Order Swimming Pool's Filling

Big Tank to be Ready Immediately—May Have Membership Tickets—Fire Brigade Matters to Fore—Imhoff Map Pleases.

There was considerable variety to the business transacted at the June meeting of the village council on Monday night, the most important of which was to instruct the handyman to start at once with the filling of the swimming pool at Exhibition park for the 1935 season. The fire and light committee reported with regret that it had been unable to get promised action in connection with resumption of fire brigade activities and it was decided to terminate the services of the present fire chief at the end of Juue.

The correspondence was light. The Salvation Army got favorable consideration to its appeal for a grant to help with its social service work, the usual $25 being voted. The Knights of Pythias will be permitted to use Exhibition park on June 30th and July 1st, and the pavilion on the latter date in connection with their Dominion Day celebration, provided they pay for the use of the piano and take care of the electric light bill. Reeve Jnckson will confer with a trio of softball clubs to arrange a schedule of practice nights. The roads committee will look after the removal of buildings that project onto the street on Myrtle Avenue, and R. Ibbitson's request for a permit to erect a 24 x 28 ft. residence in the J. F. Murrell subdivision was granted.

Expenditures on highways were all held over for another month. These included an expenditure of $50 in connection with improving laneway connection for the stores on the west side of Canyon street. The C P.R. divisional engineer will be consulted to get exact information as to the railway company's road rights in that neighborhood. Mr. Weir, who recently acquired the former Chas. Brousson residence and acreage on Grandview heights offered to sell the necessary land to expedite the extension of Vancouver street through to the new hospital for $150 but while this was considered a good buy purchase was deferred.

Councillor Murrell made his position clear, stating he would not favor any expenditures on highways until such time as an estimate was secured as to the cost of needed improvements to Park pavilion. It was decided to have the handyman secure the necessary new posts and wire in order to make needed repairs to the fence at Exhibition park. Two no parking signs will be erected in front of the town property on Barton Avenue.

The water and light committee reported a new three-inch pipe was being laid along Princess Avenue to serve the new residences being built in that locality. Repairs had also been made to pipe line on Victoria Avenue. The building and fire by-law was amended so that all property through to the east boundary of the town is now covered by the provisions of the by-law. Accounts passed for payment totalled $408. Of this amount $110 went to W. Imhoff, who has completed his composite map of the village, and $150 was to pay the half yearly salary of the councillors.

The council has good reason to be pleased with the new map. It is a very fine piece of work. On a map less than three by four feet Mr. Imhoff has very clearly shown all the subdivisions, blocks, lots, streets, lanes, etc., in the village. Hitherto if any information of this sort was wanted more than a dozen blue prints had to be sorted over to secure the one desired. A resolution expressing appreciation of his efficiency was ordered recorded on the minutes.

In connection with the swimming pool the clerk will write some other town in which these are operated, for information as to season tickets for families and individuals. Notice was also given that trouble is sure to be encountered by those who proceed with new buildings or alterations to existing structures before securing a permit from the village.

The meeting was in charge of Reeve F. H. Jackson, and Councillors Comfort and Murrell were in attendance.

The garage and the two new single cabins will complete the building on the property as the owners find themselves unable to satisfactorily handle more. The first tourists registered on March 2nd and 3rd from Calgary and Pincher Creek, Alberta, respectively, and considering the late season visitors registrations have been quite numerous ever since.

Strawberry Crop Starts Moving

Wynndel and Creston Get on Shipping List June 12th, About Three Weeks Later than 1933—Marketing Prospects Good.

The 1935 strawberry crop in Creston valley commenced rolling on Wednesday when the Co-Operative Fruit Growers at Wynndei had an initial shipment of seven crates from four of the early ranches in that section, and Long, Allan & Long, Limited, report an outgo of ten crates from Reed & Mather's at Alice Siding, another early producer. The fruit was of first-class quality and much superior in appearance to the coast berries local stores have been handling the past ten days. The season is three weeks later than last year, when a few crates went out as early as May 27th.

At Wynndel the outlook is for a crop possibly 30 per cent. in excess of 1934, provided favorable weather in encountered. Just at present unirrigated lands are needing rain. For the bigger tonnage the Wynndel Co-Operative Fruit Growers are well prepared having enlarged their pre cooling plans to a capacity of handling seven cars, as compared with four in past seasons. Further improvement is made in that the plant is now electrically operated. The old plant was the brine type, but it is being kept up to standard in case of any mishap on the 'juice" supply

Interviewe l Wednesday C. W. Allan, Managing director of Long, Allan&Long, Limited, reports a larger than last year tonnage of berries signed up. Mr. Allan, who is just back from a tour of the principal prairie wholesale centres, advises that crop conditions have never appeared more favorable. Jobbers and brokers are particularly optomistic as to prospects for the season.

The latest advices are that shipments of coast berries, which have been on now for a matter of two weeks, will hit the peak about June 19th or 20th. This information, coupled with the fact that the coast crop has been substantially reduced as a result of very dry weather conditions will, in the opinion of Mr. Allan, have a very favorable reaction on the market prospects of the Creston valley berry crop.

Long, Allan & Long, Limited, announce that they will conduct their usual shipping services at Erickson, Creston, Reed & Mather's siding and Wynndel.

Buy New Grader Add to Warehouse

Co-Op. Fruit Exchange Modernizing Equipment and Putting on 50-Foot Extension—Grader Most Modern Manufactured.

The best equipped and largest fruit handling warehouse of any point outside the Okanagan is what Creston Co-Operative Frnit Exchange will boast when new equipment on order, and addition to the warehouse authorized at a directors meeting on Tuesday are completed and in operation by early August.

The new grader is a full size Cutler rotary machine, recognized as the best and latest developmen in packing house equipment. In addition to grading the machine also has a wiper which removes all dust, spray residue, aphis marks and along with wiping also polishes the fruit. In houses where the wiper has been used it is claimed that it steps up the grades by at least 10 per cent.

The grader has a length of 96 feet over all. Coming from the dump boxes the apples roll out onto a table and the sorters grade the fruit into Extra Fancy, Fancy and C. Grade. Each grade is placed on a conveyor belt of its own Each belt feeds into carrier cups which carry one apple each, travelling over scales so that when the individual apples reach a point on the scale identical with its own weight the apple is automatically tipped off and rolls into a bin.

There are 48 of these bins—24 on either side of the machine—and the machine is divided into three sections, one each for Cs, Fancy and Extra Fancy, with a return belt which brings the apples that failed to get clearance on the first trip out. All the bins rotate which keeps the supply well within reach of the packer. Another advantage to this type of grader is that it reduces to a minimum the matter of stem puncture and bruise. A 2 h.p. motor is used on the drive, a one h.p. motor on the sorter while a three h.p. motor is required to handle the wiper.

The addition to the present warehouse will be on the east side extending towards the Rodgers mill. It will be two story high and 50 feet square. It is to be fully insulated which provides cool storage in the warmer weather and frostproof storage when it is colder. The extra space will provide storage for at least an additional 20,000 boxes and with the old and new storage space the Exchange will now be able to handle McIntosh Reds, for instance, direct from orchard to storage and get away from spoilage caused by being left too long in the orchard. The building will have a trussed roof, getting away entirely from beams in the upper story. It is expected tenders for the addition will be called for before the month is out.

LEGAL RIGHT OF PROVINCES TO TAX INCOMES

Ottawa.—A province has a legal right to collect income tax, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes told the House of Commons when T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto East) expressed alarm at the prospect of Ontario duplicating the federal impost and abolishing municipal income taxes.

The finance minister expressed hope that before long a settlement would be reached on the over-lapping of provincial and federal taxation fields. It had been on the agenda of the Dominion-provincial conference scheduled for last fall but not held.

The house gave third reading to two bills implementing sections of the last budget. All changes in the tariff and income tax were enacted into legislation without prolonged debate. From the day the budget was presented until approved the actual debate in the house has been less than in any recent year.

The Toronto member suggested Canada follow the lead of the United States and publish income figures. A Washintgon investigation, he said, disclosed shocking conditions of millionaires escaping taxation and he believed a similar situation might be found in Canada.

Mr. Rhodes did not reply.

Hon. W. D Euler (Lib., Waterloo North) objected to continued duplication and multiplication on shareholders of companies. He protested the present system was "an absolute injustice," even though it was practiced by the former Liberal government.

Drouth At The Coast

Crops On South Vancouver Island Suffer From Lack Of Moisture

Victoria.—Scorched by the sun and dried by the wind, southern Vancouver Island is experiencing one of the worst drouths in recent years. Crops in many areas are parched and withered from the three-month thirst. In many cases they have been reduced 50 to 75 per cent., while in others they are pronounced complete failures.

