Death Summons Lester Martell

Popular Wynndel Youth Taken Thursday Last—Interment in Creston Cemetery—Formerly Resided at Lethbridge.

Wynndel has lost one of its most popular young men in the death of Lester Martell, which occurred at the home of his parents, Thursday morning, in his 22nd year.

Deceased was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Martell and was born at Hillcrest, Alberta, later moving with the family to Lethbridge, in which city he resided until his parents came to Wynndel in 1931, and has resided here continuously ever since.

The funeral took place on Saturday from Holy Cross Church, Creston, with Father Hartmann officiating. Interment was in Creston cemetery, with six of his young friends as pallbearers: Gilbert Payette, Fred Hagen, Clarence Wilson, Dave Taylor, D. Benedetti and Ned Bathie, and very large turnout of friends to pay their last respects. The many and lovely floral tributes also bespoke the high esteem in which deceased was held.

Lester took an active part in Wynndel athletics and the other community activities and the unexpected termination of so promising a young life makes his death a community sorrow and in their bereavement the parents and family have the sincere sympathy of all.

The popularity of the deceased at both his former places of residence was shown in floral tributes. Those from Hillcrest remembering him were Mr. and Mrs. D. Grant and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshanks and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McVicar, Mr. and Mrs. McNeil and family. Friends in Lethbridge who remembered deceased were: Dominion Rebekah Lodge, Messrs. Bezenis, Palmer, Lowe, Longhurst, Donsldson, Meads, Thompson, Redman, Tennant, Webster, Little, Lustuka and Breckenridge.

Wynndel's First Church Wedding

Miss Ethel Towson and Edmund Hulme First to Wed in New Anglican Edifice—Newlyweds to Reside at Wynndel

A wedding of great interest in the valley was solemnized at St. Patrick's Anglican Church, Wynndel, on Thursday, April 25th, at 11.30 a.m., when Miss Ethel, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Towson, became the bride of Edmund, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. G. Hulme, with Rev. M. C. Percival of Creston officiating.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father during the singing of "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden." She looked beautiful in a floor length gown of ivory silk flat crepe made on tight fitting lines with full skirt and long sleeves. The square neck line was finished with silver sequin trimmings. Her embroidered net veil was held in place with sprays of orange blossom. She wore white shoes and carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and pale pink geranium and fern.

Mrs. R. Andestad, the bride's only sister, as matron of honor, chose a nippion green silk flat crepe dress ankle length and trimmed with pale pink silk net ruffles at neckline and pink sash. A large green mohair hat trimmed with pink, and white shoes completed the costume. She carried a bouquet of pink Darwin tulips, double daffodils and fern. J. Hulme, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the signing of the register the bride and groom left the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Percival, only to be met with a generous shower of rice and confetti from friends awaiting outside. Their car was liberally adorned with tin cans, old shoes, evergreens and ribbons by well wishers who were unable to get into the church for the service.

The wedding was unique in that it was the first ceremony held in St. Patrick's Church. Also it was the thirty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents. After the ceremony the guests returned to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding breakfast was served. The three tier wedding cake, the gift of Mrs. H. J. Middleton and Mrs. Heddie of Willow Point, was cut by the bride and toasts to the health of the newlyweds were appropriately received.

The bride's mother wore navy silk crepe trimmed with coined dot silk crepe with silver clasps and blue hat to match. The mother of the groom chose a silk crepe ensemble of pale blue trimmed with white with beige hat. The bride's travelling costume was a brown treabark swaggar suit, brown shoes and hose and beige and brown hat and accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Towson left by car on a honeymoon to be spent at Spokane and other U.S. points. On their return they will reside at Wynndel. The groom's gift to the matron of honor was a beautiful pendant, and to the bestman he gave a silver cigarette case and lighter.

Jubilee Day Plans Complete

Proceedings Start with Parade at 10.30 a.m.—Extensive Line of Entertainment in Afternoon—Maypole—Barbecue.

Parade of children with town band, floats and decorated ars; Jubilee Queen and her attendants on a lavishly decorated float; paraders in fancy and comic costumes, crowning of queen, baseball game, races and sport events, maypole dance, barbecue and evening dance, are the outstanding features of Creston's observance of the silver jubilee of the accession of King George on Monday, May 6th.

The day's festivities will start with the grand parade which will move off from the Orchard service station promptly at 10.30 a. m., with J. B. Holder in charge, headed by the town band and the order of march as follows:

Queen's float, carrying the Jubilee Queen, four ladies-in-waiting, two flower girls, and guard of honor furnished from Creston troop of Boy Scouts. Then will come the children of school age, as follows: Husercroft, Lister, Canyon, Kitchener, Arrow Creek, Erickson, West Creston, Alice Siding, Wynndel and Creston Schools; boys and girls in costume, decorated bicycles, floats (Boy Scouts following their own float), decorated cars, etc.

This will conclude activities for the morning. In the afternoon the queen will be crowned on the platform at the entrance to Park pavilion, and the opening address will be made by Col. Mallandaine.

Following this feature the sports programme will get under way, the initial feature being the baseball match between the Creston Athletics and Intermediates. After the ball game there will be a series of races for the children.

Then will come the ever-popular maypole dance by a group of girls in charge of Mrs. W. Fraser. This is a new feature for outdoor fetes at Creston and is sure to attract much attention. After the maypole more children's events will be staged.

Between 4.30 and 6 p.m. the barbecue will be the big attraction. This is in charge of Matt. York, who has had previous experience, one who has selected a corps of able assistants. In the evening the Serenaders' orchestra will play for the dance in Park pavilion with an admission of 50 cents, which includes supper.

There will be first and second prizes for boys and girls fancy and comic costumes and decorated bicycle. Prizes will be awarded for the best float and best decorated car.

Refreshment booths will be operated on the ground and those coming in from the country will be able to secure lunch promptly. The prizes for the queen and ladies-in-waiting are on display at Liphardt's jewelry store and are attracting much attention.

Selling has been active on behalf of all candidates for the honor of queen, and it would appear that there are several dark horses in this race. The largest number of votes has been turned in on behalf of Doris Ferguon, but the demand for tickets has been large for candidates from Canyon and from other organizations in Creston. The secretary will be at his office in his hospital basement between 5 and 6 p.m. on Saturday, May 4th, to receive votes, and all returns must be in his hands at that time. The winner will be announced after the show at the Grand the same evening.

The "Last Post" will be sounded daily at the Menin Gate of Ypres for ever. At this spot, familiar to many Canadians who fought in the Great War, and scene of bitter fighting, Belgian firemen for four years sounded the lament daily on bugles presented by the British Legion.

