the right hand side of the front. It is brought around the back and tied in a bow, adjusting the slip to suit its wearer. The wrap-over fronts allow plenty of freedom for the hemline, and still retains the straightline of the slip.

And to make it! You'll be amazed at its simplicity. Cut it out and practically only edges to be bound, after the sides and shoulder seams are closed.

Style N. 522 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material.

Contract Bridge

By Hamlin B Hatch, Cavendish Club, Toronto

In my last article, I discussed the Official Ssytem of Contract Bridge from the standpoint of the fundamental differences between it and the Approach-Forcing System. Today's article has to do with the so-called One-Over-One variation of both these systems. The One-Over-One has been developed by Geo. Reith of the Knickerbocker Whist Club, New York. Many of the members of the club have assisted in bringing this system to its present state of excellence. The Four Horsemen of Bridge, i.e. Hal Sims, David Burnstine, Willard Karn, and Oswald Jacoby use this system and have won many national and sectional championships. Whether their winning has been due to the One-Over-One or to the fact that all four of these men are master players, is not certain. However, it is probable that the system has helped them materially in their successes.

The salient features of the One-Over-One are as follows:—

1. The Opening Bid of One has practically the same minimum requirements as The Approach-Forcing System, with the exception that with strong distributional hands, i.e. two suiters, the bidding may be opened with less than two and one-half honor tricks. An example of this opening would be the following:—Spades-A J 9 8 7, Hearts K Q X X X, Diamonds X, Clubs X X.

2nd. Provided there is no intervening bid and the partner of the opening bidder responds with a bid of one, other than one no trump, this response is definitely forcing and demands that the original bidder keeps the bidding open for at least one more round. The difference between the Approach-Forcing and the One-Over-One is, that any bid which is forcing in the Approach-Forcing System requires that the bidding be kept open until a game contract is arrived at while the One-Over-One force simply requires that the bidding be kept open for at least one more round. Example: If the opening bidder bids one diamond and second hand passes, then if the opening bidder's partner bids one heart, the original bidder must bid again. The advantages claimed for this system by its advocates is, that the partners inform each other of their respective holdings at low bids, and, also that this bidding conceals from the opponents both the strength and weakness of the bidding hands. Where the hands are strong there is always the chance that the opponents will make a defensive bid and find themselves caught between the upper and nether millstones with the result that they suffer a substantial penalty.

2. The opening bid of two in a suit is based on losing tricks and not on honor tricks. In other words a two bid is made on hands which definitely assure the partnership of game even if the partner of the two bidder has a complete "bust." The type of hands which lend themselves to this bid are usually powerful two suiters or a very powerful one suiter. Example: Spades A Q J X X X, Hearts A K X X X X X, Diamonds—None, Clubs X. In this hand even with a six spot high in partners hand, game is assured, as the original bidder has only three losing tricks.

3. The opening bid of three in a suit is a definite slam signal. It is a stronger bid than the two bid and demands that the partner of the three bidder bid a suit of which he has the ace. If he has no aces, he makes the conventional response of three no trump.

Example: Spades A K Q J X X, Hearts K Q, Diamonds X, Clubs A K Q X. If after a three spade bid the response is four diamonds slam is definitely assured in spades. This is the only situation in any of the systems so far discussed where ace showing is countenanced.

4. In all other situations except those outlined above, the One-Over-One has no variations of consequence from the Approach-Forcing System. The weak no trump response is used to show a balanced one to two trick hand. All no trump bids other than jump no trump and original no trump are used to definitely measure your quick trick strength and in almost every case the no trump bid shows a minimum holding. However, in the One-Over-One, many users of the system make an opening bid of one no trump on a strong hand. If one no trump is bid and partner responds with two no trump the original bidder guarantees enough extra value to rebid to three. In other words the contract is either one no trump or three no trump. The hand, provided there is no adverse bids, is never played at two no trump. In suit bids if the opening bid is one heart and partner responds with two hearts the original bidder either passes or bids four hearts, never three. In major suits therefore where no interference bidding occurs, the contract is either two or four. In the minors it is either two or five.

It is probable that the intelligent use of this system requires greater experience than the use of the other systems. It is certain, however, that in the acid test of keen duplicate competition, the users of this system have been extremely successful. Whether their winning is due to the system or to the fact that they are master players is, among users of other systems, a mooted question.

The next article will deal with valuations and their variations.

New South Wales Bandits Out After Big Booty

These are days of mysterious accidents, peculair robberies and dastardly crimes of all descriptions. But one could not help but smile at the news despatch from Sydney, N.S.W. There bandits stole a brick wall 30 feet long and six feet high. Others took 30 locomotives all excepting the frames, while still others carried off part of a church. This story is somewhat along the lines of one of the "rackets" in the United States where high-pressure thieves will back a moving-van up to a home or an apartment and if nobody stops them, take the entire furnishings in one trip.

Keeping one's possessions is not as easy as it used to be, not even as easy as in the days when might meant right.

NEURITIS HAS GONE!

Banished by Kruschen

"I had acute neuritis in the shoulder and left arm, due to exposure in bad weather," writes the Rev. H. E. T. "It was impossible to lift the arm to dress or to use it in any way, and, of course, the pain was dreadful. All external applications were useless. I got it completely normal again by keeping the parts affected warm and taking daily, early in the morning, Kruschen Salts in a tumbler of hot water. It took nearly a month, but every vestige of neuritis has gone."