Much uncultivated land is bone dry to a depth of one to three feet, while in some places the drouth has reached the hard pan. A three-inch coating of dust protects the moisture on well-cultivated berry plantations and orchards, but how long before the heat will dry it out is a matter of conjecture.

Some plowed fields are dreary stretches of dusty gray-brown. In some of them, seed which was sown a month ago has not yet germinated.

New Title Gazetted

John Buchan Is Now Baron Tweedsmuir Of Elsfield

London. — The barony conferred upon John Buchan, governor-general-designate of Canada, was officially gazetted as "Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield."

The title Tweedsmuir recognizes the distinguished author's youthful associations with the village of that name on the Tweed. Elsfield Manor in the county of Oxford is his home.

Minimum Wage Act

Ottawa.—With an added provision respecting wages due an employee, the senate banking and commerce committee approved the re-drafted minimum wage bill. The clause inserted provides that in any prosecution of an employer for breach of the act, the court may order payment to the employee concerned of the amount of wages proved to be unpaid or short paid.

Tariff Changes

Ottawa.—Since Aug. 1, 1930, there have been 471 increases in the tariff schedule by act of parliament and four by order-in-council with 366 decreases by parliament and seven by order-in-council, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons. The information was requested by J. F. Pouliot (Liberal, Temiscounta).

C.M.A. For Fair Wages

Evidence Of Manufacturers Not Treating Employees Fairly

Hamilton, Ont.—Question of whether or not the Canadian Manufacturers' Association should frown on "improper wages" featured the association's 64th annual convention here.

Discussion followed the report of the executive council. A. J. Roden, Toronto, introduced the subject in the section of the industrial relations' committee report which recommended the association should still adhere to its traditional policy of insisting wages, hours and conditions of employment generally should be agreed upon between employers and employees.

This was urged in connection with the Ontario Industrial Standards Act, which had been opposed by the association.

"In theory the tradition is right, but it does not always work out in practice," Mr. Roden said. "Some firms abuse this method of engaging employees and pay a very low scale of wages. Perhaps the time has come when decent firms should be protected against ones which buy labor at a cheap price."

E. C. Burton, Toronto, supported Roden, declaring there was too much evidence of manufacturers not treating employees fairly.

"It is time something was done in this regard," he said, in urging passage of a resolution which would state members were not in favor of countenancing unfair wages.

Melville White, Toronto, thought the word "agreement" covered the matter, but Mr. Burton pointed out an employer could agree to pay low wages.

"What I referred to was the 'take it or leave it' type of employment," Mr. Roden remarked.

After Alexander Donald, Hamilton; Elmer Davis, Kingston; W. C. Coulter, Toronto, and others had spoken, the convention passed a motion instructing the resolutions committee to frame a motion on the point.

Many Applications Received

No Shortage Of Recruits For Royal Air Force

London.—The air ministry announced approximately 38,000 inquiries had been received up to June 1 for tradesmen and mechanics for the Royal Air Force. More than 8,500 inquiries had been received for pilots, officers and airmen. None of these so far had been accepted or interviewed.

The ministry said it was too early yet to give details regarding the origin of the recruits. The inquiries came after the announcement of a rapid expansion in the air force.

U.S. Air Bases

Washington.—Without a whisper of opposition, the house of representatives penned swift approval on a bill to give the army blanket authority to dot the United States with strategic air bases to provide peace-time training for the air force and war-time defence against invasion. The measure now goes to the senate.

Japs Hold Discussion

Paris. — Nine Japanese ambassadors and ministers in European capitals met here in a secret conference, reportedly to discuss to what extent Japan would participate in European affairs. Japanese sources refused even to admit it was a "conference," preferring quite simply to call it "a discussion."

Earthquake Toll In India

London.—Salvage operations in the earthquake-stricken city of Quetta, India, have been indefinitely suspended, the India office announced, because of the "appalling stench." Official estimates placed the deaths in the Quetta area at 56,000, with 26,000 dead in Quetta itself. Population of the city was more than 60,000.

May Issue Stock Permits

Ottawa.—Permits will be issued for the importation of cattle, sheep and other ruminants and swine into Canada from Scotland, on and after June 20, providing no outbreak of disease occurs there among such animals in the meantime, it was announced by the department of agriculture. 2102

SEES THE KING

Here we see Mr. Stanley Baldwin returning to Downing Street through the garden gate after his audience with the King. Mr. Baldwin is expected to take over the duties of premiership shortly as Premier MacDonald is to retire because of ill-health.

Penalties Are Reduced

Senate Adopts Amendment To Weights And Measure Bill

Ottawa. — Minimum penalties for false or unjust weights under the weights and measure bill increasing the punishment for short weights were reduced by an amendment adopted by the senate banking and commerce committee.

Maximum penalties provided in the amending measure were passed without change.

For a first offence, an individual engaged in trade would be liable under the amendment to a minimum fine of $10 and a minimum of $50 for a subsequent offence. The bill as received from the commons had provided for a minimum fine of $50 for a first offence and $100 for a subsequent infraction. The maxima stand at $100 for a first offence and $250 for a subsequent infraction.

In the case of a corporation, the minimum for a first offence was reduced from $500 to $100 and for a subsequent infraction from $1,000 to $500. The maxima set out in the measure of $500 for a first offence and $5,000 for a subsequent infraction remain.

May Be Tax Free

Proposal To Exempt Members And Senators From Income Tax

Ottawa.—Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes may introduce a bill later this session to exempt the indemnities of members and senators from income tax. To absolve members from the charge of legislating for themselves, the bill will not apply to the present parliament.

When the house was discussing income tax changes, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal financial critic, suggested members should be allowed exemptions for living expenses in Ottawa. He claimed it was unjust to tax members for the full indemnity when it was necessary for them to spend most of it to earn it.

The finance minister agreed but went further. He believed the $4,000 indemnity should be exempt from income tax and was prepared to recommend a change in the law to the incoming parliament.

Will Try For New Record

Sir Malcolm Campbell To Make Attempt To Better Automobile Record In July

London.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, will attempt to better his own world's automobile speed record at Salt Lake City in July, he announced.

Speaking before an advertising club luncheon gathering, Campbell said he would leave for Utah in July for a new record attempt that month. He lifted the record to 276.816 miles per hour at Daytona Beach March 7.

"It's impossible to rely in the future on the beach if you wish to do anything in the region of 300 miles an hour," the sportsman said. "You must have 100 per cent. perfect conditions for high speed. We are now carrying out further tests for our attempt in July."

Frowns On Divorce

Church Of England Rejects Move To Change Ruling

London.—A move to permit divorce and re-marriage in the Church of England, and to urge civil authorities to make divorce laws more liberal, went down to defeat 91-26 before the Church of England synod.

The proposal was introduced by a minority group of bishops, led by Rt. Rev. Ernest William Barnes, bishop of Birmingham. Its sponsors urged since divorce was permitted by the civil laws, the church no longer had any need to frown upon it in all cases.

THE FIRST OF THE JUBILEE DRIVES

Here is a happy picture of Their Majesties the King and Queen greeting Dame Helen Gwyne Vaughan and the Earl Jellicoe when they passed Hyde Park on the first of the four state drives around London as part of the Silver Jubilee celebrations. Seventy thousand children lined the route through Marlebone and gave the King and Queen a tumultuous welcome.

SEEK APPROVAL OF NEW MIDGET N.R.A. PROPOSAL

Washington—With President Roosevelt's midget N.R.A. proposal heading toward quick congressional approval, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, predicted no further legislation on the subject at this session.

His statement, conditioned by an assertion unforeseen conditions might make a further move necessary, capped a day in which the United States capital sought to gauge conflicting indications of the administration's intention.

"If N.R.A. is extended with the exception of those features and provisions held invalid by the court," Robinson told reporters, "I do not now expect further legislation on the subject during the present session."

Meanwhile Donald R. Richberg, N.R.A. chief, left a discussion with President Roosevelt saying he did not expect to head the temporary N.R.A. contemplated by the president.

A generally prevailing opinion was that the president was keeping in mind his expressed intention of obtaining for the federal government clear constitutional authority for dealing with national social and economic problems, a question he said must be decided by "the United States as a whole."

Meanwhile, before the senate foreign relations committee, the administration program for reciprocal tariff treaties was challenged as an unconstitutional delegation of legislature power by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, who maintained his point was proved by the N.R.A. decision.

Breach Of Contract

Earl Of Egmont, Sued By Calgary Nurse, Settles Bill

Calgary. — Alberta's millionaire ranchman, the Earl of Egmont, sued for $86 by Miss Zita Kerchoff, a Calgary nurse, has settled for an "unspecified sum," it was announced in the district court.

Judge W. A. Macdonald, who ruled there had been a breach of contract, was advised of the settlement.

Miss Kerchoff claimed she was entitled to $86 from the 21-year-old earl, representing a "waiting fee" prior to the birth of Viscount Perceval last year. She was dismissed before the heir to the Egmont fortune was born.

