"ALTARS of DESIRE"

Here is the fascinating story of an amazing beauty who, through the strangest quirk of Fate, suddenly finds herself an outcast from society.

What goes on behind the gilded gates of Society—back of the whirl of gayety and wealth, in the smart set's innermost circle?

The Saturday night dance at the schoolhouse, put on by the young people of Lister, was well attended and netted a satisfactory sum for the Community Society piano fund.

Prof. Asmundsen of the B.C. University, Vancouver, and E. L. Landon, Kootenay poultry inspector, were visitors here on Friday in company with C. B. Twigg and made an inspection of the poultry plants of Fred Powers, W. Mitchell and Andy Sinclair.

Arthur Hurry of Nelson is an Easter week visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Demchuk, who is also having a visit from their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Orvil VanEtten of Bonners Ferry.

The Community Society are having another bridge and court whist drive at the schoolhouse on Saturday night at 8.30 to which the admission is 25 cents.

Travel in this section is greatly improved due the grader having been over the roads at the end of the week. Andy Sinclair is in charge of a crew of about eight men who are making some needed improvements on the south road starting at the schoolhouse and working through to Col. Fred Lister's residence.

Principal Parker's report on Liste school for March shows an average attendance of 95 7, which is a remarkable showing considering the weather that prevailed last month. Those taking highest standing were: Grade 9—Jack Bird, Jack Malthouse. Grade 8—Charlie Malthouse. Grade 7—Agnes Sinclair, Wallace Sinclair, Peggy Smith. Dyking is Given Washington O.K.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Permission was given by the International Joint Commission on Wednesday for commencement on reclamation work on the Kootenay River flats near Creston, B.C.

The state department withdrew its opposition so far as construction of a dyke is concerned. Further work involved in the scheme, which is to drain the waters off eight thousand acres of swamp land into the Kootenay River, are not finally approved, pending further investigation. The proposals are:

Diversion of the Goat River into the Kootenay River.

Construction of drainage pipes and ditches and installation of pumps.

It is understood that the State of Idaho has withdrawn its opposition to the commencement of the scheme, but has asked for a general survey of the Kootenay River levels in Idaho. The United States Geological Survey announced that it would commence such a survey immediately.

In connection with the above despatch, which appeared in the daily press on Thursday last, Creston Reclamation Company, Limited, deems it wise to make no pronouncement in the matter until it receives its copy of the order direct from the Waterways Commission, which should reach here this week.

While the ruling of the Commission as outlined above is eminently satisfactory, the company directors are quite optimistic that when the official order comes to hand it will be even better than the Washington despatch discloses, and will give the Company absolute license to proceed with its work without any more reference whatever to Goat River diversion or construction of "drainage pipes, ditches and installation of pumps."

Railway Construction in the West

Only a few years ago there was a feeling throughout Canada that the construction of railways in the Dominion had been rather overdone. This opinion was freely stated by many men in public life, by bank presidents and financiers, and found expression in newspapers all over the country. The statement was frequently made that Canada had built railways fifty years in advance of the time when they would be needed and the population and productive capacity of the country warranted. The greatest financial danger confronting the Dominion, it was alleged, was its heavy commitments on account of railways.

The fact that Canada possesses the greatest railway mileage per capita of any country in the world, and the further fact that a few years ago during the war the Canadian Northern, Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways got into financial difficulties and had to be taken over by the Dominion Government, and that for some years following during the post-war depression the Canadian National was operated at a heavy financial loss, no doubt accounted for these rather pessimistic views. An entirely different opinion exists today.

When the C.P.R. was first projected the same faint-hearted views prevailed. The idea of a transcontinental railway across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, crossing thousands of miles of undeveloped prairie land and over the Rocky Mountains, was ridiculed in the English press as the dream of madmen, and even in Canada it was predicted that such a railway would never earn the cost of its axle grease. The world realizes today how false all these dire predictions have proven to be.

The opinions expressed only a few years ago during the anxious days of the war and the world depression which followed are proving to be equally erroneous.