Neuritis is typical of a dozen other complaints—some minor, some very serious — which all result from impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues, that causes those excruciating pains.

Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy, normal condition.

FAVORITE CHARACTERS IN GENESIS

Golden Text: "We know that to them that love God all things work together for good, even to them that are called according to His purpose." —Romans 8.28.

Devotional Reading: Hebrews 11.4-22.

Lessons From the Life Of Abraham.

The importance of Abraham is evidenced not only by the number of chapters in Genesis devoted to his life but to the many references to him and his faith, both in the Old Testament and the New. Faith was the outstanding trait of Abraham. He was the first, as far as we know, to see life as a venture with a purpose. He knew God and communed with Him, and his beautiful title is "The Friend of God."

"Jehovah appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am God Almighty." In the story of Abraham we see the belief in one God displace the universal belief of his time in many gods. In the words of Basil King: "To Abraham the new understanding came as a great marvel. With a God who is Almighty anything was possible. It was more than a conviction, more than an enthusiasm; it became a burning and consuming faith which he could test to any extremity. He could trust it to the uttermost.

"To Abraham message followed message, as great perceptions broadened into greater ones. He learned that gain on his own personal account was but gain for the world at large. He was the first altruist we know anything about, the first to whom the good of his fellow-men was as dear as his own good. Good for himself could only be good in proportion as they, far into the future, should share it. Because he obeyed the Voice, not only he but others were to benefit. That a single right act is an universal asset, in which, to its degree, all the nations of the earth shall be blessed, was one of his great discoveries."

In Search Of Treasure

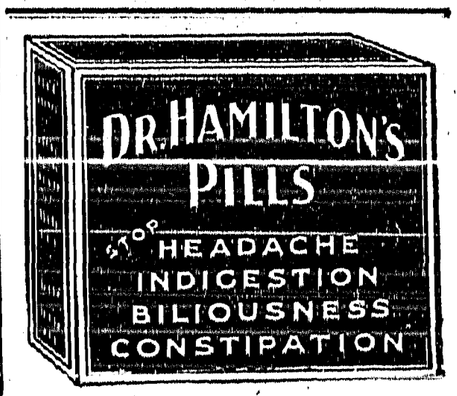
British Adventurers Locate Sunken Spanish Galleon In Southern Seas

A band of British adventurers who are seeking Spanish treasure made contact, recently, with a galleon on the bed of Chaguaramas Bay, Trinidad, which, they hoped was crammed with gold ingots and precious jewels.

The operations have been directed by a "divining spring" owned by Frank Cooper, one of the leaders of the group, who crossed the Atlantic recently in the "Vigilant," a tiny vessel, in the hope of making a great fortune.

It was reported that as the "Vigilant" was circling over the bay, the "divining spring," held in Cooper's clenched hands, leaped from his grasp.

Chaguaramas Bay has long been looked upon as a place where treasure might be found. It was there that the Spanish were defeated by the British in a decisive naval engagement near the end of the eighteenth century. The legend is that the Spanish fleet contained one vessel loaded to the rails with gold and gems.



Rheumatism So Bad He Had to Quit Work

Albert Berger Not Bothered Since Relieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Working Every Day Now.

"I was terribly bothered with a weak back and rheumatism in my shoulders," writes Albert Berger, Wingle, Ont. "It got so bad I had to stop working and stay in the house. I was two weeks in bed, when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gave the Pills a fair trial, and they relieved me right away. My back is good and strong now, and I am working every day. I have never been bothered with rheumatism since. I recommend them for anyone suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, Sciatica."

Rheumatism and kindred ailments thin the blood very rapidly. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood stream and create new red blood cells, which is the reason they are so successful in combatting such ailments. Equally good for all rundown or nervously exhausted people. Try them. At your druggist's, 50c. 273

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

— BY —

MARGARET PEDLER

Author Of "The Splendid Folly," "The Hermit Of Far End."

Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

"Then, to please me—for nothing else in the world, if you like, but because I ask it—will you let things stay as they are for a few weeks longer? Just that little while, Nick? We're going to London next week. That'll make a break—bring us all back to a calmer, more everyday outlook on things. Will you wait? Sir Adrian may never strike Claire again. And it wouldn't be fair—just now, at a time when she is feeling horribly bitter and humiliated from that—that insult—to ask her to go away with you. Give her a fair chance to decide a big question like that when things are at their normal level—not when they are worse than usual. To ask her now would be to take advantage of the feeling she must have, just at this moment, that her life is unbearable. It wouldn't be playing the game."

He made no answer, and Jean waited with increasing trepidation. She was sure now that she could hear footsteps. Someone had mounted the stairs and was coming along the corridor towards her room.

"Nick!" The low, agitated whisper burst from her as the steps halted outside the door. "Promise me!"

It seemed an eternity before he answered.

"Very well. I promise. You've won for the moment—'Saint Jean'!"

He smiled at her, rather sadly. Before she could reply, Blaise's voice sounded outside the door, asking if he might come in, and with a feeling of intense relief that the battle was won for the moment, Jean gave the required permission. As his brother entered the room, Nick quitted it, brushing past him abruptly.

Tormarin's eyes questioned Jean's.

"We have been discussing Sir Adrian," she explained, as the door closed behind Nick. "And—and Claire."

He nodded comprehendingly.

"Poor old Nick!" he said. "It's damned rough on him. Latimer ought to be carefully and quietly chloroformed out of the way. He's as much a menace to society as a mad dog."

