Council Constitute Board of Health

Sanitation Matters Under New Direction—Fire Brigade to be Revived—Opening Princess Avenue—Set Clean-Up Date

The time of the councillors at the April meeting of Creston village council was largely taken up with business arising out of the reading of correspondence received during the month. Reeve F. H. Jackson presided, and Councillors A. Comfort and Chas. Murrell were in attendance.

The minutes disclosed that a special meeting of the council had been held on April 1st at which it was decided to constitute the three councillors, as the village board of health, with Councillor Murrell as chairman, and Miss Arrowsmith as clerk.

There was a letter from the fire underwriters in connection with an inspection of the village with a view to having insurance rates reduced, in which it was pointed out that a raise in rates was in prospect in view of the fact that the village had no active fire brigade. The matter has been taken up with the fire chief Art Reed who has promised to make an effort to revive the fire fighting force.

There was a letter from George Scott notifying of his intention to close a blind lane in the rear of his property on Wilson Avenue. Reg. Eastlake's letter asked for a hydrant in the vicinity of his home in the vicinity of the cemetery. Both of these matters will be looked into, the matter of the hydrant to come up at a conference it is hoped to have with waterworks company officials on Friday.

Mr. Mawson complained that truck traffic in and out of the lane at his store was doing damage, particularly to the awning. A post will be put in an effort to prevent further damage. The provincial secretary is to be wired for information as to whether May 6th has been proclaimed a public holiday. On receiving this information the village may take some action with the celebration of the King's coronation jubilee celebration.

T. Leaman, G. Vigne, W. J. Avery, R. Crosby and other residents on the northeast side of the village had a petition asking the village to do what they could to put the road in that quarter in better shape. R. Sinclair Smith had a letter submitting an apology to the clerk who, in a previous letter had been charged with misconduct in connection with the preparation of the assessment roll. Mr. Smith withdrew the remarks as affecting the clerk and placed the responsibility on the clerk and Councillor Murrell.

Pending the arrival of possible similar requests the Intermediate baseball club may have the use of the diamond at Exhibition Park for practices each Tuesday and Friday evening and alternate Sunday afternoons. In reply to an enquiry Chas. Moore advised that a map of the village, about five feet square, would cost $250. A Mr. Dawson of Nelson would prepare one at $1.25 per hour and the registrar of titles at Nelson advised such a map would probably cost $200. There was a letter from village solicitor, W. L. Bell, that recent charges in the dog license by law were in order, and it was decided to advertise that dog licenses must be paid forthwith at the

Clean-Up Day

All owners, agents of owners, and tenants of property within the boundaries of the Village of Creston, are hereby notified that has been proclaimed Clean-Up Day, on which date all yards and premises must be put in clean and sanitary condition.

All refuse (except ashes and liquid) placed in cans, boxes or other receptacle, and set out handy to street or lane will be taken away free of charge by Village trucks the following day.

By order.

town hall, failing which the new license by-law will be rigidly enforced.

There was a letter from Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., acknowledging word that the council approved of the selection of the Henderson property for the site for the new postoffice building. Mr. Stevens pointed out that the final decision would be made by the public works department which had sent in an architect to look the village over.

Accounts passed for payment totalled $567. The new sanitary tank and pump has been in considerable demand. So far it has pumped out a total 23 tanks—10 of them at the hospital—at a cost of $1.35 per tank. The clerk will write some other municipalities to find out what charge is made for this service.

For the streets and roads committee Chairman Comfort reported discovering an excellent supply of first-class gravel uncovered by dyking operations on the flats near J. W. Dow's which he was hoping to be able to secure for the use in the village. He also wanted sufficient funds to cut out the bush on Fifth street, but this was not authorized. The extension of Princess street will be proceeded with. Clean-up day was set for Wednesday, April 17th, with the usual free haul of garbage the day following. The council will purchase the necessary dye so that all village tools can be stamped.

Councillor Murrell gave notice of a motion he will introduce at the May meeting asking for the naming of a town planning commission to serve the village. This commission will be made up of members outside the council.

A. Glasier spent a few days in Nelson last week.

Miss Marion Cooper of Creston was a weekend guest of Miss Leah Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Foxall of Nelson are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Foxall.

The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid was at the home of Mrs. Vic. Johnson on Thursday last.

F. C. Robinson of Nelson was a business visitor here, superintending the loading of cedar poles.

Miss Flo. Wood is a Rossland visitor, with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. LeBarge.

The J. Mannarino ranch is again occupied. The new residents are the Tomlin family from Creston.

Wynndel Women's Institute April meeting is to be held at the church on Thursday, 18th, at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood and son, of Creston, were visitors last week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wigen.

Mrs. Eakin was a bridge hostess on Wednesday last when the high score prize was won by Mrs. Lachat, and the consolation honors falling to Mrs. Slingsby. A delightful lunch was served after cards.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Watson with Mary and Vera, who have been at Victoria for the past few months, are spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, en route to resume residence at Creston.

The annual meeting of Wynndel Irrigation District was held at the hall on Tuesday, with E. Uri in the chair. Minutes of last annual meeting and balance sheet were read and adopted. Nominations for directors were called. E. Uri declined nomination and T. Sixsmith resigned, which left two vacancies to be filled. The result of the ballot was the choice of G. Huscroft for a three year term, and A. E. Hackett elected to complete the term of T. Sixsmith. Financial standing was discussed and a payment of dues arranged.

There was a meeting of school district ratepayers at the schoolhouse on Monday evening. The chair was occupied by A. Glasier, chairman of the school board. The proposition to purchase a piece of land and erecting a two-roomed building in which to teach high school work was presented and discussed. The plan of adding to present school was also submitted, having in mind playground facilities. The meeting decided to write department to find out what portion, if any, of the expense Victoria would be willing to bear. Another meeting will be held later.

"Lighthouse Nan," presented by the K. K. Klub on Friday night at the community hall attracted a fairly large crowd all of whom much enjoyed this well known three act comedy. Immediately following the play a dance was put on by the club which attracted a large crowd. The music was by the Creston Serenaders and was voted the best of the season. Wynndel people were out in full force, with representations from Kitchener, Creston, Erickson, Alice Siding and Sirdar. There was the usual excellent midnight lunch, with dancing continuing until 3 a.m. Doug. Butterfield, K. K. Klub president, was master of ceremonies.

New Talent Makes Favorable Impression in a Three-Act Comedy—Kill Kare Klub Puts on Well Attended Show.

The Kill Kare Klub's presentation of "Lighthouse Nan," at the community hall, Wynndel on Friday night, was enthusiastically received by a fair sized crowd, and proved that there is no fear of Wynndel talent "running out" or the new faces that appeared before the footlights were well up to the standard of the more experienced players.

