Lessons Of The Depression

Perhaps the wish is father to the thought but it is quite evident that, in steadily increasing degree, people are expressing the view that the depression which has hung over the world like a fog for the past five years is lifting, slowly perhaps but nevertheless surely, and that gleams of sunlight are seeping through for the encouragement of mankind and the restoration of confidence.

In support of this view statistics are quoted of increased business, rising prices, more employment, increased revenues for the railways, rising national revenues. Betterments of this kind are noted, not in one but in many countries, and from many quarters come reports that there is a growing tendency on the part of people with money to invest to again proceed to do so.

Whether this more optimistic viewpoint is justified we are not in a position to say, and it is just possible that the statistical betterment noted is the result of the injection of artificial stimulants into the arteries of business by governmental bodies, rather than the outcome of a natural and more substantial improvement in conditions. Whatever may be the underlying cause of this slowly returning confidence, it is undeniable that it exists, and people believe that the tide waters which have been running so strongly in an adverse direction for so long have passed the peak and are now beginning to flow in an opposite and more favorable direction.

Coupled with this, there is recognition in Western Canada that, while such betterments may be seen in other parts of the country and the world, there can be no marked improvement throughout this section of the Dominion until it is blessed with more favorable and normal climatic conditions, resulting in some profitable return to our agricultural population for the continuous labor they have expended. Unemployment has not been the curse of the vast majority of Western people. They have worked long and arduous hours, 365 days in the year, but Nature in an unkind mood for some years past has denied to our working farmers any profitable return from their labor; in fact, in thousands of cases no return at all. Loss has been added to loss, and the cumulative effect has been to throw tens of thousands of other people out of employment because there was no work to be had. Such climatic conditions will not permanently continue.

Possibly one of the best indications that the depression is passing is that people are beginning to take note of the lessons which it has taught. Some of these are of a purely material and practical kind. For instance, and despite a certain school of thought which urges that man should plan his activities from year to year, and, as nearly as possible, balance production with consumption, there is a growing recognition of the wisdom displayed in Egypt in the days of the Pharaohs when under the guidance of Joseph they laid by and accumulated reserves in the years of plenty to carry them through the lean years. It is more and more coming to be accepted as a truism that in Western Canada we must do likewise.

But above and beyond the material lessons taught by the depression,—lessons, it is to be hoped, that have been well learned by many—there are moral, ethical, spiritual lessons, the importance and significance of which will, it is also to be hoped, leave a lasting impression.

Ritchie, the famous prize-fighter, is reported to have once said that he never knew how good he was until he got his first licking. Many of us have taken a pretty severe licking in different ways during the past five years. It sometimes does a man good to be thoroughly floored. It may call up reserves of energy that he never realized were his. And this seems to be, ought to be, to the credit side of the depression. Adversity brings out the strength of character of men and women, or the lack of it. Seemingly strong men have gone down and gone under; others have displayed an initiative and developed traits of character and strength which even they did not know they possessed.

Assuming that the fog of the depression is lifting, and that we are again slowly emerging into the sunlight of more prosperous times, now is a good time to take stock of what the depression has actually done to us and taught us as individuals and as a nation. If we correctly size ourselves up as individuals, and profit by our inventory of ourselves, the nation will be better, stronger, more enduring. This, then, is a time for realistic balance sheets,—balance sheets of character, of habits, of motives, as well as, and even more important in the final analysis than balance sheets of money, stocks, bonds and chattels.

"I have just taken a real inventory," said a man who has had his full share of bad business breaks. "I've thrown out a lot of stuff I used to carry as assets. For instance, I carried on my payroll a lot of useless luxuries that were called 'friends.' When I couldn't manage the upkeep any longer, I let them go. Then I found out that they had been standing in front of people that really were friends. I'd been spending time and money on people that didn't mean a thing to me, and neglecting those who did. Now I see a few special people oftener, and have a better time with them. I think, on the whole, I've come through the depression pretty well. The cash value of my estate has shrunk considerably, but that's balanced by a big increase in what can't be measured by any yardstick of dollars and cents. The result is, my net worth is greater. There's a good side to going broke."

How many people have been wasting time, money and energy upon things that really do not count, and neglecting those that are worthwhile and make life what it ought to be and was intended by an all-wise Creator to be.

Has the depression taught you who reads this any lessons? Are you a better man or woman because of the depression, or have you revealed weaknesses of character and slipped? Are you now showing determination to profit by the lessons learned. If so, with all its worries and difficulties and even sufferings, the depression may be turned to good account. It's up to you.

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic Cramps and Stomach Pains

Prompt treatment with Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in such cases relieves the pains, checks the looseness of the bowels, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness, and oftentimes the collapse associated with attacks of this kind.

It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach, and bracing up the weakened system, thus making it a remedy for the treatment of bowel complaints of both young and old.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING REVEAL?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)

(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: These articles on Character from Handwriting have aroused enormous interest. Many readers are sending in specimens of their own handwriting for a personal analysis. If you want your handwriting analysed, see the announcement at the foot of this article).

A Grapho-Analyst's mailbag is very interesting. It is a reflection of people's hopes and fears, worries and problems—it is a very mirror of life itself. And for each question, the Grapho-Analyst can supply an answer.

Hand writing shows so plainly the character of the writer. Grapho-analysis is an X-ray that cuts through the verbiage, and gets right down to the very nature of the writer.

A girl writes in tormented fashion, pleading for advice on how to deal with her brother and father. They are making life miserable for herself and mother, and threaten to do bodily harm if the latter do not do what they are told in regard to some money that the men want. The writing of the father and brother show greed and selfishness, with a brutal will that sometimes gushes over into violence.

Another girl is having trouble with her boy friend. Is he to be trusted? There are many letters of this kind. And very often, we can give a reassuring answer. Sometimes, our advice will hurt—but the truth is what people are asking for.

