Reeve Unable Pilot Council

Councillors Comfort and Murrell Ask Reeve to Give Authority Refusing Put Motion—Reeve Refuses—Council Adjourned.

Municipal history was made at Creston on Monday night. when the regular May meeting of the village council was adjourned before even completing the first order of business, the time-honored "confirming the minutes of the previous meeting." Reeve, F. H. Jackson presided, and Councillors C. Murrell and A. Comfort were in attendance, as were the town handyman, the press, the chairman of the board of trade municipal committee and five other citizens

After the clerk had completed reading the minutes of the April session, and the reeve had asked for their adoption, Councillor Murrell objected to the minutes being passed until such time as the reeve stated his authority for refusing to submit the Murrell—Comfort resolution at the April meeting asking for a vote of $200 to get an engineer's report on the location of and cost of a sewer system for the village.

Councillor Comfort was of the opinion the reeve had promised to give an explanation at the May meeting. but the reeve stoutly denied giving any such assurance, and pointed out that he had told the April council meeting that he (the reeve) was from Missouri, and that it was up to Councillor Comfort or Councillor Murrell to show him (the reeve) that he was in the wrong, which they might do by writing to the attorney general if they so desired.

Councillor Murrell interposed to state that while the responsibility was entirely upon the reeve, there was no question about the motion in question being absolutely in order, and that there was a letter from the inspector of municipalities to prove his contention, and asked the clerk to secure and read the letter

On being produced the reeve read the letter and certainly the inspector made it clear the village could spend the money as requested. The reeve evaded the point, however, by stating the village could not install sewers, to which Councillor Murrell made it quite plain there was no motion asking that sewers be installed; all the motion asked was for a sum to get an engineer's report; that the sanitary condition of the village was bad, and that something would have to be done, and no harm would come of learning what sewerage would cost

There was further verbal sparring for a minute or two, Councillor Murrell even going so far as to hold out the olive branch, that if the reeve would give assurance that he would straighten the situation up and not let it occur again, the business of the evening might proceed. To this offer the reeve emphatically replied that the onus of proving his (the reeve's)- ction wrong was up to Messrs. Murrell or Comfort, and that he would not budge from that stand.

It now being a case where an irresistible force had contacted an unmovable object, Councillor Murrell moved that the meeting adjourn for one week and the motion was seconded by Councillor Comfort, and after being read by the clerk the meeting adjourned. The reeve wanted to know what about dealing with the accounts, but it was decided they could wait for a week, along with other business.

Arrow Creek

The outlook is good for a big strawberry crop this year at Arrow Creek.

Practically all the new settlers have set out plants this year which will assure another increase in 1935.

Chas. Moore of Creston is here this week surveying roads on the east side of Arrow Creek.

Mr. Maze, who is from Portland, started a Mormon Sunday school at Arrow Creek on May 13th.

Principal Kolthammer will have a number of pupils at Creston today for the Creston Valley Schools' track meet.

Principal Kolthammer and scholars of Arrow Creek school appreciate the generosity of L. T. Leveque in presenting the school with a new softball bat and ball.

Wynndel

E. A. Hackett has just taken delivery of 500 day old chicks.

Mrs. Ashley Cooper is a pateint at Creston hospital at present.

J. R. Whitford of Cranbrook, the Rawtleigh dealer, was working the district lasweek.

Geo. Smyles was a Wynndel visitor last week, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R C. Eakin.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson and family of Alberta, are visitors here with Mr. and Mrs. Pearson.

R. Eakin and G. Smyles left last week for the forme'a mining property in the Cranbrook district.

Welfare Work Talk at Institute

Miss DeWolf, Welfare Department Supervisor, is Speaker—Will Not Exhibit, Vancouver—Meet Girl Guide Directress

There was a representative turnout of members and a number of visitors at the May meeting of of Creston and District Women's Institute on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. M. Edmondson. Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. H. W. McLaren, the chair was taken by Mrs. R. Stevens.

The treasurer reported that the April bulb tea and sale had been good for an intake of $15 60. The matter of exhibiting in the Institutes' needlework section at Vancouver exhibition in August was finally disposed of by a motion not to compete in 1934. A tea and sale of cooking will be held at Mrs. Mallandaine's later in the month.

The Institute, which is sponsoring the Girl Guide effort locally, was advised that Mrs Dockerill of Trail, commissioner of Girl Guide work in the Kootenays, will be here Thursday and the Institute executive will confer with her prior to the regular Guide session.

Miss DeWolf, who is in charge in Kootenay-Boundary of the provincial department of welfare work, was present and gave an address on her work, which has to do with neglected children, indigent mothers and child en. widows, divorced and deserted women, mother's pensons, etc. She stated that the former pension of $35 and $7.50 per month to mother and child under 16 years of age, had been cut to $30 per month for mothers, and $5 per month if there was more than on dependent child. Rev. A. Walker, was present by invitation, and spoke briefly on welfare work.

Votes of thanks were extended both speakers, and the tea hostesses were Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Edmondson.

Pupils Rank High Musical Festival

Goldie Walker and Edith Johnston Lead Classes Piano Playing—Phyllis Barnhardt Makes Creditable Showing.

Creston had every reason to be well pleased with the showing made by local pupils at the West Kootenay Musical Festival at Nelson last week. Of three competitors in the piano classes two first prizes were annexed by Creston entrants, while the third contestant was but five points behind the first prizewinner. All three competitors are pupils of Mrs. J. E. Johnston who, with Mrs. (Rev.) A. Walker, accompanied the trio to Nelson.

Goldie Malker playing in a class of five, under 12 years, headed her class with 170 points, the highest marks obtained in the piano section in which there were 59 entries. Mr. Kurth, the adjudicator, stated Goldie developed a fine climax and always clear and accurate to express the composer's purpose—a very mature performance, showing great possibilities.

Edith Jo naston, who played under 14 years, scored four points over her nearest rival. In criticizing Edith, the adjudicator remarked that it was the lovliest piano performance heard that day; Edith playing with charm and great finger facility; her grace and trilled notes always delicate and delightful.

Phyllis Barnhardt, playing in an advanced grade, 17-years class, made 75 out of 80 points. Great credit should be given this player who only took up music within the year, but made such rapid strides that she attempted this advanced class, being over the age for an easier competition. Mr. Kurth thought she rather lacked confidence and too modest in her approach to the music, but had an outstanding quality of tone and touch which are the revealing factors of a musician. Phyllis was only five points behind the winner of first prize.

Saturday morning nine first prize winners in piano competed for the cup, Goldie Walker and Edith Jo nston being in this competition. A Nelson player received the cup, with Goldie a close runner up.

In elocution Edith ohnston got third place, reciting in a class of five, 15 years old, obtaining a score of 167. While Edith displayed a nice poetic feeling and good tone she iacked a l ttle variety and was a little too solemn.

Mrs. Telesford LaBelle, who has been a patient at Creston hospital, returned home last week.

The warmest weather so far this year was encountered on Tuesday, when the mercury hit 86 in the shade.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Walde of Fernie were weekend visitors with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs J. G. Wearmouth.

Mr. Daly, who has been a visitor at the Robinson ranch for some time past, left for his home in Calgary, Alberta, last week.

The church was nicely decorated and the music and address appropriate to Mother's Day at the United Church, Sunday afternoon.

Raymond Humble, Cliff R ynolds and Jock McRobb were Nelson visitors on Sunday, the two former playing with Creston Athletics baseball team.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Knott and Miss Phyll s Barnhardt returned on Sunday from Nelson, where they had been attending the West Kootenay musical festival most of last week.

The softball club had a dance at the hall on Friday evening, but the attendance was disappointing On Sunday the team lost by a narrow margin to the Raiders' girls team of Li ter-Huscroft.

An audience of 50 greeted Jas. Sims of Cranbrook, who spoke here Tuesday night at the hall nnder the C C.F. Club auspices. with F. Knott occupying the chair. During his stay in Canyon Mr. Sims was a guest at the knott home.

Alice Siding

Miss D. Spratt is renewing acquaintances in Nelson this week.

A son arrived to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of Crawford Bay, at the home of Mrs. Schmidt, on May 11th.