In a most instructive address before the Canadian Club at Regina recently, Mr. Cyril Young, of the Industrial Development Department of the Canadian National Railways, stated that for hundreds of miles along the main line of the new transcontinental, through the clay belt of Ontario, the railway was earning an operating surplus, while bringing about settlement and building up important industries, giving to Canada what heretofore it has lacked, depth in addition to its immense width.

In the past, Canada has boasted of its boundaries resting upon two oceans, east and west. Now, with the rapid pushing forward of the Hudson Bay Railway, Canada looks forward with eager anticipation and confidence to the day not far distant when its commerce will likewise pass through a third ocean on the north. And even before that railway is completed to tidewater, a branch line is being rushed to completion in order to handle the enormous traffic which will result from the development of the Flin Flon and other mining areas of the north which, it is predicted, will rival the richest mineral areas in the known world.

Today, instead of believing that railway construction has been overdone in Canada, the two great railway systems of the Dominion are steadily increasing their construction programmes. Last year Parliament authorized an extensive branch lines construction programme for the Canadian National, largely in Western Canada, and providing for the building within three years of some hundreds of miles of new railways. That work, which was started last year, is to be pushed with vigor during 1928.

Nor does the C.P.R. lag behind. The annual report of that Company issued last month records the fact that during 1927 no less than 203 miles of new branch lines were graded and track laid on 170 miles, while for the year 1928 the directors recommend the building of no less than eleven extensions in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan involving the construction of an additional 247 miles of new lines.

Not to be outdone by the West, the Ontario Government is steadily pushing its system northward towards Hudson Bay, while branch feeders are spreading out into districts where mining developments are taking place.

The Government at Ottawa is confronted with applications for new railway charters for lines in northern Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia aggregating thousands of miles with a view to providing for the opening up and development of the north country and the creation of new outlets to the Pacific.

These are the answers now being given to those who predicted disaster for Canada on account of its railway construction of a few short years ago. Take Saskatchewan as an example. Youngest among the provinces it already enjoys a railway mileage second only to that of Ontario, and during this year of 1928 work will be in progress upon approximately 500 miles of new branch lines, not including the Hudson Bay Railway and the Flin Flon branch, both of which will directly serve the Province.

And as if to provide the final answer to the faint-hearted of a few years ago, the Canadian National has turned its operating deficits into substantial operating surpluses, surpluses sufficiently large to meet all the interest payments on bonds and debentures held by the public, while, through the encouragement given to settlement and industrial development all over the country, the Federal Government is receiving a substantial, albeit indirect, return for the money Canada has invested in that system.

Railway development, past, present, and future, is the foundation upon which Canadians are erecting a strong, prosperous, and ultimately self-contained nation, a nation that is destined to occupy a place in the very front rank of world powers.

A SPRING TONIC AN AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation Of Good Health Now By Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the Springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. Winter is always a trying time for those who are not in rugged health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny summer months, and grow increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak, or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in all the realm of medicine, there is no safer or better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening jaded nerves and run-down organs, and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

Mrs. L. Hupman, Summerville Centre, N.S., writes:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been of the greatest benefit to me. A few years ago I was in a badly run down condition. I became so weak and nervous that I could scarcely go about and doing my housework left me completely used up. Everything seemed to worry me, and I was in a very discouraged condition when I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon found the pills helping me, and continuing their use I fully regained my health. Since then I always take a few boxes in the Spring to build me up for the hot weather, and always I find the best results. I therefore cheerfully recommend these pills as the best of health builders.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRANSFIGURATION AND SERVICE

Golden Text: "He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit; for apart from Me ye can do nothing."—John 15.5.

Lesson: Mark 9.2-29.

Devotional Reading: John 15.1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Transfiguration, verses 2-8. — Six days after Peter's expression of his conviction that Jesus is the Christ, Jesus took Peter, James, and John apart from the rest and ascended a high mountain where he was transfigured before them. The other disciples may have been too superstitious or too dull of comprehension for such a revelation of His glory.