Clem Payette, appearing for the first time on the local stage, gave a perfect performance in the part of "Ichabod Buzzer," the lighthouse keeper, who toiled and moiled to keep his wife in silks and satins, and himself supplied with medicine of the three star variety. He was ably assisted by Mrs. Elias Uri, another newcomer, who gave a very creditable performance as his wife, Moll, who was kept busy finding fishermen and visitors, as well as keeping track of Ichabod and Nan, their supposed granddaughter, played by Miss Ellen Hagen, who appeared for the first time before the footlights, and turned in a splendid performance in a big part. She capably portrayed the roustabout grandchild, until her true identity is discovered near the end of the play.

Clarence Wilson, as "Indian Jim," the supposed father of Nan, "a desperate man just out of the pen," and with the Buzzer's the only one knowing the true identity of Nan, gave a performance of a "bad man," which left little to be desired.

Fred Hagen, as "Ned Blake," a boarder at the Buzzer's, and in love with Nan, turned in his usual fine performance, and his efforts in clearing up the mystery surrounding Nan's identity, met with their just reward.

Mr. Enlow, Nan's real father, whose yacht is tied up near the lighthouse, 16 years after his baby daughter was stolen at the same point, and supposedly returned to him by Liza Buzzer, wife of Indian Jim, was admirably portrayed by Jim Hulme. Hortense, the real daughter of Indian Jim, who was substituted when the Enlow baby was stolen and has been raised by Mr. Enlow as his daughter, was played by Miss Betty Hulme. In a manner that proved her ability to take her place among the best.

Campbell Payette, as Sir Arthur Chumby Choke, gave an amusing rendering of a much travelled Englishman, who had hunted tigers and elephants, but is still easily scared. He saved Hortense from a terrible fate by marrying her, just prior to the discovery of her real identity, and leaves for England with his sister, the Hon. Sarah, which part was excellently played by Miss Mary Abbott, who is to be congratulated on her fine performance, while suffering from a bad attack of tonsillitis, which had confined her to the house for the week previous.

Before the curtains and between acts Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Greig and G. Lunt entertained with piano and violin selections, which were much appreciated, and helped considerably in making the evening a success.

ternoon last at the Presbyterian manse, Creston, Rev. A. O. Thomson officiating. The bride wore a blue tweed swaggar suit with grey accessories, and was supported by her sister, Miss Bessie McDougall. The best man was Sandy Taylor. Following the happy event there was a reception at the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are to reside at Lakeview and have the best wishes of all for a happy and successful future.

YOUR HANDWRITING REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER!

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

Mrs. L. R. writes as follows: "I am a widow with two children, and have been corresponding with a man from the West. He wishes to marry me, and although I have never seen him, his letters are so pleasant that I find myself drawn to him. He is married, but has not lived with his wife for some years, and offers to get a divorce if I accept his offer of marriage. I feel that I should remarry, because I am still young, but I naturally don't want to make a mistake. My first marriage was very happy, and my husband left me a substantial sum of money. Any help you care to give me will be welcome."

I am sorry that I cannot be over-optimistic about your chances of making a really favourable marriage with this man, Mrs. R. He is not generous—he is, as a matter of fact, of rather a narrow point of view; not really broadminded.

He is likely to get very irritable, if not bad-tempered, and whilst a lot of us have this little trait at times, allied as it is in this case with narrowness of mind, it shows that this man is not easy to live with.

He is rather changeable, too. He will be inconsistent, not at all stable, temperamentally, but fickle in his moods. It would be difficult to understand him at times.

Another characteristic that stands out is this man's vanity. He expresses this in one of his letters to you when he remarks on the number of lady friends that he has had, and, whilst he is endeavouring to convey a subtle compliment to you, in that he prefers you to all the others, this also shows conceit. And his handwriting bears this out very clearly.

I mentioned that he is not very generous. I would go further and say that he is economical and cautious to the point of parsimony.

As regards yourself, your writing shows that you have a rather emotional nature, you are quick to feel joys and sorrows, and possess a marked capacity for affection. Yours is essentially a nature that needs company. There is nothing of the cold or aloof type about you. You are ardent, lovable, spontaneous—like lots of fun, and have a liking for being "on the go."

You are still young, and I certainly agree with you that marriage would be an excellent thing for you—provided that you get the right sort of partner. Your previous happy choice has given you a standard that it may not be easy to parallel. But I have no doubt that the opportunity will again arise. In the meantime, I am sorry that I cannot advise you to accept the man whose writing you sent to me, without, at least, taking an opportunity of checking up my summing up of his character.

Would you like an analysis of your character? And have you any friends whose real natures you would like to know? Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analysed, stating birthdate in each case, and enclose 10c coin for each specimen. Send with 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, Graphologist, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters are confidential and replies will be sent as quickly as possible.

Would Make Gold Cheap

Polish Scientist With Secret Z-Ray Claims New Extraction Process

What would happen if Professor Dunikowsky, the Polish scientist, should prove his claim that by his secret Z-ray process he can extract from auriferous earth eight times more gold than is possible by the methods hitherto employed?

Authorities in Paris admit that it would mean the conversion of the precious metal into a base one, perhaps of no greater value than lead.

But the same authorities ridicule such a possibility, despite the report of M. Bonn, expert in chemistry to the Paris courts. After testing Dunikowsky's apparatus at San Remo, Italy, he says it is unquestionable that it permits the extraction of much larger quantities of gold than any other known process.

Maitre Jean Charles Legrande, the Paris lawyer, stated that he intends to demand a retrial of the case in which the Paris court sentenced Dunikowsky to two years' imprisonment for fraud.

Little Journeys In Science

GASOLINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Gasoline consists of a mixture of liquid compounds known as hydrocarbons. The use of gasoline as a source of power in engines is due to the fact that the gasoline is easily changed to a vapour and that a mixture of gasoline vapour and air, when ignited, burns instantaneously, or, as commonly expressed, explodes. The mixture of gasoline vapour and air is led into the cylinder of the engine where it is ignited by an electric spark.

The "ethyl gasoline" which is now used so widely, is gasoline to which has been added a small amount of two colorless liquid compounds known as lead tetraethyl and ethylene bromide. The lead tetraethyl prevents the "knocking" of the engine when the engine is under high pressure; the reason for this is as yet not known with certainty. The use of the lead compound alone causes lead to be set free during the reaction, and as a result the ignition points of the spark plugs become clogged. When ethylene bromide is added, the lead combines with the bromine which is present in the bromide, producing the volatile lead bromide which escapes in the exhaust.

In former days kerosene was the most important product obtained from crude oil. To-day, however, gasoline is by far the most valuable of these products and hence science has put forth every effort to increase the yield. This is done by distilling kerosene and similar oils at high temperatures under pressure. This process is known as the "cracking" of oils. The average crude oil from the large producing areas of Texas and Oklahoma contains about 30% gasoline. Modern improvements in the cracking process have enabled oil refiners to increase the gasoline yield to 70% of the crude oil or higher, depending on the nature and quality of the gasoline which is desired.

Recent experiments have shown that the gas hydrogen under high pressure changes powdered coal suspended in hot oil into lubricating oils, gasoline, and similar products. When the supply of petroleum becomes exhausted this process may supply man with these products so necessary to our modern civilization.