Wheat In Storage

Canadian Wheat In Storage At End Of May Shows Decrease

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended May 31 amounted to 202,120,349 bushels, a decrease of 2,067,128 bushels compared with the previous week, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. On the corresponding date last year the visible supply was 200,336,042 bushels.

Canadian wheat in the United States amounted to 9,370,703 bushels, a net decrease of 824,322 bushels against the previous week, and an increase of 4,118,502 bushels compared with the same period last year.

Social Credit Campaign

Calgary.—William Aberhart, Alberta Social Credit League leader, said in an address here that a group of Manitoba men had informed him they were raising funds to enable him and other Social Credit speakers to fly to Manitoba as soon as Alberta schools close. Mr. Aberhart is principal of Crescent Heights high school in Calgary.

Eight-Hour Day Bill

Ottawa.—The eight-hour day bill, riddled with amendments by the senate banking and commerce committee, was given third reading in the upper house. It will go back to the commons for concurrence in the changes, chief of which is a reduction in time for bringing employees in the railway running trades under its provisions.

Valuable coupon in every package.

Thus before they slept that night, the two young people knew that they were to go "out West". The arguments pro and con had waged for a good two hours, Aunt Louise protesting vigorously to the very last that her nephew woud return East with the manners "of a bear."

"And I warn you too, young man," she asserted grimly, "that you won't find life on a ranch the romantic dream you're picturing to yourself at present. As for your sister—"

At this point words failed her and she ended with a tragic gesture which caused even Nance to smile a little. There was no doubt whatever that Aunt Louise could perceive no virtue in what she termed "this wild, ridiculous scheme of Jack's"; and even Aunt Judy suggested with some reluctance that if the boy must go, it might be wise for him to go alone.

"All right," he retorted, impatient at what seemed a deadlock, "if Sis is too much of a hot-house flower to stand transplanting—if she can't put up with a few hardships a time like this, I will go alone, though possibly—"

He hesitated, and his father ended for him: "You're thinking that it's Nancy whom Cousin Columbine really wants to come?"

Jack nodded.

"She might not pay my carfare if I went alone, Dad."

"So if you go, it looks as if I'd have to," said the girl bitterly. "I suppose if I get unbearably fed up with everything I can walk back."

"Two thousand miles on the hoof!" grinned her brother, though perfectly aware that she spoke with sarcasm. "That's where your pioneer blood shows up, my dear! If you find our aged relative too impossible you can turn hitch-hiker. See here! I promise solemnly that if you can't stand the job after a month or two, we'll hitch-hike back together. The experiment won't cost Dad a cent; and the chances are we'll have a whale of a good time."

"Good time!" sputtered his paternal aunt; when Mother interrupted:

"But, Louise, can you see any especially good times for the children if they stay at home?"

Every one turned to her in surprise; while Aunt Louise responded: "Surely, Margaret, you don't approve of this idea?"

"Not wholly; but I've a feeling that both Jack and Nancy will be happier in absolutely new surroundings for a time. It's not easy for young folks to adjust themselves to such radical changes as we'll have to make. Of course I shall worry about Nance; but if she's too unhappy I think we can manage to bring her back without the necessity of hitch-hiking! What do you say, Nance?"

It was then that Nancy, glancing at her father as if for help, saw something in his face that made her heart contract. For the first time she realized what this catastrophe had done to Dad. Why, he looked old! she thought in consternation. He looked worried—frightfully worried; and all this talk was worrying him still more. Yet here she was hesitating to accept a chance to earn her living just because the thought of doing something hard—going so far away, seemed unendurable. What had Jack called her the other night? A parlor ornament? Well, he was right, wasn't he? That's about all she measured up to. For one swift, illuminating moment the girl saw herself as others saw her, and was honestly appalled. Dad would never admit it, but her absence and Jack's would be a help just now. All this and more went through her mind in a revealing flash before she answered with new-born bravery.

"Of course I'm going! I had to get used to the idea, that's all. It may not be very exciting at Cousin Columbine's, Mother, but it'll be—be interesting, won't it—seeing new things and places? Let's not talk any more. It's settled as far as I'm concerned. Come on, Jack, we'd better make a list of things to take."

"And don't forget your flannel nightgowns," spoke up the little brother; so, after all, the discussion ended on a smile.

CHAPTER V.

Waking suddenly at a nerve-racking jolt, Nancy sat up, wondering in that first startled instant, where she could be. Then her brain cleared and she realized that she was aboard a train headed for Colorado, and wondered if they had run into something, and if she ought to waken Jack or get up and put on her clothes. Surely there had been no such jolt the night before. For a moment she listened tensely in expectation of some confusion; then raised the window shade, peering out into the dim, grey light of early morning.

The train had stopped before a station and her car was directly opposite the brightly lighted restaurant. Nancy could see a girl of about her own aged dressed in a crisp, white uniform, serving some trainmen at a lunch counter. She wondered if the waitress had been up all night or was just beginning her day's work. Probably the latter, for she looked fresh enough—but what a ghastly hour to go to work.

A man and woman carrying suitcases emerged from the waiting room, and a moment later Nance felt them brush by her section, speaking to the porter in hushed voices. A cheerful time to be starting on a journey, she thought ironically, but perhaps out here where the distances were so great, one had to start when one could.

There followed another jolt. Evidently the engine had been detached and was coupling on again. The wheels turned slowly, and then faster. Nance strained her eyes to catch the name of the station—Dodge City—and shivering a little, pulled down the shade and snuggled under the blankets.

So they were still in Kansas. Kansas! The idea that she could be there was incredible to Nancy Nelson. Why, Kansas had always seemed as far away as the North Pole—and fully as unattractive! People lived there, of course, but not people quite like themselves. At least, that was how the girl had thought about it; yet that waitress in the lunch room looked—why she looked every bit as up-to-date as the girls behind the lunch counters at Thompson's Spa on Washington Street in Boston.

This comparison brought a wave of homesickness to the unwilling exile. What a three weeks it had been since Jack received those telegrams from Cousin Columbine! Such a hectic time. Aunt Judy starting off for Europe with those crazy Spear girls. Hurried trips to Edgemere with Mother. Packing. Deciding what to take and what to leave behind. Getting tickets and reservations. And those last awful moments at the South Station with Phil wanting to know how they made the sections into beds and asking a thousand foolish questions—Mother smiling unnaturally to keep from crying—Aunt Louise arriving at almost the last second with a box of candy. and Dad, his face so terribly set and stern. . . .

Just to recall it made Nance shudder. Even Jack had lost his enthusiasm for a time and hadn't talked much until the train left Worcester. But a meal in the diner had restored his courage, and since then he'd been the jolliest of companions. She hadn't realized before how nice her brother really was. Not once had he compared her to a hothouse flower or a parlor ornament. Not even when he caught her winking away some tears as the train pulled out. . . .

Nancy slept after a while, but not for long. It was Jack who wakened her, slipping down from the upper berth and snapping up the window shade.

"Wake up, sis!" he commanded in an excited whisper. "Look where we are! Why, that's—that must be prairie!"

It was!

Nancy sat up, almost as excited as her brother. Prairie! Miles and miles and miles of it, stretching endlessly into a far horizon. Neither of them had dimly realized the vastness of those great plains they were to cross—plains which lay dappled by morning sunlight, softly undulating, as far as their astonished eyes could reach.

For the first time since starting on this journey, Nancy forgot her homesickness and was thrilled. She drew a breath born of both amazement and delight. To one whose entire life had been spent either in a crowded city or surrounded by the sheltering, green hills of New England, such limitless space was almost unbelievable. For a time she watched this unfamiliar world slip by, too awed for anything save exclamations. It all seemed wonderful: a herd of grazing cattle—a clump of cottonwoods beside an irrigating ditch—a schoolhouse set in curious isolation considering its purpose; and in the distance patches of green about some lonely ranch.

Even Jack was silent, too interested, perhaps, to comment; but at last he said: "Let's dress, Nancy. I want to get out and sniff this air at the next station. Breakfast's at Syracuse anyhow, and say! I think the sun looks brighter here than it does at home."

This was no idle guess. The sun was brighter—the air more sparkling. Nancy admitted that she had never breathed such air. They cut short their breakfast in order to have more moments to pace the platform. "And in no time now," said Jack as they swung reluctantly aboard the train again, "we'll be in Colorado. I wonder who Cousin Columbine will send to meet us."

Nance smiled.

"Do you remember her first letter? I was to sit quietly in the station until called for!"

"So you were! Do you suppose they'll keep up waiting long? Gee, Nance! I just can't realize that this long trip is nearly over."

