It was a pleasure to see the fine type of young men who were on this farm, vigorous, keen, happy fellows who only too evidently were anxious to "make good" in Canada.

Back in London, after having luncheon on the train as guests of the Ministry of Labor, we were accorded yet another high privilege, an informal reception at 10 Downing Street, by the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin.

Who of us would have dreamed, when starting on our tour that, before we went back, we should enter the cabinet room of 10 Downing Street, the Inner Council Chamber of the British Government.

We had still another appointment before this fascinating day was ended. The Imperial Institute had invited us to dinner, where we were to meet the representatives of the woolen industry, under the chairmanship of Mr. Frederic A. Ackroyd.

The unexpected honor came from the King, for we were accorded a special place from which to view His Majesty's procession to Westminster for the opening of Parliament.

Explanations and Comments

A Cripple Cured At Lystra, verses 8-10.—At Lystra Paul and Barnabas were face to face with stark paganism. Apparently there were no Jews in the city, and few Romans.

"The men of Lystra looked upon it as a great material miracle, but the deeper fact was the spiritual miracle that lay behind it; the cripple's apprehension of the truth, and the application of it to his own case;

Admits Of No Argument

Money Spent In Advertising Is Gift-Edged Investment

The local merchant who fears to spend his money in advertising, should never read the life story of John Wanamaker. If he does, he will have to revise his own life completely.

In a recent address made by Arthur Williams, Vice-President, the New York Edison Company, the speaker remarked apropos of John Wanamaker and his first venture into the retail business:

"It is notable, and perhaps prophetic of modern business, that of the first day's receipts of $24.07, $24.00 were spent for advertising, 67 cents being retained for convenience in making change the next morning."

There is an argument as to whether or not this was a wise proportioning. There is no argument, however, as to the ultimate business success of the advertising Wanamaker.

Hudson's Bay Company Remembers Captain From Whom It Takes Its Name

The Hudson's Bay Company of the year 1928, has done honor in a very beautiful way to the brave sea captain from whom it takes its name.

One day in the spring of 1607 master Henry Hudson and his crew met at the little church of Saint Ethelburga, in Bishopgate Street, London, England, to take communion before sailing away to seek the Northwest Passage.

The little church was old then, but it still stands. The company has given it three windows, and, in the presence of some of its leading members, the first was unveiled a sort time ago on the anniversary of that communion.

In his little sailing vessel, with a crew of eleven men and a boy, the adventurous captain made two voyages to the Arctic ocean. On the third, in 1609, he sailed for the Dutch East India company. Taking a more southern course he discovered the Hudson river, and the Dutch traders who followed founded New Amsterdam by building a fort at the mouth of the river.

In 1610 Hudson was again in the service of an English company. This time he took a crew of twenty-three men, and set out again to find the Northwest Passage. He discovered Hudson Bay, and spent the winter on its shores. In the spring of 1611 the crew mutinied as he was on his way to England.

Aspirin is the trade mark registered in Canada, indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitations, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trade mark.

The heavy rain had washed the roots of the old dead grass into the ground, leaving the bold young shoots showing, and the air had such a balmy mildness that Helmi was content just to sit and breathe it and watch the clouds, clear and white like lamb's wool, sailing overhead in the limitless blue.

She wanted to sing a song of the passing winter, with all its strength of frost and weight of snow, its frozen rivers and leafless trees, for every budding tree and springing flower and carolling bird was singing it, too. She remembered a song Mrs. St. John used to sing, which she said was an old-fashioned thing; but she sang it to please the doctor, who liked the old songs best:

"Blue bird, true bird, bird with the golden wing,
Do you bring me a letter or do you bring me a ring?"

Helmi brought out a chair, and sitting on it, nursing her knees, she sang in perfect happiness. She had four dollars in her pocket; a sick baby in the Isolation Hospital; a dog with three pups to whom she had promised food and shelter; a husband who apparently had deserted her; not a relative nearer than Finland; but she sang a song of hope, and love, and spring, looking into the blue sky above her, for in her heart there was the peace which passeth all understanding!