Jean sighed.

"I'm afraid they're very unhappy—Nick and Claire."

"I wonder Claire doesn't chuck her husband," said Blaise. "And take whatever of happiness she can get out of the world."

Jean shook her head.

"You know you don't mean that. You don't really believe in snatching happiness—at all costs."

"I'd let precious little stand in the way. If I were Nick I think I should do it."

"But being you?"

Jean did not konw what unaccountable impulse induced her to give a personal and individual twist to what had been developing almost into an academic discussion. Perhaps it was the familiar, unsatisfied longing to hear Blaise himself define the thing which kept them apart—even though, since Lady Anne's disclosure, she could guess only too well what it was. Or perhaps it was the faint, tormenting hope that one day his determination would weaken and his love sweep away all barriers.

He looked at contemplatively.

"Sometimes the past makes claims upon a man which forbid him to snatch at happiness. I don't believe in any man's shirking his just punishment for the evil he has done. What he has brought on himself, that he must bear. But Nick and Claire have had no part in bringing about their own tragedy. They are just the sport of chance—of an ill fate. They are morally free to take their happiness in a way in which I shall never be free to take mine, as long as I live." He regarded her steadily. "There are certain things for which I have proved myself unfitted—with which it is evident I am not to be trusted. And one of those is the safeguarding of any woman's happiness."

Jean felt her throat contract. It would always be the same, then! The long tentacles of the past would reach out eternally into the future. The woman who had been his wife—the woman who had destroyed herself, and, in so doing, hanged a millstone of remorse about his neck—would stand forever at the gateway of the garden of happiness, her dead lips silently denying him—and, with him, the woman who loved him—the right to enter.

With an effort Jean answered that part of his speech which had reference only to Claire and Nick.

"There are other ways, though, in which they have no moral right. I grant that Claire was persuaded, almost driven into marrying Sir Adrian by her parents, but, after all, we each have our individual free will. She could have refused to obey them. Or, if she felt there were reasons why she must marry him—the material advantage to her parents, and so on, why, she ought to have reckoned the cost. I don't mean to be hard, Blaise ——" She broke off wistfully.

"You—hard!" He laughed a little, as though amused.

"Only—only one must try to be fair all round—to look at things stright."

She leaned her chin on her palm and her eyes grew thoughtful.

"I don't know, but it seems to me that we weren't meant to run away from things—hard things. If a man and a woman marry, they must accept their responsibilities—not evade them."

So absorbed was she in her trend of thought that she never realized how directly this speech must strike at Blaise himself. His face changed slightly.

"You're right, of course," he said abruptly. "You—generally are. And if all women were like you, it would be easy enough."

His eyes dwelt with curious intentness on the pure outline of her face, on the parted, tenderly curved lips, and the golden eyes with their momentary touch of the idealist and the dreamer.

It seemed as if the quiet intensity of his regard drew her, for slowly she turned her head and met his gaze, flushing suddenly and faltering under it. The consciousness of him, of his nearness, swept her from head to foot, and it seemed to her as though now, in this moment, they were in closer touch, nearer understanding, than they had ever been.

The dreamer and idealist vanished and it was all at once just sheer woman, passionate and wistful and tremulous, and infinitely alluring, that looked at him out of the golden eyes.

With a stifled exclamation he caught her hands in his.

"Beloved——"

And the whole of a man's forbidden, thwarted love vibrated in the word as he spoke it.

Then he bent his head, and for a moment his lips were against her soft palms. . . .

She stood very still and quiet when he had gone, realizing in every quivering nerve of her that whatsoever the future might bring—even though Blaise might choose to shut himself away from her again as in the past and the dividing wall between them rise as high as heaven—she knew now, without a shadow of doubt or questioning, that he loved her.

In the burning utterance of a single word, in the pressure of passionate, renouncing lips, the assurance had been given, and nothing could ever take it away again.

She spread her hands, palms upward, and looked at them curiously.

CHAPTER XXIV.

An Unexpected Meeting

"Have you been very bored, Nick?"

The week in London had nearly run its course, and Lady Anne's eyes begged charmingly for a negative. Nick accorded it with a smile.

"I'm never bored with you, madonna; you know that," he said. "And hotel life is always more or less amusing. One comes across such queer types. There's one here this evening has been intriguing me enormously. At a little table by herself—do you see her? A tall, rather gorgeous-looking being—kind of cross between the Queen of Sheba and Lucretia Borgia."

Lady Anne threw a veiled glance in the direction indicated.

"Yes, she's a very handsome woman, obviously not English." Her eyes travelled onwards towards the door. "I wish Blaise and Jean would hurry up," she added impatiently. "They're taking an unconscionable time to dress."

The two latter had come in late from a sight-seeing expedition undertaken on Jean's behalf, and had only returned to the hotel just as Lady Anne and Nick were preparing to make their way in to dinner.

"For such a deliberate matchmaker, you're a lot too impatient, madonna," commented Nick teasingly. "That they should have stayed out together until the very last moment ought to have pleased you immensely."

Lady Anne made a small grimmace.

Trying Out New Plan

Celery To Be Cultivated In Canada For Bermuda Growers

A plan to cultivate celery in Canada between June and October, transplant it in Bermuda and harvest it for export to Canada in Feburary, has been made known by W. R. Evans, marketing adviser to the Bermuda Department of Agriculture. It is understood that an expert is coming to Montreal to plant the first seeds.