A mother is very anxious to know the characteristics of her young daughters. And what talents they possess. In this way, she can encourage them along the lines in which they can most progress, and in which they will be happy.

Another mother is perplexed about her boy. He is the only child she has, but she doesn't understand him. Grapho-Analysis reveals his hidden traits, and suggests a line for the mother to work along.

A young man from the West says his life has been miserable, and, try as he will, he cannot do anything right. His writing reveals the tremendous colour in his nature, and the need for great control. He has a hard row to hoe before he can regain normalcy.

The letters show how many people are square pegs in round holes. Real talents wasted because the possessor is in a vocation totally unsuited to him.

Opportunities lost, because people have not developed the essential qualities of will and determination.

Grapho-Analysis is very helpful. It reveals not only the major characteristics, but also those hidden tendencies that are gradually looming up, and will, ere long, affect one's mode of life. If they are strong points, they can be developed. Often, they are potential weaknesses, and need curbing. Grapho-analysis shows the way.

What does your handwriting show? Let a skilled Grapho-Analyst tell you the secrets that your writing reveals. You will be surprised at the revelations. Find out the true characters of your friends. Send specimens of the writing you want analysed, and enclose 10c coin for each. Enclose with 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters are confidential and will be answered as soon as possible, but please allow at least two weeks for your reply.

Old Ship Scuttled

Otago Was Once Commanded By Conrad The Novelist

Sixty-three years ago a small sailing ship of 348 tons, the Otago, left Liverpool for Port Chalmers, New Zealand. She did the voyage in the almost record time of 85 days, and many were the yarns told of her, both in the town and at her destination.

Now she has been taken out to sea for the last time and scuttled. It just did not pay to break her up. But her past was a tale of romance. She was once the command of Joseph Conrad, novelist, and later he made references to her in his books—"The Mirror of the Sea," "Falk," and "The Shadow Line."

Built in 1869, she put up some fine performances. Once she sailed 300 miles in 24 hours. Her last days were spent as a coal hulk in Hobart, Tasmania, a battered but proud vessel.

California has more than 17,000 trees with trunks at least 10 feet in diameter.

Abner Doubleday, of Troy, N.Y., founded the American national game, baseball.

World Peace

League Of Nations Society In Canada Organizing Mass Meeting

Canadians are vitally interested in world peace. Primarily this is true because of the humanitarian outlook of our people and because of the stress we rightly place upon law and order in all realms, not excluding that of international affairs. This general outlook is strengthened for us by two special considerations. Firstly, our position as a member of the British Commonwealth would make it exceedingly difficult for us to avoid becoming involved in any large-scale conflict. Secondly, our trade position as a great exporting country makes it exceedingly important for us that confidence, peace and financial stability be restored throughout the world.

The League of Nations Society in Canada is organizing a series of mass meetings throughout Canada late in October, 1934, with a view to bringing these and other important considerations before our people and developing a sound public opinion in support of the maintenance of peace. The three signatories hereto, being the Saskatchewan members of the National Council of the Society, urge all communities in Saskatchewan to join with the rest of Canada in this demonstration by organizing local meetings and addresses at that time. Programs and necessary information and assistance can be obtained from the Society's office, 124 Wellington Street, Ottawa, on request.

Canada is not a militaristic nation, but the best safeguard against its becoming so and the best assurance of our influence remaining a steady one at Geneva and elsewhere abroad is the development of a strong public opinion within our own country. We therefore confidently and earnestly commend this program to our fellow citizens of Saskatchewan. L. C. Brouillette, Regina; Andrew S. Sibbald, Saskatoon; (Mrs.) Violet McNaughton, Saskatoon.

Submarines Made Safer

FEAR THE PEACE OF EUROPE MAY BE DISTURBED

Paris.—Fear the double assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France might wreck the continent's peace as did the killing of Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo 20 years ago, lessened as time passed without bringing any major developments.

But the 20 deadly bullets fired by Petrus Kalemén at Marseilles left France shaken politically and Europe nervous over what may come next.

In many quarters belief that Kalemén may have altered the course of events in Europe was freely expressed.

The question of the assassin's nationality, highly important because of its political implications, preoccupied police over the continent, and everywhere authorities sought clues which might enable them definitely to identify him.

France's Sureté National and authorities at Praha, Czechoslovakia, insisted the Czech passport found on Kalemén's body, which apparently had been visaed by Yugoslavian authorities at Zagreb, was forged.

Among documents seized in the homes of Yugo-Slav Separatists in Paris, police said, was one calling Alexander "tyrant king and traitor of this country."

Meanwhile, trouble for the government of Premier Doumergue appeared to be brewing over responsibility for failure to protect King Alexander, as groups of demonstrators on the boulevards shouted insults at police and Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, for failure to prevent the assassination.

Interpellations already have been filed in the chamber of deputies and certain French newspapers have criticized the government sharply, while opponents have suggested it is time to overhaul the government of "tragically-weakened authority."

Premier Doumergue himself took over the duties of Foreign Minister Barthou.

Throughout Europe police are searching for information about a group of international terrorists believed to have plotted the assassination of King Alexander.

Meeting secretly in some remote Balkan hideaway, police believe, the band of assassins drew lots to determine who would give his life to slay the king of Yugo-Slavia.

The task falling to Petrus Kalemén, the gang is believed to have planned the assassination in the fullest detail and equipped the slayer before sending him over the French frontier from Vallorbe, Switzerland.

Declares War On Racketeers

Ontario Government Will Protect People Against Improper Financial Practices

Toronto.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn declared his Ontario government would "wage war without quarter through its securities commission on financial racketeers and all persons engaging in improper financial practices."

The premier made the statement following a meeting of the cabinet.