Mrs. D. Valentine and son, Jimmy, of Nelson, are here on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Compton.

Harold Travis, jr., arrived last week from Michel on an extended visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Parkin, sr.

Ira Willis is busy with the construction of a house on the land he recently purchased in the Lakeview district. He expects to move in next week.

Bob Mulligan of Rossland spent a few days here last week a guest of J. J. Freney Mr. Mulligan was at Alberta University, Edmonton, and was en route home.

Alice Siding softball team struck their first defeat of the season on Sunday, when Wynndel had the best end of an 8 2 score. Batteries: Wynndel, D Taylor and G. Payette. Alice Siding—J J. Freney and Jeff. Collis. H. Ostendorf and J. Martell umpired. There was a very large aurnout for the game.

Miss Jessie Parkin, a June bride-elect, was a guest of honor at a shower at the home of M and Mrs. Robt. Stewart, on Tuesday afternoon. The time was pleasantly spent with music and sociability with a tasty lunch to close the happy event. The bride-elect received many useful gifts.

Erickson

J. G. Connell was a weekend visitor at Cranbrook.

Robert Speaker and Jack Daly left at the end of the week on a visit at points in Alberta.

Jack and Walter Dodds left on Monday for a short prospecting trip up Cultus Creek.

Mrs. Stanley, a former resident of Creston, with Mr. and Mrs. Horsley and Mrs. Brown, all of Nakusp, were Friday visitors with J. A. and Mrs. Healey en route to Edmonton, Alberta, to attend the graduation of Gordon Stanley, a student at Alberta University.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Dow of Cranbrook were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bundy.

The school is closed today and most of the pupils are at Creston for the Valley Schools' track meet.

W. R. Long, L. Cartwright P. Putnam, L. Kemp and Bobby Long were weekend visitors at Nelson.

Roy Penson and Ray McKelvey were part of Creston Athletic baseball team that ran into a 7-0 beating at Nelson on Sunday.

Jack Dodds and Hugh Graham were lucky enough to capture the fox that strayed from the Wiltse farm. A padded trap was used.

May Meeting Board of Trade

Consideration of Resolutions is Main Feature—New Members Still Enrolling—Want Garbage Can—Highway Stop Signs.

The largest attended session of Creston Board of Trade so far this year was that of Tuesday night at the town hall with President L. W. Bell at the helm, with 20 members present to take a hand in the evening's deliberations.

The membership committee had four new members to propose all of whom were accepted. The newcomers are A. W. Dickinson, A. P. Yeo, R. J. Long and J. B. Holder The best the C.P.P. will say in connection with providing electric lights at Creston and Erickson depots is that the matter is still under advisement. The letter is from the acting superintendent at Nelson

The main feature of the meeting was consideration of resolutions to be considered at this week's meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade. There were 11 of them from other boards—Fernie 3, Cranbrook 4 and Ne son 4. A couple of them were refused endorsation but the rest were approved and the delegates can use their own discretion as to final approval after hearing them finally discussed by delegates to the convention.

Creston will submit a couple of her own, one of which will ask the highways department to issue instructions to those who must walk on the highways to travel against the traffic, that is with their backs to overtaking traffic.

Although the local board's resolutions committee had turned down a resolution respecting aid to hospitals, the Tuesday night general meeting decided to overrule the committee's action and reinstate the resolution and after further consideration it goes on to Grand Forks gathering.

The village council will be asked to install a garbage can on Canyon street to handle the refuse that is piled up on account of the bus business. The town governors will also be asked for the erection o stop signs at all streets that cross Canyon street, and for signs at the east and west ends advising of the speed limit.

The qu tion of inspection of fruit entering Canada was discussed and referred to the committee on agriculture. $15 was voted for brightening up the signs at the Kingsgate junction and Port hill, and the er ction of a new sign near Copeland, Idaho, where the new Kingsgate-Eastport highway connects with the north and south road between Porthill and Bonners Ferry. The sign work will be in charge of the publicity committee.

Japan Menaces World Peace

World opinion apparently is agreed that Japan is engaged in intensive preparations for war, primarily with Soviet Russia, and with hegemony of Asia and the Pacific as the direct objective. The evidences cited in support of that opinion are amenable to no other interpretation. There is no gainsaying the fact Japan has embarked on an imperialist policy strangely reminiscent of that which agitated pre-war Europe and which brought civilization to the verge of catastrophe.

Even the time has been set, it is claimed, by Japan's military experts. Armageddon will be let loose in the Orient late in 1935 or early in 1936. A world still struggling to escape the bitter aftermath of a Great War then, at no far distant date, will be faced with another which, unless due precautions are taken, may complete the havoc of the last. The chancelleries of the world, the House of Commons at Ottawa, economists and statesmen generally, are satisfied Japan is headed for war.

What are the evidences which have provided front page stories for newspapers, leading articles for editors and journalists, texts for sermons and subjects for radio lectures, and which point so unmistakably to war in the Far East?

Ever since its Shanghai and Manchurian adventures, Japan has been showing its hand, and has made it plain that establishment of a dummy kingdom, Manchukuo, under its puppet emperor, did not satisfy Nipponese ambitions with respect to the Asiatic mainland. Withdrawal from the League of Nations was but a considered step in a pre-conceived plan which envisaged war with Soviet Russia as a necessary preliminary to further imperialistic expansion. The recent ultimatum to the great powers designed to prevent financial or armament aid to China, is indicative of the fact that Japan proposes to exercise complete tutelage over that vast territory. The ultimatum, construed as a trans-Pacific "Monroe doctrine", directly affects Great Britain and the United States, both of which have far greater financial interests in China than has Japan.

Furthermore, Japan is arming at greater speed than any other country in the world. More than 40 per cent. of its budgetary expenditures are earmarked for armament purposes. The Nipponese air force is among the most potent in the world. It is asserted the Japanese government is about to demand naval parity with Great Britain and the United States. So far as armaments are an augury, therefore, they point to not far distant war.

What of the economic aspect of the situation, perhaps the most significant of all?

That Japan should have imperialistic ambitions is, of course, a direct sequel to its adoption of western "machine" civilization. The growth of its industrial plant and productive power has been accompanied by a rapid growth of population. In ten years, Japan's population has increased from 56,000,0000 to 66,000,000. It presses upon the resources of the country. Strangely enough, it has reached the same point at which Germany felt the urge for "elbow room" at all or any cost.

The entire population of the Japanese islands has been enlisted in a gigantic effort to capture world markets. Systematic inflation of currency, ruthless exploitation of the masses, are component parts of the state's mechanism for development of export trade. Japan's exports have doubled themselves in three years. Against the flood of cheap Japanese goods, loosed upon world markets at "murderously low prices", tariff barriers have proved unavailing. Sixty per cent. of Japan's production is exported. Britain and Germany, even in the heyday of their foreign trade expansion, never exceeded 25 per cent.; the United States never has exported more than 10 or 12 per cent.

"Such a mass attack on world trade contains the seeds of its own destruction", says one writer who believes "the foundations will crumble beneath such excessive export trade maintained by the most fantastic exploitation of the native population. Through forced labor, child labor, sweat-shop conditions, generally, Japan is selling abroad at less than production costs—in Japan! The government is behind the productive machine and the export program. Because of its actions, capital equipment (convertible to war purposes) multiplies, dividends are high, while workers slave and their families starve.

How long will it last? The "machine" is geared to run until Japan is ready for war. It would appear to be a race between preparedness on the one hand and national breakdown and insurrection on the other. War will be declared on first threat of the internal crash.

Thus international experts read the handwriting on the wall. Can the counter-motion for peace gain weight enough to prevent the catastrophe before Japan has reached the breaking point?

Abbey Gets Milk Bath

Historic Westminster Abbey recently received a milk bath. Workmen applied gallon after gallon of skimmed milk to its massive arches, pillars and even its statutes. The treatment, recommended by architectural expert, was intended not only to clean the stone work, but to aid in preserving it. The results will be watched with care, although it is said five years must elapse before the value of the treatment is apparent.

What Eating Costs

Here is something to worry about. If you only spend an average of 25 cents per meal during your lifetime, it costs you $19,250 to satisfy the "inner man." Average individuals eat 77,000 meals in a lifetime, according to statistics compiled by M. Davison, who presided at a meeting of market and grocery owners, restaurant and hotel men, national refrigeration experts and city health authorities at Cincinnati recently.

