W.C.T.U. Oppose Liquor Vendor

Strictly municipal business for the consideration of the village commissioners at the January meeting on Monday night was conspicuous by its absence, and had it not been for a visit from a W.C.T.U. delegation the council session would have been one of the briefest on record.

The only correspondence was a couple of letters re taxes on some of the property of the Burn Murdock estate, and on the Watkey house on Park Road which has been purchased by Chas. Linn of Lethbridge, Alberta.

Accounts for the month were but $417, in which was pay for 103 additional yards of gravel hauled by Bert Boffey after completing his hauling contract on Cemetery and Hillside Roads and Vancouver street. D. Learmonth had a bill for gravel, which is charged at 15 cents a yard for screened and 10 cents a yard for pit run.

For the fire and light committee Chairman Jas. Cherrington reported that the siren had been tested out last month and it was found that the batteries were too small to give the desired loud effect when an alarm is turned in. However, with hydro electric power expected within the next few weeks the council decided to let the siren matter stand and when the "juice" is available it is just possible sirens may be installed at two or three different points.

The W.C.T.U. delegation was made up of Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. R. C. Phillips, Mrs. T. Lytle and Mrs. W. J. Truscott. As president the latter read a resolution protesting against the opening of a liquor store in Creston and asked the council to endorse same and forward it to the Liquor Control Board.

Commissioner Comfort was prompt to move the adoption of the resolution but as no seconder could be found the action desired by the ladies was not forthcoming. Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Phillips argued the W.C.T.U. case vere ably but Commissioners Jackson and Cherrington held that the council was not empowered to deal with such questions—the latter suggesting that a counter petition was the most effective weapon with which to combat the backers of the liquor store, although Commissioner Jackson stated that since the store petition had been in circulation it had been found a petition was quite unnecessary, as the matter was one entirely in the hands of the Liquor Control Board.

Bond; secretary-treasurer, W. H. Kolthammer; directors, John Nygaard and Phonse Huygens. In a drive for membership it was decined to sell stumping powder at cost to members, which means that members can buy powder at about $7.50 per case. Anyone can become a member on paying a $1 fee.

Brotherhoon Re-Elects Fred Lewis

Reports submitted at the annual meeting on Monday night of the Beaver Brotherhood of Trinity United Church, all indicated that 1928 had been the most useful year of the three the organization has had, and in recognition of such able service the old officers with but one exception were re elected for another term, as follows:

During proceedings the meeting unanimously agreed to a resolution to be forwarded the Liquor Control Board protesting against the granting of a beer license—club or parlor—or the opening of a government liquor store. The membership last year was fifteen and the regular meetings were all well attended.

Local and Personal

The vestry of Christ Church had the inaugural meeting on Monday night at which C. B. Twigg was chosen vestry clerk, and J. W. Hamilton reappointed treasurer. The Parish Hall committee is Messrs. Twigg, Hamilton and R. A. Palfreyman.

A survey of current publications places the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal in the lead for variety and quality of reading. Always recognized as a steady guide and counsellor to the farmer the survey proclaims it almost as equally popular in urban homes.

Much to please everybody in the variety programme of "Slumberland" at the Parish Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. It is a children's performance by a talented company of Wynndel youngsters assisted by just enough adults to round off a great night of entertainment. 50 and 25 cents.

The curlers are to attend divine service at Trinity United Church on Sunday evening, when an address appropriate to the occasion will be delivered by Rev. R. E. Cribb, who is vice skip on the Craig rink. Curlers are asked to assemble at Speers' store, at 7.15 prompt.

Reports from Wynndel are to the effect that the artists putting on the hornpipe, highland fling, Irish jig, Welsh and Nigger dances have the steps down to perfection and are sure to make a big hit in "Slumberland" at the Parish Hall tonight. The coon sextette is another great feature. Let's go.

A weather report for 1928, which has just been issued by Dr. Henderson, official recorder, shows last year to have had total snowfall of three feet. The rainfall was very light, 11½ inches. January 1st provided the coldest touch, 6 below zero, and the hottest day was July 27th, when the mercury went up 96 in the shade.

Attention is directed to the visit of Rev. E. A. Wright of Kimberley, who will conduct special services in St. Stephen's Church both morning and evening on Sunday next. As this is Mr. Wright's first visit to Creston large congregations are expected to greet him. Rev. W. A. Greer will take the work at Kimberley that Sunday.

About Ourselves

Scanning the pages of a little farm machinery magazine the other day, the attention of the writer of this column was drawn to a short article headed "About Ourselves," and, like everybody else, being interested in himself, he proceeded to read it. It appealed to him as so human so absolutely true, so worth-while, that he decided to pass it on to the readers of this paper and thus give still wider circulation to a message which all would do well to heed. Here is the article:

"We all want the things that we think will make us happy. We want to own things, to know about things, to go places, to do things, to work out ideas, to win the esteem and respect and affection of folks.

The bigger our wants, the more chances we have of being worth while. The person who cares for nothing amounts to nothing. We begin wanting the day we are born. When we quit wanting, we'll be dead. If we don't want anything, we are hopeless.