Mrs. McMann, on her way to the store, saw Helmi sitting at the end of the house and heard her singing, and forthwith forgot that she had left an oven full of pies.

"Helmy," she called, as she came nearer, out of breath in her hurry, "What is wrong with you? Have you come back?"

Helmi quickly rose up to greet her. "There's nothing wrong, Mrs. Mc-

Mann. I am all right—I'm fine—I'm happy that's all."

"But Helmi, where is your child?" Mrs. McMann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmi said. "She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McMann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on her if she has scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind it—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmi resisted an impulse to laugh. "Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will be well. I am not worried."

Helmi's cheerfulness seemed most untimely; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McMann—there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy, I must say. Now when my children were little they had the fever, too, all together; not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McMann—no it was Mr. Bush I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My, how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different with me—I slaved for mine. But it doesn't pay. Are you goin' to stay? No! Goin' back are you? City life is too much for girls these days. Picture shows attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasures. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In her happiness Helmi had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McMann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book. He won't forget no more—he was struck with lightning."

"How do you know?"

"He was found lying on his back, stone dead, and his chimney all knocked down, and his eyes wide open."

Helmi shuddered—she knew just how the eyes looked.

"It gave me such a turn when I heard it, and I ain't been so well anyway. My stomach's up on me again, Helmy; I believe I'll have to go home and see a doctor. I can't trust any of the doctors here—they haven't got the papers like they hold in the States. All my trouble is inward, Helmy, and I don't believe these doctors could ever understand it."

"I am sorry," said Helmi; "I wish I could help you."

In her new found happiness Helmi could understand Mrs. McMann and her pitiful little striving for praise and applause. Her sordid life, her little meannesses, her petty jealousies, her dull gray outlook, smote Helmi's heart now with pity.

"You're a good girl, Helmy, no matter what you've done or haven't done, and I've a good mind to take you back, no matter what anyone says."

Helmi laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where is good, old Sim?" she asked quickly. "Is he still here? He did not write to me."

"Oh, didn't you hear? He had an accident in the mine and hurt his leg. He is still in the hospital, so I guess that's why. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp on him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmi, "but I want you to feed Cleo and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when Lili is better I will come back. You will like my Lili, Mrs. McMann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McMann sighed. "I am always sorry when I see a girl baby—life is so hard for us women."

Helmi got another letter at the post-office, a letter from Arthur Warner enclosing another fifteen dollar cheque. He was over in Franco now, on active service, and the letter was written as he sat waiting for the signal to go over the top in an attempt to capture a German position.

"It's good to have someone to write to Helmi, someone who cares; and I want you to do something for me. It worries me to think of my house and garden lying idle there and going to ruin. I wonder if you would go there to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too; and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you what she has been to me. And my horse, Sailor, that I left with the Ransoms would be handy for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmi, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmi, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will never need to be bothered with these meddlesome prospectors hunting for coal, for I bought all the mineral rights; so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they can never come in without your consent. If you want to plant the garden this spring you will find the seeds in the root-house, all labelled. Maybe I had the wrong slant on life, Helmi, wanting to build a wall around myself. I've had time to think it over, and I can see it was a mistake. One cannot live that way. Now I want you to do what you like with everything that is there. I have made my will and left all to you. My lawyer here will arrange matters fully if anything happens. I enclose his address. Now we are going.—A. W."

Helmi was in her own little house when she read the letter, Cleo whimpering at her feet as if she knew her master had written. "He is well, Cleo, and he wants you and me to live together, and so we will. We had decided that already, and now I see God has sent me a home as well as a dog to keep me company. I do not know how we will make a living there, eight miles from any settlement, but we should worry over a little thing like

JUMPING TOOTHACHE

You have been fortunate indeed if you have never experienced that worst of all dental pains—the "jumping toothache."

But perhaps you have listened sympathetically to your little chap as he tried to tell you between sobs, how something just seemed to be jumping up and down inside the tooth that pained more and more intensely as he lay with his cheek against the pillow.