The scheme would advance the opening of celery shipment from Bermuda to Canada by two or three months.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 24

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Root of the Trouble

Editor Review:

Sir, — Manufacturing, transportation and commercial interests depend on mass consumption of their commodities in order to succeed in their respective lines. If for any reason the buying power of the people is lowered to the point where they buy only the bare necessities the result is reflected back through all the ramifications of commerce till it reaches the last point, the primary producer.

This economic structure, built up on the catch as catch can principle, could produce no other result than what we have today, since its major principle is to get all you can for what you give. The real getters, aided by the political system, under which we live has coralled about 90 per cent. of all the wealth. This is salted down and will remain there until the producers show them there is more to be made by letting it out again.

68 per cent. of civilized mankind live on farms. They manufacture nothing, and live entirely off the ground, and are compelled to sell their products according to law of supply and demand. I will call this group number one.

Group number two are all the balance, 32 per cent. They control all government, manufacture, transport and sell every known commodity including money and service. They sell their commodities at the cost of production plus profit. Note the difference.

In order to avoid these recurrent depressions these two groups should be complimentary to each other. We would then have a balanced structure. As it now is cases are known where a member of this group charged one dollar a minute for his services, and others 300 per cent. profit on sales, while insisting the farmer must sell his apples for 40 cents per box, 40 cent wheat; butterfat 14 cents, beef 3 cents, hogs 4 cents, eggs 2 to 10 cents, all of them 100 per cent. below the cost of prduction.

The U.S. Bureau of Economics has found the average income of the farm family to be 23 cents per hour, while the average of all others is around 60 cents per hour.

Mr. Editor, the root cause of this depression is the tremendous handicap of the farmers in exchanging their products for the commodities of the other group, as noted above. When we remember a short ten years ago no less than ten billions was taken from them through deflation in Canada and the United States. These same authorities agree this depression will take much more of them.

I quite agree with Mr. Bunce that interest on money has become a colossal burden, but which did not exist till there was a cause. I must also agree with Mr. Penson that the blame must, in the last analysis, rest on you and I and the other fellow' for as long as the farmer will provide the necessities of life for a slave return they will let him do so.

OUR K.B.O. BROADCAST

The lake fishing at Kaslo is the best for many years.

Summerland commenced shipping cucumbers last week.

R. Hawks has just opened a service station and lunch room at Porthill.

Armstrong has 89 acres of celery, Kelowna and Oliver 5 acres each.

The May make of butter at both Vernon and Enderby is the biggest on record.

Kaslo is to have its usual regatta and swimming gala on August 3rd and 4th.

Rossland expects to have the community swimming pool in operation at July 1st.

The Okanagan has 132 acres in lettuce this year as compared with 48 acres a year ago.

Kaslo's Queen's Birthday celebration on May 24th, was a moneymaker to the extent of $6.25.

There are 20 acres of spinich at Vernon and Armstrong. Vernon has 6 acres of green peas.

Cutworms and onion maggots have taken heavy toll in some of the Okanagan onion fields.

Between them Summerland, Vernon and Kelowna will crop 12 acres to egg plant this year.

1200 head of sheep are being pastured in the forest range north of Bonners Ferry this season.

C. S. Leary of Nakusp has been chosen as Liberal candidate in the Kaslo-Slocan constituency.

At Grand Forks the potato acreage has shrunk from 358 to 272 acres as compared with 1931.

At Kelowna the crop of practically all fruits will be good but not as heavy as the blossom indicated.

Kelowna is B.C.'s leading onion centre with 779 acres, and also leads with 730 acres of tomatoes.

In the Okanagan McIntosh apples and sweet cherries have not set as heavily as the bloom indicated.

Only such married and single men who are in destitute circumstances are being given relief work at Rossland.

Bonners Ferry now has two weekly newspapers. The Kootenay Valley Sentinel commenced publication last month.

Grand Forks is claiming 514 acaes in alfalfa, 318 acres in oats, 567 acres in spring and fall wheat, and 135 acres of barley.

Penticton will use 12,000 gallons of asphalt base oil and 12,000 gallons of fuel oil on the streets in that municipality this year.

It is estimated that due to the low freight rate on bulk apples between 300 and 400 additional carloads of apples were sold in 1931.

The C.P.R. is optimistic as to the prairie crop this year. It has already commenced the make of grain doors at the sawmill at Yahk.

Farmers in the vicinity of Bonners Ferry have just been given 720 pheasant eggs for hatching. 18 is recognized as a setting.

The Safeway chain store opened for business at Kimberley on Friday last. Amongst the specials was Creston strawberries at 2 cups for 21 cents.

84 per cent. of the business houses at Kimberley have signed a petition asking the government to establish a Wednesday half holiday in that town.

The liquor vendor at Yahk had a slow six months. The official auditor did his work last week in less than an hour—coming in from Creston by bus and getting out same day on the eastbound train.

50 per cent. of the acreage in the original irrigation district at Grand Forks has now reverted back to the government. In the Vernon district there is a possibility of 33 per cent. of the irrigated lands reverting back this year.

In the Okanagan potatoes show a slight decrease in acreage, but onions are increased. Tomatoes have dropped 500 acres due to several canneries not running this year. Cucumbers are down, but cantaloupes are up. Carrots are up and beans about as urual.

There was a representative turnout of Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters who attended divine service at Trinity United Church on Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. A. Walker, delivered an appropriate address and there were special musical features.