If we don't think about our wants, we let little desires crowd out the really big, worth while desires. "I didn't think," is the excuse most often given for acting foolishly, recklessly, dangerously, selfishly. Unnecessary accidents and needless griefs follow. Thinking clears the way for restful action. If we don't think, we are reckless and selfish.

In order to make our feelings and thoughts count, we must do something. The more times we get good thoughts backed by strong feelings and do nothing, the worse off we are. Doing things tests our thinking and our feeling—enables us to do clearer thinking and work out happier things the next time. If we won't work, we are helpless.

A slight change in attitude may make a great change in life; the light of a new idea may point the way to the successful working out of a problem; even when things seem wrong and we can't see clearly, starting to do something may clear the way.

What we feel, what we think, and what we do make us what we are."

That's the message. Read it over again, Then, once again, read the last lines: "What we feel, what we think, and what we do, we are."

Now read the first sentence again: "We all want the things that we think will make us happy.'"

This article is about ourselves. It is a sort of heart to heart talk, a kind of personal stock-taking at the beginning of a new year. So, let us ask ourselves some pointed questions.

Granted we want to be happy, were we ever happy while thinking mean, uncharitable thoughts about somebody else? Rather, have not our happier moods been those when kindly thoughts of others occupied our minds?

We will find happiness in the esteem, respect and affection of others. There are few of us but desire to be popular. But can we command these things, or do we deserve them, if, on our part, we are entertaining feelings of contempt and hatred for those around us?

We find joy in doing things, but can we expect to accomplish much if we are arrogant in our attitude towards others, if we insist upon always having our own way, if we are intolerant of the views and opinions and convictions of those with whom we are called upon to work?

A person who is always suspicious of others soon becomes the object of general suspicion. Thinking mean thoughts, cultivating uncharitable feelings, doing unworthy things, may or may not hurt those against whom they are directed, but they most assuredly do hurt the one who indulges in them. They affect his or her whole character. Persisted in they will even leave their indelible mark upon the countenance with the result that the ugly inner life will be like an open book that all others may read—and shun.

The happiness so much desired is not to be found that way; rather it is the death of all happiness.

Remember: "What we feel, what we think, and what we do we are."

Gave Service Gratuitously

Colorado Doctor Labored For 25 Years Making No Charge For Medical Attention

Dr. B. A. Arbogast, the "hermit physician," of the rough, mountainous country west of Craig, Colorado, died of poverty recently, after a career devoted solely to gratuitous service of his fellow men.

For 25 years Dr. Arbogast has been the physician in a rugged cattle country, which embraced 100 square miles surrounding the little cabin where he lived alone. He ministered to the ills and hurts of cowboys homesteaders, cattlemen—and made no charge for his services.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Worth Finding Out

Dr. F. G. Banting is now experimenting with "royal jelly," the food which the bees feed to develop the queen bee. Some apiarists think that this stuff, which is said to prolong the life of the queen bee for several years, may have some merit as a food for human beings. It is worth trying to find out just what it is composed of.

Inquiring Guests Add To Wonders Of Jasper Park

"The Equator," said the youngster, writing his examinations, "is a menagerie lion running around the earth." Schoolboy howlers are always rich in humor. But the howlers are not always made by schoolboys.

Last summer a lady came up to the transportation desk in Jasper Park Lodge to inquire about the motor trip to Mount Edith Cavell and the Angel Glacier. She was very anxious to miss nothing of the wonders of the mountains. "When," she asked, "does the Glacier spout?"

Then there was the lady who thought that the Lodge would be very pretty when it was finished, when the walls were plastered and kalsomined. That the great peeled logs, well chinked and cunningly fitted together, were meant to be as they were, never entered her consciousness. She knew nothing of the beauty of mountain architecture.

The prize, however, goes to the lady who was discussing the wild life of the park with one of the wardens. "The goats and the sheep are the same species, are they not?" she asked innocently. "Which are the males?"

"Oh, the goats, madam" said the warden, without batting an eyelash.

To Check Flu-Grip

Fight the Germs with Vapors Before They Can Get a Start

Treat All Colds Promptly But Be Careful Not to Disturb the Digestion With Too Much Dosing

While Flu is so prevalent everyone should take precautions to prevent its further spread. Flu is generally accompanied by a headache, burning eyeballs, and aching joints. But it begins so many times with just an ordinary cold.

Too often, the colds are neglected until they have lowered the vitality and permitted the lurking germs of influenza, or pneumonia to "get a foothold."

The only safe plan is to attack a cold at the very start. A hot bath, a laxative, and a vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub on the throat and chest at bedtime, will usually break up a cold overnight.

External Treatment Best

For hours after Vicks is applied, its ingredients, time tested remedies, such as camphor, menthol, eucalyptus, thyme and turpentine, are vaporized by the warmth of the body, and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages. At the same time, the ointment acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" tightness and pain, and helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Avoid Upsetting Stomach

This simple external treatment cannot disturb your digestion as too much "dosing" is so apt to do. This is doubly important when "flu" is around, for your stomach, as well as your respiratory organs, must be kept in good condition in order to keep your body resistance at its highest level.

For this reason, too, mothers prefer Vicks for children. It can be used freely and often, even on the youngest child, with no fear of upsetting a delicate stomach.