"The longer we live the more profoundly we believe that no one has actually more than two or three friends. He is a friend—and only he—to whom you can lay bare your heart without the pledge of secrecy. The real friend is interested in you—your joys, your triumphs, your failures become his very own."

Luke 9.20 says that the fashion of His countenance was altered; Matthew 17.2 says "His face did shine as the sun, "the glory of the Godhead burst through the veil of the flesh." "It was not a splendour that fell on Him from without, and lighted Him up; the glory came from within; it corresponded to something going on in His mind."—Davidson. It was as He prayed, Matthew and Luke tell us, that this transformation took place. The story is preceded and followed in the Gospels by Christ's predictions of suffering, death, and resurrection. The Transfiguration was a preparation for the events so near at hand.

"On that mountain, He laid Himself like another Isaac on the altar, and he knew that the sacrifice would be demanded. The very glory of the event contains a hint of the struggle which had been going on in His mind. He was no impassive hero of a romantic history; He was a Soul in the agony of a momentous spiritual transaction. The hour had come when He was to make a voluntary dedication of Himself for a sacrifice than which history knows no sublimer; and the self-consecration was destined to be met by a distinct communication of divine approval. As He was praying about His Passion he entered into the ecstasy of oneness with the heavenly Father; in the heart of Jesus all the holy resolutions of a lifetime were encouraged and strengthened, as the fashion of His countenance became changed."

YUKON ENTERS FEDERAL OLD AGE PENSION PLAN

Ottawa.—Yukon has entered the federal old-age pensions scheme. George I. MacLean, newly appointed gold commissioner of the Yukon Territory, has affixed his signature to an agreement with the Dominion Government to participate in the federal plan.

An order-in-council will shortly be passed by cabinet council, in accordance with the established procedure, authorizing Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor, to sign for the federal government.

Yukon Teritory is the second to join in the federal old-age pensions scheme passed at the last sessions of the Dominion Parliament. Several months ago British Columbia, through Hon. A. M. Manson, provincial minister of labor, executed an agreement with Mr. Heenan along similar lines to that with Yukon.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan are now negotiating with Mr. Heenan; and it is probable that these two provinces will shortly also come under the federal plan. Legislation to enter into negotiations was recently passed by the legislatures of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The signature of Gold Commissioner MacLean was affixed under authority of an ordinance passed at the last session of the Yukon Legislature.

A Great Aid To the West

Building Of Railways To Outlying Parts Proves Big Factor

Toronto.—"One of the greatest things the Liberal Government ever did was the building of railroads to outlying parts of the country, such as the Hudson's Bay Railway and new lines into the northern part of Western Canada," said C. R. McIntosh, M.P. for North Battleford, and proprietor of the North Battleford News, at a luncheon given by the Toronto Men's Liberal Association.

Years ago, he continued, Canadians flocked across the border, as there were no railroads in the back country. Today lines were being constructed and the result was that the country was filling up with good families from all over the world. Speaking of immigration, Mr. McIntosh said his district was populated by people from all parts of the world. "These people," he said, "who have toiled and labored to make homes for themselves must be given a place in the governing of our country. Otherwise in the future we will encounter trouble."

Commander Daniel Found Guilty

Sentenced To Dismissal From Ship With Severe Reprimand

Gibraltar.—The first court-martial growing out of the Royal Oak affair which has stirred the British navy ended with the conviction of Commander H. M. Daniel, on charges of conduct prejudicial to discipline.

The court, after deliberating one hour and ten minutes, found him guilty on all charges and sentenced him to dismissal from his ship and a severe reprimand. The sentence did not imply dismissal from the service and means that the commander will remain on half pay until it pleases the admiralty to appoint him to another ship or another post.

Baldwin May Have Another Term

Will Be Returned To Power At Next Election, It Is Predicted

Winnipeg.—The Baldwin Government will be returned to power at the next elections and the Liberal party will do better than it did last time, declared Sir Robert Horne, exchancellor of the exchequer in the British Parliament, who spent two hours in this city while en route east in the course of a tour of the Empire.