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, has shortness of breath, faint and dizzy, can't sleep, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as she went to bed, and is downhearted and discouraged.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills will soon convince women it is not necessary to suffer, as they build up the nervous system and bring back the former health and vigor.

Old London Growing Fast

Every Year 150,000 People Added To Big Metropolis

Figures have been quoted by American statisticians to show that within so many years New York will be a larger city than London. Presumably that means Greater New York and Greater London, because the working population of both cities, as is the case with all large centres, is, owing to vastly better transport services, living in the outer rings of the business areas.

New York is still about a million and a half behind, and if it is going to catch up on London it will have to go some.

Lord Ashfield, the Englishman who once drove a street car in Detroit, and who is now the chairman of the London Passenger Transport Board, has to know exactly the traffic needs of Greater London. He told an audience the other day that London is attracting new industries at the rate of 1,000 per annum. London doesn't ask for them. They just want to locate in the midst of the largest assemblage of human beings in the world. By this means 750,000 people have been added to the population within the past decade, and there are 50,000 new houses built each year.

London is growing, therefore, at the rate of 150,000 persons a year—virtually another big city is joined onto London every twelve months.

At that rate plus the present million and a half advantage, New York is engaging in a hopeless chase if trying to overtake London.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Another Fad Diet

Bananas And Skim Milk Latest Idea For Reducing

One more is added to the list of fad diets for reducing. This one, consisting of bananas and skim milk, is reported to have the recommendation of a physician connected with the Johns Hopkins University. Bridge table conversations doubtless may be depended on to spread the new skim-milk-banana gospel.

Both the banana and milk deprived of cream are acknowledged to be wholesome foods. But the fact remains that there is real danger in issuing for general application any prescription no matter how great the authority as indorsing it. What may be good for one person for accomplishing any particular change, may be positively harmful to another seeking the same result.

Those who want ot reduce should not take the advice of a friend even if that advice is passed on from a physician's directions based upon a careful physical examination. The same physician might give entirely different advice to his patient's friend.

Unusual Use For Honey

As Foundation For Golf Balls It Is Excellent

The uses to which honey is put are many and various, but perhaps the most unusual is in making golf balls. The honey is placed in a round stout rubber sac and is forced in under tremendous pressure. Around this the usual rubber is wound and it has the ordinary outside. It is said that honey being non-evaporatable and virtually unaffected by time or temperature will give a ball that will stand up under all conditions.

Ease Pain, Headache in Few Minutes

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN—When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

WHY ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST

Drop an Aspirin Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom, it has started to disintegrate.

What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Radio Is Still Wonderful

People Who Think Never Fail To Get Thrill

The public has heard so many wonful broadcasts transmitted across oceans and continents that it has grown blase and almost ceased to get a thrill out of radio nowadays. But those who still do a bit of thinking must be hard-shelled indeed if they fail sometimes to be moved.

In connection with the previous Byrd Antarctic expedition there was a remarkable incident. The New York Times radio editor was sitting in his home in Brooklyn talking to Byrd by means of short-wave sets. In order to avoid interruption from the office he took his telephone receiver off the hook. The office wanted to call him up but couldn't. The office was also in communication with another member of the expedition, so they gave him a message to relay to their staff man a few miles away. They told the man in the Antarctic to tell their radio editor in Brooklyn to hang his receiver up as they wanted to talk to him. So the message to a man four or five miles away went very nearly to the South Pole and back to New York in a few seconds.

Famous Painting Found

Picture By Millais Passed Out Of Notice In 1875

After many years of search, Millais' famous picture, "No," is now owned by the sister of the model. The picture which was the chief topic of the Royal Academy Exhibition of 1875, shows a young woman reading a letter in which she has refused a marriage proposal. The original sitter was Miss Dorothy Tennant, who afterward became Lady Stanley, wife of Sir Henry M. Stanley, the explorer. It was once sold for $7,000. The recent buyer was Mrs. F. W. Myers, sister of the late Lady Stanley. She had been searching for it for years, but it passed out of notice when bought privately shortly after the 1875 Academy Exhibition.

Removes Brain Tumor

Marvel Of Surgery Reported From Leningrad

Removal of a brain tumor from a young girl under local anaesthetic by Prof. Polenov at the Leningrad Institute of Traumatologie was hailed as a marvel of surgery.

The tumor, the size of a pigeon's egg, was in the middle of the fourth ventricle, and threatened the patient with blindness. To obtain access, the surgeon had to displace the great hemispheres of the brain. The patient was apparently completely relieved.

Few precedents for this operation are cited in world medical annals.

A Novel Clock

An amusing clock has been designed which at first sight resembles a picture of rather modernistic "flowers," a group of stems springing from the base, curve over slightly and sprays over the clock face so that the blossom topping each falls into the place usually occupied by the numerals. The clock hands are shaped like two slender leaves. This novel clock is said to be quite easy to read.

CONSIDER PLAN TO STIMULATE TOURIST TRADE

Ottawa.—A $200,000 federal advertising and publicity campaign in support of the tourist industry throughout the Dominion, to start immediately, was advocated before the senate tourist committee by Theodore G. Morgan, Montreal, chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity bureaus.

The senate committee, under the chairmanship of Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax, is engaged in formulating a plan for national consideration of the tourist industry, supplementing the present activities of the provinces' transportation companies, automobile clubs and various individual organizations.

It had been suggested that a federal tourist department of advertising, publicity and development be established to supplement the activities of the provinces and local organizations.

The campaign for this year should be pushed immediately, said Mr. Morgan. The summer tourist traffic also commences in May and builds up throughout June, July and August. An immediate campaign would not only be effective this year, but would stimulate fall and winter business, and should be continued into 1934.

Based upon financial returns to Montreal from the expenditures of the Montreal tourist bureau, Mr. Morgan advanced $200,000 as a minimum amount that should be appropriated for a 1934 campaign. He further suggested that $500,000 expended annually by the Dominion in newspaper and magazine advertising for tourist trade expansion would be more than justified by the increased business that would follow.

This estimate was based upon an appropriation for advertising and publicity of five per cent. of the total annually expended by tourists from outside the Dominion, apart from inter-provincial tourist traffic. The Dominion bureau of statistics estimated the 1933 tourist business at $100,000,000.

J. Van Wick, general manager of the Canadian National hotel department, told the committee that summer tourists from the United States spent $350,000 in Canadian National hotels last year. Newspaper and magazine advertising to attract this business had been $15,000.

Accepts Invitation

St. Lawrence Suite To Be Played By Toronto Symphony Orchestra

Toronto.—Wilfred C. James, manager of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, announced that Percival Price, Ottawa carilloneur, has accepted an invitation that the orchestra play his "St. Lawrence" suite as the opening presentation of the 1934-35 season.

The invitation, Mr. James said, was made by Dr. Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the orchestra.

Price's "St. Lawrence" won him a Pulitzer scholarship valued at $1,500. It was rejected by the University of Toronto when Price submitted it as the means of obtaining his doctorate of music. Dr. MacMillan was a member of the committee that rejected the work.

Discuss War Debts

President Roosevelt Has Talk With Belgium And France Ambassadors

Washington. — A re-statement of the United States' attitude toward war debts came from President Roosevelt and shortly thereafter the ambassadors of two nations that are in default—Belgium and France—called at the state department to discuss the matter.

The position outlined by the president called for an insistence upon payment by the debtor nations, but a willingness to talk over their individual problems separately and give consideration, either to proposals for token payments or for new terms of settlement.

More Confidence Needed

W. Sanford Evans Places Responsibility For Depression Years

Montreal.—Reaction from the war and the actions of governments in the following years are responsible for the four-year depression from which the world is beginning to recover and not failure of the economic system, W. Sanford Evans, of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and leader of the opposition in the Manitoba legislature, told the Montreal Board of Trade.

Needed chiefly to-day, said Mr. Evans, was more confidence. If a business man could be given conditions under which he could lay out business propositions with security, the world would not be long in recovering.

Fortunately, he oberved, there was reason for confidence. Canada had set its feet firmly on the road to recovery between April and July last year.