To Help Ward Off the Flu

When influenza colds are prevalent, you can often prevent infection by snuffing a little Vicks well up the nostrils every night and morning, or before exposure to crowds.

WINDOLITE The Improved Glass Substitute

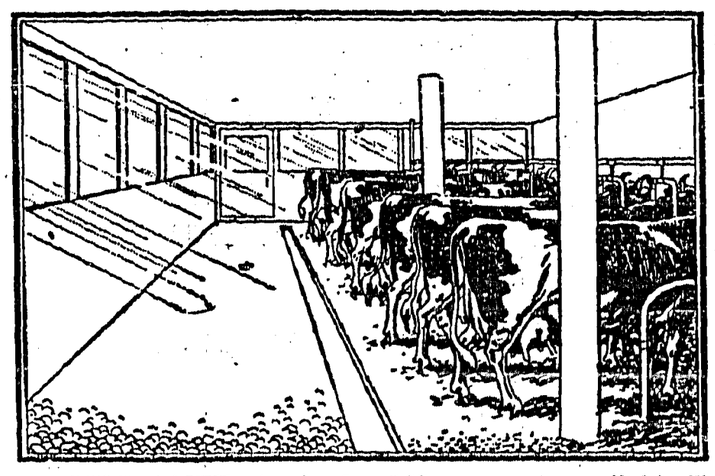
MADE IN ENGLAND



COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer, Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light but strong windows for cattle sheds, dairy stables, poultry houses, brooders and all out buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and fit. It is now being successfully used for sunrooms, verandahs, schools, factories, hospitals, sanitariums, hot beds, plant coverings and greenhouses. It keeps out cold—will not crack or chip,—cuts with an ordinary pair of scissors and is easy to fit. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length but in one width of 86 inches only. A square yard of WINDOLITE weighs about 14 ozs., while a square yard of glass of ordinary thickness, weighs about 135 to 130 ozs. The improved WINDOLITE requires no varnish. WINDOLITE is made in England.

NEW PICTORIAL STAMP ISSUES NOW ON SALE

Ottawa.—Canada's new pictorial stamp issue is completed and the four larger denominations are now on sale. The stamps are stated by post office officials to be regarded by philatelists as the finest produced in any country.

Each section of Canada is represented. The one-dollar stamp carries a picture of the parliament buildings and is significant of the central part of the country. For the maritimes the 50-cent denomination shows the schooner, Bluenose, winning the international fishermen's race. The Quebec bridge appears on the 12-cent stamp. The prairies are typified in the 20-cent stamp by a picture of a wheat field. The ten cent stamp bears a representation of a mountain in British Columbia with totem poles on the border.

The lower denominations carry the kng's head. All numerals are larger than in previous issues. The stamps are stated to be among the finest examples of the engraver's art. Under the microscope the windows in the parliament buildings may be counted and figures of horses in the British Columbia stamp, smaller than a pin head, are replete with detail.

Harvest Help Influx

Hon. Peter Heenan Explains Why Harvesters Were Brought From Britain

Ottawa, Ont.—A total of 75,000 harvesters were needed in western Canada harvest fields last year and as no assurance was forthcoming from the eastern provinces that they would supply 44,000 to add to the west's available 31,000, the federal government was obliged to appeal to Great Britain for men and as a result the miner-harvester scheme was brought about. This was the explanation of the influx of British harvesters last year to help garner western Canada's wheat crop, given by Hon. Peter Heenan to the labor delegation which presented its legislation program to the federal cabinet.

The federal government had to protect itself, Mr. Heenan explained, and as the eastern provinces could not assure the government of 44,000 harvesters, it was decided to bring ten thousand Britishers to help in the harvest fields.

The estimated requirement of 75,000 was made by a committee which investigated the harvesting conditions.

German Report Shows Gold Reserve Increase

Reichsbank Vaults Contain Twice As Much As Before War

Berlin.—Five years after the stabilization of the German Reichsmark the vaults of the Reichsbank contain more than twice as much gold as before the world war.

At the beginning of December the Reichsbank reserves showed a total of 2,650,000,000 marks worth of gold, while on December 31, 1923, the Reichsbank had only the equivalent of 1,170,000,000 marks in gold.

Since 1924 the gold of the Reichsbank show a constant increase, 1928 being a record year with acquisitions of gold amounting to 787,000,000 marks until the end of the first week of December.

During the years 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1927, the Reichsbank has bought up gold amounting to 293,000,000, 448,000,000, 377,000,000 and 34,000,000 marks respectively.

National Resources Question

No Statement By Premier King In Respect To Province Of Alberta

Ottawa.—Premier Mackenzie King has not yet issued any statement with respect to the return of the natural resources to the province of Alberta, and it seems doubtful whether he will discuss the matter until definite agreement is reached.

When Premier Brownlee was last in Ottawa, it was understood that a tentative arrangement had been arrived at, but that it would be discussed further in correspondence between the two governments.

A despatch from Edmonton outlying what is said to be a new offer by the Dominion indicates that this correspondence is proceeding. The prime minister, however, has made no announcement as yet.