Specimen Preserved in Amber From 600 B.C. Period

In the year 600 B.C. mosquitoes apparently were just as annoying as the modern species, if size is any indication. A mosquito whose proportions are larger than those of its average present-day descendant is preserved in pure amber owned by H. C. Page, Saint John.

Geologists estimate the insect was entombed more than 2,500 years ago. The neatly cut piece of amber, crystal-clear, preserved the mosquito perfectly, including even the fibrous hairs on its body and legs.

Amber, a solidified refinement of tree balsam, is found mostly in the bituminous fossils of timber along the shores of the Baltic and other parts of maritime Europe, Page said. The jewel in his possession came from the northern coast of Russia, where vast areas were under water for centuries.

YOUR HANDWRITING REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER!

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT (Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

Here are some replies to letters received from readers. Others will find them interesting, too, as showing just what Graphology can do for you.

Miss B.L.: You are inclined to be somewhat highly-strung, and are apt to get easily excited when things do not go just as you would like. This is not a weakness in the ordinary sense of the word; it is more a temperamental disadvantage, brought about because you are so swayed by your feelings. You are so quick to feel joys and sorrows, and will probably suffer a good deal as a result.

Yours is not a nature that would find nursing a very suitable occupation, and it is fortunate that you recognized this and discontinued your training. The ideal nurse needs to be well-controlled, able to "keep her head" in emergencies, and at the same time to be sympathetic and kindly. You do have the latter traits, but certainly would not show at your best during tense moments.

You are independent, in the sense that you are chary of accepting the help of others. And you have a good regard for order and neatness and are careful about details. All in all, you should do fairly well at your office work, and be far happier than in the occupation of nursing.

Mr. A.G.T.: You have a fairly normal nature, with a slight leaning toward ardour, but are by no means intensely emotional. Your sense of judgment is well to the fore, and will, as a rule, prevent you from doing anything too impetuously.

You are, perhaps, too prone to view the future a little cynically, without that faith and ambition that a young man like you should have. Be more definitely ambitious; make your plans for the future, and then get down to brass tacks to try and realise them.

Miss P.A.D.: It seems to me that most of your trouble can be traced to the changeable nature that you have. You fit too readily from one thing to another, and don't succeed in any of them because you don't devote sufficient energy and concentration. You vary in your moods and the result is that no sooner have you become interested in one particular thing than something else turns up to distract your attention and interest temporarily. I am writing you direct, because it is essential that you adopt a more definite course to follow in order to make any real and lasting progress in the future.

Word has been received from George R. Jacobus, President of the United States Professional Golfers' Association, that he will select the captains from the foreign-born and native-born teams of United States professionals which will compete in the $4,000 General Brock Hotel Open Golf Tournament, which is to be played at the Look-out Point Country Club at Fonthill, Ont., on July 11, 12, and 13. The United States amateur teams will choose their own captains from among their numbers. Similar arrangements will also be in vogue with the Canadian teams.

Tome Miyamoto Captain Japanese Golf Team

The first professional team entry for the Seagram Gold Cup, emblematic of this six-man team championship, has been received from the Japanese Golf Association and includes: Tomekichi Miyamoto of the Ibaragi Golf Club, Kyoto, present Japanese professional champion; Seisui Chin of the Musashino Country Club, and Ryokuzo Asami of the Hodagaya Country Club, Yokohama, both former champions; Toichiro Teda of the Hirono Golf Club, Kobe; Kokichi Yasuda of the Tokio Golf Club; Kenkichi Nakamura of the Fijisawa Country Club, and Yutaka Kanuma, secretary of the J.G.A., who is accompanying the team as manager. It is confidently expected that at least ten teams will be entered in this competition.

Matter Of Damages From Sulphur Fumes At Trail, B.C., Nears Settlement

The state department at Washington has announced that a convention for the final settlement of the controversy arising from damage done in the state of Washington by sulphur fumes from a smelter at Trail, B.C., was signed at Ottawa.

The convention, signed by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, for Canada, and by Pierre L. Boal, charge d'affaires, for the United States, provides for the appointment of a joint arbitration tribunal which will pass on all damage alleged to have been done to Washington forests, crops and livestock, since Jan. 1, 1932.

The tribunal will consist of jurists named by the United States and Canada with a chairman to be appointed by both governments from some neutral country.

The convention must be approved by the United States senate and the Canadian parliament.

State department officials said it would be transmitted to the senate immediately for the earliest possible action.

The convention also provides that the Canadian government will cause to be paid $350,000 for damages up to Jan. 1, 1932, as recommended by the report made by the international joint commission in February, 1931. The tribunal also is expected to make recommendations for the installation of fume elimination apparatus or other measures to prevent future damage.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 5

SIN, REPENTANCE, AND FAITH

Golden text: If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us from all unrighteousness.

Devotional reading: Psalm 51:1-10.

Explanations And Comments

Great Sin, Luke 15:11-13. At the demand of the younger of two sons, a father divided between the two his living. The younger son's portion would be one-third; that of the elder, two-thirds, Dt. 21:17. The prodigal, as we call him, had long been chafing under the restrictions of home and at once set out for "a far country"—a place where he could "live his own life."

There he wasted his substance in riotous living. He had his reckless fling. He came a spendthrift and a reprobate.

Great Resolve, Luke 15:17-19. "I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight. Moses had wrought into the warp and woof of Jewish conscience the conviction that sin was a crime against the Eternal, and the Psalmists had invested this view with singular pathos. It mattered not what wrong a man did; it was in the last issue the heart of God he touched. And only God could loose him from the intolerable burden of guilt. Sin was not only the transgression of a law written on the conscience, it was a personal offense against the divine love. Jewish penitence therefore was very tender and humble. 'Against thee, thee only have I sinned.' Jesus, in his monograph on sin, incorporates this discovery when he makes the prodigal say, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight.'" (Ian Maclaren).

And he arose and came to his father.

Great Forgiveness, 15:20-24. His father's love is far greater than he has dreamed. While he is yet afar off his father sees him and is moved with compassion and runs to meet him.

The prodigal began his confession, but he did not say anything about being made a hired servant, for his father would not let him finish. Well did the father know that the first thing to do was to give back his son's self-respect, to clothe him as a son, and calling his servants he bade them bring the best robe, put a ring on his hand, the symbol of position and honor, and shoes on his feet, which slaves never wore.

There remained only to kill the fatted calf and make merry, "for this my son was dead, and he is alive again, he was lost, and is found," the happy father exclaimed.

Aid For Passengers

Time Table Is Produced By Pressing A Button

An invention recently installed in the Victoria Station in London allows the railway passenger to press a button and produce at the instrument's illuminated window a time table for the station desired. Each station is numbered; pressing the correspondingly numbered key brings a printed card into view bearing the complete schedule of trains between Victoria and the station in question. Similar machines are to be installed at all the principal stations on the Southern Railway, the London Times reports.—New York Sun.