"To this end new regulations were passed to strengthen the arm of Securities Commissioner Godfrey and to place his commission on a self-supporting basis," the premier said in a long statement.

Winnipeg.—Mr. Justice A. K. Dysart has been elected chairman at a meeting of the board of governors of the University of Manitoba, succeeding D. C. Coleman, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was recently transferred to Montreal. H. A. Bergman, K.C., was named vice-chairman to succeed Mr. Justice Dysart.

President Of Hospital Association
Edmonton.—S. H. Adams, K.C., Calgary, was elected new president of the Alberta Hospitals Association at the closing session of the annual convention here.

Society Woman Abducted

Wife Of Wealthy Kentucky Oil Man Is Kidnapped

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, young society leader and wife of a wealthy oil man, was seized from her fashionable home by a kidnapper who left a note containing a demand for $50,000 ransom.

Beaten by the abductor, who gained entrance into the house on a pretext and left her maid bound and gagged, Mrs. Stoll was spirited away in an automobile.

Federal, city and county authorities immediately began a wide search.

Mr. Stoll discovered the kidnapping when he returned home from the office late in the afternoon. There he found the maid bound, hand and foot.

The maid said the abductor got into the house on the pretext of wanting to use the telephone. The maid was quoted as saying she "never saw a more fiendish-looking man."

As soon as he entered the house the man drew a pistol from his pocket and forced the maid to help him bind Mrs. Stoll's hands with tape. He was unusually rough, the maid said, and this was evidenced by traces of blood found on the floor.

The abductor was described as being between 30 and 35 years old, about five feet eight inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, having black hair parted in the centre.

Mr. Stoll later issued a statement addressed to the kidnapper and asked that it be published:

"Berry Stoll has just found the note regarding the ransom and arrangements are being made accordingly."

He declined to make contents of the ransom note public, but it was learned that in addition to demanding money it contained a threat that William A. Stoll, president of the Stoll Refining Company, was "next on the list". He is a brother of Berry Stoll, the vice-president, and is president of the Louisville Board of Trade. Stoll said the ransom note was found in an upstairs bedroom.

People Living Longer

So Insurance Companies May Raise Annuity Rates

Chicago.—People are learning to live so long that annuity insurance premiums are likely to be higher in the future.

Arthur B. Wood, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, indicated that in an address before the American Life convention in which he warned that "if annuity premium rates are based on the assumption that recent past experiences will be repeated, they will probably prove insufficient."

He suggested that "to avoid incurring an ultimate loss, additional provision should be made for anticipated increase in longevity."

Outlaws Capture Missionaries

Chinese Take Three Church Workers Prisoners In Southern Province

Peking, China.—A dispatch to the British legation from Chungking, said three foreign missionaries, including Miss Grace Emblem, a British subject, had been captured by outlaws.

They were taken prisoners at Lohuanping, 80 miles east of Kwelyang, Kweichow province (southern China), the dispatch stated.

Advices from Shanghai said Miss Emblem is attached to the China Inland mission. The other captives are an Englishman and a Swiss.

Greater Service Promised

George Hoadley, minister of health, when addressing members of the Alberta Hospital Association and the Association of Registered Nurses in joint annual convention.

Rise In Wheat Prices

Average Export Value Shows Sharp Increase

Ottawa.—The sharp rise in the export value of wheat in August, when it reached $12,868,000, was more than maintained in September, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. The quantity exported in September was 17,538,359 bushels and the value $15,323,000, about $300,000 more than a year ago.

The average export price in September was 87.1 cents as against 75.9 cents last year. During the first six months of the current fiscal year the export value was $68,937,000 compared with $60,279,000 last year, a gain of about $8,500,000, the bureau states.

Refunding Loan

Believed That Original Amount Has Been Over Subscribed

Ottawa.—With the 1934 refunding loan an unqualified success no definite figures of recent applications were issued but it was learned the only reason the books were being left open was to enable further conversions of 1919 Victory bonds. The government was assured the original objective of $250,000,000 would be more than reached but it was desirous of securing as many conversions as possible even if it were necessary to scale down some of the larger subscriptions to keep the total issue within the figure set.

Horse Brings High Price

Brandon, Man.—Believed to be the highest price paid in Manitoba for a horse in years, "Jack," a three-year-old draft gelding Clydesdale, was sold for $400 to A. Leslie of Watrous, Sask. Winner of the Manitoba grand championship, "Jack" will be exhibited at the Royal Winter Show in Toronto.

Mining Town Growing

Jellicoe, Ontario, In Midst Of Real Estate Boom

Jellicoe, Ont.—A real estate boom has struck this taxless mining town as prospectors, geologists, miners and others rush to grab land and erect shelter against fast-approaching winter that snow will crack down on the scene of Canada's newest gold scramble.

All along the Canadian National Railways' right-of-way from the station to what was until recently Jellicoe's only pretence at a hotel, hammers and saws resound as the town grows like a mushroom. Mining companies are constructing living and storage quarters at the mining country base, trying to finish them before the impending freeze-up.

Lots have been rented by the railway along the right-of-way and beside the rusty sidings. Houses, shanties and new stores are being built. A new hotel-hunkhouse has been finished and all available sleeping space around its walls is rented, much of it permanently.

The problem of sleeping accommodation has been solved to some extent by arrival on one siding of a tourist sleeping car in which the railway company rents berths at nightly rates of $1.50 for a lower and $1 for an upper.

Follower Of Gandhi

Madeline Slade, Former Society Girl, Reaches New York On Mission

New York.—Madeline Slade, former English society girl, who nine years ago became "Mirabai," chief woman lieutenant of M. K. Gandhi, has arrived to "give Americans a clear conception of Gandhi."

She travelled third class on the Majestic, and said she regretted having been unable to use even more humble accommodations.