Almost instinctively, perhaps, you had him sit up, and he found happily, that it did not hurt nearly so much as when he was lying down.

Now, you thought perhaps it was because he stopped thinking about it so much when sitting up, that made the pain more bearable, but just why it "jumped" you were not so sure.

Well, no doubt you have had a cut finger with an area of inflammation around the wound, and you noticed that the pain was of a throbbing character, that with each pulse beat there was a sharp little stab, so to speak.

Now, the same with the tooth, — with each heart-beat, a new supply of blood is forced into the pulp tissue, which, being inflamed and already engorged with blood, is subjected to an increased and severe pressure (at each beat), and a consequent response on the part of the nerves as they are subjected to the abnormal pressure. This, we call pain.

Then with your little chap sitting up, the flow of blood to the head was lessened, resulting in a milder rush of blood into the tooth pulp which caused a decreased pressure, with lessened pain.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

In Summer When Childhood Ailments Are Most Dangerous

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhœa carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Thoughtful Sportsman

Grouse season had started, and in the little Highland hotel lounge some sportsmen sat smoking.

"Yes," said one suddenly, "everything I shoot I send to the hospital."

"How thoughtful and kind of you," broke in another.

"Yesterday," he continued, "I shot the gamekeeper."

Mothers Value This Oil.—Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, because experience has taught them that this is an excellent preparation for the treatment of this ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

Parliamentary Courtesy

Language in the Free State, Parliament Is Sometimes Lurid

The new Flanna Fall tactics of baiting the Speaker which culminated in the suspension of Mr. de Valera's chief whip, Mr. Aiken, are not likely to increase the prestige of the party. In a letter to the press, Mr. Aiken, in justification of his attack on the Chair, insists that only an assembly poisoned by English influences could object to have its Speaker described as "a damned hypocrite," "a party hack," and "a mean skunk." Unfortunately for himself and his colleagues the country is still so enslaved to an alien tradition that it regards as vulgar abuse expressions that in the Gaelic State of Mr. Aiken's vision would apparently be the flower of parliamentary courtesy. "Fear not, believe only."—Luke viii. 50.

The childlike faith that asks not sight, waits not for wonder or for sign. Believes, because it loves aright. Shall see things greater, things divine, Heaven to that gaze shall open wide. And brightest angels to and fro. On messages of love shall glide. 'Twixt God and Christ below.

—John Keble.

The blessed thing which the Bible calls faith, is a state of the soul in which the things of God become glorious certainties. It matters not how it comes, whether as to Thomas through sight, or whether through the evidence of the Spirit; and yet the faith of which Christ said, "Blessed are they which have not seen and yet have believed," was a spiritual faith.

Results are Satisfactory

The pass list in connection with the midsummer departmental examinations for entrance to high school was issued at the end of the week, and will bring pretty general satisfaction to school boards and parents directly interested.

Of 23 candidates writing at Creston, and hailing from the Creston-Kitchener area, 19 have been successful. As usual Principal McLellan has maintained his usual high standing, all six of his students graduating creditably. Miss Hazel Hobden, a product of the local public and high school, and last year's principal at Kitchener, was equally fortunate, both of her pupils passing.

But the most gratifying show of them all was made by Principal Parker at Camp Lister, where all four candidates were successful, along with the two Grade 9 students who went up for examination in first year high school and passed.

And in connection with the entrance pupils from Camp Lister it must be mentioned that Agnes Sinclair, Margaret Smith and Wallace Sinclair were but Grade 7 pupils who also took the Grade 8 work, and are rewarded for their industry and ability by getting high school standing a year ahead of time.

Almost since the school opened nine years ago Lister has been more than fortunate in its choice of instructors, of whom Mr. Parker has been the best of them all.