A Distinction For Thursday Island

Screening

Growing screens offer a solution to things which are better hidden. The straight lines of a residence should be broken by a few bushes and vines. These growing screens are divided into two classes, annual climbers and tall plants which of course must be renewed each year, and perennial creepers and shrubs or trees. The latter are permanent but take more time to produce and may be supplemented the first year or two with annuals. The annuals, instead, have the advantage of speed, in a month or two they are performing their duty of shutting off an objectionable view, or screening the noon day sun from the verandah, and the very fact that they are there for one year only, allows an opportunity for change, and changing things about is one of the fascinations of gardening. Of the annual plants, African Marigolds, Cosmos, Ornamental Sunflowers, Larkspurs, Castor Beans, and other bushy, fairly tall plants will make satisfactory screens by early July. Among the annual climbers are Morning Glories, Nasturtiums, Sweet Peas, Hops, Scarlet Runner Beans, Cobea, Gourds, Cardinal Climber and Canary Bird Flower.

Grow Vegetables Quickly

If vegetables are to be tender, they must be grown quickly. Especially with such things as radish, carrots and beets, slow growth is disastrous as the roots become woody and filled with objectionable fibres. But this rule also applies to salad materials like lettuce. Therefore, growth should be pushed along with frequent cultivation, which in addition to checking weeds, also conserves moisture. Cultivation alone will often keep the vegetables going through a dry spell, but of course a few pails of water or an hour or two with the hose at such a time, will prove beneficial. Where the supply of water is not large, plant those things, most in need of extra moisture, such as radish, lettuce and celery, closest to the pump. Fertilizer is another way of hurrying growth and therefore assuring vegetables of the highest quality.

Planting

Flowers divide themselves into main planting groups. The first to be sown are those very hardy kinds which naturally reproduce themselves in Canada. Cosmos, California Poppy, Alyssum, Calendula and Candytuft are very hardy and can be sown first thing in the spring. In the second group are the Zinnia, Marigold, Nasturtium, Stocks, Aster and Petunia, which do not stand serious frost, and of the tender things, which must be held back until all danger of freezing is over are the Dahlias, Cannas, and Gladiolus. As the latter are all bulbs and do not come up until a week or so after planting, they may be risked within a few days of the arrival of really warm weather.

A Family Compact

The majority of farms in western Canada approach very closely to a family business. For instance, during the year 1930, in five main areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan, 82.7 per cent. of all the farm labor used on 573 farms was supplied by the farmer and his family.

"Where'd you bury him?" asked Stone shortly.

"Over there. . . . Our fire was there. . . ." His finger pointed to a dip in the land. The drifting sand had filled the hollow and at first Stone did not recognize the place. "I was a-sleepin' there. . . ." Peyotl pointed. . . . "Next thing I knowed Mist' Sam waked me up and I seen . . . It . . . . We buried him over by that clump o' mesquite.

Stone flung him aside and walked over to the pile of loose rocks. How much of this fantastic tale was true; how much the phantasm of a disordered mind?

He threw those rocks aside as a boy throws pebbles and he was breathless when he saw what he sought . . . some tattered rag and a scrap of old leather that the coyotes had left. There was more than that but the desert wind and the sun and the scouring winds had done their work and he uncovered only a handful of sand-scoured bones to tell whether Peyotl Gfegg had lied or not. His hand hung poised over the skull that, for reasons, he hated to touch. But that skull was vital. If Peyotl told the truth that skull would be shattered.

He glanced at Peyotl, but Peyotl had got out one of his doped cigarettes and was oblivious to all. He picked up that repulsive skull and examined it carefully. If Peyotl had killed this man by smashing his head with a rock then the bones would be broken. But the skull was intact! Not till he turned it over, about to cast it aside, did he see a gaping hole in the back. Then he heard the "chink-chink" of some solid object inside it. Doubtless it was a pebble that had worked its way inside the skull. He turned the greswome object over and over in his hands. Then something dropped at his feet with a soft thud and, glancing at it, he dropped the skull with a sharp oath. There, lying between his feet, flattened as to the point, its sides scored with green verdigris, lay a forty-one caliber soft lead bullet!

With a quick little gasping oath, he picked it up and fitted it to the hole in the back of the skull. It fitted! There was no doubt about it. The man had died, not from having his head smashed with a rock but from a bullet shot through the back of his head at very close range.

He replaced all the bones except the skull, replied the rocks and went back to the horses where Peyotl sat crouching against the wind.

"This man was shot with a forty-one caliber gun," he said.

Peyotl stared at him dully and Stone angered at his stupidity, kicked him.

"This man . . . If it's Kane . . . How'm I to know if it's Kane?" he said.

"Look at his shoes," said Peyotl with a flash of intelligence. "He allus put 'K' on the heel in iron tacks."

After long search Stone found one shoe and came back satisfied.

"Where'd you get that gun from that you shot Kane with?" he asked. At that Peyotl came to life.

"I never had a gun in my life," he said. "But when I tooken the gun from Mist' Sam. You got that. . ."

"Yes, Sheriff Garcy's got it now. Who did that gun belong to?"

"I tole you I lifted it from Mist' Sam. . . ."

"And he was with you up here when . . . when Kane was killed?"

"Yeah. He sure was."

Stone stood and stared at him. He could hardly believe what he knew to be true. He turned to his pony, reset the saddle and whirled on Peyotl:

"Get into saddle at once," he snapped. "We're goin' back at once!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

Dustin's summary arrest galvanized Seco. Men gathered before every store discussing it and questioning for details. For five years Sam Dustin and Goddard had been considered immune to arrest and now Jim Garcy had taken him as casually as he might have taken any common brawler and no man knew exactly why. He met Dustin outside the Silver Dollar and touched him on the arm as Dustin stopped Doc Epps to question him about the reported death of Gerald Keene.

"I've got a warrant for your arrest, Dustin," he said. "The charge is open violation of the Narcotic Act."

"What?" Dustin spun about and his eyes snapped: "You mean that you're arrestin' me? You're crazy, Sheriff. . . ."

"Mebbe. That's got nothin' to do with the matter. The question is . . . are you comin' with me or do I have to take you?"

There was a light in Jim Garcy's eyes that spoke more plainly than any words. Dustin made up his mind at once.

"I'll come with you of course. This is absurd. Who's sworn out the warrant?"

"A man named Stone from the Hour-glass. He swears he found you with your pockets stuffed with peyotl cigarettes and Peyotl Gregg says you've kept him supplied for years."