Discussing the economic system as it had obtained he admitted there might have been selfishness and smallness in business in the past but the ordinary method of conducting affairs by trial and error was preferable to the conception of planned economy as originated in Russia.

There had been intrusion in recent years of matters alien to the economic world. Some of these, he noted, had arisen from national policies or administrative regulations of an unusual nature not governed by economic consideration at all. Further, there had been intrusion of ideas, of formulae, of generalisations and he warned against, the danger of too freely accepting these ideas.

War, he stated, was not in accordance with the economic system. "It was not the economic system but the necessities of war which led to those extreme inflations of currencies which took place during the war in practically every country, until prices were carried to extreme heights," he said.

Advice To Nurses

Should Take Up Work In Smaller Places

Montreal.—Nurses were advised to take up residence and practice in smaller places by Miss Elizabeth Smellie, chief superintendent for Canada of the Victorian Order of Nurses, at a dinner of the Alumnae Association of the Royal Victoria hospital here.

Schemes submitted to the legislatures of British Columbia and Alberta appeared to indicate the coming of public responsibility in health matters, said Miss Smellie, and she wondered whether in future there would be two divisions, one for medical care, including hospitals, and the other for preventive work.

Crude Oil Freight Rates

Matter To Be Considered By Board Of Railway Commissioners

Ottawa. — Proposed increases in freight rates on crude oil from southwestern United States to refineries in Western Canada will be considered by the board of railway commissioners in a series of hearings in Western Canada, commencing in Regina, May 22.

Afterward hearings will be in Edmonton, May 25; Vancouver, May 28; Calgary, June 1, and Winnipeg, June 5. Dr. S. J. McLean, assistant chief commissioner, and J. A. Stoneman, commissioner, will make the western trip.

Host To Siamese Royalty

London.—The king and queen of Siam had luncheon at the House of Commons as guests of Captain Victor Cazalet, Conservative M.P., who was a public school colleague of King Prajadhipok at famous old Eton. It was believed to be the first occasion on which a ruling monarch had taken a meal in the precincts of the house.

To Prevent Warfare

Calgary.—A resolution asking government control of key minerals as a method of war prevention, endorsed by the Vancouver Women's Canadian Club and the Calgary Business and Professional Women's Club, will be sent to the League of Nations Society, at Ottawa, for further action.

CAUGHT AGAIN!

Undaunted by failure of two previous attempts to enter the United States, Hugh J. McLeod, Scottish war veteran, tried again. This time as a stowaway on the Aquitania. He is shown at Ellis Island, after he had been captured. He wants to reach his wife in San Francisco.

Student Wins Gold Medal

Young Russian Takes High Honors At University Of British Columbia

Vancouver. — A young Russian student, George Michael Volkoff, who first came to Vancouver in 1924, won the governor-general's gold medal, highest award for members of the graduating class at the University of British Columbia, it was announced.

Volkoff, aged 24, had an average of 98 per cent. in all subjects. He had 100 per cent. in three subjects and took first class honors in physics and mathematics.

Volkoff was born in Harbin, Manchuria, where his father is professor in the Polytechnical Institute. He attended Lord Roberts school here and returned to Manchuria for several years before entering the university.

He has led his class every year and intends working for his master's degree here next session.

May Use Own Judgment

Britain Not Asking Dominions To Reduce Japanese Imports

London.—Britain has informed Dominions of its proposals in regard to Japanese competition, but has made no request for similar reduction of imports by Dominions, it was stated. Furthest the government has gone is to ask Dominions to consider whether they would care to deal with Japanese competition on their own initiative.

Canada for one, has a considerable favorable trade balance with Japan. New Zealand takes a comparatively negligible amount of Japanese imports.

A strong demand for textiles shares on the London stock exchange and sharp drops in quotations of Japanese bonds were the first results of Britain's lately-declared trade restrictions against Japan.

May Visit Canada

United States Wheat Expert May Make Official Trip

Washington. — Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher and expert on wheat acreage reduction problems, may make an official visit to Canada this year, but the plan is being held in abeyance for the time being.

This was disclosed when it was learned Murphy will not visit Argentina this year as previously announced.

Murphy was a United States delegate to the London and Rome International Wheat Conferences, and it was intended originally to send him to Argentina to explain to officials there the details of the acreage reduction programme now in effect in the United States.

In official quarters it was learned the publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune probably would not go to Argentina because the planting season in that country already is well advanced, and his presence there would not have the practical value it might had had if he had gone earlier in the year.

Salaries Of Bank Employees

Minimum Is $300 And Maximum $13,500 Per Annum

Ottawa.—Salaries of bank employees in Canada ranged from a minimum of $300 per annum for junior clerks up to a maximum of $13,500 for managers, according to a statement tabled before the banking committee of the House of Commons by Jackson Dodds, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association. The statement was filed in response to a request from Dr. Raymond Morand (Con., Essex).

Salaries for junior clerks ranged from $300 to $1,000; ledgerkeepers $400 to $2,580; tellers, $500 to $2,620; accountants, $700 to $4,000; managers $1,200 to $13,500; stenographers $300 to $2,000, according to the statement.

The methods of four different banks in respect to pension fund, living allowances, insurance schemes, etc., were outlined in the statement. The names of the banks were not given.

Criticizes Wheat Conference

Sir Herbert Robson Voices Views Of British Traders

London.—An attack on the work of the wheat conference by one of the British delegates, Sir Herbert Robson, was construed as simply an indication of the attitude of the grain traders.

Sir Herbert, president of the London Corn Trade Association, voiced the views of the Liverpool and London wheat traders when he decried "government interference" with the wheat trade and declared:

"I must say I view with deep concern the increasing interference of governments with international trade."

He criticized the current conference and a recent meeting of the commission in Rome "for concentrating on price and quota schemes rather than the production problem."

PRINCIPALS IN STRANGE CONTROVERSY

The Duke of Atholl (left), who ran a sweepstake last year for charity and was fined by a London court, recently figured in the news when he related the coincidence of being fined £25 after being told by a police inspector to plead guilty and the fine would be £25. Sir Thomas Inskip, K.C., British Solicitor General (right) denied the Duke's statement, at which the Duke came back steadfastly adhering to his previous statement. Hence a first-class controvery ensues.

CROP PROSPECTS FOR WEST SAID BELOW AVERAGE

Ottawa. — Reports received from crop correspondents throughout Canada at the end of April indicated that the prospects for the 1934 crop were below average, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Since May 1, conditions had improved, however. Prospects were uncertain on the prairies.

Up to the end of April the most unfavorable conditions were reported in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. In Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the crop prospects were lowered by the contraction of wheat acreage and the extremely unfavorable soil and weather conditions.

In Alberta the spring season opened early. Soil-drifting was widespread but not as general nor as damaging as in the other prairie provinces. Rains fell at the end of the month to benefit crops already sown.

There has been no noticeable improvement in crop conditions in the prairie provinces. The scattered precipitation was not sufficient to settle the top-soil and further dust-storms have occurred, especially in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The prevalence of soil drifting and the fear of grasshopper damage make prospects extremely uncertain. Conditions have been such as to lower the "intentions" expressed by farmers at the end of April rather than to increase them. This is especially true for wheat, although the rise in prices is partial compensation.

Forest Fires In Europe

Heavy Loss Of Life And Property In Three Countries

Paris.—Forest fires, an aftermath of the serious drouth gripping many parts of Europe, caused widespread damage and loss of life in three continental countries.

In Poland, flames destroyed two villages in Silesia and Malorska. Three children lost their lives and many were injured as 400 houses were burned.

Fires starting in the dense forests of Roumania crept into the city of Campulino-Muscel, and the towns of Buzeu and Silistra, taking a heavy property toll.

Strong winds fanned the flames at Campulino-Muscel and more than 60 houses were destroyed. Damage was placed at $500,000. Shortage of water hampered attempts to curb the blazes.

Forests fires that laid waste 5,500 acres of pines and threatened the valuable turpentine region southwest of Bordeaux, France, were believed to be under control. A 15-mile area near Belin and the small district of Archachon was swept by the flames.