Sir Robert considered Premier Baldwin safe in being returned to power and the Liberal party, he thought, would be solid under Lloyd George. The latter, he said, was the only leader available.

Ontario Session Ends

1928 Session Of Ontario Legislature Prorogued With Usual Ceremonies

Toronto.—With the usual military pomp and traditional ceremony Lieut.-Governor W. D. Ross formally prorogued the 1928 session of the Ontario legislature. Greeted on his arrival at the parliament buildings by a salute of booming guns, His Honor entered the legislative chamber sharp at three o'clock for the brief ceremony. The galleries were sparsely filled and many of the members had already dispersed to their homes. The desk of Alexander Stuart, M.L.A. for North Renfrew, who died on Sunday, was draped in a Union Jack surmounted with crepe.

Puebla, Mexico.— Bandits captured in the state of Puebla are being hanged to trees beside the highways wherever found in this region by federal troops and home guards. Plan Study Of Arctic

Nineteen Nations Will Contribute To Work Of Conference

Washington. — When representatives of 19 nations gather in Leningrad next June, in an international conference on Arctic explorations, the United States may be one of them.

If so, it will mark the first time that the United States has participated side by side with a Russian delegation in such a conference and the first time this country had sent an official delegate to Russia since it became the Soviet of Socialist Republics.

The foreign affairs committee of the House of Representatives has voted favorably on a resolution which proposed U.S. participation in the International Society for the Exploration of the Arctic regions by airship.

Among the 19 nations who are expected to contribute to the work of the society are also Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Japan. Canada is not included.

Completing Highway In B.C.

Federal Government Agrees To Co-Operate In Construction Work

Revelstoke, B.C.—A start on the last link of the trans-Canada Highway between Revelstoke and Golden will be made early next month, according to Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Provincial Minister of Public Works.

According to the minister, the Dominion Government has agreed to cooperate in the construction of the highway around the Columbia River, and the work to be undertaken will commence at a point on the big bend North of here where work stopped at the beginning of winter.

Dr. Sutherland stated that the federal government cannot undertake the building of a road through Glacier National Park, but has offered to assist the province in building around the big bend. It is understood that Ottawa's contribution will approximate $1,000,000. The work to be undertaken this year will be extensive, it was stated, and may entail an expenditure of $225,000.

Recognition For Herman Trelle

Alberta Government Purchases Quarter Section Of Farm At Wembley

Edmonton.—Payment of a first installment in the purchase price of a quarter section of his farm at Wembley has been made to Herman Trelle, the Peace River wheat champion, through the department of public works. An appropriation of $5,000 was passed in the estimates for this province.

Under the terms of the agreement, the quarter-section is being leased to Mr. Trelle for a term of five years with the option of purchase at the end of that time. The land adjoins the remainder of his holdings, on which his prize-winning wheat was grown, and is itself under cultivation.

It is understood that Mr. Trelle will continue his experimental work in which he has already achieved such distinguished success, and the action of the government, which was fully sanctioned by the legislature, is by way of demonstrating a province's grateful recognition of services rendered and good publicity provided through a double championship.

NO CHANGE IN BRITISH POLICY TOWARD EGYPT

Manchester, Eng. — Sir William Joynson-Hicks, secretary of the home office, told the Cotton Spinners' Association that the latest Egyptian note would work no change in British policy. He said:

"It is true we have received a somewhat foolish despatch from the Egyptian Government. But I ask you to put your faith in His Majesty's government, and realize that this despatch will mean no change in British policy. A reply to the Egyptian Government will be made shortly."

Sir William also said that he looked forward to the time when Lancashire would be independent of the cotton supplies from the "great west" and would get all its cotton from the British Empire.

Cairo, Egypt.—Premier Nahas explained to Cairo newspaper representatives briefly, Egypt's position with regard to Great Britain.

"In our note to Great Britain," he said, "we have striven on the one side to uphold our country's rights, and on the other to maintain unimpaired our friendly relations with Great Britain."