"The . . . the lyn' hound. . . ." Dustin burst into a torrent of invective. "You mean to tell me that you're arrestin' me, a well-known citizen here, on such an absurd charge? I want to see a lawyer first of all."

"First of all, you'll come with me," said Garcy who knew that, with Dustin once locked up, he could keep him incommunicado for some time.

There was no help for it and Jim Garcy, mindful of details, did not offer Dustin the hospitality of his house as he had done with Carr. He conducted his prisoner to the only lock-up in Seco and locked him into the big steel cage behind his office with injunctions to his deputy to allow him to see no one except under special instructions.

"You're all right for the night," he said. "Water, grub'll be supplied from the Bon Ton restaurant, two books and a paper. I'll tell Bill Masters that you want to see him. He's your attorney, ain't he? By the way Dustin . . . You might be doin' some little figurin' on your own account. The penalty for murder in this state is hangin'. Cattle-rustin' an' bein' accessory before the act in a shootin' case carries a stiff sentence too . . ."

With this Parthian arrow Garcy left and Dustin, appalled, stared after him. What could the man know? The very uncertainty brought the sweat to his forehead in great beads. Surely he had covered his tracks too well to have been discovered. What Garcy had said must be just a shot in the dark? He could know nothing. Even if Peyotl Gregg had told all he knew, no jury would convict a man on the testimony of one witness and that witness a drug-addict. For the charge on which he was arrested Dustin knew he would be free in a short time.

But Sam Dustin failed to remember that the day was Saturday and that Monday was May the thirtieth, a National holiday and that all offices would be closed. That three-day period gave Stone all the time he needed but it was late when he rode up Seco's main street, tired and dirty, with Peyotl sulking at his heels and scared to death. Jameson espied them first and fairly dragged Stone in his office.

"Well. . . ." said Jameson quivering with excitement.

"I got enough to convict any man before a fair-minded jury," said Stone. "Has Garcy arrested Dustin?"

"He nailed him Saturday night," said Jameson. "He'll be held a while. Dustin's squealin' like a stuck pig over what he aims to do when he gets loose and Spike Goddard is threatenin' to secede from the Union if Garcy don't run Dustin loose tomorrow. You'd better look out for Dustin when he gets loose."

"He'll not get loose," said Stone. "Listen to me, Jameson. . . ." And Stone told him all that had taken place and wound up by laying Kane's old shoes and the shattered skull on the desk. At sight of the skull the little editor shrank back.

"Take that thing out 'o here," said he. "I got no use for it."

"You might have use for it editin' the paper," grinned Stone. "Wait a bit, old man. I'm convinced that Dustin killed Kane. We know the motive. Kane took Dustin into the hills to show him the gold mine that he found on Hour-glass lands. Dustin didn't want to divide with Kane so he killed him and laid the blame very cleverly on that poor fool Gregg. If he'd killed Kane with that rock that he smeared with his blood, we'd never have discovered it. But he didn't. He shot him. Here's the bullet that smashed his skull. Of course we've got to show that Peyotl told the truth when he said he got the gun from Dustin when he shot Keene. Get your car and we'll run out to the Broken Spur and see if we can get Goddard to talk. If he doesn't know how much we really know, he may drop something. Get Jim Garcy too. We'll need him."

That machine slammed its way up the drive before the Broken Spur just before sunset and Spike Goddard received them with grim looks. He eyed the shrinking Peyotl menacingly though he was inwardly ill at ease. How much did these men know? What had they come for? But he ushered them into the little office and Stone played the first card. He slapped the Derringer pistol on the desk and turned to Peyotl.

"Tell Sheriff Garcy exactly where you took this pistol from!" he said.

And before Spike Goddard could stop him, Peyotl jerked open the desk drawer.

"He kept it there," he said; "he opened it hisself and showed it to me and told me about Mr. Kane. . . . Keene. . . . Whatever his name is. . . . Here's the green box o' cartridges! I only took three of 'em. . ."

Spike knocked him aside angrily and turned on Garcy.

"You can't come this game on me without a search warrant," he said truculently. "Get to hell out o' here every one of you."

But the damage was done and Spike knew it. The ownership of that Derringer was established. His furious gaze swung to Stone who said curtly:

"It's lucky for you, Goddard, that your partner has not implicated you in what he's done. He killed old man Kane and put the blame on that poor fool Peyotl. He drove Peyotl to shoot Keene in the Silver Dollar too. It's a big price to pay for a ranch, even as good as the Hour-glass with a gold-mine on it. Two men killed over a ranch. . ."

"It was over that damned red-headed girl of Carr's," said Goddard hotly. "I told him he was playin' the damned fool. . . . I told him he'd sure as hell trip hisself. . . ."

Appalled at the significance of his thoughtless words he stood aghast but it was too late. Stone and Garcy and Jameson had all heard what he said and knew its dread significance. Garcy swung on him at once.

"I'll just nail you as an accessory before the fact," he said. "You'll come with me."

And before Spike Goddard knew what was happening, Garcy slipped a pair of light manacles about his wrists. The feel of the cold steel and the click of the lock struck a chill to the heart of the ranch-man. He sank into a chair and burst into shrill-voiced profanity.

"Be careful what you say," warned Garcy. "It may be used against you."

"You've got nothin' on me," snarled Goddard. "I'm not mixed up in this at all."

HOME BREW

For a project that means so much to the development of Creston and district it is really surprising the number of even presumed optimistic citizens who invariably discuss the big reclamation projects with the reservation, "if the dykes hold." Were the C.P.R. agent to tell customers he would ship their express "if" the train came in, or did local merchants tell enquiring buyers they would sell goods on the morrow "if" their store did not burn down, everyone would think the businessmen referred to were slightly looney. Yet the bridge at the Landing might collapse, and fires do break out. But somehow or other no one puts in the "if" when considering transportation or merchandising. Then why not cut out the "if" in connection with the work of the Christenson brothers and the Reclamation Company. The former have put up a dyke equal to the best in Idaho and the construction of the levees by the Reclamation Company is admittedly very much superior in every way to the dykes south of the line. For more than ten years dykes of similar build in Idaho have withstood the high waters regardless of whether the season was late or early, or the snowfall light medium or heavy. No good purpose is served by using the at least doubtful expression. Be an optimist. Cut out the IFS.

That there is a whole lot of confidence in the projects being the successful ventures they so well deserve to be is indicated in the fact that during the past week some five carloads of seed grain have arrived for the planting of the cultivated acreage in the two projects, and by now some considerable portion of the seed has already been planted. Surely if the elevator companies and the men who have purchased these dyked lands show such practical confidence in the undertaking there is no occasion for the ordinary citizen to be in doubt as to the dykes holding. And there is a like confidence manifest on the Idaho side. One seed firm alone has contracted for 1000 acres of seed peas and has most of the seed at Bonners Ferry ready for planting. And for those who believe in luck it should be pointed out that 500 of these acres are situated in Drainage District No. 13, near Porthill—not only an unlucky number but a district whose dykes are certainly not nearly so substantially built as the two projects on the Canadian side.