Heavy Damage From Flood

Peace River Has Risen Eighty Feet Above Normal

Fort Chipewyan, Alta.—Sweeping buildings and trees in a mad rush, waters of the Peace River continued their record-breaking rampage as they rose 80 feet above the normal summer level at a point 100 miles west of here, reports reaching this point said. Never before in white man's knowledge or Indian's memory has the river reached such terrific flood proportions.

No lives were lost, but property damage is heavy. The flood meant the loss of the important spring muskrat catch to trappers who depend largely upon this for summer livelihood. Trees over 100 years old were swept away like matchwood as the waters struck after an ice jam of huge size gave way. Fortunately the area is sparsely populated, for had the flood been in the average riverside agricultural community, nothing could have saved those in its path.

Commands Cape Breton Forces

Sydney, N.S.—Inspector John McIntosh, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, just returned after spending six months in Regina in training, has resumed command of the Cape Breton forces.

The Fuddlings are too hard to find

"Let's have the Fuddlings over this evening," said Mrs. Clipper to her husband. "You always liked Fred, and Cora is such a dear."

Mr. Clipper picked up the telephone directory and proceeded to look for the name Fuddling. But his search was in vain. The Fuddlings weren't listed.

"Say, Edna," he said, "they haven't a telephone. Let's ask the Smiths instead. The Fuddlings are too hard to find."

So the Fuddlings missed another invitation—just because they had no telephone.

Large Entry for Track Meet

Practically Every School in the Valley to be Represented—New Senior Champion will be Found—Many Junior Entries

Today, at 10 a.m., will see the fourth annual track meet of the Creston valley schools. Energetic committees have been at work, and with an entry of 154 from 9 schools, a successful day seems ensured. This is the first time that the meet has been held on a school day, permission having been secured from the Department of Education.

Competition promises to be keen, especially in the junior division where the entry is very large. Last year's senior boys' champion, Herbert Dodd, will not be competing, having graduated from high school last year. but Raymond Humble, who took the Intermediate aggregate last year, is competing in the Senior division. Minnie and Margaret Huscroft, winners last year of the Senior and Intermediate aggregates, will be back. Babs Spencer, Erwin Rylan and Elmer Hagen have stepped up from the junior to the intermediate ranks.

There may possibly be a new cup up for competition this year, probably for one-room schools only. This is not yet certain. The Creston Valley Teachers' Association have replaced their trophy, won outright last year.

The complete programme for the meet is as follows: Starting at 10 a.m. promptly.

Intermediate girls, 100 yards, heats.
Inter ediate boys, 100 yards, heats.

Lister school childern will have a full holiday today, in order that the school may participate in the track meet at Creston.

Lister-Huscroft Raiders softball team were at Canyon on Suhday afternoon and won another victory, this time by a 22-18 margin.

Complying with the request of the B. C. Forestry Association, Douglas Sinclair has been named junior fire warden for the district for 1934 and has been presented with his badge.

Confirmation service will feature the Lutheran Church exercises at Lister at 3 p. m., Sunday. Here the service will be in German, when three Lister young people will be confirmed. In the morning there will be a service in English at whsch two Lister girls will be confirmed

The young people of this section were splendidly entertained at the home of Mrs. Lister on Saturday evening the occasion being a birthday party for her Nelson gueet, Miss Jean Fisher. There was music, dancing and a great variety of games, along with a fine supper to round out an evening that all thoroughly enjoyed. Jean was remembered with many very useful gifts.

The Raiders softball club is sponsoring a basketball picnic at the Huscroft picnic grounds on Sunday which will commence at 11 a. m. There will be a full list of children's sports, two baseball games, and the Raiders will meet Creston Wildcats at softball in the afternoon. Everyone bring their own baskets. Coffee supplied

Mrs. H. Yerbury is a patient at Creston hospital, suffering from some broken ribs which she sustained in an accident on Friday last. While driving to Creston with what is better known as a "Bennett wagon," some of the harness broke as the trip was being made down Gout River hill, letting the rig run onto the horse's heels, causing the animal to run away. Mrs. Yerbury was injured in jumping out of the wagon. In the rig with her were Frank Yerbury, Douglas and Violet McKee, and little Miss Jean Holland, but they escaped with some minor scratches.

Sirdar

L. Miller of Kuskanook w s a business visitor to Creston during the week.

Mrs. James S. Wilson and Miss Gwen Wilson were visitors to Creston on Saturday.

A. Mackie of Boswell was a business visitor at Creston with his truck for supplies.

T. Lombardo and Dominic Pascuzzo were business visitors at Creston by car, Saturday.

A very large plane passed over here on Thursday afternoon, flying very low and evidently taking its bearings.

Miss Gwen and Charles Wilson were visitors at Canyon on Friday evening last attending the softball dance.

James S. Wilson and son, Charl s have left on a business visit to Cranbrook and Kimberley and other district points.

Roy Browell of Canyon has arrived here with his truck and will be engaged with same in gravelling for the next week or so.

A E. Bridges of Cranbrook and Mr. Yeager of Lumberton were callers at Atbara during the week on their way to the coast.

Mrs. R. Stewart left by train on Saturday morning for Cranbrook, to visit her husband, who is a patient in the hospital there.

The water level as indicated by guage at Slough bridge reads 15 35 a drop of 0.35 for the week and is still receding very gradually.

The trek to the Caribou has commenced for the season, and the number of cars passing through here with prairie licenses are considerable.

R. Stewart, who was sent to St. Eugene hospital, Cranbrook, was operated upon several days ago for appendicitis Latest reports state he is coming along nicely.

Several cars of square timbers have arrived at Atbara and will be used for renewing the railway bridge across the slough by the bridge crew, who are at present engaged removing driftwood.

Sirdar softball club were the sponsors of a jolly dance at the Community hall on Friday evening ast. quite a large number being present. Music was supplied by A. B. Ness, piano, A. Goplin, drums.

A double header softball game was played at Wynndel last Sunday, between the Wynndel farmers and the Sirdar team. Sirdar being the loser in both games. Although the local team lost, their display of softball reflected great credit on them.

Mr and Mrs. Verdonk, who resided here for several years but for business reasons had to return to Holland, have returned to resume citizenship and have acquired a place east of Sanca. They were accompanied by another family. The newcomers carry the best wishes of all who know them.

A. C. Whitehouse, accompanied by C. E. Webb of the water rights branch, arrived here from the coast. Mr Whitehouse remained here to take the records of the automatic guage at Kootenay Landing while Mr. Webb proceeded by car to Kitchener to join an aeroplane waiting for him to take a survey of snow conditions on the higher reaches. Mr. Whitehouse returned to South Slocan the some day.

Hospital Board Meets

There was a good attendance at the monthly meeting of the directors of Creston Valley Hospital Association which was held in the Town Hall, May 9th. President F. V. Staples occupied the chair.

The house committee, consisting of Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. Cook and G. Sinclair was congratulated on further decline in operating expense, the per capita cost of $1.82 being the lowest in nearly two years. The grounds committee, comprsed of Mrs. Hare, T. Goodwin and F. H. Jackson, also made a report, and their work is very obvious to any visitor to the hospital.

The secretary's report showed that there was a slight falling off in hospita. days from 201 in March to 188 in April Collections also showed a decline, all though many of the accounts owing to local merchants have been paid off since the first of the year. Enquiry disclosed that annual membership in the association was confined to a mere 25 members. Since every person is eligible for this privilege, and the cost is only one dollar it is the hope of the directors that a much greater number will use this means of supporting the hospital and the good work being done by it.

Wise Spending

Wise spending is the only thing that keeps business going. Niggardly economy has no place in world's progress. The great trouble with us these days, as we see it, is that in time of plenty we did too much foolish spending. Instead of obligating ourselves for debts that meant investment, we launched an orgy of spending for spending only, in which business was not considered and pleasure only thought of.

STUNNING DRESS FOR MATRONS AND YOUNGER WOMEN WHO FEEL THEY COULD WELL SUPPORT A FEW SLIMMING LINES

To-day's model lends itself most admirably to the spring crepe silk prints in navy and white, brown and white and in green tones.

The yoke at the front of the bodice is slimming the way it ends in a tied scarf. The slim skirt cut with a length-giving panel at the front, flutters gracefully in its softly slightly flared fulness.