Mrs. A. A. McKinnon was a Creston visitor on Monday attending a meeting of the executive of the Kootenay-Boundary W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. McKinnon accompanied her, making the trip by auto. They returned to Cranbrook the same evening.

H. S. McCreath was an auto visitor at Fernie on Saturday. He accompanied F. Putnam who made the trip to bring Mrs. Wilson of Olds, Alberta, who made the trip that far by bus, to be with her son, Ardrey. whose death occurred at Creston Valley public hospital at an early hour Sunday morning.

Departmental examinations in connection with Grades 9, 10 and 11 commenced at Creston high school Tuesday, with Miss Meldrum as supervisor. Examinations for entrance to high school commence on Tuesday at both Creston and Wynndel, with Miss Wade supervising here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Thomson left on Friday for New Westminster, and expect to make their permanent home at the coast. Mr. Thomson has been on the drugstore sales staff for the past two years. Both were active in athletic circles and very popular with the younger set, who will greatly regret their departure.

The peak of the high water on the Kootenay River so far this season was reached on Saturday when the guage at the ferry showed a rise to a little over 20 feet above low water mark. Even at that level the water was not over the river bank and parties coming from West Creston had to portage their canoes across the river bank.

Creston teams broke even in the league baseball games on Sunday. The Intermediates trimmed Eastport on the Eastport grounds by a 15 10 margin, while at Creston the Canyon nine took the Frothblowers into camp by a margin of 12-9. Porthill and Kitchener were in action at a picnic at Huscroft at which Kitchener won by a 10-9 count.

THE SCHOOL FAIR

A Word to the Boys and Girls

As a rule, parents do not see much of the interesting work that you are doing in school, and they will naturally be pleased to hear that there will be a very large entry in the class work section of your fair We wish your room every success and a good share of the prizes!

With the holidays coming along we want you to interest yourselves in the competitions in Nature Study. The details of the collections are set out in the school prize list and if you have not received a copy ask your teacher for one.

You will have to work at them on your own during the holidays, but if you are not quite sure how to do the mounting you can ask your teacher to show you next term. The collections make a jolly fine show and will add a great deal to the attractiveness of your fair.

In making the selections from nature, be sure to choose specimens that are quite free from blemishes and that appeal to your idea of form and color. There is a great wealth of variety in nature. Choose many more than you will require for your collection, and before you have finished you will know what leaf-form means. In September, when you take the specimens from the press, the knowledge you have gained will help you to make your collection lovely.

The mounting materials can be obtained free of charge from the Secretary, E. W. Payne, Creston. B.

Report Canyon Power Committee

Features June Session Board of Trade—Sewer Committee Reports Health Official Coming—Take 90 Days' Vacation.

Committee reports furnished the most important business before the June meeting of Creston board of trade on Tuesday evening, which attracted an attendance of 17 members, with President R. J. Forbes in charge of proceedings. By resolution it was decided to suspend board operations for three months. In the interval all matters requiring attention will be handled by the executive.

Col. Mallandaine and C. O. Rodgers, who were the board's representatives at the 1932 meet of the Associated Boards of Trade at Fernie at the end of May reported fully on the get-together and later in the evening all the resolutions passed at the Fernie conference some of which had not come to hand for local consideration—were fully endorsed. A framed photo of the late F. A Starkey, who for many years was commissioner of the Associated was presented with the compliments of the larger organization.

Letters the secretary will write include one to a Nelson capitalist who is reported to be seriously considering erecting a hotel at Creston. The department of agriculture will be asked to name a fence viewer to replace the late J. F. Rose, and engineer W. Ramsay will have his attention drawn to the very dangerous condition of the bridge approaching the Canadian customs at Rykerts.

This year the annual regatta at Boswell, to be held next month, will be for Creston Valley hospital benefit, and the board named John Murrell and H. A. Powell, with power to aid, a committee to promote a large attendrnce at the water gala. The village council will be asked to place signs at the village boundaries notifying that the speed limit through town for autos is 15 miles per hour.

For the committee on Goat River canyon power development the chairman, Chas. Murrell submitted a carefully prepared report on activities to date. He asked that the old committee be discharged and that a smaller committee consisting of F. Putnam, Guy Constable and himself be constituted and authorized to collect full information as to location, cost and possible revenue from a minor development of this water power, on the complete assembling of which a special meeting of the village council will be sought at which the power question in all its details may be discussed. The whole development situation was fairly well threshed out and the motion giving the committee the powers asked for was carried. The statement submitted by Mr. Murrell is as follows:

The committee decided at their first meeting that it was necessary to know the terms of the license under which the present holders of the franchise were operating before it was possible to do anything in the matter or make any recommendations to this board. Mr. F. Putnam was therefore requested to call on Mr. Blaine while in Nelson and find out from him just how matters stood. Mr. Putnam reported that there was nothing on file in Nelson but Mr. Blaine had consented to write to Victoria for the details that we required.

The direct result was a visit at short notice by the water comptroller, Major Macdonald, accompanied by, Lorne Campbell, manager of West Kootenay Power & Light Company. The comptroller stated quite definitely that it would be unwise to cancel the license as long as the province was deriving a revenue from it. He also stated quite as definitely that should anyone with proper financial backing wish to develop Goat River canyon no objection would be raised by his department. To this statement Mr. Campbell agreed, and also stated that his plans were available. Mr. Campbell also stated that he would look into minor development and let us know within two months if anything were possible. In the discussion that followed it was clearly shown that major development at the present time is not economically sound and your committee considers that this statement is correct.