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR

Golden text: For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16.

Devotional reading: Isaiah 53:4-9.

Explanations And Comments

God's Purpose in Sending His Son, John 3:16, 17. The Jewish idea was that God would come to judge the world of the Gentiles in the sense of condemning it, while salvation would be granted to one race alone, the Jews. The statement now is made that God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16 is probably the best loved of all the verses in the Bible. A Japanese has called it "The Fuji-yama text of the Bible," meaning that it is the great background of all other truths of the Bible, even as the beautiful mountain of Fuji is in the background of nearly all Japanese pictures. "What is the heaviest word in the language?" Mr. Spurgeon once asked, and no one could answer. "The word so in John 3:16," he then said. "Try to weigh that word, if you can."

"The atonement was not the cause of God's love—His love was the cause of the atonement" (John McDowell).

Christ Died for Sinners, Romans 5: 6-10. For while we were yet morally weak, and the need was great, Christ died for sinners. For scarcely will one die for a just (righteous) man; though possibly for the more lovable good man one would even dare to die. But God far surpasses this utmost manifestation of human love, and shows the excellence of his own love toward us by the death of Christ for us while we were yet sinners.

"God loved the world, He saw that we might be Made for Himself. He stooped to set us free And did not spare the cost of Calvary."

God loved man so. Do we?" (Grace E. Uhler).

"If such grace was shown us, then, when we were in sin, much more, justified as we have now been by His blood, shall we be saved through Him from the wrath to come. As sinners we lay under the condemnation of God, and His wrath hung over us. This was the situation which had to be faced: was their love in God equal to it? Yes, when we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son; much more, then, shall the love which wrought so incredibly for us in our extremity carve out our salvation to the end. The Living God, in virtue of his life, will save us to the uttermost" (James Denny).

A Queer Combination

Six Blind Musicians Will Play For Deaf Dancers

Six blind musicians in England can also thank the wireless for allowing them to form their own orchestra. By listening in to different broadcasts, they memorized various pieces by memory, being the only way in which they could learn the music, of course. Next month they are to play at a dance in Leeds Town Hall. The dancers will all be deaf mutes who have had to use their eyesight to learn the steps, not being able to hear their instructor. They are taught by watching the steps of couples who are normal. On the face of it this queer combination of dancers and musicians may appear pathetic. But is it not rather triumphant—that handicaps are not insurmountable? The musicians will not see the dancers, the dancers will not hear the musicians . . . but the spirit is there!

A horse's lifetime is usually figured at about 25 to 30 years, but English writers have mentioned horses that lived to be over 60.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT "Acid Indigestion"

A WAY THAT RELIEVES THE CAUSE IN A FEW MINUTES

Many people who think they have "weak stomachs" or "indigestion," doctors say, suffer in reality from nothing more serious than acid stomach. And this common ailment can usually be relieved now, in minutes.

All you do is take familiar Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals. This acts to almost immediately neutralize the stomach acidity that brings on your trouble. You feel like a new person!

Try this just once. Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS", or the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. But watch out that you get the Genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY

Even Dustin grinned at the thought of the old ranch-man, once the Nestor of Seco Valley, being searched for a gun in a murder case. Garcy was laughing frankly as he thrust a big hand into the side-pocket of Joe Carr's coat. But that grin suddenly froze on his face as he drew from the pocket a wadded mass of green-and-yellow silk. He seized it by one dirty corner and shook it out and all the watchers started back as a short heavy Derringer pistol clattered to the floor.

Garcy's eyes bulged and Crewe's face changed. Carr, grown suddenly old and grave, stared at the pistol as Garcy reached for it but Stone was too quick for him. He quickly retrieved the weapon and examined it carefully and a silence fell that Dustin broke.

"I reckon this clears me of all suspicion," he snarled. "When the Hour-glass gets to shootin' their own partners they're droppin' pretty damned low."

Garcy turned sharply on him: "You're cleared, Dustin," he said. "But I'm givin' you a word of advice. Say nothin' of this here till I tell you. If any word gets out, I'll know who told it. He'll have me to reckon with. Get me?"

Dustin looked at him queerly and a chilly feeling ran up his back. He did not fear many men but he had a most healthy regard for old Jim Garcy.

"Good Lord," he snapped: "I'm not interested in Hour-Glass killin' off Hour-Glass. It's rat eat rat as far as I'm concerned. I'll say not a word about it."

The door slammed behind him and Garcy turned to old Carr.

TIRED and IRRITABLE

Do you feel weak and nervous? Is your housework a burden? Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. M. A. Kelley of Woodstock, New Brunswick, says:

"I was weak and rundown. A neighbor brought me your Vegetable Compound. It helped me so much that I am taking it now at the change."

Get a bottle NOW. It may be just the medicine YOU need!

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

"Listen now, Joe. . . ." His voice had grown suddenly old and tired for he had been fond of Joe for more than a generation. "You got some explainin' to do, Joe. Where'd you git that Derringer?"

"I never had a Derringer in my life," said Carr dully. "I ain't got one now."

Garcy quietly "broke" the pistol. One barrel had been fired, in the other a loaded cartridge nested and the lower barrel was foul from the explosion. He extracted the empty shell and fitted to it the big lead bullet that Epps quietly handed him. It fitted. Still Carr stared at him. Then Stone took the pistol from Garcy's hand and examined it. Carr's face was a study. He could not disbelieve the evidence of his own eyes; yet . . . He knew old Joe Carr and loved him.

"I think we're barkin' at a knot, Sheriff," said Stone quietly.

Garcy turned on him. "When I need a tenderfoot to tell me my business, I'll call you," he said acidly. "What you got that's new?"

"A little bit of brains," said Stone. "You can see for yourself that the man's shot on the right side . . . Just above the liver. Every one in this room knows that he was standin' on Mr. Carr's right. Did Carr reach clear around the man and shoot right toward himself?"

Epps and Crewe both nodded and Garcy looked puzzled.

"Are you sure Carr was standin' as you say?" he asked.

"Absolutely certain."

"Here," said Epps quickly: "We can't wait till you solve this case before we treat the man. I want some one to help him over to my house. I'll take care of him till you can get a regular doctor."

"One minute . . ." Garcy turned to Carr . . . "Joe," he said gently: "God knows I don't like to arrest you but I've got to. The evidence is too strong against you. If you give me your word of honor not to make any break, I'll take you over to my house as a guest till we can find out what's to be done. If this man dies, it'll be a charge of murder I suppose. You say his name's Keene?"

"Yes. Gerald Keene," said Crewe. "He and Joe own the Hour-Glass together. That's the best thing to do, Jim. You take care of Jos. I'll get out to the Hour-Glass. I'm afraid it'll take some explainin' to make Edith understand."

With Logan's help they got the wounded man over to Epp's house and a woman was secured to act as a nurse and Crewe drew Stone aside.

"You better stop here to-night, I reckon," he said. "What is it?" he said sharply for Stone was tugging at his pocket.