"Mirabai," daughter of a former admiral and oil magnate before she renounced social life to follow Gandhi, was dressed in homespun clothing, a man's coat, and cheap Indian sandals.

Miss Slade said she came on the invitation of the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, chairman of the American League for India's Freedom, for a lecture series.

May Return To Britain

Report Says Earl Of Egmont Will Take Seat In House Of Lords

London.—Preparations are being made at Avon Castle, Hampshire, for the early return of the Earl of Egmont, his wife and their infant son, according to the Daily Mail.

The earl, who is only 20 years of age, is living at present on his Alberta ranch near Calgary.

The Mail says it is the intention of the earl to return to Avon Castle before he reaches his majority next April and to take his seat in the house of lords.

CZECHS FEAR FOR AILING LEADER

Dr. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, the founder and only president of the Czechoslovakian republic, is said to be slowly ailing, and political observers believe he will not be able to serve much of his third successive term, to which he was elected several months ago. Now 84 years old, President Masaryk has watched his "brain child" grow to manhood, with a powerful voice among European nations, and serve as the last outpost of democracy in dictatorship-ridden central Europe. He resides most of the time in his huge castle in the capital, Prague. Our pictures show the veteran leader, and a view of Prague.

SOME CONTROL OF INDUSTRY MAY BE INSTITUTED

Ottawa.—Suffering more widespread than that caused by the Great War had been brought about by uncontrolled business, Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, stated in an address here.

"We are going to have industrial control in Canada whether we like it or not," he declared. "Industry has shown conclusively that it can not conduct itself.

"For the good of business itself, for the good of the people, in order that sweat shops which the Stevens' investigation has shown to be so prevalent may be abolished, some control will have to be instituted. But we must go carefully or we might establish a dictatorship.

"Legislation should be brought into effect only after collective agreements between those concerned—employer, employee and consumer. It must be uniform throughout the Dominion. After that, the people should boycott all those who will not live up to the regulations and drive out those who will not play the game fairly. We must see that business is for public benefit and not for private profit."

Bringing of the British North America Act up to date, unemployment insurance and industry-control were three ways in which Canada could combat "rebellious feeling," which, he believed, was far more extensive than generally realized.

In considering unemployment insurance, Mr. Moore suggested certain provisions which he thought necessary for social legislation for Canada, such as insurance be contributory, as many as possible be insured, but not to include those who for physical or other reasons were unemployable and who would be looked after by other means; benefits to be in cash; qualifications to be governed by the number of contributions made.

Although it had been said when unemployment insurance was first proposed that it would impoverish the country, stated Mr. Moore, since 1930 Canada had spent $300,000,000 in direct relief and was now spending $60,000,000 per month.

Chinese Charged With Possession Of Opium

Two In Saskatoon Alleged To Have $5,000 Worth

Saskatoon.—War against narcotic peddlers, recently waged successfully in Montreal with the breaking of an important international dope ring, opened in Saskatchewan with the arrest of two Chinese merchants of Saskatoon in alleged possession of $5,000 worth of opium. With the arrests police believed they had secured the leaders of an important dope ring in the prairies. It was believed the largest seizure in the history of the province.

The arrests were made under the direction of Detective Sergeant L. J. Black, of Edmonton, in charge of the narcotics division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Alberta. Sergeant Black recently returned from Montreal where he participated in the breaking of the $1,000,000 ring led by Pincus Brechor, wealthy New Yorker, who committed suicide after his conviction.

Those arrested were D. Lem, alias Dai Kwok Lune, and Fred Hewa, who also is believed to have business connections in rural points.

Returns From Orient

Victoria.—Hon. C. H. Cahane, secretary of state for Canada, and Mrs. Cahane returned here aboard the liner Empress of Japan after a holiday trip to the Orient. "It was purely a holiday trip, so I have nothing to say about business or my impressions of the Orient," he said. "I enjoyed my trip very much and I saw a great deal."

U.S. Crop Report

Washington.—The United States wheat crop was estimated at 496,082,000 bushels for this year by the department of agriculture, which also reported the indicated corn crop at 1,416,722,000 bushels, showing the ravages of this year's severe drought.

"I'm glad my friends can call me now"

"We had a telephone put in our house a few days ago," said Mrs. Jiggers, "and we're already realizing its many advantages. What I enjoy most is the close contact it gives me with my friends. When we were without a telephone, I missed so many social affairs because my friends had difficulty in getting in touch with me. But those days are over. I'm glad my friends can call me now."

HOME BREW

Compilation of the voters list that will be used in the Dominion election next year is now under way in all sections of the valley, and in view of the importance of the oncoming federal contest all residents should make it their own business to see to it that their names are enrolled. Our impression is that in making up the roll the enumerators will take the list used at the provincial election of November last as a guide thus assuring the registration of the bulk of the old voters. As enumerators are paid so much a name for all registrations it will be good business on their part to see that none are overlooked, but they are only human, and being liable to err the Review would advise all newcomers, particularly, to personally make sure their names are taken. After completing their work the lists will be posted for inspection and about the middle of November a couple of days will be set apart for a final revision, all of which will provide ample time for all to see to it that they are registered. Whoever is responsible for choosing the enumerators is to be complimented on the choices made—both on the score of their ability, and in departing from the old time policy of choosing only men favoring the party in power.

Canyon City

Wilf. Bond has just purchased a 20-acre tract of cutover land in the vicinity of the Ridd ranch, and is busy with clearing operations.

H. Young is on the rounds making up the new voters list, and will complete the work this week. Already 140 names have been recorded.

Basketball has caught on at the school, and under the direction of Principal Hunden practices are held after school on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Due to the poor prices received on Wealthy apples the past few years, a number of the orchardists at Canyon are cutting out these trees and will replant to winter varieties.