They do consider however that it is in the best interests of the valley and village that an attempt be made to raise funds for a minor development, owned and operated as a co-operative concern to provide light and power for the residents.

Your committee therefore recommends that a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Putnam, Constable and C. Murrell be appoited to collect data which will show the approximate cost and estimated income of such a project.

This committee shall ask the village commissioners to meet them in special session when they have the necessary information collected, it being agreed that the village, as the only organized body in the valley, should take the lead, and also because it is in a position to finance any preliminary expenditure, subject to repayment when the project is carried out. This committee to have full power to call any meetings and take any steps they consider necessary to forward the successful organixing of the project.

Your committee considers that in view of the present unsatisfactory state of our present plant, which may break down and leave us in darkness at any time, a really efficient system would be a big asset to the valley and will greatly assist the future development of the whole valley, as well as the village.

The comptroller's statement that his department looks forward to a provincial wide hookup, controlled by a big company and operated as a monopoly should cause us to think seriously what such a state of things would mean to the ordinary citizen and we do not want the valley to be in the same position as the city of Grand Forks is today thr ugh the jealousy of a big company.

Therefore we would ask the members of this board to help the project for the good of the valley and to bear in mind that in owning and operating our plant we are safeguarding our own intesests and laying the foundation of future prosperity by guaranteeing a supply of light and power from our own plant at the cheapest possible rates.

For the committee on sewer installation chairman F. H. Jackson reported getting two unofficial estimates on the cost of proposed system but the spread was so great that further action has been delayed until a visit from the deputy minister of health who is expected in Creston very shortly.

The Imperial Economic Conference

The Imperial Economic Conference, shortly to be convened at Ottawa, is unquestionably one of the most important gatherings ever called in the history of the British Empire. In fact it may easily prove to be one of the most important in the economic history of the whole world, because, whatever decisions it may reach will affect not only the British Commonwealth of Nations, but all nations.

There will be assembled together all the leading governing statesmen of the Empire, supported by the strongest possible groups of financial, economic, commercial and other experts that the Old Country and each of the Dominions can gather together. For months past these statesmen and experts, assisted by small armies of lesser experts and advisers, have been compiling and studying trade and monetary statistics, weighing the effect of this and that, probing as never before into the productive capacities, primary and industrially, of their countries, the natural resources, the state of employment, the requirements of their respective populations, the probable and possible trend of future developments and the extent thereof, and the effect of existing policies and possible future policies upon all these matters which enter into national and Empire growth, prosperity and strength.

And the object of it all is to evolve, if possible, new policies acceptable to all parts of the Empire, and which will prove of mutual advantage to all, and having as their objective the encouragement and development of a larger volume of inter-Empire trade. This means that the possibilites and the requirements of each part of the Empire must be ascertained, must be appreciated by all the other parts, and the whole dove-tailed together to the advantage not only of each component part, but of the whole.

It becomes at once self-evident, therefore, that one of the major tasks confronting the Conference will be to find ways and means of removing existing barriers to the free exchange of commodities between one part of the Empire and other parts, to the mutual advantage of both, and without, in the process, working injury to any part. While the Old Country representatives, and the representatives of each of the Dominions must, of necessity, give particular heed to the interests of their respective nations, it is an essential to the success of the Conference that this be done in no narrow, selfish spirit, but in such a way that while benefitting their own country they likewise confer benefits on the sister nations.

This does not mean that the spirit of approach to the intricate problems calling for solution should be one of making sacrifices; rather it should be in the direction of striving for mutual advantages. In fact the word "sacrifice" should be entirely absent from the Conference, while the term "mutual advantage" should be very much to the fore. In a word, the dominating ideal should not be that expressed in such slogans as "Britain First," "Canada First," "Australia First," but, on the contrary, it should be an adaptation of the motto of the Three Musketeers, "All for One, and One for All."

Along with the removal of existing barriers, and a mutual understanding or agreement that no new barriers will be erected, there must naturally develop policies designed to make ever easier the flow of trade into and out of all parts of the Empire to all other parts. This may involve the ultimate creation of a new system or method of monetary exchange, even an Empire currency. It would seem to be essential that some system be developed whereby the currency of any one part of the Empire should always be on a par with the currency of all other parts; in a word, that the same monetary standard should apply at all times throughout the Empire, and that, for example, at no time should the Canadian dollar be at a discount with the British pound, or vice versa. The guarantee of such a standard would undoubtedly be of tremendous assistance in establishing and maintaining inter-Empire trade at a maximum, removing, as it would, much of the uncertainty and loss which now prevails.

If the forthcoming Conference can achieve a measure of success along these and other lines having the same general object in view the beneficial effect upon all parts of the British Empire will be almost incalculable. Not only so, but no other trading nations could afford to ignore such a development. The breaking down of trade barriers within the Empire would quickly force the breaking down of trade barriers by all other nations. It would be the beginning of a reversal of the suicidal policy into which the world has drifted and which has resulted in an almost complete paralysis, or destruction, of international trade and commerce, ending in the present state of world depression, unemployment, suffering and hardship.

Canadians may well be proud if, from their national capital, there is evolved a new economic policy for their Empire and the world. That this should emerge from the Conference should be, and we believe is, the fervent desire and hope of the Canadian people irrespective of any minor political differences of adherence to special of schools of economic or fiscal thought.