Another interesting scheme is navy blue crepe silk with the deep back pointed yoke of the bodice and the front yoke of crisp white embroidered organdie.

Style No. 700 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust.

Must Learn To Swim

All French officers will have to sink or swim in the future. Marshal Petain, minister of war and venerable defender of Verdun, has issued an order that swimming will be part of the entrance examinations to all French military schools from now on. It is the marshal's intention eventually to equip all military camps with swimming pools, where soldiers will be obliged to learn how to keep afloat.

Little Journeys In Science

METALS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Interesting examples of the practical applications of science to everyday life may be found in the production and use of metals. The metals known to the ancients were gold, silver, copper, lead, tin, and mercury. Gold and copper have been used since prehistoric times, and it is likely that these were the first metals used by man. Until the middle of the 19th century the only metals in common use were copper, iron, tin, zinc, and the mixtures or alloys called bronze (copper and tin) and brass (copper and zinc). Steel is simply a form of iron containing small amounts of carbon and other substances.

Aluminium was discovered in 1828 and was at first very rare and valuable. It is a constituent of clay. In 1854 a method was devised by which it could be manufactured, by the French chemist Deville. In 1886, C. M. Hall, a university student, invented a new process depending on the use of electricity. By means of this new method aluminium was produced cheaply in large quantities, and the metal is now used extensively. Science has not yet discovered a method of extracting aluminium from clay, and most of it is obtained from the mineral bauxite.

Magnesium is another metal which was not known until early in the 19th century. This metal is also obtained by an electrical method. An alloy of magnesium with aluminium known as magnalium has great strength and is very light. This alloy is only about twice as heavy as an equal volume of water, whereas steel is about eight times as heavy as water. Alloys of this kind are used in air ships and motor construction.

Many valuable metals are produced by mixing, or alloying, simple metals. For centuries man has used bronze and brass, which are alloys. Printers' type consisting of lead, antimony and tin, is an alloy which has the property of expanding slightly when the molten metal hardens, so that sharp impressions of the moulds are obtained. Stainless steel is an alloy of iron with chromium and nickel, and many special steels contain iron alloyed with metals such as tungsten, molybdenum, vonadium, and cobalt. These special steels are used in the manufacture of chisels, lathe tools, parts of motor cars, railway tracks and the steel for bridges.

Blind Man Expert Golfer

Helped Win Match On Links In Cornwall, England

Playing with three others with perfect sight, a blind man helped win a golf match on the St. Austell links in Cornwall, England, recently. Eighteen holes were played. Capt. Gerald Lowry, the first British officer to lose his sight during the World War, was partnered by Sir Wilson Hungerford, and they defeated Sir George Wilkinson and Lieut.-Commander E. R. Gibson by one hole. Sir Wilson, after the round, said he was amazed at his partner's skill. "I placed the ball on the tee for Captain Lowry," he said, "and then guided his club to within an inch or so of the ball. Then he swept back his club along the ground and, with a half-swing, came down on the ball with all his might. Often he drove the ball 130 yards. With his irons in the rough his skill was surprising."

THE FUTURE OF THE KINGDOM

Golden Text: "The kingdom of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ: and he shall reign for ever and ever."

Lesson: Matthew 24:1-25.30.

Devotional Reading: Revelation 21:1-7.

Explanations And Comments

The Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins, 25:1-13. The Kingdom of Heaven Jesus likened to ten virgins who went forth with their lamps to meet the bridegroom.

Five virgins were wise (prudent) and carried an extra supply of oil in their oil vessels, but five were foolish (imprudent) and took no extra supply. The bridegroom tarried and all slept. There is no hint of reproach in this statement: the bridegroom might tarry a long time. Midnight came and the approach of the bridegroom was announced. All the virgins arose and trimmed their lamps preparatory to going forth to meet him. The foolish ones found their lamps going out, and begged the wise ones to share with them their oil. But the wise ones refused, lest there might not be enough oil for them all, and counseled them to go out and buy oil. In the application of the parable the thought is that the righteousness of one cannot avail for another.

While the foolish virgins went forth to buy their oil the bridegroom came. Those who were ready went in with him to the marriage feast, and the door was shut. What does the coming of the bridegroom mean? "The coming of Christ is certainly not a time when he draws near in the world, for he is in the world always," Phillips Brooks explains. "It must be, then, some time or times in which his presence becomes manifest. Of such comings there are several. Men discuss which of them the text refers to—whether to the final coming for judgment, the coming to every man at death, or the coming of the Spirit at man's conversion. Let us not try to settle which it means. It cultivates the life of watchfulness within us, not to know when Christ is coming to judge the world, when he is coming to call us to himself by death, when he is coming by some great experience to our souls."

When the foolish virgins arrived with the needed oil and begged to have the door opened, the bridegroom answered, "Verily I say unto you, I know you not."

"Watch, therefore," Jesus added, "for ye know not the day nor the hour!" Be not unprepared.

Has Attracted Many

Record Crowds See Codex Sinaiticus At British Museum

Record crowds have been attracted to the British Museum in London to see the Codex Sinaiticus, the $500,000 fourth-century manuscript Bible bought from the Soviet government. One day's attendance was 7,041, and from the opening to closing times there has been a line waiting to get into the building. Response to the public appeal for $250,000 to complete the purchase of the work has been unusually generous. More than $20,000 was contributed in a few days and the entire amount is expected ot be raised within three months. The government will supply the other $250,000. The museum officials have written to the Soviet government regarding a fragment of the Codex, about three inches long and one inch wide, which is missing. There is no question of it having been lost while the Bible was on the way from Russia, they say.

Czechoslovakia is to have a midget automobile which will be retailed at less than $100, according to a report from Prague. The motor is of the front-driven, two-cylinder type, developing 18 horsepower. The cars will be two or four-seater cabriolettes, with a wheelbase of eight and one-half feet.

Canadian Drama For London

Suggestion Is Made By Adjudicator That Some Dominion Company Should Visit Old Land

The hope that in the near future one of the Canadian amateur dramatic groups which has been victorious in the Dominion drama festival, may be seen in London, was expressed by J. T. Grein, veteran critic and essayist, who judged the festival this year.

If a Canadian company were successful in London it would receive "as it were, a universal hallmark," he added. He was aware that the main question involved was one of finance, but this might be solved if Great Britain and Canada were both willing to assist. If, for instance, the British Drama League would invite a Canadian entry to play in the London festival, there might be some way in which necessary financial arrangements could be made.

One important suggestion which he made was that there should be a special committee to select the plays for presentation at the festival next year. He referred to the "spell of gloom" which surrounded some of the performances at the festival just concluded.

"Therefore," suggested Mr. Grein, "I think that towards the next festival there should be established a small special committee to select plays so that humor may become a peer of gloom."

No Argument

After the locomotive had smashed a flivver at the crossing, a flapper rose from the wreckage uninjured and powdered her nose. The engineer and others gathered around.

"Why in the world didn't you stop when you saw the engine coming?" asked the engineer.

The flapper was indignant.

"I sounded my horn before you blew your whistle," she said defiantly.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By

EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta", "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla, Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club, when the rest of the members of the party go a a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000. Peter and Camilla are reconciled. Avis invites them to a party, at which she introduces Peter to well-known artists and public men.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XLIII.

Terry rebuked Camilla gently, when he danced with her. "Aren't you a little sorry for the way you deceived and then deserted us all? I'll never be the same again, since I lost you," he sighed.

He was probably as sincere as he could be about anything, but Camilla knew that he could not have been deeply affected. "Perhaps it is just as well you are changed," she taunted him, laughing. "Besides, I didn't desert the crowd just because I married Peter. It was all arranged that I should soon drop out of your life long before that."

"Not if you had listened to me. I've tried to persuade you to marry me for two years. What's this absurd thing I hear about your working?"

"I am, and it's not the least bit absurd. It's wonderful. I never was so happy in my life."

"But that's not fair, you taking care of yourself when you are married. What's a husband for?"

"Oh, I'm saving him for the future," she laughed. "It isn't that Peter can't take care of me," she defended him. "I just won't interfere with his work, now, when every day is so important to his career. Besides, I have my own ambition to work out and I don't want him to interfere with that, either."