Canyon Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary treated Mrs. A. A. Bond to a surprise party on Friday last. The occasion was her birthday for which she was suitably remembered. Business and pleasure were combined as the gathering was the regular monthly meeting of the organization.

Rev. Andrew Walker officiated at an interesting October wedding at the United Church at 2 p.m., Monday, October 15th, at which he united in marriage Miss Helen, eldest daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, with Lloyd, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Leadbetter of Erickson. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attired in allover rayon and silk white lace with mohair hat, carrying a bouquet of white and pink chrysanthemums and fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Johnson, who wore blue flat crepe and beige lace with white accessories. Her bouquet was of roses and yellow mums. The best man was Stuart Penson. O.M. Samuelson was usher and the church was beautifully decorated with yellow and white roses and streamers. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens, wedding bells and roses. Mrs. Kolthammer officiated at the organ and during the signing of the register sang "O Promise Me." The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl and amber dressing set, and the bride's gift to the groom a military brush and comb set. The bridesmaid was remembered with an ivory dressing set, and the best man got cuff links. After the ceremony there was a wedding dinner and reception at the bride's home with about 80 guests present. Later in the afternoon the happy couple left on an auto trip to Cranbrook and points east, and on their return will reside at Erickson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Leadbetter have a host of friends and hearty good wishes for a successful future are extended by all.

There will be Anglican service at the schoolhouse on Sunday, 21st, at 11 a.m. with celebration of Holy Communion.

Bud Franklin left last week for prairie points, with a truckload of apples. His sister, Mrs. G. Ward and sister-in-law, Miss J. McRea, accompanied him.

Mrs. Applewaite of Willow Point and Mrs. Percival of Creston were visitors Wednesday last, for the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, at the home of Mrs. R. Andestad.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Meadows and daughter, June, of Macleod, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm, all of Kimberley, were callers with Mr. Mrs. A. Martell the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cruickshank and daughter, Jean, of Hillcrest, Alberta, and the former's sister, Miss J. Cruickshank of Toronto, Ontario, were visitors last week with Mr. and Mrs. Martell.

A Glasier, chairman of the school board, presided at the ratepayers meeting on Wednesday evening last in the hall annex. The business under consideration was taxation of those sending children to school who do not pay property tax. After a lengthy discussion there was a motion submitted that $2 be the minimum rate, with option to add 50 per cent. which meeting adopted. There was another lengthy discussion on the purchase of a piano for the school. A motion that the trustees purchase a piano failed to carry.

The October meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, at the home of Mrs. R. Andestad, on Friday afternoon, was favored with the attendance of Mrs. Applewaite, diocesan president of the W.A., and Rev. and Mrs. Percival of Creston. The latter reported on the conference at Cranbrook the day previous, and the former gave a talk on W.A. work in China, Japan, India and Canada, stressing the need of clothes for residents in the dried out area on the prairies. Plans for the November sale were discussed. Afternoon tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hackett.

Cranbrook Courier: Thomas E. Mountford, of Wynndel, elected delegate to the Soviet Union, was the principal speaker at a public meeting in Maple hall Tuesday evening. Mr. Mountford expects to leave soon for Russia to make a first hand study of conditions and bring back a report. He spoke for almost an hour pointing out why it was necessary to send delegates to the Soviet Union, that unbiased deductions be made and truthful reports brought home. Robert Adams occupied the chair and introduced the speakers. He reported that the comrades had contributed liberally towards a fund to defray the expenses of the delegate, and that they were only about $50 short of the amount needed. The hat was passed and everyone seemed to dig up something. True there were nickels and dimes, but a few $1 bills were noticed as well.

Wynndel Women's Institute

Wynndel Women's Institute met in October session at the church on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Vic. Johnson, in the chair. Minutes of previous meeting as well as treasurer's statement were read and approved. The hospital committee reported the purchase of a chair for the Wynndel W.I. room at Creston hospital. There was no further information with reference to the blankets. The sick visiting committee reported letters sent to a mother congratulating her on the arrival of a baby. There was a letter from the Solarium asking for a donation for the X-ray. This matter was discussed and it was decided to have afternoon bridge parties to secure the necessary funds to aid the plan. The first of these will be at the home of Mrs. J. G. Abbott, with Mrs. Andestad, Mrs. Towson, Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Glasier to help with refreshments. Mrs. E. Uri donated one of the prizes, and the other is given by Mrs. Abbott Wednesday, 24th, set for the first of these. Final arrangements for hallowe'en party were made. Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Hagen to be in charge of lunch. The needed funds for basketball purposes were discussed and motion carried that proceeds of drawing for Afghan be given the club and also a bridge drive be sponsored and proceeds also donated

New Regulations Have Teeth

Under Regulations Just Issued Crowder Cannot Truck His Own Fruit—New Regulations Became Effective Thursday.

After taking about three weeks to become thoroughly familiar with the local situation, followed by a conference at the end of the week at Kelowna with the members of the B.C. Tree Fruit Board, W. G. Littlejohn, the Valley representative of the board, has now received advice of new regulations concerning truckers that the board has passed and which have been approved by the Natural Products Marketing Act Board at Ottawa. The two outstanding regulations are:

The carriage of a regulated product to market by motor vehicle is prohibited, except when such vehicle is being operated solely as a common carrier.

Any common carrier operating a motor vehicle must apply for a permit from a representative of the local board at Kelowna, Salmon Arm, Creston or Robson, for each shipment, before loading, which permit will be issued to him upon such representative being satisfied that the requirements of the board are being complied with.

A "common carrier" has been defined as one who is in the transfer business transporting goods for other people; the carrier not being interested in the commodities he transports. As interpreted to the Review this will entirely eliminate the trucker who brings in grain, feed, etc., to exchange for fruit.