And while we are talking about Creston Reclamation Company, Limited, dyke, the attention of those backing the Creston Valley schools' track meet is called to the availability of the high banks for a 15-mile road race in connection with this year's athletic meet. With at least a couple of weeks to go it might be possible to develop a local marathon. With the exception of a stretch at the Wynndel end, which is dragline built, the going should be comparatively smooth as the scraper dyke, and the top finish that has been provided, makes the going quite good, the Review is informed. At the Creston end, where it is being used as a highway, the travelling should be even better. A long distance run of this sort would be an outstanding feature of the meet, and if a trophy for the event is desired the Review guarantees that it will be forthcoming.

Talarico-Anderson Nuptials

A pretty wedding of much interest in the valley was solemnized at Holy Cross Church, Creston, Saturday morning, April 27th. Rev. Father Hartmann officiating, when Miss Frances, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Talarico, of Sirdar, was united in marriage with Leonard Anderson, also of Sirdar.

The altar was prettily decorated with daffodils, by friends of the bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Dorothy Olivier of Creston. The bride was gowned in white satin, fashioned on princess lines, with flared skirt of floor length, and leg of mutton sleeves. The only dress ornaments were rhinestone clips and matching buckles. She wore pearls, a gift of the groom. The long veil of silk net was arranged in cap style and held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and fern.

The maid of honor was Eleanor Nastasi of Creston who was smartly dressed in pink crinkle crepe, wearing a white turban, white shoes and gloves and carried daffodils and fern. The bridesmaids were Margaret Rogers and Sylvia Talarico, who were charmingly attired in long dresses of silk net in blue and pink respectively, wearing picture hats to match and white accessories. Their bouquets were of daffodil and fern. The groom was supported by Mike Talarico, a brother of the bride. The gifts of the bride to the attendants were bracelets to match their costumes. The groom's gift to the best man was initialled cuff links.

After the ceremony the party motored to the home of the bride at Sirdar where they sat down to a wedding dinner, the bride cutting the cake with the help of the groom. A reception followed attended by many friends of the contracting parties from outside points. A most enjoyable evening was spent with music and dancing.

Later in the evening the merrymakers' numbers were enlarged with the arrival of Mr. Clifford and friends of Spokane; Mr. Benedetti of Wynndel, Frank Putnam, M.P.F., F. V. Staples, E. Uri, Dr. McKenzie, Harry Cornwall, W. R. Long, and Mr. Gregory.

Creston Valley Post Canadian Legion May meeting is on Tuesday, 7th, at 8 p.m. The new glengarry style cap has arrived and all wishing to secure one should see Col. Mallandaine, who has consented to take charge of their distribution.

The East Kootenay musical festival is under way at Cranbrook this week, with three contestants from Creston. Edith Johnston, Goldie Walker and Audrey Cooper. Mrs. J. E. Johnston is accompanying the two former, who are her pupils.

The veterans are due to attend service at Christ Church on Sunday morning for the special King's Jubilee service, and the Legion would appreciate it if all ex-service men would participate. Parade leaves Shell Oil Company at 10:45 p.m.

Customers of the government vendor are now able to effect a considerable saving in the purchases of their liquid refreshment. On Wednesday prices were cut, gins, ryes and rum going down 50 cents a bottle, and the better brands of Scotch taking a drop of 75 cents.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, minister of public works, and E. S. Jones of Cranbrook, the Kootenay public works department engineer, were here on official business on Saturday. Until the loan of $3,000,000 is available nothing more than maintenance can be looked for on highways of the province.

Seeding operations are in full swing on the north end of the Reclamation Farm and by the end of the week at least 1000 acres will be in crop to wheat. Considerable grain has also been planted on the Under recent amendments to the Game Act it is now necessary for women who wish to fish to take out a license. Any non resident carrying fishing tackle or angling for fish in B.C. must have a license for this purpose, for which the charge is now $5.

A community auction sale under the auspices of Creston Hospital Women's Auxiliary will be held on Saturday, June 8th. All members and others are asked to contribute. Articles of all kinds will be welcome, so please look through your attics and basements. Anyone unable to deliver their gifts please notify Mrs. F. H. Jackson, and they will be collected.

Creston now boasts an up-to-date and fully equipped vulcanizing plant, which has just been opened by W. Woodhouse and W. Young, formerly of Fernie, in the former Hi-Way (old Premier) garage, doing business under the name Creston Tire Shop. Both men have had much experience in this line and guarantee prompt service, satisfaction and moderate charges.

Callum Thompson, lyric tenor, better known as the "Songbird of the West," will make his second appearance in Creston on Thursday evening, May 9th, in Trinity United Church, at 8 o'clock. He will be assisted by local talent, with G. R. John as accompanist. The admission is 35 cents to adults, and 25 cents to children. He appears under the auspices of Trinity ladies' aid.

Toronto papers to hand reporting the exercises in connection with convocation at Knox College last month, disclose the fact that of thirteen scholarships awarded for the graduating class five have been awarded Rev. N. G. Smith, B.A., a former student pastor at Creston Presbyterian Church, who has just been called to the pastorate of Norwood Presbyterian Church, Winnipeg, Man.

There was a large turnout of shippers through Creston Co-operative Fruit Exchange for the annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon last, which was in charge of President Jas. Compton. Two directors retired, Mr. Compton being elected to succeed himself, and L. Littlejohn replacing Jas. Carr. The other members of the executive are H. A. Dodd, Percy Boffey, John Hall, J. M. Craigie and L. T. Leveque.

A feature to the bird life of the valley this season is the appearance of an unusually large number of white Whistler swans which have been here in greater quantity than ever previously known. J. Wymott Williams, who was in last week, reports that at the middle of April there must have been a flock of almost 400 on the lake near his ranch. He also reports will geese more numerous than in past seasons. The swans and geese had all gone north before the end of April.

Creston Valley Branch of the British Israel Federation had its first annual meeting on Monday night, with a large turnout of members, and the president, W. Liphardt, in the chair. The old officers were re-elected as follows: President, W. Liphardt; secretary-treasurer, H. Young; executive, L. Littlejohn, Ed. Gardiner, W. J. Craig, W. McL. Cooper, and J. P. Ross. During the past year five speakers have been heard in Creston, and it is announced that Mrs. Brake of Victoria will be here for two meetings the latter part of the month. The local branch membership is now 20.