The note in question was Egypt's rejoinder to the British Government's latest note on the rejection by Egypt of the proposed treaty.

In his explanation the premier dealt solely with Egypt's rejection of the British claim to the right of interference with Egyptian legislation and with Egypt's ability unaided to protect foreigners. Nahas laid stress on his desire to prepare the way for "real friendship."

THE EXTRA STAMINA You Need For Spring Driving

Equipping with Gum-Dipped Tires is an investment in extra safety, speed, comfort and economy. That is why thousands of motorists throughout the country use these tires.

On wet, slippery streets and highways—around sharp turns—maneuvering in and out of traffic—stopping suddenly—you can always depend on the powerful Firestone non-skid tread to hold without slip or skid.

Supporting this safety tread is the special Gum-Dipped carcass, built of cords dipped in a rubber solution which saturates and insulates every fibre of every cord with rubber. This minimizes the friction and heat of high speed service, and strengthens the whole structure of the tire to withstand heavy strains.

Your local Firestone Dealer will serve you better and save you money. See him today.

Canada's Agricultural Wealth

In a recent article on Canada, Irving Fisher, Professor of Economics, Yale University, stated in commenting on agriculture in the Dominion "Canada is increasing her agricultural wealth. Farm production amounting to $1,700,000,000 during 1927, was accompanied by the second largest wheat crop. Montreal, handling about 400,000,000 bushels during the navigation season, claims first position among the grain ports of the world."

A WONDERFUL TRIBUTE

Baby's Own Tablets Declared To Be Worth Their Weight In Gold

A mother has only to use Baby's Own Tablets once to be convinced that nothing else can equal them in banishing the ills of her little ones. Once used, always used, as long as there are small children in the home—that is the tribute thousands of mothers pay the Tablets.

Among the many, many mothers who are anxious to tell of their experience with Baby's Own Tablets is Mrs. Griffith, of East Hamilton, Ont., who writes:—"Shortly after coming to Canada I began giving the Tablets to my baby boy who was then six weeks old. The result was so pleasing that since that time I have always kept the Tablets in the house. I have two children now and both of them are the picture of health. Baby's Own Tablets are the only medicine they have ever had and I really believe the Tablets to be worth their weight in gold."

Baby's Own Tablets are free from all injurious drugs and can be given to the youngest babe with absolute safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The normal atmospheric pressure on the body at sea level is 14.7 pounds per square inch.

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Were it not for a man's faults he might live and die without ever hearing his name mentioned.

Keep Minard's Liniment handy.

The more a man gets the more he wants and the more he wants the more he doesn't get.

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very badly with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life.

"I was very weak and melancholy, and so nervous I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well.

"I was advised to try so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I cannot recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

Price 50c. a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"So they were," he answered. "I was raised on the farm, but I never liked it. That's why I came down to New York in the first place. And when dad died I sold the farm and bought the paper—the old Middleboro Gazette. Couldn't get the virus of printer's ink out of my system."

I waited for Bert to go on, but he said nothing more in response to my question.

"I meant your gold mine," I ventured after a moment of silence. "What sort of business have you been in? You seem to have been successful."

Bert looked at me with a puzzled expression, as if he thought I was trying to kid him. "Why, I just told you," he said. "I bought the Middleboro Gazette."

I saw at once that I must have seemed stupid to Bert. Some big industry had picked Middleboro for its plant and made the country village into a big city, as the General Electric did at Schenectady. But for the life of me I couldn't remember which industry it was. Middleboro? I couldn't think of anything to connect the name of the town with. But I didn't let on to Bert.

"Oh, I see," I responded cheerfully. "And as the town grew big enough for a daily you grew with it, eh? Fine! What's your population now, anyway?"

"About the same as it always has been: maybe a little less," he answered. "Around 2,000. But we've got a circulation of more than 3,000. Not so bad for a country weekly, what? Be a long time before Middleboro will need a daily, if any."