Japanese Stage Revolt

Assistance Of Infantry Required By Police To Control Peasants

Tokio.—Three companies of regular infantry were rushed to Namoru, a village near Fifu, when Japan's smouldering rural unrest flared up momentarily.

Two thousand peasants marched in a body on the local government offices and 300 police were unable to control them. Fighting ensued with casualties on both sides and the troops were called.

The peasants were protesting against a government riparian project which they claim would flood hundreds of acres of paddy (rice) fields.

It was officially reported that the peasants were still gathering in the neighborhood districts and arming with bamboo spears.

Earthquake In Turkey

Constantinople.—A violent earthquake acompanied by a terrifying subterranean roar occurred at Angora recently. No accident to life or property was reported.

PREDICTS POLITICAL CRISIS

Arthur Beverley Baxter, the Canadian who is managing editor of the Daily Express, London, who has "spilled the beans," as he himself cheerfully puts it, by announcing that Beaverbrook is prepared to go to the mat with the die-hard political parties in Britain in order to effect an empire-wide tariff. Baxter, who made the announcement during his present visit in Canada, predicts that Beaverbrook's action will result in one of the greatest political crises in British history.

Ship Huskies To Byrd

Dogs Required For Pole Exploration Have Left Vancouver

Vancouver.—When the R. M. S. Niagara sailed from Vancouver, January 9, for New Zealand and Australian ports she carried 15 young husky dogs for Commander Byrd's Antarctic expedition. The dogs have been housed at the Grouse Mountain Kennels here.

The dogs must reach Dunedin, N.Z., by February 7, in time to be forwarded by the steamer Elinor Bolling for the Antarctic base on the edge of the great ice barrier. E. J. Farr, agent for the White Pass and Yukon Railways, has completed all arrangements for the shipment in response to a recent request by Commander Byrd, it is stated.

McLean To Receive Eight Thousand Yearly

New Post Carries Salary Of a Dequty Minister

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. J. D. McLean, former premier of British Columbia, and newly appointed farm loan commissioner, is in conference with departmental officials here and beginning the preliminary work of organizing the rural credits system.

Mr. McLean will be paid $8,000 per year, the salary of a deupty minister. Two other members of a farm loan board who will serve part time, will shortly be appointed.

Visualizes Conditions Ideal

Henry Ford Says Farming Needs To Be Completely Revolutionized

New York.—A world in which no one smokes or discusses prohibition, where farmers no longer farm and housekeepers no longer cook, and machines take care of the drudgery is outlined by Henry Ford in his book, "My Philosophy of Industry," just published.

"The great problem in the home today," the Detroit capitalist points out, "is too much drudgery. We shall soon find a way to do much of the cooking outside and deliver it in a hot and appetizing condition at meal time at no greater cost."

The old farm is likewise due for a big change, according to Mr. Ford.

"Farming needs to be completely revolutionized," he says. "Large corporations, whose sole business it will be to perform the operations of plowing, planting, cultivating and harvesting, will supersede the individual farmer, or groups of farmers will combine to perform their work in a wholesale manner. This is the proper way to do it and the only one in which economic freedom can be won."

Test Saskatchewan Seed

Seed Testing Laboratory Is Established At Saskatoon

Saskatoon. — Saskatchewan seeds will in future be tested in the laboratory of the Dominion Seed Branch of the federal department of agriculture which is being put into operation in rooms occupied by this department here, according to a statement given out recently.

Preparations for opening this laboratory and offices have been under way since December. In all about 3,000 feet of floor space will be occupied.

Nelson Young, of Winnipeg, acting district inspector for the whole district of Saskatchewan will be in charge. Dr. F. T. Wahlen, chief seed analyst of Ottawa, head of all laboratory work in Canada, is here in connection with the opening of the laboratory.

New Airplanes Ordered

Five Are Especially Equipped For Patrols In Alberta

Ottawa. — Fourteen new Moth planes were ordered by the Department of National Defence for distribution among flying clubs in Eastern Canada and for forest patrol work out of High River, Alta., air station. The order involves more than $60,000.

The order calls for five machines especially equipped with radio sets, added fuel carrying capacity and special navigation instruments for the difficult patrols in Alberta where it is necessary for pilots to make long flights at high altitude.

Dog Days of Quebec

There was great consternation in the canine world a few days ago when it was decreed that no dogs in harness must roam the streets of Quebec. There was a rumour that the great classic, the Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, was to be cancelled, that the Chateau team was to be banished from the terrace—all sorts of horrible rumours; but as afterwards developed, the edict was not directed against any other than the small boy who, with a dog he may, or may not, be able to control, dodges under the horses' hoofs and car wheels, thus endangering his own life and others, including that of his dog.

So once again "Mountie," veteran Mounted Police dog, will, as leader of the Chateau Frontenac team, wag his tail as the winter tourist pats his head. And the Dog Derby is on February 21, 22, 23. One hundred and twenty miles in three laps, with, perhaps, men whose names were famous last year—St. Goddard, Seppala, Chevrette and Duplus.