The April meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Creston Valley Post Canadian Legion was held on Tuesday last. The president, Mrs. W. V. Jackson, presided. A letter was read from the Salvation Army requesting a donation which was filed. The treasurer's statement was adopted. Mrs. Delbridge was added to the visiting committee for May. Investigating and social committees will stand as formerly, and Mrs. Ed. Gardiner will be on ways and means committee. A form of ritual was passed around and discussed, and is to come up at the Kamloops convention in August. A social hour brought proceedings to a close. Hostesses were Mrs. Delbridge, Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. W. Ferguson.

Your Boys

I have four sons, two of them approaching the age when they must go out and face the earning of a living, writes a man to a newspaper. Is he disturbed and troubled over the prospect of the difficulties which for the time being may confront these young men in obtaining employment and making a start in life? No, he is wise enough and has had experience enough to realize that countless thousands of other young men starting to carve out careers for themselves had to face difficulties and had many obstacles to overcome. No doubt he passed through such experiences himself. It has been the way of the world since time immemorial.

Nevertheless this father of four boys is worried. He has reason to be, and so, too, have other parents all over the land. This man writes that all this recent propaganda, these ever repeated demands, that the Government should guarantee "the security of the home, the security of livelihood and the security of social insurance" causes him to wonder if the prospect of so much sheltering, so much safeguarding, so much financial protection, so much paternalism will cause his boys to discount, disregard, despise his teachings.

I have, he says, tried to impress upon them that they must fit themselves to make their own way in the world, that they must develop self-reliance, that they must cultivate a spirit of manly independence, that they must be prepared to earn every penny coming to them, that they must expect nothing for nothing in this world.

To achieve this, I have emphasized that they must be studious and industrious, that they must exercise rational frugality and self-denial until they have accumulated a competency, that they must aspire not only to take care of themselves and their dependents, but to acquire means to aid generously those who are in need.

I have warned them against extravagance, ostentation, thriftlessness, thoughtlessness, in order that they may escape the hardships and humiliations which befall so many in old age, explaining that it is infinitely better to be able to bestow charity than to be compelled to accept it.

"Don't let any professor convince you," I tell them, "that 'the world owes you a living.' Get it firmly into your head that it is up to you to fit yourself to earn a living and that you will encounter plenty of competition. Don't hesitate to sacrifice in the fore part of your life if you hope to fare well in the later part of your life. Rainy days will come. Make diligent provision for them."

I tell them that, going forth in this spirit, eager to put more into the world than they hope to take out of it, and possessing unshakable faith in the eternal laws of justice and righteousness, they will find life joyous, they will accept difficulties as a challenge to their manhood, that, doing the right, they will never be tempted to give way to despair, but will find their own life increasing in happiness and service with the passing years.

Above all, that they must not be drones, loafers, leaneers; that they must exert themselves to the utmost to be useful; that through self-discipline and self-denial they may reasonably hope to earn the means to practice generosity and unselfishness.

Now, however, there is dangled before them the prospect of an earthly Utopia, ruled by a Santa Claus Government, pictured as prepared to shoulder responsibilities which I was taught could be and must be discharged only by each individual for himself, responsibilities which were portrayed not only as inescapable, but as essential to the development of sturdy manhood, development of the soul, development of sterling character.

I am somewhat troubled lest my own young men and other young men may imbibe the notion that hereafter there is to be less need for supreme effort, less need for self-denial and self-discipline, less need for sacrificing to save, less necessity for self-reliance, less occasion to worry over finding work to do in the world or to sweat to perform it unstintingly, less reason for systematically striving to provide for old age.

Perhaps this man is unduly concerned about the effect which all the loose talk of to-day about taking no thought of the future—that the Government will look after everybody at all times and under all possible sets of circumstances—is having on the youth of the country. Possibly his anxieties and questionings will prove wholly unwarranted. Let it be hoped so for his sake, and the sake of his four boys and of all other young men who may be tempted to disregard the teachings, the lessons and experiences of past generations and, throwing self-reliance and self-effort to the winds, become leaneers on the state.

Nevertheless, all thoughtful and conscientious fathers and mothers must be perturbed as they witness the outpourings of dreamers and faddists preaching false doctrines and seeking to wean the young people of to-day away from acceptance of and belief in those cardinal qualities which constituted the characters of men and women who have left their impress on the life and progress of the world, and lived useful lives. The worst enemies of youth are those self-appointed advocates and saviours who present to them as ideal a life of absolute contentment and leisure, free of personal responsibilities, free of worry, free of difficulties, with Governments playing the role of Santa Claus every week and month of the year.

Improve Montreal Harbor

May Move Passenger Section Five Miles Eastward

Plans for the complete rebuilding of Montreal harbor were outlined at a meeting of the Montreal harbor commissioners. The plans would allow quicker access from the St. Lawrence river, higher water, easier dredging in the softer bottom and elimination of the "St. Mary's current."

It was learned the harbor plans will in time move the whole passenger harbor about five miles eastward. The drawings show eight new piers, four of which will be long piers likely accommodating two ships, while in between them are four shorter piers. It is expected the new piers will accommodate about 40 vessels.

Decision to move the harbor further east, it was learned, came after a statement by Chief Harbor Engineer Paul Lecalire that dredging is a much easier task in the softer bottom further down the river.

Moving of the passenger section eastward, with softer bottom allowing easier dredging which would deepen the water, is expected to bring larger ocean-going ships to Montreal. In time it is hoped to have the channel deepened to 40 feet.

The St. Mary's Current, which makes shipping at times hazardous, is practically negligible further down the river, it was stated.

The new harbor development would cut down the time in the run from Quebec to Montreal by about an hour.

Takes Kruschen To Keep Rheumatism Away

Writing to tell how she keeps her activity, this wonderful old woman states:—

"My hands were becoming so crippled that I had to give up piano and organ playing—and almost entirely gave up knitting. I have been using Kruschen Salts for nearly two years, and am very pleased with the result. Last August I played two church services on the organ, and hope to do so again this August. My fingers are nearly straight, and quite supple, and I am 75. I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many people."—A.A.C.

The six mineral salts of Kruschen have a direct effect upon the whole bloodstream, neutralizing uric acid, which is the recognized cause of rheumatism. They also restore the eliminating organs to proper working order, and so prevent constipation, thereby checking the further formation of uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health.

Currency Stabilization

Want Anglo-U.S. Conference To Settle The Question

Stabilization of world currencies was introduced into the budget debate in the British House of Commons by Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal opposition, and other speakers.

"I wish the chancellor in his report had expressed a desire to secure a measure of stabilization of currency and could have told us some form of a conference is contemplated with the United States upon which, fully as much as upon ourselves and France, the decision rests," said Sir Herbert.

"Japan depreciates the yen, America the dollar, Belgium the belga, Britain the pound," Sir Herbert continued. "Depreciation is one of the prime reasons for the low level at which the state of the world continues."