"I was goin' to say that I'd better stay in here," said Stone. "I've got a clew I want to look into, Crewe . . . old man Carr never shot that man."

He drew from his pocket the green-and-yellow handanna. "You can't tell one Derringer from another," he said: "But wearing apparel is different. Did you ever know any man wear a damnable thing like this? It's got three bullet-holes in it so there's no doubt about what took place. The would-be murderer had the gun wrapped in this and he fired through it. That's why we didn't see any sparks. Did you ever see any one wearing a thing like this?"

Crewe shook his head. Things were moving too fast for him.

"I never did," he said. "Well . . . I just got to get back to the Hour-Glass. Look out for young Keene and old Joe, will you, Stone?"

Stone promised and Crewe started the car down the street. The moment darkness hid the car, Stone hunted up Epps and almost by force dragged him into his office.

Neither man ever told what took place in that office but in a half-hour Stone emerged triumphant and headed down the street for the little office where Jameson held forth. That gentleman, bending over a form-case, was snatched to a stool and an evil-smelling mass of green-and-yellow silk was thrust under his nose.

"What's that smell like?" demanded Stone sharply.

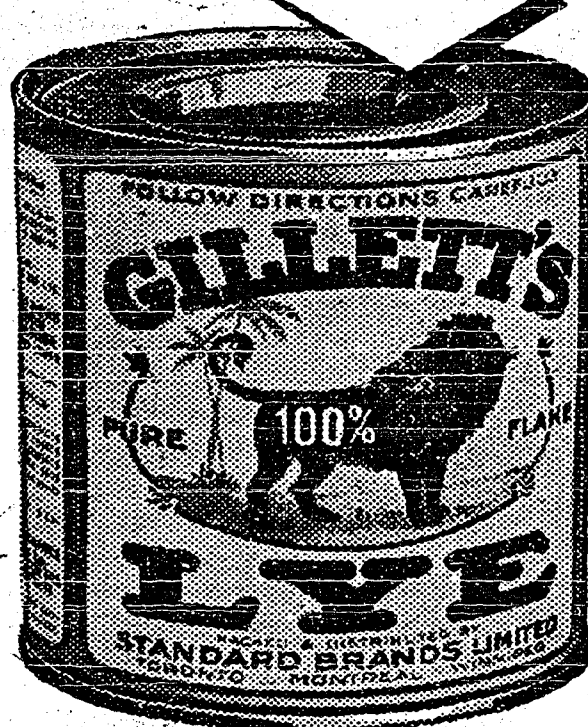

Jameson, who had been writing a hasty account of the shooting, sniffed and spat.

"Peyotl," he said. "Why?"

"That's what struck me," said

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

Stone. "Can you possibly be mistaken?"

"Good Lord, no. It's peyotl all right. Where'd you get it?"

"Ever see any one wearing a thing like that?"

"I never did . . . Look here, Stone . . . what're you driving at?"

Stone told him in well-chosen words and few and Jameson took fire at the recital.

"It looks to me as though you've got a solid morsel to chew on," he said finally. "I only know one man who can be said to regularly use that infernal stuff. That's the man Peyotl Gregg out at the Broken Spur. I'll see if I can find him. They'd probably shoot you if you went out there. See me first thing in the mornin'. I may have news for you."

CHAPTER XVI.

Sam Dustin headed for the Broken Spur half drunk with liquor and success. Even in his most hopeful moments he could never have hoped that Peyotl Gregg, having killed Gerald Keene, would place the blame for that killing on Joe Carr. Joe, of all men!

"The only man who could have had a motive," he chuckled. "If Keene dies, Carr gets his half of the Hour-Glass. I'll take it away from Carr and have the ranch and the mine too . . . And the girl . . . Wait!"

A sudden illuminating thought came to him and he slapped his leg hard. "By God," he said. "I've got it and I've got the girl . . . But it's pretty hard on Peyotl. First of all I've got to find out if the man Keene will die."

He flung out of the car and almost leaped into the house. Spike Goddard was flung aside roughly as Dustin jerked the telephone from its hook.

"What're you callin' Doc Epps for?" demanded Spike.

Dustin waved him into silence and Epps voice came tinnily across the wire. Goddard could hear it plainly.

"Oh. Dustin at the Broken Spur. Huh? Yes . . . This is Doctor Epps . . . What? . . . Oh . . . I get you . . . Yeah . . . I know who you mean. I brought him over to my house . . . Gerald Keene, of course . . . The partner of old man Carr at the Hour-Glass . . . You are interested, huh? Well, I'll tell you, Dustin. He died not ten minutes ago."

Epps' voiced sounded strained and uncertain but there was no mistaking the words. "The coroner'll be in to-morrow. It looks like a hemp neck-tie for old man Carr."

Spike Goddard heard it all and stood staring at his partner as he hung up the receiver.

"What the hell has happened, Sam?" he demanded.

He considered Dustin in silence while Dustin told him all that had occurred. Finally:

"Look out you don't trip," he said curtly. "There was a man once who held all thirteen trumps but lost the game. . . ."

"How could that be, you poor fool?" demanded Dustin.

For answer Spike grinned at him. "It was old-fashioned Whist," he said. "One man held all thirteen trumps. It was his partner's lead. He led an ace and when his partner trumped it he got mad and shot him. The jury said it was justifiable homicide . . . Mind you haven't bit off too much to chew."

"You fool. . . ." Dustin grabbed him by the arm. "Don't you see it yet? Peyotl Gregg shot this man Keene and planted the pistol on old Joe Carr . . . Joe, who inherits the Hour-glass by the death of Keene. We've got Carr's note and we alone know of old Kane's mine . . ."

"Nobody knows Peyotl killed him," said Spike.

"I do. Old man Carr'll be held for the murder. He'll hang unless they find out about Peyotl. Don't you reckon Edith Carr'll marry me to get her father clear?"

THE PILGRIMS PROGRESS

CONTRIBUTED

From the ends of the earth, following the war, there came to Creston Valley, seeking a home and a living, Pilgrims from every walk of life, trade and profession. Apple growing had its appeal, and the climate was all that could be desired; no extremes of temperature, floods, or cyclones existing in this wonderful valley. The nearness to the great prairies was also a factor for the marketing of their produce. Other Pilgrims went further afield, where there were no markets available, except at a great disadvantage; but there was an appeal in the nearness to the coast.

Orchard after orchard was planted to every variety of fruit in the catalogue. Things went very well with all the Pilgrims for a time. Money, and labor at wages, was plentiful and the orchards kept growing and producing more and more, with prices declining steadily.

In the larger centres Export Markets were feverishly looked for, but the cost of transportation was such that returns to growers were not sufficient for a living after the shippers and big salary men got their share of the returns. Credit where credit was due every effort and device was used to dispose of the crop, but not to the growers benefit. So desperate did it become that consignments were the order of the day and the growers paid the bill. Creston Valley was not in this position. Her nearness to her market, in time of deliveries and lower freight rate charges, enabled this Valley to dispose of her entire crop without storage, and at a profit, which was not the case with our far away Pilgrims.