The strong point to the second clause is that the trucker must get a permit for each load taken out, and such permit must be obtained before any fruit is bought. This new regulation is to be still more strictly enforced by the local representative who will tell the party applying for permit where he can secure his supplies, and in what quantities and varieties.

While these new features to the regulations may appear a bit arbitrary the trucker can only blame himself for the drastic steps that have been taken. Just how the law has been evaded is disclosed in a letter to the board from Calgary telling of a trucker selling fruit in that city whose load was supposed to consist of Winter Banana, Macs and Wealthys. Instead of Wealthys the load actually contained Delicious, which were being offered for sale before their sale had been authorized by the B.C. Tree Fruit Board. This load had passed the necessary inspection at this end, and it is figured that the driver after getting his clearance, had unloaded the Wealthys and filled the boxes up with the Delicious. Local experience with many of the truckers has shown them to have little regard for the truth in information advanced the representative and equally competent in supplying false invoices and generally refusing to comply with regulations, hence the decision to put some teeth in the regulations and to strictly enforce them. Even bribes have been offered the representative.

Since writing the above, after a phone conversation with the Board at Kelowna, regarding a definite decision on the reading of the above regulations, the following wire has been received:

Kelowna, Oct. 17
W. G. LITTLEJOHN,
Creston.

Solely as a common carrier means carrier who has no interest in product other than his earnings for carrying same. This means grower cannot truck his own product to market, nor can buyer carry his purchases.
B.C. TREE FRUIT BOARD

On Wednesday the local representative, with agreement with Mr. Brown, field representative of the B.C. Tree Fruit Board, has agreed that permits shall be issued to certain individuals who are in the valley that day, who can satisfy the board officials of the bona fides of their dealings. After this no permits can be issued except under the regulations as above.

Canada's Defrosting Chamber

New Method Used In Handling Chilled And Frozen Products

A most important advance has been made in the handling of Canadian chilled and frozen products transported by ship and rail. The bogey of water-vapour condensation has been laid. The Canadian government has constructed a special vapour-tight chamber of 30,000 cubic feet capacity at the Port of London, England, for handling chilled and frozen meat. The chamber is the result of experiments conducted by the National Research Council of Canada upon the defrosting of frozen foodstuffs and is operated by the Port of London authority. It is designed to prevent the condensation of water-vapour from the outside atmosphere upon the products after removal from the ships' holds. Thus, one of the bugbears in the transportation of frozen and chilled products has been removed.

The matter for some time has had the close attention of Canadian scientists. Quite recently the serious effects of moisture from the atmosphere upon foodstuffs removed from cold storage were exemplified in certain shipments of chilled poultry to the British Isles when the average outside temperature at the port of arrival was 55 degrees F., and the relative humidity about 85 per cent. Under these conditions condensation was very pronounced and led to a study of the problem. The method thus evolved of avoiding condensation on chilled poultry is, of course, applicable to all types of chilled products.

Steamship Nascopic Returns From Trip To Far North

The ice-scarred steamship Nascopic, commissioned by the Hudson's Bay Company, and carrying the Canadian government's 1934 Arctic expedition, has returned to Halifax.

As a result of heavy snow and ice conditions the Nascopic was not able to get as far north as planned. Captain Thomas H. Smellie said he had encountered snow and ice on the return trip also and was ice-bound for a week in James Bay and a week in Hudson Strait.

There were three women on board, Mrs. George E. Brown, of Gates Mills, Ohio, who with her husband had joined the vessel as tourist at Churchill; Mrs. Carol Saucier, nurse at the mission post at Pangnirtung, N.W.T., and Miss Millicent Blake, nurse with the Grenfell mission in Labrador.

There were 10 Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, eight returning from their posts at Port Burwell, Lake Harbor, Pangnirtung and Pond's Inlet. The others were Superintendent T. H. Irvine, officer commanding "G" division at Ottawa, and Quartermaster-Sergeant W. C. Tyack, who had conducted an inspection of the eastern Arctic detachment.

Walking For a Wager

Saskatchewan Youth Has Already Covered Two Thousand Miles

With about 2,000 miles behind him and about four times that far to go before he can collect a wager he made with the mayor of Waldeck, Sask., Ernest Wall, of Waldeck, sauntered into Montreal, October 1.

Wall made a bet with his mayor that he could start with 10 cents in his pocket and walk 10,000 miles in one year. He set out from his home town July 6 and has walked ever since, travelling to Montreal across the prairies and the desolate north shore of Lake Superior. From Montreal he heads towards the maritime provinces.

To collect his winnings, the 21-year-old Saskatchewan youth must not travel on the same road twice. Nor must he snatch rides on freight trains. He must get the signature of the mayor of every city and town he visits and must obtain one signature for every mile he walks. He is not permitted to ask for aid or remuneration for services rendered, but can accept anything given voluntarily.

Agricultural And National Income

Farming The Chief Single Industry Of The Canadian People

Agriculture is the chief single industry of the Canadian people. Although in recent years its net production in value has been surpassed by that of manufactures, it is predominantly the principal industry of primary production. In addition to providing employment to more than one-third of the "gainfully occupied" males in Canada, agriculture provides the raw material for many Canadian manufacturing industries and its products in raw and manufactured form constitute a very large percentage of Canadian exports.

The net production of the five-eighths of the Canadian people who were engaged in what is termed the creation of "form utilities" was given in 1930 as $3,216,746,735 to which the primary industries (agriculture, forestry, fisheries, trapping, mining, and electric power) contributed $1,525,528,806, and the secondary industries (construction, custom and repair, and manufactures) gave $2,144,233,476. Of the net production of the primary industries of $1,525,528,806, agriculture was responsible for $758,791,743, which is nearly equal to half of the amount produced. The various producing divisions of agriculture were field crops, fruits and vegetables, maple products, tobacco, grass and clover seed, honey, flax fibre, farm animals, wool, dairy butter, creamery butter, homemade cheese, factory cheese, miscellaneous factory products, milk consumed or otherwise used, poultry and eggs and fur farming pelts and animals.