Things are never quite so bad but what they can be worse. While Creston Valley last week was complaining of temperatures that ran as high as 94 on at least one occasion; at Warsaw, the capital of Poland, press reports say that Old Sol was favoring with

Our greatest asset

THE material progress of our Province is known the world over. We speak with pride... and rightly... of its vast natural resources awaiting conversion into merchandise and wealth. We take the figures of ten years ago and compare them with those of today... and the world agrees that our progress... considering our population... has been the brightest feature in the recovery of the British Empire from the war.

And if this progress, of which we are so justly proud, is to continue, does not the most vital force of this country lie in our children? Some day, they will take the helm. Events will follow their judgment, skill and decision. THEY ARE OUR GREATEST ASSET!

The Boy of today is the Man of to-morrow... the Girl, the future Mother of our citizens.

On us rests the responsibility of shaping their formative years so that when we hand over the reins, they may carry on the Torch of Progress, undimmed.

How have we met our responsibility? Can we look Young British Columbia in the eye with the feeling that all will be well with the future of the province for which we have planned so carefully and labored so faithfully?

SURELY!

In the last ten years our school population has grown from 64,570 to 101,688... 58%. We have 1,065 schools manned by 3,396 thoroughly trained, competent teachers... an increase of 31.7% and 71% respectively!

Recently we have established special vocational schools for our girls and boys, where they may be fitted for those occupations for which they have a natural bent.

Higher education is amply provided for at our University of British Columbia, where two thousand students are now enrolled, the majority studying for their degree in Science and Agriculture.

And to the school training of our children we add the powerful influence of Home, the religious and other organizations, each of which is contributing its full measure of the physical, mental and character upbuilding of our dearest, most treasured asset... OUR CHILDREN!

With confidence and faith we will hand over our beloved Province's future when the time comes!

REFORESTRATION

Much has been said recently about reforestation in British Columbia. The present forest is the result of natural reforestation when the human hazard was not present to defeat nature.

Natural re-stocking of cut over lands is now going on, as may be seen almost everywhere, and nature will again re-establish the forests if only fire is kept out.

The school trustees are now faced with the job of finding a successor for Principal McLellan of the public school who at the end of the week tendered his resignation to the board. Mr. McLellan has been in charge of the local school for the past three years and gave every satisfaction. The trustees will have some trouble finding a successor of equal ability.

The results of the Grade 8 midsummer examinations were announced at the end of the week. 10 out of 23 candidates writing at Creston were successful. Principal McLellan's half dozen candidates all passed, and with very creditable marks. From Lister all four candidates were successful, as well as two sent up by Mrs. Hazel Hobden, principal of Kitchener school. In addition to the six from Creston who took the written exams, some sixteen others were passed on recommendation. The outcome of the ex-

Industrial Development In Canada

Possibilities in the future development of industries in Canada, and the utilization of the natural resources of the Dominion as the essential raw materials in such development, and the manner in which all the people can assist in such development and expansion of manufacturing in Canada formed the subject matter of a recent address by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, before the Young Men's Section of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, which is worthy of the most serious consideration, and especially so because it is so simple, so thoroughly sound, and so applicable to all parts of the country.

Mr. Stewart did not vision a future Canada with a limited number of great manufacturing centres, possessing many huge plants, located in certain sections of the country, with gigantic outputs supplying the home market and providing a large export trade, and largely controlled by a few corporations or wealthy individuals. Undoubtedly Canada has already created a number of such large industries and will continue to do so as the population and wealth of the Dominion grows. The idea submitted by Mr. Stewart for serious consideration was along quite another line.

Mr. Stewart sees in Canada, east, central and west, in the north as well as in the southern portion, a country of vast resources and of varied character. Many of these natural resources of a similar nature are to be found in widely separated sections, and he feels their development should be general and that they should be tapped at many points rather than attempting to supply the requirements of the people from one or two places located far away from the mass of consumers.

In other words, Mr. Stewart advocates study of a plan which contemplates the establishment of industries in numerous communities to utilize those natural resources which may be found adjacent to such communities and thus supply the local and regional demand instead of transporting such goods long distances from other countries or far distant parts of Canada. Such a plan, sanely carried out, would not only result in huge savings in the aggregate to the public, but would lead to the development for use of resources now lying dormant, would build up numerous small industrial towns, provide more employment, and materially assist in solving the problem of unemployment which frequently becomes acute in certain parts of the Dominion by reason of the seasonal nature of the occupations of a vast majority of the people.