Neither could Nance; but all too soon they found themselves waiting their turn to leave the train. Goodbyes to friendly fellow passengers had been spoken. A smiling porter had brushed away the cinders. Nancy, standing behind Jack in the narrow passage, realized suddenly that the hands clutching her pocketbook were trembling. Indeed, all the fear that had gripped her on leaving home was back again as she emerged into the sunlight and joined her brother on the platform.

Jack, smiling a negative to an approaching red cap, rescued their bags from a pile of luggage, and moved toward the station—a beautiful station that made Nance think of an English manor house. To the west, against an unbelievably blue sky, towered snow-capped Pike's Peak, seeming so near in the clear atmosphere, that the girl felt she could reach out and touch it.

"This place certainly looks civilized enough," she observed breathlessly as Jack dropped the bags and stood looking about in search of the expected escort.

"Civilized!" Her brother laughed. "What did you think you'd see? Wild Indians? Of course it's civilized; but—For the love o' Mike, Nance, look there!"

Nance looked. An Indian squaw was coming toward them, her shoulders covered by a gay, striped shawl, a wee black-eyed papoose strapped to her back. Said Jack, as she disappeared around a corner: "That relic of old times must have been ordered for our especial benefit. I didn't suppose they carried their kids like that in these days."

Little Helps For This Week

"Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself." Matthew 19:19.

So others shall
Take patience, labor to their heart and hand,
From thy hand, and thy heart, and thy brave cheer,
And God's grace magnify through thee to all.
The least flower with a brimming cup may stand,
And share its dewdrop with another near.

What is meant by our neighbor we cannot doubt, it is everyone with whom we are brought into contact. First of all he is literally our neighbor who is next to us in our own family and household. Then it is he who is close to us in our own neighborhood, our own town, in our own street. With these all charity begins. To love and be kind to these is the beginning of all true religion. But besides these, as our Lord teaches, is the one who is thrown across our path by the changes and chances of life, he or she whosoever it be that we have means of helping, the unfortunate stranger we may meet in travelling, the friend whom no one else cares to look after.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 13

HOME BREW

Every five years the department of agriculture conducts an orchard survey of the province. This being the year it would facilitate the work if every owner took stock and counted up the number of each variety he has in his orchard. Trees are grouped under three headings as to age: Young trees, from one to five years old; trees coming into bearing, from six to ten years old; and bearing trees, over ten years old. The work will be carried out in this area by C. B. Twigg, who will visit all owners of orchards throughout the district during the summer months. The accurate information is of practical value to the owner and is well worth the effort in obtaining it, as it helps in figuring out all estimates, costs and materials necessary in carrying out the work and keeping track of the expense of the many items that enter into the annual routine of operating an orchard. The ready information thus on hand will be much appreciated by the official who has to take the census, and minimizes the delay of all parties concerned.

In pointing out the advantages that will accrue to the village when it can boast a hall of ample spaciousness to take care of entertainments, dances and winter indoor sports, "Citizen" did himself proud in his letter to the Review last week. It is to be hoped, however, that the paragraph relating to the remodelling of Park pavilion and it being "cheaper in the end to erect a building suitable in every respect to present and near-future needs," will not be interpreted to mean that it is up to the village to forget the pavilion, as it were, and get on with the erection of a new and fully modern entertainment arena. While such a move might have the support of some of the taxpayers the Review is sufficiently practical to know their number would be small and there is therefore, no hope whatever of such an undertaking being sponsored by the municipal authorities. However, lack of municipal backing does not make the proposed new building any the less a necessity—nor one beyond the means of the aggregate of all those who are interested in such a venture—and the Review hopes "Citizen" and those who are in sympathy with the effort he champions will make some move to ascertain just what a suitable site and building as outlined in his letter would cost. The need truly is great and wiih Creston on the eve of a very considerable development no more opportune time could be chosen for at least securing information as to probable cost.

Now that the valley orchardist has got through electing representatives and a delegate to serve locally, the next thrill will come some time after June 19th when balloting will take place for the three members to constitute the 1935-36 B.C. Tree Fruit Board. With the three present members definitely in the field and announcement by Roger F. Borrett of Kelowna that he will also be a candidate, an election is assured, and if the choice of the board of market governors is confined to the four gentlemen mentioned the Creston-Boswell district growers need not lie awake o' nights fearful of the outcome of the poll. Messrs. Haskins, Barrat and Hembling of the old board have shown themselves quite sympathetic to the needs and special circumstances of the local marketing situation, and certainly Mr. Borrett has a working knowledge of the local deal as it was he who acted for the board here when the regulations became effective last September. And with W. G. Littlejohn as the local representative to recall the 1934 griefs and how to avoid them in 1935, the position of the Boswell-Creston orchardists could hardly be better insofar as Tree Fruit Board treatment goes. As to who will fare best at the poll the Review's guess is that the old board will likely be returned. In these parts, at any rate, they have the advantage of being personally known, and people have a weakness, when it comes to voting, for sticking to those they know, despite some imperfections, rather than take a chance on strangers.

During last week death claimed two who played a part in the erection of Creston into a village municipality in 1924. They were Robert Baird, inspector of municipalities, and Baron Byng, who was governor-general of Canada at that time and being on a tour of western Canada very kindly consented to make a stop at Creston for a civic reception and to swear in H. S. McCreath, F. H. Jackson and E. C. Gibbs as the first village council. It was Creston's first close contact with the representative of royalty and the meeting was pleasurable for all concerned. Before conceding Creston a charter of incorporation the late Mr. Baird made a personal visit here to assure himself that self-government was desirable and the wish of a considerable majority of the taxpayers, and in going about to determine these questions one could not help but be impressed with his thoroughness, and determination to hear from those for and against municipilization. And the records at the town hall show that since incorporation he has maintained an equally zealous watch over the conduct of village affairs insofar as he was responsible. In his passing B.C. municipalities have lost a very competent and conscientious advisor.

After the success that attended the local celebration in connection with the King's Jubilee, everyone is looking forward to the observance of Dominion Day, July 1st, the activities on which occasion will be in charge of committees from the local lodge Knights of Pythias. In taking on this work, after an effort to unite all community organizations in the handling of it failed, the Pythians are to be commended, and it is to be hoped that any who have bright ideas as to how to make the day an even bigger success than Jubilee day will pass the information along to the committee in charge. The racing, water sports and baseball and softball will provide considerable entertainment but to round out the afternoon something to replace the maypole and barbecue is desired. If Park pavilion is not taken for serving tea, a likely attraction would some competitive vaudeville turns (juvenile or adult) or it might be arranged to have some amateur boxing such as W. Ferguson directed for the Legion so successfully on the King's birthday. There is plenty of talent locally for effort of this sort if those who can direct it will only lend a hand. This is Canada's holiday and every Canadian should be interested in making the occasion worthy of the dominion.

Creston Scores Win Over CCC

Score is 7-4—Locals Never in Danger After Early Innings—Cherrington Pitches Effectively—Hitting is Timely.

It took Creston four innings to get acquainted with the pitching corps of the CCC aggregation from near Copeland, Idaho, in Sunday's encounter at Exhibition Park, and after that the result of the game was never in doubt, the locals taking the game by a score of 7-4.

With Cherrington pitching in his oldtime form the visitors were never really dangerous but things looked bad in the third when the first two up reached first safely, but were left stranded as the Creston Hurler took the next three on the strikeout route. For the day Cherrington disposed of ten by the fanning process. The batting honors went to Herb Couling who clouted out a triple to deep centre in the sixth. LaBelle had a double to his credit. Speers had a great day at first base handling a number of high and wide throws without mishap. McKelvey had a great day in right field, handling everything that came out that way as satisfactorily as is customary with his former performances at the initial corner.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice.

Funerals Without Flowers

Within recent months the writer has attended a number of funerals, joining with other friends and loved ones in paying respect to a deceased friend. Some of these funeral services have been held quietly and simply in the home, with only a few of the nearest relatives and closest friends of the departed one present; others have been held in churches in order that the larger circle of the deceased's friends and associates in his or her life's activities might be present, or where the religious tenets of the departed might be properly observed. In one case just a few persons were present, people who had voluntarily made small contributions to prevent the remains of the one who had passed on from being consigned to the potter's field.

In the vast majority of cases there were flowers in profusion, wreaths, emblems, sprays, dozens and scores of them, representing an expenditure of many dollars. And the thought constantly protruded itself whether such lavish display of floral tokens was right, in good taste, even in keeping with our Christian beliefs. It could not be questioned that in many, probably most, instances these flowers were sent out of love or a sincere respect for the deceased. Equally true, no doubt, in numerous instances flowers were sent because it has become the custom to send them.

As a matter of fact, as in the case of weddings, the tendency seems to be in the direction of making funerals more and more elaborate, more expensive, more and more something of a spectacle. The quiet and simplicity in funerals of former days has largely passed, until now it has become a source of heavy expense and consequent worry to people who are not blessed with an over-abundance of this world's goods. Yet because of prevailing custom, nobody wishes to appear mean in the eyes of others when called upon to discharge the last duty to a loved one.