Former Month's Journey Now Made In Hour And Half

Freighting of 40 huskies, seven trappers and 14,000 pounds of supplies and equipment into the remote Barren Lands east of Fort Reliance on the eastern shore of Great Slave Lake is the task Pilot Conway Farrell, Canadian Airways Ltd., performed recently.

Each flight into the barrens is made in an average time of one hour and a half, compared with a month of gruelling portaging, canoeing and repacking work which the trappers had to do each summer before they became modernized and "took to the air."

In the old days the trappers went in by canoes, which they abandoned in the spring when they came out with dog teams. This necessitated a new canoe each year, so that they can actually fly in by aeroplane cheaper than going overland, beside avoiding a month's hard work, aviation officials here revealed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 21

THE CHRISTIAN AT PRAYER

Golden text: "Continuing steadfastly in prayer." Romans 12:12.
Lesson: Matthew 6:5-15; Ephesians 3:14-21.

Devotional Reading: John 17:17-26.

Explanations And Comments

The Christian Prayer, verse 6. Jesus bids his disciples take the opposite course, seek all possible privacy. When you pray, shut out the world, and shut yourself in with God—enter into your inner chamber, the place where you can be alone with God, and having shut the door, pray to your Father who is in secret. For Nathanael the place for prayer was under the fig-tree; for Peter, it was on the housetop. Jesus made the mountains and the garden his place of prayer.

The Futile Prayer, verse 7. Jesus also cautioned his disciples to avoid such vain (empty) repetitions as the Gentiles used, who repeated the same words over and over, relying upon the words rather than upon their meaning. Do not pray by rote, like pagans, is Moffatt's translation. Compare the vain repetitions of the priests of Baal, 1 Kings 18:20, and of the Ephesians in their worship of Diana, Acts 19:34, and the rabbinical saying that "Prolix prayer prolongeth life."

The Model Prayer, verses 9-13. After this manner therefore pray ye. Note the simple, direct petitions of the model prayer, the Lord's Prayer as we call it, which Jesus gave them so utterly different from the vain repetitions of the pagans. After this manner therefore pray ye. This does not mean that the prayer which follows is the only prayer pleasing to God, nor that it should always form part of one's prayer. The prayer given is a model for all prayer in that it deals with divine and with human interests, with spiritual more than with temporal wants. There are six petitions in the prayer. The first three put God first: they speak of "thy name", "thy kingdom", "thy will", before the petitions about "our bread", "our sins", "our temptations".

Our Father, who are in heaven. The prayer is alone only as far as other human beings are concerned; he is in the presence of the Heavenly Father, and must let the realization of that Presence fill his mind and heart.

Little Journeys In Science

THE MOON

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Most familiar to us of all the planets is the moon. This satellite of the earth has been closely observed by astronomers because it is nearer to the earth than any of the other planets, rotating at an average distance of 218,818 miles from us. Calculated by trigonometry, its diameter is believed to be about 2,160 miles, and it has a surface of about one-fourteenth of that of the earth.

The moon receives its light from the sun, and what we call moonlight is really reflected sunlight. No traces of organic life are seen on the moon, and its surface is believed to be bone dry, with neither moisture nor gases on it. Observed through telescopes, it is believed to be covered with ranges of mountains, valleys, and craters. The highest mountains are believed to rise about 36,000 feet.

The moon was in ancient times the object of many superstitions, and was worshipped by primitive people. No definite theory is accepted as to its origin, but scientists from time to time have endeavored to explain how it was formed.

Henri Poincare, a French scientist, believed that the earth was at first a pear-shaped mass, and that in its swift motion through space it threw off one end, the dislodged piece commencing to revolve on its own axis and taking up the position of the moon.

George H. Darwin, son of the great biologist, advanced the theory that in the formation of the earth the sun exerted great force on the earth's surface, pulling up huge tidal masses. With a particularly strong force, the theory continues, a mass of earth was pulled completely into space, forming the moon. Both these theories are accepted to some extent, but scientists still seek other explanations.

Some people are too honest to take advice they haven't paid for, and others are too wise.

Safety Of Children

Cold weather source of discomfort and danger

Children's skins are very tender. Fall and winter winds and dampness quickly make them tender, raw and sore. They need the protection of Hinds Honey and Almond Cream. This smooth creamy lotion gives protection and relief to little hands, necks and faces.

Worse than the soreness, is the danger which lurks when sore skin becomes cracked and bleeding from constant exposure. Those open, smarting cracks in little hands can easily become infected. Apply Hinds Honey and Almond Cream generously to tender skins—its smooth, cool texture will soothe hands and faces after washing, and form an adequate protection against wind and dampness. An instant relief for chapped hands—a constant protection against them—Hinds Honey and Almond Cream has been the reliable remedy for old and young since 1875.

On sale at all drug stores.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY

Author of "The Coronado Trail", "The Canyon Trail", Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerard Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward wild west outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

(Now Go On With The Story)

This time Spike scoffed openly. It was no secret on any ranch in Seco Valley that Edith Carr, the red-headed, fiery-tempered daughter of the old owner of the Hour-glass, did exactly as she chose. So did her father . . . in most things for she dominated even the dour old man whom most men feared. Edith was not red-headed for nothing and Dustin had discovered it once to his sorrow. When he and Spike had first bought up the loose scrip that gave them title to the Broken Spur, he had vaguely noted the red-headed unformed schoolgirl who occasionally went to the infrequent Valley dances. Then five years passed; she became the rage and he was suddenly aware that the unformed girl had developed almost overnight into the perfectly formed woman whom men openly coveted.