"I regret the chancellor has made no survey of this important factor." Furney Brathwaite, Conservative, echoed Sir Herbert's sentiments.

Produce Hormone That Has Effect Of Taming Wild Animals

Isalah's prophecy that the lion and the lamb shall lie down together and a little child lead them was shown to be a scientific possibility at the American Philosophical Society meeting in Philadelphia.

The chemical substance to tame both animals is available if anyone wants to try it out.

The society was shown motion pictures of a fierce, flesh-eating, grown rat lying down with a new-born squab and trying to mother it. The pictures were shown by Dr. Oscar Riddle, of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The rat had received an injection of prolactin, a hormone produced by the pituitary glands of human and all mammals, including lions. The rat was an unmated female, with nothing but wild instincts, and no previous experience with mothering anything.

The prolactin induced immediately a maternal instinct so powerful as to mask the rat's natural appetite for eating young squabs.

Prolactin was discovered three years ago by Dr. Riddle. Previous experiments with it indicate that it acts on all animals in similar fashion.

Its primary function is to cause female mammals to give milk for their young. It has done that even when given to males.

Little Journeys In Science

SOAP

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

When fat or oil and alkali are heated together under proper conditions soap and glycerin are produced. Soap is made commercially on a very large scale. The oil or melted fat is poured into huge kettles together with a solution of lye. As a rule the kettles are very large, 500,000 pounds or more of soap being made in some of them in a single heating. They are provided with coils of steam-pipe for heating the liquid. The fat and alkali are stirred by forcing live steam into the bottom of the mixture. The chemical reaction which takes place in soap-making is completed in about one day. The soap is then suspended as very fine particles in the liquids present, or the chemist would say that the soap is in the form of a colloidal dispersion. To obtain the soap in the solid form common salt is added and this process is known as "salting out". After the salt is added and the mixture heated, the soap rises to the top of the liquid and the soap thus obtained is purified by washing and settling processes and is then run into the mixing machine called the crutcher. Here it is mixed with substances such as perfume, borax, waterglass, or washing soda. It is then run into large molds called frames to harden, after which it is cut and pressed into cakes of the desired size.

Transparent soaps are usually made by dissolving dry soap in alcohol and adding from 15 to 25% of sugar. Castile soaps are made of olive oil. The colour of mottled soaps is produced by the addition of Prussian blue or some similar pigment. Floating soaps owe their lightness to bubbles of air and naphtha soaps contain about 5% of petroleum naphtha. Scouring soaps contain from 5 to 10% of soap and from 80 to 90% of some material such as fine sand or volcanic ash. Soap powders usually consist of a mixture of washing soda and ground soap to the extent of 10 to 25%.

WOULD EXTEND DELIVERY DATE FOR MAY WHEAT

Winnipeg.—An offer to consider extension of the date beyond which he would demand delivery of all May wheat purchased in the Winnipeg grain futures market was held out to the grain trade by John I. McFarland, head of the government wheat agency. Deferment in delivery date would be effected through transfer of hedges to a more distant month.

In a letter to the grain exchange council, Mr. McFarland said the government "was willing to co-operate with bona fide owners of cash wheat hedged in the May option" to the extent of assisting in the transfer of hedges from May to July. He also expressed a willingness to pay storage of 1½ cents a bushel to carry such hedges.

It became clear, however, the government has not entirely abandoned its plan to assume ownership of considerable quantities of wheat before May 31 and for which it holds contracts. The approximate amount of wheat involved for tender against May contracts is estimated at more than 55,000,000 bushels.

The proposal modified to a certain extent a previous announcement the agency would demand delivery of all May wheat it had purchased in the Winnipeg market. Proof of ownership would entitle the second party to the contract to consideration when the wheat not required until July is distributed.

In a signed statement Mr. McFarland said: "The time has now arrived when we wish to co-operate with all bona fide owners of cash wheat hedged in the May option and located in various positions so that we may assist to the best of our ability in the switching of hedges from May into July.

"Owners who now have their wheat hedged in July will not be interested but all others will forward to us full particulars of quantity and location as specified so that we may be enabled to determine an equitable distribution.

"The spread will be made on a basis of July at 1½ cents over May and the information you send must be computed as at the close of business on April 27."

Automobile Inquiry

Tariff Board To Take Trip Through Western Ontario

Ottawa.—M. N. Campbell, vice-chairman of the tariff board, disclosed that the board will start this week on a trip through western Ontario during which it will visit Windsor, Tilbury and Oshawa in connection with its nation-wide inquiry into the automobile industry.

The board has been empowered to examine officials of companies manufacturing automobiles and parts with a view to determining if justification exists for the difference in price between cars manufactured in Canada and the United States.

In its oil inquiry the board will investigate the general effect on the industry of existing tariff rates and examine the financial structure of companies processing gasoline and other oils. It expects to leave about May 15 for western Canada, arriving in Vancouver in time to hold hearings there May 20 in both investigations. It will meet probably May 27 at Calgary for further hearings in the oil case.

Execute Revolt Leaders

Two Greek Generals Die Before A Firing Squad

Athens.—Two rebellious army generals died proudly here before a firing squad as witnesses told a court martial of an assassination plot hatched on the eve of the recent abortive Greek revolt.

Gen. Papoulas and Gen. Kimissis were executed at dawn for criminal sedition in the 10-day revolution last month. Asked their last wishes, both answered: "None."

Search Impossible Just Now

Deep Snow Buries Men Killed In B.C. Slide

Bridge River, B.C.—Recovery of the bodies of several miners from the snowslide which claimed their lives at the Taseko Mother Lode gold mines north of here, probably during British Columbia's severe January storms, will be impossible for another month, Provincial Constable R. J. Welsman reported on his return from the scene of the tragedy.

Roland and Bill Allaire of Tyax Lake, brother trappers, were members of a search party with Constables Welsman and L. W. Sadler Brown on the gruelling snowshoe trek to the mine from Bridge River after the Allaires had returned to report the mining camp had been wiped out by a slide.

When the constables returned here, they left the Allaires camped at Taseko lake, waiting an opportunity to recover the bodies. The police were 10 days en route.

Welsman reported a blanket of snow, 15 to 20 feet deep, renders search for the bodies impossible at present.

Predict Normal Crop

Prospects For Canadian Wheat Discussed In London

London.—Prospects that the Canadian wheat crop this year would not be above normal and that the United States harvest would be poor, were seen by well-informed circles here.

These and other factors were believed to have helped in raising the London price of wheat. The other factors, these circles said, were:

1. Smaller harvests in Australia and Argentina.
  2. The success of Canada's price-maintenance policy.
  3. Regulation of French exports.
- The Canadian crop is not expected to be above average, lack of moisture preventing a good yield, it was indicated. Heavy rainfall might make a considerable difference, it was conceded, however.