Many people think of these things, believe present customs are wrong, but seldom openly express themselves. In a recent spirited article entitled "Decent Christian Burial", Marian J. Castle attacked the extravagance attending funerals. She showed how sums spent on flowers, tombstones, pomp and ceremony, often impoverish the living families of the deceased. She wisely inferred that the dead might be happier if the funds showered upon their inanimate bodies were used instead to brighten the lot of the living.

Discussing this same subject, Alma Hedin, sister of Sven Hedin, the famous Swedish explorer, says it is in the spirit of the times in her country to seek the simplest and at the same time the most dignified memorial for those we have loved. She outlines various steps taken in this direction, including the provision of funeral insurance through the agency of a society, which takes charge of all funeral arrangements, which are the same for every individual. Payment can be made to the society at any time during the lifetime of the insured, the premium being smaller for the young than for the old. The highest premium is paid by those who are over 70, and is about $75 in all. This provides for a dignified funeral of a kind that might otherwise tax the resources of the bereaved family, especially when the deceased happend to be the breadwinner.

In Sweden, too, they have had since 1921 an organization called the Flower Fund, formed to honor the dead "in a more worthy and more lasting manner" than with ornate floral tributes for the bier. Instead of sending an expensive wreath, the friends of the deceased remit the money to the Flower Fund, which sends to the bereaved family a simple memorial message in the name of the giver. The amount contributed remains a confidence between the donor and the Fund.

It was decided that the money received in this way should be applied to obtaining houses with small apartments for old people in straitened circumstances. When three and a half years had passed, the Flower Fund erected a large building on a site donated by the city of Stockholm. Soon a second house rose by the side of the first, and before long six additional houses were built. By this means the Fund provides for more than a thousand old people. These pay a lower rent than they would pay elsewhere and receive care if they are ill. Otherwise they are quite free, and there is nothing institutional about the place. It is like a private home.

There is a restaurant in each building where residents can buy lunch or dinner for a quarter of a dollar. They may have meals sent to their rooms or prepare them in the small kitchen that accompanies each apartment. Food can be purchased in the building, and there is also a laundry and a bakery. The old people seem to be happy under these arrangements, for there are always more applications than can be filled.

Swedish death notices often contain a line asking that the Flower Fund be remembered. Sometimes another charity is named, for the example is contagious. The important thing is not that the money is donated to a single cause but that the memorial be given a form that will honor the dead by benefiting the living.

Does this Swedish idea not offer a suggestion to the people of other countries? Can we not make our tributes to our deceased loved ones something more lasting than quickly withered blossoms?

Bodies Of Man And Woman Found On Scorching Sands Of Sahara

A searching party found the bodies of an Englishwoman and an Englishman on the scorching Sahara sands recently and rescued two Frenchmen near death from thirst.

The woman, Mrs. Knight, widow of an English aviator who committed suicide recently at Agadez, French West Africa, had slashed her wrist apparently in an attempt to end her torture from thirst and heat.

A party of four—Mrs. Knight, Peyton, an English resident of Switzerland, and two Frenchmen, Kneebret and Chavexus—left Agadez by truck May 22 for Tamanrasset, Tawarek. After the quartette were missing four days a searching party left Agadez for them. It found the Frenchmen in a serious condition beside the truck near a dried-up river bed.

WHY HIS HEADACHES CEASED

Wife Put Kruschen in His Coffee

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:—

"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of ten years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches stopped—for what reason I did not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."—J. T.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

Remedy Is Elusive

Medical World Endeavors To Discover Virus For Treating Common Colds

There is a virus that has something to do with the common cold and that's what so far has eluded the medical world. When it is discovered what that virus is, then the cold may be squelched.

"The germs of the common cold are well known," Dr. E. C. Sewall, of San Francisco, told the convention of the American Laryngological Association in Toronto, "although I believe there is a virus which is not yet known. This virus, in my opinion, is the product of all these germs that go to cause the common cold."

Persons who suffer from frequent colds are probably suffering from the same cold all the time, he said. He said a cold creates an immunity of six months or so.

"This," he said, "is probably the reason for the endemic source of colds. These people carry the source of infection in chronic sinus trouble and spread infection to other people."

Long Service Medal

Old Member Of Mounted Police Receives Official Recognition

An official recognition of his long service with the Northwest Mounted Police in the west's early days came to special Constable ("Gentleman Joe") McKay at Prince Albert when he was presented with the long service medal.

Forwarded from headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, the medal was presented to Mr. McKay by Inspector F. W. Schutz, officer commanding this subdivision. Mr. McKay retired many years ago.

"Gentleman Joe" is said to have fired the first shot in the Riel rebellion, 50 years ago at the Duck Lake fight.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced impending retirement of three assistant commissioners, A J. Cawdron of Ottawa, C. Junget of Halifax and J. W. Phillips of Vancouver. They will be granted leave from July 1 and retired next Jan. 1.

Assistant Commissioner Junget was engaged in the North West Mounted Police in 1899 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks until he was appointed inspector in 1907. He became superintendent in 1922 and assistant commissioner in 1932. He is now officer commanding "H" division at Halifax.

Assistant Commissioner Phillips, officer commanding "E" division at Vancouver, joined the North West Mounted Police in 1898 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks. He was appointed inspector in 1913, superintendent in 1931 and assistant commissioner in 1934.

Would Abolish Military Aviation

Londoners Vote For Limitation Of Armaments

Universal abolition of military aviation and limitation of armaments were favored by an overwhelming majority in a straw-vote conducted by the League of Nations union in Greater London, the union announced.

On these questions and on the question of supporting the league and forbidding the manufacture of arms for profit, the vote favored the proposals by 1,400,000 to 100,000.

Londoners voted 1,375,061 to 88,521 for use of economic sanctions against an aggressor, whatever the nation might be, and 872,275 to 386,664 for use of military sanctions if they were found necessary.

Young Lambs Make Trip

Long Jaunt Did Not Appear To Harm Them

Young lambs are good "trailers". Recently the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, moved its ewe flock to summer pasture at Beaver Creek and the ewes, with lambs at foot, made 10 miles the first day and completed the journey easily the second. Some of these lambs were no more than four days old.

"The long jaunt did not appear to hurt the lambs a bit," said Dean A. M. Shaw, "and after their 10 mile trip they were fresh and perky. Of course, the weather was cool, but the observation is of particular interest to ranchers and B.C. sheepmen when moving their stock from winter to summer range."

Recovery Obstacles

United States Writer Calls For Reciprocal Trade Efforts

Commercial policies of the United States were described by Peter Molyneaux, editor of the Texas weekly and a trustee of the Carnegrave, Mr. de Valera's administrapeace, as "the greatest obstacle to world recovery." Writings in "International Conciliation," a publication of the endowment, he said:

"I mean the policy embodied in the rates of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, the policy exemplified by the American attitude on war debts, the policy which prompted the almost unanimous enactment by congress of the Johnson Foreign Security Boycott act, the policy which every foreign country encounters at our shores and along our borders when it attempts to ship its goods to us in exchange for our own."

Molyneaux called the reciprocal trade efforts of Secretary of State Cordell Hull a step in the "right direction." Currency stabilization was held "absolutely essential to world recovery" and he added that so long as the United States pursues its present policies "any lasting of international exchange will be impossible."

Vimy Pilgrimage Becomes Great Peace Movement

Registrations Of Ex-Service Men Pouring In To Canadian Legion

The Vimy and Battlefields Pilgrimage of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League of which the famous Padre of the Canadian Corps, Canon Scott of Quebec, is Pilgrim No. 1, has already received 548 applications from ex-service men, despite the fact that the ships arranged jointly by the Cunard White Star and Canadian Pacific lines do not sail from Montreal until July 15th and 16th, next year, 1936. In addition twelve hundred applications have been received by the government from ex-service men in the Civil Service for leave for the duration of the Pilgrimage.

This event is going to be one of world significance. It is a Peace Movement on a colossal scale. It is anticipated that over 25,000 Canadians—ex-soldiers, their wives, children, fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers—will visit the cemeteries, the battlefields, and attend the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

The all-inclusive cost of the entire trip—as outlined below—is $160.00.

Sail from Montreal, July 15th or 16th, 1936; arrive France, July 24th; visiting graves, battlefields, towns in France and Belgium, (ships held in French port), July 24th, 25th, 26th; unveiling Vimy Ridge Canadian Government War Memorial, July 26th; arrival England — London Tilbury docks—(ships held four days), July 27th; London (four days), July 27th-30th; arrival in Canada (Montreal), August 8th.