Pains In Stomach and Bowels So Bad Would Have To Sit Down

Mrs. C. Landry, Moncton, N.B., writes:—"I can certainly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for cramps or pains in the stomach and bowels.

"Last Summer I had such awful pains in my stomach, and lower part of my bowels, at times, I would have to sit down. I took 'Dr. Fowler's' and was soon relieved.

"When my children were small I always kept a bottle in the house and it helped them wonderfully whenever any of them had bowel complaints."

Earth Upheaval

Contour Of Island In Bering Sea Is Changed

An isolated Bering sea island, populated only by a herd of immense sea lions and great flocks of birds, Bogoslof, has given Father Bernard R. Hubbard what he declares to be proof of how volcanic islands "grow."

A great steaming mound of lava, he said in a message sent to Seward, has been pushed out of the earth and has changed the contour of one section of the island completely. The mass is apparently increasing in size.

The "growth" is taking place, the Santa Clara University professor messaged, at a place where formerly a sheltered harbor existed.

His observations were made on a voyage from Bristol Bay with his party on the motorship "Polar Bear." Despite storms and high seas, a successful landing was made.

Col. Herbert Swinford, veteran of the Red River Rebellion of 1870, and the North West Rebellion 15 years later, died recently in Winnipeg at the age of 83.

Born at London, England, he came to Canada with his parents as a boy and jumped into uniform with the Wellington Rifles at Guelph, Ont., when Lord Wolsely was forming his expedition.

Following service, Col. Swinford operated steamboats on the Red and Assiniboine Rivers here. Later he was appointed general agent for the Northern Pacific Railway in Winnipeg. For several years he occupied the same position at Vancouver and returned to Winnipeg only six months ago.

No Fool-Proof Rule

Mushroom Hunter Must Depend On His Own Judgment

The public's desire for a fool-proof rule by which to distinguish an edible mushroom from a poisonous one is doomed to unfulfillment, Dr. Fred Seaver, curator of the New York Botanical Gardens, said in a lecture at New York.

"There is no such rule," he stated. "One must learn to know the mushrooms and to distinguish them as you would your friends from your enemies."

Dr. Seaver said that to the mycologist, or student of fungi, there was no significance in terms "toadstool" and "mushroom."

"A mushroom is an edible toadstool or a toadstool is a poisonous mushroom, whichever way one may wish to put it."

Woman Graduated Over Half Century Ago Just Received Diploma

An 86-year-old woman, who waited 65 years for her diploma, received it at Bates College commencement. The woman was Mrs. Sibyl Chase Ballard, of Minneapolis, Minn., who completed her course at Bates in 1867, but failed to receive her degree because the college did not then confer them on women. Bates now is a co-educational institution.

Slightly Mixed

The president of a certain university was preaching on "Faith," and, in declamatory heat, told his auditory, "You have blind faith in the physician. He gives you medicine and tells you to take it. Reduced Freight Rates

Lower Rates For Livestock In Quantities Less Than Full Carload

Reduced freight rates for the movement of livestock in quantities less than full carloads are being established by the railways, according to an announcement made by the Canadian Freight Association. Heretofore a livestock shipper has been required to ship or pay for 20,000 lbs. in the case of cattle, and 16,000 lbs. in the case of hogs and sheep in order to ship under the carload rates.

The new schedule will provide for additional rates subject to minimum weights of 12,000 lbs. and 6,000 lbs. in the case of cattle, and 11,000 lbs. and 6,000 lbs. in the case of hogs and sheep. The rates for the smaller car lots are somewhat higher than for the full cars, but they will give the shipper, who has not sufficient stock available to make up full cars, an opportunity of getting the smaller quantities to the markets by rail.

The new rates will apply to market centres from points in the prairie provinces within a radius of 200 miles.

It will be permissible for cars to be stopped at one intermediate point in transit for completion of load at a charge of $3.00 per car. In making the announcement, the Canadian Freight Association stated that the new rates are in the nature of an experiment for one year.

A Prison De Luxe

New York Has Last Word In Detention Houses

New York papers gave a lot of space the other day to the opening of a new prison. It was, in fact, a considerable social event, and one Gotham reporter wrote that "the list of guests would do credit to one of society's best publicized debutantes." This, it appears, is a sort of prison de luxe. Erected on Manhattan's Welfare Island, it is to be a house of detention for women, and, judging from the description, it will never be much bothered by attempted escapes. Hot and cold water in every cell, shower baths, metal mirrors, a radio in every ward, the blessed place sounds as palatial as one of Canada's new observation cars.

40th Anniversary Of Sa'ada Tea Company

Forty years ago this month in an unpretentious little building on Front Street in Toronto, the Salada Tea Company packed its first pound of tea. Founded in 1892 by the late Honourable Peter Larkin, the business progressed very rapidly and by 1895 a branch had been opened in Montreal. Two years later the United States market was invaded and an office opened in Buffalo. To-day, three of the largest and finest warehouses in the world, devoted exclusively to the packing of tea, stand as a memorial to the founder — located in Toronto, Montreal, and in Boston (the scene of the memorable tea party which precipitated the Revolutionary War).

The Canadian market was then controlled by China and Japan teas —the largest sale being China tea of poor quality. These teas were being sold from chests, exposed to air, dust, dampness, foreign odours, and so forth, all detrimental to the quality of tea. In England, which was and still is the greatest tea-drinking country in the world, Ceylon and Indian teas of fine qaulity had practically displaced China teas, and it occurred to Larkin that Canadians also would prefer these finer teas. He, consequently, introduced a Ceylon and Indian blend to this Continent. He then conceived the idea of packing it in metal packages, in order that it would reach the consumer intact, with its flavour and quality unimpaired by dampness, store odours, etc. This step revolutionized the tea market on this Continent.