For the third successive year, experts predict, the United States will be unable to export any considerable amount of wheat. Drouth and dust storms have seriously damaged the crop.

Infants Recovering

Doctor Says Quintuplets In Excellent Physical Condition

Callander, Ont.—Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne were no longer worried over the condition of their quintuplet daughters. Leo Kervin, Dionne's manager, said the parents were satisfied with the examination of the ailing children by Dr. G. W. Smith of North Bay, appointed by the father.

"I know they were satisfied with this last examination," said Mr. Kervin, "for I was speaking to Mr. Dionne." He said the parents had at first wanted two doctors of their own choice to inspect the babes, but were satisfied with the findings of Dr. Smith.

Dr. Smith pronounced the infants recovering from head colds and remarked on their excellent physical condition. He was in consultation at the hospital with Dr. Allan Roy Daffoe, physician to the quintuplets, and commended the splendid care that had been given the children.

Tests For Jubilee Broadcast

Sir George Perley Spoke To London From Ottawa

Ottawa.—The voice of Sir George Perley, acting prime minister, was carried across the Atlantic from Ottawa to broadcasting house in London as the program department of the Canadian radio commission and the British directors made tests for the trans-Atlantic broadcast which will feature His Majesty's jubilee day presentations on May 6.

"Thank you, Ottawa—Sir George was heard as clearly as if in England," London reported to the Canadian engineers.

"An interesting experience and one that presages success for a splendid jubilee day program," Sir George commented at the conclusion of the trans-Atlantic tests. 2006

Use Western Grain

Halifax.—The prairie farmer could solve his difficulties partially by balancing grain production so that more animal feed would be produced, M. A. MacPherson, former provincial treasurer and attorney-general of Saskatchewan, declared before the Canadian Club here.

The unfilled market for Canadian bacon in the United Kingdom, the speaker said, held the solution. Pork could be finished in the maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, by the use of western grain.

He urged that both east and west get together to try to bring freight rates to a level where the plan would be practicable. "Our problems are your problems, and we can best solve them together," said Mr. MacPherson.

Fear Heavier Death Toll

Relief Being Rushed To Earthquake Area In Persia

Teheran, Iran.—Fears the number of dead in the series of earthquakes which began April 12 would be greater than first reports indicated, were expressed here as relief parties sped toward the stricken areas. Present figures place the dead at 483, all natives.

Medical aid and supplies are being rushed to the stricken areas, and efforts are underway to re-establish communication.

Taihoku, Formosa.—Official reports from the earthquake area said 3,185 victims of the catastrophe have been buried and more than 10,000 injured given hospital or first aid treatment. Government hospitals at Shinchiku and Taichu are filled. Scores of first aid stations set up in tents also are operating in the district.

Riot Insurance

Rates In Vancouver Are Trebled As Results Of Disturbances

Vancouver.—Vancouver representatives of 80 insurance companies issuing riot insurance announced premiums on that type of insurance have been trebled as a result of recent disturbances in the city.

"We are not trying to take advantage of the situation in Vancouver," a spokesman for the insurance companies said. "Under the Dominion insurance companies conference it is compulsory to increase riot rates in view of recent disturbances."

The new rate has a 90-day limit. Another conference of representatives will be held and the matter discussed again when the rate may be raised or lowered according to conditions at that time.

Lithuania Increases Army

Government Acts When German Troops Sent To Border

Kaunas.—Because Germany has concentrated four divisions of troops in east Prussia, bordering Lithuania on the west, the government here announced plans for an increase in its own artillery, tank and air units, together with the complete motorization of its army.

Owing to the tense border situation the government already had issued a decree holding the present military class in service for an extra three months.

NEED CONFERENCE ON TRADE AND FOREIGN POLICIES

London.—Unofficial complaints were voiced on behalf of manufacturers and the grain trade against Canada for alleged failure to live up to the Ottawa agreements, along with a demand for an imperial conference to discuss not only trade but foreign policy and imperial defence.

The Labor opposition organ, The Daily Herald, claimed that a lively storm was developing among the British and dominion governments over the Ottawa agreements.

The report of the Liverpool Corn Trade Association said Canada had forfeited her right to imperial preference on wheat because she had failed to offer wheat at world prices.

The Daily Mail, another opposition paper, expressed belief Europe was drifting into the pre-war alliance system and said an imperial conference should be called while the empire leaders are here for the royal jubilee, to discuss all questions of imperial concern.

It added if the dominions were found opposed to British commitments at Locarno—reaffirmed with France and Italy last week—then Great Britain should denounce it.

Indications however, were that if defence matters or foreign policy do come up, they will be the subject of only informal talks with British ministers. (In Ottawa Premier G. W. Forbes of New Zealand said: "We do not have to discuss those things," and earlier Prime Minister Bennett said there was nothing to discuss in London so far as Canada is concerned.)

Naturally, trade questions will crop up in talks between various governmental heads during their visit here.

On questions of British foreign policy and imperial defence the dominions, of course, are always kept advised by the United Kingdom government. The united Franco-British-Italian front at Stresa and in the council of the league which condemned German re-armament, led The Daily Mail, with other opposition organs, to express apprehensions, however, lest the United Kingdom alienate the dominions.

Pointing out that British obligations under the Locarno treaty (with France, Germany, Belgium and Italy) were reaffirmed at Stresa, The Daily Mail said: "Unless the dominions are with us in this matter, the liabilities attaching to the Locarno treaty would be of the utmost peril to imperial unity. No dominion could remain neutral unless it were to secede. It is therefore imperatively necessary to test dominion opinion thoroughly. If it is against the Locarno treaty then there can be only one course for the British government—the treaty will have to be denounced."

Honor Observatory Official

Medal Awarded To Dr. Plaskett Of Victoria, B.C.

Washington.—John Stanley Plaskett, ex-director of the Dominion astrophysical observatory at Victoria, B.C., was awarded the Henry Draper medal of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States.

The medal was awarded to Dr. Plaskett "in recognition of his able and consistent labors in stellar radial velocities, and related studies energetically pursued for nearly 30 years."

Dr. Frank Dawson Adams of McGill University, Montreal, a foreign associate member of the academy, received the medal for Dr. Plaskett.

Increase In Prizes

Calgary.—Increase in prizes in all livestock classes at the 1935 Calgary exhibition and stampede has been announced by General Manager E. L. Richardson, following a meeting of livestock committees. The increases, which in some cases almost doubled the prize, were made possible by enlargement of the Dominion government grant from $2,500 to $5,000 and by donations from various breed societies.