After prolonged negotiations, the Atlantic Conference granted an ocean rate of $120.00 return—the lowest rate possible to obtain. Staterooms (3rd class) and the regular menue will be provided. Freedom of the ship will be granted. Cabin Class will be available to those wishing to pay higher rates. Please remember too that Ocean Travel accommodation to-day is vastly superior to that of 1914-1919.

The remaining $40.00 of the $160.00 is to provide for rail and road transport in France, billeting accommodation and meals in France and beds and breakfasts for four days in England. Passports will also be provided for France, Belgium and England, and accident insurance will also be provided in respect to those passengers acceptable to the Insurance Companies for this purpose. In addition, an official badge, beret, haversack and guide book will be provided. This indicates exactly how the amount quoted is made up.

Railway ticket agents, Ocean Line agents and Land Tour Companies are supplied with full information and application forms to take care of the many who will be participating in the Pilgrimage.

The Legion will not profit by this venture. The organization expenses will be taken care of through ordinary commissions. Any balance that may remain in the special Pilgrimage bank account, after organizing expenses are met, will be placed in a special fund and allocated to such veteran purposes as the National Pilgrimage Committee may designate. Commissions have no bearing on the price of the ticket. The ocean rate is set by the Atlantic Conference of Steamship Lines and commissions are also set by the same body so that whether commissions are accepted or not the price of the ticket remains the same.

The potentialities of this Pilgrimage stagger the imagination. Never before in the history of the world has a nation so far removed from the scene of hostilities left so many of its dead buried in foreign soil in a Battle for Freedom. In a War to end War, Canada sent 500,000 troops to France. Sixty thousand are buried there to-day in cemeteries from Ypres to Albert—from Etaples to Mons. On Sunday, July 26th, thousands of Canadians and a brilliant entourage of the representatives of all nations, will gather on Canadian soil at Vimy Ridge to unveil Canada's War Memorial — completed after seventeen years of unremitting labour.

This memorial, designed by Walter S. Allward, a Canadian, is erected by the Canadian Government on Vimy Ridge — dedicated by the French Government to the Dominion of Canada—as "That bit of foreign soil that will forever remain Canada."

Major General, The Honourable S. C. Mewburn, C.M.G., chairman of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission, has the assurance that the Government will co-operate and participate in the unveiling ceremonies, at the time of this Pilgrimage.

Well Qualified For Post

New U.S. Minister To Canada Highly Spoken Of

Norman Armour, the new Minister to Canada from the United States, received complimentary send-offs. The New York Herald Tribune, having spoken highly of his training and temperament, said: "Mr. Armour has the useful—and for a diplomat, the rare—quality of being a 'good mixer'. Incidentally, warm sympathy for the Canadian people and a keen sense of the importance of Canadian-American relations adds to his other qualifications for this post."

The New York Times, having remarked that the appointment of Mr. Armour is a merited promotion and also a recognition of the importance of the Canadian post, went on to say: "His appointment to Canada 'regularizes' the position and gives fresh assurance to Canada that we are sending a representatives of our best in American cultural background as well as in acquaintance with world affairs. It is highly important that we should have especially competent diplomats in posts nearest our own borders, among neighbors with whom we have most in common."

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

Golden text: It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful. I. Corinthians 4:2.

Devotional reading: Psalm 96:1-8.

Explanations And Comments

Pride of Possessions May Lead To Forgetfuiness of God, Deuteronomy 8:11-7. The children of Israel are about to enter the Promised Land after their long wilderness wandering, and Moses, their leader, fears that they may there become so prosperous that they will be in danger of forgetting God and of failing to keep his commandments. Against this temptation to pride (lest their heart be "lifted up") because of fine houses, numerous flocks and herds, and abundance of silver and gold, Moses warns them, and reminds them of what they owe God, who brought them out of bondage in the land of Egypt, and led them through the great and terrible wilderness. He stops to recall the dangers of that wilderness, the serpents and scorpions, the lack of water, and how fresh water and manna were given them that they might realize their dependence upon God.

It is God who Gives Power to Acquire Wealth, Deuteronomy 8:18. "The first and fundamental principle of stewardship lies in God's ownership of all things. The God who created life in the beginning has a priority claim upon all life. There can be no property either without society or without God; neither would there be value to property without society or without the God who guarantees all life" (Stewardship Lessons).

God Loves a Cheerful Giver, II. Corinthians 9;6-8. Generosity in giving will enrich one's own life, Paul wrote the Corinthians. A man who hoards the greater part of his supply of wheat, being loth to part with it, would have a scanty harvest from the smaller amount sown, and the hoarded grain, if kept too long, would spoil. It is from a bountiful sowing that a bountiful harvest is reaped, whether of wheat or of good deeds.

Little Journeys In Science

CHLORINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Chlorine is a greenish yellow gas which possesses a very disagreeable odor. When breathed it has a very irritating action upon the membranes of the nose and throat, producing coughing, inflammation, and even death. Hence it is quite rightly called a poisonous gas. Chlorine may be easily condensed to a golden yellow liquid, and as such is stored in strong leadlined cylinders holding from about forty to sixty pounds. It was the first poison gas used in the World War. The first attack was made by the Germans on April 22, 1915. They concealed tanks of liquid chlorine in the front line trenches and the substance was used in the form of gas clouds. As chlorine is about two and a half times as heavy as air, the clouds were carried over the ground by the wind. When there is one part of chlorine to ten thousand parts of air, the struggle for breath becomes acute, and a man would probably be put out of action in about five mintues.

Chlorine, in the presence of water, is a powerful bleaching and disinfecting agent. It is used in commerce for bleaching cotton, linen, wood pulp, and flour, but cannot be used for wool or silk because it hardens and destroys these materials. The bleaching of cotton fabrics and wood pulp for paper require in North America alone more than six hundred tons of chlorine per day. The bleaching process is carried out in water solution and either chlorine water, or bleaching powder dissolved in water, is used.

Chlorine is also used in preparing certain chlorine compounds such as chloroform and carbon tetrachloride (used in fire extinguishers). It is also used in the preparation of many compounds which are needed in the explosive and dye industries.

Liquid chlorine is used in water purification and since its introduction for chlorinating water supplies, typhoid fever has been reduced to a minimum in many of the great cities of the world. Recently liquid chlorine has been used in recovering gold from its ores, and also in recovering tin from old tin cans and scrap tin plate.

One of the most important compounds of chlorine is hydrochloric acid gas. A water solution of this gas is called hydrochloric acid or muriatic acid. This acid is an important component of the gastric juice of man and of animals, the gastric juice of man containing from 0.2 to 0.4 per cent., while that of dogs contains about 0.6 per cent. The acid plays an important part in digestion.

Dominion Drama Festival

A Royal Charter Has Been Issued To Assure Perpetuation

To assure perpetuation of the Dominion Drama Festival after the departure of the Earl of Bessborough, a royal charter has been issued, it was announced by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. The corporation will be under the name of "The Governors of the Dominion Drama Festival."

In a statement Mr. Cahan said the charter was being issued as a memorial to His Majesty's Silver Jubilee. The charter recited the stimulation of interest in and the encouragement of the dramatic art in Canada the festival had provided.

The charter gave the new body power to hold real and personal estate and to receive grants. It cannot hold more than $25,000 in real estate. Provision was made, the statement explained, for appointment of general and district officers, granting prizes and awards on such conditions as might be prescribed.

Kansas Organization Of 95 Tots May Take Trip To Japan

Thomas Bruce knows what to do with children who insist upon making loud noises—put them in a symphony orchestra.

His organization, the Kansas City tot symphony, with 95 children ranging in age from four to nine, has proved so popular plans are being made to take it to Japan in 1936, Bruce said.

The children, some of whom started training for the orchestra when only two years old, play such difficult pieces as Rachmaninoff's "Prelude". They also take turns at directing.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice.

Funerals Without Flowers

Within recent months the writer has attended a number of funerals, joining with other friends and loved ones in paying respect to a deceased friend. Some of these funeral services have been held quietly and simply in the home, with only a few of the nearest relatives and closest friends of the departed one present; others have been held in churches in order that the larger circle of the deceased's friends and associates in his or her life's activities might be present, or where the religious tenets of the departed might be properly observed. In one case just a few persons were present, people who had voluntarily made small contributions to prevent the remains of the one who had passed on from being consigned to the potter's field.

In the vast majority of cases there were flowers in profusion, wreaths, emblems, sprays, dozens and scores of them, representing an expenditure of many dollars. And the thought constantly protruded itself whether such lavish display of floral tokens was right, in good taste, even in keeping with our Christian beliefs. It could not be questioned that in many, probably most, instances these flowers were sent out of love or a sincere respect for the deceased. Equally true, no doubt, in numerous instances flowers were sent because it has become the custom to send them.