In presenting his thought on this subject, Mr. Stewart expressed the opinion that bodies like boards of trade should take up the close study of the raw materials of their districts, and of the markets for manufactured commodities. Such local studies would, he believed, reveal many possibilities for starting new industries at appropriate points, Statistics on the importation and movements of manufactured commodities had led to the conclusion, he said, that many of the articles could be made at home, and this also applied to goods transported from other parts of Canada in many cases unnecessarily, because the same thing could be made on the ground. The possibilities of manufacturing locally had been brought home to many towns and cities, largely through the initiative of enterprising public bodies like the board of trade, assisted by the facts on file in the department at Ottawa. Raw material, as far as possible, should, he contended, be prevented from leaving Canada so that the country's resources to the greatest extent might be utilized for those living therein.

In all such endeavors, boards of trade everywhere, Mr. Stewart stated, would have the assistance of the government in a whole-hearted way. His department was always willing to co-operate with any public body in placing at the disposal of interested persons locations of the country's natural resources. Experts of the department would be available always, and would be sent to any localities where their services would be of assistance.

The policy suggested by Mr. Stewart should make a particularly strong appeal to boards of trade throughout the three prairie provinces, which, up to the present time, have been so largely dependent upon the other provinces and foreign markets for the manufactured goods which our people consume in such large quantities, and for which we have been obliged to pay high prices because of the enormous distances these goods have had to be transported from the point of manufacture.

That Mr. Stewart's idea is sound, is borne out by the experience of many towns and many industries. Some of the most flourishing industrial towns and cities secured their start through the establishment of a comparatively small local plant utilizing some raw material found in the locality, and history is filled with instances where these small local industries have, under careful but progressive management, grown into what are now classified as among the great industries of the country. Hundreds of such instances, both in Canada and the United States, could be given.

While the flight is in progress the first camera will automatically develop and deliver strips of film. The second camera will be attached to the bottom of the plane and will follow the path to the Pole, recording from a height of 5,000 feet a strip of the Polar plateau eight miles in width.

COMPLETELY RUN DOWN

Symptoms That the Blood Is Thin Should Not Be Neglected

Weak, run-down, lacking strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, poor appetite, digestion disturbed—these are the symptoms named by a great majority of people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills correct the condition described and if you have any of these symptoms you should give these pills a trial. Their great value in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. James A. Tibbets, Halifax, N.S., who says:—'I was completely run down in health. My blood was thin and watery, and my nerves so bad that I did not sleep well at night. My appetite was poor and the least exertion left me weak and trembling. When I went out I would have to lie down as soon as I got in the house. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon found they were helping me and by the time I had taken the sixth box I felt like a new woman, and have enjoyed good health ever since. For this reason I can highly recommend the pills to anyone run-down or troubled with their nerves.'

Not only do Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help the nerves. Their main function is to enrich and increase the blood, and as the blood supplies the whole body, new life is given to the entire system. Better sleep, steady nerves, improved appetite, increased vigor—all these can be yours by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin them today. Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail post paid, at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Anything But Peaceful

Doves Are Very Quarrelsome, Says Professor Of Zoology

The dove, for centuries the olive branch carrier and emblem of peace, is found to lead a very quarrelsome family life. There may be some billing and cooing in public, but in privacy the dove mates quarrel.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, professor of zoology, at the University of Kentucky, makes the true facts known. It is his opinion that the crow and bluejay are the most intelligent birds and that the yellow-billed cuckoo and the catbird are the "best all-round friends of man."—Capper's Weekly.

It Testifies For Itself. — Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil needs no testimonial of its powers other than itself. Whoever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pains in the limbs or body, will know that the medicine proves itself and needs no guarantees. This shows why this Oil is in general use.

Hoover In English Eyes

Hope Is Expressed That He May Be the Next President Of U.S.