The growers in Creston did so well that envious eyes were cast on her by her far opposition, so missionaries appeared in her midst with alluring offers and co-operation methods, and converts were made and the penitent forms were filled, but, Oh what a price they paid for conversions. We took our share of export and divided our markets (we did it out of charity) with the cries of the far Pilgrims ringing in our ears. But worse than their cries was the news that reached us that some terrible disaster had happened in the marketing arena and not a cent would be paid us for our fruit, and that we should pay for what we owed for the marketing of our loss. Loud were our lamentations but all was not lost. Our prairie market saved the day for Creston and we forgot. But again missionaries arrived. This time with a saviour (named Sapiro) and a big revival took place, and we all got converted and signed like Jacob of old—seven years—but we got no Rachel. Again we sleep, but not our missionaries—they are always on watch.

Our next experience was very wonderful. We all paid into a fund to support a Big Chief, who was backed up by our Government in a share and share alike program and "Oh, what a change was made". And it wasn't just Six Hundred. And, oh, what a loss we made, when the bally ship foundered. Once more a little peace fell on our pleasant valley; new cars were purchased, new homes were being built, new shippers were getting rich, new stores were in operation, in fact the black clouds of depression nearly all passed us by, too ashamed to linger in such a lovely spot. Others from a far country saw our plenty and poured in to share it with us Pilgrims all. Only our far Pilgrims were in distress and again the cry was raised, "What can we do?" "What can we do?" Patience, patience was the counsel. We will again send out the doves and perchance again the good old olive branch will look good to our fellow Pilgrims in the favored valley.

This time we will be better prepared and have a more convincing story to tell, and our missionaries will be better prepared, in fact they must be stubborn indeed, if we can not convince them that our interests are theirs, only don't tell them that our crop is not all sold, lest they think evil of us.

Only last year we had to make concessions for the time was not ripe for them to sign on the dotted line; but our new Big Central Selling scheme should go over big and, Oh, boy, won't we be sitting pretty then? for our kind friends will relieve us of a big load under the new scheme of quota we may introduce. Time enough. We must walk softly and slowly in our invasion, and use velvet gloves for some of the Pilgrims over there are as level headed as we, but have not the gift of speech to counter our advice. And so our valley was again ripe, following a scramble to bootleg our produce for what immediate cash we could collect. We needed bread and our shippers had first claim on our returns for boxes, and their own interests come first. We don't blame them as it seems to be a case of the survival of the fittest, and who are we but feeders of the great financial interests. But the Pilgrim is resourceful ever, and began by truck to sell his own produce (what a devil of a plan). Protests echoed and reechoed from the prairies to the pacific.

The jobbers squealed, the railways squealed, and the frantic cries reached our missionary friends who rushed compulsionaries to the scene and our lovely valley became a battle ground of evils and night skirmishes running the blockade. But the sympathy of all the business interests were in home affairs and the trucker. The only way any cash was circulated. Hurt a man in cash and you make an enemy, and it is so always, and the wise men took heed and counselled against war, for the growers were wrath and pleaded for a release from the regulations they had agreed on and the plea was granted. The time of selling over one desk was not ripe yet, for the fruit was green and kept better that way.

The Pilgrim's Progress is not over yet. Our valley still grows attractive to others. A new post office, reclamation, electricity, irrigation, canning factories, etc., are the progress of our growers, from stumps to wealth. Can we wonder that envious eyes want a share of the spoils? Growers, stand together. There is enough brains in Creston, and a market to do your own business. When we need help we can help ourselves to our own Mecca.

Sirdar

J. S. Wilson was a Creston visitor Saturday.

Mr. Kuzek spent the weekend in Nelson making the trip by train.

Mrs. T. Rogers was a Creston visitor for a couple of days this week.

Gino Bagura has taken a job with the C.P.R. at Tye, as section man.

A bridge crew under George McLean have arrived at Kootenay Landing.

Carl Wigen is still hauling in supplies for his summer resort at Twin Bays.

Mrs. I. Lewis of Boswell was a weekend visitor with Mr. and Mrs. T. Rogers.

Five heavy work horses passed through here Friday from Creston for the ferry over the lake.

C. Kirk of Creston was here on Monday taking supplies to the grader crew with his truck.

J. P. MacDonald of Creston was here at the end of the week on business of the forestry department.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Kuzek, who were recently married are moving into the section house at Sirdar.

Roy McGregor of Crawford Bay was a visitor here with his truck, on his way to Creston for supplies.

Donald Bolton of Creston has arrived here to take on his old job in the kitchen of the road camp.

Chas. Lombardo, who has been on a visit to his brother, Frank, at Drury, returned home Wednesday.

Clarence Wilson of Wynndel took two trucks of lumber up the lake to be used in construction of new buildings.

At present a section crew is engaged dumping heavy rocks on each side of the railway track at Kootenay Landing.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Reid of Creston were weekend visitors with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tillotson of Twin Bays.

The Telephone line has now been completely reinstalled to its permanent position, a crew of four men being engaged on the work.

Frank Lombardo, C.P.R. watchman at Drury, has been transferred to Tye and his place taken there by R. Stewart, formerly at Tye.

Gus Benedetti of Wynndel, who is in charge of the Borosoto ranch, was here on Monday looking over the cattle herd, now grazing on the flats.

Two representatives of the Bayonne Mining Company left Tye about a week ago to visit the mine and are not expected back for several days yet.

The water as indicated by gauge at Slough bridge reads 1.39 a fall of 0.11 for the week. Indications are that it will take several days of hot weather to start the water on the up grade.

Those from here attending the birthday of the Women's Institute at Wynndel were D. Butterfield, C. Gregory, M. Hagen, Howard Slingaby, D. Hevan, Bob Enkin, Jr., Frank Hamilton, Chas.

A grader in charge of Dolf Weir of Creston has been on the roads for over a week and its work is a decided improvement to the surface of the highway from Creston to Grey Creek.

The public works department have started to widen the highway just east of Sirdar. Part of the crew engaged at Atbara has been detached for this purpose. With the completion of this work another danger spot will have been removed. An air compressor is on the job.

Mr. Deverson, the poultryman of Crawford Bay, was a Saturday visitor here and reports the sale for young chicks the greatest in his experience, possibly due to the achievements of his prize winning strains, despite the large increase in orders the installation of a larger incubation plant places him in the position of being able to take care of all business orders.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martello entertained the Creston Review lady champion basketball team of Creston at their home on Saturday evening. A sumptuous dinner was enjoyed by all the girls with a pleasant evening at cards following. Fred was coach of the Review squad and was suitably remembered by the sponsor of the team, C. F. Hayes, and the members of the winning aggregation, who presented him with a black sweater coat with the familiar "CR" monogram in white. Mr. Hayes also remembered the members of the team and Mrs. Martello with silk hose. The champion quintette of 1934-35 were Dot Palmer, Nora Payne, Irene Bourdon, Mrs. Lewis, Ada Lewis and Hazel Sinclair—the latter unable to be present due to illness.