As a matter of fact, as in the case of weddings, the tendency seems to be in the direction of making funerals more and more elaborate, more expensive, more and more something of a spectacle. The quiet and simplicity in funerals of former days has largely passed, until now it has become a source of heavy expense and consequent worry to people who are not blessed with an over-abundance of this world's goods. Yet because of prevailing custom, nobody wishes to appear mean in the eyes of others when called upon to discharge the last duty to a loved one.

Many people think of these things, believe present customs are wrong, but seldom openly express themselves. In a recent spirited article entitled "Decent Christian Burial", Marian J. Castle attacked the extravagance attending funerals. She showed how sums spent on flowers, tombstones, pomp and ceremony, often impoverish the living families of the deceased. She wisely inferred that the dead might be happier if the funds showered upon their inanimate bodies were used instead to brighten the lot of the living.

Discussing this same subject, Alma Hedin, sister of Sven Hedin, the famous Swedish explorer, says it is in the spirit of the times in her country to seek the simplest and at the same time the most dignified memorial for those we have loved. She outlines various steps taken in this direction, including the provision of funeral insurance through the agency of a society, which takes charge of all funeral arrangements, which are the same for every individual. Payment can be made to the society at any time during the lifetime of the insured, the premium being smaller for the young than for the old. The highest premium is paid by those who are over 70, and is about $75 in all. This provides for a dignified funeral of a kind that might otherwise tax the resources of the bereaved family, especially when the deceased happend to be the breadwinner.

In Sweden, too, they have had since 1921 an organization called the Flower Fund, formed to honor the dead "in a more worthy and more lasting manner" than with ornate floral tributes for the bier. Instead of sending an expensive wreath, the friends of the deceased remit the money to the Flower Fund, which sends to the bereaved family a simple memorial message in the name of the giver. The amount contributed remains a confidence between the donor and the Fund.

It was decided that the money received in this way should be applied to obtaining houses with small apartments for old people in straitened circumstances. When three and a half years had passed, the Flower Fund erected a large building on a site donated by the city of Stockholm. Soon a second house rose by the side of the first, and before long six additional houses were built. By this means the Fund provides for more than a thousand old people. These pay a lower rent than they would pay elsewhere and receive care if they are ill. Otherwise they are quite free, and there is nothing institutional about the place. It is like a private home.

There is a restaurant in each building where residents can buy lunch or dinner for a quarter of a dollar. They may have meals sent to their rooms or prepare them in the small kitchen that accompanies each apartment. Food can be purchased in the building, and there is also a laundry and a bakery. The old people seem to be happy under these arrangements, for there are always more applications than can be filled.

Swedish death notices often contain a line asking that the Flower Fund be remembered. Sometimes another charity is named, for the example is contagious. The important thing is not that the money is donated to a single cause but that the memorial be given a form that will honor the dead by benefiting the living.

Does this Swedish idea not offer a suggestion to the people of other countries? Can we not make our tributes to our deceased loved ones something more lasting than quickly withered blossoms?

Perished In The Desert

Bodies Of Man And Woman Found On Scorching Sands Of Sahara

A searching party found the bodies of an Englishwoman and an Englishman on the scorching Sahara sands recently and rescued two Frenchmen near death from thirst.

The woman, Mrs. Knight, widow of an English aviator who committed suicide recently at Agadez, French West Africa, had slashed her wrist apparently in an attempt to end her torture from thirst and heat.

A party of four—Mrs. Knight, Peyton, an English resident of Switzerland, and two Frenchmen, Kneebret and Chavexus—left Agadez by truck May 22 for Tamanrasset, Tawarek. After the quartette were missing four days a searching party left Agadez for them. It found the Frenchmen in a serious condition beside the truck near a dried-up river bed.

WHY HIS HEADACHES CEASED

Wife Put Kruschen in His Coffee

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:—

"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of ten years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches stopped—for what reason I did not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."—J. T.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

Ninety-five birds will be purchased at first, and after several years' breeding they will be distributed to all the Railway Bureaus in the country. The plan is to provide an auxiliary system of communication which will be called into service when all other means have been destroyed.

Remedy Is Elusive

Medical World Endeavors To Discover Virus For Treating Common Colds

There is a virus that has something to do with the common cold and that's what so far has eluded the medical world. When it is discovered what that virus is, then the cold may be squelched.

"The germs of the common cold are well known," Dr. E. C. Sewall, of San Francisco, told the convention of the American Laryngological Association in Toronto, "although I believe there is a virus which is not yet known. This virus, in my opinion, is the product of all these germs that go to cause the common cold."

Persons who suffer from frequent colds are probably suffering from the same cold all the time, he said. He said a cold creates an immunity of six months or so.

"This," he said, "is probably the reason for the endemic source of colds. These people carry the source of infection in chronic sinus trouble and spread infection to other people."

Long Service Medal

Old Member Of Mounted Police Receives Official Recognition

An official recognition of his long service with the Northwest Mounted Police in the west's early days came to special Constable ("Gentleman Joe") McKay at Prince Albert when he was presented with the long service medal.

Forwarded from headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, the medal was presented to Mr. McKay by Inspector F. W. Schutz, officer commanding this subdivision. Mr. McKay retired many years ago.

"Gentleman Joe" is said to have fired the first shot in the Riel rebellion, 50 years ago at the Duck Lake fight.

Naturalized Germans In Canada Exempt From Military Service In Homeland

German residents in the Dominion are exempt from compulsory military service in their homeland, according to an official declaration from Berlin which gives an interpretation of Chancellor Hitler's recent speech in the Reichstag, in which he dealt with military service. It states that Germans who are naturalized or have made their permanent homes in foreign countries will not be compelled to return to Germany to serve in the army.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced impending retirement of three assistant commissioners, A. J. Cawdron of Ottawa, C. Junget of Halifax and J. W. Phillips of Vancouver. They will be granted leave from July 1 and retired next Jan. 1.

Assistant Commissioner Junget was engaged in the North West Mounted Police in 1899 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks until he was appointed inspector in 1907. He became superintendent in 1922 and assistant commissioner in 1932. He is now officer commanding "H" division at Halifax.

Assistant Commissioner Phillips, officer commanding "E" division at Vancouver, joined the North West Mounted Police in 1898 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks. He was appointed inspector in 1913, superintendent in 1931 and assistant commissioner in 1934.

Londoners Vote For Limitation Of Armaments

Universal abolition of military aviation and limitation of armaments were favored by an overwhelming majority in a straw-vote conducted by the League of Nations union in Greater London, the union announced.

On these questions and on the question of supporting the league and forbidding the manufacture of arms for profit, the vote favored the proposals by 1,400,000 to 100,000.

Londoners voted 1,375,061 to 88,521 for use of economic sanctions against an aggressor, whatever the nation might be, and 872,275 to 386,664 for use of military sanctions if they were found necessary.

Young Lambs Make Trip

Long Jaunt Did Not Appear To Harm Them

Young lambs are good "trailers", Recently the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, moved its ewe flock to summer pasture at Beaver Creek and the ewes, with lambs at foot, made 10 miles the first day and completed the journey easily the second. Some of these lambs were no more than four days old.

"The long jaunt did not appear to hurt the lambs a bit," said Dean A. M. Shaw, "and after their 10 mile trip they were fresh and perky. Of course, the weather was cool, but the observation is of particular interest to ranchers and B.C. sheepmen when moving their stock from winter to summer range."

Recovery Obstacles

United States Writer Calls For Reciprocal Trade Efforts

Commercial policies of the United States were described by Peter Molyneaux, editor of the Texas weekly and a trustee of the Carnegrave, Mr. de Valera's administrapeace, as "the greatest obstacle to world recovery." Writings in "International Conciliation," a publication of the endowment, he said:

"I mean the policy embodied in the rates of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, the policy exemplified by the American attitude on war debts, the policy which prompted the almost unanimous enactment by congress of the Johnson Foreign Security Boycott act, the policy which every foreign country encounters at our shores and along our borders when it attempts to ship its goods to us in exchange for our own."

Molyneaux called the reciprocal trade efforts of Secretary of State Cordell Hull a step in the "right direction." Currency stabilfzation was held "absolutely essential to world recovery" and he added that so long as the United States pursues its present policies "any lasting of international exchange will be impossible."

Vimy Pilgrimage Becomes Great Peace Movement

Registrations Of Ex-Service Men Pouring In To Canadian Legion

The Vimy and Battlefields Pilgrimage of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League of which the famous Padre of the Canadian Corps, Canon Scott of Quebec, is Pilgrim No. 1, has already received 548 applications from ex-service men, despite the fact that the ships arranged jointly by the Cunard White Star and Canadian Pacific lines do not sail from Montreal until July 15th and 16th, next year, 1936. In addition twelve hundred applications have been received by the government from ex-service men in the Civil Service for leave for the duration of the Pilgrimage.