It is the hope of those who see beyond the narrowing confines of Pan-Americanism, that Hoover may be the next President. Personally, I feel that it would be a wonderful thing for his country, for ours, and for the world at large, if he were in the presidential chair.

He seems to me to have grown; to have widened and broadened. I believe now, as I did ten years ago when I was working with him, that he is one of America's greatest men.—Fannie S. Swan in the British Weekly.

Pool To Pay Dividends

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Members To Benefit Through Dividends On Pool Elevator System

Members of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool will receive approximately $800,000 in September as a result of the six per cent. dividend that the Pool is paying on the money invested in the Pool elevator system. The principal for this system has been obtained from members by deducting two cents per bushel from all cheques paid to them.

The Pool members will also receive a dividend of 5 per cent. on the reserve fund. C. W. King, manager of the Pool here, was unable to say what amount this would involve.

It was stated recently by A. J. McPhail, president of the Wheat Pool, that as soon as the Pool controlled shipping facilities at every point the two cents per bushel deduction would be returned to members and that the ownership of the system would be kept fresh, by the "revolving door system" which means that two cents per bushel would still be deducted from annual payments by members, but a corresponding amount would be returned each year. Thus members of the Pool were saving an amount annually, which in many cases was as high as $200.

He has recently prepared a detailed plan of the battle of Jutland, for which he was congratulated by Lord Jellicoe. Before returning to England, Mr. Close will interview the department of marine and fisheries and fishing skippers of Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and the Atlantic coast to obtain information of assistance in preparing new charts of Atlantic coast waters.

WILL CONSIDER MORE PLANS TO AID IMMIGRATION

Ottawa, Ont.—The announcement by Right Hon. Winston Churchill that the British government is prepared to spend more money in stimulating British immigration to Canada has created deep interest at Ottawa. While officials of the immigration department are unaware of the various policies suggested, it is expected that Lord Lovat, who will arrive in Canada shortly, will have complete details.

All of the proposed policies with the exception of the boy immigration scheme are either new or are schemes which have been suggested by the Canadian government and refused by the British Government.

This is true, particularly of the proposal to give to settlers a substantial loan to aid them in commencing farming. The Canadian government obtained the consent of the British Government, in the 3,000 family scheme, to an agreement whereby the British Treasury advanced $1,500 per head but when the agreement expired the British government sought to reduce the amount for future settlement to $800. When this was refused they increased the amount to $1,200 and it is not expected that they will be prepared to deal with settlers in still more generous terms.

In the matter of reducing the ocean rate the Canadian government has hitherto been opposed to spending more public funds for this purpose, but it is believed that the steamship companies and the British government may unite to this end. The other schemes suggested by Mr. Churchill are all regarded sympathetically at Ottawa, and as soon as Lord Lovat arrives the department will reach a decision.

Alberta To Consider Town-Planning Scheme

Premier In Position To Make Recommendation To Council

Edmonton.—Premier Brownlee has returned from his visit to the University of California, where he gave the opening address at the fourth annual convention of the American Institute of Co-operation, by invitation of the U.S. federal minister of Agriculture.

En route, he stayed at Victoria and Vancouver to interview two possible town planning directors for Alberta's recently-formed Town Planning Commission—H. L. Seymour, town planning commissioner for Vancouver, and Doughty Davies, who has just completed a town planning survey in Victoria. These two, with other applicants will be considered by council in the near future, and the premier indicated that he was in a position to make a recommendation to council.

Nova Scotia Reports Few Men Available

Cannot Supply Number Asked For To Assist In Western Harvest

Halifax.—The department of natural resources has notified the minister of labor, at Ottawa, that Nova Scotia would be unlikely to supply more than 75 per cent. of the number asked for to assist in the harvest of the Western wheat crop.

It was stated that owing to the increased activity in the province in building and mining industries, the number of men who will go on the harvest excursion from Nova Scotia would not be more than 1,200.