"What is an ambition? Do tell me, because I should like to recognize one if I saw it. Is it a disease, and can it be cured?" Terry ridiculed.

"Oh, I could tell you all about it, but you never would be able to recognize the symptoms. You should be ashamed of yourself, Terry Wayne, for being such a waster. Where do you suppose the money comes from that you spend?"

"Why, from the old man," he exclaimed, as guileless as a child discussing money.

"Exactly. But did yon never try to estimate what it represents of thought and effort, to provide you with so much?"

"Why should I bother about that? One person's thought and effort are enough to waste on it. What I think about these days is the fact that the governor has cut me about twenty per cent. and I can't convince him that my expenses are more instead of less."

"Everyone is trying to reconcile those two contradictory facts these days. Too bad for you that you don't have to earn your living for awhile."

"Say, what have you got against me, anyway? I know. Just because you have to toil, and want everyone else to break rocks. Must you be like that, because you have an ambition?"

"I just like you enough that I'd like to see you be a man, Terry."

He drew her closer in his embrace as they ended the dance. "And I like you well enough that I still want you."

"Don't be silly," she protested, and turned her attention to someone else.

All her old friends were delighted to see her again, Camilla discovered. They chided her for her neglect of them, were curious about her work, doubted or admired her seriousness. She gave them no details concerning her position, only that she did ad copy for Weeks and Bowman. She did not wish Alexander Hoyt to discover at this crucial time that she held his fate at the point of her pencil.

The test would begin to prove itself soon. The first copy had gone out and was already on the presses, would appear in magazines all over the nation within the following week. Any upward trend of the Wheat heart Cereal business would manifest itself very soon if the juvenile public accepted her Tiny Tots with enthusiasm.

Both Weeks and Bowman were optimistic. "Of course," Mr. Bowman had conceded, "we can't expect enormous returns under present conditions. But if the idea catches on there is bound to be a decided improvement."

He was more generous with his praise than Mr. Weeks, chuckled over the exploits of father and mother Tiny Tot and their large family, their friends and relatives.

There were, among many others, Uncle Joe, the one-legged sailor, who told the children such fascinating tales; Aunt Min to whom all the children took their troubles, to be effaced with delectable Wheatheart Cereal cookies and muffins; old Graspy, the miser who hoarded gold and frightened the children from his wretched hut that lured them with its strange and fearful reports. They were so tiny that they slept in peanut shells and made a meal of one cereal flake, were delighted over a treat of a grain of sugar, made a palace of a cereal carton.

While Camilla worked at her sketches, she lived in a different world, alone. Even Peter never entered there, except to poke his head into her thoughts and entice her away for a few moments at times. She lived her hours there with the children of her fancy and often left them with genuine regret.

During those first weeks, she was so engrossed that she worked late at the office many times. She discovered that when the pleasant, spacious rooms became silent for the night, she accomplished more work with better results. It was even more satisfactory than working at the apartment, which she did sometimes, also. No conflicting thoughts or duties interrupted her, and she grew to appreciate more her wisdom in living apart from Peter so that he might work alone, also.

She was more concerned over the fact that Avis had come to live across the hall from Peter, than she admitted. Not so much because she was jealous of Avis' interest in Peter, but because she feared that her presence there would take from Peter just what she had sacrificed so much to provide for him, his privacy.

Fortunately, for her peace of mind, Peter never told her how many times Avis interrupted his work and insisted upon his relaxing for an hour in her company. These omissions in his confidences were not so intentional as they were natural. He had precious little time to discuss anything with Camilla in those days and, like all men, he did not realize himself how many hours he did pass in Avis' company. They were so casual and pleasant, conveniently interspersed with working hours, as she purposely arranged, that he was scarcely aware that he saw more of Avis than he did his wife.

So, on the night of her reception, Avis took possession of Peter and ignored Camilla so casually that no one noticed or resented it. Everyone departed with gushing thanks for a marvelous evening, and vaguely impressed with the memory that Avis and Peter were their hostess and host. With Peter's studio across the hall and he a new tenant in the colony, also, it did not seem at all improbable.

Avis insisted that Camilla and Peter remain until the last guests had gone, then she turned her attention wholly upon Camilla. "I can't thank you enough for helping me so beautifully this evening, dear. It was too sweet of you, the way you got people together and helped to entertain them. Do stay with me for awhile, and while Tillie clears up the worst of the wreckage, we can have a bite together. I'm sure you didn't have time to eat—I know I didn't. But I think everyone did have a good time, don't you?" anxiously.

"No doubt about that," Camilla assured her with sincerity. "But I didn't do so much. I had a good time, myself."

"I'm so happy if you did. I'm afraid I rather neglected you, depending on you ot help me as I did. It kept me pretty busy, telling everyone about Peter. Did you notice how popular he was?" she asked, pleased and impersonal.

"Oh, I say!" Peter objected. "It was you who were popular, and they listened to what you said about me because you were talking."

"Isn't that just like him?" she asked Camilla with exasperation, as if they shared his idiosyncrasies with a common indulgence of them.

She passed glasses of punch and a plate of sandwiches.

"You will be sending me a board bill some day," Peter remarked carelessly, "if I don't quite eating over here."

Camilla looked up quickly.

Avis laughed. "He has the most exaggerated sense of obligation I ever met. Just because he eats a meal here and I make him stop work long enough to drink a cup of coffee occasionally, he wants me to punch a meal ticket for him. Actually, Camilla, with working so hard to finish that figure, I believe he would starve if someone didn't tell him it was time to eat. And since you are not here to do it, I've taken it upon myself to watch over him a little. We don't want our prize winner to collapse at the last minute, do we?"

"Oh, you women!" Peter made a deprecating gesture. "You do like to baby us. That's because you don't know what it means to apply yourself to something that means more to you than your physical comfort."

Oh, didn't she, thought Camilla. But Peter was talking to Avis—not to her. Unconsciously, he had developed the habit of ending the eveing there in Avis' rooms, eating a bite and discussing most everything with her.

"I am glad you take such good care of him," Camilla offered bravely, but she grudged Avis even one precious privilege of serving Peter.

"By the way," he changed the subject, "we haven't named the figure yet." Actually, he had only discussed the matter with Avis, but his comment included both girls.

About Sea Serpents

Old Mariners Deplore The Unbelief Of Scientists

If scientists possessed faith "the size of a grain of mustard seed," several skippers agreed, they would not scoff at sea serpents.

These salts, during a lively discussion on the mysteries of the deeps, declared the attitude adopted by scientists toward sea monsters had been "without imagination or emotion from the very start."

They chided by name Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who said recently the Loch Ness monster probably was only a killer whale, and Dr. William Beebe, who thinks it may be merely a mechanical contraption.

"It's downright ungracious of these distinguished gentlemen," said Captain Thomas W. Sheridan, former superintendent of the New York nautical school, "to dispose of the dire denizen of Scotland in such a prosaic manner.

"Why, that sea serpent of Loch Ness has livened the news of the world now for nearly a year. We owe it a debt of gratitude.

"Dr. Andrews and Dr. Beebe," continued Captain Sheridan, "ought to remember the Shakespearean quotation: 'There are more things in heaven and earth Horatio than are kenned of in your philosophy.'

"And," said Captain Felix Risenberg, sea author, "they ought to remember too, that sea serpents have been earnestly and devoutly believed in by numbers of super-seamen of undoubted veracity since the beginning of time.

"Some of our best literature is about the seeing of these beasts."

Captain Frederick Fender, assistant marine superintendent of the international mercantile marine, said "one of the greatest authorities America ever had on sea serpents" was the late Captain Clausen of the magnetic ship Carnegie.

"He used to tell us by the hour," said Fender, "about seeing sea serpents. He told us once he saw one of them chase a school of whales round a Norwegian fjord until the water boiled with fury and villages miles inland were swept by the waves."

None of these seamen would admit ever having seen a serpent with his own eyes but all agreed that "what scientists need is a grain of faith in sea beasts—and a mite more of forbearance."

It's very embarrassing when one's wife is jealous, and very humiliating when she isn't.

The brink of Niagara Falls is receding at the rate of 2½ feet a year.