"Hold on a minute, Bert," I gasped. "Let me get this straight. You've been right there in Middleboro for twenty years, running a country weekly in a town of 2,000 people, and now you've retired on your income and your wife goes shopping in Fifth Avenue and——Oh, what's the use? I just can't seem to get this straight. If I hadn't known you as well as I used to, I'd think you were trying to put one over on me. Do you mean to tell me that anybody ever made that much money, or any money more than a bare living, and a poor one at that, out of a conutry weekly? You must have some property besides that, Bert."

"I have now, of course." He grinned back at me. "Naturally I've made investments, same as any business man does with his surplus. I've got a block of stock in the Middleboro National and some shares in the creamery and the cold-storage plant, and a few pieces of business property in the town, and one thing and another of that sort. But it all came out of the Gazette in the first place, and all I had to start with was the $3,000 mother and I got for the farm after dad died. Of course, I've plowed a lot of the profits back into the paper—have to keep a newspaper plant up to date, you know. It'll inventory now—the plant—around $25,000, and the building's worth another $10,000; goodwill and all, I wouldn't take $50,000 for the Gazette. It earns now around 40 per cent. on that figure, and you've no idea how far $20,000 a year will go in a town the size of Middleboro."

"It'll go a long way in New York," I conceded. "What's gets me, though, Bert, is the idea that there's any such money, or the half of it, to be made out of any country weekly paper, anywhere, any time. As my old Yankee granddad used to say, it beats my time. You're sure you're making that out of the paper, not out of the job-printing business?"

I must give Bert credit for being good-natured. He always was; and besides, he'd always liked me in the old days and he knew I liked him a lot. Some men would have got mad to be questioned that way, but he knew I was friendly and interested.

"The job-printing business accounts for about a quarter of it," he said, answering my latter question first. "Job printing's a minor item in a modern country newspaper office instead of being the main reliance, as it used to be. It's a specialty that hasn't got anything really to do with making a newspaper. Fact is, my younger boy—they're both with me in the business now, running the shop—the younger one, Joe, has got an idea he could do better with the job plant if he had it out under its own roof, and we're fixing now to incorporate that separately and let him see what he can make of it. But the old Gazette, standing alone on its own hind legs, has pulled down better than $15,000 a year net for me every year for the past five or six years, and it's getting better all the time.

"Yes, you're right," he went on. "It does beat your time. It's a new thing, this development of the country weekly into a remunerative industry, instead of a hazardous gamble, with the odds all aginst the editor and publisher, as it used to be. It wasn't any too easy the first few years I had the Gazette, though I always took down more than I needed to live on right from the start. And it isn't like taking candy from a baby now get me right on that. A man's got to know the business and work at it same as any other business. But if he does that I don't know any business in the world that'll pay him so big a return on his investment or stand up so solidly under competition from outside or that's so hard to kill.

One night Professor Gazor, the great astronomer noticed through his telescope that various stars in one of the great constellations had different numbers of points to them. He was able to group these odd stars. This discovery so startled the scientific world that it was decided to find out what it all meant. After tremendous research it was decided that one of the planets was using this method to send the world an important message. By mathematical calculation Professor Gazor was able to decipher the message. His colleagues naturally wanted to know all about it, but he would not give them the message. He told them to work it out for themselves.

How He Did It

"You will notice," the professor told them, "some stars have three points, others four points, some five, or six points, etc. The number of points each star has determines what letter of the word of the message that star stands for. For instance if a star has three points it is the letter a. However, if it has four points it is either d, e, or f. Some stars represent only one letter, some 2 letters and some 3 letters. I have worked out the table code for you, now you count the number of points on each star and try to find what letter each star stands for, by referring to the table code. I have correctly arranged the stars so that each row of stars spells a word of the message. In order to help you a bit the first word is "Greatest."