273 people sat down to the dinner preceding the annual meeting of Bonners Ferry Commercial Club.

and a few of their friends at the home of Mrs. F. H. Jackson on Friday evening, honoring Principal E. Marriot and Miss Joan Kemp, whose marriage takes place in Easter week. Cards and music were features of the evening, and just before lunch was served the evening's guests were presented with an occasional chair, which Mr. Marriot suitably acknowledged.

Many in Creston will be highly pleased to hear of the success of Corinne Doneau, now of Vernon, at the musical festival at Kamloops, April 4th, where she ranked second for violin contestants under 18 years. Her high standing is more remarkable when it is recalled that Corinne is not yet 13 years of age. Her success reflects credit also on Mrs. Fred Lister, with whom she started violin tuition while resident at Creston. During her residence in Creston the successful young violinist was with her grandmother and aunt, Mrs. J. H. and Miss A. H. Doyle, now of Penticton.

Canada's Greatest Problem

The Canadian people are confronted with a gigantic problem. We say the Canadian people advisedly because, while governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal are all struggling with it, the problem is one towards the solution of which individual citizens must make their contribution. The fact that it is a problem facing all other nations offers no consolation because the more acute and difficult it is in other lands only serves to make it more difficult in Canada.

The problem can be stated in two or three words,—unemployment and relief.

The unemployed man or woman wants work and the wages which work will bring to them. Failing work and wages, they must be provided by Governments with the necessities of life,—food, clothing, fuel and shelter.

Such necessities can, of course, only be provided by the State through the taxation of those other men and women who are employed, or still have some savings accumulated throughout the years of the past in order to make provision for their own future and old age. The only other way is for Governments to borrow money and add such borrowings to their public debts upon which interest must be paid through increased taxation, and the principal sum of which is passed on as a liability for future generations to meet.

So far as municipalities, with their small and limited sources of revenue, are concerned, many have reached the limit of what their taxpayers are able to pay in order to care for those who are unemployed. Further taxation simply means that more people will be unable to pay it, and, failing to do so, will lose what they still have and will, in turn, be forced "on relief". Faced with this situation, a largely attended conference of the mayors of the leading cities and towns of Canada unanimously declared the inability of the municipalities to any longer carry their share of the relief burden and called upon the Federal Government to assume it in its entirety.

On their part, the Provinces,—and more particularly the Western Provinces, which, in addition to the general and world-wide economic depression, have suffered more severely than other portions of the Dominion because of successive years of crop failures owing to the unprecedented drought conditions which have prevailed,—now find it impossible to raise, either by taxation or borrowings, the Provincial share of relief expenditures and at the same time assume the share of the municipalities.

It must be recognized, therefore,—the truth cannot be ignored,—that the problem is a national one, and one that most intimately concerns every Canadian citizen and every Canadian interest. This must now be accepted as a fact even though under the constitution of this country the responsibility of making provision for people in need is primarily a municipal responsibility. That is, the actual facts of the situation override all constitutional aspects.

Then, there is the other side of the picture. Tens of thousands of people who are "on relief" complain that the amounts allotted to them are inadequate to their needs and desires. They are insistent in their demands that relief allowances be substantially increased. They are organizing to enforce their demands, and all over the country communistic agitators are playing upon their distress and worries and arousing their passions and making demands which it is manifestly impossible for the remainder of the people to satisfy.

These agitators all loudly object to people on relief being asked to render any service whatever in return for the payments being regularly made to them. They insist that no person should be called upon by the municipality in which they reside to perform any work in return for the assistance extended to them. They refuse to recognize that, in effect, people are being paid what is tantamount to wages in advance, small though they may be, by their other fellow citizens, and they declare that to ask relief recipients to render any service in return for such assistance is to make "slaves" of them.

Yet Canadians worthy of the name, and knowing their country's difficulties, should be grateful for what is being done in their behalf, and if there is any manhood left in them they should not only be ready and willing, but actually anxious, to make what return they can to their fellow citizens and their country. These agitators demand work,—not for themselves but for those they would make their dupes,—and when work in its usually accepted meaning cannot be provided but State assistance is extended, they then advocate refusal to work in exchange for such assistance, or even for a small fraction of it. Why? Because they are out to destroy the very institutions of government and the very people who are now providing the unemployed with the necessities of life.

Such is the major Canadian problem of to-day. It is one, let it be repeated and emphasized, that vitally affects every citizen. It is their problem; what are they going to do about it?

We submit that the citizen who is employed, or has an income, or some reserves, should pay his taxes uncomplainingly, willingly and promptly and thus assist his country in a time of great difficulty. More, he should make every effort to provide a little work, no matter how small or temporary the job may be, for some one out of work, and thus relieve the pressure.

We submit further that all persons on relief should be reasonable in their demands, should endeavor to get along with as little as possible, rather than demand more. And they should show their manhood and self-respect by willingly, and at all times, rendering such service in return to their fellow citizens as it may be in their power to render.

This is no time to "rock the boat," and any person who seeks to do so is not a true Canadian, but has an ulterior motive to serve, and may well be described as an enemy of the country.

To Abolish Noise

"Silent" House Will Be Shown At London Exhibition

London is to have a "house of hush", a house so quiet that in it a person may be able to hear the proverbial pin drop. There is to be a "silence" exhibition in June at which it will be possible to see—but not to hear—the following:

A silent house, with silent lift and silent locks, sound-proof ventilating windows, sound-proof doors; silenced motorcycles; a noiseless motorcar; silent vacuum cleaners; silent road drills; a silent factory room.

The exhibition, at the Science Museum, South Kensington, will be organized by the Anti-Noise League, of which Lord Horder is president.

HER ARMS AND LEGS IMMOVABLE

Ten Years With Rheumatism

To this woman it must have been like commencing to live a new life, when she began to use her arms and legs again, after they had been helpless for ten years.

"I suffered with rheumatism," she writes, "and had been bedridden since 1920. I could not move arms or legs, and had to be fed like a child. Everybody thought I should be an invalid all my life. I forced myself to fight against it, and tried a number of different things. It was Kruschen that eventually saved me, and to-day I consider it is saving my life. My condition has greatly improved, and my limbs are gradually becoming more supple. Already I can eat without assistance, and dress myself—which I had not done for ten years."—M. H.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uratic needles through the natural channel.

Germany's Air Force

Hitler Reports It Is Numerically Stronger Than Britain's

The London Daily Mail said Adolf Hitler had informed Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, that Germany already has an air force numerically stronger than Great Britain's.

The Daily Mail did not reveal the source of its information but it was known Simon returned from Berlin with documents presented to him by Hitler in which, it is understood, Der Fuehrer frankly revealed the extent of Germany's armaments in the air.