MAY RESTRICT MIGRANTS FROM CERTAIN AREAS

Ottawa.—It is reported here that Hon. Robt. Forke, Minister of Immigration, is planning to restrict immigration from Central and Southeastern Europe. The information is supposed to have been conveyed in telegrams from the minister, who is in the west, to Ottawa.

W. J. Egan, deputy minister, stated that he had received no such telegraphic communication from Mr. Forke.

The report suggested that the government would decline to renew the conventional agreement of the railways, which expires in October, 1930. This agreement enables the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways to bring agricultural and domestic workers from these countries to Canada if they are suitable from a physical and mental standpoint. This agreement is subject to cancellation at any time on one year's notice, or can be suspended by order of the minister of labor if labor conditions here warrant it.

Boost Automobile Insurance

Report States Rates Throughout Canada Are To Be Increased

Toronto. — Automobile insurance rates throughout Canada are to be increased sharply—as much as 50 50 per cent. for legal liability and as much as 25 per cent. for collision, it was announced here recently, following a meeting of the Canadian Automobile Insurance Underwriters' Association. The increase will be graded to differentiate between urban and rural areas.

It was stated that the ground upon which the increased rates would be put into effect were that business under present conditions was unprofitable and that Canadian rates are lower than those prevailing in the United States.

It was announced that after a survey of present rates at the meeting, it was decided that "adjustments were imperative."

Science Aids Farming

Soon Be Able To Develop Wheat That Will Resist Both Rust and Frost

Ottawa.—Within the next few years Canadian experts will have developed scientific means to resist both frost and rust in the great the new Peace River fields, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, member of agriculture, said when addressing the first day's session of the eastern Canada Fruit and Vegetable Jobbers' Association here.

"Canada is a great next year contry," said the minister. He meant, he explained, that no matter what conditions of one time were Canadian people had a habit of pinning their faith upon the future and working whole-heartedly for the prosperity of tomorrow.

Expect Increased Migration

Liverpool, Eng.—Authorities, both British and Canadian, expect heavily increased migration of British farm settlers to Canada in the spring. Negotiations are under way between the two governments it is understood, looking to the movement of 6,000 trained and partially trained men for farm work in April.

Report Is Denied

Ottawa. — The Canada-United States anti-smuggling conference recently issued a denial of statements appearing in a morning paper that the Dominion will not accede to the request of the American delegation for refusing of clearance to liquor cargos for the U.S.

HOME BREW

In addition to getting a big money's worth in the line of juvenile entertainment, Crestonites will have practical opportunity to show their friendliness with Wynndel tonight by turning out in full force for "Slumberland," a musical fairy play that a company of Wynndel children, assisted by a few adults, are putting on at the Parish Hall at popular prices. The production was exceptionally well received at its production at Wynndel last month, since when new features have been added and we are assured it is a children's show that is well worth going to see. To reassure those who are loath to patronize affairs where the money goes out of town let us say that the company appears under the auspices of Christ Church Sunday School so that at least part of the proceeds will help out locally. Extra seating is being placed in the hall and there will be room for all to witness the ptoduction in comfort.

A dog poisoner is at work in Cranbrook, the census in this connection for the week ending January 10th showing that a total of nine canines had gone hence. And judging from the newspaper publicity the enforced exodus from dog dom is getting some specimens that might be classified higher than "just dog" have been removed. One of the bonehounds that have turned up missing was the property of our former townsman, E. H. Small, and in a fervent appeal via the Courier that, if need be, special police should be employed to run down the poisoner, Eneas says, in part, "I can assure you that for my part I would much rather be the cur poisoned than the cur that poisoned him."

Members of Creston and District Women's Institute did a good day's business on Friday when they re-elected Mrs R. Stevens at the head of a likely executive to carry on Institute effort for 1929. In the not too far distant past the Institute came in for some deserved criticism for spending too much effort and some cash capital in promoting objects of little local concern. The past few years, however, have left little room for complaint in that regard, while the ladies have lent a hand with local community work to splendid advantage. This has been particularly true in taking care of relief work of more than one kind throughout the year, and in seeing to it that the less fortunate in our midst are suitably remembered at the Christmas season. Last year the ladies put Creston on the map as a convention city by very creditably entertaining the numerous delegates to the annual Kootenay-Boundary Institutes conference, and are also off to a good start in the work of cemetery beautification. If even a sprinkling of those who are not bashful at informing us to what the Institute should do will only join up and lend a hand in the doing of the things they so readily put forward, 1929 will assuredly be the banner year in Institute history.

Slow to Marry at Cranbrook

With an admit population of 4560 in the Cranbrook district, according to the 1928 provincial voters list, the Cranbrook Courier is any thing but satisfied with Cupid's showing for last year, which accounts for only 62 marriages in that area.

After citing these figures, from the official records, Editor Sullivan goes on to say, "Where lies the answer? Are the bachelors or spinsters at fault? Four thousand five hundred and sixty names were listed in the last provincial election. The fact remains, nevertheless, that many of these native and foreign-born alike, are shirking marriage or are lacking as it may be wbtheirxey, cmfwshing opportunity to take life mates unto themselves. Let that be as it may it is patent to the most casual observer that marrying and giving in marriage occurs too infrequently in Cranbrook district, and probably throughout British Columbia."