Thus appealed to, Danny Corbett went over to the couch and carefully inspected the young thing that was likely to make inroads in his hard earned income. He put his chapped and dirty little hand very lightly on the glassy, smooth head, and felt its tiny beat. He gently touched the velvety cheek and found it soft as a rose-leaf to his fingers. He put his hand in his pocket and drew out thirty cents in change and looked hard at it. He may have been thinking of cold winds and aching legs—he knew something of them. But his answer was, "Sure Mike! I'll do it. Are you pretty sure her mother will die, Ma?" Danny's tone was eager.

"We ain't wishin' her mother no harm, Ma," Rosie quickly interposed, seeing the rebuke that was coming to her business partner. "We ain't wishin' nobody no harm." Rosie was very anxious not to prejudice the case. "But we know there is always a danger—you know yourself, Ma, that none of us knows one day from another,—we're here today and away tomorrow, as I have often heard you say—and Danny and me are just talkin' it over in case somethin' should happen—that's all."

The warm heart of Maggie Corbett was tender to her offspring at that moment. "Look at that, John, would you? Good little things, after all, and yet it was only this mornin' they were fightin' like drunken shantymen. I often thought if they had had a baby in the house it might have softened them. Well, don't be settin' your hearts on this wee one, for her mother is not goin' to die, I don't think; though you never can tell about a woman when her man has gone back on her."

Outside the snow was still falling. The evergreen trees were bending with the weight of it, their branches hanging down like great white bears' paws. Christmas Eve surged forward with all its infectious gladness as the crowds of belated shoppers increased. The electric fans in the windows were hard pressed to keep back the shooting frost ferns, which threatened to hide the season's offerings. Handsome cutters, with beautiful robes thrown over the backs of the seats, stopped at the curb to let out hurrying shoppers; delivery boys on foot, on wheels, in wagons, loaded with parcels, hurried to the suburbs of the city, sometimes pausing to look in at uncurtained windows where happy families gathered around sparkling tables—families so happy over the arrival of guests that they forgot to draw the blinds and so allowed some of their happiness to overflow into the street. Rosy shaded lamps threw patches of radiance on the glistening snow. Christmas wreaths tied with satin streamers glowed deeply red against the windows. The pulse of the city was beating with laughter and sleighbells.

At the corner of Second Street and Jasper Avenue a congested street car stopped to let out a flock of little girls and boys on their way to the Christmas tree in the First Baptist Church. Certain of the little girls, with their curls protected from the falling snow by being tucked safely away under their toques, were carrying mysterious pasteboard boxes containing sashes and bows and wings for the fairies. Others of them were darkly hooded and masked, their identity and sex entirely unguessed, for were they not cast for the dreadful witches of Shadowland? Accompanying them was a liberal sprinkling of parents, mostly mothers, with a few self-conscious fathers who had the appearance of having been dragged out. The mothers had an air of very conscious unconcern, as if they did not know their little boys or girls were going to take a part that was bound to be the very best thing on the program.

The Salvation Army Citadel blazed with light and pulsed with activity, for the big supper, where all were welcome, was going on, and the odors of turkey and sage and onions, drifting out into the street, compelled the reluctant ones to go in.

At midnight, when the bells were ringing, the snow suddenly stopped in that abrupt Alberta way. The city's lights were so many and so bright against the deep India blue of the sky, it was hard to tell them from the stars, but high overhead was to be seen the North Star, beloved of all bewildered travellers. Now it twinkled and gleamed above all these scenes of good fellowship and merrymaking with unmistakable approval. Into the uncurtained window of the Corbett's big room it peered with a deeper interest and kindlier understanding, for it could see that the Winnipeg couch was drawn out from the wall to make it into a full-sized bed, and in it there slept the unperturbed young Lili with Rose Corbett on one side of her and Daniel Corbett on the other—her two new friends, who had covenanted in her presence and in the presence of each other to furnish her with shelter, care and sustenance in the event of her mother's death. Rose and Daniel Corbett—the underwriters!

CHAPTER XXII.