Situation Much the Same

Ottawa, Ont. — Renewed reports that the Government may take over a number of provincial or privately owned railways in different parts of the country and merge them with the Canadian National, brought the statement from the Minister of Railways that the situation is very much the same as in the last session when he stated that Sir Henry Thornton is looking into all these propositions.

Balfour At Eighty

Distinguished British Statesman Has Been Adviser To Three Sovereigns

London.—Great Britain celebrated recently the 80th birthday of one of her most distinguished statesmen, the Earl of Balfour. Lord Balfour's public service goes back back 54 years, for he entered the House of Commons in 1874, and he is one of the few great survivors of the Victorian era. He was adviser to three successive sovereigns.

The only other statesman of outstanding eminence in the period alive today is the Earl of Roseberry. He has been out of politics for 20 years and is an invalid. Earl Balfour is a member of the cabinet today, being Lord President of the Council.

Notwithstanding the throat infection which laid him aside during the winter and spring, he is again normally active. His recent illness necessitated a rest from his usual physical activities including tennis, of which he was a devoted player, but the Daily Mail quoted him recently as saying that he intends to take up tennis again shortly.

English Cadets Will Compete

Ten members of the Australian Bisley team, who will return home by way of Canada, also are likely to take part in the matches, while most of the members of Canada's Bisley team are scheduled to enter.

A team of cadets from Victoria High School, Victoria, B.C., will take part in the Dominion matches and will motor from the capital of the Western province.

At the matches last year there was one woman competitor and this year there is a prospect of four or five women entrants from Saint John, N.B.

Phone Call From London

Moose Jaw Station Converses With British Metropolis In Test Talk

Moose Jaw.—"Hello, this is London, England, speaking, how do you hear me?"

This question was asked by a voice speaking 6,000 miles away while the listener was a Moose Jaw man, J. A. Inch, wire chief of the local telephone office. For two or three minutes Mr. Inch conversed with the man speaking from the metropolis of England, some 6,000 miles away, and he could hear him clearly throughout the conversation.

The test call was put in from the British Isles to Saskatchewan to determine the efficiency of the long-distance system recently inaugurated whereby a person in the West can converse with anyone in the Old Country.

Cannot Supply 'Plane To Hunt Prospectors

Department Of National Defence Receives Many Appeals

Ottawa.—"The first requisite of a prospector is the ability to find himself." That is the view taken by the Department of National Defence as outlined by an official of that department. The department is being inundated with appeals for 'planes' in search for prospectors thought to be lost.

"When a prospector in the Northern woods fails to turn up when his employers or associates think he should they rush to the Department of National Defence asking that a 'plane be sent to search for him," said this official. "In most cases the department declines. In the first place, the prospector is probably not lost at all, but something has impeded his progress. Then if he were lost there is very little chance of an airman seeing him from a 'plane."

Heads Teachers' Federation

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY HAS RESIGNED OFFICE

London.—After serving for 25 years as Archbishop of Canterbury, Right Rev. Randall Thomas Davidson has resigned. His long-expected retirement was undoubtedly hastened by Parliament's second rejection, last month, of the revised prayer book, in support of which he had labored for years.

It was announced officially that the King had received with great regret an intimation from the Archbishop that he was desirous of resigning his high office. His Majesty, on the recommendation of the Prime Minister, by Royal Warrant, appointed a commission consisting of the Archbishop of York and Bishops of London, Durham and Winchester, for the purpose of receiving the resignation of the primate.

The commission reported that it accepted the archbishop's resignation to take effect on November 12, of this year, and this has been approved of by His Majesty.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, 96th of his line, is 80 years of age. At about the time his resignation will take effect he and his wife will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, and it is planned to present to them on this occasion a fund which is now being collected, to ensure greater comfort in their declining years. A memorial will also be placed at Lambeth Palace, residence of the Archbishops of Canterbury, to mark the general gratitude for Dr. Davidson's long and painstaking services to the church and the nation.

Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York, is the most probable successor to Dr. Davidson, indeed it is reported he has already been offered the post and has indicated his acceptance.