He sought a name for his praduct and decided on "SALADA" which was the name of an old Indian tea garden. All that was left now was to tell the public about it. He wisely decided that the quickest and cheapest way to do this was by means of the newspaper. The result was so gratifying that he continued to use the newspapers as his chief advertising policy from that day.

He strove always to give the public the finest quality tea he could at the price and then advertise it for all he was worth. His achievement is the largest selling package tea in North America.

"Well, well! And he didn't throw in the marmalade."

FOREST FIRES CAUSE HEAVY LOSS IN ONTARIO

Port Arthur, Ont.—The number of men fighting fires in the Thunder Bay area has now reached 700, equal to the largest number employed last year.

Blazes at Whitefish Lake and Obonga Lake are requiring extra care, officials said, and 50 additional men have been sent to Sunday Creek to cope with the rapid spread of fire in that district.

The largest fire in the area is about 30 miles north of Graham, but although it covers about 50 miles of territory, it is not the most destructive being mostly in young growth.

To fight fires at Whitefish, Obonga and Dog Lakes, and at Gull River, all men and equipment must be taken in by 'plane.

Fires to the northwest of Dog Lake, about 20 miles from Port Arthur, destroyed a group of camps of the Pigeon Timber Company valued at $6,000. A dam which had cost $6,000 and about 10,000 feet of lumber also fell prey to the flames.

Joseph Marrifield, 55, and Con Mahoney, 22, two members of a fire-fighting brigade, lost their lives in Onion Lake when a canoe in which they were riding overturned.

Sudbury, Ont.—Valuable timber is believed to be endangered by a bush fire which was ravaging some 3,000 acres of bush land near Gogama, north of here, according to word reaching Ontario forestry officials. The blaze is being fought by 200 men.

One casualty was reported. Paul Natatka was injured and badly burned when struck by a falling tree.

Burial Of Violet Sharpe

Brief Services Attended By the Acting British Consul-General

Englewood, N.J.—Violet Sharpe, English servant girl in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was buried after a brief service attended by fellow members of the Morrow household and the acting British consul-general who has been instructed to make a report on the girl's suicide five days ago.

The simple cloth-covered casket was borne to a grave in Brookside cemetery, where rests the body of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, grandfather of the murdered Lindbergh baby, on the shoulders of four male employees.

No member of the Morrow or Lindbergh family attended the final rites, although they were represented by Arthur Springer, the late senator's private secretary, and Mrs. Josephine D. Graham, Mrs. Morrow's private secretary.

Decision Rests With Immigration Minister

Alleged Communists Have No Further Recourse To Higher Courts

Halifax, N.S.—Fate of the group of alleged Communists, who have been detained in Halifax for some weeks while their efforts to evade deportation were before the courts, now rests solely in the hands of the minister of immigration, Hon. Wesley A. Gordon. It was stated by L. A. Ryan, counsel for the group, that there was no further recourse to higher courts as the decision of the full bench of the supreme court of Nova Scotia had been unanimous.

British Immigration

Question Has Not Yet Come Up For Discussion At Inter-Provincial Conference

Edmonton, Alberta.—Commenting on Senator A. D. McRae's suggestion as reported from Winnipeg, to the effect that the question of British immigration to western Canada be considered at the forthcoming inter-provincial conference in Regina, Premier J. E. Brownlee says that he has not had a communication from any source in regard to the matter, and he presumes that if the Dominion government were proposing to put it on the programme for the imperial economic conference advice to the provincial governments would have been given accordingly.

If occasion arises, however, the Alberta Government will be prepared to express its views on such immigration, says Mr. Brownlee.

Ponoka, Alberta.—Mortgage companies will not foreclose on any farm mortgages for one year without approval of the Alberta Debt Adjustment Board, and no foreclosures will be made while interest payments are being maintained.

This assurance was given the Ponoka Constituency Association of the United Farmers of Alberta by Premier J. E. Brownlee in addressing the annual constituency convention. Premier Brownlee said the guarantee of the mortgage companies had been obtained.

Bloodless Sea Fight

British Rum Runner and U.S. Cutter In Engagement

Halifax.—Tales of an old-fashioned sea scrap, in which the crews of a British rum-runner and a United States cutter battered each other with potatoes, turnips, paint pots and molasses jugs about 70 miles off New York, were told here after the motorships "Ganeff" and "Mary F. Ruth" limped into harbour.

Masters of both vessels claimed they had been rammed by the cutter "Daphne," the "Mary F. Ruth" on Friday, and the "Ganeff" on Sunday. The "Ganeff" had a large hole in her stern.

Goitre Theory

New Finding Of Medical Profession Regarding Treatment

Hamilton, Ont.—Radical changes in the attitude of the medical profession towards the treatment of goitre may result if the findings of Dr. Undre Crotti, of Columbus, Ohio, as presented to the American association for the study of goitre, receive full acceptance. The prevalent belief that iodine deficiency was the cause of goitre has been discredited, Dr. Crotti asserts. He declares he has made the discovery of a micro-organism, a small fungus which he believed to be the cause. This fungus is found on all cabbage leaves as well as in the soil of those sections of the land known as goitre belts.