CRAWLING ABOUT WITH LUMBAGO

Here is some useful information for anyone troubled with that uncomfortable complaint, lumbago. A woman writes:—

"For years I suffered from lumbago. During wet weather, I could only turn in bed with great effort and pain, I was so stiff and ached so much. Two years ago I had both lumbago and sciatica, and crawled about for a fortnight, feeling very sorry for myself and looking 103 instead of 33. Someone said, 'Try Kruschen Salts,' so I did, and I have taken them ever since, with the result that I hardly ever get a hint of lumbago these days."—(Mrs.) G. P. C.

Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble and removes the cause, which is an impure bloodstream. The six salts in Kruschen keep the bloodstream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

Little Helps For This Week

"If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul, then shall thy light rise in obscurity and thy darkness be as the noonday, and the Lord shall guide thee continually." Isaiah 43:10-11.

If thou hast yesterday thy duty done,
And thereby cleared firm footing for today,
Whatever clouds make dark tomorrow's sun,
Thou shalt not miss thy solitary way.

O Lord who art our guide even unto death, grant us I pray Thee grace to follow Thee wheresoever Thou goest. In little daily duties to which Thou hast called us, bow down our wills to simple obedience, patience under pain or provocation, strict truthfulness of word and manner, humility and kindness. In great acts of duty or perfection if Thou shouldst call us to them, uplift us to self-sacrifice, heroic courage, laying down of life for Thy Truth's sake, or for a brother.—C. G. Rossetti.

Collar Of Pure Gold

Valuable Antique Dating From About 700 B.C. Is Found In Ireland

A collar of pure gold which is believed to have been made about 700 B.C. has been found at Burren, County Clare, Ireland. Its discoverer was a local farmer who noticed it glittering in a cleft of rock. The National museum has claimed it as treasure trove. Dr. Mahr, keeper of Irish antiquities in the national museum, has confirmed the belief of its antiquity. The type is well known, he said in an interview, and four similar ones are in the museum.

Drive Against Lotteries

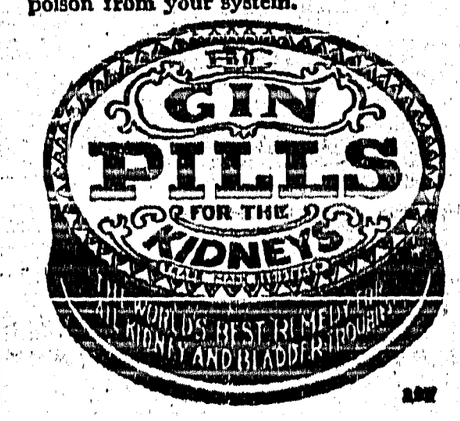
Revealing plans for a drive against Chinese lotteries, a type of gambling said to be sweeping Winnipeg, city police stated unemployed, in many cases, were wagering their relief vouchers in the hope of reaping a sudden fortune, rather than spend them for bread, milk and other necessary provisions.

Using Diving Bell

With the aid of a great diving bell, Dr. William Beebe plans to go 3,000 feet below the surface of the Atlantic near the Bermudas. He is carrying on the work solely for the purpose of making scientific observations of as large a number of deep sea creatures as is possible.

Kidney Troubles

cause poisons to accumulate in the system and bring on persistent Backache, Lumbago, Rheumatism, or Sciatica. Take Gin Pills to restore the kidneys to a healthy condition and eliminate the poison from your system.



New Northern Electric Range

This wonderful new Electric Range can be installed in your home for a very moderate cost for wiring. Be sure and inspect our latest model now on display.

Note these SPECIAL FEATURES: This full porcelain enamel finished Northern Electric-Gurney Range represents the very last word in electric range design and construction. An exclusive feature is the broiler compartment with "drop front." The oven is equipped with the most powerful burner ever used in an electric range, and this burner also serves as a broiler. As the oven is separate from the broiler compartment, it is possible to bake and broil at the same time. The four-burner cooking top with cover and the convenient warming drawer are but two of the many new features which make this range so outstandingly modern, efficient and attractive.

The High Fliers Junior Red Cross of Miss Wade's room at the public school had their annual bazaar and tea at the school on Friday last, which was quite well attended, the cash intake totalling $22. The money will go the Crippled Children's Hospital.

John Cartmel, government agent at Nelsen, was here on Thursday last for an auction of government lands in the Erickson district as well as some along Goat River bottam. Quite a number of sales were made at upset prices but the selling was not up to expectations.

FOR SALE—Cow, freshened December; heifer, will freshen November; horse, weighs about 1100 lbs., and harness; coal brooder, 900 chick size; table gramaphone and records; 20 one-year old Rhode Island Red hens. Mrs. Louise Hormann, Camp Lister.

Creston Mercantile have just installed a General Electric refrigerator in the grocery department which is being much admired by their many customers. It is of the showcase design, six feet long, four feet high with 32-inch wide shelving. It is the conditioned air type and is the newest design both in refrigeration and sanitary facilities.

Mrs. J. P. Baston of Shanghai, China, is renewing acquaintances in Creston district at present, and is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cameron. Mrs. Baston, who, before her marriage, was Miss Bertha Hurry, is well known to most Creston people who are delighted to have her visit after about ten years residence in the Orient.

Misses Marion and Marjorie Learmonth were hostesses at their home Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Allister Ross, nee Molly Moore, at which the bride of April was remembered wito many useful gifts. Court whist was played, with the prizes going to Mrs. Ross and Charlie Holmes. Lunch was served after cards.

An important orchard property sale was completed this week when the 5-acre Geo Hobden place, on the lower Erickson road, was purchased by H. A. MacKay of Winnipeg, at a figure that shows ranch values are more than holding their own. The new owner will get almost immediate possession. The sale was negotiated by R. Walmsley.

Sunday will be confirmation day at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. In a service beginning at 10 30 a.m., a class of seven young people will make confession of their faith and will be publicly received into communicant membership. At 3.30 p.m., a class of three will be confirmed in a German service at Lister. Everybody is welcome at these services.

Anything but favorable weather greeted the court whist on Fridyy evening at the Parish Hall given by the W.A. of Creston Valley Post Canadian Legion. About ten tables were in play and the high scores were made by Mrs. K. Knott and Mrs. R. Stevens, playing a gents hand. The consolation honors went to Miss Jane Ross and H. A. Powell. A delightful lunch was served after cards.

The musical treat of the year is announced for Wednesday night at Trinity United Church with the appearance of Callum Thomson, lyric tenor, who will be assisted with elocutionary and piano numbers by local talent. G. R. John will play the accompaniments. The admission is 40 and 20 cents. Mr. Thompson played the tenor lead in the B.C. University production of the "Mikado" this spring.

This week congratulations are being extended Jim Cherrington and Tom Crawford jr., two students at Alberta University, Edmonton, on their success at the term-end examinations, which are just announced. Jim has made a remarkably fine showing in all thirteen subjects in the course in civil engineering. Tom Crawford in his first year annexed the scholarship of the senate and board of governors in arts and science as well as taking first-class general standing in arts and science. Tom is also winner of special prize in the department of English.

Mrs. M. Young, was guest of Christ Church Women's Auxiliary at the home of the president, Mrs. M. York, Thursday afternoon, the affair being an informal farewell reception to Mrs. Young who is leaving shortly to reside permanently in England. Oldtime sociability prevailed and just before lunch was served the president, in appropriate terms, presented Mrs. Young with an attache bag to remind her of former associations on this side of the Atlantic. Mrs. Young, who is one of the oldest members of the W.A., replied in suitable terms.

Death came suddenly to Alex. Hall, a C.P.R. conductor out of Nelson, who was taken off a freight dead at Creston early Saturday evening. Deceased was in charge of train on the east run and when approaching Wynndel had been shouted to by the rear end brakeman to come down and eat, but had replied he was not feeling well and not to wait for him. A few minutes later the brakeman was startled, on looking up, to see deceased lurched forward in his chair in the cupola as if in a faint. He immediately applied water but to no avail, and on close examination found death had ensued. The train was stopped at Creston where the coroner was summoned and no inquest being deemed necessary the body was turned over to Undertaker Hendren, who shipped the remains back to Nelson on Sunday.