The disclosure of Germany's air strength was reported to have caused grave concern to the British cabinet. Ministers held several informal meetings for a preliminary discussion on what is expected to be "a showdown" debate on the entire German situation when Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, returns from a swing through European capitals.

Error In Scottish Notes

Many Million Have To Be Withdrawn From Circulation

Following the detection of an error which had existed in the design in Scottish bank notes for many years, millions of them will be withdrawn from circulation. The Bank of Scotland, the National Bank of Scotland, and the British Linen Bank have been using the royal arms in the design of their notes. The royal arms are the ensigns of public authority, and can only be used by the King or government officials. It was only recently, when a question was raised as to why the Bank of England did not use one or other of the royal arms, that their use on the Scottish notes was challenged, Francis J. Grant, the Lyon King-of-Arms, who investigated the matter, found that the officials were unaware of the regulation.

Long Distance Record

Telephone Call From Liner Covered Distance Of 17,887 Miles

Sir Julian Cahn, noted British cricket captain who took a British eleven to the United States and Canada 18 months ago, holds the world's record for long distance telephoning. Sir Julian's record, said wireless telephone operators of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain when the world cruise ship arrived at Hong Kong recently, was made two weeks before when the ship was at sea between Singapore, Straits Settlements, and Bangkok.

Atmospherics prevented the reception of a call from the Empress of Britain to Nottingham, England, by the London receiving terminal. But the call was successfully completed by routing it direct from the ship to San Francisco, overland from there to New York, and by beam wireless to England.

At the time Sir Julian talked he was seven hours ahead of London time. The San Francisco control station was nine hours behind London and New York, of course, three hours ahead of the Pacific station. Rough computation shows a distance of 17,887 miles for the conversation between the Empress of Britain and London off which 9,275 miles was a direct connection between the ship and San Francisco. Direct, the voice would have travelled only 7,950 miles.

Records Made Years Ago

Carry Voice Of Jenny Lind But Cannot Be Found

Somewhere in Sweden or Denmark the "voice" of Jenny Lind, the Swedish nightingale is believed to lie forgotten. Possibly it is in an attic or a storehouse. The famous singer, it has been revealed, made records in Paris in 1887, shortly after the first phonograph was put on the market. The records were of the old cylinder type. After Jenny Lind's death, it is believed, they were sent either to Stockholm or Copenhagen. A Swedish newspaper is appealing to its readers to search their attics, old trunks and boxes in case they may possess the precious records without knowing it.

Gift For King George

Ruler Of Tonga Gives Ancient Turtle With History

King George is to be presented a three-hundred-year-old turtle with a history when Queen Salote, the six-foot-three ruler of Tonga, arrives in London. She is now on her way with her son, who attends an English school. In 1774 Captain Cook, famous British navigator, made a forced landing, owing to shortage of provisions, at the Pacific Islands of Tonga. His reception, to his surprise, was so warm that he renamed them the Friendly Islands, the name by which they have been known ever since. Captain Cook had a turtle, then 160 years old, on board, intended as a present for George III. He gave it as a peace offering to King Tubou, of Tonga. Queen Salote, his descendant, inherited the turtle.

BUDGET RATIFIED AFTER DEBATE IN HOUSE AT OTTAWA

Ottawa.—Winners in three straight divisions, the Bennett government had its budget ratified by the House of Commons as the climax to the strangest debate in years.

With majorities ranging from 153 to 25, Conservatives beat back two amendments from the opposition and passed the main motion. Then they trooped from the greenwalled chamber, shouting and cheering Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

Conservatives and Liberals combined to snow under, 165-12, the social credit amendment moved by the Progressives. It was the first of the three votes.

Then the government beat back the Liberal amendment, calling for an immediate election. The vote was 104-73 with five U.F.A. members and one Progressive voting with the government (Spencer, Gardiner, Speakman, Irvine, Carmichael) and six U.F.A.-Labor-Progressives with the Liberals (Coote, Mitchell, MacInnis, Woodsworth, Heaps and Miss Macphail).

Then came the main motion, the actual ratification of the budget, which passed 98-74. Eleven Progressives lined up with the Liberals but A. M. Carmichael (Prog., Kindersley) swung along with the government.

Although it was a short budget debate, it had one unusual feature. Of the 30 speakers, 21 were Conservatives, six were Progressives and three Liberals. Liberals retired to the sidelines after the first day or two although usually opposition speakers hammer away at a government in a constant stream in the budget debate. The Conservatives blocked their own budget by putting up nine speakers.

For Direct Relief

Federal Government Loans To B.C. And Saskatchewan

Ottawa.—Loans amounting to $1,250,000 and $1,000,000 for British Columbia and Saskatchewan respectively have been approved by the government to assist these provinces in taking care of direct relief, according to several orders-in-council tabled in the House of Commons.

Saskatchewan's $1,000,000 is to pay outstanding accounts for relief in the drouth areas. In addition Saskatchewan is given some further relief from immediate payment of loans made by the Dominion which matured last month. These totalled $1,929,015. They were extended for another year.

Starting Memorial Fund

Australia Follows Plan Of Other Dominions To Mark Jubilee

Canberra, Australia.—Following similar steps in the United Kingdom and other Dominions, the Australian government announced that with His Majesty's approval it was launching an Australian-wide appeal for a memorial fund for the royal jubilee. The fund will be devoted here to combatting maternal mortality. The government is opening the fund with a donation of £50,000 (Australian), equivalent to about $193,500.

Jail Term For Stowaways

Halifax.—Two stowaways who got their sailing schedules crossed wound up in jail with 10-day terms ahead of them. Ralph Taylor, 19, of Lethbridge, Alta., and Leo Williams, 36, of Moncton, N.B., had New York as their destination when they boarded the liner, Aurania. But when they came out of hiding three days from Halifax, they found they were on their way to England. They were brought back on the return voyage.

Suggest Relief Meetings

Edmonton.—Suggestion that relief authorities of Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Regina meet semi-annually to exchange information and so increase efficiency was made in a report by H. P. McKee, manager of Edmonton's special relief department. 2093.

Austria Increasing Army

Decides To Follow Example Of Germany For Arms Equality

Vienna.—The Austrian government decided to follow Germany's example in increasing its armed forces.

A 60-word communique, issued shortly after the cabinet met with Premier Kurt Schuschnigg presiding, disclosed steps to achieve that end already have been started.

Under the treaty of St. Germain, Austria's army was limited to 30,000 men, this figure including officers and "depot troops."

The communique asserted Austria's right to arms equality, saying: "The cabinet expressed the unanimous conception that the granting to Austria of full equality was a self-evident supposition."

Whether military conscription such as that re-instituted in Germany in mid-March was contemplated was not revealed.

Military circles, however, lent attention to reports an immediate effort would be made to increase the present army from 30,000 to 60,000 and that such effort would be "accompanied by the gradual elimination of private armies such as the Heimwehr and the Catholic storm troops."

Ethiopia Moves Troops

Government Explains Action Taken To Defend Frontiers

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.—Ethiopia is moving troops to her frontiers, authoritative sources revealed, to meet what her government regards as a threat from Italy's East African forces.