It was Christmas afternoon when Helmi awakened—Christmas afternoon, the very sound of which brings pictures of children playing with trains on living-room floors, satisfied with turkey and candy, starry-eyed with presents, numb with surprises and joy. Christmas afternoon! Of all the spicy, perfumed, sparkling glorious afternoons of the year the most dazzling and glorious; not merely an afternoon or a day that can be marked on a calendar or divided into hours like other afternoons—not that at all. Christmas afternoon is an atmosphere, a perfume, a sensation, a feeling, a spiritual experience.

It was Christmas afternoon when Helmi awakened. Number 18 in the North Star Rooming House did not suggest festivity, with its bare, buff walls, dull gray paint, elm dresser, iron bed, bare floor, with one strip of Japanese matting worn in the middle down to the threads. But Helmi was not left entirely without some gleam of Christmas, for Rose and Danny who were going to the Salvation Army Cantata that night, went singing down the hall:

"Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus laid down His sweed head," and it brought to Helmi's mind the Christmas story; and because her own heart was more tender than it had ever been, owing to the rise and fall of the little white veil which covered Lili's face, she loved the little Christ Child more than ever, and thought of Him and His pale mother as they lay there in the manger with the noise of cattle all around them.

"The stars in the sky looked down
where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay."

Rosie, just outside the door, was singing as she 'did' the linoleum in the hall with dustless mop; Danny was working farther down the hall.

Helmi was awakened from her dream by the entrance of a little man with a slender black bag in his hand. He came in without knocking, and stood at the bottom of the bed regarding her critically. Before he could frame a question Mrs. Corbett had arrived, having seen the Doctor's car at the front door.

Mrs. Russell, who lived in No. 16 and did the cleaning in the City Hall, and therefore knew something of the correct forms of procedure, had notified the Department of the happening in No. 18. Dr. Symond came over at once. No one likes to be disturbed on Christmas afternoon, when the delicious sizzle of a turkey pulsates in the atmosphere of the house and one has just helped to put two leaves in the dining-room table. Dr. Symond was prepared to be quite stern. Indeed, as a representative of the city authorities how could he help being stern with these unregulated young women who leave their babies on the steps of the City Hall, so to speak. It was becoming entirely too common, and the Property Owners' Association at their last meeting were complaining about it; properly so, too, for they were the people who had to pay the bills. Everyone when in need rushed to the City—widows looking for help — unemployed — homeless—unfortunate girls—all come to the City.

THE BABY TEETH

How many should there be? "Ten little fingers and ten little toes"—making twenty in all—and there you have their number. Easy to remember isn't it?

And when should you begin to look for them? About the sixth or seventh month.

And which comes first? As a rule, the lower front teeth, the central incisor.

So after all baby's fretfulness he has a brand new tooth or two, so white and so sound they look, that you never give a thought to future tooth troubles.

Then the other eighteen or nineteen white coated little "millers" will follow at somewhat regular intervals until Sonny is two years old, when he should have his full temporary set.

These are the temporary or deciduous teeth, being known also as the "milk teeth," from which you will be aware, of course, that they won't be retained right through adult age. They should all remain in place, however, until about the seventh year, when, through the natural process of shedding, they commence to be lost.

Then as the time approaches for the eruption of the second set, unless the first teeth are sufficiently separated in front to allow one or two thicknesses of blotting paper between them, the arches have not properly expanded and the second set is certain to be crowded and irregular. In such a case, the family dentist should always be consulted.

Since Sonny is going to lose these small teeth in good time and get a nice new set, why bother to care for them?

Well, little Sonny does not want a tooth-ache any more than do you, and for several other good reasons of which more to follow.

Little Helps For This Week

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.—Rev. ii. 10.

Why should our spirits be oppresst
When days of darkness fall?
Our Father knoweth what is best,
And He hath made them all.

He made them, and to all their length
Sets parallels of gain;
We gather from our pain the strength
To rise above our pain.

—Alice Cary.

God, who in mercy and wisdom governs the world, would never have suffered so many sadnesses, and have sent them especially to the most virtuous and wisest men, but that He intends they should be the seminary of comfort, the nursery of virtue, the exercise of wisdom, the trial of patience, the venturing for a crown, and the crown of glory.—Jeremy Taylor.