This event is going to be one of world significance. It is a Peace Movement on a colossal scale. It is anticipated that over 25,000 Canadians—ex-soldiers, their wives, children, fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers—will visit the cemeteries, the battlefields, and attend the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

The all-inclusive cost of the entire trip—as outlined below—is $160.00.

Sail from Montreal, July 15th or 16th, 1936; arrive France, July 24th; visiting graves, battlefields, towns in France and Belgium, (ships held in French port), July 24th, 25th, 26th; unveiling Vimy Ridge Canadian Government War Memorial, July 26th; arrival England — London Tilbury docks—(ships held four days), July 27th; London (four days), July 27th-30th; arrival in Canada (Montreal), August 8th.

After prolonged negotiations, the Atlantic Conference granted an ocean rate of $120.00 return—the lowest rate possible to obtain. Staterooms (3rd class) and the regular menue will be provided. Freedom of the ship will be granted. Cabin Class will be available to those wishing to pay higher rates. Please remember too that Ocean Travel accommodation to-day is vastly superior to that of 1914-1919.

The remaining $40.00 of the $160.00 is to provide for rail and road transport in France, billeting accommodation and meals in France and beds and breakfasts for four days in England. Passports will also be provided for France, Belgium and England, and accident insurance will also be provided in respect to those passengers acceptable to the Insurance Companies for this purpose. In addition, an official badge, beret, haversack and guide book will be provided. This indicates exactly how the amount quoted is made up.

Railway ticket agents, Ocean Line agents and Land Tour Companies are supplied with full information and application forms to take care of the many who will be participating in the Pilgrimage.

The Legion will not profit by this venture. The organization expenses will be taken care of through ordinary commissions. Any balance that may remain in the special Pilgrimage bank account, after organizing expenses are met, will be placed in a special fund and allocated to such veteran purposes as the National Pilgrimage Committee may designate. Commissions have no bearing on the price of the ticket. The ocean rate is set by the Atlantic Conference of Steamship Lines and commissions are also set by the same body so that whether commissions are accepted or not the price of the ticket remains the same.

The potentialities of this Pilgrimage stagger the imagination. Never before in the history of the world has a nation so far removed from the scene of hostilities left so many of its dead buried in foreign soil in a Battle for Freedom. In a War to end War, Canada sent 500,000 troops to France. Sixty thousand are buried there to-day in cemeteries from Ypres to Albert—from Etaples to Mons. On Sunday, July 26th, thousands of Canadians and a brilliant entourage of the representatives of all nations, will gather on Canadian soil at Vimy Ridge to unveil Canada's War Memorial — completed after seventeen years of unremitting labour.

This memorial, designed by Walter S. Allward, a Canadian, is erected by the Canadian Government on Vimy Ridge — dedicated by the French Government to the Dominion of Canada—as "That bit of foreign soil that will forever remain Canada."

Major General, The Honourable S. C. Mewburn, C.M.G., chairman of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission, has the assurance that the Government will co-operate and participate in the unveiling ceremonies, at the time of this Pilgrimage.

Well Qualified For Post

New U.S. Minister To Canada Highly Spoken Of

Norman Armour, the new Minister to Canada from the United States, received complimentary send-offs. The New York Herald Tribune, having spoken highly of his training and temperament, said: "Mr. Armour has the useful—and for a diplomat, the rare—quality of being a 'good mixer'. Incidentally, warm sympathy for the Canadian people and a keen sense of the importance of Canadian-American relations adds to his other qualifications for this post."

The New York Times, having remarked that the appointment of Mr. Armour is a merited promotion and also a recognition of the importance of the Canadian post, went on to say: "His appointment to Canada 'regularizes' the position and gives fresh assurance to Canada that we are sending a representatives of our best in American cultural background as well as in acquaintance with world affairs. It is highly important that we should have especially competent diplomats in posts nearest our own borders, among neighbors with whom we have most in common."

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

Golden text: It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful. I. Corinthians 4:2.

Devotional reading: Psalm 96:1-8.

Explanations And Comments

Pride of Possessions May Lead To Forgetfuiness of God, Deuteronomy 8:11-7. The children of Israel are about to enter the Promised Land after their long wilderness wandering, and Moses, their leader, fears that they may there become so prosperous that they will be in danger of forgetting God and of failing to keep his commandments. Against this temptation to pride (lest their heart be "lifted up") because of fine houses, numerous flocks and herds, and abundance of silver and gold, Moses warns them, and reminds them of what they owe God, who brought them out of bondage in the land of Egypt, and led them through the great and terrible wilderness. He stops to recall the dangers of that wilderness, the serpents and scorpions, the lack of water, and how fresh water and manna were given them that they might realize their dependence upon God.

It is God who Gives Power to Acquire Wealth, Deuteronomy 8:18. "The first and fundamental principle of stewardship lies in God's ownership of all things. The God who created life in the beginning has a priority claim upon all life. There can be no property either without society or without God; neither would there be value to property without society or without the God who guarantees all life" (Stewardship Lessons).

God Loves a Cheerful Giver, II. Corinthians 9;6-8. Generosity in giving will enrich one's own life, Paul wrote the Corinthians. A man who hoards the greater part of his supply of wheat, being loth to part with it, would have a scanty harvest from the smaller amount sown, and the hoarded grain, if kept too long, would spoil. It is from a bountiful sowing that a bountiful harvest is reaped, whether of wheat or of good deeds.

Lettuce
¼ cup grated coconut
½ cup grated carrots

Few grains of salt
¼ cup sweet milk
Scant cup bread flour

Spread in a very thin sheet on the bottom of an inverted roasting pan. Sprinkle over with the grated almonds. Mark in three-inch squares and bake in a very slow oven until delicately browned. Cut the squares apart with a sharp knife and roll them up while warm. They may be filled with whipped cream for serving.

Little Journeys In Science

CHLORINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Chlorine is a greenish yellow gas which possesses a very disagreeable odor. When breathed it has a very irritating action upon the membranes of the nose and throat, producing coughing, inflammation, and even death. Hence it is quite rightly called a poisonous gas. Chlorine may be easily condensed to a golden yellow liquid, and as such is stored in strong leadlined cylinders holding from about forty to sixty pounds. It was the first poison gas used in the World War. The first attack was made by the Germans on April 22, 1915. They concealed tanks of liquid chlorine in the front line trenches and the substance was used in the form of gas clouds. As chlorine is about two and a half times as heavy as air, the clouds were carried over the ground by the wind. When there is one part of chlorine to ten thousand parts of air, the struggle for breath becomes acute, and a man would probably be put out of action in about five mintues.

Chlorine, in the presence of water, is a powerful bleaching and disinfecting agent. It is used in commerce for bleaching cotton, linen, wood pulp, and flour, but cannot be used for wool or silk because it hardens and destroys these materials. The bleaching of cotton fabrics and wood pulp for paper require in North America alone more than six hundred tons of chlorine per day. The bleaching process is carried out in water solution and either chlorine water, or bleaching powder dissolved in water, is used.

Chlorine is also used in preparing certain chlorine compounds such as chloroform and carbon tetrachloride (used in fire extinguishers). It is also used in the preparation of many compounds which are needed in the explosive and dye industries.

Liquid chlorine is used in water purification and since its introduction for chlorinating water supplies, typhoid fever has been reduced to a minimum in many of the great cities of the world. Recently liquid chlorine has been used in recovering gold from its ores, and also in recovering tin from old tin cans and scrap tin plate.

One of the most important compounds of chlorine is hydrochloric acid gas. A water solution of this gas is called hydrochloric acid or muriatic acid. This acid is an important component of the gastric juice of man and of animals, the gastric juice of man containing from 0.2 to 0.4 per cent., while that of dogs contains about 0.6 per cent. The acid plays an important part in digestion.

Dominion Drama Festival

A Royal Charter Has Been Issued To Assure Perpetuation

To assure perpetuation of the Dominion Drama Festival after the departure of the Earl of Bessborough, a royal charter has been issued, it was announced by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. The corporation will be under the name of "The Governors of the Dominion Drama Festival."

In a statement Mr. Cahan said the charter was being issued as a memorial to His Majesty's Silver Jubilee. The charter recited the stimulation of interest in and the encouragement of the dramatic art in Canada the festival had provided.

The charter gave the new body power to hold real and personal estate and to receive grants. It cannot hold more than $25,000 in real estate. Provision was made, the statement explained, for appointment of general and district officers, granting prizes and awards on such conditions as might be prescribed.

Children's Orchestra

Kansas Organization Of 95 Tots May Take Trip To Japan

Thomas Bruce knows what to do with children who insist upon making loud noises—put them in a symphony orchestra.

His organization, the Kansas City tot symphony, with 95 children ranging in age from four to nine, has proved so popular plans are being made to take it to Japan in 1936, Bruce said.

The children, some of whom started training for the orchestra when only two years old, play such difficult pieces as Rachmaninoff's "Prelude". They also take turns at directing.