Just what the Courier means by that "wbtheirxey, cmfwsh" is not quite clear but we feel it is pretty bad when his vigorous Canadian Irish vocabulary is shy the requisitie phrases to do justice to such an all important ubject.

Under the circumstances the Review, with deference, suggests a conference with Archie Raworth and Alex. Derby. If this English Scotch Irish trio cannot hit upon a remedy there seems nothing for it but compulsory connubial co operation—for Cranbrook and regions round about.

An Obliging Trout

In between times of writing articles dealing with the marketing of Wealthys, issuing statements of case on behalf of the Board of Direction, and trying to find buyers for about 200 cars of winter apples Sales Service, Limited, have yet to move out of the Okanagan, R. B. Staples finds a little spare time for outdoor activities and according to the Kelowna Courier has just provided the Okanagan with the outstanding fish story of 1928 Says the Courier:

"On Sunday afternoon a party composed of Mr. Roy Staples, Mr. and Mrs. O. Jennens and Mr. J. B. Spurrier boarded the "Princess Pat," Mr. A. Jones' launch, and set out for the "banks" off Bear Creek on the Okanagan. The denizens of Ogopogo's lake were not responding to lures as readily as on former occasions, but nevertheless, the afternoon was pleasant and all members of the party found enjoyment amid the surroundings.

"Quite suddenly a seven-pound trout, looking for excitement, engaged in combat with the lure and line held by Mr. Jennens, and a fight ensued. The fish was finally brought to the side of the boat, but when Mr. Staples attempted to capture it in his net the trout made a "get away" and freed itself of all entanglements.

"Mr. Spurrier spotted the speckled beauty coming to the surface about fifty feet away, and the "Princess Pat" was immediately reversed to the spot where the fish had appeared. Luckily, the trout remained near by, and—believe it or not—Mr. Staples brought it into the boat with his net."

The annual curling bonspiel for the Crows Nest Pass will be held at Fernie, opening on the 21st.

Thirty needy families at Cranbrook got Christmas hampers from the relief society, which gathered in $475 for the good work.

Due to the prevalance of measels, mumps and a mild sort of flu schools at Pentiction were a week late in opening after the Christmas holidays.

They also sent a Christmas box valued at $17 to one of their mission homes. They and the boys of the Standfast Club were the guests of the leaders of both organizations for an afternoon of games, followed by a supper. This pleasant entertainment brought to a close a happy and profitable year for all.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the post office and newspaper plant at Turtleford, Sask., rcently. The building and printing plant were owned by C. R. McIntosh, M.P., and were covered by insurance. Post office fixtures, owned by A. Vinge postmaster and editor of the "Turtleford Record," were also insured Owing to strenuous efforts on the part of volunteer fire fighters the blaze was kept from spreading. No fire had been made in the building on the day of the outbreak, according to Mr. Vinge.

The Sunday evening Bible Class had been enlarged to full strength, and two of the latest recruits were discussing Bible topics.

"I think this yarn about feedin' five thousand people on five loaves o' bread an' two fish is all bunk," declared Bill.

"It can be did, buddy, it can be did," answered Henry.

"Aw, what's the matter with you? You goin' bugs on this Bible stuff?"

"Naw," replied Henry, "but I used to be a mess sergeant in France."

INFLUENZA'S VICTIMS

Left Weak, Miserable and a Prey To Disease In Many Forms

One of the most treacherous diseases afflicting the people of Canada during the winter months is influenza. It almost invariably ends with a complication of troubles. Its victims suffer with alternate fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves them an easy prey to bronchitis and pneumonia. Indeed, the deadly after effects of influenza may leave the victim a chronic invalid. You can avoid influenza entirely by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you have not done this and the disease attacks you, you can banish its deadly after effects through the use of this great blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic.

Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over this trouble. Mr. F. H. McMullen, Belleville Ont., says:—"Some years ago, following a severe attack of influenza, I was left in such a weak condition that my friends thought I would not get better. I developed nervous indigestion, and my blood got thin and watery. In this weakened condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these did what other medicine had failed to do—brought me back to health and strength. I can honestly say I think them the best blood builder and nerve tonic known, and I shall always praise them."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR

Golden Text: "And thou shalt call His name Jesus; for it is He that shall save His people from their sins."—Matthew 1.21.

Lesson: Luke 2.11, 30-32; 15.3-7; John 3.14-17; 10.9-11, 14-16,27, 28; Acts 3.1-18; Romans 5.1-11; Philippians 2.5-11; 2 Timothy 1.9, 10.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 53.4-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Value Of a Repentant Sinner, Luke 15.3-7. To the Pharisees and scribes who criticized Jesus for receiving sinners and eating with them, Jesus said: "Is there a man among you who, if he possessed a hundred sheep and found one missing, would not leave the ninety-nine in the pasture lands and search for the lost sheep until he found it?" By the word translated "wilderness" is meant the uninhabited lands which were the pasture lands.

"The sheep may shiver with terror and cold when it no longer sees the flock, no longer hears the guiding voice of the shepherd, but it is only the shepherd who knows all that is involved in its position, only the shepherd knows the risks. We sometimes speak of man's infinite loss through sin, and I do not know that we can exaggerate it; but, after all, we do not realize it, even in a measure, until we view from the side of God the poverty and deformity of the Christless soul."—Thomas Stewart.