The Ethiopian detachments were said to be moving in large numbers to the Eritrean and Italian Somali borders.

Government sources were quick to explain the activities were solely for defensive purposes. Described as being organized on a more efficient basis than Ethiopia's tribesmen ever before have been, the troops were under strict orders from Emperor Haile Selassie to avoid contact with Italian border garrisons.

Ethiopia has no intention of undertaking an offensive, it was authoritatively explained.

U.S. Drouth Conditions

Believe Arid Area Is Beginning To Spread Eastward

Washington.—Severe dry conditions which observers noted closely paralleled those marking the beginning of last summer's disastrous drouth were reported in the weekly weather and crop bulletin of the United States weather bureau.

The bureau said the precipitation still was deficient over most of the northern great plains region and that the arid area was beginning to spread eastward. It was recalled that this was what occurred last year.

"Some adjacent sections to the eastward are becoming dry, notably eastern Kansas, while precipitation was deficient over most of the northern great plain," the report said. It noted the continuation of dust storms in "the severely dry western area."

Kansas is the largest wheat producing state in the United States, most of the crop being grown in the eastern part of that state.

Fights Blinding Snow Storm

Aviator Makes Hazardous Trip From North With Wounded Men

Winnipeg.—The record of northern aviation has had still another glowing achievement enscrolled.

Flying through a driving snow-storm, Pilot Ted Stull, of Wings, Limited, brought two seriously injured men from God's Lake, 400 miles north of here. Visibility was almost nil, with every other plane in the area grounded.

A flying piece of steel lodged in J. Breckenridge's eye, and it was feared in hospital here he would lose the sight of that optic.

His foot almost severed in an accident, while swinging an axe, Emile Nordstrum was in serious condition.

Elevators For Argentine

Buenos Aires.—The Argentine government will spend 10,000,000 pesos ($3,300,000) on the construction of two modern grain elevators in the port of Rosario. The construction of these elevators will mark the beginning of the government's plan to erect a total of 14 terminal grain elevators in the main shipping centres of the country.

Ireland Would Trade On Equality Basis

Anxious To Deal With Other Countries States Dublin Lord Mayor

Toronto.—Ireland is anxious to trade dollar for dollar with other countries—England not excluded—if she may do so on a basis of equality, Rt. Hon. Alfred Byrne, T.D., lord mayor of Dublin, said in addressing a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club.

Ireland, he said, would welcome any influence which would bring the people from the north and south together voluntarily in a spirit of co-operation. Such an influence might come from an outside country.

"Canada has shown the way," he added, "why should not Ireland do likewise?"

Domestic difficulties in the Irish Free State arose from conditions similar to those in Canada, he said. Youths have left farms derelict for the glamor of the larger cities. They had come to cities and the government was unable to offer them the employment they looked for.

As a remedy for this condition he advocated government stabilization of farm produce prices.

Amendment Carried

Senate Rules Limit Of $5,000 On Farm Loans

Ottawa.—By a vote of 13-3, with party lines divided, a maximum of $5,000 was placed on mortgage loans of the Canadian farm loan board under an amendment carried in the senate banking and commerce committee.

Moved by Senator Lendrum McMeans (Cons., Winnipeg), the amendment, in the words of supporters of the change, is to "spread out the fund and make it available to the greatest number."

The repayment period remains at "not in excess of 25 years." An amendment by Senator C. C. Ballantyne (Cons., Montreal) to limit the period to 15 years was defeated, while an amendment of Senator E. S. Little (Lib., London) to make the period 20 years encountered the same fate.

Plan Limited Inflation

Sum Involved In United States About Five Hundred Million

Washington.—Inflation, limited but none the less certain, has been revealed as a significant by-product of new United States treasury financing policy.

The government has so much cash in its vaults it intends to pay off a quantity of maturing obligations in currency, thereby adding to the amount of money in circulation and available for new investments.

At the very utmost, $500,000,000 of inflation would be involved.

Hugo Sum For Charity

London.—London's fashionable west end lived up to a spendthrift reputation when a packed house saw the charity premiere of the film "Sanders of the River," starring Paul Robeson, with the better seats selling for $50 each. The performance netted £17,000 for a newspaper press fund.

SEE DANGER TO CANADIAN CREDIT IN ONTARIO BILL

London.—Commentators in the Times and the Daily Telegraph saw a danger to the credit of Canada in the Ontario government's bill to invalidate power contracts with four Quebec companies.

The Times said the city felt the basis of credit would be destroyed if contracts, authorized by one Ontario government were to be destroyed by another.

If the bill was enacted, said the Daily Telegraph, "a blow will be delivered against the standing of Canadian provincial bonds in this country." It said the Dominion government should act quickly to prevent its credit being thrown upon Canadian securities as a whole.

The Financial Times said it had been suggested in several quarters that the matter be raised in parliament at the earliest possible moment, and J. H. Thomas, Dominions secretary, urged to take the subject up with Canadian authorities.

"Ontario is reputed to be the richest province in the Dominion. The action she now contemplates threatens the whole basis of credit," said the paper. It added that the clause in the bill prohibiting companies affected from appealing to the courts had aroused the greatest apprehension. It was described as "simply iniquitous."

Meeting With Success

Chancellor Asks Nova Scotia Theatres To Close Good Friday

Halifax.—Thirteen theatre managers in Nova Scotia had promised to lock their doors on Good Friday, Rev. Dr. C. F. Curran, chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of Halifax, said as he outlined success encountered in the drive to make the day one of religious observance.

Three more managers had announced their intention of opening their theatres only for night shows, and several others were giving the proposal careful consideration.

No question of a boycott on theatres was involved, Dr. Curran said.

Since the advent of motion pictures, Good Friday gradually had become a holiday instead of a holy day, he said.

May Grow Soft Wheat

B.C. Is Investigating Varieties And Most Suitable Zones

Winnipeg.—Definite conclusions may be expected next year in the soft wheat investigation now being carried out in British Columbia, it was reported by Dr. L. H. Newman, Dominion cerealist, at the meeting of the associate committees on grain research of the national research council.

The investigation is being made to determine the varieties and zones best suited for the growing of soft wheat.

Price Of Canadian Flax

Sarnia, Ont.—Increase in the price of Canadian flax was forecast by Howard Fraleigh of Forest, former M.L.A., who was chief flax purchasing agent for the allies during the Great War. Canadian flax is now finding a market in Northern Ireland where it is quoted at 18 to 20 cents a pound when ready for spinning.

Restricted To Premiers

Ottawa.—Official invitations to the celebrations of the King's Silver Jubilee in London, May 6, will be restricted to prime ministers of the dominions, Sir George Perley, acting leader of the government, told the House of Commons.

Health Conference

Ottawa.—Approval of the proposed convention of a Dominion-wide conference of ministers of health whose main object will be to ascertain general conditions of health in Canada, was given by the senate public health and inspection of foods committee.