It was a full two years since Dustin saw her when his eyes were opened. She was coming out of the post office in Seco and he, about to enter, stood as though paralyzed at sight of her. Her gray eyes stared at him unseeing and her bright head was upflung as she passed and a couple of "dry farmers" giggled. Dustin flushed. He did not know nor would he have cared had he known that that very morning old Joe Carr had commented on his known conduct at a Mexican dance and on a household that he maintained in Sepulvida. Dustin raised his hat and stepped up to her.

"Aren't you goin' to say 'Good morning'?" he asked quietly.

"To you? Why? . . ." Edith stopped and looked at him as one might look at a mangy dog and that looked burned even Sam Dustin.

"I'd like to walk up the street with you," he suggested.

The loafers at the office-door did not hear his words but they saw him drop into step with her and they nudged each other. Then they saw her stop and draw herself up. There was no mistaking her words. They came with the whir and snap of a whip-lash.

"The street is open to the public, I believe," she said. "When I walk with any one it will not be with a 'squaw man'."

That was all. Dustin, the big man of the Broken Spur, dropped back. His face was white with wrath and his lips were set. The men who saw it all never said a word about it till they got safely home but after that, word spread. They watched him snatch his horse from the tie-rack and they preserved the silence of the damned till his horse was swallowed up in a dust-wreath. Then:

"She sure set fire to his shirt-tail," quoth old Styles. The others giggled uncomfortably. They knew Dustin fairly well.

Sam Dustin neither forgave nor forgot that incident and more than once he had planned revenge but no opportunity came his way. That one hot encounter marked Edith Carr as the only person in the Valley worth the time and patience to tame her and Dustin swore to himself that tamed she should some day be. Some day he would bring her to heel.

He had sense enough not to try to force his attentions on her. He knew old Joe Carr too well for that for the old man was one of the old breed that held their women-folk sacrosanct. The man must be better than ordinary to get his legs under old Joe Carr's table where the pretty Edith held sway. That was also the beginning of trouble for the Hour-glass ranch.

It was a big ranch. For miles its wire flung up into the hills and its broad ranges pastured many cattle. But hard luck dogged old Joe Carr's narrow heels. First beef dropped to nine dollars! Then to six . . . ! Then a bucking pony slammed him against a bucking-post in the corral and broke his leg in two places. The break healed imperfectly. It had to be rebroken twice and the pain and the irritation over being a cripple when every man was urgently needed, awoke the old fever that had never really subsided since Edith's mother was laid away in the little burying-ground under the great alamos . . . cotton-woods.

From day to day Edith tried gallantly to stop that solitary drinking. She saw her father go into his office after supper; she saw the door close and she knew only too well what was taking place behind that closed door. Twice she tried to force an entry but each time she was repelled and the door was locked. Sick at heart, for she knew what the trouble was, she fled to old Frank Crewe, the foreman.

"Is there no way to make him stop?" she sobbed. "Oh, Frank! You know what it means! He's too good a man to go wrong at a time like this."

Crewe nodded. "He's too good a man to run off the straight at all," he said. "I've busted his bottles till the back-corral looks like a bankrupt glass foundry. Miss Edith, but I'll be darned if I can make him see sense. The size of the matter is that he's just plumb worryin' hisself into his bed and he's drinkin' to keep out of it. Darn him! He ought to know that with times like they are those two men Dustin and Goddard over at the Broken Spur are just settin' up at night's waitin' for a chance at him. If he aint darned careful they'll git it too."

They did get their chance and they knew well how to take advantage when it came their way. They both knew what was taking place at the Hour-glass. A drinking boss means a careless bunk-house and any ranchman knows what that means. It spells disaster.

The result was not quick-moving. It came with the slow growth of an avalanche. That moves very slowly at first till sheer weight overcomes inertia. Then it becomes suddenly dangerous. That first slow danger showed first in a slight lessening of the number of calves branded. . . . Then a long line of fence broke down and no one discovered it till too late. Cattle strayed off the home ranges and if they calved at all, brought forth their young in hidden places where no one discovered them till too late. Then a few calves with slitted tongues. . . . That told its own story to range-bred men. . . . Calves whose tongues were slit to keep them from suckling their own dams. . . . Then followed a gradual drop in the grade of the stock. . . . Any one could see it! And finally the open legal row over Soda Springs.

High Heaven alone knew why those pools were called Soda Springs. There were three of them; great jets of clear cold water that sprang from the wall of the upper valley and formed a deep pool at the end of the canon. In that great pool water-cress grew rankly and cattle stood knee-deep in the water under the great trees. Soda Springs was a constant and never failing source of water supply even in the long Dry Season when no rains fell. To the sick and injured Joe Carr the news came like a thunderclap that Dustin and Goddard had brought suit over the validity of his own claim to the ownership of those springs. No one had ever thought to question his ownership before Dustin raised it and Dustin would never have thought of it but for a word from a drunken "Nester" from whom he and Spike bought the "scrip" that gave them a questionable title to the Broken Spur. No one had ever been refused water-rights there in time of need. The Springs might as well have been on the Open Range.

But the days of the Open Range had passed and along with them went the old-time spirit of freemasonry that made all men free of water and grass at need. It remained for the Broken Spur to force old Joe Carr to defend his title to those Springs by fencing them and barring them to the public. It made him none too popular. Where old Joe had once been the Nestor of the cattle men in Seco Valley, he was likely to become their Thersites, thanks to the machinations of Dustin and Goddard. He knew the cause of it all. He knew that drink added to the spirit of aggravation already aroused by Dustin and Goddard was making him unpopular where he had once been a favorite, but he could not give way. Finally, dour, silent because he had none to talk to, bitter with hate and wrath at his own inability to keep abreast of the times, he saw his ranch slipping into the cattle depression. It did not improve his temper to note the success of the Broken Spur.