When the shepherd finds the lost sheep, he puts it across his shoulders (the easiest way in which to carry it), and returns rejoicing. So great is his joy that he must have others share it, and he calls together his friends and neighbors and bids them rejoice with him.

Grief can take care of itself, says Mark Twain, but to get the full value of a joy we must have some one with whom to divide it.

If you would be so careful and tender of one lost sheep, how much more careful and tender must the Good Shepherd be of the lost sheep of Israel? "I say unto you," said Jesus, "that even as in the case of this human shepherd there will be joy with God and His angels over one sinner that repents, more than over the ninety and nine righteous persons (such as the Pharisees regarded themselves, Luke 18.9), who (as they think) need no repentance." Dr. W. L. Watkinson points out three facts in this verse: (1) the significance of the individual—over over one sinner; (2) the importance of the individual lies in his moral life—one sinner; (3) the most imporatnt event in the individual life is the restoring of the lapsed soul to God—one sinner that repenteth.

"Where's the bunk-house?" asked Blackie.

"We don't call them bunk-houses any more, we have dormitories," corrected Gillis as he nudged Donald slyly.

"A what?" questioned the puzzled Blackie.

"Dormitories," repeated Gillis.

Blackie glowered at his boss. "What are you runnin', a ladies' seminary?" he questioned sarcastically.

"And another thing, you don't need your blankets. Company furnishes 'em," informed Gillis.

"Well, I'll tell you one thing right now," declared 'Crazy' Jack, "I ain't goin' to sleep in a pair of blankets that forty smelly bohunks has wrapped themselves in. What kind of a joint you brought us to, Jack?"

"What I want to tell you fellers," said Gillis, ignoring 'Crazy' Jack's remarks, "is this: I want you to stay all summer. None of this running to town to get your teeth fixed, or a new suit, see the ball game, or to meet your sister who's comin' out from the East, and all that old bunk. We got more orders——"

"Can that chatter," interrupted 'Fighting' Jack with a wide grin. "We're all goin' to town on Dominion Day, ain't we, boys?"

"You bet!" they roared as one.

Gillis shrugged his shoulders resignedly. "Thought you fellers was gettin' old enough to have a little sense," he said.

"Too much kick in us yet, Jack," demurred Blackie.

"Where is this door-mee-tory, Jack?" asked Hoop-la.

Gillis pointed to the long building, and the boisterous crowd moved noisily up the hill. The men dropped their packs to the ground outside the door, and, shouldering each other, peered in. The long rows of white beds stood immacculate against the walls, and two white-coated flunkeys were sweeping the glossy varnished floor.

"This ain't the right place," growled Hoop-la, "this is the hospital. They must expect to kill about a hundred men every day. Hi! Jack! Come here. Where's the bunk-room?" he asked as Gillis approached.

"That's it."

"That!"

"Sure."

"Say! what you givin' us? I wouldn't dare sit down on one of them beds; 'fraid of dirty'n it."

The others gathered round.

"Jack, can we put up a log shack for ourselves?" asked Blackie.

"You sure can," responded Gillis tolerantly.

"All right, we'll sleep in this morgue 'till we get a decent place," said Blackie.

He poked his head in the door just as Andy, clad in white coat, entered by the rear.

"Say, nurse," shouted Blackie, "get ready for twenty-two cases of delirium tremens!"

"That's easy," was Andy's quick retort; "I've 'ad more than that by myself." His eyebrows lifted in quick surprise as he saw the brilliant shirt.

"When does the blinkin' circus start?" he grinned.

That evening in their explorations Blackie and Hoop-la found the log shack on the lake-shore.

"Say, Jack, can me and Hoop-la have that cabin down there?"

"You be you can, Blackie. You and Hoop-la can have anythin' round here," replied Gillis heartily.

Blackie had turned to go, but on hearing this broad statement he stopped quickly. "Say, Jack, me and Hoop-la came away from Vancouver owin' a little miney—an' I promised to send——"

"Ye've got me when the gittin' is good," interrupted Gillis. "How much do you want?"

"Let me see," reflected Blackie, "I owe for my room in town; and I owe at Old Joe's and—an——"

"How much? Spit it out, I can stand the shock," commanded Gillis.

"'Bout a hundred, Jack."

"Whew! whistled Gillis as he reached for his purse.

With Donald's assistance the hundred dollars was found and Blackie ran joyously down the hill.

"Little Devil!" smiled Gillis as he gazed after him. "Good-hearted a feller as ever lived," he added feelingly, "but he can't take one drink without goin' crazy."

The "redshirts" had been up in the woods looking over the logging operations, and they now came swinging down the hill, their bright shirts flashing in the sun. They were loggers, "every inch of them," as Gillis said.

CHAPTER XII.

Andy's study of nature proved to be no idle whim, and Gillis had long since ceased teasing him. All his leisure moments were spent in scouring the hills and meadows for specimens, and regularly every Sunday afternoon he ascended the hill to Wainwright's cabin with his collection for the learned Englishman's inspection.

On this afternoon, Wainwright, being in one of his soltiary moods, had wandered up the mountain, and Andy found Connie busily engaged in spading the earth in search of worms, which she tossed to the swarm of birds that hopped on the ground and filled the air about her.

Scolding the bold camp-robbers that ventured dangerously near the shovel blade, she scattered the soil then laughed joyously as the birds with a great flutter of wings pounced on the fat worms.

Andy threw himself luxuriously on the green sward. This beautiful spot was a diversion from the hot kitchen, a veritable haven of rest. The gentle murmur of the bees among the flowers, the soft, subdued twittering of the birds, the rustle of the leaves, and the laughing of the water, all combined to make one sweet monotone of sound that lulled him into drowsiness.

Connie sat down near him, the birds all about her.

"'Ow do you get them so tame, Connie?"

"They know that I love them," she replied simply.

"I can't get anything but the camp-robbers to come near me," said Andy.

"It takes time and patience, Andy. As soon as the birds are assured that you mean them no harm, they are eager to be your friends. You'll remember, Dad told you that without plants man could not live," she went on. "It is equally true that if all the birds should perish, man would soon follow. And, still more wonderful, if we had no insects man could not survive."

Andy came to a sitting posture. "Do you mean to s'y that we should die if we 'ad no insects?" he asked incredulously.

"Surely, Andy, you haven't forgotten what Dad told you last Sunday about insects carrying the pollen from flower to flower," reproved Connie.

"I 'ave it now!" cried Andy, after a few moments of reflection. "If we 'ad no insects to carry the pollen the plants couldn't live. And if the birds were all gone ther'd be so many insects that they'd eat up every blinkin' thing the farmers raised, and we'd starve to death."

Connie nodded.

"Strike me 'andsome if ain't wonderful!" said Andy in an awed voice.

Connie explained very simply to Andy the benefits derived by mankind from the various birds. Her discourse proved so interesting to him that he paid little heed to the time until the sun, disappearing behind the trees, warned him that it was time to return to his duties. Regretfully he arose and turned to the trail, Connie walking by his side. A gold-finch, rich in his summer plumage of bright yellow, black and white, hung swaying like a dainty sprite on a slender stem near the path. From its bulging little throat came a rippling, bubbling song like a miniature torrent of ecstasy.

"Dear, dear, dearie," he called sweetly.

"Oh, you darling!" cried Connie as she clasped her hands in rapture. "I've been trying to find their nest for several days, Andy, but the little dears have hidden it too well."

She made soft clucking sounds as she moved nearer to the beautiful bird. The goldfinch fluttered close to her side to perch like a yellow flower on the top of a tall thistle, perked its pretty head and looked up at her with bright shining eyes.

"Dear, dear, dearie," it sang again, then flew with characteristic wavy motion to a clump of willows, twittering sweetly as if calling Connie to follow.

"I 'ave to 'urry 'ome," said Andy as he looked at his watch. He glanced back at a turn in the trail to see Connie pressing the willows gently aside in her search for the goldfinch's nest.

"Strike me pink! but she is a wonderful girl," solloquized Andy. "The 'andsomest and the brainiest kid I ever saw in me life. If I was thirty years younger, two feet 'igher, and 'arf decent to look at, I'd fall 'ead over 'eels in love with 'er."

He smiled broadly at these ridiculous reflections, but there was a tender light in his bright blue eyes. A swarthy foreign labourer, moving aimlessly up the trail, merely grunted in reply to Andy's cheerful salutation.

"One of Gillis's beloved bohunks," chuckled Andy.

A moment later he stopped suddenly. Connie was up there alone. For a short interval he hesitated, then resumed his downward journey. "She'd shoot 'is blinkin' 'ead off if 'e tried to 'arm 'er," he decided.

Just then he heard Connie's voice raised in a quick cry of anger. Andy jumped as though subjected to a galvanic shock. He turned in mid-air and before he struck the ground his short legs were going through the motion of running. The picture of Connie struggling in the arms of the burly foreigner made him fairly fly.

"I'm coming, Connie!" he shouted as he tore up the hill.

Donald and Gillis, sitting near the bluff enjoying a smoke came to their feet as they heard a faint shout from above. For an interval they listened intently, but hearing no further sound they resumed their seats. Andy slackened his pace as he came to the clearing and saw that Connie was unharmed. She was standing near the labourer with her head bowed over an object held in her hand.

"What's wrong, Connie" panted Andy.

"Andy, look!" she choked, "it's the mother bird. I had just found her nest—here it is." She parted the bushes to disclose a compact, cosy, cup-like sructure of fine grass and moss placed in a crotch of the tree. In the centre lay four downy fledglings whose tiny mouths gaped wide to receive the expected bit of food from the mother's bill. "Oh, Andy, if she dies the little ones won't live," said Connie in a voice filled with pity.

The financial statement showed a credit balance of $7.05, and unless the membership of the library is increased this year it will hardly be possible to carry on as new books must be bought, in order to keep up the interest, and funds will not admit of any expenditure in this line. Though books are sent from Victoria every few months freight one way has to be paid by the local library, therefore these cannot be changed as often as might be wished.
